ANTI-TREATING BILL IS RECOMMENDED TO PASS BY THE HOUSE

Measure for Midnight Lid in the Large Cities Is Killed.

Bill Abolishing Capital Punishment Is Likely to Become Law.

Effort to Reorganize Boiler Inspection System Proves a Failure.

(By a Staff Correspondent).

St. Paul, Minn., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house committee of the whole yesterday afternoon displayed its temper as to temperance measures in three different ways:

It recommended for passage the Palmer-Hopkins anti-treating bill.

It killed the O'Brien bill allowing saloons to stay open till midnight in cities of 50,000 and over.

It advanced to the calendar the Lennon bill allowing the Minneapolis city council to pass over the patrol limits to allow the sale of liquor, under strict regulation, in two new hotels, the Radisson and the Dyckman.

The Palmer-Hopkins anti-treating bill puts the burden of preventing the American vice of treating on the saloonkeeper. It requires him to post in a conspicuous place in his saloon a sign reading: "No Treating Saloon." It also prohibits him to sell liquor to anybody that is to be consumed by another. There is no penalty imposed on the man who tries to buy his fellow a drink. The penalty is imposed on the saloon man who aids and abets the nefarious operation of treating by selling drinks to anybody except where the purchaser consumes them.

When the bill was reached Representative Lydiard of Minneapolis moved that it be indefinitely postponed, but his motion was lost, 24 for and 38 against. Representative Hopkins, one of the authors of this bill, moved that the bill be recommended to pass, and his motion carried.

There was practically no debate on the O'Brien bill providing the "midnight lid" in Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis. Its author moved that it be recommended to pass, and his motion was lost, 34 for and 42 against. Representative Palmer of Minneapolis moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed, and his motion prevailed, 42 to 22.

Though there was considerable discussion of the Lennon bill, allowing the Minneapolis city council to create

NEW BILL IS NOW READY

Enough Votes in Senate Pledged to Pass Reapportionment.

New Measure Takes Five Senators From Southern Minnesota.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—"If the proposed new reapportionment bill is not introduced," said Governor Eberhart this morning, "or if it is not given fair consideration in the senate, I shall be forced to call an extra session of the legislature to consider reapportionment. On the other hand, if the bill is introduced and fairly considered, even though it should not pass, I see no possible gain from calling an extra session."

Little risk is attached to this statement, as the new reapportionment bill, with enough votes pledged to pass it, will go into the senate Monday. It will be made a special order for an early day and hurried over to the house. As stated before, it will not cut the terms of the present senators in two, as the Congdon bill contemplated, and it will therefore not be

THREE BILLS EACH MINUTE

Sixty-Two Bills Passed to House Calendar at Evening Session.

Fine Night for the Woodchucks and Many Slipped Through.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last night was about as fine a night for woodchucks as the house ever saw—and it has witnessed some splendid weather for such.

In the morning it was decided to meet today, but so many members left during the day that late in the afternoon it was decided to hold an evening session instead, and then to adjourn to Monday.

The house met at 8 o'clock, with ten less than a quorum in attendance, and before it adjourned shortly after 10 o'clock, it had passed through a spasm of work in which sixty-two bills, many of them of first importance, were passed on to the calendar, most of the time at the rate of three a minute.

Two bills that slipped through attracted more attention later than they did at the time action was taken, and these were restored to general orders later for a fuller discussion at some future time. One of these was Representative Thielen's bill allowing cities of the first class to permit boxing matches under reasonable restrictions, and the other was the workingmen's compensation bill drawn by T. D. O'Brien at the request of organized labor. Both of these bills were ad-

PUNISHMENT IS QUICK AND SURE

Albanian Who Killed Man Monday Is Shot on Saturday.

Constantinople, April 1.—The Albanian soldier who last Tuesday assassinated Col. Von Schlichting, a German instructor in the Turkish army, who had reprimanded him, was executed this morning.

Von Schlichting's widow had asked that the assassin be pardoned and reports were current that the government was afraid to execute him lest the action result in a mutiny in the Albanian army. However, the penalty was inflicted openly and without trouble.

The Albanian was killed by a firing party from his own battalion and in the presence of the others of the battalion accompanied with its band and colors, the divisional commander and two German officers. After the sentence of death had been read a volley was fired and the human target fell pierced by nine bullets.

ATTEMPTED TO DYNAMITE VAULT

Seven Arrests Made in Des Moines of Alleged Perpetrators.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 1.—Seven arrests have been made by the police today in an effort to apprehend four men who shortly before midnight bound and gagged Deputy County Treasurer C. W. Keller and tried to dynamite the vault in the county treasurer's office in which $100,000 had been placed late in the afternoon.

Upon what was claimed by the police to be a confession from Al Rhodes, the first of the men arrested, Deputy County Treasurer James O'Callaghan has been arrested. O'Callaghan, is a brother of Robert O'Callaghan, a well known Western league baseball magnate, and is very well known in Des Moines.

Along with Rhodes and O'Callaghan the police are holding Bart Lynch and his wife, Mrs. Rhodes, Clayton Bayles and an unknown man. Rhodes was arrested after a running fight with three officers near the Y. M. C. A. building, shortly after midnight.

The officers, en route to the house in which all of the suspected parties live, suddenly encountered the four men. One of them fired at the officers, then all ran. Rhodes was the only one placed under arrest at that time. Later the others were picked up pending investigation.

The attempt to rob the vault proved a failure. One more charge of nitro glycerin would have given the men an entrance, but they were frightened away after the first explosion, which practically wrecked the door.

O'GORMAN FOR SENATE

New York Elects Supporter of Reciprocity With Canada.

Stands for All Progressive Policies of Democratic Party.

Albany, N. Y., April 1.—Supreme Court Justice James Aloysius O'Gorman, Democrat, of New York city was elected United States senator last night by the legislature after the most protracted struggle over this position ever held in the Empire state. On the final ballot, the sixty-fourth, he received 132 votes to 80 cast for Chauncey M. Depew, whose term expired March 4.

The result was in doubt almost to the minute of recording the votes, owing to the uncertainty as to how many of the Democratic insurgents, who for over two months had prevented an election because of their opposition to William F. Sheehan, would enter the second caucus which had been adjourned from day to day since Monday.

At the close of a day of almost continuous negotiations, the insurgents capitulated and Justice O'Gorman was elected. A few minutes before the ballot was cast, Justice O'Gorman's resignation from the bench was filed at the office of the secretary of state as a

INTEREST CENTERS IN FIGHTING

Peace Does Not Appeal to the Mexicans Just at Present.

Details of Engagements Are Meager and Very Conflicting.

Main Force of the Insurgents and Madero Are at Bustillos.

El Paso, Tex., April 1.—Nothing is heard here of peace negotiations. Interest centers in the fighting at Santa Barbara and in Sonora. Details of further fighting in these regions are lacking today.

Word comes from Guadalajara, however, that fighting is expected in Jalisco, as Luis Moya, leader of a band of insurrectos in Durango and Zacatecas, has entered Jalisco. The state legislature of Jalisco has appropriated $60,000 for the organization of state rurales to oppose the insurrectos.

The San Carlos gold mines, operated by a British concern, were raided by the Moya band at Mesquital del Oro, Zacatecas, and a quantity of dynamite taken. This, it is reported, the in-

CLOSE ON TRAIL OF KIDNAPERS

Posse Pursuing Men Who Stole Child and Received Ransom.

Las Vegas, N. Mex., April 1.—Headed for the so-called "bad lands" near the Oklahoma line, four bandits who kidnaped the 2-year-old son of A. T. Rogers, Jr., an attorney, and compelled the payment of $12,000 are closely pursued by a posse with the prospect of a conflict soon. Bloodhounds are being used and have keept closely to the trail. A telegram from the Bell ranch, six miles northeast of here, said that four men, believed to be the bandits, passed near there, riding at full gallop to elude the posse.

Cowboys from the Bell ranch, on learning of the kidnaping, immediately organized a posse and started trailing the fugitives. They sent word back that they had ropes ready for a lynching in case the kidnapers were captured.

The kidnapers, from description, are believed to be members of a gang of postoffice and bank robbers, all former convicts, men who will sell their lives dearly.

A reward of $20,000 has been offered for the kidnapers, dead or alive.

DEMOCRATS IN CAUCUS

Discuss Plans for Coming Session of Sixty-Second Congress.

Expect to Make Saving of $113,000 in Expenses of House.

Washington, April 1.—Democratic representatives in the Sixty-second congress, who will control the lower house for the next two years, met in caucus at 10 o'clock today. The house chamber was a scene of activity early in the day, scores of new members arriving more than an hour ahead of the time to mingle with the veterans in the lobbies and cloak rooms.

The caucus was called to order by Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, the temporary chairman. Before the gavel fell there was considerable informal discussion concerning the order of business, but it was the prevailing opinion that the first action would be election of officers of the house, a sergeant-at-arms, clerk, postmaster, doorkeeper and chaplain. The principal contest is over the post of sergeant-at-arms, the candidates being U. S. Jackson of Indiana and W. H. Ryan of New York. Representative Albert S. Burleson of Texas was made permanent chairman of the caucus. He had been a candidate for chairmanship of the committee on appropria-

SHOOTS HIS WIFE AND THEN PUTS A BULLET THROUGH HIS BRAIN

Nick Boudreau Fires Three Shots at Defenseless Woman.

She Will Probaby Recover —He Dies Within an Hour.

Brutal Crime Is Committed in Presence of Three Children.

Enraged because his wife refused to return to him after instituting divorce proceedings on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment and threatening to kill her, Nick Boudreau last evening made an unsuccessful attempt to murder her and then sent a bullet into his own brain through the right temple, at 508½ Third alley west. Mrs. Boudreau and the three children have been making their home there the last two months.

Mrs. Boudreau was hurried to St. Luke's hospital with three bullet wounds in her neck, arm and face. None of them will prove fatal unless an infection sets in. Boudreau died about an hour later at the same hospital.

The would-be murderer and suicide went to his wife's home about 7:30 o'clock last evening, apparently in the best of humor. He talked and played with the three children. Shortly before 9:30 o'clock Mrs. Boudreau lay down on the bed with Freddie, the youngest, 7 years of age. He had complained of being ill during the day and she was trying to put him to sleep.

The husband and father was sitting on the edge of the bed towards the foot, and the other two were preparing to retire.

"Will you come back to me and live with me?" said Boudreau to his wife as she tried to put the baby to sleep, as nearly as could be learned from the children this morning.

"I'll never, never go back to live with you," is said to have been her reply.

Opens Fire.

Without another word Boudreau whipped a loaded revolver from his hip pocket and opened fire upon the helpless woman and child. The first bullet went completely through Mrs. Boudreau's neck but did not penetrate any vital part. The second struck her in the forearm, as she evidently raised it to shield herself. The third went through her lips, knocking out two teeth.

Thinking that he had succeeded in sending a bullet into her brain, he turned the revolver on himself, firing a single shot into the right temple. The last shot was fired truer than the others and he died at St. Luke's hospital without regaining consciousness.

WOMEN PELTED WITH BAD EGGS

Serious Disturbance Occurs Among Strikers at Muscatine, Iowa.

Muscatine, Iowa, April 1.—The first serious disturbances in connection with the dispute between the factory workers and the local button manufacturers, which has been in progress for five weeks, occurred last night. Following an order issued by the city authorities against union sympathizers molesting any of the workers in the local factories, three men were arrested at 6 o'clock last evening for this offense.

In South Muscatine two other men were arrested when several women workers were pelted with bad eggs and one of the girls Miss Ruth Concannon, was seriously injured. A missile struck her glasses, particles of glass penetrating her eyes.

As a climax of the arrests five unknown men attacked Mayor Hill as he alighted from a street car en route to his home last evening and threw eggs at him. The mayor gave chase to the five, but they fled in the darkness and have not yet been identified.

RECOVERS SANITY; RELEASE IS ASKED

Former Alaskan Who Killed Two Men May Be Paroled.

Washington, April 1.—Convinced that W. H. Ledger, an inmate of the government hospital for the insane, who eight years ago killed two men and wounded three others while defending his gold mine in the wilds of Alaska, has now recovered his sanity, Dr. William A. White, superintendent of the institution, yesterday applied to the United States parole board for the parole of the prisoner.

Ledger, one of the pioneer prospectors of Alaska, in search of fortune, killed the men and wounded the others when they attacked him. In the struggle that preceded the shooting, he was hit on the head with the butt of a revolver, causing his insanity. The three wounded men escaped. Ledger was found with the two dead bodies. He was arrested and convicted of murder, and sentenced to twenty years in the Leavenworth penitentiary. He has now served eight years and is 55 years old.

MEETING ON RECIPROCITY

Effort Will Be Made to Change Views of Senators.

Mass Meeting of All Civic and Labor Bodies Planned.

A big meeting of representatives of different civic, labor and other organizations to express the sentiment of the citizens of Duluth as a whole on the subject of Canadian reciprocity is planned by the reciprocity committee of the Duluth real estate exchange.

The committee is preparing to conduct a campaign of education to set the other towns of Northern Minnesota right on the subject and to obtain pressure in the hope that the attitude of Senator Clapp and Senator Nelson on the matter may be changed.

P. E. Dowling, chairman of the committee, Henry Nolte, C. E. Lovett and E. D. Field went to St. Paul this week and held a conference with mem-

PERIOD OF WIDOWHOOD

Supreme Court of United States Must Solve the Question.

Is a Remarried Woman Widow of Her Former Husband?

Washington, April 1.—What constitutes a widow? An answer to this question may be expected from the supreme court of the United States shortly. On Monday the court will listen to learned counsel argue the point.

If Catherine Craig of Jefferson county, Penn., is the widow of Adam M. Schlemmer, deceased, she stands to win a judgment against the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Railway company, as the result of Schlemmer's death while working on the railroad in 1900. If she ceased to be Schlemmer's widow when she married Patrick Craig, sometime after her suit against the railroad was begun, it is claimed that she cannot press her suit for loss of support.

Congressman M. E. Olmsted has taken the position that she is not Schlemmer's widow. He filed a brief today in the supreme court in which he argued this point. The congressman claims that the action against the railroad is purely statutory and having been brought under a Pennsylvania statute is governed by Pennsylvania decisions. He then quotes decisions of that commonwealth that a woman is not a man's widow if she is another man's wife. He concludes his argument on this point by remarking that "what constitutes a 'widow' under the Pennsylvania statute is not exactly a federal question."

The argument is also made in the case that if the federal safety appliance acts are to apply to the controversy, the courts should hold that the railroads are not deprived by these laws of the defense of contributory negligence, but merely of the defense of assumption of risk.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY NEWS

Horace W. Reyner has been a busy man in St. Paul musical circles this week, where he directed all of the choral parts of the spring festival of music given by the St. Paul Symphony orchestra previous to starting on its spring tour.

Wednesday night the festival opened with Mme. Schumann-Heink as the attraction. She sang the "Habenera" from "Carmen" with chorus and orchestra with Mr. Reynor conducting. Mme. Schumann-Heink and Mr Reynor were repeatedly recalled.

Mr. Reynor's greatest work, however, was the closing concert of the series on Thursday evening when "King Olaf" Elgars oartorio, was performed with complete orchestra, soloists and chorus. The St. Paul Pioneer Press said:

"Perhaps the most enjoyable numbers were the choral ballads, which occur in two places and the singing of the chorus in the epilogue. The latter gave the best proof of the really excellent work which Mr. Reyner has accomplished with his choir for it was given with real warmth and finish. During the first half of the performance Prof. Reyner was presented with a very beautiful wreath on behalf of the chorus, which greatly appreciates his conscientious efforts in instructing and drilling it." With the wreath was an engraved card,

To
Prof. H. W. Reyner.

Compliments of the St. Paul Festival Chorus. In appreciation of your work, your patience and the many jokes at our expense.

We hope this will give you pleasure, as it was contributed with smiles and enthusiasm by the entire chorus.

ONLY SIX POOR DAIRIES

All but half a dozen dairies were found to be in excellent or very fair condition by Milk Inspector Grant E. Owen and his deputy, Conrad Wicklund, who have just completed their annual inspection and scoring.

None were so bad that they had to order radical improvements under threat of being put out of business. Last year two dairies had to be condemned because of filthiness, and they were not allowed to sell any milk to the public until they had come up to the standards required by the department.

The six dairies which rated below fair were small, with from three to six cows. The sanitary condition in them were fairly good, but they lacked the complete equipment which would give them a high score. The light and drainage in all of them were sufficient. Several have announced their intentions of building new barns and additions, and several improvements were under way when the inspectors made their rounds.

BUILDING SHOWS A DECREASE

The monthly report of Building Inspector S. M. Kelley, prepared by Deputy Adolph Anderson, shows a decided increase in building operations over the first two months of the present year. But the totals are way below those for the same months last year.

In March 128 permits were issued for improvements estimated to cost $264,550. In March a year ago 120 permits were issued for improvements estimated to cost $548,820. Permits for improvements estimated to cost $400,057 have been issued for the first three months of this year, as compared with $829,910 for the same period a year ago. During March 200 electric meters were tested, ten house moving permits were issued, three permits for electric signs and five elevator licenses. The total fees received were $528.75.

Installs New Treatment.
Samuel Kassmir, the well-known proprietor of the Hotel McKay Turkish bath parlors, has returned from a business trip in the East, during which he visited several of the finest establishments of his kind in the country and gained a number of new ideas which he has adapted to his own baths. Mr. Kassmir will feature the new curing apparatus, known as the Carlsbad Mineral bathing and systematical steam baker. This is a celebrated German treatment for rheumatism, stomach troubles, kidney troubles, etc., and has proven wonderfully successful. Treatments begin April 4. Those who consult Mr. Kassmir before the opening will get the course of treatments for half price. Baths under Hotel McKay, Fifth avenue West and First street. Open day and night.

Memorial Service.
Rev. Alexander Milne of the Pilgrim Congregational church will conduct memorial services Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the church for W. S. Woodbridge, whose death occurred recently in California. Other speakers will be Secretary Phil Bevis of the Y. M. C. A.; Capt. Marcus W. Bates and Rev. J. Kimball.

Fire Board Meets.
The board of fire commissioners yesterday afternoon awarded the contracts for the plumbing and heating of the new Lakeside fire hall to Stack & Co., whose bid was $644. The monthly report of Chief Joseph Randall showed that the department answered thirty-three alarms during the month; that the losses, exclusive of the tobacco stock of the Interstate Cigar company, were $11,698.22 and that the total insurance was $105,555.

Will Represent Club.
E. L. Millar has been appointed to represent the Duluth Commercial club at the organization of a new Commercial club at Fargo April 21.

Second Floor Lonsdale Building.
Very desirable, well lighted offices with vault, for rent. W. M. Prindle & Co.

Hearing on Sewer.
The council committee on drains, sewers and sanitation, of which Alderman Curren of the Fourth ward is chairman, will hold a public hearing at the council chambers in the city hall on the proposed Woodland trunk sewer at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. There is a difference of opinion as to the size and course of the sewer and it is expected that the meeting may prove interesting. The recommendations of the city engineer and Prof. Frederick Bass, who was hired by the property owners, are widely different, as are their estimates of the cost.

Shot Vicious Dog.
Andrew Stockman pleaded guilty to discharging firearms in the city limits when arraigned in police court this morning and paid a fine of $5. He was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Sarah E. Ashworth, who complained that he had shot a valuable hound belonging to her. Stockman asserted that the dog had attacked his wife when she went out to do the milking and did not deny that he had shot it. It appears that a veterinary surgeon was called to take care of the dog, and that the animal will recover, the bullet having been extracted.

Check Not Good.
W. J. Reynolds was arrested this afternoon on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. It is claimed that he passed a check for $5 without having sufficient funds in the bank.

Sent to Asylum.
Mary Eliza Relek of Floodwood and Matt Herrein of Ely were ordered taken to Fergus Falls by Judge Gilpin of the probate court this afternoon, after he had examined them as to their sanity.

Senator Cheadle Home.
Senator Harry W. Cheadle reached the city this morning from St. Paul to spend the week end with his family. This will probably be his last trip to the city during the present session of the legislature. Senator Cheadle said this morning that all measures affecting Duluth and this part of the state are progressing favorable.

PERSONAL

Capt. R. R. Trezona, general superintendent of the Eveleth district of the Mesaba range for the United States Steel corporation, has returned from a Western trip. He visited his brother, James, who has a fruit ranch near North Yakima, Wash. He met several former citizens of this county who are in the fruit growing business.

E. N. French of Polson, Mont., is visiting his sister, Mrs. W. F. Markus, of West Duluth.

Representative E. R. Ribenack returned today from St. Paul to spend the week end in the city.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The junior class held a meeting Wednesday afternoon. "Heine" Nolte was chosen captain of the class baseball team. By getting an early start the juniors hope to beat the other classes in baseball.

The plans for the annual junior-senior dance, which is given by the junior class, were discussed but no definite arrangements have been made except that the members of the class are determined to have their party surpass that of any former year.

The Anonia held a meeting Thursday at which the works of Henry Van Dyke were discussed. The following program was given:

Poem—Anonia .....
Erna Rakowsky.
Sketch of Henry Van Dyke .....
Gertrude Azine.
Story—"Keeper of the Light".....
Ruth Douglas.
Story—"A Lover of Music".....
Ruth Wallender.
Reading—Selected .....
Lillie Carlson.
Story—Original .....
Ida Berkeson.

The third and fourth numbers were written by Van Dyke and were told very well. It is the object of the Anonia to become better acquainted with the more notable writers and the members have arranged to give programs similar to the one above to obtain their purpose.

Many of the upper classmen were agreeably surprised when Mae Sweeny of Hudson, Wis., visited school Friday. Miss Sweeny was a member of the 1911 class during the sophomore year and was welcomed by a host of her friends in high school.

Cleo Fenton of the '09 class, who has recently moved to Minneapolis, visited school Friday and renewed old acquaintances with her many friends.

The work of the Zenith board is nearly completed and the members are anxiously awaiting the opinion of the Zenith readers to see whether their book measures up to the standard of the book of former years. The first section of the work will be given to the printers immediately after the Easter vacation, and the remaining sections will follow before April 25. The publication of the Zenith will be on sale one week earlier than the usual time.

The debating team will meet the Irving debating team tonight at the West Duluth school. Roger Lerch, who is probably the best debater in school, has been busily engaged in rehearsing the senior play, and has not found time to prepare for this debate. Despite this handicap, the Central team expects a victory over the Irving team. The debaters for Central will be, Fred Wienberg, Jesse Cohen, and Rolf Hovde or Norman Cook.

The interest of the high school students centers around the basket ball game with Superior Central next Wednesday, and the senior class play next Friday and Saturday evenings. Either of these engagements would attract considerable attention and the students expect to spend a very enjoyable week. Nearly all the tickets for the class play have been sold and a large audience will witness the amateur actors on both Friday and Saturday evenings of next week.

"The New Merchant of Venice" will be the title of the annual class play. The 1911 cast is one of extraordinary ability and will undoubtedly please the two large audiences which are expected to attend the play.

Chelsie Final, who plays the part of Portia, has an excellent voice and promises to make a creditable showing. Stanley Lamb, who is playing the part of Shylock, needs no introduction. The majority of Duluth people have seen him perform several times and have never been disappointed in his acting.

Irene Wardell, as Nerissa, and Gladys Lenning, as Jessica, will undoubtedly take their parts well.

George King, Roger Lerch and Llyod Le Duc have all been doing very well in rehearsals. All the minor parts are well taken care of by other members of the cast.

The tickets for the play are on sale at Victor Huot's soda buffet.

A large number of the high school alumni and friends of the high school students, as well as the pupils themselves, will witness the play.

STOTT BRIQUETTES CUT IN PRICE ALSO.

Along with the decline in the price of coal Stott briquettes have declined in price from $6.50 a ton to $6.75. The cut takes effect April 1.

The announcement of the cut in price was made by the coal companies yesterday. At this time each year coal prices usually come down and many order next year's supply while the price is low.

WILL BEER COST MORE?

Will beer cost more? Or will the saloon men be forced to cut down the size of the glass?

Barley broke all records this week when it was quoted on the local Board of Trade at 97c@$1.03 a bushel. It costs more than wheat, a very rare condition.

If your favorite mixer served you with a schooner with the sails trimmed, or slipped you a small one when you indicated a glass about two feet high, you will know the reason if you look up the barley market.

The crop last year was short. The government said the final yield in the United States was 162,227,000 bushels, compared with 170,284,000 bushels two years ago. The government's figures this year were not accurate, however, and the shortage was many millions of bushels greater than Uncle Sam indicated.

Maisters are grabbing all the barley they can get. The demand for malt continues but there is a scarcity of barley and there will be no crop until fall. So what is a poor maister to do?

What he is doing is to bid up the price of barley frenziedly in the hope of attracting every possible bushel to market. The prevailing prices have drawn out seed that was in reserve. Receipts have shown an increase but the maister needs more barley.

Will there be higher prices? Ask the farmer who is hanging on to his slim supplies as he watches the market advance.

CONSULTS DULUTHIANS REGARDING WATERWAYS.

J. H. Beck, secretary of the St. Paul Association of Commerce, was at the Commercial club this afternoon seeking information concerning the attitude of the club toward the proposed change in the channel of the Mississippi river at St. Paul. He desired to learn if the improvement would conflict with the policy of waterways improvements at the Head of the Lakes.

The improvement in the Mississippi will eliminate a bend in the river at the cost of about $2,500,000, which will afford more railroad terminal room and yards and will give additional space for the proposed new union passenger station.

Apparently the improvement, which has been sanctioned in an act passed by congress, does not run counter to any plans that may be completed or in the process of evolution for the waterways at the Head of the Lakes.

FOUR CHILDREN HAVE THE SAME DISEASE.

Because the four children of the late Charley Anderson of Elmer, Minn., have been found to be suffering from tuberculosis of the spine, the farm of 160 acres left to them by their father will be sold and the money used for hospital expenses.

Matt Stenback, guardian of the children, was in the city this morning with the children and after the examination by Dr. Tuohy, Judge Gilpin, judge of probate court, gave him permission to sell the property.

There are three girls and one boy in the family and they all have the same disease. The disease is contagious, according to Dr. Tuohy, who did the examining. They will be taken to St. Paul for treatment.

The father had intended that the money from the farm would educate the children. There are 160 acres in the farm and, as it is in a rich part of the county and is improved to some extent, it will bring in a good sum.

Campaign Profitable.
The campaign which the city administration has been waging against dissolute women and disreputable places the last month has been profitable to the city. In that time Deputy Clerk Walter J. Richeson of the municipal court has collected $2,014.86 in fines, which sum has gone to swell the city treasury.

Credit Is Arranged.
A credit having been established which assures shippers receiving remittances as soon as their products are marketed, the Producers' Co-Operative Market association is now on a firm business basis and the officers are now looking forward to a year of farmers and of the consumers. Some little time will probably elapse before the members of the association themselves are able to get capital enough together to establish their own credit, but in the meantime, the association will be able to carry on business expeditiously on the credit established for it.

To Celebrate Anniversary.
The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Duluth Typographical Union No. 136 will be held Sunday, April 30, at Maccabee hall.

Addresses will be made by State Labor Commissioner W. F. Hauk, W. E. McEwen, E. G. Bradley of Minneapolis, state organizer for the State Federation of Labor; Secretary N. C. O'Connors of Minneapolis, J. E. Corcoran and President C. J. Deveroux of the St. Paul union.

Charles B. King, the first president of the local union, will be master of ceremonies. Mr. King is no longer identified with the union, but has been given this honor by reason of his former connection with it.

Two Alternatives: Build Larger Jail or Reduce Number of Prisoners.

The Commercial club committee on state and county affairs favors the retention of the present county jail and the establishment of a rockpile for vags and bums and a work farm for inebriates and other petty offenders.

The members of the committee submitted a report at the meeting of the public affairs committee last night, setting forth their views on the matter and the considerations which led to the conclusion. Mayor Cullum had informed Chairman McGonagle of the public affairs committee that he would like to be heard on the subject before the committee should go on record, so no action was taken last night. Mr. McGonagle announcing that a special meeting of the committee would be called as soon as Mayor Cullum would be able to attend.

The report of the state and county committee follows:

"Your committee was instructed to consider conditions at the county jail and a remedy for them. The matter was first brought to public notice by the criticisms of the grand jury and by the warning of state inspectors that the jail must be condemned if better arrangements for prisoners are not made. It appears that while the building is somewhat out of date, it will serve well enough for the number of prisoners for which it was intended. It is frequently badly overcrowded under present circumstances.

"There are two obvious modes of relief—to build a larger jail or reduce the number of prisoners.

Drunkard Not a Criminal.

"Before entering on an expense of a quarter to a half million dollars, which would be necessary to provide a modern jail with double the capacity of the present structure, it is worth while to consider whether that outlay might be avoided. Now, one need look only a little way into the problem to become convinced that more than half the persons committed to jail ought never to be sent there. The short jail sentence does nothing to correct the offender. The testimony on that point is unanimous. In many cases it makes him less fit than he was before. It drags him down physically and morally. Sending him to jail is a losing business all around. This is particularly true with reference to the cases of drunkenness, which constitute two-thirds of all the arrests. A drunkard is not a criminal and to treat him as one is to impose an injury upon him and upon society.

"An alternative to the big jail is the workhouse or workfarm. These are distinctly different remedies for different classes of offenders. The workhouse has two uses. One is the work test now applied by the Associated Charities on the rockpile. It appears to be completely effective for that purpose. It gives the man who wants to work a chance to prove it. It gives the man who does not choose to work a pronounced distaste for this city. It alerts out the vagabonds automatically.

Work Test Is Success.

"The rockpile as a work test is considered an unqualified success. But that does not provide for the obstinate loafer—the vagabond, the bum. For his case the compulsory work test is the best remedy. That is not an untried experiment. For some years prisoners were employed to break rock in a small inclosure in Fifth avenue east, at First street. A slight structure was sufficient, few guards were necessary and it had no permanent effect on the prisoners, at least it tended to keep down the jail population. Prisoners of this type, the vagabond and the loafer, can be put to work in a rough inclosure during the day and taken back at night to the jail. Pretty soon there will not be any of them, or only those that get in by mistake.

"For by far the larger number of prisoners are those committed for drunkenness or for offenses like fighting or disorderly conduct which come from drunkenness. The records of the police department in 1910 show 3,975 arrests, of which 3,758 were plain drunks, eighty-three drunk and disorderly conduct, eighty disorderly conduct, in the majority of cases from the same cause, and about the same number fighting in the street, which goes back usually to the same trouble. Out of not quite 6,000 arrests, more than 4,000 were for drunkenness or the results of drunkenness. Of the prisoners committed to jail, more than one-half are for drunkenness or its sequel of disorderly conduct or fighting.

Workfarm Would Be Cheap.

"For these men, with few exceptions, jail is not the right place. The outdoor farm—and we have the experience of Cleveland, Kansas City and other places to go by and the larger experience of Massachusetts—is the best place for them. For a workfarm, 160 acres of rough land could be bought as cheap as two lots for a jail site. For a workfarm, $10,000 in buildings would serve all the purpose that would require $200,000 for a city jail. Less than that—most of the prisoners come from lumber camps and are going back to lumber camps when they get out. No lumber camp spends $10,000 on its buildings. The nearer the buildings on the workfarm come to the bunkhouse of a lumber camp, with due regard to sanitation, the better they will suit the purpose.

"Clearing the land, erecting log buildings and later cultivating the ground, would make the workfarm, at least in part, self-sustaining. That has been demonstrated. The established facts, comparing the workfarm with the jail, are all in favor of the workfarm for offenders of the class usually comprehended by common drunks.

"The first cost is less.

"The maintenance and support is less.

"The effect on the prisoners is better.

"Your committee, having reached this point in its consideration of the matter, has been instructed by the executive committee to confer with the municipal committee as to detailed recommendations. Other matters have intervened and the conference is still pending. It is the sense of this committee that for every reason the rockpile for vagbonds and the workfarm for other offenders should be urged upon the city and county authorities and that a recommendation to that effect should be adopted by the public affairs committee."

LOW MARK FOR APRIL EQUALLED

At 5 o'clock this morning the mercury in the thermometer at the weather bureau touched 3 degs. above zero, equalling the April low mark for the last forty years, in Duluth.

On April 1, 1881, the thermometer registered 3 degs., but with that exception last night was the coldest night in April Duluth ever experienced in the history of the local weather bureau.

Today the temperature moderated when the warm rays of the sun began to be felt, and tonight and Sunday will be much milder. It is not expected to go below 20 degs. tonight.

There may be some show or rain tonight and Sunday.

SUNDAY SALES BARRED.

Madison, Wis., April 1.—Superior merchants who sell goods on Sunday will be hard hit if a bill that passed the senate last night prohibiting the sale or delivery of dry goods, wearing apparel, shoes, hardware, furniture, crockery, glassware, jewelry, groceries, tea and coffee, spices or meat in Milwaukee or Superior on Sunday, becomes a law. The penalty for violating the act is a fine of not exceeding $50. The bill has not yet passed the assembly, but its backers think it will pass there also with little difficulty. It is being backed by Socialists and church people.

MAXIMUM SALARY OF DULUTH TEACHERS $900

Win a Partial Victory in Their Fight for Increased Wages.

Legal Difficulties Cleared Away By Decision of Attorney General.

Without the necessity of going before the legislature at the present time for an amendment to the Congdon bill or existing laws, the board of education will increase the maximum salary of teachers in the grades under the eighth to $850 annually. The sentiment of the board leans towards annual increases of $50 each until the maximum salary is attained, but that is to be worked out by the committee on schools and teachers, which will report on the election of teachers, and the salaries at the next meeting of the board.

The Commercial club committee on school affairs reported to the public affairs committee at its meeting last night, recommending that the maximum salaries be increased to the figures named and that the board of education be allowed to work out the manner of annual increases. Verbally, the committee reported against the Congdon bill providing that bond issues of the school district shall be approved by a two-thirds vote of the city council. After several members of the public affairs committee had denounced the bill, the matter was referred to the executive committee, which will probably make an effort to have the bill, which is now before the state senate, killed.

Attorney General's Opinion.

The problem confronting the school board, the Commercial club committee and the teachers was simplified by an opinion given by the attorney general's office and read at the meeting of the public affairs committee last night. The opinion was to the effect that, in addition to the 8 mills now allowed to be levied for the purchase of sites and construction of buildings, the board has the right to levy 2 mills for the equipment of buildings. The levy now being collected carries $33,000 for the equipment of the Washington training school. That amount has been charged against the general fund, but now it can be taken from the building fund, leaving the full 8 mill levy in the general fund, exclusive of the equipment charges.

Thus the board is certain to have enough money to meet increases in teachers' salaries for the next two years. If increases in valuation should not produce money enough for the general fund to meet maintenance charges in the future, the board will be able to go before the legislature to have the limit taken off of the general fund levy.

The Commercial club committee reported in favor of the Congdon bill limiting the total levy to 12 mills and it is very likely that no opposition will be offered to this bill and that it will pass.

Equipment charges have in the past been made against the general fund and to embarrassment of the school board as far as the general fund was concerned arose from that fact. The attorney general's opinion, allowing the board to pay for equipment from the building fund is regarded as of great importance at this time.

Technical Opinion.

It is an opinion reached by technical deductions from the laws. Special laws govern the independent school districts of the three large cities of the state. In cases not covered by the special laws, the laws governing all independent school districts hold, and cases not governed by either the special laws or the laws relating to independent school districts come under the laws governing common school districts.

The special laws and the laws governing independent school districts place a limit of 8 mills on the fund to be raised for the "purchase of sites and erection of buildings." The laws governing common school districts provide that 10 mills may be levied for the "purchase of sites and erection and equipment of buildings." The attorney general's office holds that the difference of 2 mills may be levied by the Duluth district for the equipment of buildings, taking that amount out of the general fund. The opinion was written by Linen A. Smith, assistant attorney general.

There was a unanimity among the members of the public affairs committee on the proposed increases to the teachers and the report of the committee was adopted without question. Henry Nolte, chairman of the committee, stated that the school board is in hearty accord with the recommendations of the committee and the increases recommended are assured.

Bond Issues.

David Williams expressed the opinion that the cost of the construction of school buildings should not be met by taxation but that bonds should be issued so that the cost might be spread over a long period of years, relieving the property owners of the burden at one time.

That brought up the subject of the Congdon bill, providing for a limit to the bonded indebtedness of the district and the submission of the proposed bond issues to the city council for approval by a two-thirds vote. Mr. Nolte declared that the proposed legislation is vicious and should be killed. Bert Fesler, the city attorney, said that the initiative in the introduction of the bill did not come from anybody connected with the city government. On motion of E. P. Towne the matter was referred to the executive committee and the members of the public affairs committee were assured that the committee would take proper steps in the matter.

School Population Great.

In making its report, the special committee on school affairs stated that the salaries in Minneapolis and St. Paul are higher than the maximum salaries proposed for Duluth. The basis of comparison is not a fair one all through, however, in the opinion of the committee, as the school population of Duluth is so much greater in proportion to the whole population, the difference between Duluth and St. Paul being 27 per cent and between Duluth and Minneapolis 12 per cent.

"That means more teachers, more buildings and more of everything," said Mr. Nolte in explaining the difference. "The probability is that Duluth will have enough money to pay the new salaries for the next two years. Increases in valuation may take care of them in the future. It is apparent, however, that we must build a new building next year. The school population is increasing in Duluth in undue proportion to the increase in the whole population, and we must look for high taxes for school purposes on that account."

The committee consisted of Henry Nolte, David Williams, W. I. Prince, E. P. Towne and Oscar Mitchell.

INDIAN BUYS LIQUOR.

Bayfield, Wis., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Maj. Campbell, the Indian agent, was here Thursday to have a conference with the committee of ten appointed to assist Indians from meddling with booze or saloon keepers from selling liquor to Indians. The major stated that he had done just as he said he would do, investigate occasionally for himself. He said he sent an Indian under 21 years of age with a witness to Bayfield. The redskin purchased a pint of whisky at one saloon after all the others had turned him down. Maj. Campbell desires the committee to investigate for themselves and he will furnish the testimony. A sub-committee of three was appointed to look into the matter.

GLAD HAND TO MILWAUKEE

Visitors From Cream City Will Be Given Warm Welcome.

Plans for Water Carnival of Boat Club Are Approved.

The visit of members of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association of Milwaukee to Duluth in June was given official recognition by the public affairs committee of the Commercial club last night, when a report of the jobbers' committee favoring steps by the club for the entertainment of the visitors was referred to the executive committee.

The jobbers' committee referred to the friendly feeling which was created last year on the visit of Chicago business men to Duluth and said that a similar feeling would probably result from the visit of the Milwaukee association.

E. A. Schulze endeavored to have the public affairs committee go on record last night as in favor of the abolishment of the office of special counsel to the county board. He said that the office was created while the work on the new courthouse was in progress and he declared that the need for it had passed when the building was completed. His motion was passed over and the matter was referred to the state and county committee with instructions to confer with the county board and report back to the whole committee.

The executive committee reported last night its approval of the water carnival plans of the Duluth Boat club, and the publicity committee reported that it is preparing estimates of the cost of an aggressive advertising campaign to bring Duluth's water carnival prominently to the front all through the United States and especially in those sections where intense heat is the rule about the time the water carnival will be held.

President E. Pennington and other officials of the Soo line will be the guests of the Commercial club some time during the month of April, according to Mr. McGonagle. He said that Duluth owes much to the Soo line, which has opened a great territory for Duluth trade and he said the citizens should be anxious to meet the officials and show their appreciation of the developments which the Soo line has made possible.

The executive committee reported that it had gone on record as opposed to dirt pavements for the streets on the ground that smooth pavements are hard on the horses, the report said, but dirt pavements are too likely to be washed away by heavy rains to be practicable on the hilly streets.

The public affairs committee went on record as favoring the Weeks' bill providing that migratory birds be under the protection of the federal government.

The Minnesota Retail Druggists' association will hold a meeting in Duluth, July 11, 12 and 13, according to a report to the public affairs committee. About 200 people will attend the meeting.

SICK MEN MADE WELL!

THE GREAT NORTHWEST'S EMINENT SPECIALISTS IN DISEASES OF MEN

Established here for over 20 years, with property interests in this city—this is our home. We are to be relied upon, for we have cured more than 10,000 men. We make good any promises and cures we undertake. We guarantee our cures. Cure all diseases of men.

KIDNEYS AND RHEUMATISM

The kidneys are the most important organs in the body in the elimination of waste material. When the organs exercise their functions properly they filter the impurities of the body which are not eliminated by the skin and if they fail to act properly and promptly the result is a variety of diseases. If uric acid is not secreted, it will stay in the kidneys, precipitates into fine needle-like crystals which cause the kidneys to swell and the back to ache. Two treatments of ours will dissolve this pain forever, as well as acute rheumatism.

SKIN AND CANCERS

Most of skin diseases are caused from bad blood which had carried poisons for years. It appears in the form of eczema, often in pimples of the face and back; these pimples will form scars which will stay for life and disfigure the face. A scab, a wart, sometimes a birthmark, will begin to fester with little or no pain in the beginning, later the sore grows and with it the pain; often no attention is paid and from these little insignificant things those fatal cancers develop. Many a man has lost his arm, his leg, and often his life just through mere neglect. We have saved many a man's leg and life, for our healing process will slowly but surely cure you of all skin troubles.

CATARRH AND LUNG

The Progressive Medical Doctors are among the most skillful specializing physicians of this country. They have invented a medicine for catarrhal and lung diseases which is not equaled by any other. We use it with this Roentgen machine and there is nothing which helps a patient more than this. Anyone suffering from Catarrh and other lung troubles should not hesitate to consult us at once for we have to our credit the cures of many hundred patients during our twenty years of activity in Duluth. Think of how many people have developed quick consumption from catarrh and death from bronchitis.

VARICOSE VEINS

We found in former years that cutting and dissecting out these veins did not cure our patients. The deep-seated nerves that control the function and nutrition of the vital organs were still causing the patients trouble and more pain than before. After our discovery of the poisons in stagnant circulation of varicose veins, we invented the "Direct Method of the Dissolving Process," and this method is as superior to the old time cutting and blood letting and drugging, as the modern electric light is superior to the old fashioned tallow candle.

BLOOD POISON

If you have eruptions on your body, pain in the joints, chest, bones ache, if your mouth is sore, if your hair is falling out, eyebrows getting thin, if you have copper colored spots, if you are despondent and have ever had any sores or diseases of any kind, come to us and find out what the trouble is. Owing to the terrible nature of Blood Poison you cannot afford to be uncertain about it. If you have any reason to fear such a disease, our treatment is certain in results because it is not mercurial.

PILES AND RUPTURE

Rupture is often caused by hard lifting, strain and horseback riding, but mostly it is brought on by enlarged veins of the left side. These swollen veins tear the abdominal rings and open the way for the intestines to escape from the abdomen. It will encroach the vital parts which will finally waste. We cure rupture without the knife for our method has proven to be infallible in 1,200 cases. Piles are also cured without an operation. We dissolve them without the least pain, so that a man will never be troubled again. We dissolve the bad blood and make the tissue perfectly healthy by our dissolving process. A few treatments will suffice and do more for you than all the medicines you have taken before.

NERVOUS—DEBILITY

Our treatment of nervousness and weaknesses acts at once upon the nerve forces, stopping all the bad effects of indiscretion and replacing the worn-out and run-down tissues. It increases the weight with sound, healthy flesh and muscles that give strength and fills the brain and nerves with fresh vitality, building up the entire system and transforming the sufferer into a type of complete manhood. Our Electro-Radio treatments fill the man with new vigor so that all bad habits and unnatural discharges stop.

STOMACH AND CONSTIPATION

Medicines you purchase from the drug store will only relieve you temporarily. If your stomach has troubled you longer than two months that is proof that the causes are deep-seated. The glands of the stomach secrete hydrochloric acid and other constituents necessary for digestion. This cannot be secreted when the stomach is sick as the glands of it are often so far gone that foodstuffs can impossibly be digested. It then goes through the intestines without giving you the right nourishment. The coarse food will irritate the stomach and also the 22 feet of bowels. This condition gradually prepares your for cancer of the bowels and intestines. You can avoid all woes of pain and misery if you come to us, for we have cured thousands of these cases.

To be well, strong, healthy and vigorous should be every man's aim. It is a duty every man owes to himself and his country. A man should be able to withstand almost any ordinary fatigue. If you are run down physically or mentally through nervous debility, weakness and low vitality, you show it only too plainly. You are tired, listless, unambitious, and as long as you let it go you will get worse. You should place yourself in the hands of a completent specialist. The Progressive Medical Association, by reason of its large practice and twenty years' experience, is more thoroughly equipped in the knowledge of these cases than could be expected of physicians who get these cases occasionally. We treat and cure hundreds of men every year. We have the best equipped medical office in the whole Northwest, having spent more than $10,000 on it.

NEWS OF THE WEST END

"OWN YOUR OWN HOME"

Movement Has Struck the West End This Spring.

Many New Residences Are in Course of Construction.

The "own-your-own-home" movement has struck the West end this spring, say the realty men, who predict that within the next few weeks there will be much activity in real estate in the residence district. The movement is already being felt and several substantial residences are already being erected.

John J. Moe this spring will erect at Twenty-third avenue west and Fourth street a $15,000 home, one of the finest in the West end. J. J. Wagenstein, architect, is preparing plans for the structure now. It will be modern in every particular.

David Adams, the West end home builder, has several houses in course of construction. Last week Mr. Adams bought from Sievert Haugsrud two lots at Twenty-eighth avenue west between Superior and First streets and will erect two houses on the property. Both will be modern.

Mr. Adams is also constructing a house at Twenty-first avenue west and Second street to cost $4,500 and will start another in a few days close to it. Ole Rud is building a home for himself at Twenty-third avenue west and Fifth street and Richard Hanson, contractor, is erecting a three-story brick flat building on the upper side of the street in the same block. At 2320-2322 West Second street a new double house is being completed.

M. Bates is building four cottages at Twenty-third avenue west and Fifth street on the avenue, and A. H. Burg has erected three neat bungalows near the ore docks on West Third street. Arid Harnell has purchased a lot at Thirty-ninth avenue west and Seventh street and will build a home there. At Thirty-ninth avenue west and Fifth street, Jonas Widmark has purchased sixty-six feet and will also build.

W. J. Case is planning to erect a home at Thirty-second avenue west and Bestormel street. T. J. Wagner has purchased from the Jacob Palcen estate a house and lot at 2629 West Fifth street and will occupy the home. The deal was made through the Western Realty company. The same firm also sold two lots during the past week, at Thirty-ninth avenue west and Fifth street to Arthur A. and Rupert R. Asplund. Both will build.

A new realty company has been organized at the West end and will start up under the name of the S. Morterud Realty company at 2003 West Superior street in a few days. S. Morterud, for twenty years in the clothing business at the West end, and his oldest son, Sidney, are the members of the new firm.

NORWAY'S DAY OF INDEPENDENCE

May 17, Norway's independence day, will be celebrated by the Duluth Norwegians under the auspices of the Normanna male chorus of the West end and preparations are now being made for the affair.

The celebration will be held at the Lincoln Park pavilion this year. The celebration will be on the ninety-seventh anniversary of the day and an elaborate program is being arranged.

Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First M. E. church, will give the principal address. His subject is announced as "Our Country." Rev. Edward Erickson will deliver the principal Norwegian talk of the day. He is pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church of the West end. Rev. J. H. Stenberg, pastor of the First Norwegian Lutheran church, will also speak.

Flaaten's orchestra has been engaged to furnish the instrumental musical numbers and the Normanna chorus will sing several selections. The auditorium will be appropriately decorated for the occasion.

L. A. Simonson will be chairman of the day and the committee in charge consists of the following: George Thrana, chairman; George Salverson, secretary; Peter Hammer, A. J. Meyers, Lars Henman, Joseph Solem, B. Sande, A. Christopherson and A. Jonnason.

SCANDINAVIAN COURSES URGED

That the Scandinavian languages should be taught in the public schools as well as German, French or any of the other modern languages was the sense of a meeting held last evening at Bethany church at which representatives from the various Scandinavian churches of the city were present.

Among the speakers, who urged that Swedish and Norwegian courses be introduced in the schools, were: Rev. Carl Solmonson, Rev. J. A. Krantz, G. W. Olson, Rev. J. H. Stenberg, Rev. J. J. Daniels, Rev. Swaney Nelson, Rev. Edward Stromberg, Rev. J. A. Bjerke, Rev. J. Nervig, Anton Ringsrud and E. A. Dahl. A committee was appointed to solicit the opinions of the various Scandinavian societies of the city on the matter. A petition will be prepared asking for this in the schools and will be presented to the board of education.

Quarterly Meeting.

Members of the Young People's societies of the Swedish Baptist churches at the Head of the Lakes will hold their quarterly meeting Sunday afternoon, April 9, at the Swedish temple, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. A special program is being arranged for the occasion. The musical numbers will be given under the direction of W. E. Ericson.

GOVERNOR NOT IN COURT

Governor Eberhart did not appear this morning in district court to answer to the suit brought against him by Albert Woolson, the old soldier, who claims that he was discriminated against when he made application for the position of inspector of steam vessels.

Special County Attorney William J. Stevenson, who was recently appointed assistant attorney general, appeared for the governor. He moved to quash the alternative writ. The hearing was before Judge Libbell. It seems probable that the arguments will be held at a special term of court a week from today.

Mr. Woolson's attorney wanted time to look up Mr. Stevenson's authority to represent the governor in the case. For this and other reasons the matter was put forward.

Mr. Stevenson will hold that a suit cannot be maintained against the governor. He will claim that a suit against the governor is the same as an action against the state.

The action was begun some time ago when Governor Eberhart appointed Louis Boo to the position of inspetcor of steam vessels. Woolson claims that he had made application and had shown that he was fitted for the place. He claims that he should have been given the preference on the ground that he was an old soldier with an honorable discharge from the United States army.

In his petition he says that he is 65 years old and has had thirty-five years' experience with boilers.

HIRAM CARPENTER'S WONDERFUL CURE OF PSORIASIS

After 20 Years of Intense Suffering When All Thought He Had but Short Time to Live. Earnestly Prayed to Die. Condition Deplorable Beyond Description.

Tries Cuticura. Eureka! Relief at Once. Stopped Terrible Burning Sensation from Word Go. In Six Weeks Skin Smooth as This Paper.

"I have been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, called by some M. D.'s. psoriasis, and others leprosy, commencing on my scalp; and in spite of all I could do, with the help of the most skilful doctors, it slowly but surely extended until a year ago this winter it covered my entire person in the form of dry scales. For the last three years I have been unable to do any labor, and suffering intensely all the time. Every morning there would be nearly a dustpanful of scales taken from the sheet on my bed, some of them half as large as the envelope containing this letter. In the latter part of winter my skin commenced cracking open. I tried everything, almost, that could be thought of, without any relief. The 12th of June I started West, in hopes I could reach the Hot Springs. I reached Detroit and was so low I thought I should have to go to the hospital, but finally got as far as Lansing, Mich., where I had a sister living. One Dr. —— treated me about two weeks, but did me no good. All thought I had but a short time to live. I earnestly prayed to die. Cracked through the skin all over my back, across my ribs, arms, hands, limbs; feet badly swollen; toe-nails came off; finger-nails dead and hard as a bone; hair dead, dry and lifeless as old straw. O my God! how I did suffer.

"My sister, Mrs. E. H. Davis, had a small part of a box of Cuticura in the house. She wouldn't give up; said, "We will try Cuticura." Some was applied on one hand and arm. Eureka! there was relief; stopped the terrible burning sensation from the word go. They immediately got Cuticura Resolvent, Ointment and Soap. I commenced by taking one tablespoonful of Cuticura Resolvent three times a day after meals; had a bath once a day, water about blood heat; used Cuticura Soap freely; applied Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. Result: returned to my home in just six weeks from the time I left, and my skin as smooth as this sheet of paper. Hiram E. Carpenter, Henderson, N.Y."

"We hereby certify that we are acquainted with the aforesaid Hiram E. Carpenter, and know his condition to have been as stated. We believe his statement to be true in every particular." L. B. Simmons & Son, Merchants; G. A. Thompson, Merchant; A. A. Davis; Millard E. Joiner, Merchant; John Carpenter; A. M. Leffingwell, Attorney and Counselor-at-law, all of Henderson, N. Y.

The above remarkable testimonial was written January 19, 1880, and is republished because of the permanency of the cure. Under date of April 22, 1910, Mr. Carpenter wrote from his present home 610 Walnut St. So., Lansing, Mich.: "I have never suffered a return of the psoriasis and although many years have passed I have not forgotten the terrible suffering I endured before using the Cuticura Remedies."

Since this cure was made by the Cuticura Remedies, they've made their way to every part of the civilized world. A 32-page booklet describing humors and affections of the skin will be mailed free to those desiring further information by the Potter Drug & Chemical Corporation, Boston, U. S. A.

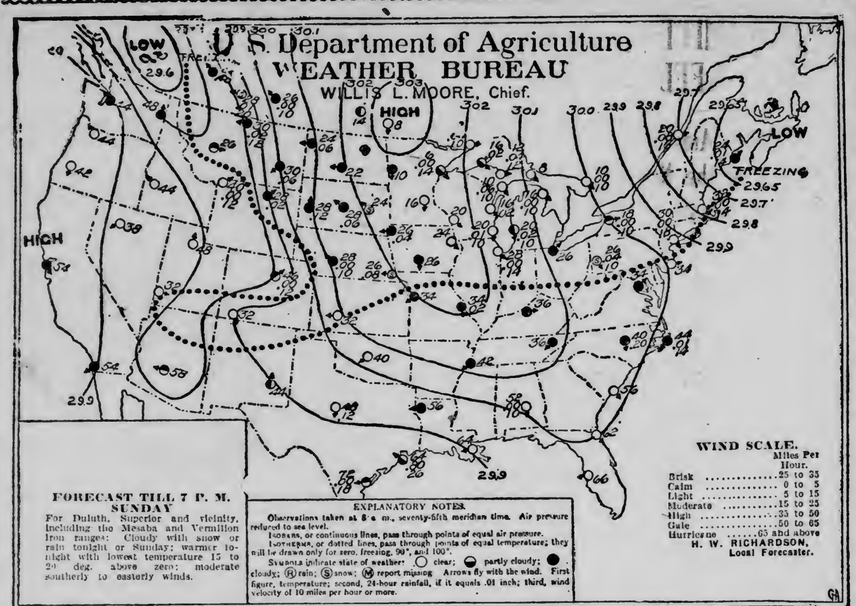
OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



SNOW

The lion wins. If anybody says the chilly wind that swept over Duluth last night was lamb-like he has another guess coming. The week's records were beaten last night when the mercury dropped to 3 deg. above. It was a little too close to zero to be comfortable and some people are beginning to think that it's about time for old Man Winter to drop into his long-eared. Today is fair and cold. Somewhat warmer weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow, but snow or rain signs are observed by the sage on the hill.

Fair weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:47 and it will set this evening at 6:37, giving twelve hours and fifty minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Freezing temperatures occurred last night over practically the whole of the grain region in connection with the high pressure now central over Manitoba. Scattered falls of snow or rain occurred in most northern districts to the eastward of the Rocky mountains, largely as a result of the disturbances central off the North Atlantic coast and over British Columbia. The barometer is falling quite rapidly to the westward of the Rocky mountains. This condition will cause milder weather and more or less precipitation at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, April 1.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Wisconsin—Fair tonight; Sunday increasing cloudiness with probably showers or snow flurries in afternoon or night; rising temperature Sunday and in west portion tonight.

Minnesota—Unsettled with rain or snow tonight or Sunday; warmer tonight.

Iowa—Unsettled tonight and Sunday with rain or snow; warmer tonight and in east portion Sunday.

North and South Dakota—Unsettled weather with rain or snow tonight or Sunday; warmer tonight.

Montana—Rain or snow tonight or Sunday; colder Sunday.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight; Sunday fair and slightly warmer.

Shipping forecast: Protect thirty-six hour shipments of perishables against temperature 15 deg. to 25 deg. above zero in the Eastern Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Michigan Copper country.

DULUTHIAN IS PRISONER OF WAR

Humphrey Jones Hopes to Have His Son Liberated Soon.

James H. Jones, the young Duluthian who is a prisoner of war in Mexico, according to dispatches sent out by the Associated Press, is the son of Humphrey Jones of 1702 Piedmont avenue.

He is said to have been captured by the federals in the battle of Casas Grandes, and was one of a number of Americans who were taken. His father received a letter from him March 23. It was dated Feb. 23, a month previous. At that time he expressed dissatisfaction with the country and signified his intention of early return to the United States. He had been selling nursery stock for a Portland, Or., firm. Mr. Jones yesterday sent telegrams to the Minnesota senators and Representative Miller, asking that they use their influence with the secretary of war to obtain the young man's early release.

bers of the Commercial club. Minneapolis is expected to join with the two other cities and the three will carry on a vigorous campaign to prove to the people of the smaller cities and the farmers throughout the state that the attitude they have taken on the reciprocity agreement is a mistake.

The Duluth Commercial club had a committee on reciprocity. Resolutions setting forth Duluth's sentiment on the subject were prepared and forwarded to Senator Clapp and Senator Nelson. Senator Clapp did not favor the committee with a reply, while Senator Nelson intimated that he had made up his mind that the agreement should not be ratified.

The Real Estate exchange committee believes that if sufficient pressure be brought to bear on the Minnesota senators they will change their attitude. It is believed the farmers of the state have not a clear conception of the purposes or the ultimate effect of the agreement on their fortunes and the exchange committee will assemble arguments and work among the commercial bodies of the small towns and the farmers' clubs to convince them that the agreement should be ratified.

Duluth has a selfish interest in the agreement, as it would be a great commercial asset to the city, but the commercial interests are not alone in their support of it. The labor organizations of the city see in the agreement a step toward lower cost of living and they will undoubtedly give their support to any movement towards working up sentiment in favor of the agreement.

tions which the ways and means committee report assigns to Representative J. J. Fitzgerald of New York. This action, it is believed, will restore the good feeling which was upset by the contest for the place at the head of the appropriations committee.

Question of Patronage.

The question of patronage was then considered, discussion following a plan to abolish many positons, it having been estimated that about $113,000 annually can be saved in this manner.

The ways and means committee planned to submit to the caucus report on the organization of house committees. A list of the committees and their chairmen has been completed. Contests are brewing over a few of the selections. The new committee on rules worked until late last night completing its report for presentation to the caucus.

An entirely new code of rules to govern the next house has been written. Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the committee, stated before the caucus that the committee had used as a basis for the new code, the rules of the house in the Fifty-third congress, the last congress controlled by the Democrats.

The organization of the caucus was completed by choosing Representative W. A. Ashbrook of Ohio as secretary.

To Cut Down Roll of Employes.

In a speech Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee, announced the plan to cut down the big roll of house employes, and to give most of those positions to Democrats who had not been given committee chairmanships.

The details of the plan to save $113,000 in the expenses of running the house were presented in a report by Representative Palmer of Pennsylvania, a member of the ways and means committee to whom the work had been entrusted. The scheme not only contemplated the abolishment of many positions but the consolidation of others.

Constitutional provision would have prohibited his election while holding the office of justice of the supreme court.

Legislature Adjourns.

Wild applause marked the end of the long contest and the legislature, driven from the state capitol by Wednesday's fire, quickly adopted a resolution adjourning until April 11.

Governor Dix expressed gratification at the result.

"The state of New York," he said, "has elected for its representative in the Federal senate an eminent jurist, a man of pronounced ability, of great attainments and of the highest character. The election of Justice O'Gorman cannot but meet with the approval of the citizens of this state, regardless of party. He will rank with the ablest statesmen the senate has known, will well represent the Empire state and bestow honor upon the party that elected him. I am gratified at this solution of the problem which has confronted the Democratic members of the legislature for the past ten weeks."

Chmarles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, who for weeks has been striving to bring about the election of Mr. Sheehan, expressed himself as highly pleased with the outcome.

"No better selection could have been made by the party after the unfair and unmerrited defeat of Mr. Sheehan, whose position before the people has been greatly strengthened," said Mr. Murphy. "Judge O'Gorman needs no commendation from anyone, but the public undoubtedly will see that in the triumph of majority rule and in sustaining the party caucus, the power of the party and its opportunities to serve the people have been greatly increased."

Murphy Comes to Albany.

Thursday night it was understood that a senator would be selected yesterday from a list of eleven submitted to Albany by the insurgents. Yesterday morning Mr. Murphy came to Albany and coincidentally reports were put forth that Judge O'Gorman had been selected as the choice of the Democratic organization.

The insurgents, who had about made up their minds to enter the caucus upon the assurance that names would be submitted outside of their list of eleven, balked at this changed program. They failed to appear at the morning caucus and a postponement was held until 3 o'clock.

Meantime a committee representing the regulars was arguing with the insurgents who were in conference at the residence of their leader, Senator Roosevelt, and finally those favoring it voted to put an end to the struggle by accepting Justice O'Gorman. One insurgent did not vote and the other eight were recorded against this proposition.

It was about 5 o'clock when the caucus reconvened. As a contingent of insurgents filed into the chamber, a burst of applause greeted them.

Din Becomes Deafening.

"It's O'Gorman!" some one yelled, and then the din became deafening. And O'Gorman it was when the first ballot was concluded. The ballot showed a total of 100 present and voting, apportioned in this way: James A. O'Gorman, 63; William F. Sheehan, 23; Laidor Straus, 5; D. Cady Herrick, 4; John D. Kernan, 3; Alton B. Parker, 1; William Sulzer, 1. The vote for O'Gorman, on motion, was then made unanimous.

Senators Roosevelt and Burd, followed by a number of other insurgents who had not participated in the caucus, filed into the chamber to a mingled chorus of cheers and jeers.

"Tam-ma-nee," sang out some one, and half the members joined in a chorus drowning the voice of the speaker. In vain he pounded the desk with the gavel.

Members were hugging one another in their joy at this ending of the wearying struggle, and they continued to howl and sing and scream.

"The house will please be in order," persisted the speaker.

"Yow! Yow!" screeched the assemblage. "Tam-ma-nee!"

It was some minutes before order could be restored and the formal ratification of the caucus decree began.

Taunts the Insurgents.

When the name of Senator Brackett, minority leader, was called, he arose and taunted the insurgents, declaring that after they had refused to support one man, the choice of a majority of the party, because of his relations with Tammany Hall, they had "finally joined in the election of one who had been infinitely closer to and more potential in that organization than has been Mr. Sheehan."

Assembly Leader Merritt, Republican house leader, had something to say in the same vein. To them, Senator Wagner and Assemblyman Smith, majority leaders of the two houses, retorted in like spirit. A hush of expectancy fell over the chamber when Senator Roosevelt's name was called.

"Two months ago," said the insurgent leader, "a number of Democrats felt that it was our duty to dissent from certain of our party associates in the matter of selecting a United States senator. We have followed the dictates of our consciences and have done our duty as we saw it. I believe that as a result the Democratic party has taken an upward step. We are Democrats, not irregulars, but regulars. I take pleasure in casting my vote for the Hon. James O'Gorman."

O'Gorman's Policies.

New York, April 1.—The new senator from New York will support all the progressive policies of the Democratic party and will join hands with President Taft in urging reciprocity with Canada and the fortification of the Panama canal.

"My best efforts will be devoted to meet the just expectations of my fellow citizens," he said in a statement issued at his home last night.

"As I stated in a telegram to the Democratic caucus, I am in thorough accord with the principles enunciated in the platforms of the last Democratic national and state conventions."

Mr. O'Gorman here sketched an outline of his policies in substance as follows: He stands for immediate downward revision of the tariff, reciprocity with Canada, the parcels post, fortification of the Panama canal, direct election of United States senators and the federal income tax. He favors rigid economy in government expenditures and is opposed to "all special privileges and private monopoly; to the new nationalism and to the centralizing tendencies of the Republican party."

Prominent in Tammany Hall.

James A. O'Gorman has long been one of the most prominent members of Tammany Hall. He has been one of its foremost orators for thirty years, having established his reputation as a public speaker in its interests when, at the age of 21, his eloquence was credited with having saved a doubtful assembly district.

Mr. O'Gorman was born on the lower West side of New York city, May 6, 1860. He is the son of Thomas and Ellen O'Gorman, and married Anne M. Leslie in this city on Jan. 2, 1884. They have nine children, seven daughters and two sons.

After finishing a course in the public schools, Mr. O'Gorman, as a lad of 17, entered the College of the City of New York, and later attended the University of New York law school, was graduated and entered at the bar in 1882.

From the time he cast his first vote he aligned himself with Tammany Hall, which favored him generously. In 1893 he was elected a justice of the municipal court, and in 1899 was elected a justice of the supreme court for a term of fourteen years from Jan. 1, 1900. His salary has been $17,500, or almost three times what he will receive as United States senator. And he had almost three years to serve, while as a senator he has six years.

The new senator is a member of the law institute, the Medico-Legal society, Catholic club, Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, New York Athletic club, Champlain club, Royal Arcanum and other organizations. He has received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the college of St. Thomas of Villa Nova, 1904; Fordham university, 1906, and New York university, 1909.

surrectos are to use against San Crisobal de Barranca, which has been fortified by extra troops pending the expected arrival of the insurrectos.

Confirmation is given that the Mexican gunboat Tampico captured a small ship loaded with munitions of war for the insurrectos near Mazatlan. The arms were said to have cleared from San Diego.

Rebels at Bustillos.

Chihuahua, Mex., via Laredo Junction, April 1.—A correspondent of the Associated Press, who returned today from the headquarters of Francisco Madero, the insurgent leader, reports that Medero and Gen. Orozco, with the main force of insurrectos, numbering more than 1,000 men, are at Bustillos, sixty miles west of this city. Another force of about 600 men is at San Andres, and others are at San Isidro and other small towns between San Andres and Chihuahua in detachments of from fifty to 100. Gen. Blanco has arrived at Guerrero with his detachment from the North.

Bloody Battle.

El Paso, Tex., April 1.—The bloodiest and most important battle of the Mexican insurrection thus far in the state of Sonora is ended after two days of stubborn fighting which began Monday near the town of Ures and San Rafael.

Although the insurrectos outnumbered the federal forces, their ammunition became exhausted in the continued engagement while the federals were able to obtain reinforcements and additional ammunition from Hermosillo and the insurrectos were compelled to abandon the fight. Although the loss on both sides was heavy, reports of the killed and wounded have been greatly exaggerated and it is now known that not more than 100 were killed on both sides.

The movements of the insurrecto force after the battle are unknown. A rumor that they had captured the town of San Benito has been officially denied by Governor Cubullas, who says there was no fighting in the town of Ures, although the engagement took place near there.

Persistent rumors were still current that Juarez would be attacked soon although there is little to substantiate them. Numerous bands of insurrectos have crossed the border near El Paso from the American side. Juan N. Medina, a former officer of the Mexican army, who has been living in El Paso, is said to be in command of one of these bands.

Famous Expert Tells

How Fat May be Removed Rapidly by a Simple Home Remedy Without Causing Wrinkles, Disturbing the Diet or Necessity for Exercise.

"Fat is nothing but unused energy," says a prominent physician, and the man or woman who is burdened with it can easily get rid of it if they wish. All they need is ½ ounce of Marmola, ½ ounce of Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3½ ounces of Peppermint Water; all of which they can get at any good drug store for a few cents. Then let them take one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime until they are down to the weight they want to be.

This simple home receipt is far and away better than any or all the patent or secret medicines, for it reduces the fat safely and harmlessly. The ingredients are in fact beneficial to the system, having both tonic and purifying qualities, and no help rather than distress the stomach. The remedy does not cause wrinkles, for it reduces one gradually and naturally, preserving a good outline, and, best of all, needs neither physical exercise to help it do the work, nor does it require any change in diet—one can get results and still take things easy—eating meanwhile just what, when and how he or she pleases. Be sure and get the Marmola in a sealed package, so that you get Marmola and not a substitute.

effective until after the next session of the legislature.

Those instrumental in drawing the bill have kept its details secret, but it is understood that it takes five senators from Southern Minnesota, adds one member to the senate, and thus provides six changes, to be bestowed as follows: St. Louis, Ramsey and Hennepin counties, one new senator each, and three additional senators in the country districts of Southern Minnesota. The distribution of house members will follow pretty closely the provisions of the Congdon bill.

The committee to investigate the Red Wing training school has finished its inquiry and has very nearly framed a report, as the committee stands 4 to 2 on the question of whether the discharge of Supt. THREE BILLS EACH MINUTE vanced to the calendar, and then later returned to general orders.

Other bills, quite as important in their way, slipped through, and with them went many minor and local measures. Each member present was allowed to put through one bill, unless objection was raised; and the result was that many bills that would ordinarily create much discussion were, in the absence of objection and the hurry of the session, passed on to the calendar as rapidly as the local measures.

Representative Congdon's bill, providing for experiment farms at Duluth and Waseca, came up, and Representative Papke of Waseca tried to get it through. Objection was raised, however, and on motion of Representative Lennon the bill was placed at the head of general orders. Representative Spooner, chairman of the appropriations committee, said that the committee wanted to get the sense of the house on this bill by Monday evening, so that it could determine whether to include an appropriation for the schools in the appropriation bill it is framing.

Among the bills advanced to the calendar were the following:

By Representative Rines—Taxing mineral rights wherever the owner of the land and demands it.

House committee on taxes and tax laws—Reducing the mortgage registry tax from 50 cents per $1,0000 to 15 cents.

Representative Healy—Making assessments equal to general taxes as liens.

Representative O'Neill—Legalizing appropriations made by Beltrami county for roads and bridges and for county fairs.

Representative Lindberg—Amending the oil inspection law.

Representative Conley—Prohibiting any person under the influence of liquor to run an automobile.

Representative Andrew Anderson—Prohibiting the sale of misbranded drugs.

Senator Froshaug—Providing a license fee of $500 for itinerant physicians.

House committee on public lands—Providing for a commission to investigate the public domain and report to the next legislature a bill consolidating the several state departments relating thereto.

House committee on public lands—Proposed constitutional amendment taking the sale of state lands away from the state auditor's office.

House state fair committee—Reorganizing the state agricultural society.

Representative Holmberg—Establishing grades of apples.

Representative C. H. Warner—Appropriating $8,000 for the State Tuberculosis commission.

Representative Conley—Making it a gross misdemeanor to misbrand merchandise.

Senator Cheadle — Providing for changes in the boundaries of school districts, to enable certain Lake county distriots to take in territory in order to lower their taxes.

Representative Fowler — Requiring that creditors be notified before stocks of merchandise are sold in bulk, in order to prevent their being defrauded.

Representative Spooner — Providing for non-partisan caucuses for the nomination of candidates for officers in fourth class cities.

After this unprecedented labor had been achieved, the house reconsidered the motion adopted in the morning to adjourn today, and adjourned to Monday morning. No quorum was present, and technically this action was impossible, but when Representative Bouck raised the point of order Speaker pro tem Lennon refused to recognize it. Neither the house nor senate, therefore, is in session today.

ON THE IRON RANGES

GILBERT SCHOOL SYSTEM PRAISED

Journal of Education Editor Who Visited Gilbert Writes Lauding Methods.

Gilbert, Minn., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. A. E. Winship, editor of the Boston Journal of Education, recently visited the range schools, and in the last issue of his journal, speaking of these schools, he says: "In respect to what has been accomplished in little over a year, Gilbert is the most wonderful school system in the United States, having been admitted to the accredited list of the state university within one year of the date of the erection of first school building. The course of study, buildings, system, and the wonderful new $125,000 high school, are marvelous examples of what can be done in constructive work on the Minnesota iron ranges."

Dr. Winship maintains that the range schools are models of modern educational progress, rivaling any city of any size in the United States, and excelling all but a few, and that Northern Minnesota is writing a new and startling chapter in the history of educational history, especially in the industrial and social work that is being accomplished in the day and night schools, and in the vast work that is being done in the making of American citizens of the hordes of foreign parents and children that have come to the Minnesota iron ranges.

Mr. Coates will announce this committee later.

An endeavor will be made to get into the proposed league consisting of St. Paul, Minneapolis, Superior, Duluth, Hibbing and Virginia, as suggested by Al. Kuenow of Duluth. Virginia has one of the best ball parks in the country and as baseball has always been liberally supported in this city it is considered that such a proposition as semi-professional ball will meet with favor all over the ranges.

It was decided at this meeting to issue $2,500 of stock to begin with and if more money is needed to carry on the expenses of the team for the season, to issue the balance of the $5,000 capitalization. The meeting was an enthusiastic one and all were in favor of getting together one of the best semi-professional ball teams in the country. After sufficient stock is issued a meeting of the stockholders will be held and a permanent organization perfected by the election of a board of directors, who in turn will choose officers of the association. It is expected that A. B. Coates will be the choice for president and many of the fans are anxious that Gordon Cohn be made manager of the team.

CHIEF WALSH LOSES CASE,

But St. Paul Brewery Will Have to Stand the Costs.

Virginia, Minn., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of Charles Zgone against Chief of Police Ellis Walsh was decided by a jury in district court yesterday in favor of the plaintiff, awarding him judgment for $360. About a year ago Chief Walsh attached a stock of liquor in the saloon operated by Zgone at Gilbert and later sold the stock on execution. The plaintiff began suit in municipal court for the recovery of the goods but was defeated and appealed to the higher court. At the last term of the district court the jury disagreed and the case was remanded for another trial. The stock belonged to the Hamm Brewing company of St. Paul and Chief Walsh was backed by a bond to cover any illegality which might arise in the proceedings. The Hamm company will have to settle with the plaintiff.

wet districts in the limited belt outside the patrol limits, for the benefit of the hotels mentioned above, it was advanced to the calendar by a decisive vote. The bill does not allow bars, but permits liquor to be sold in fully equipped hotels of 200 rooms or more, providing it is sold only with meals.

Some of the temperance advocates feared that it was establishing a bad precedent, and that the Minneapolis council might use it to establish more wet districts than the one needed to supply the demands of the guests of the two hotels. However, Mr. Lennon amended it so as to provide that only one district may be created, and that that district can not be enlarged. Representative Conley's motion to indefinitely postpone the bill was lost, 19 for and 43 against, and Mr. Lennon's motion to advance the bill to the calendar was adopted by a large vote.

Boiler Inspection Bill.

Not even the plea that Governor Eberhart has recommended it sufficed to save the bill by Representative Burnquist reorganizing the boiler inspection law. Instead of having fifty-two boiler inspectors, as at present, paid by the fees they receive, the bill provided for only ten—a chief inspector and one for each congressional district—on salaries of $2,000 for the chief and $1,500 for the deputies. Mr. Burquist made a forceful talk for his bill, but it was indefinitely postponed, 35 to 34.

Four-year terms for all county officers are provided by a bill by the house committee on towns and counties, which the house, in committee of the whole, advanced to the calendar yesterday afternoon. Representative A. J. Peterson wanted to kill it, but his motion to recommend it for indefinite postponement was lost.

As the bill was introduced at the request of the several associations of county officers, it extended the present terms. The committee cut that out, however, and made the four-year provision applicable only after the next election. Even then, if the bill passes, the county treasurer will be elected for two years only, but after that term he will hold for four years. The idea in this is to have the terms of the county auditors and the county treasurers expire at different elections.

Advanced to House Calendar.

Other bills advanced to the calendar by the house were as follows:

By Representative Palmer—An automobile code providing, among other things, that nobody under 18 may operate a machine except when accompanied by a licensed chauffeur or the owner, who must be more than 18; that chauffeurs must be licensed by the state after examination to their qualifications; and that nobody can operate a machine while intoxicated.

By the house committee on labor and legislation—Providing that employment license fees shall be $250 for general agencies, $200 for agencies dealing with men only and $75 for agencies dealing with women only.

By Representative S. N. Lee—Proposing a constitutional amendment authorizing the investment of school funds in farm mortgages.

By the house committee on labor and labor legislation—Requiring physicians to report to the labor commissioner all cases of poisoning from lead, phosphorus, arsenic or mercury, or from anthrax, or from compressed air illness, which are contracted as a result of the employment of the victims.

By Senator Sundberg—Licensing peddlers, with fees of $5 to $30.

By Representative I. J. Lee—Requiring packages containing food products to be labeled with the names of manufacturers or jobbers and with the net weight of their contents, and providing penalties if the packages are not of full weight.

By Representative Diessner—Compelling the state university to conduct a department of homeopathy.

Representative Lundeen yesterday afternoon saved the Fosseen senate bill regulating cold storage warehouses, which had been recommended for indefinite postponement by the committee on public health and pure food. The report was adopted in the morning, but Representative Lundeen had the vote adopting the report reconsidered and the bill placed on general orders.

To Abolish Death Penalty.

The MacKenzie house bill abolishing capital punishment has been advanced to the calendar in the senate, and it is likely to become a law, in which case, as Governor Eberhart is certain to sign it, the death penalty will be imposed no more in Minnesota.

The house yesterday afternoon passed the bill by Representatives Mattson, Nolan and Davis, cutting the number of house employes from about eighty to about fifty. It must pass the senate, and even then is applicable only to future sessions.

The Spooner bill providing for the payment for publications of the constitutional amendments last fall passed the house without objection. This bill pays only the number of newspapers authorized by law to publish the amendments, and for only the three publications provided for by law. Secretary of State Schmahl, in accordance with custom, had the amendments published four times, and he also gave the business to a number of newspapers aoove the number provided for by the law, which is three in each county. Two other bills, which are on the calendar, take care of the extra-legal publications. The house took a vote on the one paying for the fourth publication, but as there was a light house it failed of adoption, getting fifty-one votes when it needed sixty with twenty-five votes against it. Representative Moyle Edwards of Breckenridge, voting "no" for that purpose, gave notice that he would move to reconsider the vote by which the bill was lost. The third bill, paying the newspapers not authorized by law to publish the amendments, was laid over.

The house yesterday afternoon passed the Burnquist bill creating a legislative reference department in connection with the state library. It provides for the employment of a clerk from Dec. 1 to May 1 in legislative years at $200 a month, and it appropriates $1,000 a year to be used by the state librarian in gathering material that will be useful. The object is to provide the legislature with assistance in drafting bills.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

SHOOTS HIS WIFE AND THEN PUTS A BULLET THROUGH HIS BRAINS

of Mrs. Boudreau, stated this morning that in all probability she will recover. "The shot through the neck is the worst," he said this morning, "but it will not prove fatal unless it becomes infected, and every precaution is being taken to prevent it."

Boudreau made no effort to shoot any of the three children. How the youngest escaped injury, however, seems to be a miracle. He was lying beside his mother, snuggled up close to her, while the three bullets were fired at her head.

When the shots were fired James, 12 years old, burst from the house and ran upstairs to the family of August Boo, breaking the glass in their door in his excitement. "Father has shot mother and killed himself," he shouted. With a member of the family he tried to get into the store on Third street, back of which their dwelling stands. Finding it locked, he hurried downtown to get a policeman or to telephone. He ran into Boyce's drug store and the clerk to whom he told his story immediately notified the police of the tragedy. Lieut. Fritz and Officers Bohlin and Butchard hurried to the scene in the big Franklin automobile, picking up Dr. Murphy on the way.

Reaching the house the police officers found Mrs. Boudreau lying as she had been when shot, with the bedding saturated with blood. Boudreau had fallen to the floor, his life slowly ebbing away in a pool of his own blood on the floor. The ambulance was summoned and after the woman's wounds had been temporarily dressed by Dr. Murphy to stop the flow of blood, the two were rushed to St. Luke's hospital.

The three children, Margaret, 15 years old; James and Freddie, are bearing up wonderfully. They were taken into the Boo home upstairs in the same house, and stayed there during the night. This morning their eyes were red from weeping, but when asked of the affair they did their best to tell what had happened.

Margaret Takes Charge.

Miss Margaret is showing herself most capable. Asked what she expects to do, she at first said that she didn't know. But a minute later she said that the boys could go to their grandfather's farm, which is a few miles out of Chippewa Falls. "Mother and I had been planning to send them there, anyway," she added, "and that would probably be the best place for them now. They will be well taken care of."

"But what are you going to do?" was the next question put to her.

"I'm going to stay here and take care of the house until mother comes back," was her answer. "I'll get along all right." If she does not go to relatives, she can probably stay temporarily with the Boo family, who were most kind to the children last night.

Boudreau is well known to the local police. He has been in trouble before. When he was living with his family on Garfield avenue, where they resided for years, he had frequent quarrels with his wife. Only a few months ago he was arrested and convicted of assaulting his wife and driving her out of the house, and sent to the county jail for two months. He is said to have been hot tempered and subject to sudden violent fits of anger.

Mrs. Boudreau is rather a slight woman. When she separated from her husband several months ago she moved with her children to the house in which she was shot, and has since been living there with the children. She has earned her living by taking in washing and doing other work. The house is located on the upper side of the alley between Second and Third streets, between Fifth and Sixth avenues west, a short distance from the rear of the new courthouse.

Boudreau's body was removed to the undertaking rooms of J. L. Crawford and funeral arrangements will be made later.

Is This Man Gifted With Strange Power?

Prominent People Say He Reads Their Lives as an Open Book.

Do You Want to Know About Your Business, Marriage, Changes, Occupation, Friends, Enemies, or What to Do to Achieve Success?

TEST READINGS FREE TO ALL DULUTH HERALD READERS WHO WRITE AT ONCE.

Attention of the mystically inclined seems to be centered at present upon the work of Mr. Clay Burton Vance, who, although laying claim to no special gift of supernatural powers, attempts to reveal the lives of people through the slender clue of birth-dates. The undeniable accuracy of his delineations leads one to surmise that heretofore palmists, prophets, astrologers and seers of diverse beliefs, have failed to apply the true principles of the science of divination.

It is not to be denied that astrologers have excited the interest of enlightened people of all ages, but there have been many earnest thinkers reluctant to accept the theories of the ancient Chaldean science. One can only judge the potency of the science of Astrology by a personal application of its principles. To have all the cardinal events of your life spread out before you; to read an undeviating description of your true character, habits and inclinations, is proof positive that the mighty power that shaped the universe and set the hands on the dial of time to mark the destiny of man has not left us without the means through which we may know ourselves, through which we may fathom the mysteries of life. Asked to explain the method by which he gives his delineations, Mr. Vance replied: "I have simply resurrected an ancient science and moulded it into a key to human nature."

The following letters are published as evidence of Mr. Vance's ability. Mr. Lafayette Redditt writes: "My Reading received. With the greatest amazement I read, as step by step you outlined my life since infancy. I have been somewhat interested along these lines for years, but had no idea that such priceless advice could be given. I must admit that you are indeed a very remarkable man, and am glad you use your great gift to benefit your clients."

Mr. Fred Dalton writes: "I did not expect such a splendid outline of my life. The scientific value of your Readings cannot be fully appreciated until one has his own Reading. To consult you means success and happiness."

Arrangements have been made to give free test Readings to all readers of The Herald, but it is especially requested that those who wish to avail themselves of this generous offer make application at once. If you wish a delineation of your own life, if you wish a true description of your characteristics, talents and opportunities, simply send your full name, the date, month and year of your birth, and also state whether Mr., Mrs. or Miss. Send your letter to Mr. Clay Burton Vance, Suite 842, No. 14 Rue de Richelieu, Paris, France. If you wish you may inclose 10 cents (stamps of your own country) to pay postage, clerical work, etc. Please note that 5 cents postage is required on letters posted to France. Do not inclose coins or silver in your letter.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

ARE STRONG AGAINST IT

North Dakota Delegates to Anti-Reciprocity Meet Are Being Chosen.

Reciprocity Pact Denounced as Menace Hanging Over State's Prosperity.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Speeches bitterly opposing the ratification of the Canadian reciprocity agreement, claiming it would mean irreparable injury to the farming interest of the country at large were made by ex-Governor E. Y. Sarles and I. C. Kingman of Hillsboro, J. W. Scott of Gilby, Clay Larimore of Larimore and several others at the Grand Forks anti-reciprocity convention held here yesterday afternoon and which was attended by 300 farmers and business men.

Resolutions embodying the same thought and pledging the use of every fair and available means to prevent the adoption of the agreement by congress were adopted and delegates were elected to the state convention to be held here next Tuesday and the same representatives will be chosen to go to Washington and lobby against the proposition.

President E. J. Lander of the Commercial club called the convention to order and T. F. Mooney of Logan was chairman. T. B. Elton and E. L. Dickey County Delegates.

Ellendale, N. D., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—That sentiment in Dickey county and community are strongly opposed to reciprocity was evidenced at a mass meeting of the citizens at which George H. Keyes was chairman. They expressed their desire to place their wishes before the state's senators at Washington and accordingly elected five delegates, Judge W. S. Wickersham, F. S. Goddard, A. M. Berridge, P. King and George Rose, to attend the state anti-reciprocity convention at Grand Forks on April 4.

Stutsman County Delegates.

Jamestown, N. D., April 1.—The delegates elected to represent Stutsman county at the state anti-reciprocity convention at Grand Forks Tuesday are: J. A. Buchanan, A. Monek, W. B. De Nault, J. Yeager, W. W. Ford, G. W. Orange, W. Kavanaugh, J. T. Pendray and John Knauf of this city. A committee composed of A. B. De Nault, W. W. Graves and George Game was appointed to raise sufficient funds to pay the expenses of the delegates.

Traill County Delegates.

Mayville, N. D., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Traill county farmers are strongly opposed to reciprocity with Canada and almost every citizen of importance in the county will send big delegations to the state convention at Grand Forks. LIGHTNING ROD MAN WANTS $5,000

Claims East Grand Forks Saloon Man Won Affections of His Wife.

East Grand Forks, Minn., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—On a charge of alienating his wife's affections, George M. Powell, traveling salesman for a St. Louis lightning rod firm, has brought suit against Frank Longtine, a local saloon keeper, for $5,000 damages.

Longtine is at present on a business trip West, but his attorneys have filed answer and the case will probably come up within a few days.

PROFICIENT RAISING BEETS.

Farmers Better Able to Supply Menominee Sugar Beet Factory.

Menominee, Mich., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arrangements are being made by the Menominee River Sugar company to take care of the largest supply of sugar beets in the history of the factory. Contracts are steadily coming in from farmers in the Upper Peninsula and Northern Wisconsin and the acreage is increasing beyond the expectations of the company.

Officials expect that the factory will get all the beets this season that it can take care of. The farmers are becoming more skillful in the culture of sugar beets and are beginning to realize the importance of taking good care of them.

MADISON YOUTH FALLS THREE STORIES, UNHURT.

Madison, Wis., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—While walking in his sleep Wednesday night, Leonard, the 8-year-old son of Nicholas Weber, fell from the third-story window of the Weber home on State street to the roof of a shed adjoining. The boy was uninjured except for a bad shaking up.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Gehrke and John Spickleman, arrested on a charge of obstructing the public highway, were given a hearing in justice court Friday afternoon and fined $7.50 apiece and costs amounting to $35. An appeal will be taken to the district court.

CROOKSTON CATHEDRAL SCHOOL BUILT RAPIDLY

NEARLY COMPLETED STRUCTURE.

Crookston, Minn., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Contractor Johnson of Bemidji, who is building the Cathedral high school here, is putting on the finishing touches and expects soon to have the building completed and ready to turn over to Bishop Timothy Corbett, who since appointed to the see of Crookston has spared no effort to have the building completed on time. The building is a substantial modern structure well adapted for school purposes.

The basement contains a kitchen, dining room and an immense gymnasium, toilet and bath rooms and shower, and other rooms to be utilized for the school. The second floor is for class rooms, sisters' rooms, study-rooms, reading room, and in the rear running crosswise of the building a miniature opera house with incline floor, gallery, a fine stage with footlights and all necessary equipment, with a capacity of 600. This portion occupies both the first and second floors of the rear of the building. The top floor contains more class rooms, and in the front, extending clear across the building, a beautiful Knights of Columbus hall.

Lighting and Heating Modern.

The lighting of the entire building is a special feature, and the ventilation is the most modern. The heat is secured from a central heating plant at the rear, which will also furnish the heat for the residence of Bishop Corbett and for the magnificent new Cathedral, which will be erected this summer if present plans materialize. Bishop Corbett has all but worked miracles since his arrival immediately following his consecration. The entire diocese has rallied to his support with a loyalty that bespeaks wonderful progress from the very beginning, and while large sums of money are needed, the response is very generous and the work will not be hampered by lack of funds. With the Cathedral high school building completed, the bishop's residence and the modelled, grounds secured in the very heart of the city upon the most beautiful and desirable site obtainable, and funds pouring in for the construction of the great Cathedral, all accomplished in less than a year, the future of the diocese certainly looks very bright. No small measure of credit is due Father Worm of the Pro-Cathedral parish, St. Mary's, who is greatly beloved by his people, and who is an indefatigible worker and a priest of wonderful piety.

PELTIER LUCKY MAN.

Once Sentenced to Hang, Gets Off With Sixteen Years.

Minot, N. D., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The last day of March brought luck to Joseph Peltier, the halfbreed tried here this week for killing Thos. Sellen in the Turtle mountains, as the jury yesterday returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree, fixing the punishment at sixteen years in the penitentiary. Peltier was once convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to hang, but secured a new trial and was tried here on a change of venue from Bottineau county.

Although the defendant was tried for murder in the first degree, the jury found him guilty of murder in the second. T. H. Mockler of Bismarck made a strong plea for the defendant, calling attention to the various discrepancies in the stories of the state's witnesses and raising a question of reasonable doubt.

GRAM, WIS., CHURCH HAS CLOSE CALL FROM FIRE.

Marinette, Wis., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire broke out in the Gram Methodist church while 100 children were rehearsing for a cantata. The fire was discovered just in time and through the heroic efforts of Rev. John Lloyd and members of his Bible class the church was served. The children who were singing in another room in the church building did not know of the fire until it was extinguished.

IRONWOOD HOME IS VISITED BY BURGLARS.

Ironwood, Mich., April 1.—The home of Samuel Watters, a drayman, was entered Wednesday evening while the family was out and a purse containing $30 was taken. Jewelry of considerable value was on the top of the dresser in the room, but was not taken. Evidently some one knew where the cash was kept, as only two drawers of the dresser were searched. No arrests have been made.

Marquette Man "Rolled."

Marquette, Mich., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Dunlavey, a well known resident of the First ward, was arrested by Officer Dennis Hogan on complaint of Robert Hamilton of Big Bay, who alleges that Dunlavey reached into his pockets at William Rivers' saloon Wednesday night and abstracted the sum of $34.50. Dunlavey was given a hearing before Justice Crary and bound over to circuit court. Bail was fixed at $500, which was furnished.

Old Wound Causes Death.

Black River Falls, Wis., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—As the result of an accident last fall while deer hunting, J. E. Johnson, a farmer, is dead. By the accidental discharge of a gun he was wounded in the leg. He was given the best of care, but blood poisoning resulted and amputation became necessary.

TWO JONES FURNACES ARE ORDERED IN EAST.

Iron Mountain, Mich., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jones T. Jones, who has returned from a business trip to Pittsburg, Boston and New York, says that he has completed arrangements for the erection of two furnaces similar to the Ardis plant at the Kloman mine in the Republic district. The plans are now in hand and it is expected to let the contracts for the several parts within the next ten days. It is expected to have the furnaces in operation in the course of a few months.

Walker, Minn., April 1.—Sheriff De Lury brought to the county seat Thursday four prisoners from Cass Lake and Bena, three of them facing a serious charge, while the fourth, an Indian named Chingey Buffalo, is serving a twenty days' sentence for being drunk and disorderly at Cass Lake.

George Moffett, one of the quartet, pleaded not guilty at a preliminary hearing the charge of having furnished liquor to the Indians, and his case will be heard in district court next month.

Cass county will face the largest criminal calendar in its history at its spring term in April.

Miss Coulter has been connected with the Alexandria schools for two years.

New Shops of Triangle Waist Company Under Ban.

New York, April 1.—The new home of the Triangle Waist company, of whose employes 144 met death as a result of the Washington Place fire last Saturday, was placed under the ban of the building department yesterday afternoon. The order sets forth that the Triangle management has placed four rows of machines, twenty-one in each row, so that egress to the fire escape is blocked.

The company had resumed work yesterday morning on the top floor of a six-story structure, rated non-fireproof in University Place, not far from the scene of the recent disaster. Changes in the machine arrangement will be required before work can go on.

Relief funds for the fire sufferers totaled $65,000 last night, sufficient with what is to come from benefits already planned, to give all needed aid, in the opinion of the Red Cross emergency relief committee. Thirteen unidentified bodies remain in the morgue.

COMFORTING WORDS.

Many a Duluth Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney suffered grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Duluth readers.

L. P. Schneider, 210 W. Fourteenth St., Duluth, Minn., says: "The public statement I have given in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. In 1898 I said that for a considerable length of time, I had suffered from pains in my back. My condition finally grew so bad that I could not stoop or lift without being tortured. It seemed as if a sharp knife were piercing me. I could not lie in one position long without becoming stiff and sore. The kidney secretions passed irregularly and contained sediment. I found no relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They drove away my trouble and during the twelve years that have since passed, I have never had any serious recurrence."

MRS. SMITH ASKS TO PRINT LETTER

Wants to Do What She Can to Help Other Sick People to Health.

Mrs. Cora Smith of 605 Chicago St., Logansport, Ind., is so well pleased with the results of the medical treatment she received from the United Doctors, those famous medical specialists who have their Duluth institute located on the third floor of the Columbia building, that she has written the following letter with the request that it be printed, in the hope that it may guide some other poor sufferer to a cure. The letter is substantially as follows:

Logansport, Ind., Feb. 6, 1911.

"Dear Doctors:—I will inform the people of the good you have done for my poor health. I have gained two pounds since Jan. 14, 1911, and must say I feel so much relieved of all my nervousness and pain. In fact, I have no pains whatever; I feel just fine and it seems I cannot do too much work.

This is what I can say for the United Doctors in regard to what they have done for me, and I expect to send many of my women friends to them for treatment. Thanking the doctors for all they have done for me and for their kindness and square treatment, I beg to remain,

"MRS. CORA SMITH."

Such a strong statement as the above from a prominent woman will have great weight with others and will, no doubt, lead other sufferers to this great fountain of health. The United Doctors' institute is located on the third floor of the Columbia building, Duluth, and is always crowded with patients who are coming from hundreds of miles to be treated by these expert medical specialists.

You will do well to call on the United Doctors if you are suffering from any chronic or deep-seated disease of the Nerves, Blood, Skin, Heart, Liver, Stomach or Kidneys, including Rheumatism, Paralysis, Loss of Nerve Force, Goitre, Constipation, Catarrh, Epilepsy, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Weak Back, Bloating, Dropsy, Eczema, Scrofula, and Diseases of Women and Men.

The United Doctors examine all callers free of charge, but they refuse to treat any case that cannot be cured or greatly benefited.

In order to accommodate those who called last month and were unable to be examined on account of the rush of patients, the grand free offer has been extended to all who call before April 20th.

SUIT AGAINST WASHOE SMELTER MAY BE SETTLED

But President Thayer of the Anaconda Denies Any Knowledge.

Butte Coalition's Big Surplus Still in the Company's Treasury.

Butte, Mont., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—President E. B. Thayer of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, who is at present in the city on an inspection of the company's property, says that he has no knowledge of a settlement of the government's suit against the Washoe smelter and Anaconda company, but he expressed the hope that the reports published in Eastern papers were true. John D. Ryan, president of the Amalgamated Copper company, and Attorney C. F. Kelley, chief counsel of the company, have been in Washington and have had conferences with Attorney General Wickersham. It is said the object of this conference was to propose plans for the settlement of the suit and thereby do away with the grounds of complaint made by the Deer Lodge valley farmers. Mr. Kelley, who has returned to the city, denied any knowledge of a settlement along the lines set out in the press dispatches. It is pointed out that under present railroad rates the basis of settlement as set out by the Eastern papers could not be put into effect. It would be all right to install an acid phosphate plant at the Washoe smelter, manufacture sulphuric acid and combine it with other material for the manufacture of fertilizer, but the freight rates would eat up all the profits and more, too, in sending the product to a market where there is a demand for it. If the time comes when there is a demand for the fertilizer in the Northwest the plan, as outlined by Eastern papers, may prove profitable. However, while the officials in this city pretend to be in the dark in the matter of overtures being made for a settlement of the smoke question, the opinion prevails that the conference at Washington had to do with the question and that the time is not far distant when some steps will be taken to remove the ground of complaint of the Deer Lodge ranchers. There is no doubt that in the past the Anaconda campaign has spent vast sums of money in an effort to devise some practical means of dealing with the smoke matter. Some of the most eminent experts in the country have not only been consulted, but they have been brought to the scene of operations and advice secured.

Butte Coalition.

When the Butte Coalition company property was disposed to the Anaconda Copper Mining company for 520,000 shares of stock, there were many people of the opinion that the cash surplus of the company, amounting at that time to $3,700,000, would go into the Anaconda treasury, or would otherwise be disposed of without the stockholders getting any of the benefits. Whatever may be the ultimate way of disposing of this surplus there is no question that it is still in the Coalition company treasury. This much can be stated on the very best of authority, and those who have been persuaded into believing anything to the contrary can rest assured that such is not the case. This surplus, it may be pointed out, is increasing through the dividends received from the shares of Anaconda company stock, the shares of International Smelting company stock and the interest on the $3,700,000 surplus. The expenditures of the company in dividends at the rate of 25 cents a share quarterly call for the distribution of $1,064,000 a year, so that it will be seen that the company's surplus is being added to each year as the earnings at the present rate of dividends paid by the stocks held bring in a revenue of $1,165,000.

Transfers of Claims.

Several transactions have been recorded of late between the Anaconda company and the North Butte besides the purchase by the former of the Emily and Milliview lode claims. The Silver claim, owned by the Anaconda, has been transferred to the North Butte in view of the fact that a portion of the Edith May vein is believed to run through it. Then the Anaconda company has sold to the North Butte a five-sixths interest in the western end of the Sioux Chief claim, and the North Butte has sold to the Anaconda company a portion of the western end of the Gem and a part of the Adirondack lode claim, the latter property lying south of and adjoining the Edith May. In regard to the Emily and Milliview deal, it may be stated that the North Butte owned a three-fifths interest in the two claims and the Anaconda owned the remaining interests, having purchased them from the Largey estate. The completion of the transfers mentioned, it is believed, will for all time prevent any possible conflict between the two companies as to ground.

Davis-Daly.

A small force of men are still at work in the Colorado mine of the Davis-Daly company and the opinion seems to be that they will continue to carry on development work until after the arrival of the expert who is to be sent here by the committee of the stockholders in an effort to ascertain the exact conditions. Miners say that a considerable quantity of ore running about 3 per cent copper is being blocked out, but it would not pay to hoist this low grade ore rock at present market prices of copper. The workings are still being extended westward on the 1,400-foot level for the purpose of intersecting all of the ledges in the Davis-Daly ground, but as yet no ore of high grade has been uncovered. The miners have little hope but miners are not always right in their theories. With the reorganized board of directors taking an active interest in the affairs of the company, the stockholders here have hope that something may be done to either prosecute in a vigorous manner the development work in the Colorado or close it down altogether and thus do away with the expense of maintaining a force of men at an expense, according to Heinze, of $15,000 a month.

Smelter Improvements.

Plans are under way for extensive improvements to both the smelter at Anaconda and the one at Great Falls, but the details of the plans have not yet been given to the public. It is stated that Anaconda company officials have visited the Utah Copper company's plant and that they have been negotiating with representatives of the Allis-Chalmers company and other manufacturers for the installation of improved appliances, including the mechanical classifier designed and patented by Supt. Janney of the Utah concentrators. It is felt that while the smelter at Anaconda was equipped with the most modern and up-to-date machinery a few years ago, some of it has now been superseded by more modern methods of treating the ore, and in order to keep abreast of the times the very latest the market can produce in the way of expediting the turning out of the copper in greater quantities and at a less cost must be procured. It is stated that the improvements to the Great Falls smelter, as contemplated at present, will mean practically a new plant. Just as soon as the plans for the new work are completed they will be submitted for approval to Mr. Ryan, and no time will be lost in getting to work after they have received his sanction.

Tuolumne.

The station on the 1,600-foot level of the Tuolumne has been completed and drifting is now going on north and south. On the south it is expected to strike the Edith May vein at a distance of about 65 feet, which will be in two weeks hence. President Hickey believes that some rich ore will be encountered when the vein is reached.

North Butte.

There are various reports in circulation as to the result of development work in the North Butte, but all seem to agree that some high grade ore has been encountered and that the mine today is in a much better condition than it has been for a long time. Much rich ore has been blocked out and ready for shipment just as soon as the market conditions warrant an increase in the output. A few days ago the Edith May vein on the 2,400-foot level was cut, but the ore was not found to be any more satisfactory than on the 2,200-foot level. The quarterly report due about the last of next month, ought to be of such a character as to give the stockholders high hopes for the future.

Butte-Ballaklava Suit.

While no date has yet been set for the trial of the suit of the Anaconda company against the Butte-Ballaklava company, it is believed that the first week in May will witness the case under way. Recently the Anaconda company was granted by agreement until April 10 to file an answer to the statement filed by the Ballaklava people, and then application will be made to the district judge for a setting of a date for the hearing. The Anaconda company is anxious to have the case disposed of as soon as possible, and the Butte-Ballaklava people have expressed a similar view, so there ought not to be much further delay.

Butte Central.

The sinking of the shaft of the Ophir mine of the Butte Central Copper company is proceeding without any difficulty being encountered, at the rate of about five feet a day. If no great amount of rock is run against, the shaft will be down to a depth of 1,000 feet some time about the latter end of June. The development work on the upper levels is resulting in the uncovering of a large amount of silver ore of good shipping grade.

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Power Company Contracting to Supply a Number of Mines.

Deadwood, S. D., April 1.—The Dakota Power company, whose new plant at Big Bend on Rapid creek, will be in operation about July 1, is contracting to supply a number of different companies in the Southern Hills, among them the property of the Continental Copper company at Calumet, where the question of fuel has always been a problem; the J. R. property, which has been worked at a disadvantage for years; the Gertie Tin Mining company; the Pahasa Mining company, and the Westinghouse Electric company at Custer.

The Pahasa is only awaiting electric current to resume work on the Cowboy, Mohawk and Cassiterite properties. During the preliminary development work on the Pahasa ground between Hill City and Custer, something like $40,000 was expended and over 6,000 tons of tin ore taken from the workings, the average assay of which was 1½ per cent tin. Later an English expert, M. L. Duncan, came over and examined the ground. His report is said to be promising. The Dakota company is prepared to furnish about 5,000-horse power. This, it is thought, will prove ample for all the mining companies in the southern hills.

Material from the old Golden Reward smelter in this city is now being hauled to the Burlington track for transportation to Galena, where it will be used in the construction of the new Osterman smelter. The new railroad spur will be completed in a few days to the smelter site. The smelter will have a capacity of about 300 tons daily and will be ready this summer. The concentrating plant which will be erected by the Gilt Edge Mald Mining company near the new smelter, will also be in operation. It will have a capacity of 450 tons a day and will be supplied with ore by properties shipping to the smelter. It is estimated that 300 tons of the Gilt Edge Maid ore will produce sixty tons of concentrates.

The Forest City Mining company, operating at Oreville in Pennington county, is making a good showing on its new ore ledge, which is six feet wide and averages from $10 to $15 gold a ton. The shaft which is down 250 feet, is to be sunk deeper to the 1,000-foot level if necessary, for the richer grade ore which is believed to exist in the lower levels. The mill is running successfully and dropping ten stamps.

EARNINGS OF THE COMSTOCK

Showing in Mexican Retains Bonanza Proportions on Lode.

San Francisco, April 1.—The gross value of the output for the three leading northend mines on the Comstock for the past week gives a total of $21,017. The Ophir, as usual, leads in the extraction, giving figures of $13,635.

The official report from Mexican gives the detail of the work on the 2,200, 2,300 and 2,500 levels. On the 2,500 level work was largely in the raise, cutting out the roof as high as the fourth floor and widening out the raise and timbering it to the width of fourteen feet. The quartz is shown to be eight to ten feet wide, but the porphyry on each side carries good values to the above width, the lowest car assays of the porphyry being $26 per ton.

No waste whatsoever was taken out, all being ore. From this work seventy-four cars were hoisted averaging better than $58. On the 2,300 level, at a point thirty feet in the north drift, a west crosscut was run eight feet to the footwall porphyry, and the face shows stringers of quartz. On the north side for a width of five feet the quartz samples $25 per ton, and on the south side $13.65 for the same width.

MOVEMENT OF IRON ORE

Shipments Likely to Be Slow Until the Middle of June.

New Mines Are to Be Added to the Shipping List.

While a goodly portion of the Great Lakes fleet of freight carriers will be in commission at the close of April, it is expected the movement of ore from the Lake Superior iron mines promises to be rather slow until along about the middle of June. Furnace needs this year are not particularly pressing, being well under the producing capacity of the mining region, in fact, and there certainly is no special activity in shipping circles. It is expected that the shipments will approxmate those of last season, when the fleet transported some 42,500,000 tons to the lower lakes. As the mines are developed now and as the ore handling equipment of the railroads and the carrying capacity of the lake marine have been enlarged, a movement of the proportions indicated at the moment is not one calling for any pronounced activity in any direction.

Each season for many years past has seen various new mines added to the shipping list. The season now about to open will be no exception. All the ranges, with the possible exception of the Vermillion, will contribute newly opened producers. In the Marquette district, these will include the Volunteer Ore company's Palmer Lake property and the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company's Barnes and North Lake mines. The E. N. Breitung interests of Marquette will be prepared to ship considerably more ore, largely because of the resumption of operations at the old Milwaukee and Davis properties at Negaunee. These two properties, which are now being wrought as one mine, were re-opened late last fall. They had been idle many years and it has been only after the expenditure of large sums of money that they have been put in condition for economical operation.

However, it is expected the Marquette range will send out no more ore than last year. Its output in 1910 was 4,400,000 tons, a small portion of which was shipped direct to interior furnaces. A number of properties at which extensive improvements are in progress will not equal their production of a year ago, among which are the Cleveland Cliffs company's Maas and Negaunee mines, whose shafts are being concreted. Mining has been suspended for the time being at the Steel corporation's Blue mine at Negaunee. This is because the main shaft is being retimbered. Of the force of men, some thirty single employes have been laid off and most of the others have been transferred to other properties. With the old timbering replaced, the use of the shaft will be permitted until the ore deposit is exhausted, which will not require many years. The stockpiles on the Blue are all filled to their capacity, some of them being cribbed up on the sides to a height of thirty-five feet. It is not expected that all of this ore will be shipped this season.

Menominee Shipments.

It is the expectation of mining men on the Menominee range that the shipments from that district the coming season will show an increase over those of last year of some 1,000,000 tons. This would mean a movement of 5,250,000 tons and would be 250,000 tons in excess of the banner record registered in 1906. As more than 5,000,000 tons of ore are in stock on the range at the present time, shipments much in excess of the amount estimated would be possible. Exploratory and development work on the Menominee have been particularly active the past few years and the district never before was prepared for the production of which it now is capable. Half a dozen or more new properties will figure in the shipping list this year. Still another property to be opened in the Crystal Falls field is the Victoria tract, in section 22, 43-32. It has been taken over under lease by the Cuyahoga Iron company of Cleveland and will, it is stated, be developed in the expectation that some ore can be sent out this year. The Victoria adjoins the Hilltop property of the United States Steel corporation on the south, and is well understood to carry a continuation of the same deposit of ore. The Hilltop has been tested by diamond drills and is considered a valuable property.

The two principal shippers on the Menominee are the Chapin and Pewabic mines, both at Iron Mountain, the former owned by the Steel corporation and the latter by the Van Dyke interests of Milwaukee. While the Chapin is capable of producing close to 1,000,000 tons, its shipments this year are expected to be held around the 500,000-ton mark. The property is a very valuable possession. It already has forwarded 17,650,000 tons during the years it has been in operation, and it still possesses very large reserves. An output of 350,000 to 400,000 tons is expected from the Pewabic. Time was when this property was looked upon as the finest mine in point of the quality of ore to be found anywhere. Its upper levels held large deposits running up to 68 per cent in metallic iron and containing as little as .007 per cent of phosphorus. Such ores were very popular in the market and commanded the very highest price. As mining gained in depth the rich ores at the Pewabic ran down in grade until its present shipments are largely of inferior quality. However the same interests are developing some fine mines in the Iron River country, at the western end of the range, and they will be in the ore business for many years yet. The Pewabic itself is by no means exhausted, notwithstanding it has produced 7,300,000 tons to date.

The Swanzey District.

A Marquette range field that has been receiving considerable attention the past few years is the Swanzey district, some twenty miles south of Negaunee. It has been and is at present time a scene of much activity on the part of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company, its only operator with the exception of the Steel corporation, whose interests are for the time being confined to the Stegmiller mine. It was not so long ago that the district was held in small favor, and notwithstanding that the first ore in the field was discovered by United States Senator Isaac Stephenson many years ago its development was very backward. There were a little mine or two, the Swanzey and the Smith, but their outputs were small and in many seasons they were idle. The quality of the ore was not good, they being non-Bessemer and running very high in moisture. Exploratory work conducted without a blare of trumpets convinced the Cleveland Cliffs company that the district was of much greater value than generally supposed and a very large acreage along the mineral formation was acquired. At the present time the Cleveland Cliffs interests have four producing mines in the Swanzey district, with others in course of development.

OUTPUT OF LAKE MINES

March Production Shows Material Increase Over That of February.

Stocks Above the Normal and Demand for Metal Slack.

Houghton, Mich., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The March output of refined copper of the Lake Superior mines will show a material increase over that of the preceding months due to the greater number of days worked, though there is also a marked tendency toward greater production in the case of a few of the newer properties. The older mines, which are also the big producers, continue to make average out turns and no greater than is actually necessary to meet dividend requirements. Production is at the rate of about 200,000,000 pounds refined annually, a decrease of quite 10 per cent from the previous year. The general demand for the metal is painfully slack and in consequence the local stocks of metal are above normal, even at this time when stocks are usually allowed to accumulate against the opening of navigation on the Great Lakes, now less than a month away. The Quincy has been fortunate in disposing of its output and apparently is finding a ready market for its entire production as fast as made. One or two of the Calumet & Hecla brands are also moving freely, but these brands constitute but a small proportion of the total production of this district.

Lake.

The Lake Copper company has received a large hoisting engine to be installed upon the completion of the new power plant which will eventually displace the temporary plant still in commission. The new hoist has the capacity to lift a ten-ton load from a depth of 5,000 feet, and will serve the new shaft now being opened by upraises from the several levels to surface, and whose collar will be around 500 feet north of the old exploratory shaft through which the Lake lode has been opened. A new fifty-drill air compressor was recently placed in commission giving the company added facilities in a direction long desired and making possible a rate of development characterizing the activities of the present management in their operations elsewhere in this district. In the developments underground the most important feature lies in the now well-defined swing of the formation to the northwestward, directly the opposite of what was at first looked for. In its new strike, the Lake lode bears very nearly 15 deg. west of north compared with 10 deg. east of north in the immediate vicinity of the exploratory shaft while the dip of the lode is changing from west to southwest as it approaches the South Lake property lying immediately west. Development work continues to disclose good runs of copper ground at all points marked for both richness and continuity, particularly so in the levels below the famous third. At the moment an exceedingly rich stretch of ground is being opened north at the fourth level.

Oneco.

The Oneco Copper Mining company is confining its activities to exploratory work in the Oneco lode, for which purpose an old shaft of 450 feet depth was recently unwatered. A limited amount of drifting was done at the fourth level, resulting in the disclosure of only fair ground, and this work was therefore ceased and sinking resumed with the object of getting down to depth nearer the point from which a drill core well charged with copper was taken in the diamond drill exploratory operations of a year ago. The shaft has attained a depth of about 525 feet. The drill boring was made at around 1,200 feet. The property is equipped with a small hoist and air compressor both of capacity to carry the shaft to a depth of 1,500 feet.

Victoria.

The Victoria Copper Mining company is again operating double shift after a period of enforced curtailment caused by an inadequate water supply upon which the company is dependent for power. The power question at Victoria is not easily solved. The country is exceedingly rugged and without railroad facilities and the transportation of fuel and supplies is necessarily high, so that the company has come to depend entirely upon the Ontonagon river for water to operate the hydro-pneumatic power plant supplying the power for the operation of the mine and mill. In freezing weather and also in summer droughts the water supply is materially diminished and no longer adequate to give full demands made upon it in the operation of the huge air compressor. Steps have been taken to correct this difficulty but thus far without success. The company is sinking a second shaft several thousand feet to the eastward of the single shaft now opened in this property. The average yield of the Victoria ground is below ten pounds fine copper per ton of rock milled, and during the past year fell below nine pounds. A slight improvement is being had which, if continued, will enable the company to break even at the present price of the metal. The prospects are not particularly bright, though the betterment of the moment is material. Drifting is in progress at several points below the twelfth level. The shaft is temporarily bottomed at the twenty-second level.

Houghton.

The Houghton Copper company is having considerable difficulty in getting its shaft through to solid ground. Sinking has been carried forward persistently and at times the progress was fully up to standard. Latterly the character of the ground, which is soft and given to spalling, has seriously handicapped operations, and it has become necessary to timber closely and frequently resort to cementing to hold the ground. A similar condition exists in the upper laterals north in the Superior shaft reaching toward the Houghton property, and to a depth of 500 to 600 feet in that end of the mine it has been found quite impossible to mine the ground because of the danger from loose earth. The mineralization is also poor. The situation in the Superior does not offer much encouragement for its neighbor, the Houghton, but there is little doubt of the Houghton ground at depth. The company is said to have about $60,000 in the treasury, which should prove sufficient to carry work into the copper zone.

CANANEA DISTRICT HAVING DULL TIME

Two New Reverbatory Furnaces Completed By Cananea Company.

Douglas, Ariz., April 1.—Declaring that aside from the work being done by the Greene-Cananea company, the Cananea district is absolutely dead so far as business or other industries are concerned, J. S. Williams, Jr., arrived from that camp, accompanied by C. H. Melcher, where they had been on business. Mr. Williams stated that the two new reverbatory furnaces had been completed by the Cananea company and are now in commission, but that the McDougal roasters were not yet ready for operation. None of the Miami concentrates have arrived in Cananea and it is not expected that they will begin to arrive for some time.

Asked about Nacozari, Mr. Williams stated that there was nothing of importance going on in that section and that Nacozari, like Cananea and all other towns in Sonora, had suffered greatly in the loss of business on account of the insurrection, which killed all kinds of business.

The Moctezuma Copper company is now at work building a dam three miles east of Nacozari which will form an immense reservoir which will be used for the storage of water, to be used in times of scarcity, during which in the past much inconvenience has been caused in the operation of the concentrator. During the past two years there has been such a scarcity of water as to prevent the running of the entire plant and for several weeks last summer only half the mill was in commission.

The dam being constructed will be ninety feet high and work was started on it six weeks ago. It is expected that it will be completed by the middle of June, in time to catch the flood waters caused by the summer rains. It is estimated that once the reservoir is filled with water it will hold enough to run the entire plant, of the copper company for two years.

BUTTE & SUPERIOR ON A SOLID BASIS

Expected That Earnings Will Soon Reach $50,000 a Month.

Butte, Mont., April 1.—While the management of the Butte & Superior Copper company has had little to say recently concerning the physical development of the property, the fact remains, nevertheless, that a vast amount of work has been accomplished during the past few months, and the ore reserves have been increased in a most satisfactory manner. At the same time that the underground development work has been pushed economically, the output has been maintained at slightly more than 450 tons a day, and on some days has exceeded 600 tons. Although nothing has been made public officially for some time, it is understood that the earnings are now between $30,000 and $35,000 a month, and with the completion of the improvements at the mine and at the concentrator, it will be only a few weeks before the earnings will average close to $50,000 a month.

Physically, the mine was never in a better or more satisfactory condition than it is today, and the prospects were never brighter. More extensive bodies of ore have been blocked out, and there is a tonnage in sight sufficient to maintain a daily output of more than 1,000 tons for an indefinite period. The ore bodies have been opened up practically from the 1,000-foot level to the 1,600-foot level, and the average values are better than 20 per cent in zinc, with extensive deposits in some portions of the mine running above 60 per cent. The ore is particularly desirable because of the small percentage of iron, less than 2½ per cent, and the absolute absence of arsenic.

At the concentrator material improvements have been made and the experimental stage is about over. The saving at the present time is close to 78 per cent of the zinc content of the ore, and as soon as certain details are completed it is believed that the percentage of saving will be materially increased. The concentrates now carry about 50 per cent zinc, but this will be improved upon shortly.

WOLGAST IS THE WINNER

Antonio La Grave, Frisco Fighter, Lasts But Five Short Rounds.

The Lightweight Champion Pounded Opponent About the Ring at Will.

Auditorium Pavilion, San Francisco, Cal., April 1.—Lightweight Champion Wolgast made short work of Antonio La Grave, a rather obscure local fighter, last night. Wolgast battered his opponent about the ring, landing wherever and whenever he chose.

La Grave's seconds threw up the sponge after but two minutes of fighting in the fifth round, as it was plainly apparent that La Grave would not last the round out.

The fight was too one-sided to be interesting. Wolgast took command of affairs at the very outset and the "Butchertown Idol" was never given an opportunity to rest or land a return blow.

In the second round the champion almost brought the bout to a quick ending by sending La Grave through the ropes with a terrific right to the jaw, and followed this by dooring his man for the count of nine.

In the fourth round La Grave took the count four times, and at this stage the spectators loudly importuned Referee Jack Welsh to stop the fight.

The fifth round found Wolgast beating an almost helpless fighter, and realizing that La Grave could go no further, his seconds interfered and threw a towel in the ring. The men fought at 133 pounds ringside. Wolgast was an overwhelming favorite at odds of 10 to 4, and there were few ready to risk their money on La Grave's chances. There was betting at even money that La Grave would last fifteen rounds, however.

The Fight By Rounds.

Round 1—Wolgast crouched and tapped his man lightly several times. After some ineffectual in-sighting, the champion drove a left to the jaw and they mixed at close quarters. Wolgast landed right and left to the body and head. La Grave made no showing in this round, which was all Wolgast's.

Round 2—The Cadillac boy rushed the "butcher town idol" from one end of the ring to the other, planting solid lefts and rights to the body in quick succession. Wolgast in one of his rushes drove La Grave almost through the ropes with a left hook to the jaw and a moment later sent his man prone with a similar punch. The gong rang in the nick of time and found La Grave staggering blindly.

Round 3—La Grave came up trembling like a leaf. Wolgast drove his man against the ropes with a rain of blows and all but sent him to the floor. La Grave went to his corner wobbling.

Round 4—Wolgast chased La Grave about the ring and sent him to the floor three times with left and right hooks to the jaw. La Grave took the count, on each occasion. The spectators began to yell "stop it." La Grave went down for the fourth time, but the round ended saving him from certain defeat.

Round 5—Wolgast went right after his man and the latter closed in, hoping thereby to avoid the heavy punishment being administered. Wolgast drove in short snappy rights and lefts and when La Grave went down again his seconds threw a towel into the ring.

WALDRON BACK IN THE GAME

Central's Basket Ball Star Will Be in Contest Against Superior.

The Central high school basket ball team will finish its season next Wednesday with the second game against the Superior Central quint, in the local gymnasium.

Although Superior Central took the first game from the local team by a close score, the Central quint is confident of victory and the game should be without doubt the hardest fought contest of the season.

The addition of Waldron to the local team line-up will strengthen the team work and aid considerably in the basket throwing ability of the Central forwards.

The appearance of Waldron necessitates a change in the line-up. Johnson will be taken from forward to replace Osman at center. Waldron will play Johnson's forward.

The teams will lineup as follows

Duluth.		Superior.
Harris (Capt.)	f	Holman (Capt.)
Waldron	f	K. Bradley
Johnson	c	J. Bradley
Solleim	g	Hanson
Jeronimus	g	Aubin

Ball Player Injured.

Knoxville, Tenn., April 1.—Sheiden Lejeune of the Brooklyn ball team was seriously injured in an automobile crash late yesterday afternoon. He was one of a party of four taking a ride over the city. The car skidded, smashed into a fence and was demolished. Others in the party received slight bruises.

Superior Eliminated.

Appleton, Wis., April 1.—Appleton defeated Superior, 21 to 17, in the second game of the Lawrence college basket ball tournament here last night. La Crosse outclassed Janesville, 34 to 4. Appleton and La Crosse will play for the state championship on Saturday night.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

The Kansas City Scribe on Carl Morris—King George Signs a Trainer—Some Baseball Questions--Harry Forbes Comes Back—"Ty" Cobb in Poor Condition.

(BY BRUCE.)

THE sporting editor of the Kansas City Star ran down to Sapulpa to witness the fight (?) between old Michael Cassius Schreck and Carl Morris. Evidently he doesn't think much of the ability of Morris. He also says any wise outsider will tell you that Morris resembles more closely a huge piece of cheese than a coming champion of the world.

Though the article in question is not signed, it is very probably from the pen of Claude Johnson, sporting editor of the K. C. Star. Now Claude is a pretty wise boy and his opinion on the man they are steering carefully through the shoals of the pugilistic seas, should be worth something.

He says that Kid McCoy may be the next boy to fight the "hope." If the famous Kid could turn back the furrows of time five or six years, there might not be very much hope for the "hope" in the meeting. Some of you may recall the downfall of Herr Placke, a sort of maverick "hope" in the dear days before the fad was really developed.

This Herr Placke person was even bigger than Carl Morris and came to this country to camp on the trail of Jeffries, then in the flower of his exuberant youth. Kid McCoy, even then somewhat the worse from cafe use and from excessive leaning on the mahogany, consented to the trial, and the battle was held in Philadelphia.

What McCoy did to Placke has been ably chronicled and it would really be a shame to repeat. Herr Placke should be left in peace after the lapse of years. Suffice it to say that the big Dutchman was beaten until the honest tears of dismay and chagrin ran down his broad countenance.

But how time changes! Here we have a battered and somewhat more amiable McCoy, who would probably be very willing to journey out to Sapulpa and go down for the advancing reputation of the monster Morris.

According to the Kansas City Star writer, they want no Flynns or Barrys in the argument; they are simply playing him up. Jim Flynn, the Pueblo Italian, and some tough ring customer, believe us, has been hollering around with hope written on his countenance, and alas he has been given no hope of a battle. If Morris would go in and beat the Italian he would have a lot of admirers from the great outside who would at last begin to believe that he was the man that the pale brothers could look to.

Again referring to the description of the fight by the K. C. man, he says Morris lacks fire and courage and was plainly scared of old Mike. From his description Morris is slower than the wrath of the gentle angels, and is about as agile and sprightly on his feet as a black bear that is woefully overweight.

Time will answer many questions. To many of us it seems that the future champion of the world will not be developed from the list of hulks that are at the present time basking in the limelight. About 185 or 190 pounds is quite heavy enough for the heavyweight fighter. We have in mind Jim Corbett, and Jim was one of the very greatest; Tom Sharkey, Bob Fitzsimmons and old John L. Sullivan, before Jawn got so heavy that he was really in his own way.

The "hope" stuff to many of us seems a fad that will run its course and then take a seat behind the kitchen stove. Some young fellow with the natural courage and the natural fighting instinct in his system may rise up one of these days and fight his way to the front. Until that time the various "hopes" will serve their purpose as diversions and will keep our minds off the tariff and other weighty and sometimes uninteresting problems.

King George Signs a Live One.

PRESS dispatches the other day contained the news of King George of England giving some sort of royal warrant to Eugene Sandow, famous some years ago as the strongest man in the world. The warrant means that Sandow will be the king's physical adviser, or something of that sort.

Coming down to actual records, it will be found that even in Sandow's prime there were stronger men in the world than the famous German. Ah, but tarry yet a moment, George. Sandow was the best showman who ever made the game of weight-lifting pay. He was the greatest showman by far, employed the best advertising, and consequently his name is known all over the world, while the names of the Saxon brothers are practically unheard outside of the professional weight-lifting circles.

It is said that Sandow has really accomplished wonderful results in increasing the physical efficiency of the members of the English army. The royal warrant very likely is a reward for the work he has accomplished along this line.

A deep student of physical culture, as well as a man of brains and education, Sandow has done much for the age in which he lives, and the honor that has come from the king of England is one that is deserving. Such recognition as this will do much to stimulate the study of physical culture among men who really have a mission to accomplish.

Some Baseball Questions.

CAN the Duluth White Sox come back?

Can Frank Chance bring his Chicago machine along in the front?

Will Honus Wagner, the Flying Dutchman, maintain his wonderful gait?

Will Cy Young last out the present baseball season?

Will Napoleon Lajoie continue to be the great hitter he has been in the past?

Will Ty Cobb, the Georgia Peach, strike his galt early in the season?

Will Johnny Kling begin to show the wear of age and the fast baseball pace?

Can Fred Tenney come back?

Can Jimmy Callahan perform that difficult feat?

Will the sensational Joe Jackson continue to make good?

Will our former Minny leagner, Dave Callahan, make good with the Naps?

Can the Connie Macks do the dear old come back loop-the-loop?

Will Don Antonio Marion regain the use of his salary whip?

Will Newt Randall have a good year with the Brewers?

Will Danny O'Brien still claim he is only 27 years old?

You can make a fall book on some of the above questions and keep the white heat of interest sustained throughout the season.

Harry Forbes in the Role of Come-Back.

ONE OF the events of the present pugilistic week was the great stand Harry Forbes made against Johnny Coulon, said by many to be the greatest fighting machine in the ring today. The veteran gave the champion about the hardest fight he has had the present year, and by so doing sneaked one over on the talent and showed that it is just possible after all has been said to the contrary, to sit in the come back row occasionally.

In his day there were few greater fighters than Harry Forbes. Most of the fans thought that day was past. After the Kenosha engagement many are wondering if Harry can stay with the present healthy boys and keep up the clip he showed in the battle with Coulon.

From various reports of the fight it would appear that Forbes was weakening fast in the last round. Perhaps the veteran figured on the ten rounds, as an experienced jockey times the speed of his mount, and could not have gone any further than the limit of the bout.

It hardly does seem probable that Forbes could go very much further than the ten rounds with Coulon, who is one of the toughest and roughest, and at the same time fastest and cleverest boys in the ring. Any time the boys fight over the ten round route you will find the heavy money going on the boy who travels under the fatherly guidance of "Pa" Coulon.

Ty Cobb Reported in Bad Shape.

WAFTED up from the Southern training camp of the Tigers comes the report of the poor shape of Tyrus Raymond Cobb, the demon batter and base runner of the heroic Jennings crew. The nature of the reports has caused worry and anxiety among the city beautiful fans.

Just why Cobb should report in bad shape is a mystery to many fans scattered over the length and breadth of this country. He is young and he does not dissipate, as far as any reports have ever told of. He reported late to the Tigers' camp and it is said that his strenuous efforts to get into condition have resulted in his present miserable shape.

Just what kind of a race would the Tigers make without the magnetic and inspiring presence of Ty Cobb? Look up his record and you will find the number of runs he has batted in and the number of runs he has scored. He is a great fielder and a dashing, brilliant player. He has kept the Tigers in the race for the past few years, and when you realize his worth to the Tigers, then you will begin to understand the anxious feeling of the Detroit fans at the present time.

SPECIAL RACES MAY BE HELD

Plans Being Considered for Bringing Outside Sailboats Here.

Charles Brewer, captain of the sailing department of the Duluth Boat club, has at the present time under his consideration the project of holding a series of special races during the three days of the big water carnival.

Mr. Brewer has received communications from yachtsmen of Minnetonka, White Bear and practically all of the Wisconsin lakes where races of the interlake regattas have been held. Whether some of these owners will bring their boats to Duluth for some special sailing events has not yet been decided upon.

Some time ago it was planned to hold a series of interlake sailing races here. When the announcement of the regatta was made it was believed that some sort of special sailing events would be arranged in connection with the big water events. A conference with the different officials of the club will be held the coming week, when some definite decision will be made in the matter.

Whether or not any of the outside boats are to be brought here, some special races will be held among the sailboats that compose the D. B. C. fleet. There will be a number of new boats in the fleet this season, and it was stated yesterday that there would also be a fast new 32-footer.

Since his return from Minneapolis Mr. Brewer has been busy with the sailing program, and has already announced that there will be some very interesting events for the coming season.

"FRANKIE" BURNS IS OUTCLASSED

Abe Attell Fights Greater Part of Time With One Hand.

New York, April 1.—Abe Attell outclassed Frankie Burns, bantamweight of Jersey City, at the National Sporting club last night. Attell took the risk of making 116 pounds at ringside, which he did for the first time since he became champion of his class.

Although Burns was the aggressor, the champion, with his ring generalship, outpointed him, notwithstanding the fact that his left arm was rendered almost useless by lefts which Burns delivered on his elbow and shoulder in the fourth and sixth rounds. It was an injury to this arm which had kept Attell from the ring for the last few weeks and after Burns' blows he fought almost all of the remaining rounds with his right.

In the ninth he sent Burns to the floor with a right swing for the count of nine and with exactly the same blow he turned the trick again in the final round.

Attell easily had the better of the first three rounds. Burns appeared frightened then, but later he became the aggressor and took honors in the fourth and split even in the fifth and sixth.

WITH THE MAJORS IN SPRING TRAINING

Atlanta, Ga., April 1.—Fist fights again yesterday marred the game between the New York Nationals and the Atlanta Southern leaguers with O'Dell of Atlanta and Devlin of New York, both third basemen, the participants. The trouble was checked before it reached the proportions of Thursday's mix-up and without any of the players being any the worse for the battle. Merkle was later put out of the game for squabbling. New York won the game, 11 to 1, due in great measure to the eight errors piled up by the locals.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 1.—George Wood of the Boston Americans struck out fifteen men of the Fort Worth, Texas league team yesterday afternoon and Boston won, 4 to 2.

Wichita, Kan., April 1.—The work of Willett was the feature of the game between the Wichita team and the Detroit Americans second squad yesterday. The pitcher knocked a home run his first time up and held Wichita to three hits in six innings. Detroit won, 5 to 2.

Pueblo, Colo., April 1.—The Boston American league team defeated a picked team here yesterday, 11 to 4.

"BIG SIX" HAS GREAT RECORD

Mathewson Has Been Leading Pitcher of National for Eight Years.

While Mathewson seems to be making good in his role behind the footlights there is little danger that his stage career will dim in any way his remarkable record on the diamond. The fans will not begrudge him the money he can pick up in this way through the winter months, but they will always think of him as the king of pitchers.

Mathewson is a native of Pennsylvania, and was born in Factoryville. He first attracted public attention as a ball player by his splendid work for the Keystone academy team of Factoryville. In 1897 he pitched for the Young Men's Christian association team at Scranton, and while attending Bucknell college, pitched for the team throughout an entire season without defeat. At this time he was also the best full back that had ever played on the Bucknell football eleven.

At the end of his college season he joined the Honesdale baseball club, and remained with that organization until he joined the Taunton club, of the New England league. Cincinnati subsequently signed him, having no appreciation of his tremendous abilities, let him go to the Norfolk club, of the Virginia league. It was there that his playing first attracted the attention of the big leaguers. In twenty-three games played with the Norfolk club, he won twenty-one victories. It was in July, of this season, with the Virginia league, that he signed up for the New York National league team, with which club he has played ever since.

During the first season with the "Giants" he landed eighteen victories, lost but two games and played two tie games. It was largely due to his superb work that New York was able to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics in the games for the world's series in 1904.

Mathewson has one record that will probably never be equaled by any pitcher. He pitched in two post-season series without losing a game. In 1904 he shut out Connie Mack's team in the world's series three times, and in the series just concluded between the two New York teams, Mathewson won three of the four games credited to his club. This gives him a victory for every game he has pitched in a post-season series.

Twice since he has been in the National league Mathewson has pitched no-hit games. The first victory of this kind was against St. Louis, July 15, 1905. Sutthoff was the pitcher for St. Louis. The Giants made one error and Mathewson walked four men. His second no-hit game was played four years later in Chicago, with Mordecai Brown on the mound for the Cubs. It was a 1-0 game, on June 13, 1905. Had the Giants given Mathewson perfect support, no runner from the Windy City would have reached first. Matty gave no bases on balls, but Billy Gilbert and Bill Dahlen each committed an error. Mathewson's largest number of victories in any campaign totaled thirty-seven. That was in 1908, and the score would have been increased by one additional game and New York would have captured another pennant if it had not been for the fact that Fred Merkle forgot to touch second base.

Mathewson won 35 in 1904, 31 in 1905 and 30 in 1903. In 1910 he won 27 and lost but 9. The only season in which he failed to win more games than he lost except in 1900 was 1902. In the latter year Matty's average of games won was .419, and even at that his record was 66 points better than his team's percentage. His record since he joined the National league is as follows:

Year.	Victories.	Defeat.	Pct.
1907	24	12	.667
1908	37	11	.771
Totals	264	118	.691

While there is a dispute as to the reason for Mathewson's sobriquet of the "Big Six" his own explantion is that it was given to him when he joined New York, because he was the only man on the team that measured six feet or over. In his stockings he stands 6 feet 1 inch; weighs 190 pounds and both pitches and bats with his right hand. The date of his birth is Aug. 12, 1880, so that he is now just 30 years of age.

WOMEN CAN'T SAVVY BASEBALL, SAYS McALEER.

"No woman ever understood baseball or ever can hope to."

So said James Robert McAleer to Julia Murdock, a Washington writer. He speaks with authority—from twelve years' marital experience and from more years of observation from the diamond than he cared at first to tell.

It wasn't that the National's intrepid manager lacked chivalry. He explained apologetically that he didn't regard woman any less highly on that account. But, in strict regard for the truth, Mr. McAleer said he felt compelled to make the admission.

"There is my wife," he said, looking more enthusiastic than at any time during the interview. "She just about comes up to my shoulder, has a red head and a peaches and cream complexion like a girl of 16, and is as full of ginger. If there ever was a true sportswoman she is one.

"But what does she know about baseball? She has been trailing around with me for twelve years and since that time and in the days when we were courting, she held down a grandstand seat just as religiously as most women go to church.

"For intelligence and common sense I will stack her against any woman in the land. She knows things I haven't time to learn and never will know. But when it comes to baseball—well, she just can't tell the difference between a foul fly catch and a three-bagger. And I haven't any false hopes that she will."

He thought for a minute or two and ignored several questions and then opened up again on the psychological shortcomings of woman as related to the national game. Only he did not call it that.

"It isn't that they are not interested," he went on thoughtfully. "They can holler with the best of them. But they seem to think the poor 'ump' gives decisions against their team just out of natural meanness and if someone on the other side pulls a good play they say he has a mean disposition."

By this time Mr. McAleer had become unmistakably enthusiastic. He paused suddenly and turned to his interviewer, who had apologized for not knowing baseball thoroughly, and said smilingly:

"So you see I don't hold that against you since you are a woman."

Brewers Get George Stone.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 1.—Owner Charles S. Havenor of the Milwaukee American association baseball club yesterday afternoon announced the signing of Outfielder George Stone, former leading batsman of the American league.

SEASON WILL OPEN SOON

Trout Fishing Will Be Lawful After April 15.

Some of the Good Streams Reached From Duluth.

The trout fishing season will open April 15.

Already the more enthusiastic of the anglers are dreaming of the streams and preparing their tackle. There are many good streams in the vicinity of Duluth and some of the best fishing in the history of the Northwest is promised, as indicated by present conditions.

Lester river, Talmage, French, Sucker, Knife and Stewart rivers and Silver creek are all reached by the Duluth & Iron range railroad. This road will take the followers of Isaac Walton within easy walking distance of these favorite fishing places, which are among the best in this section of the state.

By connecting at Knife River station, on the Duluth & Iron Range railroad with the Duluth & Northern Minnesota railway, the following rivers, all good fishing places, can be reached: Knife river and its numerous branches, Stewart, Gooseberry, Split Rock and Beaver rivers, in addition to three small streams between the Gooseberry and Beaver rivers that are fair fishing.

On the Duluth, Missabe & Northern the Rocky Run river and Pine river, above Proctorknott, can be easily reached.

Foxboro, Wrenshall and Nickerson are three towns on the Great Northern, around which there are numerous fishing streams affording very fair fishing.

On the Ashland branch of the Northern Pacific a number of very good fishing places can be reached, the best of which are Iron river and the Brule.

In close proximity to Duluth are such streams as Miller, Tischer and the upper part of Chester, which afford a very good day's fishing for those who do not care to spend so much time and energy in getting to the stream.

OSCAR STUCKEY LATEST "HOPE"

"Florida Hercules" Is Hot on the Trail of Li'l Artha Johnson.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 1.—Oscar W. Stuckey, the "Florida Hercules," is the latest "white hope" mentally to finance a desire to hand the sleep wallop to Jack Johnson and win back for the Caucasian race the fistic championship of the world.

Stuckey is one Southerner who does not hesitate to enter the roped arena with a black. The young giant looks upon the proposition as a sacred duty. For months he has been preparing for his debut with the Ethiopian, and the condition that he has achieved has surprised his most ardent admirers.

Stuckey, when given the cognomen of the "Florida Hercules," was aptly named, for he stands six feet nine inches in his socks. He has a reach of eighty-two inches, and weighs, in the pink of condition, 236 pounds. He is said to possess an awful wallop in either mitt, and in his preliminary battles the men on whom he has landed have never come back.

The giant is 20 years of age, and for the next year will train steadily with the object in view of a battle with Jack Johnson. Stuckey's measurements are as follows:

Neck, 16½ inches; across shoulders, 52 inches; over shoulders, 23¾ inches; chest (normal), 42½ inches; chest (deflated), 39 inches; chest (inflated), 45½ inches; waist, 37 inches; wrist, 8 inches; abdomen, 41½ inches; forearm, 12½ inches; upper arm, 13½ inches; biceps, 14½ inches; calfs, 15½ inches; thigh, 26 inches; weight, 236 pounds; height, 6 feet, 9 inches; reach, 82 inches.

Age, 20 years.

Stuckey is a native of Jacksonville, Fla., and rated the biggest man in the state. He is possessed of abnormal strength and during his fights he has demonstrated it to the chagrin of his opponents. He delights in roughing it with his adversaries, and his infighting is said to be wonderful.

Friends of the white hope are willing to back him to the extent of $500,000, they say, for a fight with Johnson when he has gleaned more knowledge of the inside features of the fistic game. His father believes that no one in the world has a chance with his son in the same ring, and will back up his contention to the extent of $50,000.

The giant's dad is exceedingly wealthy, but intensely fond of athletics. He owns immense turpentine ranches in Florida, aside from considerable Jacksonville realty. Stuckey, Jr., for the aforesaid reason has not taken to the fight game for the commercial feature it affords. He loves to fight for the game's sake, and to win back to the white race the honor of pugilistic champion of the world is very much of a sacred mission with him.

C. A. C. DEFEATS Y. M. C. A. QUINT

Last evening, on the floor of the Catholic Athletic club gymnasium, the C. A. C. team defeated the Y. M. C. A. quint at basket ball by the score of 37 to 24. The Catholic team shaded its opponents at practically every stage of the game and won by better basket shooting and superior defensive tactics.

For the C. A. C., O'Donnell, captain and coach, was the stellar performer, throwing six field baskets and also securing three points from free throws.

At the end of the first half the score stood 20 to 6 in favor of the Catholic boys. The Y. M. C. A. overcame this lead somewhat in the second period, though the C. A. C. team held its opponents safe throughout the entire contest.

The lineup:

Y. M. C. A.	Position.	C. A. C.
Boerner	f	O'Donnell
Nasalund	f	Boyle
Paddock	c	Kelly
Lathrop	g	Curtis

OXFORD WINS ANNUAL RACE IN RECORD TIME

Putney, England, April 1.—Oxford won from Cambridge in the annual eight-oared inter-'varsity race over the Putney course today. The Dark Blues were heavier and were the favorites though Cambridge had the advantage of weather and position.

The day was perfect and the coarse almost flat.

Oxford led from the start and won by three lengths in 18 minutes 29 seconds, which is a record for the race.

The previous record was 18 minutes 47 seconds, made by Oxford in 1893 and duplicated by Cambridge in 1900.

This is Oxford's thirty-seventh victory, Cambridge having won thirty contests.

Last year Oxford with a lead of three lengths finished in 20 minutes and 14 seconds. The year before Oxford won by 3½ lengths in 19 minutes and 50 seconds. According to the English practice the time of the defeated crew was not taken.

Excursion steamers flying the Light and Dark Blues were packed with people and the largest array of motorboats ever seen on the course, dashed about.

There was a great turnout of old cargsmen. The Prince of Wales and Prince Albert in cadet uniforms followed the race in a motorboat. They were cheered along th eline.

AROUND THE CIRCUIT

Kohl and Schwab of Duluth White Sox fame are still hanging on with the Saints. The probability is that the actor ball player will be retained, while Schwab will be returned to the White Stockings.

The signed contract of Floyd P. Christie, the Lake Nebagamon pitcher, was received by President Elliott yesterday.

Henry Weidell, the Bugs Raymond of the Minny circuit, is now at Red Wing, where he will play again this season. Fred Cook, the manager, announces that he has his hooks out for three fast outfielders whom he expects to sign soon. The identity of the trio is withheld.

Dick Walker, a Toledo semi-pro, has signed with Red Wing for a try at the shortstop position. Charles Johnson, touted as a Ty Cobb on the bases, has also been roped and thrown. He played independent baseball last year, holding down an infield position.

Wausau is still threatening to trade Daddy Cahill for that man Parker of the Jackson club in the Southern Michigan league. Hochtritt and Dolan should demand about $100 on the side when they make the trade beause Daddy is certainly worth it.

Frank Du Chien, formerly a local player, is also holding out on the Lumberjacks and will probably continue to do so. Money is what the Frenchman is after.

Owner Grayson of the Louisville club has advised the Wausau owners that Lakoff looks too good to him to be returned to the Lumberjacks and that means that Nick will probably stay with the Colonels for the season. Grayson has promised to send Wausau a recruit pitcher named Baker, whom he says has the goods for a Class D club.

The Lumberjacks are receiving promises of all sorts of assistance which they will probably need if the players continue to hold out. Jack McCarthy says he will send them an outfielder while several other old timers offer the services of other ball players.

The Waukon paper says that the baseball bugs from that village, which claims the distinction of having "made" Manager Bumpus Jones, will attend the games here this summer in delegations. Bumpus says that he will extend the glad hand to all the Waukonites that come.

That husky Parker who pitched a few games for Red Wing and for the Rochester clubs last year will hurl for the Superior Red Sox this year. He is some pitcher on a dark day but he kind of fades away when the sun comes out.

Richard Brinsley Sheridan Thorsen, the eccentric Head of the Lakes twirler is going to pitch with some of the iron range teams this year. He refuses to sign a Superior contract.

Cy Dahlgren is still holding out on the Superior manager.

BASEBALL NOTES

C. C. Gosnell, the Vincennes baseball magnate, who is to tranfer his Vincennes franchise, because of a quarrel with the Vincennes Street Car company, plans taking the Kitty League club to Henderson.

Amos Russie is in it again. A Charleston, Miss., millionaire has given the former pitcher permission to organize a winning team for Charleston and Amos writes he will play first base and pitch.

Since "Uncle Joe" Cannon is no longer speaker of the house of representatives, the Danville club of the Three I figures that nickname "Speakers" will not do and is casting about for another more suitable.

Fred Blanding, the pitcher secured by Cleveland from Texas, now confesses that under an assumed name, he pitched for a team in the Central Kansas league in 1909. He won't tell the name of the club.

President Kavanaugh of the Southern association has signed these umpires so far: Bill Hart, Carpenter, Pfenninger and Colliflower. Dan Fitzsimmons will likely be retained and another is yet to be secured.

Managers in the Carolina association this year follow: Charlotte, Lave Cross; Winston-Salem, Charles Clancy; Greensboro, Robert Doyle; Spartanburg, William Laval; Anderson, J. A. Kelly; Greensville, Richard Smith.

Harry Ables, the 205-pound southpaw twirler of the New York Highlanders, has the "white man's hope" hee in his bonnet and says after the baseball season is done, he means to fit himself to tackle Jack Johnson.

Irving Waldron is the new manager of the Meridian team of the Cotton States league. He comes from the Western league. Forrest Plass was the man wanted, but he could not secure his release from Dubuque.

St. Paul is one of the teams that is going to stick to the old ways, so far as road uniforms are concerned. The Saints' management has decided to retain uniforms of gray color, with some slight changes in the lettering on the shirts.

Jimmy Cockman reports to the Lincoln Western league team this spring with one less finger than he had last fall. He lost it in an accident in a piano factory where he worked. It will not interfere with his ball playing.

Larry McLean won't wear shin guards this year. He is having a pair of leather knee-caps made. "I used to be quite a base runner," explains Larry. "I have a notion if I discard the shin guards I can steal as many bases as Bob Bescher."

Some one told Oscar Stanage he would be the best catcher in the American league if he would "behave himself," whereupon Jennings' backstop declared he would eliminate the proviso, which in plain English means he will "cut out" the misbehaving.

Bob Stafford, who umpired in the Eastern league last year, will have no regular job, but will umpire on his own hook. He has booked 60 college games, in which the umpire has it much easier and makes more than the average minor league arbiter.

Terms probably will be agreed upon by the Paducah baseball club and Harry Lloyd for the latter to manage the Paducah Kitty league club. Lloyd piloted two teams through the Kitty and landed Paducah on top the first season he was in charge.

Cy Falkenberg of Cleveland, in addition to his new fadeaway ball, has developed an underhanded affair to mix with it. He starts at a height of seven feet, swoops it down to the ground and it crosses the plate with the chin elevated like an angry old maid.

It develops that Manager Chance had Harry Steinfeldt all boxed up for shipment to Cincinnati, when C. Webb Murphy interposed and Steiney was saved. Chattanooga of the Southern league would have finally got him, it is said, had the deal gone through.

Two high priced purchases in major league ball are both suffering from injuries that may seriously mar their value. Russell Blackbourne of the White Sox, has a dislocated knee-cap, and "Lefty" Russell has a stiff arm. What's the matter with Marquard?

Clark Miller, secretary of the Southern Baseball association, dropped dead at his his home in Little Rock, Ark., last Thursday night from congestion of the brain. He was 42 years of age, and son-in-law of Col. John M. Moore. His wife and two children survive him. He was the eldest son of the late Rev. J. B. Miller, for many years pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Little Rock.

The schedule of the Blue Grass league, adopted last week, calls for a split season. The first half begins May 9 and closes July 6; the second begins July 7 and closes Sept. 4. The teams winning in each half will play a series for the championship of the year.

Bedingfield, the Daniel Baker college pitcher, whose feat of striking out twenty-six men was noted, did not look so good when the White Sox got done with him in a practice game. The Sox beat the Baker college team 13 to 1 with Bedingfield on the mound part of the way.

At least a dozen of the athletes taken on the trip to the Coast at the expense of John I. Taylor will be left out there unless some of the major league clubs want them, for it is reported that waivers will be asked and the players turned over to Coast teams.

The Louisville Colonels have adopted a foundling, abandoned at their hotel, as a mascot. The baby is a girl and a note left with it said she was born Feb. 1. The ball players all took a great interest in the wee mite and declare that she shall be well looked after.

Twenty of the thirty-six players that compose the Cleveland squad are over 6 feet tall. Pitcher Falkenberg tops the bunch with 6 feet 5 inches, while Addie Joss is next in line, being 6 feet 3 inches in height. Knaupp is the shortest man on the team, measuring 5 feet 7 inches.

Manager John McGraw's specially imported umpire, Charles Hansell, couldn't stand the gaff of the Giant players in practice games and quit the job. A run-in with Merkle was the last straw. Evidently the Giants are ready for the gong as far as umpire baiting goes.

Atlanta is not the only ball club to go into the United States army to get a ball player. At Macon, in the South Atlantic league, one of Uncle Sam's boys on furlough is trying out for first base and if he makes good the ball club will buy his release from the army.

By signing Fenerhein, Breslin, Ellerholz, Snow and Liebold, the Milwaukee management is stocking up with youngsters—what the fans have been clamoring for. After several days at Champaign the youngsters will be taken to Terre Haute to play two exhibition games with the Tots.

"Bill" Dwyer is picked as manager for the Des Moines team to succeed George Davis. He will make six playing managers in the Western league, Holland at St. Joseph and Hendricks at Denver being bench bosses. It will be Dwyer's second try at the job for Owner Higgins.

In a quarrel at Marietta, Cal., William Tozier, a pitcher on the Los Angeles team, was shot by F. Israel. Israel had acted as umpire in a practice game for Los Angeles and Tozier had a dispute with him. It was renewed and Israel emptied a gun at the player, who is not seriously wounded.

William Disch has been signed as manager of the Beeville team of the Southwest Texas league. He has been acting as athletic director of the Texas State university. He can not report until May 15 and in the meantime his players will prepare for the season without his direction.

Sheldon Lejeune, champ long distance thrower, now with Brooklyn, has a $25 fine hanging over his head from the Central league, for slapping an umpire in the closing days of last season. President Carson of the Central says it must be paid if Lejeune expects to be of any use to Brooklyn.

The Detroit players have a plan to cure Catcher Charley Schmidt of his pugilistic aspirations. They are go'ng to "ring" in some good man on him, see that the Tiger gets a good licking and then, they say, he will conclude that the diamond and not a squared circle is his best bet.

Frank Delahanty, the veteran outfielder, will cover right field for the St. Paul team in the American association next season. Delahanty was made a free agent by Manager Carr of the Indianapolis team last fall. Mike Kelly, the St. Pauls' leader, does not share Carr's views that Del is all in.

Tennessee baseball fans may decide to erect a monument to the Rev. J. J. Taylor of the Knoxville Baptist church, who told his fellow ministers right out in meeting: "The church has no right to seek to make a man go to church if he prefers to go to a ball game and it is an individual matter what a man does with his Sundays."

The Dallas club of the Texas league is anxious to relieve McGraw of First Baseman Frank Forsythe. The former Pekin slugger needs more seasoning before he can hope to break into the big league, but the Giants' manager has not yet set a price on him. There is some talk, too, of leaving Outfielder Ernest Lush with the Dallas club.

Vic Willis, the Cardinal pitcher who was sold by the St. Louis club to the Chicago Cubs during the winter, but who announced his retirement from the big league, will manage the Newark (Del) team in the Tri-County league this season. Willis recently purchased a hotel in Newark, and his new baseball venture will not interfere with his business.

Edmund Lamy, who, for the past five years has held both the indoor and outdoor amateur ice skating championships, has left the ranks of the amateurs in order to become a full-fledged ball player. This was brought about by Lamy securing an engagement with the Mansfield club of the Ohio State league. Lamy is due to play an outfield position with this team.

John "Bucky" Freeman of Wilkes Barre, Pa., who played with the Boston Americans and Albany, of the New York State league, and Williamsport, of the Tri-State league, has signed a contract to become a playing manager of the Bloomsburg team of the Susquehanna Independent league. Freeman retired from organized baseball last season to go into business.

Umpire-baiters in the Eastern league will take a back seat when Jack Pollock is holding the indicator. President Ed Barrow's umpire man is something of a boxer, a wrestler, a football player and a baseball player. He weighs 220 pounds and is built proportionately. All the "bear cats" will think twice before making one break when Pollock has charge of the game.

Baseball leagues will soon have to copyright their names. Two factions in the South took the title of "Southern." Secretary Farrell decided that the organization headed by J. H. O'Neil is the real goods blown in the bottle. The Virginia Valley league has decided to call itself the Mountain league, while out in the Northwest they have organized two leagues that expect to call themselves "Mountain" leagues.

SCHAUB WILL BE RETURNED

Mike Kelley Writes That Duluth Can Have Crack Receiver.

Though Jack Desmond is sick at home and is unable to be down to the baseball office, a communication was carried out to his home yesterday that made the genial Jawn forget for the time being the discomforts that tred heavily on the heels of lagrippe.

The letter was from Mike Kelley, the Apostle manager, who as much as stated that Ollie Schaub, the catcher who finished this season with the White Sox and who was the only satisfactory receiver in the Duluth line-up all of last season, will be back with the O'Brienites the coming season.

That is the most welcome baseball news that has been received the present week. Mike Kelley is a man who always keeps his promises. Though he has not come out flat-footed and said that Schaub will be back here, his letter intimated that the clever catcher would be turned back to the White Sox before the regular season in the A. A. opened.

The return of Schaub means that the back stopping department of the Sox will be well taken care of, for Ollie is one of the smoothest men behind, we have in this league.

Rube Gets His.

Marinette, Wis., April 1.—In the course of a boxing match at the armory Rube Noonan, a Menominee fighter, received a severe drubbing at the hands of Jos Dora of Marinette.

COX FORCES OUTFLANKED.

New Indictment Returned and a Change of Venue Granted.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 1.—George B. Cox's legal forces, which, since Feb. 21, with apparent success, have been waging a war or technicalities against the indictment charging the financier and Republican leaders with perjury, were outflanked yesterday.

The grand jury on the eve of its mustering out returned a fresh indictment, charging perjury upon which Prosecuting Attorney Henry T. Hunt immediately obtained a change of venue and as a consequence Cox faces the prospect of being forced into an open fight in the courts of Clermont county, before the complicated situation in Hamilton county—the original seat of war—has been cleared up.

No leader of the Cox legal army was near the scene of action when the prosecutor consummated this strategic move. They arrived in force a few minutes later and when they learned the full significance of the movement they were for the time being, at least, powerless to offer effective opposition.

Good results always follow the use of Foley Kidney Pills. They give prompt relief in all cases of kidney and bladder disorders. Try them. All druggists.

ADAMS INDOOR BASEBALL TEAM CLAIMS CLEAR TITLE TO CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

THE ADAMS INDOOR BASEBALL TEAM.

No indoor baseball team of Duluth has ever made a better record than the crack Adams aggregation, city champions, through their winning of the exciting series with the strong Company A team. In addition to the winning of the series with the militia boys, the Adams defeated the Y. M. C. A. nine twice and also defeated the Big Dulutths.

In every department of athletics the Adams Athletic association has made an enviable record, but it is very doubtful if any of the various teams of the association have made any better showing than the indoor baseball nine.

Most of the boys have been playing together for the past two seasons, and if the team holds together next season it is very probable that a tour of the Northwest will be arranged, as the Adams boys are today considered one of the strongest teams in the state.

WISHART TO DRIVE FREAK

New Yorker Will Pilot Monster Mercedes in Indianapolis Meet.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 1.—Teuton motor makers are offering American a sensation for the 1911 automobile racing season by sending across the Atlantic a speed monster from the Daimler Mercedes factory which has time-annihilation reduced to a minimum. This great steel steed carries beneath its hood a motor with 583 cubic inches piston displacement and is the largest Mercedes car ever imported into America.

Spencer Wishart of Port Chester, N. Y., a young racing pilot, who has won many big events in this same make of car, has purchased the new creation and his entry in the 500-mile international sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway to be run on Memorial day, May 30, was the first announcement of the dimensions of the metal mount which he will drive this year. The cylinders have a 5.1 inch bore and the pistons a 7.1 inch stroke, showing that the German makers still believe in the speed and endurance possibilities of the long stroke motor.

The car is light in weight, for it weighs but 2,400 pounds, which is almost down to the minimum for the race, the limit being 2,300 pounds, while the piston displacement of Speedway classic is placed at 600 cubic inches. Wishart will take the big car to the Indianapolis track about the first of May to begin his tuning for the long event. The speed requirement for the seventy-five miles per hour does not worry the young driver for his car has shown better than 110 miles per hour in the German tests.

The car was ordered by the owner and driver when he was in Germany late last year and several months have been spent in the making. The careful German mechanics build racing cars more slowly than those of any other nation but when the cars are complete they are certain to run—and run well.

This is the first foreign car to be entered in the long grind, but the Speedway management has been advised that a half dozen of the best cars manned by foreign drivers will be in line for the start before the close of the entries. Among those who are now planning to come over after the $25,000 purse are Hemery in a Benz, Nazarro and Wagner in Fiats, Lancia and a teammate in Lancia cars, Rigal in a Bayard-Clement, the three-car team of the Lion-Peugot company, while the Metallurgique Company of Belgium will probably send over a car for an American driver to take through the event.

Hebert Lytle, the dean of American pilots, is after a Napier, while "Wild Bob" Burman is undecided between a Buick "100" and a Mercedes. If the Cossack of the motor car decides on the Mercedes, the Germans will have another monster ready for the event.

Fourteen entries have been made for the race, which is three months away. Lewis Strang, Louis Larsonneur and Joe Jagersburger in Case cars, C. B. Baldwin in an Interstate "30," Johnny Aitken in a National "40," Frank Fox and Louis Disbrow in Pope-Hartfords, Harry Knight in a Westcott, Joe Dawson and another yet to be nominated in Marmons, Will Turner in an Amplex, Gil Anderson in a Stutz and a Simplex which will be driven by either Joe Matson or Ralph De Palma, are the cars and drivers thus far named.

The fortune in gold has brought the drivers new hope, for riches won behind the wheel, and it is assumed that thirty-five of the master speed creations from all over the world will be in the event. The first prize of $10,000, with $15,000 more divided in nine other prizes, has been the real reason for the building of more special racing motors than any other one race purse ever offered.

"International Champion" is to be the title for the winner, and the best driving talent in the world is after the glory of the name—and the gold that goes with it.

SNOW BLOCKS ENTHUSIASM

Automobile Owners Thought That Touring Season Had Arrived.

The snow of last week put a crimp in the enthusiasm of early spring motorists in Duluth.

The week before was warm and bright and while the garages were busy getting the old cars out, many bright, new and shiny ones, direct from the factory made their appearance on the streets.

It did look as though touring weather was surely here. Those who owned cars made a rush to get them out; those who had ordered cars began to get nervous over the delay in shipping; and some of those who had been thinking of ordering turned in their orders.

Then came the snow. Those who had been so anxious the week before, forgot it. In spite of the snow, the rush at the local repair shops is as great as ever.

Many are having their cars painted and overhauling and repairing is going on at all the garages.

A number of sales have been reported during the week. The high-priced, high-powered, seven-passenger cars are in favor by those who have owned smaller models and the medium-priced cars are in demand by those who are to experience their first year as auto owners.

The 1911 season looks good to the Duluth agents.

MAKE TRIP FROM ST. PAUL.

Motorists Say the Road to Twin Cities Is in Bad Shape.

Edward L. Ream and M. W. Robinson of the Crex Carpet company of St. Paul came through from that city to Duluth this week in a Hudson automobile.

The roads were very bad, they stated, and the appearance of their car proved their statement. A great part of the way the running was done in mud up to six inches deep.

They made a number of stops on the road and went out of their way a number of times, as they had some camps to look over.

The little car made the journey through the mud in fine shape. It was coated with a thick covering from top to bottom, but the engine was running as smoothly as when the start was made out of the garage at St. Paul several days ago.

The car is a 1911 Hudson, and even the owners were surprised at its performance. The road, they say, is the worst they ever traveled over, and the trip made the Hudson car another enthusiastic pair of boosters.

The car was driven by Charles Kelcher, a St. Paul chauffeur.

THOMAS COMPANY IS REORGANIZED

Old Heads at Packard Factory Take Charge of Buffalo Plant.

A complete reorganization of the E. R. Thomas Motor Car company of Buffalo, N. Y., was announced by that company yesterday.

The entire executive force of the Packard company of Detroit, Mich., has been engaged by the Thomas people. The sweep was clean. The twenty-one men at the head of the Packard company were picked up bodily and transplanted to the Thomas factory at Buffalo.

The men now in charge of the Buffalo plant are among the best known men in the motor world. They have been for years with the Packard people and they are the men who some years ago placed that car in the respected list.

E. P. Chalfant, the new president, heads the marketing and publicity departments; F. R. Humpage, the new vice president and general manager, is responsible for the manufacturing and purchasing; W. L. Gleason as factory manager is in charge of production, and J. J. Ramsay is the new treasurer.

In addition to the above new officers are F. C. Fried, W. B. Grammar, George Fitz Simmons, Edward Wells, George Lovely and a number of others, who will devote their entire energies in taking care of the production of the Model M car, as manufactured by the E. R. Thomas Motor Car company.

WORK TO BEGIN ON NEW GARAGE

New Automobile Establishment to Be Erected on East Superior Street.

George Lounsberry, a local contractor, has been awarded the contract for the erection of the new garage to be built between Ninth and Tenth avenues east on Superior street.

The owners of the new structure are John Smith, Joseph Parker, R. H. Long, Ole Elgstrom and Leonard McNamarra.

Work will begin at once. The garage will probably be open for business about June 1. It will be built of reinforced concrete and will be absolutely fireproof. The cost will be $7,000.

Bray & Nystrom drew the plans.

TWO AUTOMOBILE RECORDS BROKEN

Disbrow Makes Fast Time in Pope-Hartford at Pablo Beach.

Pablo Beach, Fla., April 1.—Two world's records were broken by the same driver in the automobile races here yesterday afternoon. Disbrow, driving a Pope-Hartford car in the 300-mile race, made the first fifty miles in 37:23.90. The former record, 38.51, was made by Fletcher with a Dedietrich machine in Daytona, Fla., Jan. 31, 1906. Disbrow's time for 200 miles was 2 hours, 34 minutes and 12 seconds, establishing a new high mark for the distance at straightaway.

The record broken was that made by Dohymely in a Stoddard-Dayton, 3 hours 2 minutes and 22 seconds, in Galveston, Aug. 5, 1910. Disbrow's time for 250 miles, 3 hours, 14 minutes, 56 seconds, is a record, as no time for that distance straightaway has been recorded.

Motorcycle Notes.

More than 240 dealers throughout the country have agreed to give a 10 per cent discount on repairs to any member of the Federation of American Motorcyclists.

Rockford, Ill., is talking about building a motordrome.

Los Angeles will have a motorcycle show for a week beginning Thursday, April 6.

Jacksonville, Fla., has doubled its motorcyclists in the last year. A year ago there were sixty. Now there are 120.

English motorcyclists are discussing a plan for an elaborate clubhouse in London.

Cleveland has decided not to seek the 1911 Federation of American Motorcyclists' meet, but will go after it hammer and tongs in 1912.

Contracts for good roads, aggregating $3,700,000, will be awarded in New York state this month.

Motorcycles made such a hit at the Hayes Valley carnival, California, that the San Francisco Motorcycle club has been asked to hold contests at the Richmond district carnival early in April.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE LYCEUM

The Shuberts' production of "Havana," the great London and New York musical comedy success, with a thoroughly American cast, comes to the Lyceum theater next Thursday for three nights and one matinee Saturday. "Havana" comes direct from its triumphant engagements at the Casino theater, New York, where it has just completed a run of over two years.

James T. Powers, the popular comedian, is the star of "Havana." He enacts the part of a matrimonial outlaw, the bosun of the yacht Wasp, with which character, it is needless to say, he injects a fresh and bountiful supply of genuine American humor into the play. "Havana" should prove a welcome attraction, since it is accredited with being a gem of dainty music and picturesque grace. The story of the play deals principally with Nix, the bosun, and his matrimonial adventure. The first act is laid by the harbor side in Havana, Cuba. It finds Nix in the crew of the Wasp and he has returned to Cuba after a seven years' absence. On his former visit he married a Cuban belle and deserted her, and he is in dire fear of meeting his wife, the only clew he has to her being a switch of hair. His movements cause him to be mistaken for a member of a filibustering expedition. He is forced to become one of the conspirators and does not know what it all means until he is captured by the police and sentenced to be shot. He is, however, finally recognized by his wife and she, of course, saves him from death. They are reunited and all ends in the usual happy way.

It is said that not since "Floradora" was produced in New York, has that city seen a more tuneful and beautiful play than "Havana." Leslie Stuart, who wrote the music for the former, is said to have surpassed all previous efforts in "Havana," especially in the celebrated "Hello, People, People Hello" number, which is the most discussed song of the year. Another important number sung by Mr. Powers is called "How Did the Bird Know That?" and the comedian gives it in inimitable fashion. There are in all some score of musical numbers in the play.

James T. Powers himself adapted the book from the English version, which is the best evidence that "Havana" is an amusing musical comedy. With the comedian comes the original cast in its entirety, down to the tiniest little "Hello People" girls. Among the principals, besides Mr. Powers, are: Geraldine Malone, Helen Darling, Hattie Arnold, Lillian Fuethrer, Cecil Mayo, Bessie Graham, Dave Andrada, Charles Prince, Ernest Hare, George Odell, J. Gunnis Davis, Arthur Demers, Glenn Connor, Frederick Merritt and others of equally prominent note, together with one of the prettiest choruses of young girls that have ever graced the stage of the Lyceum theater. The orchestra will be augmented to over twice its normal size for Mr. Powers' Duluth engagement.

The Mack-Leones in George Cohan's national song show, "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," will remain at the Lyceum until next Wednesday evening, with a matinee Sunday and Wednesday.

Because of the size of the production, and the time and effort spent upon it, it will run over until Wednesday evening. The success it is achieving also has had something to do with the extending of the engagement. So far it has proved the most successful production staged during the present engagement of the Mack-Leones in this city.

Never has Miss Maude Leone scored a greater success than she registered in the role of Mary Jane Jenkins, the role that has been made famous by Fay Templeton. Miss Leone's interpretation of the role has proved a distinct surprise to local theater goers, while her singing of the two songs, "So Long, Mary," and "Mary Is a Grand Old Name," were decidedly the emphatic hits of the first two performances of the show.

Taking the production in all its details, it surprised those who were acquainted with the usual line of stock company productions. To tackle the musical comedy line with as big a production as "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," required some nerve on the part of the producers, and the manner in which it was carried through, showed that the Mack-Leones are versatile, to say the least.

Mrs. Annie Adams has proved a surprise. Her portrayal of the weeping "dame," as Kid Burns says, has been one of the features of the production to date. The same praise might be accorded to James Rennie, who is decidedly new to musical comedy line, as he never sang a song in public before until he did the "Popular Millionaire." He frankly admits that he never dared to.

With the repetitions of the show the work of the chorus has naturally been getting better and better. When one stop to think that most of the big musical productions that go on the road are rehearsed a month before the initial production, some idea of the work accomplished by the Mack-Leones can be gained.

Three and four rehearsals were held a day, and only this strenuous work accounts for the success of the show on the opening night. Since the first evening of the production two rehearsals have been held, with the result that it is going like a well-oiled machine at the present time.

There will be just seven more opportunities to see Kid Burns, Mary Jane Jenkins, villainous Dan Cronin, Flora Dora Dean, Tom Bennett, the millionaire kid and the other famous characters that George M. Cohan wrote into one of his greatest successes, "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway."

After the close of the Duluth engagement the show will make a brief road tour, where it is expected to duplicate the success it has been scoring to date here in Duluth. If the success of the production continues during the rest of the engagement, it is very likely that some other musical show may be put on by the Mack-Leones later in the season.

On Sunday and Monday, April 9 and 10, Raymond Hitchcock will appear at the Lyceum theater in George M. Cohan's best musical play, "The Man Who Owns Broadway." Unlike most such comedians, Hitchcock is an actor. He creates character, touches it with his own fantastic humor and draws it before one's eyes with the sure stroke of a master.

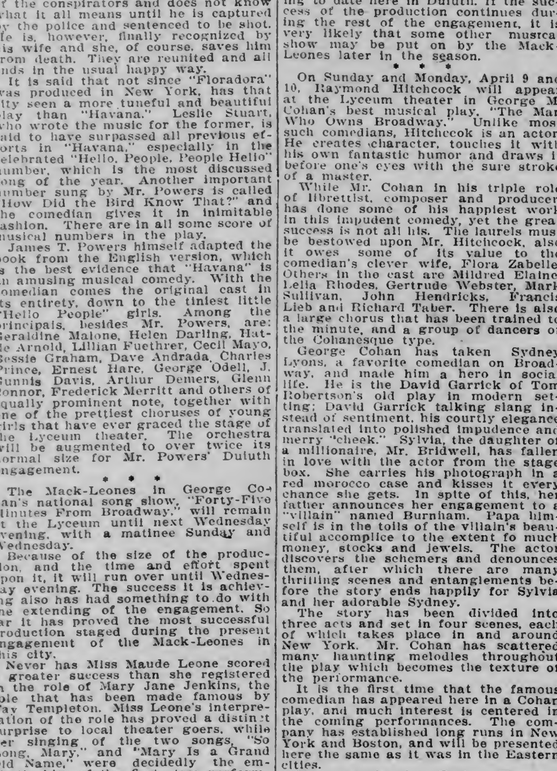
While Mr. Cohan in his triple role of librettist, composer and producer, has done some of his happiest work in this impudent comedy, yet the great success is not all his. The laurels must be bestowed upon Mr. Hitchcock, also it owes some of its value to the comedian's clever wife, Flora Zabelle. Others in the cast are Mildred Elaine, Lelia Rhodes, Gertrude Webster, Mark Sullivan, John Hendricks, Francis Lieb and Richard Taber. There is also a large chorus that has been trained to the minute, and a group of dancers of the Cohanesque type.

George Cohan has taken Sydney Grons, a favorite comedian on Broadway, and made him a hero in social life. He is the David Garrick of Tom Robertson's old play in modern setting; David Garrick talking slang instead of sentiment, his elegance translated into polished impudence and merry "cheek." Sylvia, the daughter of a millionaire, Mr. Bridwell, has fallen in love with the actor from the stage box. She carries his photograph in a red morocco case and kisses it every chance she gets. In spite of this, her father announces her engagement to a "villain" named Burnham. Papa himself is in the tolls of the villain's beautiful accomplice to the extent fo much money, stocks and jewels. The actor discovers the schemers and denounces them, after which there are many thrilling scenes and entanglements before the story ends happily for Sylvia and her adorable Sydney.

The story has been divided into three acts and set in four scenes, each of which takes place in and around New York. Mr. Cohan has scattered many haunting melodies throughout the play which becomes the texture of the performance.

It is the first time that the famous comedian has appeared here in a Cohan play, and much interest is centered in the coming performances. The company has established long runs in New York and Boston, and will be presented the same as it was in the Eastern cities.

The new play by Porter Emerson Browne, "The Spendthrift," which Frederic Thompson will present at the Lyceum on Tuesday, April 11, has for its leading theme the wasteful extravagance of the present generation. Theodore Roosevelt and Cardinal Gibbons have presented their views in different articles. Mr. Browne presents his in the form of a drama. In his new play the author endeavors to show the conditions which obtain and the results which follow the latter-day desire to "live up to position" when the wife is not a mother and the home is not a home in the full sense of the word. In "The Spendthrift" the admiration of men and the envy of women mean more



GENNARO,
Who Will Be Seen at the Empress Next Week With His Venetian Gondolier Band.

RAYMOND HITCHCOCK,
In "The Man Who Owns Broadway."

AT THE ORPHEUM

The Five Armanis, presenting a high class musical revue; Bowers, Walters and Crooker and Wynn and Jennings in big comedy acts; Charles B. Lawlor and daughters in a musical novelty; Sydney Shields and company is a comedy sketch; Swain's Cockatoos and James Brockman will compose next week's bill at the Orpheum, and the local management expects it to be one of the best vaudeville bills ever presented in the local theater.

The members of the company are Signor V. Barile, tenor, Signora Calace, mezzo soprano, Signora Carmela, soprano and Signor Armani, baritone and Mr. Tipaldi, mandolin. Signor Armani came to America with the Italian composer and conductor, Mascagni, and has since remained in this country. He was the first to produce in vaudeville the greatly favored sextette from "Lucia." Signor Armani has sung in Wagner's theater at Bayreuth and at the Berlin opera. Signora Calace has sung at the Paris opera house and was considered one of the best Carmens in Europe. She has sung the same roles with the Savage opera company. Signora Carmela has sung in various European operas and was last engaged at Dresden. Signor Barile was engaged at the Royal opera house at Naples and has toured with the great Schumann-Heink.

Mr. Tipaldi was one of the famous Spanish students of the celebrated mandolin and guitar orchestra which toured all of Europe's principal concert halls.

The Five Armanis played the Alhambra for eighteen consecutive weeks before returning to America.

All of the acts are standard acts, six of them having established a reputations on the circuit, and unless one or more of them prove a big disappointment, it is not believed there will be a weak spot on the bill. The program also offers plenty of variety.

No act that has been over the circuit this season has received more universal praise than the Five Armanis. The Armanis come from the Orpheum circuit's affiliated theater in Paris, the Alhambra. They present a high class musical revue called "A Night in Naples." The five members of the company are claimed to be vocalists of a type rarely heard in vaudeville, and their act has been given an elaborate setting, showing scenes in Naples. The class of selections is much superior to that usually heard in a vaudeville musical act, and the Armanis are claimed to present them in a finished and artistic manner. All over the circuit they have been hailed with surprise and delight as a real musical treat, as the following brief extract from a Denver criticism will show: "The real music lovers in the audience sat up with a start of pleased surprise when the Armanis began their act. They had expected the usual vaudeville musical turn, and the artistic and finished singing of these foreigners was a real treat. They were given an ovation at the close of their act. It outclasses any musical act heard in Denver this season, both in respect to the class of selections and the renditions."

"The Three Rubes" are expected to prove the big comedy hit of next week's bill. They are known on the program as Bowers, Walters and Crooker. They appear on the stage dressed as farmers, and they attempt some acrobatic stunts on a parallel bar that has been rigged up between two trees. Their falls and grotesque tricks are said to furnish one long laugh from the beginning to the end of their act.

This is the first season that Edward Wynn and P. O'Malley Jennings have been together, although they are both old favorites with Orpheum patrons in other cities, having been on the circuit several seasons. Wynn formerly had an act alone, in which he appeared as a funny college youth, and Jennings was formerly the comedian with "A Night on a Houseboat." They have joined forces and this season are presenting a nondescript comedy act together. "Wynn and Jennings get as many laughs together as the two of them used to get singly," said a recent Des Moines notice, "and that is about all that can be crowded into the space of time they are on the stage. They were easily the hit of the bill."

One of the old time vaudevillians is Charles B. Lawlor, who has been in vaudevile since its early days. His two daughters are now with him, and they are presenting a musical novelty known as "Night and Day on the Sidewalks of New York." The act is composed of bright dialogue and character songs, and the two young women, Mabel and Alice, are claimed to be as clever and versatile entertainers as their parent.

Sydney Shields will be seen on next week's bill. Miss Shields is a member of the famous Shields family, which is very well known in American vaudeville. She is a newspaper writer who has broken into vaudeville via the comedy sketch route. She was formerly employed on a New Orleans newspaper, and the editor of another journal in that city wrote a sketch for her, in which she has scored a decided success. She has been called the "Maude Adams of Vaudeville" owing to her remarkable resemblance to Maude Adams. Daniel Frohman is said to have been so much impressed with this resemblance that he brought about a meeting between the two actresses. The title of her vaudeville sketch is "Broadway, U. S. A.," and it tells the story of a young English girl and an American, whose wedding has been arranged by their respective families. Both of the young people are opposed to the match, but see no way of avoiding it, until the author finds a novel and attractive solution. The sketch is said to be replete with clever comedy, and to be handled by a capable company of players assisting Miss Shields.

Although they don't get into the big type on next week's bill at the local theater, Swain's Cockatoos are a recognized feature act on the Orpheum circuit, and have been featured on bills in other cities. It is one of the largest and best known troupes of trained birds in present day vaudeville.

The seventh act on the bill will be presented by James Brockman, who is just opening a tour of the circuit, coming from the East, where he has been very successful this season to date.

The Orpheum motion pictures and the overture by the concert orchestra will complete the bill which will continue all week with a daily matinee.

AT THE EMPRESS

The Empress will have Gennaro and his famous Venetian Gondoliers' band commencing Sunday matinee. This organization is one of the season's musical sensations and has been featured in the East for the past year. Shortly after its arrival from Italy last year, it played an engagement in New York and was voted one of the best bands that had ever played in that city. Its performance was unique, not alone from the eccentricty of its conductor but because of the gorgeous scenic display and its unusual musical excellence. As the curtain raises, it discloses a familiar Venetian scene, such a scene as a celebrated painter has depicted on canvas under the title, "A Night in Venice." The band then enters and renders selections from operas and the more somber works of Wagner with every spirit of true musicianship. Perfect harmony and absolute unison characterize every selection of their program, it is claimed.

The patrons of the Empress will see the 'soul kiss'—not the soul kiss of fiction, for Signor Gennaro is a very real and material maestro, who is a passionate, sometimes petulant and always emotional bandmaster. He may stop the rendition of "La Mattiche" while he caresses the snare drummer. Indeed, the embrace may continue so long that one fears the utter ruin of the selection through jealousy on the part of the other players. To get the proper tone from the flute at the precise moment, he may throw the flutist a girlish kiss, or to give the tuba player inspiration for a mellow note he is apt to supplicate on his Venetian knees and shed real tears of gratitude when the result pleases him. Gennarro declares that his flirtatious habits are not a Venetian blind. "Some critics," he says, "do not believe that my style of conducting when I am at home in Venice is the same as it is here in America. They declare my pirouetting is an idle waste of energy. I have only to answer that every musician in my band has attained prominence as a soloist on his own instrument in our beloved Italy. All are selected artists who posses the Italian love for music, and each has requested that I do not vary my methods of keeping time. These are unconventional, it is true, from the American viewpoint, but in Venice, my home, the people understand that whatever I do is the inspiration of music that stirs my soul to emotional outbursts. Because this inspiration takes a physical method of expression I am criticized, and I answer my critics by saying that it is natural. I never try to suppress an emotion. I never try to assume an unwonted dignity. Music itself is dignified enough, and if it has not better purpose than to make people sit stock still it has failed on its mission entirely. That it cannot move the hearer either to tears of joy or sorrow, to laughter or to physical activity, then for me, at least and, in fact, for every Italian, it is hollow mockery."

As a special feature for the week, Mann and Franks will present travesty, "From the Sumblime to the Ridiculous." It is claimed to be a decidedly amusing and laughable, yet that he has "a wife who is not a wife nor mother" and who, by her mad indulgence has plunged him to the verge of bankruptcy. Then, and not until then, she realizes what she has been striving for. Her life has been wasted and almost too late she, too, craves the real things—children and a real home.

A pretty little auxiliary love story between the wife's sister and the husband's brother proves the assertion that the home built on the corner stone of true love and sacrifice will become the home of happiness.

Mr. Thompson has given the play a splendid production and has selected an exceptionally strong cast of players to interpret the different roles, including Doris Mitchell, Lionel Adams, Lizzie McCall, Albert Sackett, Gwendolyn Piers, Forest Orr, Alice Kelly and William Sullivan.

NEW PROGRAMS OF PHOTOPLAY

Bill for Coming Week at Odeum and Lyric Theaters.

The feature film at the Odeum theater next week will be a picture story called most opportunely "Priscilla's April Fool Joke." The hero and heroine—Paul and Priscilla—familiar to the moving picture patrons are shown in a delightful little comedy play. These two are impressed with the well worn maxim "The course of true love ne'er runs smooth."

They are participants in a lawn party, and several of the young people in a spirit of jollity scheme to interfere with their little tete-a-tete which they indulge in shortly after they arrive on the grounds. Paul is sitting with Priscilla on a bench in a secluded spot. Paul is reading to Priscilla, but she steals away to gather some flowers to surprise him with. Alice and Harry are viewing this from a distance and when Priscilla has gone Alice conceives the idea of taking her place. When Priscilla returns she finds Paul being fondled by Alice. Another lovers' quarrel ensues. Paul, innocent, tries to explain but Priscilla will not listen. However, the truth of the situation is learned and Priscilla is determined to get even, by turning the laugh on the jokers. Both Paul and Priscilla leave notes in a conspicuous place purporting to their having cast themselves into the sea, leaving their wraps on the shore to apparently verify their act. They are now impressed by another maxim "He laughs best who laughs last."

Dixie has an appeal to Northerner or Southerner and the story told in "A War Time Escape or the Romance of a Dixie Girl" is sure to thrill the Duluth patrons.

At a party Mrs. Allison announces her daughter, Millie's engagement to Jim Turner. A few days later war breaks out between the North and the South. Richard, Millie's brother, casts his lit with the Confederacy, while Millie's sweetheart, Jim Turner, believes his duty lies with the North. Three years later Richard is ordered to the Union camp to secure information. Disguised as an escaped Union prisoner he gains admission to the camp and secures important documents. The loss is discovered by the Union officers. Jim Turner in charge of a detachment is detailed to pursue the unknown spy. The next night Richard who has been wounded while running the lines seeks protection in his own home which happens to be within the field of action. Jim pursuing the fleeing Confederate recognizes Millie's brother who through the courage of the ladies of the household successfully escapes.

After the war Jim Turner returns to the South to claim Millie his sweetheart. At first she refuses to forgive him for having fought against her people but through the influence of Richard, her brother, they decide to forgive and forget.

Other features will be "Cured," and "A Man From the East." "Emmaline Lee" will be sung by George Lenz.

At the Lyric theater a humorous film, "O' You Kids," will be shown and is said to be a hilarious and most amusing picture story.

Willy and Tommy live in a little country place where the excitement which does so much to make up the life of the small boy in a large town is wanting. Consequently they have to dig up their own excitement, which they do most successfully. After harrasing the cook, on a bright cold day when the ground is covered with snow, until the poor domestic is wild with rage, they take their sleds and run to the hill. On their way they manage to get a Chinaman and a negro involved in an exciting dispute, which calls out the entire police force. Both of the policemen sees the boys at the same moment that the boys see them and there follows a fine chase ending at the bottom of the hill. The method of descent, however, is somewhat different, the boys getting down on their sleds and the officers going most of the way on their backs. The officers finally catch the boys by a clever ruse, in which a couple of enormous snowmen are used, and administer a well deserved spanking.

An acrobatic act will be shown by the Paoli Brothers and another feature will be "Where Seas Divide." The soloist, Mr. Mistachkin, will sing "Who Are You With Tonight."

AT THE HAPPY HOUR

At the Happy Hour theater, vaudeville and moving pictures will be combined in a performance said to be amusing and well worth while. The musical act will be presented by Lawrence Peterson and his company of eleven performers. There will be musical numbers and a comedy performance that promise to be highly entertaining. There will be the usual moving pictures in addition to the vaudeville act.

The musical comedy company which the management is presenting next week for the pleasure of its patrons has come directly from Portland, where Mr. Peterson and his company of eleven have had marked success. Their act is promised to be the sort that the patrons of the Happy Hour will delight in.

Miss Etta M. Free will sing "By the Hillside Alice Is Sleeping." The moving picture films will be "Sweet Memories" and "Tannhauser."

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

All the under-aged talent that could crowd itself on the stage of Wallack's yesterday morning did so, and had its picture taken, and thus was accomplished the first step looking to the Easter week matinee of "Pomander Walk" by children. Mrs. James Speyer's charity, St. Mary's Free Hospital for Children, is to benefit by this performance, and all the promising juveniles of the stage world were on hand to give affairs a decent start.

Several times the number of boys and girls who got on the stage crushed around the entrance in Thirtieth street, unable to squeeze in. Everybody wanted a part in the kid event of the theatrical year.

Willie Collier, Jr., and Miss Jean Ford, who are to play prominent parts, beat the rest of the applicants by taking the Broadway entrance. When told of their mistake, they innocently offered to retreat and make an orthodox entrance. They were allowed to stay.

Four-year-olds, applauding mothers, theatrical employment agents, a male parent or so, and a few eighteeners were features of the occasion. Johnny Hines and Willie Ward, alumni of last year's special performance of "Alias Jimmy Valentine," were on hand as interested and sophisticated spectators. Ruth Seeley, after all the parts for girls had been allotted, was the first to catch the attention of Stage Director Edgar Norton when it came to the boys' turn. "I can play boys' parts," she suggested, and she offered photographs to prove it. Pearl Egan and Sidney Melvin, who were in the previous children's matinee, were lucky again. Sidney isn't any bigger than he was last year when he and his flaxen curls figured as Blickendolfenback, and Pearl hasn't changed much either, except that she's prettier. The accepted youngsters were given their parts and told to come back when Mr. Norton wants them. They are sure of playing to a fine house. Mrs. Speyer has already disposed of $1,700 worth of seats.

So many Japanese have visited "Baby Mine" in New York as to create comment. The Japanese attorney general, who was recently in New York, saw the performance. When asked why he selected "Baby Mine" in preference to other plays, he said that the announcement of its coming production in Japan had interested him, and he was curious to see the performance. "It is the most laughable play I ever saw," he added. "Its success in Japan, presented in our own language, is assured, for the humor in it is universal."

Henry B. Harris has signed contracts with Edgar Selwyn for a new play, which will have its New York premier the latter part of September. It will have a preliminary try-out in Los Angeles, where it will be seen for one week with the local stock company. The play deals with a much-mooted Oriental question.

The first week of Rose Stahl's engagement in Charles Klein's play, "Maggie Pepper," at the Illinois theater, Chicago, was met with such liberal patronage by the public, the receipts amounting to $12,301.25, clearly indicates this popular star will be a guest of Chicago for many, many weeks to come.

The first week of September will see fourteen of Henry B. Harris' attractions opening their season, and by the first of October he will have eighteen shows bidding for popular favor. Mr. Harris' activity this coming season will be greater than ever before in the history of his career as a producing manager.

Ruth St. Denis, who is touring the West in her Hindu and Ancient Egyptian dances, while playing in Chicago recently, gave a colored bellboy at the hotel where she was stopping, an order for two seats to see her performance. The next day she interrogated the "bellhop" as to what he thought of the performance.

"Well, Miss St. Denis, I tell yer, from de way dose white folks wuz clapping der hands, I guess it mus' be all right, but your way of dancin' is sho' a long ways from a nigger's idea of shaking 'em up lively."

Jack Webster, who plays Joe Weinstein in "The Country Boy" company now running at the Walnut Street theater, Philadelphia, thinks he can go some with six-ounce gloves in the "squared circle," and at that, Jack can make it lively for anyone for a couple of rounds.

The other night after the performance he agreed to a little friendly set-to with one of the members of the company. Dudley Hawley agreed to be timekeeper. Just as they squared off, someone yelled at Webster: "Is this your watch lying here on the floor?" Jack turned around, and at that moment all the gang with a glove on their trusty rights smote Webster from his belt up. Without being unduly persuaded, the referee declared the fight a draw, and now Jack says acting is his forte.

Last week Marguerita Sylva, a prima donna who has been singing in grand opera, signed a contract to appear under the direction of A. H. Woods. Miss Sylva will next October take her place at the head of an operatic organization directed by Mr. Woods, and will be one of the early season Broadway attractions. Woods will restrict his ventures in the musical field to operas of a light texture. The first piece in which he will present Miss Sylva is "Gypsy Love," a Viennesse operetta composed by Frank Lehar, of "Merry Widow" fame. The rights of this opera have been sought by numerous Broadway producers, and Woods has been controlling it under an option dependent upon the result of his negotiations with Miss Sylva.

On last Thursday evening William Gillette celebrated his 1,500th performance of "Secret Service." Since he first produced the war drama in 1896 he has presented it in every important city of the United States and England. The play has been adapted into French, German, Italian, Russian and Danish.

Thomas A. Wise will present his new play, "An Old New Yorker," at the Brooklyn Majestic theater next week. "An Old New Yorker" is the second joint effort of Harrison Rhodes and Mr. Wise himself. Their first play, "A Gentleman From Mississippi," which was one of the few genuine hits of recent years, is still being played on the road by four companies. The old New Yorker of the play is Samuel Beekman, a descendant of the old Manhattan families, and representative of the traditions. But, broadly speaking, the play deals with the conflict between old and new ideas of doing business.

When "Chantecler" takes to the road next season Josephine Victor will act the role of the Hen Pheasant in place of May Blayney, who now plays the part. As the pheasant Miss Blayney has won honors second only to those of Maude Adams.

The Shuberts have arranged to produce the dramatization of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," a novel by John Fox, Jr. For the principal role of June they have engaged Charlotte Walker.

Joseph O'Meara, now principal of dramatic art in the College of Music of Cincinnati, has been engaged by Messrs. Oppenheimer of St. Louis for their suburban stock company for the coming summer. This is one of the best stock organizations in the country, and the only one playing stars.

When hot weather approaches Lew Fields declares he will shelve "The Hen Pecks," put on another piece at the Broadway, and then wait for the arrival of cool days before reviving his present success.

A new musical comedy is ready for the market. The name is "The Girl Habit." Charles Dickson is author of the book and the title, and Manuel Klein has composed the score.

Lawrence D'Orsay has selected a becoming title for his new vaudeville sketch. It is to be called "By Jove." The playlet is by Mark Ewan, and will be produced under the managerial direction of Lionel Hein.

Joe Weber has just acquired a new drama which he believes will prove a greater sensation than "The Climax." The piece is a serious drama in three acts, written by Dr. Landman, a rabbi of Philadelphia. Mr. Weber will hold it for production until next fall, when he will present it on a most elaborate scale. Already he has begun the task of engaging his cast. Edmund Breese is his selection for one of the most important roles. Others already under contract are Ben Johnson and Hans Robert.

Lew Fields and William Collier have entered into an arrangement whereby Mr. Collier will not go on tour at all this season, but will continue at the playhouse which bears his name up to summer weather. At the end of the run of "I'll Be Hanged If I Do," Mr. Collier will revive some of his former comedy successes. The first will be "The Dictator," by Richard Harding Davis. Mr. Collier has not appeared in "The Dictator" in New York for eight years.

Maurice Maeterlinck's fairy play, "The Blue Bird," has at last been presented on the French stage, with Mme. Maeterlinck, known professionally as Mlle. Georgette Le Blanc, in the role of Light. The play made an unqualified hit, being unanimously praised by the critics for the beauty of its verse as well as for its symbolism. It now seems that the play, the production of which was so long delayed in France, will prove fully as successful as it has in Russia and America.

Eugene Walter's latest play, "Homeward Bound," is now in rehearsal with an entirely new cast. The Shuberts, as before, control the rights. The piece will be played for a few weeks out of New York and then retired till next season. A similar plan of booking will apply to Miss Scheff's new opera.

Charles Rann Kennedy's "The Servant in the House," has been produced with instantaneous success at the Court theater of the Duchy Saxe-Meiningen. The duke of Saxe-Meiningen takes personal interest in all the plays presented at this theater, and by many is considered one of the most talented stage managers in Europe. The Kennedy drama was personally read and approved by him before its production. Its success assures its performance in Berlin.

the outset, but as the two persons most concerned are a young man and a young woman, and as their happiness depends ultimately on the solution of these events, the point of view is steadily romantic. The trail of interest is unbroken throughout the story, and though the solution seems often tantalizing near, yet it escapes until the very close. The whole tone of the story is delightful. The reader finds himself among well-bred people and in agreeable material and scenic surroundings, with now the spell of the sea and again the green stretches of a Connecticut valley before him. The people are all, without exception, interesting: Margaret Tabor, daintily called Lady; her delicate, eerie mother; her worried father; superstitious, devoted Sheila; Caruso, the revengeful sailor; Mrs. Mahl, the medium, cleverly presented as half fraud, half honest; Immanuel Paulus, the Napoleonic doctor; Reid, enigmatic and baffling. The spirit in which the authors have written is well indicated by a remark of Crosby, the hero, to Lady: "Romance and adventure do not depend on time. They only depend on people. If you are the kind of person things happen to, you can have adventures on Fifth avenue. If you aren't, you may walk all through the Arabian Nights and only feel bored and uncomfortable." Although this is not a psychic novel, it contains a description of a seance which is vivid and breathless.

Of Books and Writers.

The Sturgis & Walton Company of New York will publish shorty a volume of poems by Joel Elias Spingarn, for twelve years professor of comparative literature in Columbia university. The volume is entitled "The New Hesperides and Other Poems," and contains the best of the verse written by Mr. Spingarn during the last ten or fifteen years. Many of the poems are new, but some have already appeared in print—the long bridal hymn, "Prothalamion," attracting considerable attention when it first appeared in the Atlantic Monthly.

Announcement has just been made that a controlling interest in the Prang Educational company has been purchased by Edwin O. Grover, who has been elected its president. Mr. Grover has been for the past seven years vice president and editor of Atkinson, Mentzer & Grover. The unusual artistic and pedagogical excellence of the publications of this young house have commanded wide attention and given it an enviable position.

"The Princess of Cleves, an Historical Romance of the Court of Henry II" by Madame de la Fayette is to be reissued at once by Little, Brown & Company. The only English translation of this highly esteemed work, a pioneer in the realm of fiction—which has hitherto been obtainable, was in two volumes, issued at a much higher price. The present beautifully illustrated and printed edition, published at a moderate price, has been brought out because of a special study of the work in educational circles.

Anna Chapin Ray, the Connecticut author, is visiting in Quebec, the scene of so many of her stories. Miss Ray's latest book, however, "A Woman With a Purpose," dealing with married life, has New York city for its principal scenes.

"The Money Spider," the title of a new story of Arctic mystery and adventure by William Le Queux, whose latest novel, "The Red Room," has just been issued, is promised for early summer reading by Richard G. Badger. The scene of the book is laid at the isolated Arctic port of Vardo, and the story is said to contain more thrills to the page than any of the earlier books of this famous master of mystery.

A volume of Robert Louis Stevenson's writings called "Lay Morals and Other Papers," including "Father Damien," and a number of other essays, sketches, criticisms, etc., which are not included in the standard editions of Stevenson's works and, some of which, have never appeared in this country between book covers, will be published by Charles Scribner's Sons in the latter part of the spring season. They will appear in a style uniform with the Scribner biographical edition of Stevenson's works.

J. B. Lippincott company announces for immediate publication a work which promises to be one of the most important and interesting books of the year. It is the reminiscences of Carmen Sylva, Queen Elizabeth of Roumania, and bears the title of "From Memory's Shrine." In the preface of this remarkable book, her majesty writes: "I am about to throw open the sanctuary I have so long jealously guarded from the world—a private chapel within whose niches my memories are enshrined."

Irving Bacheller, whose new novel, "Keeping Up With Lizzie," was published recently by the Harpers, has gone to Beaufort, North Carolina. "I am invited to go sailing every day," writes Mr. Bacheller, "and about the only outdoor sport I do not like is sailing. Some of my folks in 'Keeping up With Lizzie' must be laughing up their sleeve—some of those that I made a bit uncomfortable I fear." The "folks" in the novel were uncomfortable trying to keep up with an extravagance which overtook them, of which Mr. Bacheller has taken the comedy view.

WHEAT PRICE DIFFERENCES.

One of the most persistent arguments of the opponents of Canadian reciprocity is that it would mean serious loss to the wheat raising interests of this country; that the application of the 25 cent duty caused the present prices, and that its retention is necessary to keep them up. Such a mistake is perhaps natural, since it is in line with the fallacy that has been preached to the country for years by the Republican spellbinders. But the facts in the case do not bear out the contention.

In another column on this page The Herald presents a table of wheat market figures covering trading in Minneapolis, Duluth and Winnipeg since 1907. The reader will see that in the earlier periods the difference in price in the Canadian and American cities was very slight, and that sometimes Winnipeg prices were above those on this side. Yet this 25 cent duty was imposed then and had been in force for ten or eleven years. It is clear that the tariff had not been of the slightest advantage to the farmer. It was not adding to the price of his product, for that was the same on the other side of the line.

Today conditions are the same as they were then, excepting for one instance that has not even the remotest connection with the tariff. This one difference is explained as follows by the Grand Forks Herald:

> Millers and wheat buyers generally deal in "futures." A miller, for instance, buys 10,000 bushels of wheat. He is not a wheat speculator, and he looks for his revenue to the profits on grinding and marketing, and not to an increase in the price of wheat. But he wishes to protect himself against a loss by a decline in wheat prices. For that purpose he goes to his broker and sells on the market a like amount of wheat for future delivery. He has "hedged" his purchase. It makes no difference to him then whether wheat goes up or down. He can afford to pay the highest market price for wheat, and does not need to allow himself a margin as a protection against possible loss.
> This system is in vogue in this country, and it was in vogue in Manitoba prior to 1908. But the Manitoba farmers conceived the idea that dealing in futures in this or any other manner was against their interests, and they brought suit in the courts to have the practice stopped. They were unsuccessful, but a little later the Manitoba parliament enacted legislation which put a stop to the practice.
> Now mark what followed: The Manitoba buyer could not hedge. He was obliged to carry all the risk himself, and he naturally desired to make that risk as small as possible. He began buying on a larger margin, so he could stand a few cents shrinkage without loss. And immediately the Manitoba farmer began to receive several cents less a bushel for his wheat, and he is getting the short end of that bargain yet. The price of American wheat was not affected at all, but there sprang up a difference between Winnipeg and Minneapolis prices which, with few variations, has persisted until the present time.

There is the cause of the differences in price on the two sides of the line. It is due to a difference in marketing methods, not to the "protection" the farmer is given by the tariff. When the duty was the same and other conditions just as they are now, the prices were practically identical. When the buying conditions changed, but the duty was untouched, the price variations developed. The tariff had nothing to do with it.

NEW YORK'S NEW SENATOR.

Sometimes even Tammany sees a great light. Boss Murphy must be given credit for ability to grasp the truth of a situation if that truth doesn't stay crushed to earth too long at a time. Evidently the question which the New York World has been insistently asking for several days—"Must a boss be an ass?"—can be answered in the negative, at least sometimes.

"Blue-eyed Billy" Sheehan is not the successor to United States Senator Depew, and Judge O'Gorman is. Judge O'Gorman is a Tammany man, as is Sheehan, but he is a different kind of Tammany man. His record is one that will not suffer by investigation. He has been an active worker for Tammany in the past, but it was by means of public speaking instead of by the pulling of wires and the consummation of dirty political deals. He is one of those, apparently, who chose to work with Tammany because of the power of the organization, trusting to the ability of the better element in it to keep it out of the mire, at least to some extent.

For the last ten years Justice O'Gorman has been occupied with other than political matters. His work in the state court has been creditable, and he undoubtedly could have been returned to that position on the expiration of his term. But he evidently chooses to get back into the political field, though his income will be considerably reduced by his present step.

It is a great honor to represent New York state in the United States senate, and Justice O'Gorman undoubtedly feels that this counterbalances any loss of income, while he is also the means of rescuing the party in New York state from a serious difficulty. Being a Tammany man, he was acceptable to Boss Murphy and his followers, and his clean record made him acceptable also to the insurgent faction of the Democrats.

It would have been hard to find another candidate upon whom both sides could have agreed as readily as they did upon him. At the same time, he is fitted by his personality, natural ability and training to do good work in the senate. His election, with Elihu Root as his colleague, means that the Empire state is to have two strong men of opposite political faiths in that body, a condition that is vastly more to the benefit of the state and the nation than the condition of recent years, when the New York senatorial delegation consisted of two old-time reactionaries of a single belief.

THE POSTOFFICE SHAKEUP.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has made a beginning on his long-promised reformation of the department of which he is the head. He has stood the brunt of a vast deal of criticism for apparent inaction, but now it appears that he has been working under the surface and has been learning things. The result has been the most sweeping reorganization ever known in the history of the postoffice department. The postmaster general expresses a hope and belief that the public will find material changes in the grade of postal service.

While many details of the postoffice work, both as conducted in the local offices and in the railway mail service, are deep and dark mysteries to the public at large, the results of that work, as they become apparent to the users of the mails, have not been wholly satisfactory in the last few months. There have been delays in the delivery of matter of various classes, and the criticism that has resulted from these delays has been unstinted. Occasionally there has been a local investigation, which threw the charges of bad service, in most instances, back upon the railway mail division. Then the men employed in that division began to complain, and their statements were but a little less severe in their critical character than those made by men outside the service entirely. There have been charges of incompetence, failure to perform their duties, and disregard for the welfare of the men under them, that have brought some of the chiefs of divisions into a bad light.

How far these charges and complaints were justified the public is not in position to judge. That at least some of them were not entirely unfounded is the natural deduction from the present action of the postmaster general.

But while the public at large will approve this shakeup that Postmaster General Hitchcock has effected, it will not be turned by the present reformations from the points that it has been aiming at for the last few months. No matter how many or how radical the changes made in the personnel and distribution of the employes, high and low, these alone will not bring the kind of service the public demands; and though the shifting about and general waking up of employes may help to increase efficiency and so operate to reduce the postal department's annual deficit, it cannot be expected to take up all the loss that has been recurring year after year in that service.

There is but one thing that can accomplish all that the people demand and have a right to demand of the postoffice department, and that is such a reorganization and extension of the service as will put it upon an absolute business basis. There must be the inauguration of the parcels post; the extension to general use of the postal savings bank; the application of business methods such as are being advocated by Don C. Seitz and others, by which the postoffice will seek new business, not discourage it; and there must be, not only in the railway mail service but in all the other branches too, a reorganization or shakeup or whatever else is needed to raise the ratio of efficiency from the less than 60 per cent now laid to the department to the 90 per cent or better that is to be found in most private business concerns.

But Postmaster General Hitchcock at least has made a good start. He has hit at an evil that has become very evident within the last few months. It is not too much to expect that this present step is but a beginning, and that it means the rapid improvement of the service to a point that will make it at least self-sustaining, if not the actual revenue producer it is in other countries.

A DYING PREJUDICE.

Among the things that have been emphasized by the trip of the Duluth "Potato Special" and similar work in this and other states within the last two or three years, has been the fact that an oldtime prejudice held by the farmers of the country is fast dying out. It is not so long since the farmers were sneering at the "book-farmers," as they called the scientists who were looking into agricultural matters. It was claimed that to be a farmer a man must live on a farm, do the chores before daylight, put in a hard day with long hours, undergo the necessary hardships of soil tilling as they were experienced in those times, and do without the associations and educational advantages that were believed to belong exclusively to life in the city.

Today all that is changed, or rapidly changing. The farmer recognizes that the soil, like all other things in nature, is governed by natural laws; that scientific investigation and nothing else can reveal these laws to man and enable him to take advantage of conditions that may arise and arrange his agricultural work so as to give himself the greatest benefit and yet not impoverish the soil he is working. He knows today what his predecessors did not know—that it is possible to determine the kind of crops for which soil is best fitted without the loss of time and money and effort required to test the various seeds in any given land. And he knows that the men who are making analyses of soil and of crops, and studying the relations of certain plant needs to the things the various kinds of land have to furnish is doing something that will help the farmer.

These realizations have come slowly, but surely. They will be firmly fixed in the next generation of farmers. And one of the most effective means of bringing this about has been the establishment of farm schools here and there throughout the country. There the farmer has been able to see these "new-fangled" schemes tried out on land that was exactly like his own, has been given object lessons that he could not help but understand. The result has been more intelligent cultivation of the soil, with the natural sequence of greater returns for a given amount of effort.

Other parts of our own state have had this advantage. St. Louis county has thus far had but little opportunity to share in the good results, the better cultivation of land and the richer income from cultivation. It was with a view to giving this section of the state a chance to come into its own agriculturally that the bill for a farm school in this county was introduced at the present session of the legislature. It is for the good of this county and of the state that the bill should be passed.

ANOTHER NEW YORK LESSON.

What would it not be worth to New York city to be able to find out definitely just who is responsible for the horrible features of the fire that cost the lives of nearly 150 persons the other day? There is an investigation in progress to try to find out, but there is no certainty that the investigation will bring about the identification of the person or persons responsible for the fact that the building was a death-trap, that the inmates were without means to escape the flames.

There are so many persons involved in looking after such structures. There is the building department, which is supposed to take some action regarding fire escapes; there is the fire department, which is supposed to look after the precautions taken in places where there are many people housed or employed; there is the tenement-house department, which also has work to do along that line; and there is the state labor commissioner, whose department is expected to look after protective measures. All these separate agencies are involved, and the duties of each and every one of them run criss-cross with those of the rest. Who is directly responsible, under such circumstances, when a fire disaster brings death to one or to hundreds?

"The tangle of departments should of course be straightened out to concentrate responsibility," says the New York World. That is the only solution of the problem. But the World recognizes the difficulty of accomplishing such a disentanglement, and declares that the task is one "for experts."

There is a lesson for Duluth in all this, and that is, to fix responsibility in city affairs. It is not enough to have two or three departments to look after the same thing. It is not good business, and it is impracticable economics. It means simply that loopholes are left in the responsibility of each department involved. This is not applicable alone to such affairs as this New York horror. It applies to every phase of a city's existence. It applies to public works, the care of the streets, the administration of the laws, the safeguarding of the public health, the management of the city's finances.

Concentration of responsibility can solve many, if not most, of the difficulties that confront municipalities today. It has solved those problems in Galveston, in Des Moines, in Cedar Rapids, in Topeka and in other cities that are widely known for good and efficient government. But concentration of responsibility cannot be had under our present system. We must change the system to get it. And it is such a change that the charter commission now is working on, and that will be proposed to the voters as soon as the details of its operation have been arranged.

"THOU SHALT NOT TREAT."

All hail to the apostles of the Lonely Man! They are going to and fro upon the floor of the state legislature and preaching their doctrine of the companionless drink, the solitary cigar, the guestless dinner-table, the penny's worth of chewing gum, the locked tobacco pouch and the non-borrowable match safe. They are telling of the virtue of solitude, the safety of seclusion. They are wearing the robes of self-sufficient sanctity and the shoes that defy both the wet ballot and that which brings no moisture. And their one commandment is this—"Thou shalt not treat."

And this is their creed: The man who takes a drink bought by another drinks too much; the man who smokes a cigar for which he did not pay smokes too much; the man who eats breakfast or lunch or dinner or supper at the expense of another eats too much; the man who lies in a bed for which he does not pay sleeps too much. They teach the theory that man is a weakling, that he knows not when he has had enough of anything, and the only way to save him from himself is to save him from the kindness and the affluence of his friends. They believe that no man has the strength or will to say "No." Therefore they would make it impossible for him to say "Yes."

Think of the trouble to which you would be put could these apostles of the no-treat cult have their way. When you wanted to buy your friend a drink or a cigar or a dinner or a piece of gum you would have to fix it up with him outside by giving him the change and letting him do the buying himself. When you took him to your home to be your guest you would have to present him with a bill for the entertainment. It would be such a confounded nuisance that there could be only one result—you would pass up your friends and their attentions.

You could not buy a nickel's worth of Sprigley's Yucapep and pass it around—you would have to chew it all yourself. And think how that would make your jaw's ache! You could not even treat your old-time chum to a full-power thump on the back without collecting the price of it from him in advance. Every time the chap from across the hall came in to borrow some of your tobacco you would have to refuse it unless he brought along a set of scales so you could weigh out what he took and collect the price.

Truly these doctrinaires have hit upon a great thing. Why, they wouldn't even let you put up a house for somebody else and give it to them and pay the taxes on it for a decade or so. Think what a blow that would be to your exercise of the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness!

Yet let us be gentle with them. We cannot "treat" them—well or ill. They will not endure "treat"-ment of any kind. But we can deal softly with them. We can refuse to set them up to lead pencils, tooth-picks, carfare and other things, and so show them the beauty of their belief. And we can refuse when they offer us automobile rides and ten-acre tracts and champagne and such things—refuse gently but firmly, and so keep them from unhealthful dissipation. Then they can thrive in solitude and wax fat and prosperous on the unspent increment from their princely salaries, and live to a good old age in full enjoyment of the sight of the fellowship and mutual comforts the rest of us have.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WOOD DEALER GIVES HIS SIDE OF THE CASE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In connection with my recent arrest for short measure on wood I wish to say a few words for the information of the general public, as I am satisfied that the city attorney and the municipal court are well satisfied that there was no fraud at any time.

It appears strange to me that men of good judgment before condemning a fellow man would not first consider the matter and do a little thinking for themselves. It ought to be plain to any man of good judgment that a pile of wood four feet high and four feet long, built up of ordinary four-foot wood, with bends, kinks and knots, when cut into short pieces would not repile the same as before, as the bends and kinks are all taken out by the cutting.

During my dealing with the public I have often heard it remarked that in buying a cord of sawed wood they never got the cord. Some of them buy the four-foot wood from men who are peddling it, representing themselves as farmers coming in from the country. These men who peddle it in this way get their money and are not seen or known again, whereas, if I sent out inferior wood I would be called down for it.

The city sealer of weights and measures was authorized by the court to go into my yard, pile up a half cord of four-foot wood, have it cut and repiled and see what it would measure, which he did, and his findings I presume are open to the public. On his report I was found not guilty, and I am very much pleased that this matter came up so as to set at rest this idle talk for all time.

Thanking you for space in your valuable column, I remain, respectfully yours,

J. D. O'CONNELL,
Proprietor City Wood Yard.

Duluth, April 1.

TWO STRANGE FARMS.

Harper's Weekly: Japan possesses two of the oddest farms in the world. From one there goes out each year a crop of tens of thousands of snapping turtles. This farm has solved the problem of preserving the supply of what is to the Japanese as great a delicacy as diamond-back terrapin is to some Americans.

This queer farm consists of a number of ponds. Certain of them are set apart as breeding ponds. Once a day a man goes over the shores and with little wire baskets covers up all new egg deposits. Sometimes thousands of these wire baskets are in sight at a time, marking the places where the eggs lie and preventing the turtles from scratching the earth from them.

Hatching requires from forty to sixty days, according to the weather. The young, as soon as they appear, are put in separate small ponds and are fed with finely chopped fish. They eat this during September and October, and late in October burrow in the mud for the winter, coming out in April or May. Most of them are sold in the market when they are from three to five years old, at which time they are most delicate.

The island empire also contains a pearl oyster farm. In the Bay of Ago there has been established a plantation from which a rich harvest is obtained. In May or June stones weighing from six to eight pounds are sunk in shallow water, and in August the tiny shells begin to appear on them. Here the stones remain for two months; but, since the young oysters can not stand cold, in November all rocks in less than five feet of water are removed farther out, where the temperature is more even. At the end of three years, when the shells are about two inches across, they are taken from the water, nuclei for pearls are inserted in them, and they are put back again, thirty of them to every six square feet of bottom.

They are left there four years. Then, being seven and a half years old, they are removed and searched for pearls. The harvest of artificial or "culture" pearls is very large, but, unfortunately, these are only little more than half pearls, for although large, lustrous and of fine quality, they are flat on one side. This farm has an additional source of income in the natural pearls that its oysters produce, for these are not lacking in them the usual proportion of perfect gems to be found among oysters of this variety.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Few men give as cheerfully as they receive.

No man likes to hear a woman praise another man.

How easy it is to spend the money earned by somebody else.

Ever notice what funny names the people in a strange town have?

If kisses were poisonous only a few girls would live to graduate.

If you would discover a man's sore spot, keep quiet and let him talk.

There is one woman a man can depend upon under all circumstances—his mother.

And vanity may be thinking things about yourself that other people would never think of thinking.

The hairs of a man's head may be numbered, but in after years there are a lot of the back numbers missing.

A man doesn't have to get very many highballs under his belt in order to convince himself that he is a good fellow.

Educating Singing Birds.

Knowledge: G. W. Bulman, describing the singing lesson of a yellowhammer, says: One bird, the pupil, with slightly weaker and less decided song, was answering another, which sang in a clearer and more finished style. There was no mistaking the fact that the first song came from the more accomplished songster, and it was hard to resist the conviction that the other was an imitation.

Several times the instructor gave the complete song. A very, very little bit of bread and no cheese and the pupil replied also with every note. Three times in succession the teacher gave the song without the final note, and the pupil duly replied with a song one note short.

Mr. Bulman recalls that many years ago the Hon. Daiens Barrington made some interesting experiments, upon which he concluded that the song of a bird is no more innate than language is in man. He also notes the case of the oven bird, the young of which apparently learn by imitating the parents while still in the nest. The old birds, it appears, sing a sort of duet together, and the young birds, when only partially fledged, are constantly heard in the nest, or even, practicing these duets in the intervals when the parents are absent.

On one occasion, Mr. Bulman heard a blackbird crow like a cock. He has also heard a robin imitate the song of a thrush and a skylark, and "twist the song of a chaffinchin to its own more copious melody."

Fast Express Trains in Europe.

Scientific American: Express speeds in Great Britain and on the Continent are high. In Great Britain there are eleven daily express trains making runs of from 50 to 118⅝ miles without a stop, whose average speed is from 51 to 59.2 miles an hour. The fastest and longest non-stop run is 225¾ miles from Paddington to Plymouth, made at 54.8 miles an hour. France has seven daily expresses that run from 77¾ to 147½ miles without stop at speeds of from 51.1 to 61.8 miles an hour, and there are nine French trains that run from 102 to 147¾ miles without stop at speeds of from 50.4 to 59.3 miles an hour.

Time for an Inquiry.

Ohio State Journal: It is about time for some paragrapher to inquire what has become of the old-fashioned little girl who used to undermine her maternal instincts by playing with a Teddy bear.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

The Only Hope.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: There is only one hope of reapportionment. It has been defeated by combination of selfish personal interests. It can be achieved still only by unselfish surrender of just claims as well as unjust possessions. The opponents of a just reapportionment are in the strong position of possession. Southern Minnesota wishes to keep part of its unjust preponderance in the legislature. It is for the north to consider if half a loaf be not better than no bread. The friends of reapportionment are in the weak position of asking. They must be thankful for small concessions.

Public Sentiment Will Force It.

Middle River Pioneer: The state senators of the southern part of the state have read the "handwriting on the wall," and not through patriotism, but for the good of the party, are proposing a new reapportionment bill to take effect in 1914. Whether this measure passes or not, reapportionment will be a reality by 1914, because public sentiment will force the passage of a just reapportionment bill in the next regular session of the legislature if it is finally turned down this time. And, whatever is the outcome of the belated measure now being put forward by the senators, they have earned for themselves the contempt of all fair-minded citizens.

Cares Nothing About Promises.

Monticello Times: Senator George Carpenter, although he professedly stood upon the Republican party platform when he was a candidate for reelection, voted against the reapportionment bill, although Wright county was given one senator and two representatives, the same as now. Our distinguished senator evidently does not care about the promises of his party. They are good enough to run on, but when you are elected "to hell with them."

One Credit Mark.

Albert Lea Standard: One credit mark at least for the lower house of the legislature. It unanimously adopted the Oregon plan of a popular vote for nominating United States senators.

A Conundrum.

Sauk Center Herald: Wonder what the Minnesota legislature would do without J. P. Youngdahl to tell it what to do.

Why Confine It to Saloons?

Barnesville Record-Review: The city of Tacoma has passed a law which provides for a fine and forfeiture of license as a penalty for any saloon keeper who will take money from one person to pay or treat another. The idea is not a bad one if it could be carried out, but why confine it to the saloons?

Better Luck Next Time.

Stillwater Gazette: The woman's suffrage bill was killed in the Minnesota senate yesterday by the vote of 32 to 30, much to the regret of the many women who had labored earnestly in an attempt to convince a majority of the senate that they are entitled to the same rights as the male loafers on the streets. But cheer up, girls, there is another season coming and the chances are you will have better luck next time. There are a good many who don't believe in woman suffrage who are almost persuaded.

The Judiciary and Politics.

Warren Register: Every time the legislature meets a movement is started to "take the judiciary out of politics." Substituting one method of electing our judges for another is not taking the judiciary out of politics, even though the substituted method be a better one and secure better results. Allowing partisan conventions to nominate candidates for judgeships is not an ideal method of choosing the judiciary, but it is doubtful if any of the other plans proposed would, if adopted, be found more satisfactory. The best way would be to appoint the judges, if some man or body of men could be found that could be safely trusted with such power.

Inverse Proportion.

Chisholm Independent: Fifty per cent more population, 50 per cent less representation. That is the condition of Northern Minnesota today. Those stale old demigods in the south half of the state must have learned inverse proportion to the neglect of all other education.

WHEAT PRICES COMPARED.

Below are given the Minneapolis, Duluth and Winnipeg prices for cash No. 1 northern wheat for the dates indicated. The figures, as will be seen, extend over a period of nearly four years, and it will be seen that prior to the latter part of 1908 the Winnipeg price was as high as that at either of the other cities. Comment on the facts shown appears in the editorial column:

A Shock.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: She—Did you advertise my lost poodle, Henry?

He—N-no, I didn't, my dear. Don't you think $5 reward is too much to offer?

She—No, I don't. But you needn't bother. I bought another just like him this morning for $50.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Fun of Pretending.

"Let's pretend that it is a dress," says little Miss Four Winters, when her dolly's dress is missing, and she lays her dimpled hand upon Angelina's outside wrap, compelling it to do duty for the time being as a dress. To be sure it would not deceive any scientific observer of Miss Angelina, but never mind, her little mistress is quite satisfied. Blessed be imagination, particularly childish imagination! How it leaps over difficulties and transports the one who experiences it into another realm, into all the joys of being grown up with none of the pains!

Pretending with a view to deceiving others is of course altogether reprehensible; pretending with a view to deceiving one's self concerning realities that have a vital relation to life is likely to result disastrously, as some have found out who lingered so long under the delusion that nothing ailed them and that they did not need medicine or the surgeon's knife. But pretending when nobody else is really deceived, when you yourself are not harmed, pretending with a view to easing the strain of life to throwing a romantic halo around everyday objects sober, prosaic, matter of fact people, and people—that is worth while. We who in childhood could see visions and dream dreams, but who long ago lost the magic wand that transmutes disagreeable things into something fine and fair—we are the people who need to play the game of pretending every little while.

Let's pretend that we are rich. Let's drop into the tourist agency on our way home and load ourselves up with timetables and itineraries to all parts of the world, then let us get out the maps and one or two good books of travel and fancy we are on the railroad from Cairo to the Cape, or skirting the lower stretches of the Himalayas, or climbing the Andes. What's the harm? This method avoids all the annoyance of travel and secures some of the advantages, which those who travel at a breakneck pace from point to point are likely to overlook. Let's watch the other rich people as they roll to and fro on the avenue in their equipages, just as the old bookkeeper in George William Curtis' "Prue and I" watched the lordly Amelia as she went to and from the ball and followed her in his fancy through the mazes of the waltz and through all the interesting experiences that take place within grand houses.

Let's pretend all the people we know are nice. That apparent roughness in our fellow clerk, that lack of courtesy in the man who jostled us in the car, that absorption in his own interests on the part of our fellow boarder—why these are not the real things in the people under survey, they are simply passing manifestations of a spirit which now and then invades and controls these people but which they themselves would be as glad to be rid of as we would be glad to have them. If we went through just one single day expecting people to be nice, looking for nice people, interpreting as charitably as we could, people who on the surface are not nice, what a world of difference in our own comfort it would make!

Let's pretend that this world is a good one to live in.

"That doubt and trouble, fear and pain,
And anguish, all are shadows vain,
That death itself shall not remain."

On the face of it to be sure some things are very much awry in the world, earthquakes, famine, wars, industrial strife, unrestricted child labor, twelve hours a day in the steel mills, bereavement, failures, injustices, sin, death. It requires a bold and well sustained imagination to pretend that these things are "good in the making." It requires, indeed, something beside imagination, even a brave leap of faith, but if we can somehow either through the use of imagination or of a faith or of both, come to believe that taken as a whole this is a good world with the sunshine far exceeding the shadow and the joy outweighing the pain, we shall have another thrill of hope and satisfaction in life as we are obliged to live it day after day.

For this game of pretending is not all a bluff. We are rich, nearly everyone of us, either in health or youth or friends or opporeunities of self-mastery or faith. Multitudes of our fellowmen are nice and more would be nicer if we thought them so. This is as good a world as we need to have for the development of our characters, for the obtaining of all reasonable satisfactions, for preparing for another and better world, and even this poor old diseased, sin stricken world of ours is rapidly becoming better.

THE PARSON.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Philadelphia Record: "She swept the room with a glance."

"Humph! A lot of help that was to her mother."

Houston Post: "You ought to refuse that rich man, he is too old for you."

"I am going to refuse him. He is too young for me."

"Too young?"

"Sure; he might live twenty years yet."

Philadelphia Record: "Nothing is so bad that it couldn't be worse," quoted the Wise Guy.

"Yes," agreed the Simple Mug, "we can't suffer from insomnia and nightmare at the same time."

Puck: "Seems to me we hear very little from the Society for the Suppression of Unnecessary Noises these days. I wonder what's the reason?"

"I don't know, unless it should be that they wish to demonstrate how consistent they can be."

Boston Transcript: First Lawyer—What shall we do. Each witness for our client gives a different account of the accident.

His Partner—Put them all on the stand; the jury may think he met with three or four accidents and find accordingly.

Washington Star: "Think of the loss it would mean if some of the magazines went out of business!"

"Well," replied the man with inky fingers, "I'm inclined to think I'd save a lot in postage if there were fewer periodicals to try manuscripts on."

Punch: Commander — What's his character apart from his leave-breaking?

Petty Officer—Well, sir; this man 'e goes ashore when 'e likes; 'e comes off when 'e likes; 'e uses 'orrible language when 'e's spoken to; in fact, from 'is general be'aviour 'e might be an orficer!

Chicago Daily News: The Customer (trying phonograph)—There's something wrong with these grand opera records. There's a horrible racket in each one that spoils the effect of the music.

The Demonstrator—Ah, yes. One of our latest effects. That's the conversation in the boxes. Wonderfully realistic.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Character is very creditable, but coin buys more roast beef.

All the world takes a shot, every chance it gets, at a good reputation.

Experience can teach a man most anything except how not to waste his money.

A girl whose hair curls naturally seems to be able to burn herself with the tongs as often as if it didn't.

THE LORIMER CASE

By SAVOYARD.

"He is a freeman whom the truth makes free,
And all are slaves besides."

It was some two score and five years ago, a time when it was not very respectable to be a Republican in Kentucky, that a handful of that political faith assembled in mass meeting at Franklin, Simpson county, on the southern border of the state, to organize the G. O. P. in that bailiwick. The courtroom was crowded, mostly by Democrats drawn there by curiosity, and in the throng was the Rev. Dr. Cottrell of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, who had been a chaplain in the Confederate army. Though a minister of the gospel, he was a man of infinite jest. He also had a fondness for politics. On this occasion one of Dr. Cottrell's flock, an uncompromising Union man during the war and now a Republican, was present to assist in the organization of the party so new in that community, and he called on his beloved pastor to open the proceedings with prayer. Instead of complying, his reverence bolted for the door, vociferating, "I don't want God to know I'm here!"

And if the United States senate should cut many more capers like that of Monday, when by a vote of 43 to 40 it resolved that it was no better than William Lorimer, respectable senators may come to wish that the future historian shall not find out that they were members of that body, which appears to glory in garbage for prey.

William Lorimer got a seat in the United States senate because the "interests" needed his service in that body, and he retains it for the same reason and by the same decree. That is the case in general and in particular. There is no secret about it. Everybody knows it. Scan the vote if you doubt, and doubt no longer. A great note was made of the fact that Mr. Lorimer is moral, religious, and sleeps under the roof-tree of the Y. M. C. A. But so was the Pharisee a moral man, yet the Master denounced him as clean outside and foul within. It would appear that a moral man is a curiosity in the United States senate.

Who is Lorimer? From a poor boy he rose to be boss of the second city of the Western hemisphere. He was steady, diligent, energetic, shrewd, without petty vices, full of tact, with a will of iron and ambitious for place, power and wealth. He was a born politician, and made politics his trade, entering into the game with zest, determination and enthusiasm. His adversaries were "Hinky Dink" and "Bathhouse John," and his partners were birds of the same feather. For many years he had a seat in congress, and some two years ago he appeared at the capital of the empire state of the Mississippi valley when the legislature was seeking to choose a senator in congress. He remained on the ground in constant touch with the leaders of both parties. There was scandal in the air. No city ever had as corrupt city council as that legislature. No Southern state, even in the era of Reconstruction, had a viler, or more scoundrelly lawmaking body. Corruption was open, bold, flagrant, flagitious. And this Mr. Lorimer, the most adroit, dextrous, apt, able boss, even Chicago ever had, was in that atmosphere for weeks scrutinizing the filthy game, risking the biggest stake, and yet he didn't know a thing about what was going on right under his eyes! What? Lorimer, boss of Chicago, a little Red Riding Hood in the den of those wolves in the bucolic precincts of Sangamon county? Its disgusting absurdity is only exceeded by its brazen insolence.

There was no serious investigation of the Lorimer case. True, there was a whitewashing expedition by certain grave and high-toned United States senators, but they threw away the sword of scrutiny and took hold on the shield of concealment, and yet every plain mind discovers in their report the reluctant fact, that at least four members of the Illinois legislature were bribed outright to vote for Lorimer, and that three other members corrupted them. One witness ran away, another stood mute, Lorimer was not summoned, nor did he volunteer his testimony, though an innocent man would have demanded a hearing under oath. The governor of Illinois was not called, though it was manifest that his testimony would have been valuable. There were antedated letters, jackpots, conventicles in bathrooms, conferences in St. Louis. Corruption was rampant, and one could cut it with the scissors, so flagrant it was.

Well, what was determined by the committee? That it was true there was bribery, but that no honest men was bribed, and they let it go at that. At least such is the argument of the defendant's advocates in the senate. If White and his fellow-scamps had been men of integrity it would have looked equally fair for the Honorable Lorimer, but they were corrupt and not worthy of notice. That is all I can make out of the plans for the defense from Bailey's down to and including Paynter's.

The committee treated the accusation as though it had been an indictment for murder. Every technicality was invoked just as in a murder trial, and it is not strange that Lorimer was "vindicated" when we reflect that in our country we "vindicate" 97 per cent of our murderers and let 'em go acquit. The senate, sitting in oyer and termer, did the same thing and made the jail delivery complete March 1.

It was humiliating to the senate and the country. What would have been the conduct of a high-minded man, like Roscoe Conkling of the North, or John C. Breckinridge of the South, when charged with obtaining an honor by fraud? We all know that each of them would have resigned on the instant, and so would Lorimer if he were fit to be senator. He had before him the case of the present governor of Colorado, who refused to retain for a moment his seat in congress when it was shown that there was a cloud on his title to it. But we have fallen on times when "The jingling of the guinea helps the hurt that honor feels."

There is absolutely no room to doubt that Holtzlaw was bribed to vote for Lorimer. Why did they bribe him? Because they needed him. They would bribe him for fun. This abominable set of which Leo Oneill Brown was chief were like "the Bedfords" in the British parliament of the days of Junius. They were for sale, but the buyer had to take the whole lot, and when the truth is revealed, as it will be, it will be found that Browne marketed every man Jack o' his set. The "interests" needed them and the "interests" got them.

Ten days before the vote was taken the majority in the senate adverse to Lorimer was at least a dozen. But the "interests" never despair. They planned the campaign adroitly and fought it inexorably. Lorimer spoke to the sympathetic matter of his early struggles, and with considerable effect. But that was not enough. Joseph W. Bailey was to the rescue. Now it is well understood in this town that it is a personal affront to the mighty Texan for anybody to be versed in statecraft, or on speaking terms with law, except himself. Indeed the Hon. Bailey recalls this passage from that delightful Oriental, Hajjar Babba:

"If I chose to give myself the trouble and incur the risk which Mohammed himself did, I might even now be as great a prophet as he. It would be as easy for me to cut the moon in two with my fingers as it was for him, provided I once made my hearers have confidence in me, and impudence will do that and more, if exerted in a proper manner."

When the Hon. Bailey orates, 'tis Sir Oracle talking. His speech was long deferred and the interests got in their work meanwhile. As soon as the pear was ripe Bailey brought his law, and the requisite number were "convinced." That cock had fought before, and it was triumphant in the Lorimer case.

All I could make out of Mr. Bailey's law is that a candidate, religious and rich, is not to be prejudiced by corrupt practices in his behalf when the men bribed to vote for him are scamps. The Chicago Tribune made a great mistake. It should have held its peace until it found some honest and high-toned member of the Illinois legislature corrupted to vote for Lorimer.

Mr. Bailey dropped into "tare and tret." He pierced the case of Mr. Lorimer with a spear when he agreed to subtract the bribed votes from the total; but he immediately applied the salve to cure the wound when he insisted on taking this from the grand total of those votes, which made corruption triumphant.

Let me tell you, the great speech of the Lorimer debate was that of Mr. Burton of Ohio. No intelligent, candid and unbiased mind can contemplate it and believe in the innocence of Lorimer. I shall not undertake to discuss the law, but I shall quote from Mr. Burton, who makes ducks and drakes of Mr. Bailey's figures as follows:

"Let us look at this argument from the standpoint of morality and public policy. Let us look at it in the light of the great and comprehensive principle that no man or set of men shall profit by their own wrong. Grant such a proposition as the advocates of Lorimer are contending for, and those engaging in fraud are bound to win. There is no possibility of failure. If the bribery is not detected, the seven votes are counted for Lorimer, making 108, and he is elected of course, but even if the fraud is exposed to the eyes of the world he is elected all the same. For if those seven votes are subtracted from the whole number present each one will still count for at least half a vote for Lorimer, and he will be choice of the legislature. You would have to change the quotation 'corruption wins not more than honesty,' and substitute in its place 'corruption wins yet more than honesty.' There is no law that can be found in support of any such proposition. It has no precedent except in the scheme of the cursed Iago when he set Roderigo on Cassio and said:

"'Now, whether he kill Cassio,
Or Cassio him, or each do kill the other,
Every way makes my gain.'"

And again Mr. Burton returns to the case with this crushing blow that utterly demolishes Mr. Bailey's arithmetic:

"Suppose these seven votes had been bribed to leave the hall, leaving the total number present 195. Would any one contend that such an election would be free from the taint of corruption? Let me give another illustration which shows the absurdity of such argument. Suppose some members could be bribed to vote for Mr. Lorimer, but others, who would not vote for him under any circumstances, could have been bribed to vote for Mr. Hopkins or some other candidate, and general bribery for candidates was engaged in so that Mr. Lorimer would receive a majority of what are called 'sound votes.' Under the claims set forth this could be done, and all bribed votes for whatsoever candidate cast might be excluded, establishing the most remarkable result that it might aid one candidate to bribe a legislature to vote for another candidate."

Now Mr. Burton is a Republican, and when he set about a study of the case he was strongly prepossessed favorably to Lorimer.

Mr. Bailey's speech was characterized as masterly in all the newspapers the "interests" find pliant, and the Lorimer case was dismissed with the observation that Bailey's arguments were conclusive of the issue and that the Hon. Lorimer was a thoroughly and completely vindicated man in every particular.

A layman, I know nothing about the Hon. Bailey's law, but it is no better than history, it scarce emerges above the dignity of cold sophistry. Here is some of his chimney-corner history that he adduced to explain away the fast that a battalion of Democrats voted for Lorimer:

"The senator from New York, and he was not alone in pursuing that line of argument, has spoken as if he thought the action of those Illinois Democrats was without precedent, as well as without excuse. Sir, they have forgotten the history of Illinois, because more than once a result like this has been wrought out in the legislature of that state. All over this land today they are celebrating the anniversary of Lincoln's birth, and millions are paying homage to his integrity and patriotism. Even the Southern states, against which he levied a cruel war, have buried their animosity in the years which have elapsed since then, and pay respectful deference to his memory. Yet, sir, Abraham Lincoln signalized his entrance into national politics by an episode which senators profess themselves incapable of understanding. In 1846 Lincoln was a candidate for the senate, and was supported by the Republican members of the Illinois legislature. If it is proper to call them Republican, as the Republican party was just then in its formative state. But no matter about the name of the party whose candidate he was, he was supported by all of his partisans in that legislature.

"The Democratic candidate against him was James Shields, a remarkable and a romantic character, but his election was made impossible by the refusal of five Democrats to vote for him. These five Democrats, under the leadership of John M. Palmer, who afterwards became a senator from Illinois, voted for Lyman Trumbull, and after an unsuccessful effort to elect their candidate the Democrats withdrew Shields and substituted Gov. Matteson as their candidate, and, fearing the election of Matteson, Lincoln advised his Republican friends to vote for Lyman Trumbull, a bolting Democrat, who received forty-three of the forty-five Lincoln votes in that legislature, and with them was elected a senator. Lincoln afterwards explained in a letter to the hon. E. B. Washburne that he could have held fifteen of his votes to the end of the legislative session, but that he feared the election of Matteson, and, under his own advice, his friends abandoned him to elect a candidate who avowed allegiance to another party. The same John M. Palmer who led the bolting Democrats in the Illinois legislature of 1855 was, more than thirty years afterwards, himself elected to this body by the votes of men who did not belong to the Democratic party."

Now I undertake to say that in 1855 Lyman Trumbull was no more a Democrat than Charles Sumner, or Oliver P. Morton. Trumbull, like Sumner, Martin, Boutwell, Curtin, Palmer and Grosvenor of Ohio, had been a Democrat, and he acted with that party up to the passage of the Kansas-Nebraska bill of 1854. Then he left the party, as did tens of thousands of other Democrats opposed to African slavery. In 1856, the state of Illinois, as well as in every other Northern state, the Kansas-Nebraska bill of Stephen A. Douglas was the political paramount, and as to it Abraham Lincoln and Lyman Trumbull were in precise accord. Another issue in Illinois was whether Mr. Douglas should have a colleague in the senate who agreed with him, as Shields did. The anti-Douglas men prevailed and Trumbull was elected.

I Trumbull was a Democrat in 1855, he didn't know it, as evidence what he himself wrote for the congressional directory of the Thirty-fourth congress as follows: "Elected a United States senator from Illinois as a Republican vice James Shields, Democrat."

He was twice re-elected. He stood with Fessenden, Chase, Seward, Wade, and Sumner against the Democratic side of the senate. He was a pillar of the Lincoln administration. He was the author of all the reconstruction measures enacted by the senate. Every hour he was a senator he was a Republican, unless it was the time he voted to acquit Andy Johnson in the impeachment proceedings.

Mr. Bailey also mentions the election of David Davis to the senate by Democratic votes in 1877. At that time Davis was no Republican. He was a candidate for president on the Labor ticket against Grant in 1872, and expected to get both the nominations that Greeley got. He resigned the nomination he did get to promote the candidacy of Greeley and if he voted at all in 1876 he supported Tilden.

As for his election to the senate it was a trick of the Republicans to get him off the supreme bench. Had he not been chosen senator, he, and not Bradley, would have held the balance of power in the electoral commission and Tilden and not Hayes would have been inaugurated president.

But what of it? Honest legislatures elected Trumbull and Davis to the senate, but touching the bought election of Lorimer, the country is viewing it "with an unforgiving eye and a damned disinherriting countenance," as those senators who voted for the "vindication" will find. The public conscien ceis aroused.

CHARACTER SKETCH OF "SAVOYARD"

Written By the Late Zach McGhee and Published in the American Magazine for April—Reprinted By Special Permission.

You may at first be disposed to question so strange a circumstance—wait till you know the man—but it was the massacre of St. Bartholomew that some thirty years ago left a good man, well equipped and a patriot, out of congress and made of him, instead, a famous newspaper correspondent and political essayist.

For more than twenty years delighted readers of his unique sketches of men, things and happenings on the national stage have been inquiring, "Who is Savoyard?"

Well, his name is Newman, Col. Eugene W. Newman of Kentucky, sub—Turkeyneck Bend, Cumberland river, Barren county, Kentucky—in the "Pennyrile." No, not a Confederate colonel, though a Confederate, and one who hasn't ceased firing yet. Where did he get the title of colonel? He's just a natural-born colonel.

The name "Savoyard" was evolved in some mysterious but wholly instinctive and characteristic way out of the colonel's direct descent from the historic house of Savoy. He can tell you all about the house of Savoy—the names of all its members, the sisters, the cousins, the aunts, and even down to the servants and the poor kin—"kin," mind you, not "relations;" no, never. He can tell you all about the house of York, of Lancaster, of Stuart, Orange, Plantagenet, Hanover, all about the house of Capet, the Hohenzollerns, the Carlovingian kings, and all the rest, all about their intrigues, public and private, the battles they fought, the women they courted, and how and when and where, the kind of liquor they drank and the quantity thereof, all the stories they told, all the antics they cut up, drunk or sober, the names of their servants, retainers and horses, and the details of every dog fight that has taken place on the royal premises of all the earth for 2,000 years—and then some. And whatever he tells is so, or, if it is not, he did not invent it—he read it somewhere and can cite you the page offhand. And whenever he writes an article on the monetary conference, or on the delights of gravy, on Schedule K of the tariff, on 'possum, or how to make baskets out of white oak splints in Kentucky, on Grover Cleveland of New York, or Tom Pence of North Carolina, he will put in something about some one or a dozen of these distinguished personages of old, or their dogs. To him they are not of old. He lives with them every day. And mingling with them in the always lighted halls of his memory are also all the noted characters in modern history. Not one man who has figured notably on this continent these 400 years but the colonel knows him intimately, knows the cut and color of every "weskit" he wore, knows his brand of whisky, every game he played and every yarn he spun, as well as the full details of all his public acts and utterances. To him they are not dead, not one of them, and whatever the subject the puts in some of these.

No, he isn't 140 years old. He is 65. And he has never lived long in Rome, or Paris, or London, or Scotland. He has never even been to any of these places. He never knew Napoleon Bonaparte personally, nor Henry of Navarre, nor the duke of Marlborough.

He has never traveled a grat deal anywhere. He ran country newspapers in Kentucky and in Mississippi and he doesn't mind telling you that he always ran them into the ground and bankruptcy. He doesn't mind telling you that he made a complete failure practically and that he is the poorest farmer on earth. But what he does want you to understand is that in all his numerous business failures no man ever lost a dollar on him. He's from Kentucky, you know. Don't forget that. And while for some twenty-five years he has been in Washington writing for papers throughout the country, he still lives and moves and has his being in that South to which he is eminently qualified to drink, with John Sharp Williams, the toast: "Here's to the land which still believes in Almighty God, reads Scott's novels and votes the Democratic ticket."

He believes in Almighty God, sitting upon a gilded throne with a two-edged sword in his hand, like love of old, mighty and terrible, hurling the thunderbolts, mostly of wrath. He believes in a devil, with hoofs and horns, a tail and a forked tongue, withal a pitchfork, sizzling hot. He believes in a hell, with fire unquenchable, made of great oak logs from Barren county, Kentucky, and brimstone from the molten bowels of the earth, which the same is the place where all Republicans are sure to go when they die, along with all Democrats who voted for Bryan.

As for Scott. I remarked to the colonel one day that I had seen it in print somewhere that he had read Scott's novels sixty times.

"Oh!" he exclaimed with some disgust, "where d'you see such a fool thing as that? It's ridiculous."

"But you have read them several times, haven't you?"

"Well, of course, some of them. But you may take, say, 'St. Ronan's Well.' I don't suppose I've read that but three or four times. And 'The Bride of Lammermoor.' I don't suppose I've read that many more times. Of course, now, there's a book like 'Old Mortality,' that's different. I recokn I've read that at least a hundred times. And 'Ivanhoe,' too. I've read a good many times. I know as many as a hundred and twenty times. And it is the same with some of the others. But sixty times for all of them, why, that's absurd."

For all his multitudinous, intimate and detailed historical allusions, the colonel never uses a reference book. He does not have to load up; he is already loaded.

On a certain sensational occasion in Washington—it was when the Roosevelt-Harriman correspondence first came out—a New York paper sent me an order for a rush stoy of parallel incidents in Amelcan history. It was an afternoon's job to hunt up through Congressional Record indexes and other reference books, and then with the chances for the poorest sort of success. Nobody at hand among statesmen or newspaper men had any but the vaguest notions of incidents, so I put out to find Newman.

COL. EUGENE W. NEWMAN,
Who, Under the Pen Name of "Savoyard," Has Long Been a Famous Newspaper Correspondent.

Every newspaper office in America was in a flutter over the day's sensation, and every official and every newspaper man about the national capitol was discussing it with intense interest—all except Newman. He was sitting before a grate fire in his home over on Capitol hill, all his faculties absorbed in an old, dingy, yellow-leafed book, leather-bound, but with one cover long since torn off. It was the "Letters of Lord Beaconsfield."

I told him what I wanted.

He finished his head just an instant, and then said, "Get the Congressional Record of the second session of the Thirty-fourth congress, about the month of May, I think."

I asked him for another.

"Go over to the library and get the New York Sun for the month of June, 1872."

He told me briefly what the incidents were, which I knew only by name. I found them exactly where he said they were. As I left, he of course accompanied me to the door, then turned to the enjoyment of his Beaconsfield.

And why didn't he come to congress? Oh, yes, that massacre of St. Bartholomew.

"Well, that was this way," said the colonel across the table at the Press club one night.

"I was editing a weekly paper in Columbia, Ky., and one Sunday I went to church. There was a fellow there and he preached a sermon that day on the massacre of St. Bartholomew. And of all the misinformation about history I ever heard that, I think, was the worst. He wanted to roast the Catholics, but he didn't know any more about the massacre of St. Bartholomew than my old darky Archie, and old Arch didn't know anything.

"Well, I went on up town and there was a fellow there named Gimlet Page, and if you were to go there today and meet him on the street, though you never saw him before in your life, you'd say as once, 'That's Gimlet Page.'

"Well, I told Gimlet—I wish you could see old Gimlet—I'm sure you'd know him at once. Well, I told Gimlet to go down to a place which he knew about—I gave him $2—and get me a gallon of apple brandy. He came back in a little while with the jug, and it was the best apple brandy I ever tasted in my life. Old Gimlet and I took about a half a tumbler apiece of the apple brandy. Then Old Gimlet left me and I sat down and wrote an editorial about three columns long about the massacre of St. Bartholomew, which was a scorcher for the preacher.

"Well, the foreman looked it over," he continued. "The foreman, now, he had more sense than I had. He came back into my room and said it would never do to print that and he wasn't going to set it up. I took another half a tumblerful of the apple brandy and I told him he would set it up, and that it was going into the paper, and it was going in just as I had written it, without the dotting of an 'i' or the crossing of a 't.' And it did."

"And what happened?" I asked. He had paused again.

"Well, the next morning, about two hours after the paper came out, there was a fellow there named Ed Russell. Well, he came into the office and paid up his subscription for five years in advance. And that looked mighty good. But Ed was the only Catholic in the county.

"In about another two hours every man in the town and surrounding country, it looked like, was a-coming in or a-writing, 'Stop my paper!' 'Stop my paper!' And by the end of the week there wasn't hardly a man on the subscription list but old Ed Russell."

"And what did that have to do with your going to congress?" I asked.

"Well, it was this way. Of course, the paper soon went bankrupt. I went back to Metcalf county and I ran for the state senate. You see, if I had been elected to the state senate, I'd have come right straight to congress. But they put up a fellow against me, a Campbellite preacher. And he went all over the country reading that editorial about the massacre of St. Bartholomew, and telling people that I was a Catholic and a dangerous man. I wasn't any more of a Catholic than he was, but I wrote the truth. But Old Ish—that's what we called him. His name was Ishamel Smith. Well, Old Ish would orate on the stump, 'This man is persecuting the church. He's a Catholic.' Then he would read the editorial.

"And, suh, that beat me to a frazzle."

"Were you and Ish friends after that?" I asked.

"Oh, well, not exactly friends. He sent me twenty pounds of the best tobacco I ever stuck my tooth in. But I'll never forgive him. He kept me out of congress, and I'd rather have represented the old Eleventh Kentucky district in congress than be president of the United States for life."

Now, I have no fear that the colonel will be offended at any liberty with his personality I have taken in this sketch, except in one particular. He will not mind the references to the apple brandy, or the tobacco, or to his repeated business failures; nor will he smart, though he may not smile, at the undignified way in which I have dealt with his eccentricities. It is for these as well as for his finer qualities, his high sense of honor, his loyalty, his big-hearted affection for his friends, that he is so much liked by those who know him. But I have called him a patriot. That, if he reads this, all his friends know he will resent most vehemently. So I hasten to explain that I used that word strictly in a Pickwickian sense.

THE WIFE DECIDES, by Sidney Wharton. New York: G. W. Dillingham company. $1.50.

A commonplace story, that has not even the saving quality of being well told. The author chose as his mark a "society" novel and missed the mark. The story is disconnected, illogical, inconsistent and hard to read. It deals with the marital affairs of a very light-headed woman who becomes engaged to a man who thought his wife was going to die, but the wife neglects to oblige in that respect. The heroine thereupon marries for convenience; fails to get sympathy from her husband; doesn't "get along" with her children (whom the author makes very precocious, by the way); picks up with another man; goes to Reno and gets a divorce on grounds of incompatibility; marries the man the same day she gets the decree; he kills himself because he thinks another woman with whom he had an "affair" in his youth is living, and she is left standing alone when the author mercifully brings the book to an end. One can hardly imagine a woman walking out into the corridor of the courthouse at Reno with a decree of divorce in her hand, seeing her second husband-to-be standing in the doorway, waving the decree at him gleefully and rushing into his arms and then to a justice or a minister to be married. Mr. Wharton has missed.

NEW SCHAFF-HERZOG ENCYCLOPEDIA OF RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE, VOL. IX. New York: Funk & Wagnalls company. Volume, cloth, $5; set, $60.

Anybody who has examined the previous volumes of this set, which will be completed in the next three issues, needs no assurance that the present volume is a valuable addition to contemporaneous literature dealing with religious topics. The subjects included in Volume IX range from "Petri" to "Reuchlin," and include the various phases of Presbyterianism, Protestant Episcopalians, Plymouth Brethren, Dutch Reformed church, Puritan and Puritanism, the Pope, Papacy and the Papal system, psychotherapy, philosophy of religion, prayers for the dead and numberless minor subjects. Under the heads "Resurrection of the Dead," "Predistination," "Purgatory" and "Psychic Research and the Future Life" there are discussions that cannot fail to interest any who may wish to study theories regarding the future life, and there are valuable papers on topics which are commonly understood to be a series of writing of a Biblical character, but not found in the manuscripts of either the Greek Bible or the Vulgate.

The material side of religious themes is taken up in such articles as "Prison Reform," "The Red Cross Society," "Religious Dramas" (including the Passion Play) and "Religious Corporations." There are numerous biographies, including prominent Americans, Englishmen and Germans. Topics of general interest to pastors are given considerable space in the book.

One of the articles especially notable is that on "The History of Preaching," by Edward Charles Dargan, D. D., LL. D., in which the story of the pulpit is traced from Apostolic times to the present.

The new encyclopedia is a valuable work, and every successive volume adds materially to its interesting and valuable features. It represents an outlay of some $300,000 in the collection and arrangement of material. It is edited by Samuel Macauley Jackson, D. D., LL. D., editor-in-chief, George W. Gilmore, A. M., and other associates. The volumes are large quartos of over 500 pages each.

THE THIRTEENTH MAN. By Mrs. Coulson Kernahan. New York: G. W. Dillingham company.

A rather less ordinary story, not very well told and with, apparently, no valid excuse for composition or publication. Some features of the plot are extravagant and others extremely commonplace. The characters are not particularly interesting, and the handling of the dialogue shows lack of appreciation of the essentials in story writing.

THE LADY WILADERA AND THE HERMIT EDGAR. By Louis Zalk. St. Paul: The Pioneer company.

A Duluth author is represented in another of the season's books, one however which has been published chiefly for private circulation. Louis Zalk of this city has written a little love tale of another day which he has called "The Lady Wiladera and the Hermit Edgar." The book has been privately printed by the Pioneer company of St. Paul and Mr. Zalk calls his tale of the love of a lady and a hermit a prose poem. The beauty of the Lady Wiladera was like that of the rose and roses appear in the decorations. The book is bound in soft leather and a gray green silk lines the cover. All this goes to show that much care has been taken in the garb of the love tale, and it is in itself carefully written. Those who are interested in the books of ladies of more or less genius who write of their lurid experiences, would find little of interest in the love story of the Lady Wiladera and the man who loved her. After their love has been declared, because of obsecles to their union, the Lady Wiladera says: "Alas, in honor we may not be together, and in dishonor we could never pluck the full-blown flowers of joy, or even keep untainted the precious mantle of our deathless love; so we must part."

And they do and their love only leads them to lives of wider usefulness and greater sympathy.

Quite different from the lurid heroines who clamor for present day attention.

Mr. Zalk has chosen a quaint setting for his tale of mediaeval love. Each chapter is introduced by a very short essay on love and life and things in general. Love is life and so necessarily the little chapter prefaces deal largely with that.

The author is a graduate of the Duluth high school and this book is his first effort. It is being read with much interest by many of his Duluth friends.

THE IMPRUDENCE OF PRUE. By Sophie Fisher. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill company. $1.25.

This is the sort of story you like from the title to the last word. It is sheer entertainment in fullest measure. Its heroine is a wholly delicious creature whose gayety wit, beauty and love of adventure animate every page. Prue is a compound of all the charms and graces that literary history has associated with the young lady of two centuries ago. All the essential virtues of a delightful story—interesting characters, an absorbing plot, skilled workmanship and grace of style are here. Prue, of noble birth, and at 16 a pennliess widow, entering the pages of the story at 21, captivates the reader from the moment of her first appearance. Her sweetness, her recklessness, her cleverness, of resource, her nimble tongue are unfailing. Her need for money, her unconscious yearning for love, and her incessant delight in daring episodes more than justify the title, which, indeed, might literally appear in plural, for Prue is guilty of many imprudences. It stands, however, very well, for her prime achievement, which is nothing less than secret marriage with a highwayman confined in New gate prison, whence he is to be taken for the hangman's rope within a week. The tone is always gay, sometimes thrilling. The plot steers itself clear of a hackneyed course and keeps unfailingly on toward fresh romance.

The dialogue is unusually natural, and as much of it is spoken by Prue's olever tongue, it is very diverting. Here is a real prize in light romance. The story is a fling, a lark, it is packed full of surprises, it is dainty and charming and zestful. One lays it down with a feeling of enthusiasm for its new author.

THREE WEEKS IN THE BRITISH ISLES. By John U. Higinbotham, Chicago; The Reilly & Britton Co. $1.50.

This is one of a series of delightful books that are invaluable to those about to make their first trip abroad. They are not guides, but are full of just the necessary information and pertinent suggestions—all presented in clear, readable form, beautifully illustrated. To those who cannot take the trip, these books prove a most welcome substitute. "Three Weeks in the British Isles" deals with the shops, sights and streets of London and many of the English cities and towns of interest, gives a satisfying glimpse of Edinburgh, Glasgow and other places in Scotland, and then covers many of the picturesque portions of Ireland, both in the northern and southern section of "the green isle." Mr. Higinbotham says it is the fashion to smile at the idea of seeing anything in a foreign country in a shorter time than three months. This has constructed a barrier across the road to broader culture and accomplishment of many a person. As a matter of fact, more can be seen abroad in three weeks than can be seen at home in an entire summer. Distances are shorter between noteworthy objects. The unusual grips the attention at every turn. And this conclusion is well supported by a reading of "Three Weeks in the British Isles."

THE EASIEST WAY. By Eugene Walter and Arthur Hornblow. New York: G. W. Dillingham company. $1.50.

Mr. Hornblow seems to have a penchant for turning plays into novels, and it must be admitted that he has something of a knack in that line of work. He does not make the novel a perfect piece of literature by any means. There are places where he becomes tedious through a tendency to philosophize, and where he overworks an apparent liking for descriptive writing, in which he shows all the different varieties of skill from rather below the ordinary to considerably above that class. But he manages to keep the story of the play intact, and he presents the characters with more or less distinctness, though he does not make them seem so like living persons as does the really skillful novelist. In "The Easiest Way" there is something—a style, perhaps, or it may be the atmosphere natural to a transplanted drama—that reminds one constantly of the same author's transcription of "The Lion and The Mouse."

As to the story itself, there is plenty of ground to question the reason for the transcription. The play is under the ban in several cities. The book has nothing about it to make it less objectionable than the play. Indeed, it might be that the book is less admirable than the play, for it does not give the same vividness to the tragedy of the fallen woman that is to be found in dramatic production. The play is recognized as a strong piece of work, and capable of strong presentation. The book is nothing more than a recital of the base on which the strong play rests. It might perhaps be claimed that it teaches the lesson that it is best always to be "on the square," but the vehicle of the instruction is, to say the least, of doubtful character.

If there is any reader in the country who does not know Abe and "Mawruss," he is to be pitied—for his lack of such an acquaintance—and envied—for the keen enjoyment he has in store. It is rarely that a racial character is drawn in fiction—a racial character, that is, which is given particular prominence—without giving offense to the class which it is intended to portray. Yet Mr. Glass has produced, in the firm of Potash & Perlmutter and their patrons and competitors, a group which has been hailed with delight and approval by both Anglican and Hebrew critics. These men are real characters. They stand for something. To spend a half hour with them is to get completely rid of the blues. To meet a stranger who has read them as you yourself have, is to find a new and agreeable acquaintance.

In this compilation of Mr. Glass' stories of the cloak and suit firm and its dealings, individually and collectively, are seventeen of the sketches which have proved so popular, beginning with the organization of the firm of Potash & Perlmutter and telling their principal experiences down to the time when Morris tells his partner, "We agreed that if it was a boy we'd call him Abraham Potash Perlmutter already."

FOR TRUTH AND FREEDOM. By Armistead C. Gordon. New York and Washington: The Neale Publishing company.

To the person born and bred in the Northern states, the fact that the people of the South, particularly those who lived and suffered at the time of the Civil war, can have any deep feeling regarding the conflict and its outcome never comes home. To such a one this little book is sure to prove doubly interesting, since it gives an insight into the thoughts and feelings of the men who fought for the South in those days. It arouses a respect for their opinions, for their deeply felt resentment toward the North, a respect that can do no harm to the reader, but in fact can hardly help to make him a broader-minded man.

The book is a collection of occasional poems, all dealing with the cause of the Confederacy and the men who fought for it. There is a lyric strain in them that is not often caught by the writer of verse. They are full of music and there is a depth and sincerity in them that grip the mind and heart, so even though one may not be in sympathy with the spirit in which they are written. It is easy to believe that "what we lost, e'en now they do not dream, who won." The poems may never reach national prominence. The sentiments they voice are against such an achievement. But it would be well if they could be read by every man and woman, North and South. It would accomplish wonders toward the establishment of the sympathetic understanding that alone can unite the two sections in perfect union.

SOCIETY

Easter clothes and bonnets seem to be the absorbing topic of interest these days and society has simply given itself up to arranging the spring wardrobe.

Energetic housecleaning, too, has begun and matrons are spending hours at the shops of house decorators and in drapery and furnishing departments arranging for the renovation of their homes for the summer months. Cottages on Park Point will begin to open their doors to the summer occupants this month and summer gardens will be started soon.

The two weeks remaining in the Lenten season promises very little in the social line outside of very informal afternoon teas and luncheons and informal affairs for the college students who are home for their Easter vacations. The Minnesota university students will be home the last of the week and many of them will bring guests with them.

The playground institute for the North Central states which will be held in Minneapolis Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, is attracting a good deal of interest and a number of delegates will go from Duluth to attend the meetings. The purpose of this institute is to make possible an exchange of ideas and a full discussion of the problems of playground administration.

Terrible Picture of Suffering

Clinton, Ky.—Mrs. M. C. McElroy, in a letter from Clinton, writes: "For six years, I was a sufferer from female troubles. I could not eat, and could not stand on my feet, without suffering great pain. Three of the best doctors in the state said I was in a critical condition, and going down hill. I lost hope. After using Cardui a week, I began to improve. Now I feel better than in six years." Fifty years of success, in actual practice, is positive proof that Cardui can always be relied on, for relieving female weakness and disease. Why not test it for yourself? Sold by all druggists.

LAST ROLL CALL OF THE FORTY-NINERS

Of the First Shipload of Pacific Coast Gold Seekers Only Four Survive—The Ups and Downs of One of the Survivors, General William H. Pratt in His Search for Fortune—The Preacher Who Was of this First Party to Sail Through the Golden Gate—The Patriarch of the Argonauts Is Ex-Senator Cornelius Cole, Who "Washed Dirt" at Sutter's for a Year—The Best Known Survivor Is Ex-Senator John P. Jones of Nevada—Henry Miller, Most Picturesque of Argonauts.

Written for The Herald by E. J. EDWARDS ("Holland")

(Copyright, 1911, by E. J. Edwards.)

Of the adventurous company of 450 that steamed laboriously into San Francisco bay, Feb. 28, 1849, on the unseaworthy old sidewheeler California — the first steamer to churn the waters of that noble anchorage—but four survive. This remnant of that historic party is still in California—Gen William H. Pratt in San Francisco, Dr. S. H. Willey in Berkeley, D. W. C. Thompson in Santa Rosa and Isaac Pine in Calaveras county.

It was a marvel that they landed safely. The California was a thousand-ton vessel which made occasional voyages up and down the coast from Panama, its time of departure from that port depending entirely on the chance arrival of some ship on the opposite side of the isthmus and the ability of her passengers to endure the horrors of the trans-isthmian journey. With accommodations for thirty-five first-class and fifty steerage passengers, traveling on the California could have been neither safe nor agreeable when that number was more than quintupled.

But for every member of this pioneer company, individual peril was a secondary consideration. The lure of gold drew them onward and left the question of personal safety far in the background. Fourteen of them had reached the eastern side of the isthmus almost by a miracle. Fired by Sutter's discovery of gold on his farm in the early part of the previous year, a party of ninety men prevailed on the skipper of the Orus, a ramshackle craft built for the East river and Long Island trade, to undertake the voyage from New York to Panama. This he agreed to do at the rate of $100 each, but on the day of sailing all but fourteen of the gold seekers declined to embark, preferring to lose their money rather than to take the chances.

The Orus sailed away into a sea tempestuous from the start. Off Hatteras she ran into a fearful gale and the gold seekers were forced to keep at the pumps all night. The Orus shivered and creaked and threatened to go to pieces at any moment, but the hurricane drove her forward with tremendous force. During a lull in the tempest one of the despairing landsmen at the pumps shouted to the captain: "Do you think we stand a chance of making it?"

"We'll make hell or Charleston by breakfast," returned the skipper, grimly.

Gen. Pratt First 'Forty-Niner.

The man who lived and is still living at the age of 83, to tell this tale, is Gen. William H. Pratt of San Francisco. The Orus actually made Panama and Pratt and his companions managed to cross the isthmus in time to join the waiting hundreds on the Pacific side, embarking later on the California for San Francisco. The metropolis of the west coast at that time was nothing more than a camp of canvas tents clustered about two adobe buildings.

The point of interest was Sutter's farm in the Sacramento valley, near the present capital of the state. When Gen. Pratt reached it he found a tented city of several thousand population, gold seekers of every description, who had been making their way westward ever since Sutter had made his discovery known to the world and to the great amazement and disgust of the honest Swiss rancher, had transformed his sheep range into a mining camp.

Even before Pratt spread his canvas and joined the company of tent dwellers, his commercial instinct—he is a native of East Haddam, Conn.—impelled him to open a sack of knicknacks which he had brought with him, and offer them for sale to the miners. In an hour or so he had disposed of his stock of jackknives, razors, bandana handkerchiefs, tobacco pouches, etc., at a profit of 900 per cent. This brilliant financial move staked him in his mining venture, and he proceeded to join the army of cradlers on Spanish bar, making his own rocker out of a plank for which he paid $6.

Although he struck a paying streak at the very outset of his cradling, Pratt couldn't forget the 900 per cent profit which he had derived from the sale of his little stock of merchandise; he figured that it would be a vastly more certain and congenial way of getting a fortune speedily than by washing it from the auriferous deposits for which everybody in the camp was scrambling so laboriously. So, when he had obtained a sum sufficient to warrant the enterprise—which he did in about a year—he returned to New York city, selected a stock of mining supplies and general notions, shipped part of the goods by the fast clipper Surprise around the Horn, and with the remainder started westward, via the Panama route. After obstacles enough to terrify the stoutest heart, he managed to get his goods across the isthmus in canoes and on the backs of natives, loaded them safely on the Sarah Sands and proceeded up the coast to San Francisco. There he found that his freight bill amounted to $3,000, a fact which made the 900 per cent profit seem almost too small.

By that time San Francisco had become the great supply depot for the region, and Pratt opened business at that point. For a fortnight after he opened, everything went swimmingly; trade was brisk and the profits were phenomenal. Then in the twinkling of an eye, provided that twinkle occupied something like half an hour—everything went up in smoke, involving a loss of at least $30,000. Fortunately, the portion of the stock which had gone round the Horn in the Surprise had not arrived, and Pratt borrowed $1,000 on the bills of lading for the goods en route, paying 10 per cent a month for the accommodation, and with this sum he prepared to resume business, locating this time at Big Bar. In less than a year he was operating four large stores, owned his own teams and freight wagons and was doing a business that made cradling a mere waste of time in comparison.

Bearing in mind the $6 which he had paid for a single plank in his cradling days, Pratt built a sawmill and made a mint of money out of it. In quick succession there followed a period of disastrous fires, financial reverses and a fresh start. Hotel keeping, tunnel building and banking were all made to yield profitable results and, later, Pratt manufactured firebrick and made a fortune at it. After he had passed middle age and was in possession of ample means to carry out his project on a large scale, Pratt became an orchardist and made a success of it. Finally, he went into politics, made a race for the federal senate and lost—but made friends by losing; for he might have won had he been willing to adopt the political methods then in vogue on the Pacific coast.

Gen. Pratt's later career has been marked by vicissitudes, but all the shafts of unkind fortune have failed to penetrate the splendid optimism that is his by right of temperament. His cheerful spirit has never faltered under any provocation, and to the younger generation—the descendants of the 'Forty-Niners—he will never be anything less than one of California's grand old Argonauts.

Rev. Dr. W. S. Willey, now living in retirement at Bergeley, is another member of the famous quartet. With three companions, who have passed long since over the Great Divide, Dr. Willey went to California as a missionary and arrived at Monterey just in time to act as chaplain of the California constitutional convention. A year later he went to San Francisco and established the Howard Street Presbyterian church, and was its pastor for twelve years. Then he served another decade as a member of the faculty of the College of California and filled pastorates in Santa Cruz and Benicia of ten years each, finally going into literary work in San Francisco.

Ex-Senator Cornelius Cole, Patriarch of the Argonauts.

The patriarch of the Argonauts, although he set foot on California soil a few weeks later than Gen. Pratt and his companions, is ex-Senator Cornelius Cole, now in his eighty-ninth year and still practicing law and supervising his large estate at Los Angeles. Despite his great age, this remarkable man is as energetic in the conduct of his business affairs as if he were still in the race for a livelihood instead of being one of the most prosperous Argonauts on the coast. He declares that the only way he can bring himself to a realization of his years is to recall the fact that he was seven years of age when the first railroad was built in America and that in his early life he knew men who had served under Washington. He is also the oldest living alumnus of the Wesleyan university of Middletown, Ct., as well as the senior member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity. Whenever he shows his face in a house of his fraternity he is given an ovation.

Senator Cole studied law with William H. Seward, at Auburn, N. Y., and was admitted to the bar twelve months after he left college. Secretary Seward was so favorably impressed with his student's legal ability that he asked him to remain in his office, but when the news of Sutter's find reached Auburn young Cole decided at once to join the procession of gold seekers which was faced westward. All in vain Mr. Seward tried to convince him that he was taking a fearful risk in attempting the overland route with his slender equipment; he admitted the hazard of the undertaking, but declared that the element of uncertainty made it all the more attractive.

So, with six other similarly-minded young men of Auburn, he set out on his search for the Golden Fleece. The combined resources of these seven central New York Jasons were hardly enough to provide them with the proper equipment for one, but they didn't let that worry them. Pooling their assets, they fitted up a prairie schooner with what they regarded as necessities and joined one of the caravans assembled for common portection and started on their slow trail across the continent.

Of that journey through the breadth of the American continent this octogenarian survivor will not speak unreservedly. When he is asked to tell of the intimate daily life of himself and his companions—how they ate, slept and passed the time away—he shakes his head sadly and begins immediately to talk of their meeting with Red Dog of the Pottawattamies, the warlike Sioux, the Mormon settlers in Utah or some other equally unsuggestive recollection of that painful experience.

But of all that happened after the party reached Sutter's ranch Senator Cole is always willing to speak, and there is no man living who is better qualified. He made the acquaintance of the man who found gold on his farm and published his discovery to the world before he had time to reap any benefit from it, and he recalls the fact that the unsophisticated Swiss settler regretted bitterly that he had been the innocent means of attracting to the state such another host of undesirables as had never been assembled.

"He always insisted that the discovery had been his ruination," said Senator Cole recently, "and he certainly meant what he said, for his voice would become husky and his eyes would fill with tears whenever he spoke of it. Immediately after he had reported his discovery his troubles began. Without taking the preliminary step of asking leave, the gold seekers swooped down on him like a pack of ravenous wolves and proceeded to help themselves to everything in sight. There was no law to protect him and he was powerless in their hands. They staked out claims all over his farm, even pre-empting the especially fertile patch which he had reserved for a garden. They didn't even let him have an equal chance with themselves at cradling. Whenever he attempted to do a little cradling on his own account they appropriated his working outfit, shovels, pans, cradles and all, and even stole his washings. Altogether it was a most painful experience for the poor man, and it's small wonder that he died of a broken heart."

Senator Cole "washed dirt" at Sutter's for about a year and then made up his mind that there were easier and quicker ways of making money. The gold mining epidemic had brought about much litigation and the young lawyer opened an office in a tent and kept his weather eye out for legal plums. They came his way, too, and his ability became so well known in the mining camps that he soon saw more prosperity than he had ever dreamed of. The year after his arrival California was admitted into the Union, and the young lawyer plunged headlong into the political ferment which was incident to the birth of a new commonwealth with an energy that soon made him one of the best known men on the coast. Republican in politics, he was sent to the United States house of representatives and thence made his way to the senate, his term beginning March 4, 1866.

Senator Cole was no mere figurehead in national politics in those days. He was a member of the committee on the Pacific railroad in those stirring times when Collis P. Huntington was asking favors, in the most matter of fact way, that aggregated millions, and it is to this early California senator's everlasting credit that while other more pliant and less scrupulous men reaped fortunes from this golden opportunity he never profited a dollar from these big railroad deals. As a further evidence of his political integrity, it may be stated that before he became a participant in this railroad legislation Senator Cole was the owner of a few shares of stock in the road and some of his relatives were also shareholders to a limited extent. When he was put on the committee, he sold these shares for less than $4,000. Today that stock, swollen pro rata by innumerable reissues, would be worth at least $4,000,000.

With public sentiment behind him Senator Cole practically doubled the railroad land grant and also introduced the legislation which led to the establishment of the first steamship line in the Pacific carrying the American flag. He was prominent in the negotiations leading to the purchase of Alaska and influential in the building of the first transcontinental railroad, but eventually he was beaten in his senatorial aspirations by the allied railroad interests.

"Just as well that I was beaten," chuckles the veteran argonaut. "Had I gone right on, no telling what might have happened. I might even have become a multi-millionaire."

Senator Cole's life partner, who was Miss Olive Colegrove, and whom he married in 1853, is still "the lady of his dreams," and not long ago they celebrated their 58th anniversary of the wedding at their beautiful estate of Colgrove.

Ex-Senator Jones, Best Known Living Forty-Niner.

Another veteran Argonaut, now 83 years of age, is John Percival Jones, ex-senator from Nevada. When the gold excitement broke out in California young Jones was a school boy in Cleveland, Ohio, to which city he had been brought by his parents from Hertfordshire, Eng., when he was an infant. In common with the younger generation all over the country the transplanted Englishman fell a victim to the prevailing gold fever and organized a band of youngsters of his own age to accompany him to the scene of excitement. They chartered a small schooner which had practically outlived its usefulness in the lake trade, took on a cargo of supplies and embarked for the faraway Ophir by way of the Welland canal, the St. Lawrence river, thence down the east coast and around the Horn.

Maturer minds would not have conceived such an undertaking, and no man of sound judgment would have carried it into effect. Those Cleveland lads would not have repeated the experiment for all the gold in California. It was a voyage that put all their mettle to the test, and Senator Jones declares that he has never ceased to wonder how they accomplished it. They sailed into San Francisco bay and their first experience was to have their craft condemned and broken up.

Jones prospected in various parts of the state showing auiferous deposits and finally settled in Trinity county, where he worked at mining and acted as sheriff, being called on more or less frequently to head a posse and officiate at a hanging, a fact which he admits, but does not care to discuss. He did not "strike it rich," however, until he went to Virginia City and became superintendent of the famous Crown Point mines, in which great bonanza he soon acquired a working share, in company with Billy Sharon and his companions in good fortune. Sharon became United States senator and so, also, did Jones, who was sent to Washington in 1873 and remained in the senate thirty years. Perhaps no other forty-niner has done so much for the development of the Pacific coast, and certainly no other Argonaut has exerted a wider influence in the political field. His exhaustive presentation of the silver side of the monetary question at the Brussels conference which consumed two entire days, gave him international fame.

Henry Miller, Most Picturesque of Argonauts.

The most picturesque character among the surviving Argonauts is Henry Miller, one of the largest individual land owners in California and a pioneer stock man and cattle baron. Miller came over from Germany in the early 'forties and established a meat stand in the old Washington market in New York city, but when the gold fever broke out he joined a caravan and moved westward. He did not go in for mining, but opened a meat market on a small scale in a mining camp and made it profitable from the start. It was excellent proof of his prosperity and business ability that within three years after starting he was able to pay $33,000 cash for 300 cattle, averaging 800 pounds each, disposing of them a few months later at $20 a hundred.

Encouraged by this venture, Miller bought Texas steers by the thousand at $5 a head, turned them out on the range to fatten and at the approach of the winter season put them on the market. In the beginning he depended entirely on ranges either pre-empted or rented, but as tihs practice became more difficult he began to buy land, then to be had in vast areas at a maximum price of $1.25 per acre. It is interesting to record the fact that some of this land purchased for such a trifle, made valuable by irrigation and cultivation, has been sold for $1,500 an acre.

Even after he became a millionaire Miller continued on the range with his cowboys, acting as his own superintendent and keeping a watchful oversight. Despite his foreign manner and lack of polish, he has always been a general favorite in all ranks of West coast society, and has arrived at a good old age with fewer critics than are arrayed against most men of his type. His Teutonic sense of humor, grim and unmirthful as it is, has helped him out of many a serious proposition. On one occasion, while going through Pacheco Pass, a wild and unfrequented spot in the wilderness, he was held up by a couple of Mexican bandits and robbed of all the money he happened to have about him, several hundred dollars in all. He made not the slightest resistence, but as the miscreants were making off he begged them to lend him $20. After considerable hesitation, the Mexicans acceded to his request and left him. Several months later, while walking along Market street, San Francisco, he met the two Mexicans, and, going up to them, he held out a twenty-dollar gold piece, saying, by way of explanation, "Here's the money I borroved from you in Pacheco Pass." Then he walked away unconcernedly, leaving the amazed road agents staring after him.

The Historian of the Forty-Niners.

Moses Schellenberger of San Jose is a survivor of the historic Donner Lake tragedy. A caravan composed of ninety men, women and children is attempting to scale the snow-clad Sierras which guard the Sacramento valley, was overwhelmed and shut in by a fierce winter gale accompanied by a snowfall that made further progress impossible. Before help came, forty-two of the wretched travelers had perished and the remainder were rescued with great difficulty, more dead than alive. The original party was headed by George and Tamsen Donner and the spot now bears the name of Donner Lake. Another of the survivors of this most doleful of immigration tragedies is Mary Murphy, after whom the California city of Marysville was named.

A well known 'Forty-niner who is still active in spite of his great age is John Hyde Braly, who made the journey across the continent with his father, an itinerant preacher, when he was a boy. They took the old Oregon trail and had numerous thrilling adventures. Mr. Braly became conspicuous in educational affairs and later a successful banker and at present is devoting himself exclusively to the propaganda for woman's suffrage.

Andrew B. McCreary, the San Francisco jurist, born in Tyrone, Ireland, made his first appearance on the West coast in 1845, as did Judge J. J. De Haven of the same city, a native of St. Louis. David Louderback of San Francisco, a native of Philadelphia, is another conspicuous member of the rapidly-vanishing group and ex-Congressman S. D. Woods of Stockton belongs to the narrowing circle of Argonauts. Henry F. Williams of San Francisco is also a 'Forty-Niner.

Although he missed being a 'Forty-Niner by about twenty months, Hubert Howe Bancroft, the historian of the Argonauts, should not be left out of the consideration. In 1859 Bancroft began his famous collection of far Western Americana, which has attained a present showing of 60,000 volumes, now in the library at Berkeley. In many respects this collection is unique. It contains first editions of everything of importance ever written of the country between Panama and Alaska.

Mr. Bancroft began collecting Pacific coast historical data as early as 1858, and in his quest for everything bearing on the subject has visited all the book marks and odd corners of the globe. At one time he made a tour of the old Spanish monasteries, ransacking their libraries for works on early Spanish-American history. Some years ago he was fortunate enough to secure the entire Andrade collection of 3,000 volumes. Andrade was the librarian appointed by the ill-fated Maximilian of Mexico to build up a collection of Spanish-American literary achievement that would be practically exhaustive. At the collapse of the Mexican monarchical experiment, Andarde fled with his precious treasure, carried on burro back, to Vera Cruz, and embarked on a vessel bound for Germany.

One of Mr. Bancroft's most valuable services has been the obtaining of first-hand statements from the survivors among the Argonauts. He made the journey across the continent to get a detailed account from Sutter, the discoverer of gold in California, and has preserved for future generations the authentic story of the finding of the precious metal in the mill race. He has also gone deeply into the history of the pioneers who antedated the Argonautic period, among them Michael White and John Widner, who were on the coast as early as 1828. In assembling these valuable data Mr. Bancroft has ransacked the early Spanish missions of California, searched county and municipal records, Mexican archives and every other available source of information, and it is but just that he should be given the proper credit for his herculean work.

A 'Forty-Niner Who Turned Publisher.

Henry L. Pittock, founder of the Portland Oregonian, is another man whose name deserves to come into this list. He missed by a short space the honor of being a simon pure '49-er; nevertheless, he was early in the field, allured there by the stories of the great gold strike.

His father was a printer, which trade he learned in Pittsburg, went West with an ox caravan in 1853 and landed in Oregon City, Oct. 15 of that year. He obtained work on a little weekly paper started by T. J. Dwyer, and slept in the printing office. When he started the Oregonian in Portland, he had a hard fight; there were two other papers in the little town of 3,000. His first great coup was executed when he secured exclusive news by the new overland telegraph from California.

It was three years before Mr. Pittock reached Oregon that a young boy of 11 years, Cincinnatus Heine Miller by name, was taken to Oregon by his parents. Hence, today, the "good gray poet of the Sierras," Joaquin Miller, is popularly looked upon as being a surviving 'forty-niner.

ON THIS PAGE FIND REAL ESTATE OPPORTUNITIES

GROWTH OF SPECULATIVE DEMAND PLEASES DEALERS

Speculative Spirit Is at Work—The Real Estate "Sharp" and His Victims—Greysolon Farms Experiment—Lakeside Developments—A Duluth Booster—Activity in Farm Lands.

ALTHOUGH there were no spectacular developments and few deals of more than passing importance were closed, the month of March brought forth well - defined developments in the real estate market. Of course that is natural through the approach of spring, which always brings an increase in real estate activity, but in view of the fact that the outlook at the beginning of March was exceedingly gloomy, the outlook just now is exceedingly bright.

The development which most appeals to real estate is that which shows a well-defined speculative spirit among Duluth people. Last year the unusually brisk market was due almost entirely to purchasing for use. Hundreds of lots were sold in the city and almost every sale was for actual use by the purchaser. The only speculative activity was in acreage and the investment market was almost dead.

This year the speculative spirit is at work and the sales of residence lots will be greater than ever. Steel plan lots hold well a year ago, but not nearly so well as many of the dealers expected. The speculative fever had not yet taken hold. One steel plant addition was put on the market this year and the demand for the lots was surprising. Other dealers having steel plant lots found the same demand. The demand is speculative and is a reflection of the spirit which is among the public.

IN THIS connection the warnings against boom indications are being issued. It seems almost useless to warn people that they should know with whom they are dealing and what they are dealing in before they close any deals. Any person with regard for his money will do that. But some people have a strange disregard for their money and they need protective advice. On them the real estate "sharp" flourishes.

The real estate "sharp" has no friends among the honest business men. The real estate exchange will gladly give information to outside speculators in Duluth real estate. Real estate men are anxious to protect their market from inflated values and leaky balloons. The Commercial club will give information to those seeking it, or will obtain the information for them. Everybody who has the interests of Duluth at heart will do what he can to prevent false values and worthless offerings finding a way into the active real estate market that is developing in Duluth and the man who comes forth with a proposition that cannot stand the light of day will get no sympathy from anybody.

THE Greysolon Farms company hasn't any copyright on the acre-garden," said C. P. Craig this week. Therein he said something and he followed it up with an invitation to other people with money, a desire to help Duluth attain the growth and prosperity it should have and a knowledge of modern business methods to go into the acre-garden business on the lines laid out by the Greysolon Farms company.

After all that has been said and written since the Greysolon Farms company was organized, since George H. Maxwell came to Duluth and since Mr. Maxwell left, nobody who has familiarized himself with the project at all can doubt that the acre-garden in manifold on the hills above Duluth is the solution of the high cost of living problem and other industrial problems which face Duluth as well as many other cities throughout the country.

The Greysolon Farms is an experiment—nothing more. The men who make up the company have advanced their money and their concerted effort. They naturally want to get their money out of it again with a fair rate of interest. That is business. But there is more than the mere business of dollars and cents in the desire. There is the knowledge that if the Greysolon Farms should not return to the promoters their capital and a fair rate of interest, the acre-garden plan would be given an almost irremediable set-back in Duluth.

As Mr. Maxwell said, you can't put a man totally ignorant of agriculture out on a wild piece of land and tell him to go to it. You've got to give him an acre cleared and plowed and he must have intelligent instruction and demonstration afterwards if he is to be a success. That not only demands the attention of men who are experts in agricultural lines, but it demands the capital of men who will advance their money to obtain the land, clear it, plow it, set aside land for a demonstration plot and solve the transportation problems which the suburban gardening community always has with it.

If the Greysolon Farms is a success financially for the promoters as well as agriculturally, industrially and sociologically, men of capital will realize that the acre-garden plan is not a philanthropic proposition, but something to demand the attention of hard-headed business men. When men of capital come to realize that fact, the placing of several thousand families on acre-gardens in the vicinity of Duluth will be merely a matter of time and detail. Men of money are always willing to go into a proposition from which they can see a dollar of capital and a fair interest coming for every dollar they put in.

LAST year 150 homes were erected in Lakeside. Ten years ago Lakeside had a population of about 500 people. Today it has a population of approximately 5,000. In the last two years the growth of the suburb has been simply marvelous, and the enthusiasts say the growth has just begun.

The Lakeside Land company has laid plans for extensive improvements this year. Last year sewer and water mains were laid in Glenwood, Juniata and Wyoming streets, between Fifty-fourth and Sixtieth avenues east. This year the streets will be paved, probably with tarcon; concrete curbs and gutters will be constructed; concrete sidewalks will be laid; the space between the walks and the curbs will be parked, trees will be planted, and the three streets, as far as street improvements alone go, will be as fine as any residence streets in the city.

Arrangements have already been made for the erection of twelve to fifteen houses on the three streets this year, and the number will probably be increased before the season fairly opens. In all, about $60,000 will be spent by the company, the population of Lakeside will be materially increased and three streets of the suburb will be made attractive to other Duluth people.

The Lakeside Land company has carried on a systematic campaign for years, and the campaign has been successful. The company could really do nothing without the natural advantages of location possessed by the suburb, but the company has placed those advantages before Duluth people, with the result that the increase in population of Lakeside—speaking of Lakeside and Lester Park as one—has been greater each succeeding year, and this year promises to surpass all others.

C. E. HENDERSON of Maryland, owner of the southwest corner of Fifth avenue west and Superior street and of a number of other pieces of Duluth property, was in Duluth this week looking over his holdings. Mr. Henderson purchased four low-priced lots in the residence district of West Duluth, but otherwise he confined his attention here to the property to which he already holds title.

Mr. Henderson is a constant and consistent booster for Duluth. He expressed himself as perfectly satisfied with his investments here, and firmly convinced that Duluth is only in the beginning of its growth.

THE farm land business in this section of the country is reported to be unusually brisk this year. Farmers from Illinois, Iowa and other states of the Middle West in which the country is settled and the attractions of clearing the soil and preparing it for culture do not exist, are looking toward Northern Minnesota for new fields. They can get good prices for their developed farms, and are willing to put their experience and agricultural knowledge to use in developing a new country in which the returns for conscientious effort are great.

On account of the forest fires of the past few years and the fact that much timber had to be removed in order that it might be saved after the trees had been swept by flame, a great deal of cutover land is available, and the farm land dealers are making redoubled efforts to sell it. They are meeting with success in their efforts. The forest fire bugaboo always exists, but it is not menacing enough to scare out the determined settler, and with extra precautions being taken to prevent a recurrence of the conflagrations of the past few years, a greater rush to the rich new land of this section of the country is expected to develop.

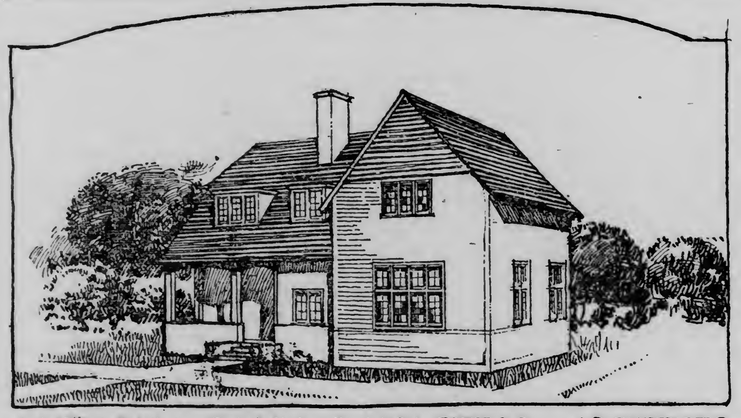
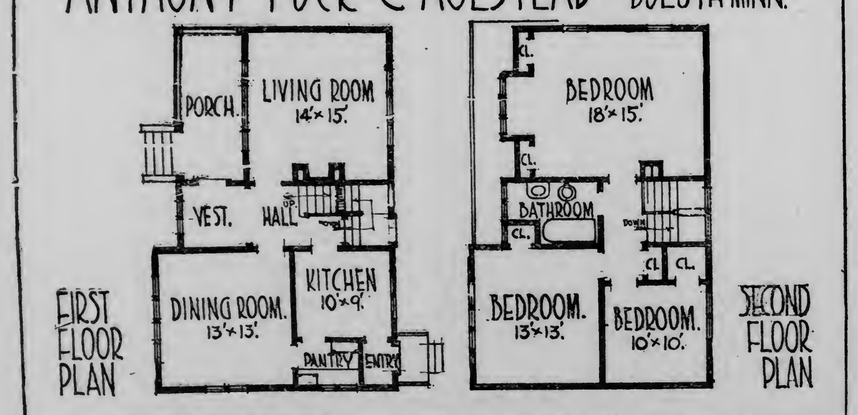
ARE YOU PLANNING TO BUILD? HERE IS A HOME COSTING $3,200 IN DULUTH



ANTHONY PUCK & HOLSTEAD ARCHITECTS DULUTH MINN.



The above illustration suggests a very simple and practical solution for a six-room, story-and-a-half house problem on a north side of the street location.

The plans show the main entrance from a large porch into a nice vestibule, then into the hall from which open at the living room, dining room, kitchen and basement stairway, all arranged in the most convenient manner, with easy communication and separate entrances to each. The basement stairway has a door at the grade level. The kitchen is well placed and with pantry and back entry for icebox, finishes a very complete and convenient first floor. The second floor has three fine bedrooms with good closet accommodation, linen closet and nice bathroom, compactly and conveniently laid out.

The living room, dining room and hall would be finished in stained oak, the kitchen and pantry in birch and the bedrooms in white enamel, all with maple floors. The exterior finish would be siding with shingles in the gables and on the roof.

With concrete basement and complete with heating and plumbing, the cost of such a house would be about $3,200 in Duluth or vicinity.

TRANSFERS OF THE WEEK

Sales of Improved Property and Residence Sites Recorded.

J. D. Howard Retires From Business After Many Years.

Although there were no big deals closed, the week was an unusually active one in the way of transfers of improved property and high-priced residence sites. The season is not yet far enough advanced for a great deal of activity in the new suburbs so that most of the transfers recorded this week were in the central and old established divisions of the city.

April promises to be an active month in preparation for an aggressive campaign by the people who are putting suburban tracts on the market. A number of tracts are being platted into residence lots and home acres and the dealers will probably be ready to put them on the market this month.

BUSY SEASON IN PROSPECT

Little New Building Coming Out, But Architects Are Busy.

Contract for Wolvin Building Addition to Be Let Soon.

The principal building development of the past week was the letting of the contract for the new Rust-Parker-Martin wholesale house on Lake avenue to McLeod & Smith. The piling has already been driven for the building and work on the structure will begin as soon as the material can be assembled. W. A. Hunt is the architect.

The contract for the two additional stories to be built on the Wolvin building will be let next Thursday. The building is owned by the State Mutual Assurance Company of Massachusetts and W. A. Hunt is the architect.

Although little new work came out during the week, the architects are busy and the season promises to be an active one, especially in residence building.

J. J. Wangenstein has prepared plans for a duplex brick building for William A. Cant on the upper side of East Fifth street between Second and Third avenues east. A frame residence at the same place will be remodeled into a two-family flat building.

Mr. Wangenstein is also preparing plans for a $15,000 residence to be built for J. J. Moe in the West end.

Mr. Wangenstein has filed the plans for the addition to the Grand Rapids high school at the Builders' exchange. The addition will have ten class rooms and an assembly hall.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

THE TORRENS TITLE AND WHAT IT MEANS TO BUYERS

Although the Torrens title law has been in effect in Minnesota for a number of years, the number of people who know nothing of the operations and effect of the law is great.

Any man dealing in real estate to any extent should know what the Torrens law is and the value of a Torrens title. On request of The Herald, J. J. Robinson, a local attorney, has prepared the following statement of the law:

"Land titles in this and a few other states are dealt with under two systems. One is the existing system, known as registration of deeds. The other is the new or Torrens system, known as registration of titles. The new system takes its name from Sir Robert Torrens, who was the first to work out the system of registration of titles into practical form. The first successful registration of title act was framed by him for South Australia in 1858.

"The system of registration of deeds is more or less familiar to all of us who have had dealings in real estate. When a person purchases property he gets a deed, which he files for record with the register of deeds. The register copies the deed into public books and returns the original deed to the owner. By this record the world is informed that the purchaser holds a deed to certain described property—not the title, but a deed. The title still depends upon the validity of every transfer from the patent by the government to the last conveyance.

"To make reasonably certain that all transfers in the chain of title from the government down are valid, certain steps are usually followed by a purchaser before accepting the deed. He first obtains an abstract of title which contains a synopsis of every recorded transfer and judicial proceeding affecting the title to the land in question. This abstract is then given to an attorney, who examines every transfer and proceeding, using the abstract as an index, and gives his opinion on the title as it appears of record. If the opinion is favorable, the purchaser accepts the deed. These steps are very necessary, for in a chain of title no part is stronger than its weakest link.

"The evident purposes of the above steps are to appraise the proposed purchaser of the condition of the title, to point out to him all errors of record and all liens and incumbrances on the property. If every instrument affecting the title to the property were recorded and contained all necessary facts the purchaser would be reasonably secure because his counsel examines every transfer indicated in the abstract and would ordinarily notice serious defects. But it can be readily seen that serious and fatal defects in the title might arise from facts that usually do not appear from the records, as for instance, where a deed has not been recorded, or where a forged deed has been recorded, or where the vendor purchased the property from an insane person or from a minor without the consent of his guardian or from a married woman who is unable to convey without her husband joining in the deed. Errors might also arise in the making of the abstract and in the opinion of the buyer's attorney. As against many such errors the purchaser assumes the risk and buys at his peril. He is in constant fear of possible litigation over his title and may in certain cases suffer eviction.

"To meet this insecurity of the purchaser and the involved proceedure necessary in every real estate transaction the Torrens system of registering title was devised. The main objects were to secure the purchaser and to simplify the proceedure attending a transfer of property.

"It should be noted that the new system registeres the title to property instead of the deed. At the end of the registration proceedings a decree of registration is issued by the court which definitely establishes the title and which title can not be defeated after the expiration of six month (in Minnesota), from the date of the decree unless the registration was obtained by fraud. By fraud is here meant the failure to legally notify every defendant that an application to register title has been filed. Pursuant to the decree of registration, the registrar of titles issues a Torrens certificate in duplicate. The registered owner—and only the owner can register the title—takes the duplicate; the original certificate of title is kept by the registrar in a public book called register of titles. These certificates show at all times who is the owner of the property and all charges and liens thereon. Thus the title is examined once for all and the world is informed that a certain person holds title to certain described property.

"The procedure attending a transfer of registered property is naturally more simple and quite different from that of unregistered property. Every transfer of registered property that does not divest the title in fee simple, as a mortgage, is entered by the registrar on both the original and duplicate certificates in the margin reserved therefor below the word 'memorial.' In case the transfer divests the title in fee simple, as a warranty deed, the duplicate certificate is surrendered to the registrar, who cancels it, together with the original. He thereupon issues a new Torrens certificate in duplicate as before in the name of the purchaser and in like manner gives the duplicate to the new owner and keeps the original in his book. The new certificates also show at all times who the owner is and all charges and liens upon the property. The necessary steps therefore, are, to examine both the original and duplicate certificates in order to ascertain the exact status of the title, to file the deed or mortgage with the registrar accompanied by the duplicate certificate and to obtain from the registrar either a new duplicate certificate or the old one with the entry of the last transfer thereon, according to the character of the conveyance. Upon taking these steps the purchaser steps into the shoes of his vendor without the further procedure of examining the chain of title from the government down, which is necessary under the old system.

"As has been stated the main objects sought by the Torrens system were security and simplicity. From what has been said it must be evident that both these were accomplished. The Torrens system renders the purchaser more secure by having the court examine and establish the title once for all and by giving an official guarantee against loss resulting from mistakes of the registrar and other officers. It simplifies dealings in real estate by eliminating the need for an examination of the history of the title and by showing the condition of the title on the face of the certificate."

UPHEAVAL IN R. M. SERVICE

Postmaster General Makes Changes in Most Important Offices.

Washington, April 1.—Drastic action was taken last night by Postmaster General Hitchcock in effecting a reorganization of the railway mail service. A round dozen of changes of the most important officers in the service were made by Mr. Hitchcock as a result of a long and careful investigation and thorough consideration.

Theodore Ingalls of Kentucky, superintendent of the division of rural mails, was appointed general superintendent of the railway mail service at $4,000 a year, in succession to Alexander Grant, who was transferred to St. Paul as a division superintendent. Norman Perkins, division superintendent at St. Paul, becomes superintendent of the Washington division, succeeding Charles W. Vickery, who is appointed chief clerk of the Cincinnati division vice A. J. Balt, reduced to railway postal clerk.

Clyde M. Reed, division superintendent at Cleveland, was appointed superintendent of the Cincinnati division to succeed Charles Rager, who was demoted and appointed chief clerk of the Atlanta division in place of John B. Blodgett, removed.

John C. Koons, postoffice inspector in the Washington division, was appointed railway mail superintendent in charge of the Cleveland division.

George G. Thompson, formerly superintendent, division of supplies postoffice department, and now inspector-in-charge at Austin, Tex., was appointed superintendent of the division of rural mails in succession to Mr. Ingalls.

Charles B. Anderson, inspector in charge at St. Louis, will succeed Mr. Thompson as inspector in charge at Austin, and Inspector George Daniel of the New York division, was appointed inspector in charge at St. Louis.

The affairs of the railway mail service were overhauled thoroughly by Mr. Hitchcock personally and the outcome is the most sweeping change ever made in the history of the railway mail service.

While signing the necessary orders for the changes, Mr. Hitchcock said:

Reason for Changes.

"The investigations which we conducted so long and so carefully indicated clearly that the action which I have taken was absolutely necessary. The railway mail service has suffered greatly from poor management and lack of supervision. In certain of the divisions it was found that the chief clerks had not been inspecting their lines as was their duty.

"Some of the routes had received no inspection for several years. It was found also that in many instances these officers were giving little or no attention to the sanitary conditions of the railway mail cars, thus disregarding the health and comfort of the employes under them. The inquiry showed that the business methods of the service in several offices were antiquated and that, as a consequence, there was much duplication of work.

"Instructions from the department directing improvements, as for example the proper consolidation of mail matter and the conservation of equipment, received only perfunctory attention. There has been a lack of co-operation also in carrying into effect certain reforms which I had indicated, and it was made evident by the inquiry that no proper spirit of co-ordination with the department existed in the railway mail service.

"The changes which I have made in the management will tend, in my judgment, toward the accomplishment in a satisfactory way of the reforms in methods and practices which we have instituted throughout the postal service."

Changes Effective April 1.

The changes will become effective today. The necessary transfers will be made as rapidly as possible.

Theodore Ingalls, the new general superintendent of the railway mail service is regarded as a highly trained postal official. He is entirely familiar with the railway mail system, having begun his postal work in that service and passed through its several grades. Subsequently he was superintendent of mails in the Louisville postoffice, postoffice inspector in the field, chief clerk of the division of inspection and acting chief postoffice inspector before becoming superintendent of rural mails.

Alexander Grant is one of the most widely known postoffice officials in the service. He has been general superintendent for several years and has served most of his official life in the railway mail service.

Inspector John C. Koons, who will become superintendent at Cleveland, was trained in the railway mail service.

Clyde M. Reed, who goes from Cleveland to take chaarge of the division at Cincinnati, is regarded as one of the most efficient experts in the service and he was selected on account of notably effective work recently done in the Cleveland division.

AN ECLIPSE OF THE SUN

There will be a total eclipse of the sun April 28, visible as a partial eclipse throughout the greater part of the United States and down to Panama, over the Middle Pacific ocean, and Eastern Australia. The path of totality lies wholly in the ocean, passing over some groups of islands. Duluth will be close to the northern limit of visibility of the partial eclipse, and a little entering of the dark moon on the southern limit of the sun may be detected about three-quarters of an hour before sunset.

The above information is given out by Prof. G. E. Comstock of the Washburn observatory. Other data supplied by the observatory is to the effect that Mercury, Venus and Saturn will all be to the West in the evening sky during the early and middle part of the month, while the brilliant Jupiter will be seen rising later over the southeastern horizon, followed in the early morning by Mars.

Mercury will be in conjunction with Saturn April 10, and will pass by on the north side of that planet at an angular distance nearly equal to that between the Pointers in Great Dipper. On April 14, Mercury reaches greatest elongation east and for about two weeks in the middle of the month the plant will be favorably situated for observation. Venus is increasing in brilliancy as the evening star and hangs long over the northwest horizon as it approaches setting. Saturn sets now in the middle of the evening and will be overtaken by the sun and disappear in its light before the close of the month.

The time of the moon's phases are:
First quarter, April 5, at 11:55 p. m.
Full moon, April 13, at 8:37 a. m.
Last quarter, April 21, at 12:36 p. m.
New moon, April 28, at 4:25 p. m.

The principal fixed stars visible during the month in the evening hours are as follows: To the West—Capella, Aldebaran, Sirius, Procyon, Castor and Polly and the bright stars of the constellation Orion. Near the meridian—Regulus. To the East—Spica and Arcturus.

ERRICONE NOT SO CONVINCING

Viterbo, Italy, April 1.—Under cross-examination today Enrico Alfano, better known as Erricone, appeared to lesser advantage than he did under direct interrogation yesterday, when his vehement denials that he was either "the head or the tail of the Camorra," or had guilty knowledge of the deaths of Gennaro Cuoccolo and his wife, fairly stampeded the audience. He defended skillfully, but was not so convincing.

"If you were innocent," asked President Bianchi, "why did you flee to the United States? You did not take your flight when, immediately after the crime, you were accused. In fact, you delayed and were arrested. But following your release, you fled when Abbatemaggio's revelations began, and in doing so you showed that you felt that the informer spoke the truth."

"I fled," answered Alfano, "because for the second time I was experiencing an attack of intestinal trouble, and I feared that it would be aggravated by confinement if I was held in prison for some years preceding my trial. Of my ultimate vindication I had no doubt."

"And what of the Camorra today?" pursued the president.

"It no longer exists."

"That assertion," retorted the president, "is explainable when it is recalled that a rule of the society obliges Camorrists to deny to the authorities their affiliation with the Camorra, this repudiation of their position not implying cowardice in the eyes of the Camorra."

Meadowlands, Minn., Nov. 21st, 1910.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of November 18th requesting a statement of produce raised this year has been received.

Most of the land I had in potatoes had brush growing on it eight months ago, and yet they brought me $70 an acre clear of the freight. I had three-fourths of an acre of onions. Part of it had a light coat of manure last year, but most of it was just as nature had left it. I realized at the rate of $200 an acre net out of them.

I got an average of 85c for potatoes and $1.00 for onions in North Dakota. The onions sold in Duluth and Hibbing brought an average of $1.60 per hundred weight net.

I have never seen a soil that will raise potatoes and all kinds of garden truck any better than the soil will here. It may sometimes be a little disappointing the first year after it is broken up, but experience has been it is easier to work and raise better crops every year I have worked it. Yours truly,

J. W. REISINGER.

LONGS THROW OVER WHEAT

Liquidation Continues—Crop Reports Bearish—No Cash Demand.

Foreigners Are Re-Sellers—Northwest May Get More Moisture.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 1.—Wheat sagged today. May lost ¼c and July declined a similar distance. Cash wheat was dull and was on a parity with May. Oats lost ⅛c, rye and barley were unchanged and durum declined ⅛c.

Flaxseed was dull and lifeless. Values were unchanged. February-March delivery at Antwerp for La Plata seed was quoted at $2.08.

Cables came higher on account of decreased liquidation and a disposition on the part of shorts to cover. World's shipments are expected to be small compared with last week. Australian offers were firmer. Re-sellers offered wheat at Liverpool at 2c under the cost of shipping from this side. The tendency of the foreign markets seems to be downward. While spot is steady the futures display considerable weakness.

The crop report of Oklahoma showed a considerable improvement over last month advancing from 49 to 54.6 per cent of normal. A report from that state showed that the green bug damage has been confined to one county and that the pest is under control. The state sent out messages saying rain is needed. Western Kansas continued to send bullish reports but they were without effect on account of the bearish condition of the state a sa whole. Logan & Bryan's Kansas City representative gave out a tentative estimate of 90,000,000 bu for the state.

The government predicts rain or snow for the greater part of the three Northwestern wheat states. Rain is predicted for Eastern Kansas and Nebraska.

Although receipts in the Northwest continue small primary receipts as a whole showed an increase. The cash demand is dead although Minneapolis reported a disposition on the part of millers to pay ½c over May for choice spring wheat.

Shipments Heavy.

Weekly shipments keep up above expectations, but the port stocks outside of the French are by no means oppressive. In thirty-one weeks since Aug. 1 the world's shipments have amounted to 400,568,000 bushels, equal to 12,920,000 per week, or 672 millions per annum.

These figures, the English authority says, are immense compared with all previous records, but they are reliable, the only problem existing is that of reason of a demand so large as to have called such immense shipments into existence and to have cared for them after their appearance.

One feature in the weight situation in this country that is different from recent years is the more general distribution of supplies instead of their being concentrated at two or three or four leading points as in the past few years.

Wheat farm reserves in Minnesota and the Dakotas March 1 were 50¾ millions against 59½ millions last year, and 42 millions past ten years March average. Allowing 20 millions for seed, there would be left available for market and carry-over reserves 30¾ millions against 39½ millions last year.

Minneapolis and Duluth stocks March 1 were 20 millions against 12 millions a year ago, which added respectively to farm supplies would make respective totals of 50¾ millions and 51½ millions, or practically the same total in both years.

The only difference of moment is that this year there are 8 millions more in the visible and about that much less in the visible, or farm reserves, than last year, and this present distribution naturally has greater bearish market effect.

THE FLOUR SITUATION.

On the whole the flour trade is dull and unsatisfactory with nothing in sight to indicate that material improvement is near at hand. Mills are having no export business and domestic buyers, in most instances, have sufficient flour on hand to carry them along, many of them having bought heavily early in the season before the decline in prices. They refuse to take on more until they have worked off their costly purchases.

Much interest is forced on this phase of the situation because of the difficulty in unloading and the efforts that are necessary to save as much loss as possible. Fault is being found with the quality of some flour now coming in and all sorts of expedients are being devised to get rid of this flour to the best advantage and to find excuses for repudiating contracts for supplies made some time ago but delivery on which has not been taken.

The quicker these old contracts are cleaned up the better it will be for everybody in the trade or connected with it. They not only check the placing of new business but cause unwillingness on the part of buyers to give shipping directions on flour due them from the mills. So annoying has the latter feature been during the last few months that, coupled with the general difficulties experienced in making fresh sales, it is cause for merchants to deplore the custom of buying ahead as practiced by some operators. They think it would be beneficial if traders were prohibited by law from buying further ahead than thirty days.

Nobody in the trade is friendly to flour, notwithstanding its cheapness and the fact that it is relatively tne cheapest of all popular food products. Neither distributors nor bakers want to buy it for future delivery. They order just as little for prompt shipment as they are obliged to have. An occasional order for a carload is booked, but millers' representatives say that the volume of such business is small and is not what it should be at this period of the year.

The only future business received is when a buyer orders out a carload of high-cost flour and places an order at a low price to even things up. There is a disposition to keep stocks going by purchasing modestly at current prices, it being figured that if the market advances some profit will be made that will, partially at least, make up for the losses now being sustained.

There is nothing in the price situation to encourage buying. On the contrary there is some hope of lower prices in the event that crop conditions average fairly well in the next few weeks. The winter wheat outlook is generally favorable and suggests a larger crop in the aggregate than was produced last year. It is probable that there may be setbacks between now and harvest time. Any deterioration, no matter how slight, will cause prices of wheat and flour to advance.

In the meanwhile liquidation is under way and the pressure to sell is great. Domestic stocks both in the United States and Canada are proving more than ample for supplying the needs of millers. Exporting countries are giving evidence of their ability to meet the demands of importers at lower prices than can be quoted from this side. There is a probability, unless a change takes place, that a surplus of at least 100,000,000 bu will be carried over at the end of this crop year. It it not unlikely that this surplus will reach 125,000,000 bu. Supplies in the two leading primary markets in the Northwest will more than suffice to pull millers through the season although the next spring wheat crop is five months of more distant.

Aside from the possibility of crop damage, another factor that must be reckoned with in fixing the future cost of flour is the millfeed situation. Feeds are now selling at prices that cannot be sustained long after growing weather sets in. As soon as feeds decline flour must advance unless there is an equivalent reduction in the price of wheat.

Considering all features, $5 per barrel is a low price to pay for good spring wheat patent. At that price it can be bought from several mills and the outside quotation for the popular trade brands made by Northwestern mills is $5.50. Several of the latter openly quote $5.40 and it is believed that a bid of $5.25 would be quickly accepted by some. These prices are for flour in wood packages. Still lower rates are quoted for supplies in sacks.

Kansas flour is more satisfactory in some instances than earlier in the season the demand for Kansas brands is limited as there is still considerable flour on the market which buyers say is unsatisfactory and which is moving slowly. Kansas flour this year has caused trouble between buyer and seller which in many instances is not entirely settled. There is no change in quotations of Kansas millers who write to The Herald. The range of flour in sacks is from $4.50 to $5 a barrel.

Soft winter wheat flour is lower, millers having reduced selling limits from those quoted a week ago. Early this week a well-known brand of patent sold at $5 a barrel and that price is still asked by the Pennsylvania maker. The steadiness in this instance is remarkable, however, and is not indicative of the general market. Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and New York state mills are offering patent at prices ranging from $4.35 to $4.60. New York and Michigan straights are quoted at $3.90 to $4.10. Ohio and Indiana straights are offered at $4.25 to $4.40. The range for clears is from $3.75 to $4.15.

Bromhall cabled from Liverpool: The wheat market opened easy and about ⅛d lower, being influenced by the heavy American shipments as indicated by Bradstreets and the smaller decrease in the monthly stocks than was expected. Following the opening the general market steadied with better supoprt than has been in evidence for some days and prices advanced ⅛d to ⅜d. Shorts were inclined to cover on the firmer cargo offers and the fact that liquidation is subsiding. World's shipments are expected to be much under last week and Australian offers are firmer. At the close the market was steady and ⅛@¼d higher than yesterday. The corn market opened unchanged to ¼d lower and following the opening there was further pressure, especially in July on the cheaper American offers and expected liberal shipments this week and the fact of continued reselling of American parcels.

Condition of wheat in the twenty-five counties regarded as wheat producers is 58.6 per cent or 4 per cent over condition in same counties a month ago. CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, April 1.—Wheat prices climbed upward today because many professional traders were inclined to keep off the bear side until the market had a fair rally. Furthermore, cables were firm on account of a belief that world shipments would be much smaller than for the preceding week. On the other hand, the Oklahoma crop report made the condition of wheat in that state 5½ points better as compared with a month ago, but the showing was only 54.6, against 92 a year ago. It was also a subject of notice that the weather was still dry Southwest. Opening figures were a shade to ⅝c higher. May started at 86⅝@85½c, a gain of ¼@⅜c, but fell back to 86¼c.

Prices eased further when wheat turned weak. The close, however, was steady, with May at 47⅝@47⅞c, a net loss of ⅝c.

Good weather and slow cash demand depressed corn. The market, however, rose a little at the outset in sympathy with wheat. May opened 1-16@⅛c up at 47½c to 47½@47⅝c, and then dropped to 47⅛c.

After resting orders to purchase had been filled, the market eased off rapidly. The close, though, was steady with May ¾c down at 85⅝c.

Local selling carried down oats. May started unchanged to a shade higher at 30⅜c to 30⅝@30½c, and declined to 30¼c.

A disposition on the part of scalpers to buy provisions held the market reasonably steady. First sales were the same as last night to 7½c below May options, $15.07½@15.10 for pork, $8.25@8.27½ for lard and $8.70 for ribs.

GAINS ARE CUT DOWN

Early Advances in Stocks Are Reduced By Profit-Taking.

National Biscuit Shows Exceptional Srrength—Close Is Steady.

New York, April 1.—Opening prices on the stock exchange today in most cases were either at or slightly above yesterday's close. Canadian Pacific led the list with an advance of 1¼. Wabash preferred and Toledo, St. Louis and Western preferred were up ⅛. The market was dull.

Opening gains were increased slightly with the recognized leaders of the market showing the most improvement. There was a keen demand for Central Georgia income issues in the bond department, and they improved from 1 to 3 points.

The market closed steady. Profit-taking cancelled nearly all of the rise in Canadian Pacific and sent other stocks off a fraction from their best prices. National Biscuit showed exceptional strength, rising 4 points to 136, another new record. American Woolen gained a point.

Cotton Market.

New York, April 1.—The cotton market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 6 points, which was a very poor response to better cables than expected, under continued scattering liquidation and local bear pressure. Unfavorable domestic mill advices and talk of an easier turn in Southern spot markets late yesterday appeared to encourage selling, but at the initial decline there was a good demand, and the market rallied to a net advance of about 4@6 points during the middle of the morning. Some of the Wall street houses which have recently been large sellers appeared to be covering and one of the leading bull brokers who has recently figured prominently as a seller of July, was also a good buyer on the rally from the early low point.

Futures closed steady. Closing bids: April, 14.16; May, 14.28; June, 14.10; July, 14.08; August, 13.59; September, 12.93; October, 12:59; November, 12.51; December, 12.47; January, 12.45.

Spot cotton closed quiet; middling uplands, 14.40; do gulf, 14.65; sales, nil.

FUTURE BUSINESS LOOKS BRIGHT

New York, April 1.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Business looks better in prospect than in actual performance, for confidence in the future is greater than present activity.

Some lull appears in the demand for pig iron and in finished products new orders are developing with less rapidity. However, business as a whole is of satisfactory proportions and in the wire trade spring contracts have exceeded expectations, some manufacturers having enough on their books to keep them busy up to the end of the year. Reduced operations are in effect at the plate mills, which are now running at from 55 to 60 per cent of capacity, but the 72 per cent rate pig iron production of the leading interest is maintained and additional furnaces have been blown in during the past month. Equipment orders from the railroads come out slowly, but one bridge project will require about 60,000 tons and considerable other work is pending. The tin plate mills are enjoying much activity, one company operating at 90 per cent of capacity and some contracts have been placed as far ahead as the third quarter.

The primary cotton goods markets are somewhat steadier at the low level reached on domestic bleached cottons and revision in other lines has not started. Export shipments to date this year are nearly double those of a year ago. Jobbers report a limited trade with retailers, especially cautious on cotton goods lines and the same feeling is noted among buyers of woolen and worsteds, and some of the dress goods mills have been releasing employes. Knit goods associations are cautioning their members to curtail production and thus avoid accumulations.

Trading in footwear continues backward, but the situation is not what it should be at this season. There is some increase in the demand for domestic packer hides, though no activity exists. Failures this week number 244 in the United States against 227 last year and eighteen in Canada compared with twenty-one a year ago.

COPPERS HIGHER, SHORTS COVERING

The copper market was dull and listless today. Trading was light. Some contracts were evened up by shorts, causing a firm undertone. The local situation is not worthy of the name of "market." A few shares of Summit were sold at 55c.

Tuolumne has declared a dividend of 15c a share payable May 15 to stock of record April 30. Cross-cutting on the 1,600-level is expected to reach the north and south ledges in about thirty days.

For about sixteen months there has been an extremely dull period in stocks. This is especially true of the Duluth market. Several brokers have quit the business and others are curtailing. N. S. Mitchell has taken out his wire, which leaves only five wires in town. At one time there were about a dozen.

Reports from twenty-eight cars of ore sent by the Keating mine in the Radersburg district of Montana to a smelter in March show an average return in the gold values of $30 to a ton. It is expected that forty cars will be sent to the smelter this month. The average of $30 a ton is the highest monthly record made by the company with the exception of February, when ore of exceptionally high value was mined.

BRANCH OFFICE IN SPOKANE

The growth of Duluth's commercial influence may be measured to a large extent by the expansion of the commercial houses at the Head of the Lakes.

Recently F. A. Patrick & Co. have given evidence of an advance of Duluth's commercial growth in establishing headquarters and sample rooms at Spokane, Wash., out of which seven salesmen travel. The Duluth concern's new headquarters is 225 Temple Court building, one of the most beautiful business blocks of Spokane.

Several of Duluth's wholesale and manufacturing establishments including F. A. Patrick & Co. send representatives throughout a large part of the Western country to the Pacific coast and to Alaska.

FOUR WITNESSES AGAINST COWAN

Bismarck, N. D., April 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four witnesses were placed on the stand this morning to testify against Judge Cowan, the first being J. H. Fulkerson of Crary, who testified to an alleged case of intoxication by Cowan at Churches Ferry in the summer of 1909, when he appeared on the depot platform very much intoxicated and supported by two friends. T. D. Stansberry was called as a corroborating witness.

C. D. Kelse of Minot testified to a case of supposed intoxication at Minot one day last summer, while Rev. A. W. Burr of Devils Lake gave evidence relative to an altercation he had with the judge in the Devils Lake postoffice, in which he said that he believed the jurist was intoxicated.

ELEVEN TONS OF BAD MEAT

Since he assumed the office of meat inspector a year ago, the records at the board of health department show that Leo Bernhardt has condemned over 22,000 pounds, or more than eleven tons of meat and poultry which was unfit for human consumption.

The larger part of this was veal, of which several tons were ordered to the incinerator last summer during the hot weather. It was shipped in from the country and was inspected at the depot as soon as it was thrown from the express car. Much of it was found to be spoiled, largely due to improper cooling and to allowing it to lie on the platforms in the sun.

The shippers had not been used to such treatment in this city and it was quite a while before they learned that their veal had to be in good condition before it could pass in Duluth. After they had lost several hundreds of dollars in this manner they began to exercise more care, and the shipments of the veal improved greatly in condition. Since that time the inspector has not had occasion to condemn such considerable quantities, although scarcely a month passes but several are condemned.

A great improvement has been shown in the butcher shops. When he first started on his rounds he found many of them in very bad condition. The counters were not properly cleaned, the tools were dirty, the sausage machines and the sausage rooms were filthy and seldom washed, and other insanitary methods followed. After Inspector Bernhardt made several arrests the proprietors saw that he meant business and hastened to make necessary improvements. The inspector is now engaged in making a complete examination of the butcher shops, scoring them under a system which has been adopted by the health department. His findings will be announced later.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

ONE MORE FIELD DAY FOR LOCAL BILLS AND WOODCHUCKS IS SET

Each Member Will Have a Chance to Advance One Bill.

New Apportionment Bill Fails to Make Its Appearance.

Bill Limiting Number of Senators Is Made Special Order.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Both houses met at 11 o'clock this morning and proceeded with purely routine business of minor importance. Speaker Dunn is much improved, but his physician has ordered him to remain in his room until tomorrow, so Speaker Pro Tem Lennon presided in the house. When the house members, who were away Friday night and missed the big field day for local bills and woodchucks, came back this morning and found out what had happened, they were consumed with a desire to participate in such an event themselves, and on motion of Representative Rice tonight was set apart for consideration of general orders, when every member who did not get in Friday will have a chance to advance a bill provided nobody objects to it.

The house labor committee recommended for passage the bill proposing a constitutional amendment authorizing a state workingmen's indemnity fund. Representative Fowler of Minneapolis said that a bill of such importance, involving a constitutional amendment, ought to be passed on by the judiciary committee, and he moved that it be referred there.

CANALEJAS HAS A NEW MINISTRY

Spanish Premier Consents to Remain With Different Body of Advisers.

Madrid, April 3.—The Canalejas ministry as reorganized was gazetted today. The changes were indicated by the premier who was given free rein by King Alfonso as a condition upon which he withdrew his resignation of Saturday. The ministers announced are:

Premier, Jose Canalejas y Mendes.

Minisiter of Foreign Affairs, Garcia Prieto.

Minister of the Interior, Ruiz Valarino.

Minister of War, Gen. de Luque.

Minister of Marine, Senor Pidal.

Minister of Justice, Senor Barroso.

Minister of Public Works, Senor Gasset.

Minister of Public Instruction, Senor Gimeno.

Prieto and Gasset retain their portfolios. Valarino, who was minister of justice, becomes minister of the interior and is succeeded in his former post by Senor Barroso, who was at the head of the ministry of public instruction in the Moret cabinet, but is new in the Canalejas ministry as the others are. Gen. De Luque held the portfolio of war in the Moret cabinet.

MUST EXCEPT SOME THINGS

There Are Matters Which No Nation Would Think of Arbitrating.

Sir Oliver Lodge Says All Things Arbitral Should Be Arbitrated.

London, April 3.—Sir Oliver Lodge, writer and principal of the University of Birmingham, in a lengthy review of the possibilities for universal arbitration, published today, holds that while everything arbitral should be arbitrated, there are certain things which no nation would consent to submit to arbitration.

For instance, he does not believe that the United States would agree to arbitrate the matter should a European power be unwise enough to interfere in the event that difficulty arose between the American government and Mexico. Similarly, England would never accept arbitration should a foreign power insist upon home rule for Ireland, or if France desired to arbitrate an issue in Egypt.

Touching upon the position of Germany, Sir Oliver foresees in the near future the question of a German outlet to the Mediterranean occupying the center of the stage in world politics.

SENATOR FRANK MURRAY
Of Bird Island, Who Has Bill Patterned After the North Dakota Law.

MUCH WORK TO BE DONE

Legislature Will Leave Large Amount of Unfinished Business.

Shows Need of Radical Reform in Legislative Methods.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 3.—(Special to The Herald)—Including today, the legislature has just thirteen working days left in which to do about two months' work. Final adjournment comes Wednesday, April 19, but Tuesday, April 18, will be the last day on which bills can be passed.

The answer to that, of course, is that a lot of work will be left undone when adjournment comes.

That is nothing new, of course, since it happens at every session, but the present outlook is that this legislature will leave considerable more unfinished business than any predecesssor for some time.

The senate is not in bad shape, and could easily dispose of most of its work, but the senate cannot proceed much faster than the house will let it, and the house is simply hurled in unfinished business. The Klemer fiasco consumed four highly valuable days at a time when the house is usually get-

INITIALS STAND FOR APRIL FOOL

Box Found Containing Human Hand With Ring Marked "A. F."

New York, April 3.—Some careless medical student caused a score of detectives to work all night long in an attempt to solve what was believed to be a murder mystery, similar to the famous Guldensuppe case and brought to light by the discovery of a human hand and foot in a cigar box lying in Harlem street late yesterday. The hand was severed at the wrist and the third finger bore a gold signet ring with the initials "A. F."

Close examination showed that the dismemberment had been done by a person accustomed to the use of surgical instruments, while both hand and foot had seemingly been partially dissected and apparently did not belong to the same body.

RECOMMENDS AND PRAYS FOR RESULTS

President Taft Likens His Work to That of Ministers.

Washington, April 3.—President Taft enlivened the early morning proceedings of the Baltimore conference of the Methodist Episcopal church today by declaring that he could only do with congress what ministers hope to do with their congregations, make his recommendations and then pray for the best results.

The president declared that if he had to prepare two or three sermons a week he would rather retire to a cloister. In closing his remarks he asked to be excused because, in view of what is coming tomorrow there may be some trimming of lamps necessary.

INTEREST CENTERS IN MADEROS

Movements of Members of Prominent Mexican Family Closely Watched.

Father of the Insurgent Leader in Field Is Now at El Paso.

Intimates That Developments May Be Expected in Few Days.

El Paso, Tex., April 3.—Interest here in the Mexican war situation today centered in Francisco I. Madero, Sr., and Alfonso Madero, who arrived in El Paso last night, presumably on a mission of peace.

While maintaining a complete silence regarding the reason for their presence here, the father and brother of the insurrecto leader intimated that developments might be expected within the next few days. It is believed they are here to await the arrival of messengers from the insurrecto chief bringing the terms upon which he will consent to a cessation of hostilities. That these terms must be formulated by the men who are in the field was declared by Alfonso Madero last night.

That the elder Madero's influence

JAMES JONES IS PRISONER OF WAR

Department Holds Out No Encouragement of Immediate Release.

Washington, April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Miller today received the following telegram from Secretary Knox relative to James H. Jones of Duluth, who while fighting with the Mexican insurgents was captured by the federals at the battle of Casa Grande and is now a prisoner. "Referring to your call at department on behalf of James H. Jones, am advised by consul at Giudad Juarez that prisoners captured at Casa Grande are held there and that because of railroad lines being out of commission, it is claimed to be impossible to send prisoners to Chihuahua where court is sitting. Time of trial of these prisoners is indefinite. Authorities hold out no encouragement of release upon bail."

Gen. Navarro, in command of the federal troops who captured Jones and others, assured the United States consul that all prisoners will receive good care and humane treatment.

BURGLAR BUSY AGAIN.

"Glass Sucker" Artist Robs Window in Chicago Store.

Chicago, April 3.—The "glass sucker" burglar who returned to Chicago a week ago and robbed a jewelry store of several thousand dollars' worth of diamonds, made his second haul early today. Jewels worth $500 were taken out through a hole cut in the glass show windows of another store, the glass being cut with a diamond and then removed by the section of wet pieces of leather pressed against it and then pulled out.

Dog Show Opens.

St. Louis, Mo., April 3.—The sixth annual dog show of the Mississippi Valley Kennel club began here today with 828 entries for prizes. Many dogs from the East and extreme West will compete. Some of the entries hold world's prizes.

"CUT RATE" PRICES ON MEDICINES ALL RIGHT

Washington, April 3.—The attempt to put the ban on "cut rates" in proprietary medicines in this country today received the unqualified disapproval of the supreme court of the United States. That tribunal declined, in an opinion by Justice Hughes, to give its aid to such an attempt on the ground that it would afford the manufacturers of medicine an unlawful monopoly.

Republican Senate and President and Democratic House the Situation.

Extraordinary Session of Congress Will Open at Noon, April 4.

Many of the Veteran Leaders Will Be Missing From Their Seats.

Washington, April 3.—The interesting situation of a Democratic house and a Republican senate meeting to consider a Taft administration measure directs unusual attention to the convening of the Sixty-second congress in extraordinary session at noon tomorrow. The political complexion of the two branches of congress will be as follows:

House—Democrats, 228; Republicans, 160; Socialist, 1; vacancies, 2, the Ninth Iowa and Second Pennsylvania districts. This is the first time the Democrats have had a majority in sixteen years.

Senate—Republicans, 50; Democrats, 41; vacancy, 1, from Colorado.

The roll calls in the two branches will show some remarkable changes from the last session. In the house the Democrats will show a gain of fifty-four members and the Republicans a loss of fifty-five, the Socialist mem-

TO CONSIDER GRIEVANCES

Union Leaders to Take Up Troubles of Pennsylvania Shopmen.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 3.—Following a call for a meeting here next Wednesday of the grand chiefs of the transportation department and officials of the railroad department of the American Federation of Labor, it developed today that grievances of shopmen in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad are to be considered. The shopmen were recently organized and it is alleged by leaders of the men that some of them have been discharged because of their new union affiliations. Included in this number, it is stated, are many old employes.

It is announced by union leaders that the question of recognizing the new organization, as the older railroad organizations are recognized, will be taken up with the officials of the company after Wednesday's conference.

MAN WHO DENOUNCED N. Y. ADMINISTRATION

MAGISTRATE J. E. CORRIGAN,
Who Created a Sensation in New York a Few Days Ago by Denouncing the Administration of Mayor Gaynor.

CHARGES ARE INVESTIGATED

Allegations of Magistrate Corrigan Are Before the Grand Jury.

Says Vice and Crime Are Rampant in City of New York.

New York, April 3.—Magistrate Corrigan's charges that vice and crime are rampant in the city, unchecked by a demoralized and intimidated police force, are being investigated by the grand jury in earnest. The officers of twelve burglar insurance companies were summoned to give testimony today and ordered to bring with them reports of all burglaries brought to their notice since the first of the year. All the hospitals have been asked to furnish statements of patients treated by them for assaults.

Twelve subpoenas served will tell what saloons they found violating the excise law, and James B. Reynolds, the assistant district attorney, who investigated the white slave traffic for the Rockefeller grand jury has been assigned to the case.

Mayor Gaynor said recently that the city was never more orderly or decent.

TWO MILLIONS ARE STARVING

Missionary Writes of the Unspeakable Horrors Seen in China.

Kansas City, Mo., April 3.—A letter describing the unspeakable horror of famine conditions in China, was received here by Dr. Claudus C. Spencer, editor of the Central Christian Advocate from Dr. Lilburn Merrill, a missionary in charge. The letter says in part:

"Men, women and little children in the provinces of Ahnwei and Kiangso, in Central China, are existing on roots, grasses or anything that furnishes the slightest possibility for nourishment. Thousands of villages have been deserted and thousands of families are wandering south in search of food. It is estimated that 2,000,000 persons are facing death in these provinces.

"The officials are distributing soft boiled rice to about 10,000 persons daily. Thousands are sleeping on the ground outside the city walls of Nanking. Families are giving away their children. Dead bodies lie by the roadside.

"Early each morning thousands of men, women and children gather at the distributing point. Some days rain falls in torrents and the refugees stand shivering in mud a foot deep. During one of these cold, rainy mornings, a child was born in the midst of the mob. An hour or two later the mother was up, and with the child and a sack of rice, she was off to her straw mat shelter half a mile distant."

CRAP SHOOTERS START FIRE AT CLINTON, KY.

Clinton, Ky., April 3.—Fire early today burned down a row of business buildings and residences on the west side of the public square. The total loss is estimated at $20,000. The principal losers are the owners of the opera house block, the Richmond office building and the Johnson furniture warehouse. The blaze is supposed to have started from cigarette stubs left by careless crap shooters gaming in one of the buildings.

City Plat Commission Will Enforce These Conditions in New Plats.

Resolution Passed at Recent Meeting Will Be Presented to Council.

Intended to Prevent Crowding of Residences With Growth of City.

NEW REQUIREMENTS OF THE PLAT COMMISSION.

No plats will be approved which have lots with a frontage of less than thirty-three feet.

No plat will be approved which does not dedicate at least 120,000 square feet, or a plot 300 by 400 feet to the city for play ground and park purposes.

All plats must be accompanied by blue prints showing the topography of the tract.

All plats must be presented to the commission at least a week before they are acted upon.

Radical action affecting new divisions in Duluth was taken by the city plat commission at a meeting held at the city hall last week. Several resolutions were passed which will work greatly in the interests of the city. They will be forwarded to the city council at its regular meeting this evening.

The plat commission decided that in the future no plats will be approved in which the average or unit lot has a frontage of less than thirty-three feet; that in all new divisions, the city must be given a tract of ground about the size of an ordinary city park for playground purposes, and that blue prints of all plats, with a topographical survey, must accompany all plats.

Each of these matters is of the high-

FATAL ACCIDENT TO "JOY" RIDERS

Chauffeur Killed and Two of His Guests Fatally Injured.

Daytona, Fla., April 3.—Felix Faust, chauffeur, of New York, was killed, Misses Bessie McDonald and Gertrude Pfieffer of Boston, were fatally injured and Miss Emma Laird of Boston, was hurt internally in an automobile accident on the Port Orange road near here early today.

The motor was the property of P. A. Warner of New York, who left for his home last Friday after spending the winter season here. Last night Faust took a party of his friends for a ride and they were on their way home when the accident occurred. Miss McDonald was to have been married next month to an officer on one of the Savannah line steamships.

CAMORRISTS ARE JOYFUL

Think Leader Scored Triumph in Examination Before Court.

As Whole They Are Satisfied With Development of Case.

Viterbo, Italy, April 3.—In their cells at the medieval monastery of Gradi today the accused Camorrists gloated over what they described as the triumph of Enrico Alfano in the court of assizes Friday and Saturday. As a whole they are satisfied with the development of the case and they believe they will be acquitted of the charge of murdering their fellows without even being obliged to introduce witnesses in their defense.

All of the lawyers for the defense visited the prison and conferred with their clients during the day.

Guiseppe de Marinis, commonly known as "O. Mandriere," who is charged with planning the murder of Cuoccolo, will be called for interrogation when the trial is resumed tomorrow. He will be the fourth prisoner questioned who bears the scar from a razor slash upon the cheek.

Giovanni Rapi, the treasurer of the Camorra and known as the proprietor of gambling resorts in Naples, Rome, Paris and Ostend, said he would prove that the Italian government intended to appoint him a consul in Egypt, where he proposed to establish a gambling house. At present, he said, he was the head of the Southern club of Naples, which is in reality a gambling association.

WOMEN HAVE SUIT AGAINST ESTATE

Pauline and Agusta Voight Sue Henry J. Sigel for $2,025 Each.

Pauline and Agusta Voight are suing Henry J. Sigel for $2,025 each in district court for services which they allege that they performed for the late Charles Sigel. Henry J. Sigel is administrator of the estate. The two actions are being tried together before Judge Dibell.

The women are sisters. They claim that they were employed by Mr. Sigel about his house. They both claim that during the last six months of his life, he needed extra care which they furnished him.

The claims ran over six years, the time they claim that they were employed.

The answer states that the women were given a home and food as compensation for services, and that there was an agreement to this effect.

CONTRACTS FOR BRIDGES

Park Commissioners Prepare for Improvements on Snively Road.

Nine Bridges of Concrete and Native Stone Are Planned.

The board of park commissioners at its meeting at the city hall this afternoon will award the contracts for the nine concrete bridges which will be erected on the Snivley road, which now forms the eastern extremity of the park system.

The total cost of the nine bridges is estimated at $25,000 in round numbers. This represents the labor and the plans, the material being furnished by the city. Most of the stone which will go into the bridges is being obtained along the road and from other parts of the city.

The bridges will be among the most handsome and artistic in the Northwest. They will be faced with the natural rock, embedded in the concrete. Running over streams it will not be many summers before they will be rivaling in beauty the rustic bridges of historic fame, as moss and other vegetable growths will find ideal niches and crevices in which to locate.

The country through which the road winds, the condemnation proceedings for the acquisition of which are now in the hands of the board of public works, is among the prettiest to be found in this part of the state, now noted for its rugged scenery. The stream is always full of water and tumbles down numerous steep declivities. The hills form a looming back ground and the lake, with its rocky shore, stretches away to the horizon.

The work will be superintended by Henry Cleveland, secretary of the park board, with the assistance of Carl F. Meyer, who will be constantly on the ground. Mr. Meyer is a graduate of the University of Minnesota in the engineering department and has been retained to inspect the bridges as they are built.

COPPERS STRONG BUT FEVERISH

Values Opened Weak, Advance and Then Decline—Erratic.

The copper market was nervous today in expectation of decisions by the supreme court on the Standard Oil or American Tobacco cases or both. The decisions did not materialize. Shorts covered freely but neither side had any grounds upon which to base confidence. Trading was extremely small.

Denn sold at $6, Warren at $2.12½, Butte & Superior, old, at 85c, Carman at 75c, Butte Ballaklava at $5 to $5.25.

Butte Coalition sold at $17.50, Calumet & Arizona at $51 to $50.75, Giroux at $6, $6.12½ to $6, North Butte at $28.25 to $28, Greene at $6.50, Ojibway at $6, Superior & Pittsburg at $14.37½ to $14.50.

Walker's copper letter in Saturday's Boston Commercial said:

"Copper continues in fairly good demand, but prices are slightly easier. Lake is 12½ cents and electrolytic is 12¼ cents a pound. A considerable volume of business has been done in March, probably larger than in any preceding month since November, and negotiations are understood to be pending now for the sale of 50,000,000 pounds or more of electrolytic, which the consumers are said to have been unable to secure at 12¼ cents. If this transaction is effected it cannot fail, together with the other sales recently made, to have a very favorable influence on the Copper Producers' statement, which will appear early in May. March figures, to be published week after next, will probably show a further increase in the copper surplus.

"Exports so far this month have been rather light. Foreign consumers who bought quite heavily six or eight months ago, anticipating at that time an early advance in prices, have recently been falling back on their stocks and refraining from further purchases. Business in Europe continues good, however, and on the first sign of improvement in the metal situation here there is sure to be heavy buying for foreign account."

Thompson, Towle & Co., on the copper situation:

There appears to be more genuine optimism over the copper situation now than at any previous time for six months, and opinions have been freely expressed by the leading copper interests that the low price has been reached.

Brass interests of Connecticut are expressing disappointment over business as reflected in the fact that the brass mills are running but five days a week, but this temporary loss in copper consumption is more than made up by the greatly improved business from the wire mills.

The Amalgamated interests are still holding their copper at 12½c and one of the Amalgamated interests states that they turned down orders for 30,000,000 lb.s at 12⅜c, and they could have sold over 100,000,000 lbs. at 12¼c, and feel confident that they will be able to sell all the copper they want to at 12½c.

A Boston wire to Paine, Webber & Co. says: The Boston News Bureau said today: "Failure of directors of Shattuck-Arizona Copper company to make announcement regarding the dividend of $1 per share due on April 20, leads to the belief that it will be passed. The company has 350,000 shares outstanding, par $10, and has thus far paid a total of $1,050,000 in dividends, commencing on July 20 last. Three payments have been made of $1 per share each at quarterly intervals. Officials tell us that Shattuck produced in the 1910 calendar year 14,751,000 lbs of copper at a cost of 5.8 cents per lb and showed a net profit of $990,000, or at the rate of $2.83 per share.

"Unless production has recently been materially increased, the company is not in position to continue dividends at the rate of $4 per share, which would call for the distribution of $1,400,000 per year. Evidently the directors have decided that it is unwise to exhaust the company's mineral resources with present price of copper, for according to the annual report for the year ended Aug. 1 last, the property was equipped to handle 1,200 tons of ore per day. Shipments were running 100 tons per day and it was figured that with 800,000 tons of oxide and sulphide ores blocked out, the property had an indicated life of over twenty years. It was then stated that only a small portion of the company's ore zone had been developed.

"As of Aug. 1 last, the cash on hand amounted to $605,000 and there was owing the insignificant sum of $769. Shattuck-Arizona has enjoyed the distinction of being the lowest cost copper producer in the world."

MRS. BOUDREAU WILL RECOVER

Children Are Being Well Cared for at Their Home.

Mrs. Nick Boudreau, who was shot by her husband Friday night in her home at 508½ Third alley west, is doing nicely at St. Luke's hospital. There is scarcely any doubt but that she will recover rapidly.

One bullet went through her neck, another struck her in the forearm, and the third knocked out two teeth, going through her lip. The three children are still at their home. The two youngest are staying with the family of August Boo, who live upstairs and Margeret, the oldest, has moved downstairs again. Some of her relatives have reached the city and are staying at the house with her. The children will not need any assistance from charitable organizations, and they said this morning that when their mother recovers they expect to move to another home on West First street.

No funeral arrangements have yet been made for the husband, who committed suicide by sending a bullet into his brain after he had tried to murder his wife. Two of his brothers are in the city and it is thought that the body will be shipped to his former home.

TAKEN TO PRISON FOR FIFTEEN YEARS.

Sheriff John H. Meining left this afternoon for Stillwater with Patrick H. Doyle, who has fifteen years to serve at the state institution.

Doyle was sentenced by Judge Dibell a few days ago after he had pleaded guilty to entering a West end tailor shop and carrying off a quantity of cloth.

This is not Doyle's first trip to Stillwater. He has served time there before, as well as at institutions in Michigan and other states.

It was because of his record that he was given such a lengthy sentence by Judge Dibell.

A. Divizio, a prisoner from the range, was also taken to Stillwater this afternoon by Sheriff Meining. He has seven years to serve.

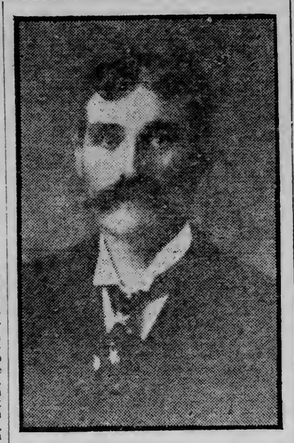
JOHN CREIGHTON, VETERAN LIFESAVER, DIES IN HOSPITAL



JOHN CREIGHTON, Lifesaver.

The death of John Creighton, who died last night at St. Mary's hospital, after a brief illness of ten days, takes away one of the oldest men in the employ of the government life saving service.

Mr. Creighton has been connected with the life saving service in Duluth since the local station was started in June, 1895, sixteen years ago. All that time he has been known as "No. 1," the title being fixed by the fact that he pulled at the first oar whenever the crew was in action. Previous to that time he was in the service on the lower lakes, coming here from Marquette, Mich., entering it in April, 1886.

Mr. Creighton made an excellent record for himself. Always of a retiring disposition, he did not go in for the spectacular individually, but he has assisted at some of the most sensational rescues of the Great Lakes. Since locating at Duluth he has been a member of crews which have risked their lives time after time to take men from ships which were being pounded to pieces by the savage Lake Superior storms. He was with the life saving crew Nov. 28, 1905, when the illfated Mataafa was wrecked as she was trying to gain the harbor through the ship canal. He was with them when the Thomas Wilson and the George W. Hadley collided in Lake Superior seven or eight years ago and nine men lost their lives before they could be taken off. He also went out to the England, which was wrecked on Oatka beach the same day that the Mataafa met its fate. And he has assisted in countless rescues of smaller craft in the harbor.

Mr. Creighton was 53 years old and is survived by a wife and four children, who reside at 1120 Lake avenue south. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence. Rev. A. W. Ryan will officiate: Interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery.

FIRST JEWISH RABBI OF DULUTH PASSES AWAY

RABBI JACOB HELPERIN.

Rabbi Jacob Helperin, 67 years of age, one of the pioneer Jewish residents of Duluth and well known throughout the city, died yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock at his home, 316 East Fifth street.

Rabbi Helperin was the first rabbi of Duluth, but he has been retired from active service the last five or six years, although he has continued to take the same deep interest in the affairs of the church. He had charge of Adash Israel congregation, whose synagogue is located at Third avenue east and Third street, and which is one of the landmarks of the city.

The aged rabbi came to Duluth twenty-six years ago and was very highly esteemed, not only by his own people, but by all those who knew him. He was loved for his many charitable acts, and was always looking out for the best interests of his congregation and the city.

He is survived by five children, all of whom are well known in this city. They are Edward Helperin and Mrs. Charles E. Oreckovsky of Duluth, Louis Helperin of St. Paul, Mrs. Harry Mitchell of Minneapolis and Morris Helperin of Chicago.

The funeral took place this afternoon from the family residence and interment was at the Jewish cemetery. The services were attended by a large number of relatives, friends and acquaintances.

TWO WITNESSES AGAINST COWAN

With Reference to Charges of Drunkenness Are Heard.

Bismarck, N. D., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two witnesses were called to testify this morning against Judge Cowan with reference to charges of drunkenness, John Dingman and L. D. Maurer. Dingman said he had met the judge in a hotel room at Devils Lake, that his voice was thick and his face was flushed, but he saw no evidence of drinking.

Maurer declared that he had seen the judge one day during the January term of court at Devils Lake in 1909, when he appeared to go to sleep or doze on the bench. He admitted that he could not remember of the judge having failed to make rulings on motions or objections.

Maurer also testified with reference to alleged intoxication upon the part of Cowan on a public street in Devils Lake one night, and said that on another occasion he had heard Cowan singing in a booth in the Vanderhoof hotel, admitting on cross-examination that the judge appeared to be a good vocalist.

The threatened sensations in connection with the impeachment failed to materialize today, although investigations are being made with reference to alleged witness tampering.

CO-OPERATIVE COMPANIES PLAN PULLING TOGETHER.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The different co-operative companies of this section have taken the first step towards the establishment of more unity of action between the different stores and especially in the buying of their goods. A meeting was held in this city at which the co-operative stores in the following places were represented: Grygla, Germantown, Rollis, Badger, Roseau and Thief River Falls. Sixteen delegates were present. It appeared to be the general feeling that there would be considerable benefit derived from centralizing their purchases so that goods might be bought in carload lots, the different stores could then be notified and each get its share of the shipment.

A farmers' co-operative elevator company was organized in this city with a paid up capital of $10,000. An elevator will be built at once. The officers are as follows: President, Theodore Rynestrand; vice president, P. L. Dale; treasurer, P. Estvad; secretary, A. Nordy.

RAILROADS

CHANGES IN THE GREAT NORTHERN

Gray Is Transferred and Former Duluth Man Moves Up.

Archibald Gray, who has been assistant general freight and passenger agent for the Great Northern railway at Seattle for several years, has been transferred to Portland Or., to fill a similar position, succeeding H. A. Jackson, who has been promoted to be assistant general traffic manager.

Before going to Seattle Mr. Gray was assistant general freight agent for the Great Northern at Butte, Mont., and Sioux City, Iowa.

Mr. Jackson, who Saturday became assistant general traffic manager for the entire system, succeeding Mr. Kenney, promoted to be traffic manager to succeed Mr. Broughton, resigned, began his railroad work in Duluth about a dozen years ago, when he was traveling freight and passenger agent out of here, covering the Iron ranges and Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin, at the time Mr. Eden was general agent.

H. A. Kimball, formerly assistant general freight agent of the Great Northern railroad in this district, has been transferred to the Seattle district to succeed Archibald Gray.

Mr. Kimball was one of the best known railroad men who made the Head of the Lakes from the Twin City offices of the Great Northern.

RICHARD CULLEN IN COURT AGAIN

Acting as His Own Attorney in Defending Suit for Lawyer's Fees.

William Foulke, a St. Paul lawyer, is suing Richard Cullen for $2,500, which he claims is due him as payment for legal services performed some time ago. Mr. Foulke claims that he was employed by Mr. Cullen in the matter of the restoration of titles to certain lands and that the work, which extended over a period of several months, was worth the amount asked.

Mr. Cullen is acting as his own attorney. The case was commenced this morning before a jury in district court. The trial is being held before Judge Cant.

Since he was instructed by the court on his last appearance that he should have a lawyer, Mr. Cullen hired one. He drew up the papers in the case and was on hand to try the case this morning. Mr. Cullen decided at the last moment that he could not trust an attorney with so important a case and dismissed him. Mr. Cullen then asked permission of the court to try his own case and it was granted.

From what can be gathered from the answers made to the complaint by Mr. Cullen, he claims that he and Mr. Foulke had an agreement whereby if the titles to the land were not satisfactory, they need not be paid for. In his answer Cullen asks that the action be dismissed with costs and and he be allowed $10 attorney's fees.

OPTIMISM ALL THAT IS NEEDED

New York Man Says Duluth Is "Best Town in America."

Exuding optimism, W. L. Dotts, vice president of the George L. Dyer company of New York, one of the biggest advertising firms in the country, was in Duluth Saturday.

"There is no better town in the United States right at the present time than Duluth," said Mr. Dotts. "It's a fact that your streets here are as busy and crowded as the streets of New York. Everybody seems to be busy and healthy. I never saw a more live and hustling crowd of people any place than those I saw on your main street here today.

"All this country needs right now is a little optimism. Conditions were never better for real prosperity. Our banks are full of money, and big crops are in sight. Some of the grafters have been weeded out and all we need is for everybody to forget his troubles, and go after business. Too many men in this country going around with a long face talking about business being dull. If they would put in the time hustling that they put in complaining, this country would be twice as prosperous as it is."

PROMINENT DOCTOR PRAISES BAKE OVEN

Advises Sufferers to Take Treatment

DR. F. S. GROVER.

Dr. Grover says: Loughney & Loughney are curing people of rheumatism and kindred ailments every day with their curious Bake Ovens. I went to them with rheumatism and it is truly wonderful how quickly they cured me. I have treated a great many people for rheumatism myself, and applied in my own case the different medicines considered the best by the medical profession, but I desire to state that the Bake Oven beats anything ever before used to relieve pain and cure Rheumatism. If you are a sufferer from Sprains, Synovitis, Rheumatism, Gout, Arthritis, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Gangrene, Phlebitis, Ankylosis, indolent ulcers and infected sores, Uremia or Obesity, the Bake Oven eclipses all other treatments. The immediate local effects on the joints are at once obvious, especially in Chronic Rheumatism and Gout. They become less painful and much more movable after the first treatment, and continue to improve with subsequent treatment. The action is through active Hyperaemia, thereby explaining the cure, which is bound to follow the treatment. Loughney & Loughney Bake Ovens beat all the medicines in this wide world. It also beats mud baths or hot springs and all other rheumatic treatments, and, in fact, all doctors know, if they would only own up, that the Bake Oven treatment, with temperature of from 350 to 500 degrees Fahrenheit, has no equal for relieving and curing the ailments I have mentioned in this letter to your paper. I am not prejudiced against any new treatment that has merit, as a great many doctors are, and I consider it only just to Loughney & Loughney to give them the credit they deserve. Some of my medical friends and associates have tried to call me down for acknowledging that the Bake Oven cured me and that it is such a great boon to suffering mankind, but I do not consider any doctor that will not recognize any other style of treatment but his own, either broad-minded or fair—Loughney & Loughney are making the cures and they deserve all kinds of credit. I strongly advise all who are afflicted with the above mentioned ailments to take Bake Oven treatments, and there can be no bad effects even in severe cases of organic or functional heart trouble. It takes the burden off of the over-worked heart and in just that respect does even heart trouble good.

GIRLS BEST DEBATERS

Defeat Boys' Team From the West Duluth Industrial High School.

Argue That Uncle Sam Should Not Adopt Parcels Post.

Do girls make the best debaters? Students at the Industrial high school, West Duluth, are almost convinced that they are. For the second time in the last two years, a debating team of boys has gone down ignominiously to defeat before a team of girl talkers.

The Cloquet girls Saturday evening won the decision in a debate over the West Duluth boys. The debate question was stated: "Resolved, That the United States government should adopt a parcels post." The West Duluthians were for it and the Cloquet ladies upheld the negative.

The West Duluth debaters were Clifford Stowell, Fred Johnson and John Davis and the Cloquet coterie consisted of the Misses Anna Michaelson, Lottie Wilson and Beatrice Baupre. The judges were Judge William A. Cant, Watson S. Moore and Principal H. A. Schofield of Superior, and gave a decision of 2 to 1.

The West Duluth boys are unwilling to concede that their logic was at fault and say that the Cloquet girls must have "had their number."

DRANK POISON BY MISTAKE

West Duluth Man Took Spavin Cure for Cough Medicine.

But for an antidote, which was quickly administered, Jens Daugard, a West Duluth painter, would in all probability have suffered serious if not fatal consequences, yesterday when he swallowed the wrong kind of medicine by mistake.

Daugard had purchased a bottle of spavin cure, a strong liniment for external use only, and had placed it along side of a bottle of cough syrup. Yesterday afternoon, while in his room, he mistook the liniment for the cough syrup and drank some.

He was attacked by severe pains and ran to a drug store, where the clerk administered an antidote. Daugard was soon out of danger.

WIELAND BACK IN BUSINESS

Former West Duluthian Buys Back Interest in Hardware Company.

T. F. Wieland has gone into business again at West Duluth, after retiring eight years ago to organize and become the president of a bank at Bayfield, Wis. A deal has just been negotiated whereby Mr. Wieland takes over a half interest in the F. H. Wade Hardware company. The firm will operate under the name of Wieland & Wade.

Sixteen years ago, when Mr. Wieland started up in business in West Duluth, he associated himself with F. H. Wade in the hardware business and the firm was known then as Wieland & Wade. In 1903, Mr. Wieland severed his connection with the firm and moved to Bayfield. There he organized a bank and still holds office as president of the institution.

Mr. Wieland says that he believes now, as he always did, that West Duluth has a brilliant future as an industrial center and looks forward to the coming year as a banner one in all lines of business. Mr. Wieland will move his family here from Bayfield in a few days.

RUSH WORK ON INCLINE

New Cars Will Be in Operation Late This Month.

Heavier Steel Being Laid on Portions of Street Railway System.

The remodeling of the incline road at Seventh avenue west and the replacing of the light rails with eighty-pound rails on portions of the Lakeside and West Duluth divisions make up the improvement work now in progress on the Duluth street railway system.

Work on the incline road is being rushed and the improved incline is expected to be in operation the latter part of this month. The machinery for the power station has arrived and is on cars in the railroad yards. The new incline cars are at Twenty-seventh avenue west and the waiting rooms, which will be set at the street intersections on the incline, have also arrived. With two cars in operation, the incline is expected to give highly satisfactory service to the people living on the hill.

Eighty-pound rails are being laid on the north track on the Lakeside division between Fiftieth and Sixtieth avenues east, which will complete the laying of heavy steel on the Lakeside division. Eighty-pound rails are also being laid from Twenty-seventh avenue west to Jenswold street on the West Duluth division.

The new cars ordered by the company some time ago will arrive in June. They will number sixteen and will be distributed between Duluth and Superior. The number to be apportioned to each city has not been decided. The new cars will be of the large type now in use on the system and when they are put in commission, some of the "dinkies" now in use will probably be run into the carhouse, to be drawn out only in case of emergency.

GREAT RUBE ACT AT THE ORPHEUM

Is Closing Feature of a Rattling Good Vaudeville Show.

Vaudeville has its vernacular like every other profession or business. There are many degrees of success or lack of it with the vaudeville performer. An act may be a frost; it may "get by"; it may "go well"; it may be a hit; it may be a "scream" or a "riot"; or it may attain that supreme height of the vaudeville performer's ambition and "knock 'em off their seats" or "have 'em hanging on to the arms of the chairs."

Judged by the applause at last evening's opening performance of the new bill at the Orpheum, there was not an act that fell below the "go well" stage, and there was one that scaled the heights, and succeeded in draping the limp members of the audience over the arms of the seats—figuratively speaking. The act was the one presented by Bowers, Walters & Crooker, known for brevity's sake as "The Three Rubes," and the best "rube" act that ever kicked splinters out of the Orpheum stage—by hek. The rubes have a competitive Rube dance as an opener, and they gradually disrobe as they warm up to their work. Then an obliging stagehand lowers a trapeze into their backyard scene, and they continue the competition on the trapeze. It might not "get by" in the Back bay district of Boston, but it took the Sunday night crowd at the Orpheum and "draped it over the seats." The Rubes were the closing act on a rattling good vaudeville show.

Twenty-five years ago Charles B. Lawlor and old Jim Thornton used to delight vaudeville audiences with "The Upper Ten and the Lower Five." Jim has an act of his own now, and Charles Lawlor is still singing the old timer in his act "Night and Day on The Sidewalks of New York," which he is presenting this week with his two daughters. It is so old that probably the younger generation of theatergoers never heard it and it sounds pretty good to the old timers. Lawlor is a veteran in the business, but he has a good act yet, and his daughters are two clever young women. Their act consists of character singing, and it is all good but the Scotch song of one of the girls, which might be discarded without being missed.

But the feature act this week must not be forgotten. The Five Armanis have a real act, which they call "A Night in Naples." The members of the company are grand opera singers who have wandered into vaudeville. They sing some of the more popular selections from Italian operas, using a pretty setting showing the bay of Naples, and they sing them with vim and genuine musical ability. The sextette from "Lucia" is splendidly sung. Armani, himself, was brought to America by Mascagni, and the other members of the company have had a thorough drilling in opera in Berlin, Naples, Dresden and other European cities. Senor Tipaldi was one of the famous mandolin and guitar orchestra of Spanish students who toured Europe a few years ago. From a musical standpoint the cast is very much above the vaudeville level, and it has not suffered in its power to appeal to the popular taste because of it.

Miss Sydney Shields, a pretty, bobble skirted young woman, and her two companions in the breaking of all laws of probability, wave the American flag in front of the audience until it is forced to applaud in self defense. The medium they use is "Broadway, U. S. A.," a comedy sketch, written by a shameless newspaper editor of New Orleans, who wallows in patriotism, drags his hero through a bottomless swamp of American slang, and drops the curtain with a whoop for Old Glory and the Great White Way. It took five curtain calls for the actors to acknowledge the applause, so what's the use of a carping critic raising his head in protest?

Wynn and Jennings, two amusing English chappies, wander out in front of the footlights toward the close of the bill, when the audience has had just enough singing and is ready for a laugh, and they hand out a few good ones.

James Brockman calls himself "The American Chevalier." He has an excellent little act consisting of character songs, using scenery to illustrate his singing. He sings an Italian song, a ballad, a "rube" song and closes with an "Apache" song, intended to be typical of the underworld of Paris. Brockman has a good voice, and the act thoroughly pleases.

Swain's Cuckatoos, a remarkably trained bird act opens the show. The best feature of this act is the comical little white cuckatoo with a knowing air, which tells the time of day, and solves problems in mental arithmetic by ringing up the answer on a gong.

The moving pictures have been moved in to the center of the program this week, to allow for scene shifting, and those who generally reach for their wraps before the pictures begin, see a very good film.

The bill will continue all week with a daily matinee.

BAND FEATURES BILL AT EMPRESS

Gennaro and His Venetian Gondolier Musicians Please Three Sunday Audiences.

Gennaro, who with his Venetian Gondolier band of twenty pieces, is the feature of the new vaudeville bill at the Empress theater this week, is some gymnast. His baton callisthenics are a hit. One goes to the Empress this week for two reasons. One is to see Genaro and the other is to hear his band.

Under Gennaro's leadership, the band plays beautifully. The music is of the kind that American audiences like best. It is not beyond understanding and that is a long point in its favor.

D'Urbana must look to his honors for as an acrobatic leader, Gennaro is up and coming. The only criticism of the band is that it has not a program of sufficient length. Audiences in attendance at the Empress could have stood for a much more lengthy one. The title of the band's act is "A Night In Venice." The music certainly makes one think of all the pictures of Venice he has ever seen.

It is worth while going to the Empress this week just to see Gennaro and the performance of the band is well worth hearing.

The whole bill at the Empress this week is good from start to finish. There is a juggling act that is above the ordinary and out of the ordinary when it comes to unique feats; a monologist who puts over some good stuff and interminglies some songs; a sketch called the "Banker and The Thief," which is more entertaining than the usual run of one-act plays; a young man and a young woman who know how to sing and dance; Gennaro and moving pictures, besides several selections by Schneider's orchestra.

Nello is a juggler. He juggles everything from tables down to billiard cues. His balancing is also a feature of his act. He is assisted by Mrs. Nello in the act and she gets in some clever work. The Nellos have about as clever a juggling and balancing act as has appeared at the Empress in many weeks.

Mort Fox is a monologist. His act is entitled "Just Home From a Wedding." Mr. Fox had a lot of fun at that wedding and the audience gets almost as much amusement out of his telling about it as he did while there.

Nick Long and Idalene Cotton have a playlet. It tells the story of a rich man who didn't believe in love. A woman enters his rooms to steal. He catches her. She states that she is stealing for her husband. He states that no love is as strong as that. He promises to support her husband the rest of his life if she will drink poison. She agrees and drains the glass. It was water, however, for he had substituted water for the poison. She proves to him that there is such a thing as love and everything ends happily.

Mann and Franks sing a little, talk a little and dance some. Their act is entertaining.

Motion pictures end the performance. There will be three performances a day the rest of the week.

Lyceum Notes.

"Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," still continues the biggest hit the Mack-Leones have produced the present season. The tuneful Cohan song show, a show with music, is drawing the biggest audiences of anything the stock players have played during their present engagement in Duluth.

To date six big audiences have applauded the work of the Mack-Leones in this piece. With four more performances of the present engagement it looks as if the record of attendance will be kept up.

The engagement will continue until Wednesday evening, with a Wednesday matinee.

The Casino theater, New York, has housed many notable productions. The list would total over fifty, with "Florodora and "The Chocolate Soldier" about evenly sharing second honors. The first place goes to the London musical success "Havana," which remained at the Casino for over two seasons, with James T. Powers in the leading role. The Messrs. Shubert are sending Mr. Powers and the original company of over 100 people in "Havana" to the Lyceum theater next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and local theatergoers will have their first opportunity of hearing the bright music of this attractive musical comedy. There are three acts, all of which show scenes in or about Havana, Cuba. The costuming, which is the work of Melville Ellis, is one of the attractive features of "Havana."

The advance sale of seats for Raymond Hitchcock's engagement in "The Man Who Owns Broadway," opened with a rush this morning. It is some time since the popular comedian has been here and his many friends are anxiously waiting to give him a hearty greeting. It is said that the part he plays in this new musical comedy is the best he has ever done. He is supported by a company of selected singers and dancers, who have had the benefit of Mr. Cohan's training, the result of which is said to be one of the best musical organizations now appearing in this country. New York, Chicago and Boston were charmed with the production, which will be seen next Sunday and Monday evenings.

Tuesday and Wednesday We Continue the Formal

SPRING OPENING

THIS formal showing of authentic feminine apparel for Spring and Summer wear is a most creditable exposition of fashionable garments. In the splendid exhibit practical ideas are uppermost, though there is sufficient novelty without undue tendency toward bizarre effects.

Fashion originators have chosen the season's style setting from the French Revolution days. Peasant simplicity is the keynote of the style situation. Pleasing ideas have been garnered from the Directoire Period, popular modes are taken from the Empire Days, and the Middle Ages contribute designing conceptions that combine with Greek and Peasant effects, giving us the most classic apparel for many seasons.

Spring Fashion Tendencies.

The narrow skirt; the heightened waist line; the peasant sleeve; the figure-revealing waist; boleros, actual or simulated; fichus, and wide collars of lace or other material; sheer and often lustrous dress materials; preferably striped designs; the liberal use of wide braids and of lace and other trimmings in band effects, is an accurate brief synopsis of spring fashion tendencies.

The most favored modes of the leading couturiers now have eloquent expression here. Throughout every department of this great store art and commerce are wedded, presenting an aristocratic congress of—

Silks,	Robes,	Gloves,
Millinery,	Jewelry,	Footwear,
French Lingerie,	Dress Goods,	Embroideries,
Suits and Dresses,	Gowns and Waists,	Silk Petticoats,
Novelty Neckwear,	Laces and Ribbons,	Dress Trimmings,
Infants' Wearables,	Hair Ornaments,	Leather Goods.

Careful examination and consideration of which we cordially invite during these days.

DOCTOR PLUNGES TO THE PAVEMENT

Prominent Louisville Physician Killed By Fall From Window.

Louisville, Ky., April 3.—Pitching from the third floor window of his office building today, the body of Dr. C. C. Godshaw landed on the curb below, almost in the midst of a crowd of pedestrians. The plunge resulted in the death of the physician, who was well known in professional circles and active in civic affairs.

The police and coroner immediately instituted an investigation which will show, it is believed, that the doctor, overcome by a spell of dizziness, went to an open window and losing his balance careened out and down to the street.

Friends of Dr. Godshaw say his death is indirectly due to a bullet wound received ten years ago at the hands of a negro coachman. The old wound has given trouble of late to the physician, resulting in periods of dizziness.

FEAR YOUNG MAN HAS BEEN KILLED

Albert Johnson of Marquette County, Mich., Disappeared Suspiciously.

Marquette, Mich., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The relatives and friends of Albert Johnson, a young business man of prominence in Eastern Marquette county, are about convinced that he has been murdered, as he has been missing now for more than a month. The young man was the son of Frank Johnson of Skandia and had charge of the Johnson general store at that place. He also was secretary of the Skandia Creamery company. He was about 25 years of age and of excellent reputation and habits. Johnson left for Minneapolis the latter part of February on business connected with the sale of two car loads of potatoes, which had been shipped to a commission firm some time previous and for which payment had not been made. A card announcing his arrival in that city, dated Feb. 25, was received by his wife, but since then no word concerning him has come to the family.

Photographs and a complete description of his appearance were sent to the police departments of St. Paul and Minneapolis, and a search was instituted. No trace whatever has been found of the young man. As he would have had considerable money in his possession in case he made the collection for the potatoes, it is the theory and the fear that he has met with foul play of some kind. It was believed some time ago that the body of the man found in the oil tank car at Chicago might be that of Johnson, since it had passed through Minneapolis, but it was found that the remains were not his. The dead man had a mustache, while Johnson was smooth faced.

WOMAN'S REALM.

The new features in the spring display of fashions are many and attractive. Each line of wearing apparel has added charm for the feminine heart this season and hard it will be for women with a slender purse to deny themselves the exquisite toilets which are displayed.

The Paris authorities have announced that the styles of the early part of the French Revolution will be the models upon which this summer's styles will be chiefly based. This was a simple becoming style with daintiness and prettiness combined, which promises a summer costume of unusual charm. The Charlotte Corday model will be extremely fashionable. The slightly full skirt, the high-waisted bodice with the flat basque at the back and the fichu, will be one of the new fashions for summer.

Useless accessories will be discarded by the sensible girl in her quest for simplicity and many of the little frills of the past seasons will be laid aside. The summer girls must be straight and slim, but the new fashions have a tendency in their long, straight lines to make even the plump girl look slimmer than she ever looked before, so this style need not cause her unhappiness.

Although slimness is the requirement, the skirts are made slightly fuller than during the past season. The Charlotte Corday model has a slightly fuller overdrapery and many of the skirts are made with a short yoke to which a gathered flounce is attached. The tunic skirt keeps right on being modish. It is, however, greatly varied in effect. A new skirt finish is the foot plaiting of satin, beneath a tunic of striped velling, for instance, a satin foot plaiting will appear. This is another of the Charlotte Corday fashions.

For practical every day wear, plain gored skirts will be worn, also the skirt cut in two pieces with a seam over each hip.

The New Jackets.

In jackets, the little Eaton cut is the newest fashion mark and is offered in many of the newest and highest priced suits Many of them are made of plain material to be worn over gowns of striped voile and chiffon. The jacket may be of satin-cloth or of plain satin. The sleeves of this little coat are generally short. Many of them are the peasant cut which can only be used with success in the short cut sleeve on account of the shortness of reach which it gives, unless it is allowed to slip up when the arm is raised.

The every day street suit which is being shown most extensively here, however, is the plain tailored suit with a jacket which reaches just below the hips with a very plain tailored sleeve. The sailor collar appears on many of these, with the long revers with satin or moire facing. The wide Hercules braid is also used a great deal in trimming these coats.

The Street Suits.

The materials used for the street suits are of the finest mannish mixtures, fine worsteds, serges and other plain weaves. The silk wool poplins are beyond comparison for extreme style and the shadow stripes and checks are extreme favorites. White serges in all weaves and also the black and white striped serge are better than ever for summer wear and are made mostly on strictly tailored lines with the new fashion features brought out, as in the darker suits.

Sleeves in the dresses are all of the peasant order, the one-piece cut. Though they are close, they are not as tight-fitting as they were, many of them showing a decided flowing effect. Short sleeves will be in vogue this summer, though many three-quarter sleeves will be worn. The new feature of the peasant sleeve is the cuff-band.

The bodice, which, by the way, is revealing the figure more than it did a few months ago, will be much seen this summer with a little old-fashioned basque. This peplum, or basque, is another of the modes borrowed from the fashions of the early part of the French revolution.

Since it is the close falling dress that is being worn, the fabrics must of necessity be adapted to this mode. The softest of silks will be worn this summer, especially the foulards and the veiling materials such as marquisettes, chiffons and voiles will be more fashionable than ever. They are seen in endless variety of patterns which exquisite floral borders predominating. The Oriental border is not as much favored as it was last season.

Stripes are the vogue, especially in the chiffons, voiles and tissues, and the many lovely tub fabrics. These latter materials, though inexpensive, have borrowed much charm both in design and coloring from the more expensive vellings. The organdies in their flowered designs come in soft tints with large or small designs. Many of them are bordered with elaborate flower designs.

The cotton voiles in varied patterns and the marquisettes are also among the most favored wash materials.

The mercerized effect of the new madras is so very silky and beautiful that one hardly recognizes the madras of other years. This comes in the loveliest of soft blue, yellow and pale pink.

In these wash goods many corded fabrics carry out the striped effect and while much like pique in appearance they are much lighter in weight and so launder more easily.

Two-colored costumes this season will be much seen. Some of the combinations are the most daring, colors being combined which one never dreamed of putting together formerly.

The new mode in the lingerie dresses this summer is the combination of a plain colored fabric with the all-over embroidery. For instance, a deep hem of some color such as gold, pink or blue will be put on a gown of white, giving the effect of a colored drop skirt and the same color will appear at the neck, waist and sleeve ends.

Beads In Favor.

Beads and beads and beads will be worn as trimming in the most effective designs on the dainty little chiffon over-blouses cut on jumper lines and also on cotton voile and cotton marquisette waistings. The beads are extremely effective in many shades of blue, white, and brilliant Oriental colors. Opal beads, too, are being used effectively on satins and silks in the evening gowns.

The blouse with the collarless neck will be even more fashionable this summer than it was last. The special new feature of this year is the very wide, round collar, which is also seen in sailor shape. This is made of embroidery and oftentimes of silk or satin, worked in heavy colored floss.

Sashes will be much worn this season especially with organdie and embroidered mull. The brilliant color note which appears in the new evening fabrics is also a distinguishing mark of the new ribbons this season. The fancy ribbons will also be used extensively. Probably the newest sash is one showing a large Japanese bow, with two long ends. This is worn at the back, the long ends hanging to the skirt hem.

The waist line in the summer frocks varies and the wearer may suit her own notion in this respect and still be in vogue. The very high empire line is very much used, the waist line raised two or three inches above the normal, and the perfectly round waist line are all good, so worry on this feature may be entirely eliminated.

The petticoats, whether of the costly type or of a kind within the possibilities of the average women, are charming this season. This article of wearing apparel has been rather superfluous during the recent seasons and discarded altogether with many of the modish winter frocks, but it really cannot be dispensed with when one comes to the season of sheer muslins and summery stuffs and the new petticoats are delightful. They are made of the fine soft muslins free from stiffening and are fitted smoothly as possible over the hips and down to the top of the deep flounce. The flounces as a rule are shaped affairs set on the body of the skirt smoothly. Of course they widen toward the bottom, but merely in a gentle ripple without a suggestion of crispness. The trimmings are mostly of the softest embroidery or lace.

The night gowns are bewitching affairs of sheer soft material, most of them made with low necks and the tiniest of sleeves which in some instances are merely tiny puffs over the shoulders.

The kimona or peasant sleeve has also invaded the realm of underwear and most of the smartest and finest night gowns show sleeves and shoulders, sleeves and yokes or sleeves and bodice cut together. Fine Irish and Val laces are used in effective trimming designs.

In these days of long straight lines the corset plays an important part in the costuming of milady and the slender models are the popular ones still. Some of them are so long at the sides that they reach nearly to the stocking tops making only an inch or two of garter necessary. Of course the bones end at the usual point, but the soft corset material continues and is strapped down so that the line of demarcation even under the softest and most narrow of unpetticoated dress skirts is unnoticeable.

Hair Dressing.

With the simpler gown the simpler modes of dressing the hair are in fashion. One style good for a young girl is the low pompadour and the Psyche knot. The parted hair brought down at the side of the face in soft waves and coiled at the back of the head a couple of inches above the nape of the neck is also good. Curls are not being worn as much as they were a couple of years ago but soft puffs are very good and are worn high in the back of the head. Of course for the young girl the elaborate ornaments for the hair are not in good taste especially in the daytime but the simple shell adornments are as much worn as ever. For evening wear the bands of soft ribbon with bead trimming or gold or silver braid are very good and soft roses made of silk or satin are used profusely.

The New Hats.

In the military departments one sees such bewildering displays of exquisite creations that the art of picking becoming hats needs careful attention. The styles in hats this season are many and varied and there is no reason why every woman should not be well suited in her head dresses.

Although feathers are used on some of the dress and picture shapes this spring, ribbons and flowers are the most modish trimming. Roses lead all other flowers and the small buds are best although a good many large flowers are effectively combined with bows and knots of ribbon.

Many of the new spring hats show irregular brims, which have becoming little curves or points. The helmet shapes are very good among the brimless hats and the small tailored hat of black is the favorite spring street hat.

Many of the smart French hats for spring are of black with the exception of one of brilliant color touch. This vivid color-note is often introduced by a cluster of flowers, and the way they are arranged is the new feature of these hats this spring. Instead of being laid flat on the brim in wreath effect, they stand up so high that one almost mistakes them for a small rosebush or a diminutive geranium plant.

Lingerie hats will also be very much worn this summer. Those of embroidered mull are most fashionable. Lace frills are used to trim the underbrim of many of them and a pretty color touch is given with flowers or ribbon.

One of the fashionable outing hats for the spring is a collapsible hat which can be folded flat and packed in a suitcase or trunk with little difficulty. This is made of natural canvas cloth, lined with tapestry and trimmed with a flat bow of soft braid or silk which does not crush and which is very chic.

Shoes for Summer.

Satin shoes for the summer are the newest thing in footwear. Dainty little pumps in black, white, and colors to match the gowns are shown and the one-strap slipper is also good. White canvas as usual will be much worn and the canvas boot in button and lace style will also be much worn.

Stockings are much the same this season. They will be worn to match the shoe even in black. The stocking which matches the gown will not be worn with the black shoe as much as last season but a dainty touch of color may be given to the black slipper for evening wear by adding a tiny rosette of tulle the color of the gown.

With the short sleeves the long glove will of course be in demand and exquisite styles are shown in the shops. They are made in blacks, whites, and the new season colors. Elbow length kid gloves will also be very good for street wear. Splendid street gloves in cape kid, in tans and browns are shown for street wear with suits, at only 75 cents and $1.00.

Neckwear is not as important an item in the wardrobe accessories as when high-necked gowns were in vogue, however, for wear with tailored waists the shops are showing some dainty jabots of mull and lace, of Irish crochet, and of ribbon concoctions which are very dainty and alluring and which add an effective touch to the plainness of this style of a waist.

Hand bags, too, this season are many of them new styles. Velvet and suede bags have been very good and satin and cloth bags made of a material to match the suit are also popular. The black and white effect is carried out here, too, bags of black and white striped satin being made up. These bags are not so enormous as they have been although they are still of good size. The silver mesh bag continues in favor and exquisite showings of them are being made in the shops.

Full Report of Red Wing Investigation in Club Magazine

Mrs. Isabel A. Higbee, president of the state federation, has written urging the widest possible circulation of the April number of the Courant, the official organ of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, which will be devoted to a consideration of the recent investigation of the Red Wing state reform school for boys and the result disclosed, as well as the conclusions that may be drawn from them.

The number is considered a very important one and to aid in securing a wider circulation for this month, the paper will be sold for 5 cents a copy instead of the usual price, and any one interested is asked to communicate with Mrs. F. L. Barrows, 12 North Nineteenth avenue east, either by note or telephone. The orders must be in within a day or so.

People who have been watching the Red Wing training school investigation will be interested in a communication received last week by a resident of St. Paul, from F. H. Briggs, superintendent of the state agricultural and industrial school of New York, which is maintained to care for and train incorrigible boys.

Supt. Briggs employs no harsh measures whatsoever in the management of the New York institution. On the contrary, the boys are given almost absolute freedom. There are no bolts and bars and there is no whipping. Kindness coupled with continued instructive methods is used to build good minds and clean characters, while the body is built up by out-of-door employment congenial to the nature of the boy.

In his letter Supt. Briggs says:

"Repressive measures can never develop right character or arouse and stimulate self respect and a desire for better things.

"The boys for whom schools for juvenile delinquents care are more sinned against than sinning. The vast majority of them have never known what proper home training means, nor have the principles of right living ever been instilled into their minds. It would be just as logical for a missionary to attempt to convert the heathen with a club as for the people in charge of these schools to endeavor to teach the beauty of truthfulness, honesty, decency and self control by means of straps and blows.

"We have 718 boys here in Industry, living in thirty-one different groups which are widely scattered over a tract of 1,400 acres of land. We have no bars, no cells and absolutely no place where a boy may be locked up or confined. The boys live in groups of twenty-five in a cottage in charge of a man and wife.

No Attempt at Surveillance.

"The boys are very carefully classified so that the vicious and immoral may not be brought in contact with those who are of better character. The better boys live in nineteen farm colony groups, each colony having its separate farm, cattle, horses, swine, poultry, sheep and pets. No attempt is made to maintain surveillance over these farm boys either by day or night, and the sentiment among them is such that they would resent it as a stain upon their honor if it was suggested to them that it was necessary to watch them.

"The boys who are vicious or immoral and who, because of these habits, have to be watched, live in cottages of the industrial group and work at some particular trade, the supervisor of the cottage being also the instructor in the trade followed by the boys at that cottage. These boys are under constant supervision, both a day and night watchman being employed. When a boy proves uncontrollable in any cottage he is sent to the disciplinary cottage, which is constructed exactly like any of the others, but while he is at this cottage he is called upon to do the difficult, unpleasant and laborious tasks of the school.

Corporal Punishment Forbidden.

"He earns his meals by doing a reasonable amount of work. If he is disposed to violence or if it is known that he will attempt to run away at any moment, his hands are handcuffed together. The fact that we have but four pair of handcuffs shows to what extent this is resorted to. Corporal punishment is absolutely forbidden and a person who strikes a boy is severely disciplined. Handcuffs are not allowed at any cottage except the disciplinary.

"We rely upon incentives rather than punishments. The psychology of punishment is wrong. Emphasis should always be placed upon the thing that we desire to have copied. No great painter or sculptor puts a caricature before his pupils and instructs them to avoid it, but rather he places before them the highest models of art procurable and asks them to pattern after them. Everything possible is done to develop a boy's respect, to arouse his love of approbation and to make him feel that the officers and teachers of the school are his friends."

Church Meetings.

Trinity Guild will hold an all-day meeting tomorrow in the Guild hall.

THE EVENING STORY

The Measure of Love

By Jane Harris.

Some years ago, while passing through Philadelphia, I called at the city hospital to see an old classmate who was then serving on the staff as physician.

While waiting for him to finish up his evening calls, I was taken into the "special visitors'" room; and had not been there long when another man came in with a nurse who seemed to be explaining to him that an operation had been performed on his son and that, owing to som ecomplication, a bad turn was likely to occur at any minute.

"But we hope he may pass over the critical time before morning," continued the nurse, "and perhaps you might like to wait?"

"Certainly—certainly," exclaimed the man in an automatic fashion, as he sank into a chair beside an open grate in which burned a bright fire of logs.

Some time passed before the man looked up and when he saw me he started as people always do when they think themselves all alone and suddenly discover another person looking at them. But he did not speak, his two hands rested on the crook of his walking stick and his shoulders and head were bent forward until his chin almost touched his work worn fingers, making him look old and feeble, although when he came in I thought him only middle aged and rather rugged in appearance.

One would have found his attitude odd or grotesque if the expression on his face had not been pathetic in the same degree.

The March wind blew the sleety rain against the windows in whirling splashes; and, instinctively my eyes sought the more cheerful light of the log fire, into which my companion was also gazing.

Our thoughts were interrupted presently by footsteps in the corridor outside, and they came nearer I saw the old man tighten the hold on his cane until the veins in the back of his hands bulged. Our eyes glanced upward and met with a shock that was almost physical. The door of the room opened to admit a well dressed man followed by an interne who said, "The doctor thinks the case a difficult one, but I will be able to tell you something definite within an hour."

When he closed the door the young man crossed the room and sat down on a davenport, laying his hat and gloves beside him mechanically.

The old man, who had attempted to rise from his chair when the door opened, sank back again heavily and one word escaped his lips:

"God!" he said.

Only one word, but the suffering of a life time was summed up in his tone.

I got up from my chair and walked to the window, looking out at the storm.

How long I stood there I cannot say for my thoughts were busy with the problems of life, the life that these two men, (so different in appearance and circumstances) were trying to solve, so that each might wrench from the future the secrets which fate still held in her unbreakable silence.

A hasty movement from the younger man caused me to turn around in time to see him cross the room and stop in front of the fire place. Looking up at him the old man groaned as if the sight hurt him.

"Are you waiting for news, too?" asked the young man, suddenly.

It seemed as if he had stood the strain of suspense as long as he possibly could and just had to speak to some one, turning with the world-old instinct of human nature to a fellow man who was "a brother in sorrow."

The old man blinked his eyes, and his lips parted with a mumbling sound. Then he cleared his throat and said with a smile in which there was not the least suggestion of mirth, "Yes, my boy, sir, was brought here this morning and then they sent me word by the telephone to come at once, 'cause he was that bad they wuz goin' to operate on him for—for—

"Appendicitis?" supplied the young man.

"That's it, that's it!" agreed the old father, pleased that some one understood even that much of his trouble. "And I've been here since 'leven o'clock, sir, 'cause my lady she had the young coachman drive me around right away when the news came—I've been with the family for forty years, you see, and they are kind like to me. 'God bless you, Patrick,' says she when I came away, for she knew my boy's mother afore we married, her bein' my lady's maid, and many's the time she's helped me out in raisin' the boy since my wife—God rest her—died when he was a little shaver not 5 years old." The old man stopped, drawing in his breath with a half sob; then he looked up quickly and said, "Dear me, I never asked you who you wuz waitin' for, did I?"

"My wife—appendicitis, too, but she has been here a week and was getting along fine until today, when she had a sinking spell, and now we are afraid"—here the young husband broke off suddenly, turning again to look into the grate fire.

"Oh, I hope she will get better, sir, indeed I do," exclaimed the old man. "You see, she, bein' young, stands a good chance, like my boy—why, he ain't never been sick in his life, 'ceptin' measles and them baby things he had years ago, and he has had good trainin' outside o' his eddication, sir, for I likes to see a man use his hands as well as his head, and after his nine year schoolin' I had him take up this gymnastic business until he got to be a teacher at that, and he sure was great at it—why, I got a whole room full o' school prizes and badges he's took at these here things. Ah! but he's the fine lad, sir, and there's no danger for him, seein' he is so strong." There was a pathetic note in the old man's voice, however, and he looked up appealingly at the younger one, as if he would have welcomed some assurance as to his son's recovery other than his own hope.

Suddenly, from somewhere in the distance we heard a scream—intense and full of agony—then silence. "God!" ejaculated the younger man, "what was that?"

But there was no answer to his question. From time immemorial the "why" of human suffering has gone unanswered, and to his query there was no reply.

Instead, the fire burned low in the grate, the embers glowing red as if in a last effort to make the dismal night a bit more cheerful.

"Have you any children?" This simple question must have cost the old father much; in its asking he put aside an anxiety too deep for words, merely to divert the younger man's thoughts.

"No," he returned; "we have been married only a year. Tomorrow is our anniversary, and I had planned to surprise her with a deed to our new home, made out in her own name, but now—"

"Oh, she'll be all right, I'm sure of it. The girls is all breakin' their hearts over my Jim, sir, and I don't say as I won't be glad when he has a nice little home of his own, for I've worked long and faithful for him, and my lady will give me an annuity any time I wants to quit my gardenin', but I likes to think I'm some use, even yet, so I'll just putter along 'till Jim is settled"—his reminiscence was cut short by the sound of feet in the hallway again. So interested in the two men had I become that I was almost trembling when the door opened. What news would the nurse bring? And to whom? She closed the door and stopped for an instant as if gathering strength to go on. Then she crossed the room and stood in front of the old man. "Mr. Conlon," she said gently, "I am very sorry, but I have bad news for you. Your son has just died. He came out of the operation all right and asked for you. Then suddenly he collapsed, and the end came quickly."

She paused as if unable to go on, and then added, "If you wish to go up to the room tonight, I will come again in a little while and take you."

Turning, she quietly went out of the room, leaving the poor father and the young husband together before the fast-dying fire.

He crumpled down into his chair as if stricken with death; his eyes became glassy and stared straight ahead, seeing nothing, and the gnarled hands worked convulsively.

The sight was too much for me. I turned to the window, and looking out, seemed to see the street reaching on and on for miles into a land upon which no eyes have yet gazed. Then I heard the voice of that old father speaking, in accents that were not akin to his speech of but a short while ago. Was he talking to himself? No! He was standing beside the younger man, who had turned, instinctively as if to support and comfort him, and was saying over and over, "He's dead! My boy, my Jim—dead!"

The young man grasped his hand and held him tightly, but there were no words, sympathy is better felt than spoken.

The nurse came in and found them so; but she did not waver. The old man moved aside for her to speak to his companion.

"The head surgeon says that the crisis has passed. Your wife has rallied and is resting nicely. If you will come in tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock you can see her for a few minutes," she said softly, then turning to the old man, "Do you want to go up now?" she asked.

But she did not wait for his reply, instead, she stepped out into the hall and waited for him to come.

Then once again these two men turned to each other, but it was the young husband who broke down—probably the tension of his endurance snapped now that the strain was so suddenly removed — anyway it was "Jim's" father who spoke first.

"You'll have her again tomorrow, like you wuz plannin', but a man can't never have a boy over again, so I've lost all; but I suppose that's how some things is to be in this world. I'll just be goin' now, and I want you to feel I'm glad you will be happy, even if I can't help wishin' it had a been the other way; you see he wuz all I had since his mother—God rest her—went away and left him in my care, and o' course I can't help wantin' him, seein' I wuz his dad, sir!"

And then he turned to go, groping feebly with his cane. At the door he looked back and saw the younger man holding out his hand as if to detain him—tears in his eyes, and a look of sincere sympathy on his face.

"No," said the old man, sadly, "there ain't no use. I know what you wants to say, and you're real kind, but my heart can't stand them kind words—not just now, it wouldn't be natur'."

With that he went down the hall, followed by the nurse—went to look for the last time upon the face of his boy, his "Jim."

And I was minded of the sonnet which many of us read in the springtime of our youth—

"How do I love thee, let me count the ways—
I love thee to the depth and breadth and height
My soul can reach."

MARINE NEWS

ORE SEASON WILL BE LATE

Little Demand Developing at Lower Lake Receiving Points.

Business Outlook Improving and Rush Is Expected After Opening.

From present indications ore shipments will begin late this year. One reason is the large amount of ore on the stock piles at the lower lake ports. There has not been a heavy demand for iron and structural steel during the winter, with the result that the stock piles have not been depleted.

From present indications it seems hardly probable that the season will open much before the end of the present month, except for the shipping of a few scattered cargoes. In this way the season will differ greatly from last season, which had a rather early opening.

If the business outlook continues to improve and the number of blast furnaces increases, there may be a rush shortly after the season starts. The iron and steel trade has been undergoing a steady improvement and with a general improvement in the business situation, especially in regard to the outlook for a big crop, it is believed that there will be a heavy demand for steel rails on the part of the railroads.

Few improvements on the railroads, or increases in mileage, have been made during the past two years. Conservative men believe that the indications for a big crop will mean that the long deferred improvements and increases in mileage will come this year.

Naturally this would be felt in the steel and iron business and would result in a heavier output from the mines controlled by the Steel corporation. It is stated here that a number of independent mines have contracted for some large shipments.

MOVEMENT TO BE LIGHT

No Rush in Sight for the Opening of Navigation.

Package Freighters Will Leave April 15 If Ice Conditions Permit.

As far as is known here at the present time the scheduled opening of navigation, April 15, will see a number of package freighters leave the Duluth harbor.

Whether navigation will be opened that day depends much on whether the ice is out of the St. Mary's river. Reports at the present time state that the river is frozen solid and to date the sun has had little effect upon the solid bed of ice. From he nature of the reports it looks as if St. Mary's river, one of the last places the ice leaves, has more ice at the present time than was the case at this time last season.

It is believed at the present time that there will be a light opening in eastbound package freight, as was the case last season.

From various reports it is believed that there are few fields of ice in Lake Superior. Whitefish bay is clear of ice and many of the harbors on the lake are also entirely clear of all obstruction to the free movements of boats.

In Lake Michigan the ice fields are confined to the extreme northeastern part of the lake. Most of the ice in Lake Huron has drifted on the west shore, and the only ice fields in Lake Erie are confined to the extreme eastern ends.

As has been reported here, vesselmen are very slow in accepting coal tonnage. They want to see some return cargoes in sight, and for that reason many of the well posted marine men look for a very quiet opening in the coal movement.

There are few vessels geing loaded at Buffalo and Cleveland, and the indications that the vessels londed at an early date will be boats that either have had a special rate quoted them or have some assurance of a return cargo.

EASTON ON FIRST TRIP.

Booth Line Boat Leaves for North Shore Points and Isle Royale.

The steamer Easton of the Booth line left yesterday at 10 o'clock for north shore points and Isle Royale. The first trip out of the season for the boat means a full cargo of merchandise and provisions, for some of the settlers on the north shore are in need of provisions by the time the boat arrives.

It will be some time before the America will be able to make the trip up the north shore, as she is in drydock for overhauling.

AMERICA WILL BE LENGTHENED.

The steamer America of the Booth line will have eighteen feet added to her length. The boat was taken Friday to the Superior shipyards, where the lengthening will be done. In addition the vessel will receive a thorough overhauling.

The steamer J. J. Boland was moved Saturday from the dry dock to the Osborne dock.

LIGHT KEEPERS AT THEIR POSTS

Duluth, Grand Marais and Two Harbors Lights Now Burning.

Lighthouse tenders for Two Harbors and Grand Marais left for their stations Saturday and their lights were burning last night. The steamer Marigold, which has been at the Head of the Lakes this winter, will take out the keepers of the other lights within a few days.

Capt. Alex Shaw of the local station resigned Dec. 15, and has been succeeded by Capt. Charles Lederle. The local station will be lighted this evening, for the first time the present season.

DEMAND FOR TONNAGE.

Vessel Owners Not Willing to Take Coal Without Return Cargoes.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 3.—Prominent coal shippers estimate the coal shipments the first week or ten days after navigation opens will not exceed 200,000 tons and will probably amount to about 150,000 tons. Some of the shippers who have been seeking boats to move at the opening of the season have been unable to get as much tonnage as they would like. They find vessel owners are without return ore cargoes and are not willing to take any chances this season. A similar condition prevails at Buffalo, where anthracite coal shippers have done some chartering with July 1 option of sailing. The steamer Dickson is loading at Toledo and the steamer Ellwood at Ashtabula.

APPOINTMENTS MADE FOR HUTCHINSON FLEET.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 3.—The appointments of the captains and engineers for the boats of the Hutchinson fleet were announced Saturday. A few changes in the captains were made and one mate was given a captain's berth. Capt. C. L. Seelye, who was mate of the steamer D. R. Hanna last season, will sail the steamer E. M. Peck. The appointments follow:

J. J. Sullivan, W. P. Benham, master; Fred McLaughlin, engineer.
D. R. Hanna, S. B. Massey, master; Anton Rud, engineer.
Joseph G. Butler, Jr., James Murphy, master; James Connors, engineer.
A. A. Augustus, Emil Detlefs, master; George Blauvelt, engineer.
John Stanton, C. H. Heaton, master; Hugh McLaughlin, engineer.
W. A. Paine, C. A. Benham, master; C. R. Maples, engineer.
John A. McGean, U. S. Cody, master; Calvin Smith, engineer.
Martin Mullen, Fred R. Goodrow, master; Henry T. Landers, engineer.
J. T. Hutchinson, T. W. Lawler, master; Peter Wilson, engineer.
James P. Walsh, C. D. Stomler, master; H. J. Balfour, engineer.
Harold B. Nye, James F. Goodwin, master; George H. Miller, engineer.
E. M. Peck, C. L. Seelye, master; Walter Anton, engineer.
Abyssinia, T. Y. Woodward, master.

RATES ARE DECLINED.

Vessel Men Refuse to Take Grain for Buffalo at 1 ½ Cents.

Although there has been some loading of grain at Port Arthur and Fort William for sailing at the opening of navigation, there has been no activity in grain in local circles. Here the grain men have offered a rate of 1½ cents to Buffalo, and this has been refused by the vessel men. The Canadian rate via Montreal at the present time is 5½ cents with some business done at 5 cents.

The indication at the present time is for a very light opening in grain, with the indication also that there will be no chartering done until some time after the opening of navigation.

Local Lake Carriers' Office.

J H. Currie will be in charge of the Lake Carriers' office here this year. H. Wellet will be his assistant. Mr. Currie was in charge of the office last season.

NEW BOILERS IN HOOVER AND MASON.

Detroit, Mich., April 3.—Three Scotch boilers, which will carry a steam pressure of 225 pounds, are being placed on the steamer Hoover and Mason at the Ecorse plant of the Great Lakes Engineering works. The Scotch boilers are being substituted for a set of water tube boilers that were installed when the steamer was built six years ago and which were tested to carry 250 pounds of steam pressure. The dimensions of the new boilers are length 11.5 feet, diameter 11.5 feet.

The Hoover and Mason is owned by G. A. Tomlinson, Duluth. It is understood that Scotch boilers will be substituted next season for the water tube boilers in the steamer James E. Davidson, which belongs to the same owner and is a sister ship of the Hoover and Mason.

Gets $2,750 for Life.

Menominee, Mich., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A settlement has been reached in the case of the estate of the late Emil Helstrom vs. the Chicago & North-Western railroad. Helstrom was killed by falling under an ore car while in the employ of the company. Negligence was claimed, it being alleged that the car was not properly equipped with brakes. Solicitors for the complainant settled for $2,750.

CAT GIBBET IS A NEW INVENTION

Tell your mouser to beware of the "cat gibbet." 'Tis a deadly instrument which seizes and instantly garrotes any inquiring feline that sticks its nose into it. A powerful spring seizes tabby about the neck and it loses its nine lives in about a minute and a half. The machine is baited with catnip and is capable of doing deadly service.

Some householders are considering importation of several "cat gibbets" to rid Duluth of its surplus cat population. Cats of all kinds from the alley yowler to the cushioned aristocrat are held to be a menace to public health and public peace. There is mighty little difference in cats and that difference is only that of degrees of badness, said an official of the health department. There is the backyard sloper, the spinster's pet and the long haired blue ribbon wearer who feasts on liver or sirloin and sleeps on a silk cushion. The first is worst, the second is worse and the third is bad. There is no heath in 'em.

As a race cats are extremely dangerous to humanity, said the official. As disease disseminators they are as great a menace as the rat. The rat let it be borne in mind, is being exterminated because it carries the bubonic plague. Cats sometimes have tutberculosis, said the official, and ought to be chucked into the lake.

$480 Verdict Against Liveryman.

Eau Claire, Mich., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The jury having the case of Miss Bertha Spencer vs. James Grinsell, the liveryman, brought in a special verdict allowing the plaintiff $480 for injuries received last August when the buggy in which was Miss Spencer and in which he alleged she received permanent injuries.

IRON AND STEEL.

Number of Contracts for Structural Work Made Last Week.

New York, April 3.—The most interesting developments in the steel industry last week were connected with structural contracts for commercial buildings and the prospect for some important railroad work. Arrangements have been made with foreign interests to finance the building of a warehouse in Boston for which fabricated steel, estimated at 14,000 tons, will be required.

It has also been arranged that the American Bridge company will furnish the 7,900 tons of steel required for the McAlpine hotel. Steel required for the Epstein building, at Baltimore, will aggregate 2,300 tons, and 2,700 tons of Bethlehem shapes will be used in the construction of the Trinity corporation New York printing house. The contract for the Avery building, Columbia university, has gone to the American Bridge company. Total fabricated orders in all sections were about 35,000 tons.

The Pennsylvania railroad is on the point of closing contracts for the construction of the connecting line between the Long Island and New Haven railroads, which will eventually result in the building of the Hell Gate bridge, the main span of which will require 60,000 tons of steel.

The United States Steel corporation submitted the lowest bid for the emergency lock gates at the Panama canal, requiring about 12,000 tons of steel plates.

Contracts for rails aggregated 36,000 tons, including 5,000 tons for the St. Paul, 7,000 for the Pere Marquette, 10,600 for the Western Maryland and 4,000 tons for the Lehigh & New England.

There was more activity in pig iron in the end of last week the American Locomotive company being the largest buyer.

GOVERNOR CRITICIZED.

Le Seur County People Tired of Condemned Murderers' Outbreaks.

Le Sueur Center, Minn., April 3.—Martin O'Malley, the condemned murderer who is confined in the county jail here, broke out again Friday noon in all his fury. He made a savage attack on Sheriff Pat Keogh, striking him on the head with a coal scuttle and cutting a deep gash over his eye. Several stitches were taken to close the gap. During the scuffle O'Malley bit the jailer on the arm.

The sheriff and the jailer succeeded in handcuffing O'Malley and he will be held in restraint.

This is the third attempt O'Malley has made on the life of his keepers.

The people in Le Sueur Center are much wrought up over the latest outbreak and Governor Eberhart is coming in for a great deal of censure for his failure to perform his duty and sign O'Malley's death warrant. The people of Le Sueur Center are of the opinion that O'Malley is feigning insanity for the purpose of securing a commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment.

The people your property would appeal to are, almost surely, readers of Herald real estate advertising.

The Glorious Hats of Spring

Hats are large! Hats are small! Hats are abloom with flowers of June—hats are severely tailored, almost without ornament save their own artistic lines. And hats are plumed as never before! In short, madame—You may choose the most becoming hat and enjoy the satisfaction of knowing it to be the very hat fashion most favors for you, whether it be a plumed or tailored Helmet—a soft-nestling Turban — or a Picture Hat of superb, sweeping lines.

The variety of shapes is endless—the colorings are gloriously seasonable. Your face—your complexion and the color scheme of your suit or gown can be delightfully considered. We show no two hats alike. Other stores cannot and we will not duplicate our hats!

In fact—our styles are most "wearable"—We may have rejected the very extreme models, but our buyers carefully searched New York for days gathering the patterns you see here! And the patterns are side by side with hats from our own workroom—and these are the hats of which we are most proud! Your pleasure can hardly exceed ours in this showing. Come—welcome to see—to "try on"—or to buy as pleases you.

Hats For Women Who Are No Longer Young.

We are not indifferent to the quieter tastes of mother and grandmother. So many stores fail to provide for them—but here are dozens of hats which are stylish and becoming, yet dignified and refined.

Hats For Little Miss Duluth and Her Friends.

Girlish as can be—styles you'd think just "too sweet" for any but your own dear little ones. It is really a privilege to have such a charming assortment to choose from! And at such fair prices!

The Suits—the Gowns—the Coats and the Blouses Are New and Fascinating, Yet Moderate in Price

THE way the practical has been kept in mind is one of the pleasantest features of this Style Show. Suits take first place this spring—and one of our makers is one of the three New York houses filling orders for aristocratic houses on the other side. America certainly leads in the making of plain tailored suits, as you who have traveled much abroad will testify.

Attractive as the styles are—the prices are even more so! They range $22.50 to $85.00—and at each price the values and qualities are the most attractive we have ever offered! And that is saying a good deal, isn't it?

The Coats Are Coats to Be Proud of

We wish all of you could see how well we prepared for your coat needs—especially with the more practical models such as every woman must have in this climate.

For as little as $15.00 and $18.50 there are coats of real worth and good style. At $22.50 and $28.50 there are most excellent qualities of uncommon style.

At higher prices there are novelties in broadcloths and satins. By the way, those rich black satin coats are "a la mode."

The Dresses Are Adorable, Yet So "Wearable"

The Higher Waist-line is a Pleasing Feature of the New Gowns.

The hobble lines are passing—instead we show you fuller skirts with narrow lines—the fullness is there when needed, yet so cleverly inserted as not to take away from the almost girlish lines of the spring fashions.

Prices $15.00 to $100.00. The models at $18.50, $22.50 and $35.00 are examples of high-class dressmaking at especially low prices.

The Style Show Also Embraces Quality, Fabrics or Beauty and Good Taste

MAKES RICH, RED BLOOD.

Is Delicious. At All Druggists.

How Is Your Weight?

While it is true that too much weight is not to be desired yet the fact remains that many men and women are thin to the point of danger. This danger lies in their having no reserve force or nerve power to combat deadly diseases. A little extra flesh is needed by all to feel well and to look well, and this calls up the question of how best to increase the weight. Physicians and chemists, by experiments have soved the problem of increasing the white and red corpuscles of the blood, by the administration of 3 grain hyponuclane tablets, and this is always followed by an increase of weight. Obtain in sealed packages, and take for a period of several months according to directions with package.

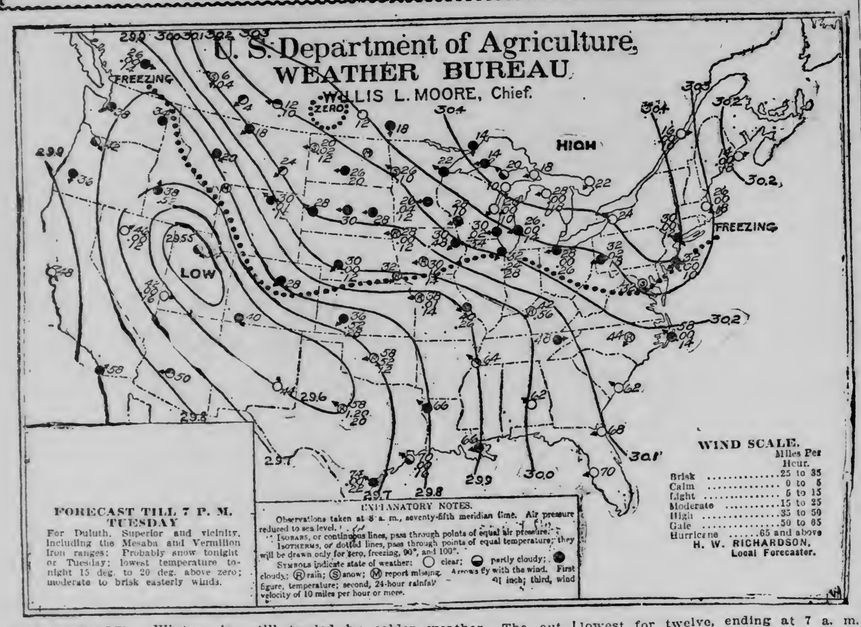
OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



Winter is still hanging on and spring is sulking. Yesterday was some chilly, with a stiff wind blowing the dust around. Today is gray and cold and signs of spring are lacking. From the safe haven of his citadel on the hill, the weather man hands out a prediction of snow and low temperatures for tonight.

Fair weather prevailed a year ago.

The sun rose this morning at 5:45 and it will set at 6:38 this evening giving twelve hours and fifty-three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance central over Utah caused snow or rain throughout the Northwest and grain region states during the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours. Temperatures this morning are somewhat warmer over Manitoba, Western Ontario and Southeastern states in consequence of lower pressure over those districts. An increase in pressure over Alberta, Saskatchewan, Montana, Kansas and Colorado is attended by colder weather. The outlook favors more or less snow and only slight changes in temperature at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, April 3.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Upper Michigan—Unsettled tonight and Tuesday.

This he also considers quite outside the possibility of arbitration.

He believes that to secure such an outlet has been a long-standing secret policy of the German government. In naval and military circles the suggestion has been advanced privately, more than once, that the real objective of the German fleet was the Mediterranean and not the North sea, and Sir Oliver now openly voices the same idea, suggesting that upon the death of the Austrian emperor Germany will make an effort to secure a seaport in the Adriatic with a territorial connection with Germany.

The new German fleet, the writer contends, is intended to overawe Italy and France, that the operation may be done peacefully in spite of their protests. In such an event he maintains that Great Britain should keep her hands off and not attempt to curb Germany's just colonial ambitions.

Treaties With Four Countries.

Washington, April 3.—Representative Foster of Vermont, ranking minority member of the house committee on foreign affairs, predicted at the White House today that arbitration treaties would be negotiated between four of the great powers of the world, the United States taking a leading part in framing the negotiations. Mr. Foster named the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan as the four powers that would enter into such agreements. Eventually, he said, the other powers of the world will be forced to take similar action.

Mr. Foster said that he had had personal conversations with the mayor of Tokio and other Japanese of prominence and that he believed the sentiment of Japan was in favor of such agreements.

33-FOOT LOTS AND A CITY PLAYGROUND IN EVERY NEW ADDITION

est importance. The first two, particularly, have been the subject of much discussion. The question of regulating the size of lots in such a manner that houses can not be jammed on them has been before the city council for several weeks and had not been settled at the last meeting. The action of the plat commission will probably be final, although this is not certain.

The idea of the commission in fixing the minimum frontage at thirty-three feet was that the lot could not be subdivided. If a lot has a frontage of fifty feet, for example, it is an easy matter for the real estate denier to sell half the lot or for the owner to erect two houses on the same lot. It was figured that it would be hard to subdivide a lot with a frontage of thirty-three feet, and that it would be practically impossible to erect more than one house on such a lot. The council has been planning to prevent houses from being built too close by fixing the distance they must be apart. No action of this kind could be taken by the plat commission as it has nothing to do with the houses, but only with the ground itself.

The Playgrounds.

The playground and outdoor breathing spot movement has gained much prominence in the city the last few years. The requirement of the plat commission relative to dedications will give it greater impetus than anything which has been done since its inception. Henceforth it will be impossible to put a new division on the market unless the owner sets aside a block for a small park or a playground. At the same time it will be impossible to crowd the future homes on twenty-five foot lots, as has been done in many sections of the city in the past.

The filing of the blue prints will enable the commission to determine if the platting is being done in the most advantageous manner. It will also be of great assistance to the city assessor when he comes to make his assessments. They will enable him to determine the character of the different lots, and thus arrive at a just valuation. This is in line with the policy which is now being followed in the assessor's office.

The resolution of the commission embodying these different matters took effect April 1. Copies will be forwarded to all civil engineers and surveyors whose names appear in the city directory. The gist of the resolution is as follows:

"(1) Regular meetings of the commission will be held, at the office of the city assessor, on Saturday of each week, at 9:30 a. m., when necessar.

"(2) All plats must be presented to the commission at least one week before being acted on by the commission.

"(3) All plats submitted to the commission must be accompanied by a tracing and two blue prints of the topography (5-foot contours) of the tract proposed to be platted. The blueprints will be retained by the commission, the tracing will be returned to the plattor. Prospective plattors should make a topographic survey of the tract proposed to be platted, and then submit a tentative draft of the proposed plat to the commission, showing the general plan of the proposed plat, before incurring the expense of making survey, placing monuments, or making the formal drafts of their plats.

"(4) The commission will not approve any plat in which the average or unit lot has a frontage of less than thirty-three feet on a street or avenue.

"(5) The commission will not approve any plat in which the proprietor does not dedicate for park and playground purposes a tract containing at least 120,000 square feet for each forty acres platted. Smaller tracts shall contain a dedication for park and playground purposes in like ratio."

INTEREST CENTERS IN MODEROS

will be strongly for peace is the statement of those who claim to know his attitude. The father of the insurrecto leader, it is said, has never given the movement his whole-hearted support and would welcome the end of the war with any reasonable terms. Couriers who left for the insurrecto chief's camp near Chihuahua a few days ago, are now believed to have carried messages from the elder Madero, and these, it is surmised, urged the son to make for peace.

Mail advices from Magdalena, Sonora, declare the insurrectos captured three wagonloads of ammunition which were being sent from Hermosillp to the federal garrison at Ures. The wagon train was guarded by rurales and Yaqui Indians, and it was stated there was heavy loss on both sides.

Rebels Killed.

Chihuahua, Mex., April 3.—Thirty-four rebels were killed and scores were wounded in a clash between a detachment of 350 federal soldiers and 150 insurrectos at Aldama Friday night. The insurrectos are said to have been shot down like rabbits in a running fight following a surprise attack by the federals. Diaz' soldiers declare they lost only four men killed, two of them were lieutenants who led the federals in the chase.

The rout followed an orgy which the insurrectos staged after they had marched into Aldama without resistance early on Friday. Not expecting attack, their officers issued invitations to a dance and then began the killing of twenty head of cattle, announcing that they were preparing the beef for the supper of 1,000 rebels encamped some distance south of the city of Chihuahua.

At the dance both the rebel hosts and their guests drank heavily, and late in the night the insurrecto camp was pitched in a grove near the edge of the town. No rebel sentries were out when the federals launched their attack.

Three new bills came into the house this morning. One by Representative Pfaender appropriates $5,000 to be used in interesting poor children in gardening. The money is to be spent in distributing free seeds and in giving prizes for excellence in gardening.

Representatives Mattson and Rines proposed a bill making the railroad gross earnings taxes payable semi-annually, in March and September, instead of annually, as at present. The other bill was of local interest only.

Representative Ole Peterson succeeded this morning in his second attempt to rescue his bill appropriating $25,000 for a John A. Johnson monument at St. Peter. When he tried the other day to withdraw the bill from the appropriations committee his motion was laid on the table. This morning he had his motion taken from the table by a vote of 61 to 26 and then the bill was recalled from the committee and put on general orders. Representative Peterson will cut the amount asked down to $5,000.

The reapportionment bill did not make its appearance in the senate today, but it is nearly ready and probably will come in tomorrow.

On motion of Senator Weis the Weis-Haycraft-Moonan-Duxbury bill, proposing a constitutional amendment limiting St. Louis, Ramsey and Hennepin counties to four senators each, was made a special order for Thursday afternoon.

BROKE FROM STILLWATER

McCarthy, Wanted in Des Moines, Escaped From Minnesota Pen.

Was Serving Twelve Years for Attempting to Shoot Minneapolis Policeman.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jerry McCarthy, who with Peter Juhl escaped in daring fashion from the Minnesota penitentiary at Stillwater March 4, is accused by the Des Moines, Iowa, police of complicity in the attempted robbery of the Des Moines county treasury early Saturday. The police declare that one of the men arrested confessed, implicating McCarthy and a deputy county treasurer. McCarthy's picture and description have been sent broadcast over the Northwest in an effort to capture him.

McCarthy's spectacular escape from prison had not yet ceased to be the chief topic of discussion among the Northwest police when news of Saturday's affair reached them. As a result the Minneapolis detectives, knowing McCarthy's fondness of going to cities where he is well known, are searching the city and watching trains for him.

Convicted in Minneapolis.

McCarthy was sentenced to prison for twelve years, more than a year ago. He was convicted of attempting to shoot aPtrolman Einar Jonassen, who arrested him as a suspect. McCarthy snatched a revolver from his pocket and aimed at Jonassen, but the weapon was turned in his hand and the bullet entered his own thigh.

McCarthy and Juhl made keys in the prison workshop, unlocked the cell block doors and escaped into the prison yard. Then they scaled the prison walls over the railroad gate and disappeared in the dark.

The Des Moines police are holding Deputy County Treasurer James allaghan and Al Rhodes. They declare Rhodes told his story of the affair, implicating O'Callaghan, Tom Hatch, known also as Jerry McCarthy, and two other men in the futile effort to rob the vault of the county treasurer of $300,000.

McCarthy, alias Tom Hatch, who travels under a dozen different names and is wanted in a half dozen states, is known as one of the most desperate and resourceful criminals in the country.

She had come to Cloquet to visit her widowed mother and a brother, Arthur Cochrane.

A Letter from Caleb E. Johnson

To the Hundreds Who Took Advantage of Free Soap Week

Now that my soaps—Palmolive and Galvanic—are in your homes, I want to be sure that you get the greatest amount of good out of them.

Galvanic Laundry Soap used any way will give better results than common soap. But if used according to directions will be very much superior.

Here's how a million women successfully use Galvanic.

For General Washing—Dampen the clothes in lukewarm water and rub over with soap, particularly the soiled parts. Roll the various pieces up and let them soak from 40 to 60 minutes, or better overnight, in cold or lukewarm (not hot) water.

Or, cut one-half cake of Galvanic into thin shavings and dissolve in one gallon of hot water; then pour into four gallons of warm water and put in as many clothes as water will cover.

By either method the dirt, which is thoroughly loosened, will be readily removed by rubbing between the hands. When the clothes have been thoroughly rinsed and dried you will marvel at their whiteness. No heat. No steam. You have saved your clothes, time, labor and fuel.

Galvanic has dozens of other uses. Try it for washing woolens, carpets, cushioned furniture, cut glass and laces. For general housework, Galvanic is almost indispensable.

Palmolive Toilet Soap makes your skin soft, smooth and healthy. It gives it color, bloom and beauty.

To know more about the uses of Palmolive and Galvanic Soaps send for my two books, "The Easy Way to Beauty" and "The Galvanic Method." I'll send both if you will send me your name.

O-Cedar Polish

My! What A Difference!

BETWEEN the old way and the new—of cleaning house! Not only in the ease but in the result.

The old broom kicked up the dust but it didn't clean. The dust simply floated in the air awhile then settled right back on to the floor, the furniture, into your hair, into your nose, throat and lungs. The tops of the doors and such places seldom were clean. Even scrubbing was not real cleaning. And dusting was nearly as bad as sweeping.

The New Way is so much easier and so much better.

Just push an O-Cedar Polish Mop over the floor. That's all there is to it. The floor is hygienically clean. Not a mere soap and water clean—but really clean. And it is polished, too. No dust, for the mop absorbed all that. You don't wear a dust-cap or old clothes when you clean the O-Cedar Polish Way.

The O-Cedar Polish Duster is for furniture what the mop is for floors. Absorbs the dust and leaves the woodwork polished and clean.

If you find that O-Cedar Polish is not absolutely the best polish, return the unused remains of the bottle and get your money back. And if you have used the O-Cedar Polish Mop or the O-Cedar Polish Duster and for any reason do not wish to keep them, by all means take them back.

Every dealer will return your full purchase price if within two days you wish to return any O-Cedar goods you may have bought.

But we know that you will never want to part with O-Cedar once you begin its use.

THE SIXTY-SECOND CONGRESS.

This week is scheduled to see one of the most important events in the recent history of the country—a change in the character of the national congress. The Republican party, for years in absolute control of all affairs of state, legislative as well as executive, has been removed from power in the lower branch of congress and has been so weakened in the upper house as to make its power there, to say the least, uncertain. For the first time in more than a dozen years the Democratic party, in some points diametrically opposed to the Republican and in others more advanced without being in opposition, is to have absolute control of the house, with a possibility of virtual control of the senate as well. Meanwhile, the fact that the president is a Republican adds to the interest in the situation, and gives a basis for wide speculation as to the character of the relations that will develop between White House and capitol.

As far as the special session called for tomorrow is concerned, the Democratic program is pretty definitely outlined. Ratification of the reciprocity agreement with Canada is to be the first action. After that will come a consideration of the general tariff bill with a view to revision at least of some of the most unjust schedules. How far this will extend is of course problematical. It is easy to believe that, with the responsibility actually on their shoulders, the leaders will be less willing to take immediate and drastic action than some of them have indicated, and may decide to wait for data from the tariff commission. Still, there are some schedules—notably Schedule K—which the president himself does not attempt to defend, and that might well be changed at the special session.

What the effect of this and the next session may be on the politics of the country it is impossible even to guess at. If the Democrats are wise and careful they may well lay the basis for a sweeping victory in 1912. If they make only slight mistakes they may throw that election to the Republicans. Such a condition is nothing new. This time, however, there exists a third possibility, founded on the dissensions within the Republican ranks and on the character of the leaders in the "insurgent" movement. This third possibility is the formation of a new party, made up of the insurgent Republicans and the disappointed Democrats. That the possibility is no idle thought is shown by the unhesitating opposition to President Taft shown by such men as La Follette and Cummins, and their equally insistent refusal to unite with the Democrats in anything that does not further their own ends.

Under such conditions as these the session of congress that will begin tomorrow is bound to be of exceptional importance and interest. The country at large is just now unusually forgetful of party lines. The new congress will give three clearly defined organizations an opportunity to "make good" in the popular mind. Whichever one comes nearest to accomplishing that end will be the one that gets popular approval. The people are awake, and it would seem that the Sixty-second congress, more than any other in recent years, is in a position to act intelligently in accordance with the popular will on all questions. It may well be that this and the later sessions of that body shall prove the most memorable since the period of reconstruction that followed the Civil war.

A MAKER OF MANHOOD.

It cannot help but be a matter of regret to every person who has had the privilege of watching his work, that Dr. Cyrus Northrop has reached the point where he deems it best that he should retire from his position as active head of the University of Minnesota. Nobody can deny that he is entitled to a respite from the labors which he has performed so splendidly for twenty-seven years. But his interest in the institution of which he was the head has been so keen, so intelligent, so active, that it is impossible not to see in his retirement a serious loss to the state and to the university.

There are but two considerations that operate to relieve this sense of loss—the character and record of Dr. Vincent, who succeeds him as president of the university, and the fact that Dr. Northrop does not absolutely sever his connection with the work he has done so long and so well. In his position as president emeritus he will be in a position to advise his successor, to show him clearly the policies which have been followed in university affairs, in short, to help him to take up the work just where it stands instead of making more or less of a blind beginning, and so to carry it on to the full realization of the plans already laid and begun.

But it is not alone as an able administrator, a capable educator, a worthy leader that Minnesota has come to honor Dr. Northrop. He has been in the truest sense a maker of manhood, an individual power in the life of the students. His personality has pervaded lecture room and campus, and his influence has been felt in dormitory and fraternity house. His has been no distant existence recognized by the young men and women of the university only as an impersonal authority which dealt with their affairs in the abstract. Rather he has been a personal factor in their lives, a friend with the power to give encouragement and aid, a master with the ability to know and understand all the small details, the influences, the discouragements, the inspirations that come with student life. Yet, with this relation, he has maintained the dignity of his position, the authority necessary to control of university affairs, and withal he has shown ability to solve the many intricate problems that come to one occupying the position of president of a great and growing university.

Dr. Northrop is not only admired by men in all walks of life. He is respected and loved by those who spent their student years under his administration. He has made a record in the University of Minnesota such as few men are capable of making, for under him the university has turned out not only scholars, but capable men and women. The state regrets that Dr. Northrop has laid down the burdens of active work. It rejoices in the fact that he is not to sever his connection with the university entirely, but will be able to help his able successor in keeping the training of the state's young men and women at the high standard established during his twenty-seven years of splendid service.

RECIPROCITY AND LUMBER.

All sorts of opprobrious epithets are being heaped on the lumber clauses in the Canadian reciprocity agreement by those who are opposed to that arrangement. These provisions are being denounced as a "fake," intended only to make the farmers think they will get something that they will not get. It will not do any harm to look a bit into the details of this phase of reciprocity. Here is the way the agreement as framed leaves the lumber duties:

On every kind of lumber imported from Canada, rough, planed, tongued, grooved, or however finished, the duty is reduced $1.25 a thousand feet. This means that the present duties, which vary from $1.25 to $2.75 per thousand feet, are in some instances entirely done away with as far as imports from Canada are concerned, and in all others are reduced from 45 to 71.4 per cent. It is not fair, therefore, to say, as the opponents of reciprocity are in the habit of saying, that "the duties on manufactured lumber are retained." Indeed, under the terms of the agreement, the duties on all kinds of manufactured lumber with one exception are made lower than the present duty on rough lumber.

It is also a favorite claim, with the opponents of reciprocity, that the only articles of lumber admitted free are those of no use to the farmer. That will bear looking into. When a farmer builds a house he uses heavy, unplaned timbers, and these are to come in free of duty under the agreement; he uses undressed joists, and these are to come in free. He uses rough boards for siding, and these are to come in free. He uses unfinished boards in the roof, and these are to come in free. He uses fence posts and rough boards to enclose the lot where the house is built and these both come in free.

On the roof he uses shingles, and these are to come in on a duty of 30 cents per thousand, instead of having to pay 50 cents per thousand as at present. This shingle item is bigger than it looks. At present the United States is importing $1,750,000 worth of shingles from Canada a year. The reciprocity agreement cuts the duty almost in half.

The claim that the farmer will not be benefited by the lumber agreement will not hold water. And the item is much greater than might be supposed, for official statistics show that we are buying $18,000,000 worth of rough lumber from Canada every year, and paying a duty on it of $1.25 a thousand feet. All of which, and as much more as the trade may demand under the abrogation of the tariff tax, will come in free under the agreement.

THE "DECENCY" CAMPAIGN.

The "Let us be decent" cards of the city health department have been issued. The work they stand for is one that ought to enlist the aid of every respectable citizen. There is no need for the city's sidewalks and the floors of the public buildings to be used as a catchall for the expectorated filth that tubercular, catarrhal or otherwise afflicted persons see fit to discharge.

The campaign should appeal to every citizen all the more strongly because he can take a part in it himself. Take the practice of defiling the street cars in this way, for example. It is the duty of the conductor to put a stop to it whenever he sees anybody violating the ordinance. Also it is the duty of a policeman to arrest a thief. But if you see the theft committed and the policeman doesn't, you tell the policeman. And you also ought to tell the conductor in a similar instance.

The conductors on the Duluth cars are willing to do their share, but they are handicapped by the natural limitations of human vision. Only a couple days ago a woman saw three men seated in different parts of a car deliberately and repeatedly spitting on the floor. She called the conductor's attention to their actions, and he told them to stop or get off the car. In his looking after those three violators of the law he discovered a fourth, and gave him the same admonition. The conductor managed it in such a way that none of the offenders knew that the woman had made the complaint, but it was her complaint that led to the stopping of the nuisance, just the same. And your complaint would be just as effective, if you would take the trouble to make it.

In many cases the violation of the anti-spitting ordinance is due to carelessness or thoughtlessness. In some it is due to ignorance, and in others to contempt for public comfort and health. In the first three cases it can be stopped by a suggestion. In the last case there should be no hesitation in making the offender bear the full force of the law.

The women of the city can do a great deal toward bringing an end to the difficulty. They will earn the thanks of the whole community if they will enter zealously upon the "Let us be decent" campaign.

George B. Cox is indicted again. Queer how these little things grow into a habit if they are persisted in long enough.

The farmers of the South are being urged to abandon tobacco-raising and take to breeding mules instead. It sounds reasonable, if only as a means of getting in an effective kick at the night riders.

A Kentucky judge says that hereafter he will give the limit to all pistol-toters, "white or black, old or young, rich or poor." Kentucky had better move that judge to Breathitt county and put him on the bench for life.

Lina Cavalieri says she hopes the time will come when it will be common for women to wear the harem skirt. It's a safe bet that if that ever happened Lina would insist on appearing in one of the old style, just so as to attract attention.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

SEPARATE THE SHEEP FROM THE GOATS.

To the Editor of the Herald:

I would like to ask through your Open Court column, by what right a young girl is compelled to submit to having her head examined in school, thereby insinuating that she might have vermin? I am well aware that in all schools there are those pupils who do and always will have them, but why insult and humiliate a whole room full of girls and boys, some of whom will be in high school next year (altogether too old to be treated like a lot of dirty little children), in order to reach a few guilty ones?

Would it not be better to offend a few rather than all?

When my daughter said that they had been told that they would all have to have their heads examined before the whole school, and said she did not think it a very nice thing to do, I told her she need not submit to anything of the sort, not thinking they would, only in cases where they were pretty sure they would find them. However, the dreaded day came and none escaped, except the teachers. (I don't know why they were overlooked.) Now it seems to me it ought not to be very hard to tell who have, and who have not "got them," and I believe they should be told privately and kept in seats by themselves when possible.

Thanking you for this space, I am, yours truly,

M. W.

COMES TO DEFENSE OF RABBI LEFKOVITS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your issue of March 30, D. C. Jenkins, arguing that all anarchists are not atheists, assails Rabbi Lefkovitz as being ignorant as well as intolerant. These charges are favorite ones with all defenders of inefficient and sometimes demoralizing philosophies of life. One who hates intolerance should not himself use the word "intolerant" as applying to one who holds the opposite view.

Mr. Jenkins says that Tolstoi was an anarchist. Miss Emma Goldman, the high priestess of anarchy, in answer to a question, said Tolstoi was not an anarchist. Whom are we to believe? Mr. Jenkins said that Tolstoi accepted the Godhead as a source of supreme authority. The words "anarchism" and "authority" are irrevocably hostile to each other. Miss Emma Goldman, representing anarchy, has distinctly stated there is no supreme authority, and there is no God; that materialism is all, and thus; after having ushered out the Deity, she logically preached as demoralizing a system of morals as could well be devised.

For Mr. Jenkin's information, the Jews have never rejected Christ's teachings, for Christ's teachings are Jewish teachings, and uttered by all Jewish leaders of religious thought. They do however, reject certain teachings imputed to Christ; but which according to all reasonable evidence, were never uttered by Him. It is also true that a Jew does not believe that God is three, or two, or anything else except one, everpresent and pervading all.

Everyone knows that the fathers of the republic, who stated that "All governments derive their just powers to govern from the consent of the governed," certainly believed in the existence of God; and their belief in the rights of man certainly did not put them in the class with those who wish to take away all government, and leave man to his own judgment and impulses.

Dr. Lefkovitz never meant to infer that he considered such men as Edison, Maxim or Haeckel as hair-brained. It is indeed impressive that these great intellects admitted Supreme Intelligence. You may call them materialists, but their materialism is of a far different nature than the anarchistic materialism of Emma Goldman. One who makes use of the word "animadverts" should have a thorough conception of "materialism," and should be aware of the multitude of varying conceptions of that term. There is the materialism of an epicurean, and of an Emma Goldman; and there is a materialism so fine that it is spiritualistic, wearing a name more acceptable to scientific ears. L. Z.

Sound and Fury.

Colliers: Reformers are of two types: those who talk large theories and those who do useful specific things. One of the too-little-known fables of Robert Louis Stevenson is called "The Four Reformers:"

Four reformers met under a bramble bush. They were all agreed the world must be changed. "We must abolish property," said one.

"We must abolish marriage," said the second.

"We must abolish God," said the third.

"I wish we could abolish work," said the fourth.

"Do not let us get beyond practical politics," said the first. "The first thing is to reduce men to a common level."

"The first thing," said the second, "is to abolish the laws."

"The first thing," said the third, "is to abolish mankind."

Sometimes the wild theorists help, and again they make more difficult the actual, slow, progressive building of an advancing future.

Experience.

Collier's: At 79 Goethe found his life more valuable and satisfying than in his so-called prime. He was superior in many respects, he said, at 40, but time had more than paid for the advantages of which it had deprived him. We lose with age unless we are able to make a good use of experience—to feed, as Meredith puts it, upon the advancing hour. If action is all we appreciate, old age must mean loss; but if contemplation is among your pleasures, the cool of the evening may surpass in charm the midday sun. The wise man prepares for a happy decline by sobriety, by thought, by unselfish interest, by keeping alive his imagination. Bolingbroke, writing in old age to Swift, rejoiced that the gales of passion were subdued; that for surfeit and anxiety had come serenity, refreshment calm. Indolence means decay. If we do not make gains, our inevitable losses overwhelm us. Sweetness must never be allowed to depart, or enthusiasm, or belief in man.

Too Personal.

Success Magazine: Patrolman Casey had ordered a pair of shoes at Rosenbrig's store and was about to try one of them on when the clerk reached for it and deftly sprinkled some French chalk in it to ease the forthcoming strain. When he handed it back, the patrolman threw it on the floor, pulled on his own shoe and started out.

The proprietor had noted the scene. "What's the matter, Mr. Casey?" he panted as he caught up with him. "Was the clerk sassy or anything?"

For a moment Casey glared at him in almost speechless anger, then observed with icy dignity:

"If I can't come into a place to thry on a pair av shoes without havin' chlooride av lime put in thim beforehand, I'll thrade somewhere ilse."

Virtue's Drawbacks.

Louisville Courier-Journal: There is a grave disadvantage in being as good as Lorimer. You can't give up anything in Lent.

His Life Work.

Puck: "Ah! So this is the oldest inhabitant?" said the city man. "A venerable figure, truly! How do you account for his having lived all these years?"

"Well," a tribe acidly replied the landlord of the Skeedee tavern, "I guess it's becuz he's never done anything else."

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

A Real Governor.

Hutchinson Leader: Woodrow Wilson, the scholar in politics, as governor of New Jersey has shown the professional politicians that they don't know the first principles of the game. Elected as an eminently respectable, but harmless gentleman, he has taken the bit in his teeth and is a real governor. He has defeated the reactionary candidate of his party for the United States senate, he has forced the state legislature to comply with the wishes of the people and enact a primary election law, and he has kicked out the state chairman of his party because he was false to the best sentiment of the people. He has in a few short months made himself the most talked of public man in America, and all because he has played the political game in the interest of the people who put him in office. He looms large as a potential candidate for the presidency in 1912.

Extortionate Express Rates.

Pine County Pioneer: One of the greatest sources of extortion in this country today is the express companies. Their packages are all small and the amount paid is so small on each package that it is hardly noticeable, but at the end of the year it is found that the average business man pays heavy toll to the express companies for the merchandise they carry for him. The business men of the state should get together and see that the matter is properly regulated. Any package of ten pounds or less in weight should be carried from the cities to any point within a radius of 200 miles for 10 cents. The companies can do this and still make money. Of course the dividends paid would not be so high as to take express companies' stock entirely out of the market as 's the case now. If this is not done, the business men of the state could very readily organize a company which would operate on many roads and which would put reasonable rates into operation.

Has Done Good Work.

International Falls Press: The harder and more unselfishly men work for public good the more earnestly a few other men, who scarcely ever give a moment of time or a cent of money for public good, do all they can to minimize and ridicule their endeavor. W. R. Mackenzie is a good man and has done good work for this northern country which is clearly manifested in the many good roads, public schools and taxing of state lands bills which have been generated throughout the state through his efforts as secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association. Mackenzie is O. K. No man could have done better work for this section than he has done. The Press extends to him its heartfelt gratitude and wishes there were more like him.

How to Get Into the Limelight.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: If you can't get into the limelight in any other way, appeal to the legislature and get investigated.

What a Difference.

Menahga Journal: Last fall they told us that in order to pass a reappointment measure it would be necessary to elect county option candidates but how different the result of the vote makes it appear. Of the twenty-three senators who voted for the county option bill only three voted for reapportionment.

A Long Step Forward.

Little Falls Transcript: United States Senator Clapp has said, so it is reported, that he is in favor of reciprocity with Canada, but that he wishes it to be the real thing. Even so with others, possibly, who, however, believe that the Canadian reciprocity pact, if made effective between Canada and the United States, is a long step in the direction of the real thing and should for that reason be carried out.

Disgruntled By Defeat.

Hubbard County Clipper: The Long Prairie Leader is still working—overtime evidently—in an effort to discredit Hon. L. H. Rice in the minds of the people of the district. The result will probably be similar to that of Mr. Lee's pre-election speech here when he undertook to tell Park Rapids people who have known Mr. Rice since his boyhood, all about him. The votes Mr. Lee lost here by that speech were enough perhaps to cost him his nomination and it is easy to understand that this incessant villification results from the thought that Mr. Rice may have been the cause (even innocently) of his defeat.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Not until after a man dies does he get the earth.

One kind of fool is a man who tries to prove that he isn't.

Fast clocks and fast young men are due for setbacks.

The slippery sidewalk is a standing invitation to sit down.

What a man says to his wife goes—if he is using a telephone.

It's easier to secure a vindication than it is to restore a virtue.

Unfortunately a good many doctors refuse to let well enough alone.

An apology is a poultice that doesn't always draw the soreness out.

A rose by any other name would be just as expensive at this time of the year.

There may be a million reasons why a man can love an heiress, and each of them is the size of a dollar.

Occasionally a man makes a lot of money by getting other people's in exchange for information on the art of getting rich.

If it is true that ghosts haunt churchyards, it is probably for the purpose of finding out from the epitaphs how good they were during life.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: It would have been very lucky for some people not to have been born.

If a man had a million he'd think it was only hard luck that kept it from being two.

Their must be mighty little left of some women after they get their clothes and hair off.

A man has to be able to govern himself to command an army, and even then he can't even influence his family.

One thing a man likes about his wife having somebody he doesn't like visit them is it's a very good excuse for not being home much.

The Only English Pope.

London Chronicle: Viterbo, now engaged in establishing a record in criminal trials, was the scene of the greatest triumph of our only English pope, Nicholas Breakspeare. One of the seventeen churches of this ancient Italian city is St. Lorenzo, and here Frederick Barbarossa himself bowed the knee and held the stirrup to the mighty pontiff, Adrian IV., who came, a poor lad, from the meadows of Hertfordshire, to give away the kingdoms of the world. In the period of its splendor Viterbo, "city of beautiful fountains and beautiful maidens," held many handsome palaces, in one of which in the thirteenth century six papal elections took place. But for Englishmen the city will always remain the city of the English pope who tamed a haughty emperor and was himself choked by a fly.

As to Cats.

Puck: Cat is the first syllable in catalogue and cataract, and differs from the common housefly in many respects.

The cat is useful for many purposes. For one thing it affords an ideal spot to place little odds and ends, such as old shoes, bricks, etc.

Cats usually grow under one's window at about 12 o'clock at night, at which time the difference between the calm and the cat families is very distinct—very, very distinct.

The cat has nine lives, each of which is one-ninth of a life in duration.

The cat may be divided into three parts—bass, alto and soprano.

On the Other Foot.

Washington Star: "It is said that you gave money to the legislature."

"Another untruth," replied the man who was being investigated. "The legislature took it away from me."

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Sing a song of sixpence,
Pocket full of rye—
That's the way to carry it
When the town is dry.
—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Baltimore American: "Dearest, will you love me when my locks are gray?"

"Yes, darling, as long as your keys are gold."

Baltimore American: "What would you do if I should kiss you?"

"I'd smack your face."

"What's the matter with my lips?"

Life: "Here, waiter, there's a fly in my soup."

"Serves the brute right. He's been buzzin' 'round here all the mornin'."

Baltimore American: "Does your baby take after her father?"

"I am afraid she does. She is continually indulging in high bawls."

Houston Post: "The newspapers appear to have overlooked a bet in telling of the unknown woman who wore a harem skirt across Broklyn bridge the other day."

"How so?"

"None of them expressed an opinion that the unknown was Dorothy Arnold."

Philadelphia Times: "And what were you ding in the gambling den?" pursued the magistrate. "What were you doing when the police entered?"

The locksmith looked up into the magistrate's face with an expression of sublime innocence.

"Why, your honor," he answered, "I was making a bolt for the door."

Lippincott's: Two miserable-looking hoboes called in the dean of a medical college and proposed that he purchase their bodies for the dissecting room, as they were on the verge of starvation and had not long to live.

"It is an old proposition," hesitated the dean.

"But it is occasionally done," suggested the spokesman eagerly.

"Well," said the dean, "we might arrange it. What price do you ask?"

"Over in New York," replied the spokesman, "they gave us $40."

STANDPAT GRAMMAR.

Collier's: A collective noun is an obstacle over which an editor might naturally stumble, if he happened to be long on enthusiasm but short on intimacy with grammar. Had the Hon. E. E. Kelley, of the "Republican" of Toronto, Kan., been merely innocent of syntax, we should not have discussed his case, nor yet that of the "Journal" of Kansas City, which crows loudly over Kelley's imagined prowess. It is his aggressiveness that stirs our peacefur nature to reply. The fact that these two newspapers are of the extreme standpat variety may explain their inability to understand the language. Kelley quotes from Collier's a sentence in which "flock" was used with a plural verb, and with causticity proceeds:

Here in Kansas it is one of the unpardonable offenses to use a plural verb with a singular subject. The 10-year-old boy knows better, and when a boy of 12 commits the heinous offense he is promptly taken into the hall by his teacher and labored over with a barrel stave.

Now let us not try to enlighten Kelley about the grammar of collective nouns, for it would take long, but let us stimulate his intellect with a few examples:

In early times the great majority of the male sex were slaves.—John Stuart Mill.

The public do not always agree with the newspapers.—William Hazlitt.

The populace were now melted into tears.—David Hume.

If Kelley will open Hill's "Principles of Rhetoric," larger edition, and turn to page 57, he will find out when a noun, though singular in form, requires a plural verb. The reason that a standpatter usually can not understand flexible English is that he becomes accustomed to thinking like a rubber-stamp, especially in windy glorifications of political machines. The barrel stave in Kansas grammar schools ought not to be reserved for the 12-year-olds. What is the age of Kelley?

Display of Wealth in Argentina.

Washington Post: Herman G. James, formerly with the United States delegation to the Fourth International Conference of American States, in speaking of his impressions of the capital of Argentina said: "In few other capitals of the world is there such a display of the wealth of the well to do as is found in Buenos Ayres. Among the thousands of automobiles seen there are rarely any but the most expensive French makes, and even the motor cars which are for hire are of the best quality. Costly furs are worn by calendar, irrespective of actual temperature, so that it is not unusual to see the fashionable women in their warm furs driving through the streets in which the children are playing in bare feet. At the opera and theaters the exhibition of the latest Paris gowns and brilliant jewels is astonishing.

"The behavior of the men toward the women is in some ways absolutely rude, if measured by our standards. It is only within a few years that women have been able to appear on the streets without being accosted by the young men of good families, and at present there seems to be nothing out of the way in staring at the opposite sex on the street or at the theater in the most open-faced manner."

The Privilege of Office.

Washington Post: Tennessee's governor has vetoed a plumber's bill. It must be grand to be a governor.

War!

Providence Journal: Mr. Taft may not have a war on his hands in Mexico, but the prospect is he will have one in Washington as soon as congress meets.

FUEL FROM STREET RUBBISH.

Consular Reports: Hitherto rubbish collected by street cleaners in Amsterdam has been assorted; paper, rags, metals, and glass have been sold to dealers therein, the resude as manure.

The city authorities are now considering converting the street rubbish as a mass into combustible briquets for heating boilers. They have found that at Southwark, London, and at St. Ouen, France, street rubbish is transformed into a marketable product. At Southwark all the refuse is crushed to a powder, which is sold as a manure. At St. Ouen the powder thus made, with the addition of combustible substances, is formed into a cheap fuel. The Amsterdam authorities experimented at both those places, combining powder made there with coal tar from the Amsterdam gas works and presing the substance into briquets. The experiment was successful and disposed the Amsterdam authorities toward establishing a plant for producing briquets from street rubbish.

The quantity of material which can be worked in this city is about 140,000 tons a year. It is estimated that an establishment to work this will cost about $200,000; that the annual expense thereof will be about $98,000; that the product will be about 85,000 tons, costing $1.15 a ton. It is believed that the briquets can be sold for a net price of $1.40 a ton, which would yield a profit of over $200,000 a year. At present the street refuse of Amsterdam is disposed of at a loss of $18,000 a year. Besides the anticipated financial profit, it is reasoned that the danger in times of epidemic will be much reduced by this transformation of street refuse, which amounts to destruction.

NON-SLIPPING HORSESHOE.

Prize Offer Is Made By the American S. P. C. A.

New York, April 3.—The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, through one of its members, offers a prize of $500 for the best horseshoe or device designed to prevent the slipping of horses on paved streets.

The competition is open to all without restriction. The design may be submitted by means either of drawings or a model, or both. A description should accompany each application, stating in detail, the merits claimed for the invention, the material used, or proposed to be used, in its construction, and its estimated cost; whether or not the invention is in actual use or has been tested, and the results as to wearing qualities, non-slipping qualities, and other advantages. Such descriptive matter should be typewritten.

Each sheet of drawing and each model and all descriptive matter shall be unsigned, but shall bear a device, cipher or emblem for identification; and the same device, cipher or emblem shall be placed on a sealed envelope containing the competitor's name and address. This will not be opened until the award has been made.

Drawings and models, with the accompanying envelopes, must be securely packed or wrapped and delivered at the office of the American S. P. C. A., Madison avenue and Twenty-sixth street, New York, before 6 p. m., on Thursday, June 1, 1911.

In making the award, the cost of the device, its wearing qualities, and all other points of merit, will be taken into consideration in addition to its non-slipping qualities. All inquiries regarding this competition should be addressed to Henry Bergh, chairman, 50 Madison avenue, New York city.

SENOR CANALEJAS TO CONTINUE AS PREMIER.

Madrid, April 3.—The ministerial crisis, which appeared fraught with the greatest possibilities, seems to have ended as abruptly as it began. It has resolved itself, seemingly, to the general relief, into a second reconstruction of the Canalejas ministry.

King Alfonso, on his arrival from Seville yesterday, immediately received Senor Canalejas and requested him to continue in power. The premier agreed on condition that he be permitted to make such changes in the cabinet as he deemed necessary. To this the king readily assented.

Politician Ends Life.

Joliet, Ill., April 3.—The body of Nicholas J. Horn, a Democratic politician and candidate for mayor of Joliet two years ago, was found resting on a ledge in the drainage canal by hunters yesterday. Horn had committed suicide while despondent over financial troubles. He disappeared from his home March 25.

Cleaning Suits

why any garment should be discarded permanently—namely, when the garment is practically worn out. Through the scientific method of our process, garments are successfully cleansed. The transformation from a soiled costume to one which will give delight in wearing makes the cleaning charges seem of minor importance.

Selecting the Establishment

Our Cleansing Works are unsurpassed in this section of the state, and the recognition of our Superior Process for cleansing garments is reaching a large majority who have heretofore sent their wearing apparel out of the city.

By sending your garments to our establishment for cleansing means "No Delays, No Disappointments," or taking them from a box in an apparently unpressed condition, caused from miles of transportation.

Your work can be done in Duluth at our establishment, and done right.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Monograph By Professor Hess Is Receiving Strong Indorsements.

Figures of the Recent Church Census Are Announced.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is said to be a significant fact that the University of Minnesota is among the leading universities in the movement to bring university and state government into closer harmony. This has been furthered through the efforts of Prof. R. H. Hess, head of the university extension division, who has lately published a pamphlet, "The Cost of Government in Minnesota and Analysis of Municipal Receipts and Disbursements." The tax commission has sent copies of the monograph to every university in the United States and has received many congratulations and hearty indorsements from all quarters. This is the sort of participation in public affairs what helps the university.

Rev W. S. Richardson, who has been compiling the figures of the church census, announced the results. Of the 3,000 students appealed to, only 1,863 replied. The Methodists are in the majority there being 312 professing that faith. The Lutherans are next with 290; Catholics, 230; Congregationalists, 223; Baptists, 121; Episcopalians, 156; Jewish, 37; Christian Scientists, 36; Unitarians, 35; Universalists, 30. The ministers of the city churches have been given this information and are making wise use of it. There are about 1,000 students who were not reached through the postoffice, and they together with those denoting no church preference whatever, are expected to be reached by the Sunday afternoon vesper services.

Plans for the new university gardens are practically completed and their sites will be ploughed as soon as the weather permits. Prof. Clements, who is in charge of the undertaking, has arranged for a large botanical and drug plant garden to occupy the square back of Pillsbury hall and the chemistry building. It will be primarily for the use of the college of pharmacy in growing medicinal plants, but some botanical specimens will also be grown there. Dean Wulling of the pharmacy department is in Europe, at present, for the purpose of studying the methods and laboratories of foreign universities. While abroad he will also make a collection of seeds and herbs to be used in this drug-plant garden.

That President Vincent is to prove popular with the people of Minnesota is shown by the many requests he has received from various parts of the state, asking for his services on the lecture platform. Dr. Vincent's first out-of-town address, as president of the university will probably be on "The Duty of the School," before the annual convention of the Northern Minnesota Educational association, which will be given at St. Cloud, April 6.

The sum of $794 has been pledged to the May fete so far by the various clubs and fraternities around the campus, according to the latest reports. There are still many organizations to be heard from but no difficulty is anticipated in securing the amount necessary to make the May fete a big success.

According to Prof. Nachtrieb, the department of zoology has come into possession of a rare specimen of the American bison, which could not be replaced for $2,000. The animal was in the zoo at Minnehaha Falls and when it died last Tuesday the park board gave the carcass to the university. The skin will be stuffed and mounted and the skeleton will also be exhibited in the museum. It is planned to secure a bison group such as the group of deer which was obtained from Newfoundland.

Students and faculty members will have the opportunity of hearing one of the greatest scientists of the present day, when Dr. Svant Arhennius of Stockholm, Sweden, will visit here. Dr. Arhennius is the foremost chemist in the world today, and has written authoritative treaties on physical and astronomical subjects. He is also the discoverer of "the theory of electrical dissociation," which is one of the fundamental principles of chemistry. Prof. Stomberg of the Scandinavian department received a letter from Dr. Arhennius, who is now in New York, saying that he will go from there to Boston, but will reach here about May 5. While here, he will be entertained by the chemistry society and the Minneapolis Odin club.

The Home Economics association is making out a list of towns from which it will take prospective students about the university farm and main university. The purpose of these trips is to acquaint the girls unfamiliar with these places with existing conditions and the opportunities in store for them. Professors and others will act as guides, and distributors of information. The association is planning also to convert the ladies' hall of the agricultural school into a rest hall or common gathering.

W. Marc Fraser, winner of the Pillsbury Oratorical contest, will represent the university at Ann Arbor on May 5. He has had considerable experience before and won the Carleton oratorical prize last year. The Northern Oratorical league is the oratorical association of practically all the colleges which are represented in the big eight conference. In the opinion of the faculty here, Mr. Fraser has a good chance to win.

HOUSE OFFICERS ARE SELECTED

Democrats Also Vote to Abolish Ninety-Two Appointive Positions.

Washington, April 3.—At the night session of the Democratic caucus Saturday a legislative program was adopted and officers were elected as follows:

Clerk—South Trimble of Frankfort, Ky., who was a member of the Fifty-seventh congress.

Sergeant-at-arms—U. S. Jackson of Indiana, who defeated William H. Ryan of New York by a vote of 114 to 97.

Doorkeeper—Joseph J. Hinnott of Virginia.

Postmaster—William M. Dunbar of Augusta, Ga., was elected on the third ballot, defeating R. G. Bremner of New Jersey, 104 to 94.

In its efforts to reduce the house payroll and dispense with extra employes, the Democratic caucus authorized sweeping changes. The abolishment of 98 appointive positions, the dropping of six standing committees from the house list, and the abolishment of the extra pay allowed each session to the employes, are important features of the plan.

The first of these items is expected to save $120,000; the second, $12,000, and the withholding of the "extra month" will save another $50,000. The positions under the house heretofore apportioned among the members generally are to be given by the Democrats only to those members who were not given committee chairmanships.

In its attempt at economy the Democratic organization decided that forty-two of the special policemen employed about the capitol could be dispensed with, and that thirty-two clerkships and minor positions under the clerk of the house could be abolished. One chief bill clerk with four assistants and a stenographer is to take the place of the large number of clerks removed.

The Democratic members of the three most important standing committees of the house for the Sixty-second congress, as selected by the caucus, follow, the first member named in each case being chairman of the committee: Ways and Means—Underwood, Alabama; Randall, Texas; Harrison, New York; Brantley, Georgia; Shackleford, Missouri; Kitchin, North Carolina; James, Kentucky; Rainey, Illinois; Dixon, Indiana; Hughes, New Jersey; Hull, Tennessee; Hammond, Minnesota; Peters, Massachusetts; Palmer, Pennsylvania.

Appropriations — Fitzgerald, New York; Burleson, Texas; Sherley, Kentucky; Bartlett, Georgia; Johnson, South Carolina; Page, North Carolina; Saunders, Virginia; McHenry, Pennsylvania; Rauch, Indiana; Byrns, Tennessee; Sisson, Mississippi; Kinkead; New Jersey; Cox, Ohio; Borland, Missouri.

Rules—Henry, Texas; Pou, North Carolina; Hardwick, Georgia; Stanley, Kentucky; Garrett, Tennessee; Foster, Illinois; Denver, Ohio.

LAST TRIBUTE TO W. S. WOODBRIDGE

Impressive Memorial Services Held at Pilgrim Congregational Church.

The splendid character, the broad patriotism, the beautiful home life, the religious devotion, the exemplary public life and the wide philanthropy of the late W. S. Woodbridge were extolled by intimate friends at impressive memorial services at the Plymouth Congregational church yesterday afternoon.

The large edifice was filled with friends and acquaintances of long standing, many of them being among the leading citizens of Duluth. Each of the four speakers had known Mr. Woodbridge during his life, and told of his many kind acts and the interest which he had taken in all movements tending towards the betterment of his home city or the welfare of his fellow men. The pulpit was banked with lilies and the music for the occasion was furnished by the church choir.

The first speaker, Rev. Alexander Milne, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church, presented a short biographical sketch of Mr. Woodbridge. He told of his Puritan ancestry, his early entry into religious life and his deep interest in church affairs.

Marcus Bates, a member of the same Grand Army post as Mr. Woodbridge, spoke of his patriotism and soldierly qualities and of the warm and close relationship with his other comrades of the past.

Phil Bevis, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., stated that Mr. Woodbridge had been connected with the institution since it was founded in Duluth. He said that he served as president three years, as vice president two years and as a director since it was started. He took deep interest in the work and attended board meetings as late as last January.

Rev. Jeremiah Kimball, the last speaker, was a Civil war comrade of Mr. Woodbridge. He spoke of his admirable personal characteristics and his high standards of honesty and integrity. Rev. Mr. Kimball and Mr. Woodbridge took up adjoining claims in the city. Mr. Woodbridge was a charter member of the Pilgrim Congregational church, in which the memorial services were held.

DOWLING BLOCK BADLY DAMAGED

Theater, Newspaper and Electric Light Office of Eveleth in Bad Fire.

Eveleth, Minn., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Dowling block, containing the Othello theater, Eveleth Star and Home Heating & Electric offices, owned by P. E. Dowling of Duluth, was badly damaged by flames early Sunday. The fire started in the dressing rooms of the theater, and had gained much headway when discovered near the entrance of the theater by Sergeant Peter Nordi of the police force, who immediately notified the firemen. Its origin is still unknown, though many suppositions have been offered.

The fire spread from the dressing rooms to the auditorium of the theater, and through the sidings to the attic where the flames were at their worst. Four streams of hose were played on the blaze, and for a time adjoining buildings were in danger of destruction and it was necessary to wet the roofs of the adjacent structures. The firemen gained control of the flames at 5:30 a. m., and managed to save many important papers and other material from the Home Heating & Electric company's offices. The Star office adjoining the theater was badly damaged. But few books were saved at the print shop, and the linotype, press and other equipment were badly damaged. A mild east wind was blowing at the time, but as the building was of concrete construction, the flames were unable to spread.

Nearby Livery Threatened.

The Vletch livery adjoining the block on the right was threatened and it was necessary to remove the twelve horses from the structure as smoke had reached the building from a side wall.

Though the fire started at 4 a. m., no general alarm was rung in until an hour later, which roused many people who assisted materially in aiding the fire fighters. The fire fighters commenced work at 4 a. m., and the last team did not reach the station until 10:30 a. m.

The loss on the theater is estimated at $6,000, as the four concrete walls were left standing and the steam heating plant and first floor are in repairable condition. The gallery and stage were very badly burned, as was the moving picture outfit. Howard and Campbell, trapeze artists, Harry and Kitty Guy, minstrels, Howard and Boyd, and Scott and Gleason, vaudeville teams, lost much of their wardrobe and scenery. A very well attended benefit was given at the Elks' hall last evening for the actors, who presented four very entertaining acts. Editor Larin of the Star-News Publishing company, who had much stock at the Star office, estimates the loss on the same at $300, while Manager Frank E. Carpenter's loss on interior equipment will amount to over $2,500, $2,000 of which is covered by insurance. The loss of the electric people has not been definitely determined, but will not amount to much as the firemen managed to save much material there.

The meeting was largely attended.

Louis Dworschak of Duluth, who was to have been the principal soloist of the evening, was unable to appear on the program. "The Radiant Morn Hath Passed Away," was rendered in good voice by a quartet composed of Mrs. H. J. Schulte, soprano; Mrs. Roy M. Cornwall, contralto; Fergus R. Ellsworth, tenor; Dr. H. J. Schulte, baritone. "My Country 'Tis of Thee," and "Stand Up, Stand Up For Jesus," were given by the congregation while Miss Pearl Sheehy, gave "Summer," "Berceuse," and "Postlude in D Minor," on the organ.

FARM PAPERS INTERESTED

Representatives of Agricultural Papers Visit the Potato Special.

Train Attracts Notice of Experts in Education of Farmers.

The potato special lay at Meadowlands all day yesterday and the speakers rested after their strenuous week. A number of visitors from Duluth and other places were entertained, but the entertainment was not in the nature of work and the speakers were able to rest their voices in preparation for the strenuous four days of speaking remaining. This morning an institute was held at Meadowlands and the trip was resumed. This afternoon, the special is at Coleraine. Alborn, Burnett and Adolph will be visited tomorrow.

The potato special is not only fulfilling its primary object of instructing the farmers in potato culture, but is doing a great work in attracting attention to the farming interests of St. Louis county and to the efforts being made here to develop the agricultural resources of the district.

The potato special, although it does not go outside of Northeastern Minnesota, is one of the best advertising features ever devised. Since the trip started no less than six representatives of widely circulated agricultural journals have been guests on the special at different times and they have been astonished at the interest taken in the trip of the special and the evidence that good results will follow. Their publications will point to the potato special as a unique and effective means of instructing farmers in scientific agriculture and the development of the agricultural resources of St. Louis county will be widely heralded.

The faculty of the state agricultural school is taking an intense interest in the special. Two of the speakers on the train are from the state school and a number of other members of the faculty have visited the train and have accompanied it on part of the trip to observe the work. Among the visitors at Meadowlands yesterday were Prof. A. D. Wilson, superintendent of extension work; Prof. Cooper, superintendent of demonstration farms; Prof. A. D. McGuire, superintendent of the demonstration farm at Grand Rapids; Prof. Boss, cattle expert, and Prof. Boss, corn expert.

D. A. Willard, development agent of the Northern Pacific railroad, was also a visitor at the train yesterday, and among the Duluth men who went to Meadowlands were W. A. McGonagle, L. B. Arnold, J. W. Kreitter and H. V. Eva.

The potato special will arrive in Duluth Thursday morning and three sessions will be held in the cars, which will be spotted in the railroad yards. The potato exhibit is now complete, many additions having been made on the trip. It is expected a large number of farmers from the surrounding country will come to Duluth for Thursday's meetings and the trip of the special will wind up with a successful institute.

FIRST DEMOCRATIC HOUSE IN 16 YEARS MEETS ON TUESDAY

ber, Victor Berger of Milwaukee, accounting for the difference in the equation.

By reason of the change resulting from the election last November, new faces will be seen not only in the membership of the house but in the whole organization. Republican employes in great number will go out and their places will be filled by Democrats. Choice rooms in the capitol and in the house office building, long controlled by the Republicans, will be surrendered to the representatives of the party which is to gather up the house reins.

Instead of the fifty-nine Republicans who occupied seats in the senate on March 4, there will be only fifty tomorrow. The ranks of the minority will be increased from thirty-two to forty-one and to forty-two when the vacancy in Colorado is filled. There was one vacancy in the last session caused by the death of the late Senator Hughes of Colorado.

Cannon With Minority.

More notable even than the large number of new faces in the senate and the house will be the absence of so many veteran legislators. The speaker's marble rostrum will not resound with the vigorous whacks of the Cannon gavel, for Mr. Cannon will appear in the ranks of the minority. Veterans of many legislative struggles will be missed from the house floor. Chief among those whose absence will loom large will be Tawney of Minnesota, Boutell of Illinois, Scott of Kansas, McKinley of California, Bennet, Fish, Parsons of New York; Hull and Smith of Iowa, Denby of Michigan, Keifer of Ohio. Four members, Hitchcock of Nebraska, Poindexter of Washington, Gronna of North Dakota, and Townsend of Michigan, have been elevated to the senate.

No longer will the senate roll call open with the familiar name of Aldrich, the Rhode Island leader having voluntarily renounced another term to devote himself to leisure, and the study of monetary reforms. He will be succeeded by Henry F. Lippitt.

Other Striking Figures Missing.

Many other striking figures will be missing, notably Hale of Maine, succeeded by Charles F. Johnson; Beveridge of Indiana who was vanquished by John W Kern; Kean of New Jersey, in whose place will be John E. Martone; Warner of Missouri, replaced by James A. Reed; Dick of Ohio, replaced by Atlee Pomerene, and Carter of Montana, succeeded by Henry L. Meyers. All of these changes represent Democratic gains except in the case of Rhode Island.

The other senate changes will be Frazier of Tennessee, succeeded by Luke Lea, the youngest of all the senators; Money of Mississippi, whose place will be filled by John Sharp Williams, formerly the Democratic leader of the house; Flint of California, whose toga will grace the shoulders of John D. Work; Bulkeley of Connecticut, who gives way to George P. Mclean, formerly governor of the state; Burrows of Michigan whose mantle is to be worn by Former Representative Townsend; Burkett; Scott and Elkins of West Virginia, the former to be succeded by W. E. Chilton, while C. W. Watson already had taken the place of Senator Elkins, and Piles of Washington, succeded by Former Representative Poindexter.

The Iowa legislature has been deadlocked for several weeks over an effort to elect a senator to fill the unexpired portion of the term of the late Jonathan P Dolliver. Lafayette Young of Des Moines is sitting as the junior member from that state. His service will continue until the legislature elects, or adjourns without action.

Bryan Rejoices.

Washington, April 3.—W. J. Bryan, three times Democratic candidate for president of the United States, is in the national capital rejoicing with the members of his party here that tomorrow there will be called to order the first Democratic national house of representatives that has sat for sixteen years.

Mr. Bryan had numerous conferences today with various leaders of the party, including Champ Clark, who tomorrow will take the speaker's gavel, Senator Owen and others. In a general way he talked over with these leaders Democratic plans and the course which ought to be pursued by them during the next few months. He expressed himself as highly gratified by the harmonious start which has been made, declaring that it augured exceedingly well for the future.

"I have no intention whatever of leaving Lincoln," he declared in response to a question as to what he would tell the committee of prominent business men from Memphis, Tenn., who are on their way here to invite him to make Memphis his future home. He expects to remain here about a week.

To Beautify Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—In order to promote permanent beautifying of home grounds, the Women's Civic league has taken a step that is certain to bring desired results, by arranging for the purchase of a large supply of shrubs and perennials from local nurserymen, which will be distributed to those who wish to take advantage of the opportunity at a very nominal cost.

TRACTION COMPANY BALKS.

Minneapolis Street Railway Company Fights City's Ordinances.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 3.—The Minneapolis Street Railway company has decided to contest the city's right to order car line extensions and to prescribe regulatory rules of service.

Suit was begun Saturday in federal district court to restrain the city from enforcing the provision of the ordinance of March 10, ordering new lines and extensions and the ordinance of Feb. 10, known as the "strap hangers' ordinance," penalizing the company for admitting into street cars more passengers than one and one-half the number for which seats are provided.

The suit will definitely determine the city's right to prescribe regulatory rules for the company.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies have done for me. For two years I suffered. The doctors said I had tumors, and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sanative Wash relieved me. Your Liver Pills have no equal as a cathartic. Any one wishing proof of what your medicines have done for me can get it from any druggist or by writing to me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. Christina Reed, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Another Operation Avoided.

New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. Lily Peyroux, 1111 Kerlerec St., New Orleans, La.

The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

PLANS MADE FOR REGATTA

"Ham" Peyton Made Referee and Hans Haroldson Starter.

Bullard Cup Will Be Competed for—Course Will Be Boomed Off.

Details have been arranged and officials appointed for the big Northwestern rowing regatta, which will be held here on July 21 and 22, in connection with the big water carnival.

In addition to the officials appointed and several other important details decided upon, a communication has been received from the officers of the Minnesota Boat club, stating that the famous Bullard cup, which has reverted to the St. Paul organization, has been turned over to the Northwestern interantional Rowing association to be competed for in the senior singles event.

This action upon the part of the officers of the Minnesota Boat club means that the famous cup will be rowed for during July in the senior singles, this action being all the more incentive for the local club to develop a sculler.

Hamilton Peyton, known to the followers of rowing in these parts, as "Ham," has been appointed referee. Those who have followed rowing at the Head of the Lakes are congratulating the officials of the Northwestern association upon their selection.

Peyton knows rowing as few men in this part of the country do, and in addition is absolutely fair and is a man who cannot be swerved from what he believes right by any considerations or influence.

Hans Haroldson will be the starter, and this is another selection where the officials of the association have exercised sound judgment. Haroldson has a good head and knows the rowing game from noodles to pecans.

"Tony" Buck and "Bill" L'Estrange will be the clerks of the course. They have rowed for years and have attended every regatta held in the Northwest and should know thoroughly all the various little wrinkles that make a good clerk of the course.

One important decision arrived at by the officers of the association was that of booming the rowing course. This will mean that the bay will be boomed off the entire distance of the mile and a quarter, which will prevent any of the judges' and police boats from being anywhere near the rowing shells.

It was also decided to drive piling down at the starting place and build platforms on the piling. This will give a secure platform for each man holding one of the shells, and under this arrangement there should not be the least trouble in the world in gettting all the boats away to an even start.

One of the most important decisions is in regard to the booming of the course. This will keep all manner of craft off the racing course and will at the same time give the hundreds of boats that will be out on the bay an opportunity to line up along the course.

At Kenora last season there was almost a solid mile of all kinds of craft lined along both sides of the course, and the booms that sat in the course effectually prevented these boats from interfering in the least with the shells.

Under the rules for which the Bullard cup will be competed, it will be held by the oarsman winning it, his name being inscribed on it. It shall be competed for at the next regatta, however, and in the event of the dissolution of the Northwestern International Rowing association, shall revert to the possession of the Minnesota Boat club.

The officials present at the meeting were B. M. Peyton, president; Jack McGreg, secretary; Hans Haroldson, commodore; A. A. Michaud, ensign; Anthony Puck, vice commmodore.

The famous "Con" Riley of Winnipeg, vice president, and Dr. N. Schinnar of Kenora, honorary president, were the only officials absent.

McCOY WILL FIGHT "MARKS"

Hoosier Plans Paris Trip With All the Easy Money Graft.

New York, April 3.—Kid McCoy is back in New York after a sojourn in Philadelphia. He is contemplating a trip to Europe. He states that he has been offered the management of a big sporting club in Paris and that he may accept it. It is his intention to fight a few "soft ones" across the water. The rest in Philadelphia seems to have done him good, as he seems to be looking younger than he did when he left New York.

"It would be easy for me to get back into condition to fight as I did of old," he told some friends at the Albany hotel yesterday. "After my six rounds with Jack Fitzgerald at Jack O'Brien's club I didn't take a deep breath. I have decided to get back into condition by easy stages. My friends in the game advise me to go abroad and try a few marks. Within the next few weeks I'll make the trip. Perhaps I'll accept the offer the Parisians have made me to manage their club."

TOMMY MUST HAVE WAILED IN GRIEF

Burns Turns Down an Offer of $47,500 Cold.

Toronto, April 3.—Tommy Burns, who is spending a few days amidst the haunts of his boyhood days, received a notable letter yesterday from Hugh McIntosh at Preston, which shows the value the Australian promoter places on the prowess of the ex-champion. The letter was sent from London to New York, and came to Tommy via Seattle. Here it is:

London, Eng., March 7.

Tommy Burns, New York, N. S. A.:

Dear Tommy—I would be very glad if you could make arrangements to box Bill Lang on Easter Monday or a little later for the championship of the British empire. I will be prepared to give you £2500 and a guarantee of twenty weeks at £150 a week to tour through Australia. Or if you prefer it you could meet Langford first, in which case I will give you a guarantee of £4000; then you could meet Lang after, making a total of £6500, with the theatrical engagements in addition.

If you can manage this I sincerely hope you will cable me at once.

It has been reported here that you have hurt your knee, but I trust this is only a rumor, as for you to be out of the boxing game just now means a loss of more money than you ever made in your life. In London alone a match between you and Langford would draw £10,000 without any trouble; so cable me at your earliest.

With best wishes to Mrs. Burns and yourself. Yours truly,

HUGH D. M'INTOSH.

Owing to Burns' injured knee he will be unable to accept the above, which in round figures is $47,500, and he cabled McIntosh accordingly.

RED SOX LOOK STRONG ON PAPER

Kid Taylor Gathering Good Team on the Superior Side.

Superior will this year have the classiest squad to choose a representative Minny league baseball team from that has ever assembled for a spring tryout.

In addition to the twenty-two names announced recently there are several others who have asked for try outs, and the squad will probably number thirty or more. The spring training trip will start at Racine, Wis., about April 17. Spring training trip games are being arranged with Racine, Oshkosh and Fon du Lac of the Wisconsin-Illinois league.

It may be said that the entire six games with the Duluth club of the Minny league to be played preliminary to the opening of the league season may take place at Superior. On account of differences that exist between the baseball magnates of Duluth, Jack Desmond may decide to have the Duluth games on the Superior side. However, there is nothing definite about the arrangements that will be made.

There are five candidates for the backstop position, one of whom is Lizette, who is one of the best catchers in the league. The others all come well recommended and there is no question that two of the best catchers in the league will be in Superior uniforms. There are six candidates for pitchers, including Dahlgren, Clausen and Jensen. Dahlgren is without question the best twirler in the Minny association.

For first base Superior will have McCulloch back again. The auburn haired chap just previous to getting hurt last season was burning up the league with his brilliant work. And, in the event that Mac should not be just as good as he was last year, another candidate, Payne is out for the job. Payne was signed by O'Dea last season, but jumped his contract and played with another team under an assumed name. He is said to be a whirlwind, and Superior can sell him even before the season starts.

There are six outfielders, and it is expected that the trio selected will outshine the garden players of last season. One will probably be Solbrae, Si Bennet of Northern and Western Canadian league fame is another. For third base the team is amply supplied with two of the best in the game—Chase and Lippold, the latter a Milwaukee boy and now training with the Milwaukee American association team. Bancroft will be at short again and Manager Taylor at second.

COLUMBIA FRESHMEN TAKE THE WATER.

NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

Advertising of Duluth's Summer Carnival Will Cover Entire Country.

Committee Is Hard at Work on the Preliminary Plans.

The publicity committee of the Duluth Commercial club is at work in cooperation with the water carnival committee in making elaborate preparations to give Duluth's midsummer celebration July 20, 21 and 22, a national advertising campaign. This festivity coming at the height of the summer travel season will be a strong drawing card for tourist trade with all the railroad and boat lines touching at Duluth. Travelers from the South and Middle Western states who wish to get relief from the extreme heat of inland midsummer will be offered the additional attraction in Duluth of the three days of water sports and carnival night celebrations. It is expected that the transportation companies will take advantage of this attraction and will give the Duluth celebration their heartiest support. Some of the companies have already published advertising matter to the summer tourist trade in which Duluth's midsummer celebration is strongly featured.

The program and decoration committees of the water carnival are hard at work on the details of the elaborate carnival features that will be carried out on the evenings of July 20 and 21. These committees have been making a study of successful carnivals and festivities as carried out by some of the large cities of this country. In its investigations the committee has come upon some startling facts concerning the crowds attracted to such cities as Omaha, Portland, Or., Los Angeles and New Orleans by carnival attractions. In some of these cities it has been necessary for hotel keepers, restaurant men and merchants to lay in as heavy a stock of foodstuffs and general merchandise as their storage space would warrant in order to meet the tremendous demands of the carnival crowds.

A member of the committee who was formerly connected with a clothing store in one of these carnival cities reported that during one three-day carnival season which took place in September the trade of the carnival crowd used up the entire new winter stock of the clothing stores which were forced to put in an entirely new order with the factories in order to take care of their regular winter business.

The committee on sports is rapidly getting the program of water contests into shape. The order of events in the regatta of the Northwestern Rowing association and the program of the sailing and motor-boat racing which will be run off in the regulation classes, will be ready for announcement very shortly. The committee is finding a surprisingly large number of local athletes interested in aquatic sports, and water baseball teams and canoe tilting teams are being formed. Practice in these sports will be started with the opening of the swimming season at the boat club. Since the announcement that the program of sports would include log rolling contests the names of famous local log rollers have been brought up in such numbers that it is evident that log rolling will be one of the livest of Duluth water sports.

The water carnival committee of which Bentley P. Neff is chairman met Saturday afternoon to consider the progress that has been made by the various special committees during the week.

Mr. Neff in speaking of the progress made thus far by the committee said: "The work of the committee for the Duluth water carnival and race meets of this summer has started out with an enthusiasm that promises well for the success of Duluth's big entertainment in July. The work of organizing sub-committees and apportioning specific tasks among them has been well accomplished and for the past week every member of the committee has been hard at work pushing his particular part of the arrangement."

The committee has an early start in its work with over three full months for the accomplishment of its plan. But with the elaborate entertainment to be given this year the time is none too long. Every member of the committee will be kept busy from now until the carnival is over.

"Duluth people and Duluth institutions are giving us their heartiest co-operation in the work we are doing. We are arranging a water carnival and a program of three days' sports that I believe will be worthy of Duluth's excellent reputation as an entertainer of visitors. I believe the midsummer carnival will merit the enthusiastic approval of visitors from all parts of the United States and Canada."

ARGYLE BOY SIGNS WITH SEATTLE TEAM.

Argyle, Minn., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Philip Lezie, an Argyle boy, has signed up with the Seattle team of the Northwestern league, to play ball this year. He was offered a place on the St. Paul team but declined in favor of the Seattle offer. Phil is pitching good ball.

SHERWOOD MAGEE IS CHAMPION "GRANITE" HEAD

Waco, Tex., April 3.—Several players have at various times held the doubtful distinction of being called the official boneheads of organized baseball. John Anderson, Merkle and Pickering might be mentioned among those who have been branded by the fans as slow of cerebration and prone to do the wrong thing at the wrong moment. According to Johnny Evers, however, Sherwood Magee is the undisputed granite top of all time.

Johnny came in with the Cubs while the Tigers were in Mobile and spent a couple of hours talking with them about the national game and other things. They were discussing the amount of punishment a fighter could stand and the futility of trying to injure certain black pugilists by hitting them on the head, when Evers advanced the belief that a blow with an ax wouldn't bother Magee a particle.

"Physicians have found Sherwood has a triple thickness of skull that would protect him if he fell out of a twelve-story building and hit on the top of his head," said Evers. "I had heard a lot about his inability to think, but considered the stories told on him bits of fiction until one day, playing against us, he made a perfect bunt down the third base line, and instead of running, when the pitcher tried for a play on the runner at third, calmly stood at the plate until the Cubs, observing that he hadn't sense enough to run, threw him out at first. Had he run after bunting there wouldn't have been a chance to get him, and in fact nobody would have tried to make a play at first.

"When Bates and Magee were playing side by side in the Phillies' outfield a stone quarry didn't have anything on that club. Each had an imaginary line that he considered the limits of his territory, and he wouldn't cross it to save a game of ball. If a line drive or fly ball were hit a couple of yards outside of Magee's domains and Sherwood could easily get it, he would stand still and laugh at Bates while he pursued it. Bates would do the same thing if the play were over outside his district.

"Nothing pleased one of these fellows more than to see the other strike out. One man who was on the bench abused his fellow outfielder all the time that he was at bat, and laughed until he fell down if the umpire called the third one. At times the Phillies had to restrain Magee, for he was so mad after writing that he went after the mocking Bates with a baseball bat."

TO PLAY BALL APRIL 30.

Pickett Club of Grand Forks to Play Manitoba Team.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Pickett baseball team has announced April 30 as the date for the opening of the season here, and their opponents on that occasion will be the Brandon, Man., team. Funds for a successful season will be raised at the annual ball to be given at the Hotel Dacotah April 28, and as has been the custom for years, a season admittance ticket will be given to the person guessing nearest to the number in attendance at the first game.

Nine games have already been arranged for and are as follows: April 16, White Sox; April 23 and 30, Brandon; May 7, Crookston; May 14, Merideths of Fargo; May 21, Thief River Falls; May 28, Minot; May 30, University of North Dakota; June 4, Larimore.

GENIAL JACK DESMOND HAS DIPHTHERIA.

John Desmond, secretary and treasurer of the Duluth Baseball association and one of the most popular men identified with sporting events at the Head of the Lakes, has diphtheria. At first it was thought that genial John was troubled with a bad cold. Later examination has revealed the more serious nature of the ailment.

His home has been quarantined, and the magnate will not be out for some time. Desmond's illness comes at a peculiarly unfortunate time, as he has his baseball park plans on his hands, as well as a multitude of plans in connection with the baseball team, which is just starting the spring practice games at Cleveland.

STAR THIRD BASEMAN OF THE REDS AND HIS BRIDE

MR. AND MRS. EDDIE GRANT.

All the familiar figures on the sporting page are getting married. Willie Hoppe was one of the first. Now all the billiard players and pugs and stick swingers are on a dead run for the license office. "Knockout" Brown is soon to go on the married list. Connie Mack has just returned from a bridal tour. Eddie Grant, of the Cincinnati Reds, has married this pretty girl, who has been with him at Hot Springs while the new third baseman of the Reds was going through spring practice.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

"Duke O'Dea's Discomfiture or Spike Anderson's Great Catch"—Passing of Jack Parres—Special Correspondence From Sapulpa.

THERE has been a series of greatest plays. Not so much to imitate, rather to emulate, if the feat is possible, right here is where we break into the greatest play stuff.

Some years ago, when Duluth was leading the old Northern league, under the astute leadership of Duke O'Dea, Grand Forks, then in second place, came along to play a series of exciting games with us. The game in which this particular play occurred was pulled off on Sunday and was witnessed by a very large crowd.

Two men were on the paths, and one was out when O'Dea came to bat. The Duke was rude and obstreperous with the bludgeon and had been murdering the ball all season. Something was looked for when the Duke stepped into the batter's box, for he was ever one of those mean cusses when a hit was needed.

Spike Anderson, whom many of the fans around this section of the country remember well, was playing in center field for Grand Forks, and when he saw the Duke stride to the bat, he walked several steps back into the daisy patch.

The crowd was not disappointed in the least. What Artha did to the ball was a shame. It was one of the longest hits ever made at Athletic park. It must have traveled clear to the flag pole, out there in the deep corner of the grounds. Both of the runners came across the plate and O'Dea was sauntering along to third base, when a mighty cheer caused the easily running O'Dea to glance in the direction of deep center field. Imagine his great surprise when he observed Spike holding up the ball, clear out there, almost against the fence in the farthest corner of the old lot.

With the crack of O'Dea's bat Spike started tearing back to the fence. He never even looked over his shoulder, just kept on tearing as fast as his pegs would carry him over the ground.

By intuition he turned and stuck up one hand. The ball was traveling at a mighty pace, but Spike held on and made one of the greatest catches that was ever made on any ground. It was a very easy matter to throw the ball into the infield and make a double play after the sensational catch.

O'Dea did not have the least idea that Anderson was anywhere near the ball, and when Spike turned and, leaping into the air, pulled down the spheroid, the White Sox leader was the most surprised man on the grounds.

Never has a player been given a greater ovation at old Athletic park than was Anderson as he trudged in from the field. Duluth went along and won a hard-fought game, though there were not a few rooters pulling for Grand Forks after Spike's great catch.

They kind of thought as how the Spikelets deserved to win.

The Passing of Parres.

JACK PARRES is down and out. His case is commonplace in view of the efforts of greater athletes to do that very difficult "come back" act, which is almost as illusive as chasing pink fleas through an old straw stack. At one time this Parres person was a cause for speculation; now he is the angora every time he starts.

He was really discovered by a man of Duluth. He was a tough kid and has never succeeded in living his toughness down or in eating with his fork. This man gave him his first boxing lesson and later succeeded in getting him some matches. Parres was really a real tough guy, though you might not believe it at the present time.

One of his greatest fights was with big Jack Beauschealte of Chicago, at that time one of the very best of the Chicago fighters. He outweighed Parres by some fifteen or twenty pounds and came to Duluth with the reputation of being one of the very best heavyweights in the West.

The fight was held at the old theater at Sixth avenue east, which in those days was the scene of more than one fight. They didn't tell Parres who the man was, letting him believe that he was some raw novice.

What the Chicago scrapper did to Parres could have been easily observed by a man with smoked glasses. In the fourth round some one yelled to Parres, telling him the identity of the man he was fighting. This angered the lumberjack and he tore in and fought his head off.

Parres was knocked down about as many times as Antaeus in that fast bout with Kid Hercules. Beauschaulte battered his face beyond recognition and yet could not stop the Parres person who was in those days one of the toughest customers who ever stood in fighting shoes.

They do tell us how the man from Iron River, Wis., was in bed for three weeks; and yet he had the bull dog courage and gameness to stick through the gruelling grilling.

One time Ben Tremble, the boy with a foot-wide yellow streak, beat up Parres something awful, and yet he encountered the same experience as the big Chicago fighter—that of failing to stop Parres.

Jack is down and out at the present time. In his palmy days it is very doubtful if Clever Hawkins could have stopped him at all, let alone in a very few rounds, as he did. Yes, Parres is out, all right, and is being beaten by most any old kind of a dub. It is only right that just a few words of passing commendation should be given a fighter who possessed the courage and gameness of this once tough mixer.

Some Flossy Stuff.

SAPULPA, Okla., April 2.—(Special Correspondence.)—Carl Morris is right in his glory at the present time. After his great victory over Mike Schreck, one of the greatest fighters in the country, Carl has ambitions to meet some of the other fighters who have been Osterized.

Today to your correspondent he intimated that he was on the trail of Kid McCoy, Joe Choynski or Jim Corbett, three pleasant old gentlemen.

Marvin Hart and Mike Schreck have made a great hit in Sapulpa, and it is believed the coming of McCoy would create more stir and excitement than any event since Davy Crockett made the Alamo famous.

Carl has offered an explanation. He stated that he was not in the least non plussed or frightened when Mister Schreck hit him on the nose. When the blow came Mr. Morris excitedly exclaimed to Mister Schreck, "What's the matter with you?"

Morris explained that Schreck did not get his signals crossed, or hit him by mistake; only that it stung for the moment and angered him, and he thought Schreck might have hit him on the chest or some other place rather than the nose.

Three oil well holes were this morning named for Morris. They are also going to name a new town for him. One miner today asked if the Morris chair had been named after Carl and was real mad when informed of his ignorance. At 10:20 this morning Mr. Morris shaved and the act made a profound impression in the town. Shortly afterwards he made his appearance on the street. He is a clean cut young man. Shave-clean-cut. That went fine back here.

Shortly before noon the Morris bloomer club, composed of the young ladies of the town, marched down to the hotel and called for a speech from the illustrious mug of Mr. Morris.

The words of Mr. Morris will go down in the history of sultry Sapulpa. "Mams," said Mr. Morris, smiling that awe-inspiring smile of his'n, "I be no speech-maker, but I hopes to greet youse—all some day as the champeen fighter of this 'ere country."

"Ain't he jes grand," shouted one of the girls, in an impulsive moment. The enthusiasm of the young lady was taken up by some miners and several little boys. Two extras were run off; also three knockers.

Much speculation reigns as to the next opponent of Mr. Morris. There is some talk of Jack Munroe, the miner. Some elderly man is wanted, as Carl is looking for experience. The young are impulsive but often lack wisdom. Mr. Morris has an automobile and has cast aside his store clothes for some new fangled duds.

LANGFORD AND McVEY DRAW

Stubby Black From Boston Has Better of Bout in Paris.

Paris, April 3.—After several postponements, the 20-round fight between Sam McVey and Sam Langford, the American negro heavyweight pugilists, was pulled off Saturday in the Cirque Paris. The fight ended in a draw, although the Boston negro, who holds the heavyweight championship of England, completely outclassed his larger opponent from San Francisco.

The hall was crowded to the limit, many persons of fashionable society being among the spectators and when the referee declared the contest a draw, there was a noisy demonstration of disapproval.

For nine rounds Langford landed on McVey as he pleased, and the latter showed signs of distress, but he came up fresher in the tenth, and from then on managed to drag through the contest. There was a great deal of infighting, and the referee was constantly forced to intervene. The faces of both negroes showed signs of severe punishment at the end. The fight was for a purse of $10,000.

ACTIVITY INCREASING ON VERMILION IRON RANGE

Large Amount of High Grade Ore Found in the Chandler.

Two New Transactions in the Ely Region Are Reported.

Ely, Minn., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Vermilion range activity is steadily increasing all along the line. Despite the bad weather last week, travel was heavy, work went on briskly and the usual number of new enterprises came to light: Interest in and around this end of the range is becoming intense and promises to increase as the season advances.

Locally, the operations at the old Chandler mine are beginnning to be appreciated. Capt. Kent has 25,000 tons of high grade ore on the dump. Disinterested and experienced mining men declare that he has at least 75,000 tons additional in the mine, available for stoping and hoisting. What he will get as he goes deeper, time will tell. But from the ore body he now has, what he will get from following it and what can be recovered from the filling in the old stopes, it may be that the returns will, eventually, amount to several million tons. At the present time about sixty men are employed on the two shifts being worked. It also is stated that one of the big independent ore companies has offered to advance the present operators of the Chandler $1.70 a ton on the ore mined and hoisted.

Out at Section 30, everything is running full blast and smoothly. It will be easy for this well managed enterprise to mine and ship the 225,000 tons already sold for this season's delivery.

Work is progressing at the White Iron Lake Iron company's property in Section 2-62-12. There are rumors that something very important is under way in connection with this property, but no information is obtainable at this writing.

Drilling on Section 25.

Two new transactions in the Ely region have come to light within the past week. A diamond drill outfit was moved onto the northeast quarter of section 25 the forepart of the week by Cole & McDonald of Virginia, and it is understood this property will be thoroughly drilled. The land is owned by the Fargo Syndicate, composed of wealthy men of Chicago, of which Mr. Fargo of the firm of Wells-Fargo is the head. Unlimited capital is back of the firm and the work is in charge of Capt. Bradt, one of the best mining men in the business. The advent of this concern onto the Vermilion means considerable to this range. Section 25 has been drilled on several occasions, and also testpitted. Notwithstanding the excellent prospects on this property nothing very definite has resulted. There is no doubt in the minds of those who are acquainted with the showings on 25 that a thorough test will prove up something tangible here. The location is only a short distance this side of Section 30.

Another deal recently made embraces lands owned by Perry D. Jones, William Sinclair, T. Irwin and H. D. Campbell. They have held this property ever since the early days of lumbering on the Vermilion. Mr. Jones, formerly a prominent lumberman and sawmill man of Duluth, now resides in Portland, Or. He returned to St. Louis county a few weeks ago and is making special efforts to dispose of very considerable holdings on the iron ranges.

The lands involved in this deal as as follows: Se¼ of ne¼, ne¼ of se¼, and lot 1, section 3; sw¼ of nw¼, section 2, 62-12, on the belt south of Ely and between the White Iron Lake Iron company's property on the east and the Anderson, Lucky Boy and Asa Camp properties on the west. The option is said to have been secured for Chicago people by F. C. Platt, superintendent at the White Iron Lake Iron company's mine. It is further stated that $100,000 is available for exploration work.

Work at Kennedy Group.

The work on the Kennedy group of mines south of town is making good progress. The working shaft, close to the line between the Anderson and Lucky Boy mines is down sixty feet, bottomed in greenstone after passing through soaprock. A second steam drill has been put into service and an eight-drill air compressor has been ordered and shipped from the factory.

The shaft on the Asa Camp property has not progressed so rapidly the past ten days, owing to temporary trouble with water. The work there is bottomed in ore and the usual stride will be maintained henceforth.

Drilling is securing good results at the McCue in section 10, 62-14. The third hole now is over 400 feet deep and looking fine. It has been in ore and jasper all the way, clean ore alternating with jasper. Mr. Kennedy says that he now expects to follow this hole with a shaft, so favorable have been results of drilling done in the three holes.

Westerly from Ely, on the main belt between Tower and Ely, on the John Smith property on the northerly side of section 9, 62-13, Long & Campbell of Cloquet are drilling with very good success. They are not saying much for publication but it is believed that a very substantial body of merchantable ore has been encountered. It is positively known that those behind the work are so well satisfied that they are planning to finance it heavily. The drill is down over 400 feet in the present hole.

William Sauntry of Stillwater recently was over the range. He has important holdings on the range and is said to be working on a deal with strong people for the exploration of a tract in section 8, 62-13.

The Duluth Diamond Drilling company is working steadily on the John Bisbee property in the southeasterly part of section 7, 62-13. This enterprise is in the hands of the Duluth-Vermilion Iron company, a corporation backed by some of the leading men of Duluth.

The Almar Iron Mining company is seting a pace for the entire range on the Ebmer land in section 15, 62-14. Shaft No. 1 is down about eighty feet, bottomed in very likely material, showing considerable ore. In due course, cross-cutting will be prosecuted southward to explore ore cut above and to definitely prove the ore-bearing formation for a width of over 600 feet. At an early day, a diamond drill will be installed on this property.

Work in shaft No. 2 is showing up some good ore. Capt. Jack King declares that the ore-bearing material is a vertical formation and that, with depth, the ore will "make" or "clean up" steadily. He firmly believes that the making of a big, producing mine there depends on nothing but doing a moderate quantity of work

This mine is splendidly equipped with camp buildings and mining supplies sufficient to sink a shaft 1,000 feet deep. A new Franklin air compressor is being added to the equipment. With that, the splendidly organized force of miners will make rapid progress. The mine was visited the past week by President L. L. Culbertson and Treasurer George Waters of Duluth. A large number of people inspect this property every week and the peerless township of 62-14 is getting much benefit as a result. The Almar company holds all its lands in fee.

Marquette & Vermilion.

Edward M. Barrett, general manager of the Marquette & Vermilion, states that his company expects to start a crew on the property in the southwest quarter of section 19, 62-14, about April 15. Work last season gave splendid results, and the best posted iron men on the range think highly of the property. The formation and surface showings cannot be excelled on the range.

Up in the Mud Creek region T. J. Walsh is making good progress. The shaft on the Vermilion Steel & Iron property is down nearly 175 feet and is expected to break into iron before long A machinery plant duplicating the one on the North American mine at Tower is on the ground and will replace the lighter plant now in use, in due course.

Diamond drill work is being prosecuted on the Vermilion Steel & Iron Extension.

On the Irona, Hole No. 8 is down in solid ore again. At a depth of 80 feet the drill cut 17 feet of ore and then passed into broken iron and jasper. At a depth of 236 feet ore was again encountered. It is proposed to drill this hole until bedrock is struck. That probably will be diorite, but at what depth time will tell. Mr. Rossom, president of the Irona company, has gone East for a couple of weeks.

The Vermilion Iron Exploration company proposes to pursue an aggressive policy on Pine Island henceforth. The shaft is down 165 feet, and when plans are perfected, it is thought that 500 feet a month can be made in the big working shaft. At a depth of 250 feet crosscutting will begin.

Today, the entire bottom of the shaft shows material that will assay better than 50 per cent in iron. Coming in on the south side of the shaft and steadily increasing in width, now being over three feet wide, is a streak of clean ore that will run at least 60 per cent in iron.

A second drill is being added to the equipment. There is a compressor plant, a 50-horsepower boiler and a hoist guaranteed ample for a depth of 500 feet and which ought to be fairly efficient to a depth of 700 feet. Half ton loads now are being hoisted.

Supt. Irving J. Carmichael is taking hold with a masterly hand and an office and assay equipment are being put in for him. The company recently purchased a boat for use between Tower and Pine Island. It is thirty-five feet long, eight feet beam and carries a 24-horsepower engine. It has a guaranteed speed of twelve miles an hour and can be spurred up to fourteen miles an hour if desired.

At the North American, shaft sinking is under way. Mr. T. J. Walsh was at the mine the last of last week. The brick plant is being installed and work of making brick is expected to start June 1. Work on the North American hotel at Walsh is expected to start again soon. It will be inclosed with brick from the local plant instead of stucco, as originally planned.

Exploration work is proceeding without special incident on the Minnesota Steel & Iron company's property.

There's some stirring around at the Roy and the indications are that work will be resumed there before long.

Drilling continues steadily on the La Chance. Mr. James La Brec visited the property the past week.

ting down to serious work, and other bickerings have consumed much time.

However, the state will survive the loss of the many bills that will not be passed because there isn't time enough left to pass them in. There are hardly a dozen measures left that are of first importance, and about the only figure nine out of ten of the other hundreds of pending measures cut is that they clog the machinery and prevent consideration of really important matters. That these minor measures are not reached is not a serious matter at all.

The experiences of this session make it clearer than ever that there is need of radical reform in legislative methods in this state.

There are too many bills, and there is too little time given to serious consideration of pending measures.

It would help a great deal if the Constitution were amended so as to require that all bills must be introduced in the first thirty days of the session. There would'nt be so many, for one thing, and there would be vastly more opportunity to consider carefully the measures that do come in.

There isn't the slightest reason why every measure could not be introduced in the first thirty days, except possibly a few that would become necessary by developments during the session, and as to these it would always be possible to get them introduced at the request of the governor. The members are elected early in November, and they have until early in January to prepare their bills. If the thirty-day limitation were imposed, the members would have a full three months in which to prepare their measures, and that is time enough for anybody. With all the bills in during the first thirty days, the legislature could at the expiration of that period settle down to consider thoroughly the business before it. The committees could get their work done earlier. The legislaure could sit longer each day, as it would not be necessary to adjourn so often to give the committees a chance. More work and better work would be done than is possible now, when bills are introduced in a constant stream until there are only twenty days of the session left.

There have been suggestions that each member be limited to a definite number of bills, say three; but this would be harder to accomplish than the other plan, and the thirty-day limitation would make it unnecessary.

There are not many measures of first-rate importance that have not passed one branch or the other; and there are no measures of first-rate importance except the Bob Dunn good roads bills that have passed both branches.

The important thing in the remainder of the session is not whether or not the legislature gets through the mass of chaff now awaiting action on calendar and general orders, but whether or not the really vital measures are passed.

For instance, the house has passed an initiative and referendum bill, which has gone to the senate and has been referred to a sub-committee on the committee on judiciary—the same sub-committee in which the senate initiative and referendum bills have been sleeping peacefully since early in the session.

The senate, on the other hand, has passed a recall bill, which is still in committee of the house; a state-wide primary bill, which is also still in committee in the house, and a nonpartisan judiciary bill, which has been recommended out of committee but has not yet been acted upon by the house.

The house, too, has passed Representative C. H. Warner's bill providing special aid for school districts in proportion to the amount of unsold school lands in each, which amounts to taxing state lands for the support of the schools in districts that are sadly handicapped because of the large amount of state lands in their area which pay no taxes for the support of the local government. This bill has not yet been acted upon in the senate.

Two important measures passed by the house which still await action in the senate are the Spooner bills, providing for state control of water powers and for the investigation of the so-called Mershon plan of developing waterways and water power by the state.

The former bill passed the house rather easily, but the water power companies of the state are making a hard fight against it in the senate, and they believe that they have it beaten there.

Another important and interesting measure which the house has put up to the senate is the Minette-Schwartz bill, putting telephone companies under the tax commission and giving that body power to regulate rates and to require physical connection between different telephone companies.

This project of requiring telephone companies to connect with each other has been before the legislature, knocking in vain for admission, for a dozen years. At first it was dismissed contemptuously as the "barbed wire bill," on the theory that it would require the big companies to connect with the telephone wire which a farmer has strung alone his fence. This epithet was first applied to the bill by ex-Representative George J. Mallory of Duluth.

This time, however, there is a formidable array of pressure back of the bill, and it passed the house by a large vote. The hostile telephone interests are making a hard fight, and they hope to beat it in the senate.

The effect of this measure, if it passes and stands the test of the courts, will be highly important to every telephone patron. It will require the companies to connect with each other so that any man with a 'phone in his house can talk to any other man anywhere in the state who also has a 'phone in his house, no matter whether the two 'phones are installed by the same company or not.

To make its application more concrete, the bill means that if J. Jones has a Bell telephone in his home, and he wants to talk to P. Jenkins in the West end, who has a Zenith telephone in his home, he can do it. Of course, a toll charge can be made for the connection; but as rates are controlled by the tax commission, the companies will not be able to make prohibitive charges for this service.

Two measures of prime importance to Northern Minnesota are on the calendar in the house, but must be passed by both houses before they can become laws.

These are the bills introduced by the house committee on public lands, of which C. H. Warner of Aitkin is chairman, contemplating the consolidation of the various state departments concerned with the public domain and the state's natural resources. One bill provides for a commission to investigate the situation and report to the next legislature a bill consolidating, coordinating and correlating the several departments. The other proposes a constitutional amendment taking the sale of state lands out of the state auditor's office, so it can be made a part of the new bureau which will be drawn by the commission provided for in the other bill.

The house last week passed the new forestry bill, which has had the approval of all interests concerned, and into the making of which advice from all the approved authorities, from Gifford Pinchot down, has gone.

The house mutilated the bill rather sadly by cutting the salary of the chief forester down from $5,000 to $3,000; but it is hoped that this blunder will be corrected by the senate.

The importance of this item is made clear when it is understood that the plan of the bill is to get the best man available as chief forester, and then place upon him the full burden of responsibility for the success of the law. That means that the law will be a success if the forester is a competent man, and that it will be a failure if he is an incompetent man.

For instance, as The Herald showed the other day, the vexed question of when cuttings and slashings, the debris of lumbering operations, shall be burned, is left in this bill wholly to the discretion of the forester.

While this provision has been criticized, really it is one of the greatest merits in the measure. It has been shown that there is no fixed rule that is always applicable. The law may say that slashings must always be burned at a certain time of the year; yet there may be years when it is a folly and a crime to burn them at that period, and there may be places, where young timber is growing, where it would be a folly and a crime to burn them at all. In such cases the forester is given complete discretion. He can order slashings burned at what seems to him to be the wisest time; and where there is a young second growth of timber that may be damaged if the slashings are burned, he may order that they be not burned at all, but that such an area shall be surrounded by a suitable firebreak.

Up to today, eighty-two measures out of more than 2,000 introduced have become laws; and of these but two are of wide public interest and importance.

ENGINEERS MAY COME TO DULUTH

State Association to Be Invited for Convention in 1912.

The State Association of Stationary Engineers may be invited to hold its annual convention in Duluth in 1912.

A committee of the Duluth branch of the National Association of Stationary Engineers has been appointed and the members will consider the advisability of inviting them to convene here.

Up to this time the Duluth organization has not been affiliated with the state association. At a meeting held yesterday in the Lyceum building, it was decided to affiliate with the state body at once.

A convention of this kind in Duluth would do much towards reviving interest in the fight against the smoke nuisance as it would bring many men here who are competent to discuss it in all its phases.

At the next meeting of the local association a paper on the "Costs of Industrial Power" will be read by J. B. Crance of the Great Northern Power company. An informal discussion will be held by those present.

ANNIVERSARY OF CONVERSION

The third anniversary of his conversion was celebrated last night by Matt Daly, a lumberjack's "sky pilot," who addressed a meeting in the Bethel on lower Lake avenue.

More than 100 men heard Daly tell how he climbed out of the gutter. Before he was converted he hung about saloons and was known as "Buckethouse Blackey."

Daly travels about the north woods, distributing magazines, preaching and ministering to his former companions. Lumber companies give him every opportunity to reach the lumberjacks and talk Christianity to them. He traveled 3,131 miles last winter, mostly on foot. He found nearly two score of men and boys who were being sought by friends or relatives and he reunited four families.

SAYS RECIPROCITY WOULD BE BENEFICIAL.

Reciprocity would be beneficial both to the United States and Canada is the belief of Rev. W. T. Stackhouse, secretary for the Baptist Laymen's Missionary movement in the North and West. Mr. Stackhouse was born in Canada, where he was educated and where he lived most of his life. He will speak at the banquet which will be given this evening in the First Baptist church for the men of the Baptist churches at the Head of the Lakes.

Mr. Stackhouse said he would like to see the two countries arrive at a reciprocal trade agreement. There are no forts nor battleships between the two countries and the greatest protection that either can have from invasion is the presence of the other adjacent to it. The tendency of the two countries to draw closer together is clearly evident, said Mr. Stackhouse. The population of Western Canada is recruiting from 50,000 to 75,000 people from the United States every year. This movement tends to strengthen the ties between the two countries.

PROGRAM FOR TUESDAY "POP"

Two Popular Features Are Scheduled for Y. M. C. A. Free Entertainment.

There are two features for the Tuesday night "pop" at the Y. M. C. A. this week that those who have attended the "pops" have been waiting for.

One is the first public appearance this season of the Normanna chorus of thirty-five voices, directed by Gustave Flaaten, and the other is the championship game of volley ball of the series that has been played between the noon business men's class and the 4:40 business men's class. In the previous contests each side has won four games and Tuesday night's contest will decide the championship volley ball team. There have been few events which the program committees in charge of the "pops" have put on that are any more interesting or exciting than have been these games. Although volley ball is new to the public, it is a very interesting game and has become one of the business men's most popular games in the gymnasium.

The work of the Normanna chorus has been well knokn in Duluth for some time, and whenever this organization of men presents a program it is received with great enthusiasm. The chorus Tuesday night will be composed of thirty-five voices.

Other features of the evening's program will be a violin solo by Henry G. Lavick and a reading by Lawrence Drohan.

The crowd at the "pop" last week was the largest that had ever been in the building at one time for any gathering, and the committee this week has made every possible effort to make accommodations for the crowd that will be present this week. The doors will not be open until 7:30. The program follows:

"Sanger Hilsen" .... Greig
Normanna Chorus.
Violin solo—"The Gypsy Dance"..... .... Nachez
Henry G. Lavick.
"Jubilate Amen" .... Kjernlf
Chorus.
Reading—"The Ghost" ....
Lawrence Drohan.

AUTOMOBILE SCARES HORSE.

Thompson, N. D., Farmer Thrown From Rig and Injured.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ole Sorbo, a Thompson farmer, is suffering painful bruises as the result of his horses becoming frightened by a passing automobile while in this city Saturday evening. His team was tied in front of the Arlington-Park hotel and he was fixing a piece of harness when the car whizzed by. Knocking Mr. Sorbo down, the horses tore away, hauling the wagon, heavily loaded with grain, over his body. No bones were broken, but internal injuries may prove serious.

SHOOTS LITTLE SISTER DEAD WITH 'UNLOADED REVOLVER'

DOCTORS DO MORE THAN THEY PROMISE

Mrs. Josephine White Tells About United Doctors' Treatment for Goitre.

Mrs. Josephine White of Cedar Falls, Iowa, is another of the thousands who know from experience that they can rely implicitly upon any promise made by the United Doctors, those expert medical specialists who have their Duluth institute located on the third floor of the Columbia building.

Mrs. White was in a critical condition from goitre when she went to the United Doctors for help. She was told that her case had gone too far to be entirely cured, but that she could be helped. Her condition was so bad that she could scarcely believe that there was any help for her after so many others had failed, but she took the "United" treatment and now is so well pleased with the results that she has written the following letter for publication:

"Cedar Falls, Iowa, March 8, 1911.—To the Public: My neck began to enlarge about twenty-eight years ago and has been growing slowly all this time, causing a choking sensation and I felt like swallowing most of the time as though something was sticking in my throat and whenever I had a cold or cough, my neck would enlarge so I could not fasten my clothing around it. I had taken a certain medicine, proclaimed to be a cure, but it acted strangely and I was frightened as I got so I could not speak.

"I read in the Courier what the United Doctors were doing and I concluded to call on them. They examined me and told me they could reduce the goitre considerably and now, after a few weeks' treatment, I am wearing a collar that I have not had on for years. I can turn my head in any direction without feeling a strain and my heart acts better. They are doing more than they phomised for me.

Home-Made Cough Syrup.

An item like labeled cough syrup costs the people several million dollars a year. None Like It Served in Rome

Italian cooks are famed the world over for a certain style of spaghetti.

But never has Rome served such delicious spaghetti as our chefs have prepared for you.

The dish as we make it contains 17 ingredients. Two years have been spent in learning how to combine them.

The wonder lies in the harmony of flavor. No other cooks in the world produce anything like it.

We use in the making:

Durum wheat spaghetti.
Herkimer County full cream cheese.
Best creamery butter.
The same expensive tomato sauce we use in Van Camp's Pork & Beans.

The recipe is secret, and no price could buy it. But your grocer has the dish complete, all ready-cooked for you.

It costs you less than to make it yourself if the recipe were yours.

Just heat it or bake it, as you like it best. There's nothing else to do.

When you serve it for dinner don't say where you got it. Wait for the comments on the "jewel of a cook."

But be sure of this: No other spaghetti will ever appeal to those who once taste this.

Order it now, before other folks know it. Your grocer has just put it in.

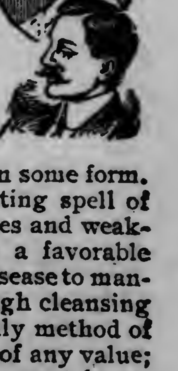
S.S.S. A PERFECT CURE FOR SCROFULA



Scrofula belongs to the type of diseases known as blood poison, and is a trouble usually manifested in childhood. It is often an inherited condition springing from some specific disease of ancestors. The ordinary symptoms of Scrofula are swollen glands about the neck, sores and ulcers on the body, scalp diseases, skin affections, weak eyes, poor physical development, etc.

The disease being deeply rooted in the blood, often attacks the bones if the poison is not removed from the circulation, and this should be seriously considered in the case of any child who shows symptoms of having scrofulous blood. Some persons who inherit Scrofula reach maturity before the trouble develops, but being bred in the circulation, the disease is bound to show itself in some form. Frequently a debilitating spell of sickness which depletes and weakens the system offers a favorable opportunity for the disease to manifest itself. A thorough cleansing of the blood is the only method of treatment that can be of any value; the scrofulous poison must be removed from the circulation.

Two years ago my infant, 4 months old, developed a scrofulous condition. The enlarged glands of the neck suppurated and discharged pus. The child was treated by a doctor, but did not improve. I put it on S. S. S. as directed by your physician, and it took but a short time for S.S.S. to make a perfect cure.
Goldsboro, N. C. GILES HINSON.

I inherited scrofula from my ancestry, and was under treatment of physicians for quite a period at different times, but their treatment did not do me anything like the good S. S. S. did last winter when I took it. It builds up the general health in every way, and in addition to being an excellent blood purifier, it adds to its success as a remedy for scrofula.
MRS. LOUISE COHEN.
122 Brownell St., Cleveland, Ohio.

S. S. S. has cured thousands of cases of Scrofula. It is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and by going down into the circulation and ridding it of the scrofulous germs, and enriching the blood by the addition of healthful corpuscles, S. S. S. cures the disease permanently. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, and is perfectly safe for children. If you or your child have any symptoms of Scrofula, begin the use of S. S. S. at once, and get the destructive disease forever removed from the system. Book on the blood, and any medical advice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

KEEPER OF IMMORAL HOUSE IS GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

Municipal Court Co-operates With Police in Cleaning Up City.

Anna Carney Will Serve Thirty Days Besides Paying Fine.

JUDGE FRANK CUTTING.

Even more important than the recent activities of the police in rounding up dissolute women, gamblers and blind-piggers, was the radical action taken in police court this morning when Judge Cutting gave a woman convicted of keeping a house of ill fame a straight sentence of thirty days in the county jail without the option of a fine. The same woman also paid a fine of $100 for selling liquor without a license.

The straight jail sentence came like a bolt from a clear sky. Nothing nearly as radical as that had been dreamed of by the woman. The worst that had been anticipated was the imposition of the maximum fine, which in police court is $100, under the statutes of this state.

Judge Cutting showed by his action today more strongly than before that the police court authorities will co-operate with the police in cleaning up the city. Those who are convicted and fail to get out of town or change their tactics, will get straight jail sentences and will have to serve their time in the much criticized county jail.

Last month the police made more raids and arrests of people of undesirable character than for a long time past. Those familiar with the "ropes" declare that for years they have not known the police to be as active as they have been recently. Keepers of disorderly houses have been caught, as have many persons who have been doing a thriving business in the blindpig line. Arrests have been made which were entirely unexpected and men have been brought in who thought that it was impossible for them to be apprehended. And it is stated that evidence has been secured which will result in further arrests of the same character. It is said that there is a bunch of warrants out which have not yet been served.

Anna Carney, who got thirty days in the county jail, pleaded guilty to two different charges when she was arraigned in police court before Judge Cutting this morning. She was fined $100 on the charge of selling liquor without a license and given the jail sentence for keeping a house of ill fame at 1119 West Michigan street. When arrested last week she entered a plea of not guilty, but she changed it this morning and through an attorney made a plea for clemancy to Judge Cutting. In passing the jail sentence the court said that the Carney woman had been arrested and fined before, but that that form of punishment apparently had not had the necessary effect upon her. He said that it seems that the only way the city can be cleaned up is to impose jail sentences.

Walter Sprinkle, a clerk at the St. James hotel on Superior street between Second and Third avenues west, was arrested this morning on a warrant charging him with selling liquor without a license. He entered a plea of not guilty and his trial set for Friday morning. Several other trials of persons who were arrested last week are set for this week.

ODD EXHIBITS IN COURTHOUSE VAULT TELL MANY STORIES OF CRIME AND VIOLENCE

There is a corner in the vault of the clerk of court's office in the courthouse that is a mighty interesting place.

It is that corner which is devoted to exhibits that have been used in cases that have been tried in the St. Louis county courts. The exhibits are from both civil and criminal actions.

Among the exhibits are suit cases, shoes, books, belting, bottles, drugs, pipes, pictures, axes, revolvers, trees, stumps, railroad track, miniature mine shafts, maps, knives and other articles too numerous to mention.

Many weeks could be spent in this corner of the vault looking up what each exhibit was used for, and a history of the different cases would be very interesting. If one lacked the inclination to look them up he could enjoy himself by wondering how this or that article was used, or who met his death and under what circumstances as the result of the use of the several specimens of murderous looking weapons.

If one doesn't care for the criminal side of the courts there are other things in plenty to occupy his attention. There are miniature mine shafts, electric light poles, trolley cars made out of pasteboard, drawings, maps and many other things that are interesting.

The mine shafts were probably used in personal injury suits to show how some one was injured or how some one was killed. Drawings, maps and tracings are usually used to decide the ownership of land, or decide on its value or many other questions that are brought up from day to day in the courts.

These exhibits accumulate as they are brought into court. They are marked and laid away. They are rarely used again, but the law provides that they be kept in case they should be needed.

Jewelry Department.

There is also a jewelry department in the vault. There are no diamonds contained in the assortment, but there are watches, pins, buttons, chains and enough other pieces to start a small store. To find out what they were all used for would take many days—perhaps weeks.

If the investigator is interested in criminal cases he would find enough to occupy his attention. There are blood-stained axes, razors, knives, poisons, blunt clubs, irons, flattened bullets that have plowed through human bodies and other weapons that have caused both injury and death.

The blood-stained ax that Frank Colon used to kill Lazzo Evanovich at New Independence, Minn., is still among the exhibits. The razor with which a Duluth negro killed a woman still bears the marks of blood. Clubs blood-stained and murderous looking are numerous.

The exhibits are kept with great care just as they came from the courtroom. Each one is in its place and each one is properly marked so that the files can be looked up and the history of the case secured in a very short time.

There are hundreds and hundreds of the exhibits. They occupy a large space in the corner of the vault and if one is naturally curious he can interest himself for a long time wondering what they were used for. If this curiosity gets the better of him he may look the matter up.

FINANCIAL SENTIMENT

Extension of the Harriman Lines Has Turned the Current.

Crop Outlook Very Encouraging and No Cause to Complain.

New York, April 3.—In a recent interview Judge Lovett, president of the Harriman lines, stated plainly and fairly the correct situation as far as concerns the immense territory which the great lines he controls pass through. He had just returned from an inspection trip over the system. "The feeling is good. Every one is expecting better business, and I observe no disturbing factor, nor was any suggested. The outlook for good crops, in view the unusual rainfall, is very encouraging.

"While our earnings have fallen off, and probably will continue to run behind those of last year for some time to come, it must be remembered that last year with us was unprecedented. Compared with previous years, we have no cause to complain."

This view of Judge Lovett is the conservative expression of a man who deals in facts, not in fancies or theories.

Judge Lovett has most favorably impressed the people of the United States since he has been before them as head of one of the greatest railway systems of the country and of the world.

He is thoroughly impressed by the tremendous growth in population that the region his lines traverse is now having, and feels that the interests intrusted to him are sure of the future in every way.

Foresaw the Future.

When other managers were carping over existing limitations and bewailing imaginary future woes of the transportation companies, Judge Lovett was imbued with the same wisdom, the same correct judgment that impelled the father of J. Pierpont Morgan to express the well-known patriotic faith in the soundness and certainty of business in the United States.

Two months ago the Harriman lines management broke the lines of doubt and hesitated by declaring for the vast improvement of their lines which will require an expenditure of fully $100,000,000, and by that declaration they turned the current of financial sentiment and strengthened business confidence upon this continent as well as bracing up the European views of our affairs here.

Every day since the Harriman management did this has demonstrated the advisability of their action.

The outlook now is that in the great movement of travel which will undoubtedly accompany the opening of the San Francisco celebration of the completion of the Panama canal, many millions of dollars of the money ordered to be spent upon these lines under Judge Lovett's control will come back to the treasury of the system in a single year as earnings, multiplied earnings, only to be obtained by the extensions, improvements and additional facilities provided for by the directors.

Inside of two years the extension of the Southern Pacific down the west coast of Mexico will be completed to the important city of Guadalajara, which is situated in one of the most fertile regions of the world.

This extension runs for nearly 700 miles down the Pacific coast from the Arizona line, and is but a few miles from the Pacific ocean for 500 miles of that distance and directly connected with the important ports of Guaymas, Maizattan and San Blas.

Touches the Capital.

Then it strikes east by south for 200 miles to Guadalajara, a city of nearly 150,000 inhabitants, the capital of the state of Jalisco.

This state of Jalisco is the granary of the republic of Mexico, and at this time contains a population of nearly 1,500,000 peaceful and industrious persons.

Recently the Mexican government has granted the Southern Pacific company a concession to complete their lines from Guadalajara to the city of Mexico.

Very few persons outside of the Southern Pacific management realize the value of this concession, passing as it does through an extensive region, already well populated, possessing exceedingly fertile soil, vast mineral resources of every kind, a fine climate and capable of a development that will surpass everything yet accomplished in any country upon the globe.

I am quite familiar with the agricultural riches and mineral resources of the state of Pennsylvania, and I am well aware of the benefit their development has brought to the people of that state, and how solidly, firmly and permanently those riches, resources and that development have built up the fortunes of the famous railway of that state.

I know from years of personal observation the region through which this Southern Pacific extension in Mexico runs, and when the late Edward Harriman secured that concession he placed at the command of his investors and directors the transportation affairs in a portion of the earth far richer in every natural resource than the splendidly endowed Keystone state.

Volumes would not tell of its advantages to trade and to domestic and foreign commerce.

The coming decades, running into the centuries, will abundantly demonstrate the foresight of Mr. Harriman and bring great profits to those who followed his lead in this enterprise.

Good Crop Outlook.

The earliest crop reports of the United States come from the Texas Gulf coast and the Rio Grande, and already the mails and the wires are bringing to this city information as to the productions of the soil there for the year 1911.

The cotton planting proceded well, and so far the little plants look very fine, while the average is known to be far greater than ever before put into cultivation.

Cotton has many days of trial, and some of peril, before it yet can be determined as to amount of production or of financial profit and loss.

The Bermuda onion crop of Southern Texas, however, is now made, and there is great rejoicing among the farmers as to their great increase in production, while the railways running to the North and to the East are feeling that increase through the greater number of cars needed and immense addition on the tonnage that comes to them from this new crop.

From the Laredo district alone last year nearly 2,000 carload lots were shipped, and this year it is estimated nearly 3,000 cars will be needed to carry the shipments offered. This is from a single shipping district, and the surrounding districts report the same percentages of increase in the crop.

Prices are said to be up to last year, and thus from the very first great crop that Southwest Texas sends to market for this present year her farmers are assured of many millions of dollars in cash for their labor and care in cultivation.

ALESHIRE IS PRAISED

Masterly Manner in Which the Troops Were Mobilized.

Washington, April 3. — Unstinted praise is being showered on Gen. J. B. Aleshire, quartermaster general of the army for the masterly manner in which the troops now on the Mexican border were mobilized, together with the impediments necessary for the care and comfort of 20,000 men. The celerity which characterized the transportation of the troops; the entraining and detraining of the men; the movement of supply trains, with necessary stores for a three months' campaign, proved in a most practical way the strength of the position taken by Gen. Aleshire when he became quartermaster general that complete success of his branch of the service depended upon the co-operation of the departmental quartermasters and those in charge of quartermasters' depots, rather than everything centered in Washington. On assuming office, Gen. Aleshire inaugurated a radical reform by calling upon all his subordinates for an inventory of stock on hand and the needs of the several departments to increase their efficiency. As a result of systematic effort the quartermaster general was enabled to prepare a book of quartermasters' stores and their several locations. When orders came to mobilize the troops for maneuvers along the Rio Grande it was but a mater of a few hours to get everything in readiness to move, as he knew exactly by consulting the "little red book" where particular supplies were to be had and the amount on hand. The months spent in preparing this most comprehensive inventory had been justified, and naturally Gen. Aleshire is elated over the complete success of decentralization.

Want National Convention.

Public enterprise promoters of Baltimore are going after the National Democratic convention for 1912 and have guaranteed a fund of $100,000 to entertain the delegates. The first national political convention was held in Baltimore in 1831, when Henry Clay was nominated by the Whigs, and it also saw the first National Democratic convention when, in 1832, Andrew Jackson was nominated for his second term. The Democrats continued holding their national conventions in the Monumental city until 1856, when James Buchanan was nominated at Cincinnati, the same year that the first national Republican convention was held at Philadelphia, nominating John C. Fremont. The Republicans nominated Abraham Lincoln at Chicago in 1860, and have ever since mainly favored that city. It is thought highly probable that if the Democrats select the East for their convention, the Republicans will go West.

The Minority Leadership.

The Republican majority of the house of the Sixty-first congress having been changed into a minority in the Sixty-second congress, the question of the minority leadership of the party rises conspicuously and gravely for the first time in sixteen years. In the Fifty-second congress, when the Democrats had captured the house, Former Speaker Thomas B. Reed was accorded the leadership without question. This time it is evident that former Speaker Cannon will have opposition, if it is undertaken to make him the minority leader. This is manifest from the discussion of other house Republicans for the post. Among those mentioned with more or less insistence are Representatives James R. Mann of Illinois, and Marlin E. Olmstead of Pennsylvania.

It is just possible that ex-Speaker Cannon will solve the problem by declining to be a candidate, in which event it is thought Representative Mann will be selected.

ELECTION WILL BE A CLOSE ONE

Great Interest in Choice of Mayor in Chicago Tuesday.

Chicago, April 3.—The speech making and "personal influence" end of the city election came to an end today and the energies of the opposing camps in what is expected to be the closest election in this city in many years, were directed toward getting out the vote tomorrow.

While aldermen and other city officials are to be elected and while there are two bond issues and three annexation propositions to vote on at the same time, chief interest lies in the fight for mayor.

Alderman Charles M. Merriam, Republican, is a professor in Chicago university, is a student of municipal economy, and is the first candidate of his type to ask the office of mayor for many years.

Carter H. Harrison, his Democratic opponent, attracts attention because he has been mayor of Chicago four times and comes from a Harrison family which furnished Chicago mayors in a previous generation.

Mr. Merriam has made his campaign upon a platform of "the new order of progressives" and the "era of the young man," and Mr. Harrison on the grounds of his past experience and a Democrat and for 70-cent gas. Polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m.

April 13 for Packers.

Chicago, April 3.—Judge Carpenter in the United States district court today set April 13 as the date upon which he would hear arguments on the demurrers filed Saturday by the indicted Chicago meat packers. The demurrers attack the anti-trust law as well as the indictments.

BIG CORPORATION CASES NOT DECIDED

Supreme Court Fails to Hand Down Long Expected Decisions.

Washington, April 3.—A strong impression existed that the supreme court of the United States, meeting today after a recess of two weeks, would hand down opinions in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco "trust" cases, but up to 2:30 p. m. they had not been reached. Several opinions of more or less interest occupied the first two hours of the court's sitting. Then at 2 o'clock a half hour's recess was ordered with the announcement that the chief justice, Mr. White, would read several additional opinions.

Early in the day it was reported that the corporation cases would not be acted upon today. The fact that the court was to continue sitting after 2:20 p. m., however, caused a rumor to circulate that important cases might be reached after all. Later it was announced that no corporation opinions would be handed down.

The court declined to enjoin the federal judges in Oklahoma from enforcing decrees they had issued in liquor cases, involving questions of jurisdiction over liquor in interstate commerce.

By virtue of a decision today the federal government will be given another opportunity to enjoin the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, piercing the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania, from carrying coal in an alleged violation of the "commodities clause" of the Hepburn rate law.

Champion Glass Breaker.

William Lake has a reputation on Lake and St. Croix avenue of being the champion glass breaker in the vicinity. When he was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of having smashed the plate glass window of a St. Croix avenue saloon it was stated that he has broken several others as well as beer glasses in saloons in which he has been drinking. He pleaded guilty to wilful destruction of property when arraigned this morning and was fined $50 and costs or thirty days in the county jail. He went over the hill.

Hearing Adjourned.

The board of public works this morning adjourned the hearing on the advance assessment for the paving of Twenty-first avenue east between London road and Fire street, two weeks, to give the property owners an opportunity to appear before the council to have the improvement laid over until next year, or indefinitely. Some of the property owners this morning claimed that the board had promised to delay the paving. The board says that that would be impossible as it has no such power, that being vested only in the city council.

Three Small Fires.

The fire department had a run to Frank Berry's saloon at 420 West Superior street to extinguish a fire which started in the floor from defective electric wiring. The damage will be about $200. A chemical was sent to Boyle's restaurant Saturday night. A pan of meat had been left on the stove without sufficient water and it filled the place with smoke. The damage was trivial. The confectionery store of Frank Batalro was damaged to the extent of about $200 this morning by a fire started by an overheated stove.

MOISTURE IS GENERAL

Rain or Snow in Southwest and Northwest—Wheat Prices Drop.

Liquidation Continues—Foreign Markets Display Weakness.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 3.—Wheat continued to decline today. May lost ⅛@⅝c and July slumped ¾c. Shorts covering in the May toward the close caused that option to show more strength than the July. The cash situation was dull but displayed a little strength on account of the scarcity of cash wheat. Cash was ⅛@¼c over the May.

Barley was steady although prices at Milwaukee were weak. High prices are bringing out heavier receipts. Durum wheat lost ½c. Oats gained ⅛c. Rye was unchanged.

Flaxseed was dull and lifeless. May closed unchanged. Foreign markets were unchanged. Plata seed was quoted at $2.08 at Antwerp for this month's delivery.

There was continued liquidation of the May delivery. Some longs who desired to stay in their wheat bought the July. The inference is that some millers prefer to take delivery of the July rather than the May. Stocks for delivery in May are extremely heavy but many longs think wheat may become a valuable possession in July.

The cash situation was dead here but it showed a little life at Minneapolis, where choice spring wheat was in demand. Warehouse capacity is almost full in the Northwest and there is no prospect that supplies will be rapidly removed. It is likely that there will be no warehouse room for the new winter wheat crop as houses in the Southwest are full. This country may be compelled to go on an export basis. With Liverpool backing away and other selling countries offering wheat under us a further decline in values seems inevitable. There is enough wheat at Minneapolis to supply the Northwestern mills until next fall. There is sufficient wheat in the country to meet the requirements of interior mills and the big grinders at the leading milling centers even if warehouses at terminal points were empty.

The visible supply of wheat decreased 1,017,000 bu. Primary receipts as a whole showed an increase over any day last week. The Pacific coast is shipping wheat heavily. Apparently French purchases were large and the delivery of this wheat will contribute to the demoralization of the French markets. France evidently overbought last fall and is being compelled to take delivery of a lot of high-priced wheat. Holland, it is said, will put a duty of 14c on imported flour from America. Wheat and coarse grains will remain on the free list.

Foreign markets generally were weaker. The Indian outlook is normal although recent rains and high winds have caused some reduction in the bumper crop outlook in the important districts. World's shipments were much larger than expected although under the shipments of week before last. American exports were especially heavy on account of the shipment of about 1,250,000 bu of Pacific coast wheat. American offers were cheaper and Danubian and American shipments are expected to continue liberal.

There was scattered precipitation in Kansas and Nebraska over Sunday and additional snow in North Dakota. Some snow also fell in Northern South Dakota. Eastern North Dakota reported two inches. Reports from the winter wheat states were exceedingly favorable. The Missouri report, which came after the close Saturday, was indicative of the improved condition of the Southwestern plant over the condition in December. The government's report will be issued April 10. Rains fell today in Southwestern Kansas, where moisture was badly needed. The moisture was timely and is expected to be of great benefit to the growing wheat.

Rain was general over Kansas last night and today and rain or snow is predicted for tonight, not only in Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa ad Indiana, but also in the three Northwestern wheat states.

The Commercial West of Minneapolis has received replies from Minnesota bankers concerning financial conditions and crop prospects.

Answering the question, "What are the prospects for land movement in your county this season?" only two counties answered "poor." They are Kittson and Norman. In reply to the query if land has increased in value since a year ago thirteen counties answered in the negative as follows: Becker, Beltrami, Benton, Cass, Houston, Kittson, Mille Lacs, Nicollet, Norman, Sherburne, Wabasha, Winona and Wright.

In reply to the question, "Do you look for any increase in grain acreage in your county as compared with last year?" twenty-four answered yes, as follows. Becker, Clay, Clearwater, Crow Wing, Goodhue, Houston, Hubbard, Jackson, Kittson, Lac Qui Parle, Lyon, Mahnomen, Murray, Pennington, Pine, Polk, Red Lake, Renwood, Renville, Roseau, St. Louis, Stearns, Stevens, Traverse, Todd, Waseca.

Replying to the inquiry, "What is the condition of the ground as to moisture?" the following counties answered "dry:" Houston, Mille Lacs, Mower and Murray, Pennington, Sherburne, Stearns, Wabasha, Wadena, Wright, Winona, Watonwan and Washington. Most of these counties answered before the recent snow and rain which changed conditions in most of them. All other counties replied that moisture conditions are "good" or "fair."

Chicago Record-Herald: L. S. Hoyt of Montague & Co., who has just returned from a trip in the Southwest, says that in Kansas he covered the principal wheat counties of the state as far west as Great Bend. He found the wheat in good condition, well stooled and very healthy color. The entire section that was smothered out last winter a year ago is in fine shape this year, with a greatly increased acreage. The southwest portion of the state is inclined to be a little dry on the surface, but has a fair amount of sub-moisture. Corn in Kansas is getting to be rather scarce. He saw little, and only at feed yards. There are a great many cattle and hogs on feed over the state, and from appearances the oat acreage will be 25 per cent less than last year. His opinion is that if the dry belt in the western portion of Kansas should prove a failure Kansas even then will raise more wheat than last year. He put in two days riding over Missouri, where the wheat crop is very fine. Same condition of corn and oats exist in Missouri as Kansas, and a great many cattle and hogs are being fed. He came through this state from St. Louis yesterday, and the wheat is looking very fine through that section. On the entire trip he failed to see any indication of winter killing.

Sunday's Chicago Record-Herald: At the close of business last night there was not an owner of anything in the entire grain and provision list that had any profit in his property at the present market prices. Wheat and the provision values went into the lowest levels of the year and for a number of years. May oats followed their example, but corn was also but a shade above the previous low figures. The near approach of the May delivery day and the absence of any noteworthy demand for grain of any sort caused the shrinkage in prices. Dribbling liquidation was in evidence in wheat, corn and oats. One lot of 200,000 bu May wheat was sold out yesterday that cost $1.10 per bu and therefore showed a loss of about 25c, or approximately $50,000. In the cash grain market there were a few evidences of the effect of the overdoing of the holding sentiment during the last few years by farmers. A few sales of the 1909 corn were made at the lowest that have been seen since the 1909 crop was raised. In the oats pit there was the beginning of small liquidating sales by miscellaneous longs in May, who were discouraged by the fact that the market had broken into new ground.

H. J. Diffenbaugh of Kansas City wired—"Motored 154 miles from Hayes City via La Crosse, Larned, Great Bend, Lyons to Hutchinson. Was in seven counties that last year produced 17,000,000 bu and have 1,300,000 acres this year. Some wheat backward but on examination found wheat alive and the needed surface moisture came last night, Southwestern Kansas had good general rains last night. At Hutchinson it rained one and one-half hours and was raining when we left at midnight and apparently rained all night, as we came East. Saw some wheat east of Great Bend six to eight inches high. My estimate on Kansas from what we saw and reported is 90,000,000 bu. If the west counties come as I think, we will have 100,000,000 bu."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: World's shipments of wheat last week, 12,144,000 bu; previous week, 14,400,000; last year, 11,792,000. Corn, last week, 3,368,000 bu; previous week, 3,420,000; last year, 1,040,000. There was selling to realize on the opening on the heavy American shipments this week and the weaker American cables on Saturday and values were ¼d to ½d lower. Following the opening shorts in May covered and this month advanced ¼d. Support was due to the decrease in local stocks here for the week and the fact that lighter world's shipments to the United Kingdom being 3,928,000 bu against 5,080,000 bu last week. The distant months, however, continued under pressure with an additional decline in July of ¼d from the opening on further speculative realizing on the bearish official Missouri state report and belief in continued liberal shipments. At 1:30 p. m. the market was irregular with May steady and ¼d lower and otherwise easy and ⅜d to ½d lower. At the opening the corn market was ⅛d lower and further declined 18 during the morning. Pressure was due to the cheaper American offers and continued liberal American and Danubian shipments. Our Indian agent cables that harvesting and thrashing continue. The recent rains and high winds have caused some reduction in the bumper crop outlook in the important districts. The outlook is now normal. Holland—It is proposed to place an import duty of 14c, Amercan money, per barrel on flour, while wheat and coarse grains still remain on the free list.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, April 3.—Heavy rain fell in Kansas where most needed, carrying down the price of wheat today with decided vim. Bearish sentiment had further cause in a snowfall throughout the entire Northwest. Except covering by shorts, who were in a position to realize profits, there was practically no buying support for the market. Moreover, cash demand gave no sign of improvement and receipts appeared ample for all requirements. The opening was unchanged to ¼@⅜c lower. May started at 85@85⅛c to 85⅜c, the same variation from Saturday night as the option list taken altogether. A drop to 84¾c promptly followed.

Increased covering on the part of shorts anxious to avoid keeping trades open during the holiday here tomorrow led to a sharp rally but the effect did not last.. The close was weak with May at 84⅝c, a net loss of ¾c.

Corn weakened under the influence of wheat, notwithstanding some commission house buying on account of wet weather. May opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c off at 46⅝c to 46¾@46⅞c, rallied to 47c and fell back to 46¾@46⅞c.

Covering by shorts turned prices upward a bit, but there was a complete reaction later. The close was steady at 46¾c for May, just a shade under Saturday's level.

Oats suffered from considerable pressure but proved more stubborn than other grain. May started at the same level as Saturday night to a shade lower at 29¾@29⅞c, touched 29¾c and recovered to 30c.

With the hog run far ahead of last year, provisions took something of a tumble. First sales were 5@10c cheaper, with May options at $14.95 for pork, $8.10 for lard, $8.52½@8.55 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 3.—Further short selling and moderate liquidation caused a still further break in wheat prices today. Both May and July sold at lowest prices in four years and September in two years. Snow over entire Northwest put soil in good shape. More precipitation predicted. Minneapolis today received 335 cars of wheat against 405 a year ago; Duluth, 8 against 56, and Winnipeg, 420 against 146.

GAINS ARE WIPED OUT

Market Rules Dull During Morning But Prices Show Advances.

Volume of Selling Orders Sends Stocks Back to Saturday's Close.

New York, April 3.—Prices were firm and the market was quiet at the opening today. The Canadian Pacific's gain of 1½ in London was increased to 2 points here at the opening. Reading and Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie were up ¾.

Trading was at low ebb pending the receipt of news from Washington as to whether decisions in the anti-trust cases were to be made today. Reading reacted ½ on realizing sales, but the market otherwise held firm. Associated Oil gained 1½.

Business virtually came to a standstill as the hour for the supreme court to assemble drew near. Traders paid little attention to the market fearing to take any stand on either side until word came from Washington as to what was to be expected in the day of decisions.

The total of business up to noon was no more than is often done in the first few minutes of an active day.

There was no sign of weakness such as characterized some "decision days," however, the standard stocks moving up quite sharply, particularly Union Pacific, St. Paul, Reading and Lehigh Valley, which were up a point. National Biscuit gained nearly 2 points and Associated Oil jumped to 60, a gain of 7 points with the advance influenced by reports of competitive buying in behalf of new interests seeking control of the property. The bond market was steady.

The market closed steady. The announcement that the supreme court would take a recess was greeted with a volume of selling orders that sent the important stocks back to Saturday's closeing or below. In the final dealings the market stiffened a trifle.

Cotton Market.

New York, April 3.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 5 points in response to better cables than looked for and active positions 5 to 7 points net higher during the early trading on covering by recent sellers who seemed to apprehend a renewal of the active bull support noted here on the late break of Saturday. Nothing of this sort developed during the early trading and prices eased off slightly under scattering liquidation and local bear pressure, which was probably encouraged by reports of further rains in Texas and Oklahoma. Offerings were not heavy, however, and the market during the middle of the morning was quiet with prices holding 2 to 3 points above the closing figures of Saturday.

COLORED INK

Smart Styles in SUITS and GOWNS for Spring.

By Rose Mansfield

THE future historian of modes may be somewhat put to it to coin a classic, general term for the fashions now in vogue. The style makers themselves this season would seem to have shifted this responsibility onto posterity's fashion mongers. They have given us revivals of the dress of directoire period, of the days of the empire, and of the Middle Ages, and adaptations of the Russian garb and the peasant costume and the Greek effects, but they have quite neglected to supply us with a picturesque name for present-day styles. It is perhaps because they are a rather bewildering combination of ideas adopted from so many sources that it is impossible to lay one finger on any dominant characteristic suggestive of other times and peoples. So it is possible that we are in the midst of an epoch all our own in dress, which, who knows, may some time be referred to as that of the Aero Age, perhaps.

If we hear little about style we hear a great deal about the silhouette. The shadow we cast, these days, is more important than the costume that casts it. That is to say, it is the lines of a garment that determine its fashionableness, and these lines must be narrow, straight, slender, close. In the suits this is produced by making straight seams from the shoulder to the bottom of the coat without defining the waist line. This is accentuated further by the narrow cut of the shoulders and the snug fitting hips, which hug the skirt so closely as to seem a part of it. The skirts, though the tight banding about the bottom has been entirely abandoned, are very narrow and straight, measuring not more than 2½ yards about the bottom.

The short coat is the thing. By stealthy inches the tailors have been snipping off our coat tails, until not a particle longer than twenty-six inches may we wear our suit coats and consider ourselves in style. In the dressy suits the belted blouse with a short peplum is also shown, and the Eton jacket, if not actually arrived en masse, is certainly on its way, as numerous models in the high priced costumes prove. It is a natural sequence of the short-waisted gowns and the high-waisted skirts.

In fit, the new jackets are a marvel for the way in which they reveal the form without exactly following the curves. The snug hip and bust, and the narrow shoulder, with only the waist line undefined, aids in the accomplishments of this result in these seven-eighths fitting garments. Sometimes the waist line is made quite a bit higher than usual, either by means of the cut itself, or through some sort of trimming. The full length coat sleeves are used exclusively on the tailored models, mounted with a plain head. In the more dressy styles of the three-piece costume the kimono sleeve cut in one with the body of the coat is most frequently used.

Every possible variety of the sailor collar is to be found on the smart street suits. This form of collar is particularly adapted to the narrow styles that prevail, giving a certain expression and balance to the figure that it would otherwise lack. Showing the prevalence of the new point motif that is noticeable in all the latest designs is the collar with great double points in the back, and sometimes a couple of points in front. Other new forms are shallow at the back, broad at the shoulder points, and taper sharply up to the front closing. There is a tendency toward making this front closing extend considerably higher than has been the rule in the past season, since some of the new collars which are wide in the back and narrow toward the front seem to require this treatment, but it is doubtful if it will be general until the fall days make the higher closing seem desirable.

The skirts clear the ground by at least three inches, and are shown in a variety of conceptions, all, however, maintaining carefully the straight narrow lines. A neat blue serge suit, with a jacket having a black satin sailor collar and satin cuffs, had the skirt made with only one seam and cut scantily circular. This seam at the back was covered with a straight overhanging panel. Other suit skirts are shown with two broad separate panels, one in the back and one in the front, which cross each other at the sides in pointed effect. The skirt to which these are flatly stitched is, of course, of narrow cut. The pointed yoke promises to be a prominent feature of the mid-summer skirts.

Serge is again this season the favored fabric for the tailored costume, in either the fine French twill or herringbone effects. Checked and striped worsteds are also greatly in demand, as well as silver-gray mannish looking suitings and rough effects in Scotch mixtures. Satin, in black or blue amounts almost to a craze, in its use for the dressier suits. Moire is also gaining favor. One stunning model in black moire was made in the new blouse effect with a slightly raised belt and tight-fitting peplum. The trimming consisted of heavy silk frogs and large Irish lace sailor collar.

Blue is obliged to share honors with black and white combinations for first place in the spring color curriculum. Black and white checks and stripes are very prominent and are oftenest seen with a touch of color introduced into the collar of the suit, or into the trimming of the waist when the lighter weight black and white fabric is used for a frock. Cerise is especially striking when used in this way. Quite as dashing is the use of black broadcloth or satin for the wide collars, cuffs, pocket flaps, and buttons outlining the sides panels of the skirt, on these black and white suits. Navy blue, old blue and king's blue are the most desirable shades in the heavier suitings. Next in popularity are tan, snuff brown, leaf green, violet and silver gray.

Although the tailored and semi-tailored suits will be worn to a greater extent than ever before this spring, the long coat is bound to be in demand for wear with the summer silks and lingerie gowns. The full-length coat fashioned in the straight line effects, made up in serges for the utility garment, and in silk or satin for the dressier models, is easily in the lead, although before the end of the season it is expected that the tendency to shorten the suit coat will make itself felt in the odd coats also. Particularly clever are the white serge coats, with the black hairline stripe. One of these cut with the popular raglan sleeve and having a broad belt high across the back, to give a certain Empire effect, had a large, black satin-lined hood collar and was trimmed with large metal buttons on the cuffs and collar.

For early spring wear there is nothing equal to the simple little foulard gown. These are being shown made up with band trimmings of plain satin, or more elaborately veiled with marquisettes or voiles. The new features of the simpler frocks may be summed up as the shortened waist line, long shoulder effects acquired by collars, fichus, or the clever application of trimmings, and the use of the long or short tunic in many new forms.

The surplice and the fichu style for the waists is carried out in every sort of gown, from the plain linen or embroidered one to the veiled evening gown. The point of crossing, in either case, is arranged well toward the belt, which allows an opportunity for considerable elaboration in front trimming. Trimming bands are being applied in various pointed effects, since the point is the keynote of all trimming motifs this season.

Many of the newest models in lingerie gowns as well as in the evening costumes are trimmed in a manner to suggest the bolero, which is gaining so rapidly in favor again. On the dressy gowns fringe is sometimes used to finish the edge of the trimming, while on the simple models hand embroidery and bead work are used to supplement the bolero of lace insertion.

A novel feature of a few of the latest lingerie gowns is the use of the black tunic of cotton net, or the introduction of several rows of black lace into the skirt. A striking gown of embroidery and val lace had two rows of black Chantilly about four inches wide set in about the bottom of the skirt. A tunic of black net covering the lower part of the waist and the upper part of the skirt was edged with tiny black balls, and a black satin belt completed the chic effect.

Another gown in which this idea was charmingly used was of white lace over a pink slip. A wide flounce of black net onto which was applied a band of Japanese embroidery, in white, fell from beneath the overdress of lace, which thus simulated a tunic. The edge of this was also trimmed with the ball fringe, in white.

A touch of color is seen on most of these lingerie models, with a very apparent preference for the bit of black. Much ingenuity is exercised in catering to this foible of fashion and delightfully unique is the result many times. Just the right character was given to a baby Irish lace robe by the inch-wide black velvet ribbon caught beneath the scallops of the last row of lace about the bottom of the skirt, and the ribbon of a narrower width, laced through slides at the waist to tie in a long bow at the left of the back.

ARTIST OF THE LAST.

"Any one can sew ornaments on a slipper till it becomes a thing of striking effect," declares a writer in the Shoe Retailer, "but only a shoemaker can produce those subtle lines of beauty and of fitting quality which distinguish a shoe.

"Many Fifth avenue styles never reach the Bowery. Still fewer of them get as far as the manufacturing cities. Models of altogether another origin take their places throughout much of the length and breadth of the country —styles which conceal rather than exhibit shoemaking. But the taste for good dress is contagious and is ever increasing.

"Among the more pronounced features of the 'custom' work in latest vogue are drop toes, straight shank effects, heels built up at the rear, long humps, low heels on many classes of shoes, high quarters with wave tops, and other details, most all of a strictly conservative nature. The short vamp effect is not forsaken but is confined to the class of work which it becomes.

"All kinds of textiles are in favor for uppers, with satin and Romaine silk effects in good standing. The vogue of plain black silk hosiery tends rather to simplicity in slippers. The costume is aesthetic rather than minute, line rather than detail."

A CHAMPION KICKER.

He was a curious sort of man and nothing seemed to please him;
If you proposed a certain plan a different plan would seize him.
No matter what you'd say or do he was a cranky being;
No matter what your point of view he'd joy in disagreeing.
No matter what your scheme might be flaws he was always picking—
It was no wonder he became a master mind at kicking.

He kicked at everyone he knew, at all times, in all places;
He snarled and growled and howled and made the wryest kind of faces.
He kicked at woman, man and child, at all who came anear him;
He kicked in such a manner that all people came to fear him;
He kicked at all with whom he dealt with greatest endeavor,
And acted just as if he felt he had to kick forever.

There was naught left worth kicking at —'twas hard luck and he struck it;
With no one near he clutched the air and straightway kicked the bucket!

DASHING or DEMURE are the NEWEST HATS.

A MILLINERY millenium must, of a surety, be at hand. We are permitted to wear large hats and small hats, flat hats and tall hats, flower trimmed and ribbon trimmed and untrimmed hats, and any of these with the comfortable consciousness that we are quite in style. One is afraid to think of the monstrous creations, all to be turned out in one pattern, that the makers of millinery fashion may have up their sleeves, to pay us up for the present latitude in styles. For certainly never was a time when a woman might exercise such great freedom in the choice of her spring bonnet.

She may pull down over her ears one of the fascinating new helmet shapes and peek out from under it like a demure little mouse; she may set a dashing version of the Tyrolean or Pierrot hats upon her curls and puffs; she may look like the spirit of spring herself under the bewitching flower toques, or she may frame her face with the graceful sweeping curves of the plume laden picture hat. What more could even persnickety femininity require?

There is one tendency to be noted in all the new hats—that is, in those that have any brim at all—which is the decidedly upward turn of the brims. They may curl up only slightly, or be turned up sharply at the side, or sometimes all around. Crowns show an infinite variety of shapes—bell-shaped, dome-shaped or rounding with a flat top, and all of them of considerable height. A new idea is the sloping crown, the top of which slopes quite a bit from back to front. One pretty model with a crown of this sort somewhat resembled a large Alpine in shape. The entire top was of purple violets while the lower portion, simulating an upright brim, was of white violets. A bunch of the purple and the white violets hung at the right side.

Very smart for wear with the spring suit are the little brimless hats whose popularity during the winter has carried them over, with some changes, to the summer season. About the large round crowns is twisted ribbon or silk, finished with a bow or chou at the side, that is often caught to the hat with a jeweled ornament. What is called the helmet hat is simply one of these brimless crowns, which has been crushed together slightly at the sides so that a sharp ridge is formed down the center of the hat, from back to front. A wide band of fancy straw about the edge, with a curved quill at the left finished with a beaded straw ornament, formed the sole trimming of a most attractive model in this style. When brims are found at all on these small hats they are very narrow and turn up close to the crown, while often they consist only of a crescent-shaped piece attached at the side. A very daring model, with one of these narrow brims, was of white chip, with the entire crown covered with red velvet and two white quills thrust through the narrow white cord that encircled it. This use of red on the early spring models is extensive, especially in the small hats. A very jaunty turban of black and white hemp had a wide pump bow of red velvet across the front and broad red wings springing back from under the loops at each side.

The little flower hats are more irresistible than ever. Tiny pink roses, lilacs and violets are the flowers mostly utilized, and while some of the shapes are quite brimless, many show the upright brim turned up sharply against the crown. This brim and the crown itself may be entirely covered with the flowers, the trimming usually consisting of an upstanding bow of ribbon, or a chou of maline placed at the side or back. In some of the Napoleon shapes —those having the brim turned up closely against the crown in the front and the back—the crowns alone are covered with flowers. This idea was used in a smart French model of dark blue straw braid which had the crown entirely covered with dark blue silk violets. A twig of deep pink roses was made to stand up at the right side.

The chic tricorne shapes, that seem never to get wholly out of favor, are being shown in many odd, irregular forms. A smart little hat of this design was of leghorn braid, with a two-inch edge of fine black braid. Sewed to the edge of the brim, all around, so close together as to form a solid band, were very small pale pink rosebuds. The only other trimming was a small black mercury wing set at the side of the crown.

Many variations of the becoming sailor shape will be seen, but all similar in one respect — the up-turning brim. They will be distinguished for moderation in size and simplicity in trimming. Sometimes a swirl of maline with a big bow to the side or the back is all the trimming used. One simple but effective idea in trimming, seen on a white chip sailor shape in an exclusive shop, was the use of an inch-wide band made of closely pleated white silk that was wired at each edge. This was formed into large round buckles placed at each side of the crown, and through which was run the folds of soft silk that enriched the crown. Two pointed pieces of the wired pleating, to simulate quills, were run through the buckle at the left, in a semi-upright position. Another somewhat unique feature in trimming, noted in the same shop, was a padded roll of black satin, like a huge cord, that was over an inch in diameter. This was used on a large sailor shape, also, and placed on the top of the brim a few inches from the edge. At the side of the crown was a small bunch of very small red cherries, and from beneath the satin cable the little cherries lay all around the brim at intervals.

There is a decided preference for the small flowers this season, which are usually applied to the larger hats in the form of close little wreaths or made into shapes to simulate buckles. This latter method was carried out charmingly on a white Milan which was turned up sharply at the side beneath a large black satin bow. A small circle of tiny French flowers, in shades of dull blue and old pink, resting partly on the crown and partly on the up-turned brim, had the effect of a buckle, through which the ends of the satin bow were drawn.

Black and white is one of the favored combinations just now, and for general wear nothing is more satisfactory, since hats of this type may be worn with any color gown or suit. For dressy occasions the all black hat continues to be quite as much in vogue as ever. On these dress hats lace is being used a great deal—white, black, and some gold lace. An unusual trimming scheme used on a fine black Milan hat intended for reception wear shows one of the ways in which lace may be most effectively used. Two ruffles of black Chantilly lace were shirred onto wires and attached to the front of the crown, just where the brim rolled up slightly, under a flat bunch of pink roses. The back ends of the wire were fastened to the crown in such a way that the ruffles drooped toward the back of the hat, strongly suggesting the graceful sweep of the willow plume. The whole effect was filmy and delightful.

Lingerie and Negligees for Summer Wear

THE newest models in lingerie show the influence of the prevailing empire styles, sometimes in the cut of the garment itself, sometimes by simulated effects carried out with beading and insets of lace motifs. In night robes the empire style is always much favored, since it lends itself especially well to these garments, and it is now making its appearance in many of the princess slips and combination articles. Usually the short waisted effect is obtained by wide ribbon-run beading just below the bust, above which may be insets of cluny or val, or attractive designs carried out in insertion.

A distinctly new creation, especially desirable for wear under the narrow skirts is a combination garment consisting of corset cover and knicker drawers, the latter tied in closely at the knee with ribbons, giving a chic and trim effect. Many women have solved the problem of eliminating every bit of unnecessary bulk in underwear—a most important problem these days—by wearing just two princess pieces. The first, worn beneath the corset, is a combination of a fitted chemise top and drawers. This fastens down the front, and if the drawers are not short enough to allow the garters to fasten properly a slit may be made for them to pass through. Over the corset is then worn another princess slip, so that there is absolutely no fullness about the waist. A clever idea is to have the dust ruffle on these lawn slips detachable, and made to button onto the skirt under the beading which heads the ruffle. One may then substitute ruffles of silk, mohair, batiste or any other material that is suitable for wear with one's various gowns. For the stout woman to whom even silk seems bulky, this arrangement is ideal.

Still another form of the popular combination garment is one in which the waist part, made with surplice closing, extends to just below the hips, where a circular skirt reaching to the knees is seamed on. Muslins, batistes, cambrics and crepes are the materials most used in lingerie this season, and while embroideries are greatly used, the cluny and val laces and medallione are also profusely employed.

Petticoats are very scant, with the preference in the silk ones, for messalines and the soft finish taffetas. Persian and Oriental colorings in the flounces are considered very smart, while black and white effects bid fair to prove as popular in petticoats as they are in outer garments.

Negligees have never been so utterly fascinating and bewitching as they are this season. The woman who is able to pass by these alluring confections without being trapped into wild extravagance is a rarity. Here again is struck the empire note in many of the more elaborate creations, as well as in the simpler models. Crepe de ohine and satin, sometimes veiled in chiffon, are the favored materials, while the trimmings range from lace and ribbon to gorgeous metallic embroideries and richly beaded bandings. One very French model of rose color satin, cut on scant, straight lines, had a tunic of black mousseline de sole, finely plaited, and hemmed with the same material, which gave a smart line of solid black to outline its edges. Below this hem was a wide band of heavy cut steel embroidery, done on gray mousseline de sole, which made the whole tunic cling to the figure gracefully.

Less elaborate but quite as effective was a pale blue crepe affair trimmed with three-inch wide white ribbon embroidered with tiny garlands of flowers. This was carried down both sides of the front of the gown, and also edged a large square sailor collar. Another collar, of gold filet lace was laid over this one, and the sleeves were formed almost entirely of the gold lace.

In pink Japanese silk was another model of very attractive lines. From the shoulders hung a short tunic of corded cream color point d'esprit, which was edged with ecru lace and fell in points at the front and back, these points finished with silk tassels. There was a small butterfly bow at the bust of the pink silk with long ends, also finished with tassels.

Tea jackets, hand embroidered and lace trimmed, may be found in a variety of styles. The lingerie effects are dainty and cool for midsummer mornings. The Japanese silk kimonos, in pretty floral and Oriental patterns, are now priced as low as $3.50, while in lawn one may buy for a dollar neatly made kimonos in a variety of daintily flowered or striped designs.

Concerning the Corset and its Accessories.

To have the appearance of being quite uncorseted, to look supple but shapely as though a beneficent Nature had happened to mold her in exact accordance with the present requirements of fashion—that is the ideal of the well dressed woman. Heretofore it has only been possible of attainment by those who are able to buy the more expensive corsets, but the increasing demand for flexible corsets with as little boning as possible has brought out many new models in tricot and coutil that are boned only enough to give the proper lines and a slight support to the figure.

There are very few changes noticeable in these new corsets. The boning in the back is shortened slightly, as is also the skirt extension of the fabric, and the bust is considerably lower. There is also a tendency to emphasize the waist line a little more at the back, but the whole contour of the best styles is eloquent of easy grace and comfort.

Many corsetiers are now making a corset especially designed for motoring. These are sparingly boned with single bone stripping, and are so comfortable that the fatigue of long touring is greatly lessened. An unusual feature is the band of silk elastic at the top of the corset. They are made up in broche, in white leather or in soft, supple chamois.

The lower busted corset will no doubt add to the popularity of the brassiere. The stout woman has already found it indispensable for confining the bust and holding in restriction the flesh under the arms and above the corset at the back where it is apt to roll up unpleasantly. She will select a heavily boned brassiere of strong cotton mesh or batiste. Some of the new models are covered with embroidery or lace and run with dainty ribbons, so that they may be worn under the sheer lingerie waists. Indeed, some styles that extend to the waist line have a peplum snugly fitted on, making the brassiere a satisfactory substitute for the corset cover.

A WOMAN'S LETTER.

London Chronicle: Women, it is generally admitted, write better letters than men.

M. Marcel Prevost has discovered the reason for this superiority. "The obvious meaning is never the one we should read into a woman's letter. There is always a veiled meaning. Woman makes use of a letter just as she employs a glance or a smile, in a way that is carefully thought out, and with an eye to effect. And, after all, does a woman's hat serve to cover her head? Does a woman's parasol keep off the sun? Why, then, should a woman's letter serve to convey her real thoughts to the person addressed, just like the letters of some honest grocer, who writes, 'I send you five pounds of coffee,' because he really does send you five pounds of coffee."

Moe's Great Spring Opening

We've been busy as bees around our store for the past few weeks getting ready for this great Spring opening of ours and now at last EVERYTHING IS READY!

Dainty importations from the fashion centers of the world are to be found in lavish profusion throughout every department of our big store, priced with the same view to attracting the ECONOMICAL shopper that has built up for MOE'S a reputation unequaled throughout the city.

"YOU can always do better at MOE'S" is no mere catch line, it is a statement of FACT—you have learned to KNOW that! Come and appreciate it even more fully during this grand opening of ours! You will find what you want at the price you want to pay! Come early and thus secure the better choice!

Stunning Street Coats and Tailored Suits

We have succeeded in gathering together in our cloak and suit department a bewildering profusion of the new and desired in Fashion's last productions; you will find here an assortment from which you can surely suit to a dot your exact individual taste—and be sure the price will be right!

A Striking Street Coat!

A peculiarly handsome garment, 54 inches long, made in an excellent quality of all-wool storm serge, in tan, black and navy. The new, graceful long effect has been obtained in this garment. Sailor collar of Skinner satin—trimmed with silk braid and three half-inch overlaid folds next to braid finishes the stunning collar and cuffs. The yoke is satin lined and finished with large oxidized jeweled buttons. There is sterling twenty dollar value in this coat, but our SPECIAL OPENING PRICE is

A Charming Tailored Suit!

This is a really stunning model, made of Shepherd plaid, tan and blue serges, with sailor collar and cuffs, half-inch piping on jacket and skirt of Skinner satin—finished with braid and satin ornamental loops; Passementry buttons. The jacket is lined with peau de cygne silk. You will readily see a twenty-five dollar value in this suit, but our SPECIAL OPENING PRICE is

We have a great range of other models at $20, $25, $35 and upwards.

Grand Millinery Opening!

Our Millinery Department is a riot of color these days, with scores of the very newest and most chic models spread in lavish profusion over all the display stands. Never have we had so stunning a display of millinery, so charming a combination of color and line harmony! Many of our best models have come to us direct from the creators in the Rue Royale, Paris, while all are closely modeled after the creations of the great artists of the "Milliners' Mecca." The very newest material—the two-tone woven straw—is present in many of our best models and presents a strikingly beautiful effect when trimmed with silk and satin ribbons toning in with the color scheme or with fresh and novel arrangements of the straw itself. Many of the models are trimmed with flowers so perfectly imitated from Nature's originals that close inspection is needed to detect any difference. The new helmet shape is a most striking creation—we have models of it awaiting your inspection—seeming to have been created after the form of the winged helmet of the Viking. The greater number of the new models conform closely to the Oriental Turban shape—there is a strong undercurrent of Orientalism in the dress-feminine this season—but we have a sufficient number of the new broad-brims to satisfy those who look at their best in this charmingly chic style of headgear.

Our Great Five Dollar Special

We have twin tables loaded down with chic models, faithfully copied from imported originals, in the two-tone straws and in many other modes. These two tables look like a flower garden, decked out in all the panoply of Spring! Be sure to come and visit them—your taste will echo the gratification of your pocketbook, for these hats are genuinely worth at least ten dollars in any exclusively "Millinery" store in the city. We carry them as a leader and a "drawing card" or we could not sell them for less than $8.50. FOR THE GRAND SPRING OPENING—CHOICE $5.00

~Mi~ Lady's Vanities

By Jane Brayton.

LET us be thankful that very few women believe that nonsense about beauty unadorned being most adorned. The idea may apply to a Helen of Troy, but how many of us are Helens? The average woman appreciates that judicious adornment in the way of jeweled trinkets adds greatly to her charms. The gold locket, perhaps, emphasizes the gold glints in her hair; the coral brooch brings out the flush in her cheek. So that her jewel box contains jewelry selected not only for itself, but for its artful enhancing of some good feature.

What could be more becoming than the chic new black velvet neoklaces, if they may be called such? Black ribbon velvet about half an inch wide is used for these. The two pieces that encircle the neck are joined in the front with a small cut steel ornament and hang in short tabs that are finished without steel balls. The steel ornaments are also placed at intervals on the neckpiece. This is only one of the many ways in which the cut steel, so popular just now, is being used. Buckles in many designs, most prominent among which is the butterfly idea, are being used a great deal for both slippers and belts.

A novel way of introducing the little touch of black that a costume so often needs is supplied by the rhinestone brooch backed with black grosgrain ribbon. These are usually in the form of tiny bows, outlined by the rhinestones, with the ribbon stretched tight beneath. A brooch especially designed to be worn with the tulle chou is made of pearl beads wired into bow form, with the center clasp of enamel. These come in jet also and measure probably four inches across.

Filigree work in both gold and silver is very popular. A handsome necklace in the gold filigree was most unusual in design. From the slender chain in the center hung an exquisite square of filigree with a pointed fringe of gold across the lower edge, and on either side were two similar squares, diminishing in size. The square filigree brooches with the pointed fringe are also unique and charming.

The new flat locket called the plaque comes in many beautiful designs, but here again filigree work is favored, sometimes set with various stones. Comparatively new also are the lockets in gun metal decorated with the Spanish Toledo work. These have the appearance of being heavily incrusted in gold, in most beautiful designs.

With the return of the short sleeved gowns bracelets are again to the fore, in a great variety of styles. In the more expensive ones are shown the inch-wide solidly woven chain bracelets like our grandmothers used to wear. There is also a revival to some extent of the chain bracelets that were so much in vogue a few years ago.

In the shirtwaist ring, which has sprung into such universal favor, the abalone pearl seems to take precedent over other stones because of its limpid, chameleon-like sheen, that takes on the tinge of the color near which it is placed. Coral is also very popular and appears to have superseded the matrix to some extent.

INVESTIGATORS FIND ONE EXAMPLE OF WHAT LODGING HOUSE SHOULD BE

A LODGING HOUSE THAT APPROACHES THE IDEAL WHEN COMPARED WITH THE AVERAGE TYPE.

The ground floor of one of the lodging houses on First street, near Sixth avenue west, presented a great contrast with the others which were found in the majority of the places visited by Dr. Murphy of the health department and a Herald reporter.

The same room illustrated the great contrasts which can be found inside the same premises. In the basement underneath the room in the photograph were some of the worst holes in the city. "Double deckers" were crowded in the basement, against the stone walls, without light or ventilation. The room on the street floor was characterized by Dr. Murphy as being a fair sample of what lodging house sleeping quarters should be. The places below would fail to pass inspection for a Duluth cow stable.

The first floor room contained thirteen individual iron beds, neatly painted in white, with bedding as clean and neat as could be expected and a goodly amount of light. There were enough windows to satisfactorily ventilate the room, even though all the beds were occupied, provided the sleepers would leave them open, or opened sufficiently to admit of the passage of plenty of fresh air.

The conditions upstairs were not of the best, but they were such that they could quite easily be made to comply with most of the requirements of the proposed lodging house ordinance which has been prepared by the health department. The floor was divided into real rooms and not with the partitions so common to many lodging houses of the cheaper class.

SEX AND LENGTH OF LIFE.

Tid Bits: As is well known, the term of life of women is slightly longer than that of men. The difference of the mortality rates during the first few years of life, however, is striking, during the first year the mortality among males is decidedly greater than among females.

Although more boys are born than girls, the proportions are reduced to almost even terms at the end of the first year by the excessive male mortality. Even during the first four years the mortality among males exceeds that among females, notwithstanding the fact that there are practically no distinctions made in the management of the two sexes. Both are dressed virtually the same, and receive the same food.

At the age of about 5 years the comparative death rate among girls begins to increase. This has been attributed to the fact that boys of this age are more in the open air. The mortality in both sexes diminishes from this time until the 12th year, when it attains its lowest point. It then steadily rises, being larger in each successive year. Between the 12th and 16th years the death rate among girls increases more rapidly than among boys, but after the 16th year, for several years, the rate of increase is more rapid on the male side.

The explanations that have been offered for these peculiarities are not wholly satisfactory, but one fact is clear—that during early years females possess a greater tenacity of life than do males.

TASTEFUL SELECTIONS in Furniture

IT IS usually not very long after the moving van has departed from the door of the newly built home or the newly leased apartment before the van of a furniture store draws up before it to unload at least a piece or two of furniture, mysteriously swathed and banged. The davenport that did very well in the former home looks old and shabby in the new one; the dining room set in fumed oak won't do at all with the mahogany wood-trim of the new sallo a manger. So as soon as the closets and pantry shelves are in order the mistress of the house goes forth on a furniture hunt.

It is pleasant—this selection of pieces of furniture, large or small, that means comfort and beauty in the home. There is a dignity and leisure possible in furniture buying that is quite lacking in other crowded, frenzied shopping. One ambles down this side and that between polished, spotless offerings, and finally, before coming to any decisions, sinks down on an inviting settee to learn what one may from a discreet salesman.

One is told that there is no indication of a return to highly polished woods—that the soft, dull finish in all the modern styles of furniture is greatly preferred. Strong, substantial lines prevail, all more or less suggesting the colonial or craftsman influence, the craze for which shows no sign of abating. Mahogany easily leads in the woods used for living room, dining room and also bed room furniture, with fumed oak as a sort of substitute in less expensive woods.

There is a wide choice of woods in bedroom sets. The bird's-eye maple and the curly birch are always in good taste; while in the more pretentious woods the circassian walnut and the white mahogany are much used. A charming set of the latter wood in Louis XV design was skillfully decorated with dainty hand-painting. The craze for the colonial has put the old time four-poster bed ahead of even the brass bed, which we welcomed as ultra-sanitary and satisfactory. The four-poster, if the upper valance be of some light weight material, however, is really not at all unsanitary when placed in a room of fairly good size and with plenty of windows. Some will prefer to leave off the canopy at the top, but this rather diminishes the picturesque qualities of these delightful pieces of furniture that seem to lend a stately charm to the simplest room.

What is called a French cottage bed has recently appeared which is most unique and convenient. The head board is in the form of a screen in three parts, the center piece being as broad as the bed. The two sides are on hinges and may be swung in any position desired, to exclude draughts or light. There is a shelf across the middle part of the screen upon which to place the glass of water or the medicine for the invalid, for whom, indeed this bed should prove a special boon.

Apropos of the wooden bed, here is a suggestion for the utilization of the old double bed, no doubt stowed away in your attic which you can get no one to carry away, and which may also help to solve the problem of porch furniture for the summer cottage. If the bed has a headpiece which is straight across the top it can be converted into a very good looking settle with little trouble and almost no expense. The upper part of the headboard will form the back, the end pieces can be cut from the sides of the bedstead, and the footboard will furnish the seat. When the bed has inserted panels of incised pattern, by treating them in polychrome with stain or paint a most effective result is obtained.

Walnut is being used a great deal for dining room furniture just at present. One of the most attractive seen lately was of Queen Anne style in the dull brown walnut, the chairs having rush bottoms. Dutch splats and turned legs with Spanish feet.

Canework is also well liked used in conjunction with oak finished to a greyish tone a little lighter than the fumed oak and developed in styles of the Jacobean period, which, in chairs and settles, was distinguished for the extreme height of the backs. The canework is usually stained brown, and the backs of the settles are in two or more sections. When upholstering takes the place of the cane, tapestries or figured velvet in large patterns and low tones are used, put on plainly and finished with large nails. This type of furniture is especially suitable in panelled or wainscoted dining rooms of a formal character.

A departure in the treatment of dining table tops, which is slowly gaining favor, is to leave them unfinished and unstained. They then require no care but an occasional oiling and in a year or so take on a beautiful, natural color. For the woman to whom her polished table top is a matter of constant worry and frequent redressing, this process will prove grateful.

Willow furniture is of particular interest at this season of the year. Not only is it the ideal summer furniture, but there is no other inexpensive style that may be so happily used with mahogany, cherry or any other rich wood. Willow chairs painted black, brown or green with cushions of a material like the hangings of a room, add a decorative touch that represents small outlay. When one is not able to buy as good a piece of furniture as one wishes and comfort demands an extra chair or table, it is much wiser to invest in a simple piece or unornamental willow than in any of the cheap wooden furniture.

An article often selected with apparent disregard for the other furnishings of a room is the footstool. Each year sees a greater variety of these comfortable little luxuries so that one should be easily able to carry out the general scheme of the room in even so apparently slight a matter. Probably the most sensible styles are those of old English oak, on mission lines, with dark brown leather coverings. The dull mahogany with dark green hair cloth or a durable tapestry upholstery is also desirable. The high square style is much liked, especially in fumed oak and brown stained canework.

A clever idea that will appeal to the woman who has "a place for everything and everything in its place" is the combination seat and shoe box. It is hexagonal in shape, with the padded top covered with cretonne and the same material plaited about the sides. It is lined with plain cotton taffeta in some dark shade to harmonize with the cretonne and is fitted with six loose pockets, one on each of its sides, intended to hold shoes and slippers.

EASTER LILIES.

The Easter lily was as great a favorite in the Levant a thousand years ago as it is in America today. It flourishes in heathen countries as luxuriantly as in Christian ones and is just as familiar in Cochin China, the island of Formosa India and Japan as in our near neighbors, the Bermudas.

It is in the Bermudas that the Easter lily attains its greatest glory and beauty. So vast are the fields and so many the flowers that a land breeze will carry the fragrance for miles out to sea, whispering of wife and home to the returning sailors. More than 200 farms are devoted to lily growing, and sometimes as many as 10,000 flowers bloom in a single field. The lily export trade exceeds $40,000 per annum in flowers and amounts to about $12,000 a year in bulbs.

It is said the Bermuda lily was first brought to this country by Thomas B. Sergent in the spring of 1878. Mr. Sergent received two bulbs from friends while visiting the islands. He presented them to Mr. Harris, the Philadelphia florist, who named them the Lilium harrisii and has cultivated them very successfully.

Where the Lilies Grow.

The Bermudas, where the beautiful Easter flowers grow, are a group of islands about 700 miles from New York and about 500 miles almost due east of Cape Hatteras, on the Carolina coast. The group is almost fifteen miles long, averaging two and one-half miles in width, and comprises in all about 365 islands, some of them being very small and insignificant and most of them being of coral formation. Only five of the islands are inhabitated.

Some New Designs in Wall Paper and Draperies

ONE may not go far wrong in the selection of wall papers or drageries this season even if one's taste is not of the best in such matters, because practically all of the season's offerings are conservative in design and subdued in coloring. The lighter tones in wall paper are gaining steadily in favor, while in draperies the plain effects with or without dull-toned borders, or the soft Oriental hues and patterns are most used.

For the living rooms nothing is better than the plain papers of pinkish grey—a sort of putty color—or the warm tans that harmonize so well with almost any furnishings. In the selection of papers it is important to bear in mind their reflective powers; that of dark brown, for instance is only 13 per cent, while that of orange is 50, of yellow is 40, and of emerald green again is only 18 per cent. One of the most attractive papers now being shown in the plainer effects is what is called the Tiffany blend. This is a skillfully shaded paper that comes in all the desirable tones and has a vague, cloud-like appearance that many will prefer to the flat book of the oatmeal and cartridge papers.

The metallic papers are also an artistic variation of two-tone effects. In a room papered in one of these, which was a subtle blend of bronze and dull rose, the portieres and window draperies of rose color served to bring out the mere suggestion of rose in the paper, while softening the metallic treatment.

Japanese grass cloth continues popular for the dining room. A new effect has been produced by a certain process of brushing which separates the fibers and gives an irregular, wavy look to the grass cloth that is decidedly attractive. Chinese designs are employed to advantage, particularly when the wood trim and furniture are of mahogany. With less pretentious woods the plastering, left with a rough surface and tinted some soft tone, is considerably used. One dining room recently decorated had waistcoting and wood trim of stained sypress. The upper panels of the wainscoting inclosed squares of the plaster tinted on an old blue to match the upper walls. White is being used extensively for bedrooms. The cream white papers with a smooth surface are preferred to the blue white, and with the colonial furnishings now so much in vogue nothing is more fitting than this spotless wall surface, the austerity sometimes relieved by a quaint border. The large-figured, dull-toned papers are also in keeping with this style.

A Few Drapery Suggestions.

Aurora cloth promises to become a popular fabric for both window draperies and portieres. It is a mercerized material having considerable body, but with the motifs transparent resembling madras. It is woven in heavier grade for the portieres, and comes in most attractive designs and colors.

Striped cotton jute may be bought for 75 cents a yard showing either plain or flowered stripes gives good service for bedroom draperies.

The demand for portieres to harmonize with the color schemes of both rooms between which they hang has brought forth what is called the duplex portiere. Each side is of a different color, the border across the bottom being thrown up in the color of the reverse side.

Pastoral effects in cretonnes will be much used this season in bedrooms and nurseries. A nursery cretonne is shown which with its frolicing and see-sawing children, lambkins and trees and castles, should prove a source of delight to the kiddies.

Many of the new cretonnes may be matched in wall paper which makes it possible to have uniformity in decoration from the bureau scarf to the couch cover.

Easter Superstitions.

Draw the egg of violet hue,
Means friends fond and true.

Pink will bring you luck,
A lover full of pluck.

Gladly take the egg of green,
Good fortune soon will be seen.

Wealth and happiness with the egg of gray,
Keep it and hide safely away.

The egg of blue
Means lovers few.

Do not touch the egg of red,
If you do you'll never wed.

A lover this very night
If you draw the egg of white.

You'll marry in another town
If you choose the egg of brown.

Easter Morning.

Waken, little people:
Waken, children, dear!
Listen! From the steeple
Bells are pealing clear:
"We ring
For the birthday of the spring;
We bring
The happy Easter day."

Bells of silver lilies
Softly stir today.
Though their chime so still is,
Yet they seem to say:
"We ring
Only perfume music as we swing;
We spring
On the happy Easter day."

Just Why You Should Heat With Electricity

You would think that heading silly if it ran "Just why you should eat wholesome food" or "Just why you should wash in clean water"—but, believe me, there isn't a bit stronger reason for doing either of the two last-named than there is for heating with electricity! Because, first and foremost, electricity is the only heat producing energy that is absolutely healthful to use. All other heating agents must rob you of your vital oxygen in order to burn at all. Take the oxygen out of the air and they would choke out; so would you. Every cubic inch of oxygen removed from the atmosphere of your living apartments means less power to you. Carry it far enough and it brings that dizzy, chokey feeling you are familiar with if you use a stove for heat and open-flame lights for light. Oxygen is the gas that purifies your germ-laden blood after its long trip through your miles of arteries, veins and capillaries. Look at your hand—See those blue veins running across the back? That's the used up, impure blood returning to your lungs for an immunity bath of oxygen. Now you begin to see what it means to heat your home with an agent that eats up your precious oxygen faster than you; what it means to use lights that do the same thing. It means that your blood will start on its second trip through your body still bearing with it some of the poisons picked up on its first and that it will keep right on picking up more poison and retaining a little more each time, till you either open the window and freeze to death or keep it shut and choke.

THE ELECTRIC FIREPLACE.

Now consider the electrical way. At the snap of a switch you obtain instantly the heat you need—no building of fires with smut-gathering coal to settle on and destroy your wall hangings and lungs; your heat comes to you in candent form, soft, warm, glowing, you can see it heat. And it doesn't use up one milligram of oxygen in ten million years, because it creates its heat in a vacuum. It warms the air without vitiating it; it gives just the right amount of heat for just the right length of time; when you don't need it any longer—snap! the switch shuts it off instantly. That's why it is particularly desirable in early spring. Lots of days you don't really need a fire, yet you have to keep one going because it gets too cold for comfort every time the sun goes behind a cloud, in the early morning and at night. That costs you money, and money is valuable these days! Electric heat is there when you want it and, if you have a portable radiator type, where you want it. You can pick up the portable radiator and carry it into any room in the house, the bath room, the breakfast room, the dressing room, just where you want the heat. Heating by electricity is cheaper than heating in any other way when everything is considered—the fact that we make specially low rates for power to be used for heating purposes, the fact that you do not waste one heat unit, the fact that your walls will not need to be repapered nearly so often, the fact that your body will not have to be overhauled so often by the family doctor. In fact, when all these things are considered, electrical heating is so much cheaper than any other kind that you throw money, time and health into the discard every time you light up any other kind of heating agent.

TWO POINTS OF VIEW.

By the firelight's mellow glow
Mother sits to read or sew.

"Pretty Picture!" Doc. replies,
"But it's ROTTEN for the eyes!"

Down among the glowing coal,
Dreams of All the Ages roll.

"Yes, and C O^2 as well—
"That's what makes that chokey smell!"

On the ceiling of the room
Shadows weave a Web of Doom.

"You can bet your life they do!
"And they weave that web for YOU!"

From the Dream-Cage, floating out,
Mystic fire-flies flit about.

"That's the filthy soot that clings
"To your portieres and things!"

What can heart o' man placate
Like the cheery open grate!

"Electric Radiation, Bud,
THAT'S got coal-fires eating MUD!"

Everything said above applies with equal force to lighting. Electric lighting is the only wasteless, healthful way to light. With Mazda Tungsten Lamps you get two or three times the light for less than you pay for the old out-of-date form of lighting.

LONDON INFLUENCES The Keynote of the Spring Styles

THE trend of the fashion shows that for the coming spring season, at least, the tendency will be toward conservatism. The clothes of the best dressed men, those who study suitability and convenience of dress, as well as the newest fashion, will be conspicuous for the absence of fancy frills of any kind, and the elegance of simplicity will be studied. There will be no place in the coming spring and summer for the fancy cuff, or any of the attendant fripperies of odd flaps or pockets on either business or dress garments, nor in the sack coat will we see any trace of the exaggerated front length or "dip" to which we have become accustomed in former seasons.

In length, the tendency for all garments is toward further shortness; while the coat lengths are moderate, tailors who like their customers to be pressed in the latest mode keep toward the short side. This tendency will not be confined to business sacks, but will extend to all sorts of coats, for dress as well as for general purposes.

Characteristics of the New Fashions.

Judging from present appearances, the style this season and probably for some time will be for fitting garments, especially in coats. The extremely close-fitting coats of the fall and winter will be slightly relaxed for spring and summer, as it is but natural when the requirements of warmer weather are considered, but this tendency will not be carried to extremes, and a moderately fitting coat will be preferred, moderate in shoulders, without exaggeration of chest, easy yet carrying out the idea of closeness. The back of the coat will be quite form fitting, with the waist well defined and a moderate spring over the hips. The shoulder seam will be high to give an appearance of squareness, and a plain vent will be placed in the center seam of sack coats, although the latter will not be obligatory.

Perhaps the most noticeable change in the spring coats will we in the shape of the lapel and crease lines. The rolls will be moderately long, and the crease line will be curved, moderately, of course, so as to show a considerably broader opening than has been the custom. Conforming to this, the outside edge of the lapel will also be curved, having considerable "belly," as the trade term has it. These features will be common to all coats.

Correct Sack Coats.

The single-breasted business sack will close with three buttons with a front edge fairly straight, with blunt corners at the bottom. In the summer time, while three buttons and button holes are placed, usually only one of each is used; sometimes the top button is fastened, often the lowest; this season it is probable that the middle button will be closed, the top and bottom left unfastened. This will necessitate a soft roll, which will roll to the second button at least; but the roll will be different from the soft roll as generally understood. It will be flat, to correspond with the flatness of the chest. It must not be ironed down, but be as flat as can be obtained without pressing smoothly.

At least for early spring the double-breasted sack will be more popular than it has been for many seasons. For some time there has been a tendency in this direction, fostered, no doubt by the attractive materials which are shown in this connection. Some of the cheviots, especially browns, are beautiful in shade and pattern and they will be deservedly popular. Most of the new style double-breasted sacks will be braided on the lapels, collar and front edges and the roll will be soft to the second button. The braiding will be either heavy mohair, or the narrower French silk braid, according to the taste of the customer. The braid, however, is considered sufficient ornament, and no eccentricity of cut will be allowable, not even a braided cuff.

Norfolks and Business Frocks Popular.

The Norfolk blouse will also be in great favor for informal occasions in one of the many attractive designs for which this coat is noted. Fancy cheviots and homespuns will be the favored materials, and one of the most attractive models is where there is a plain yoke, patch pockets with bellows plaits, and an inverted plait on the center back seam and from the breast pocket to the side pocket. The belt runs to the latter plait around the back, but does not confine the front.

Another coat which will be more than usually popular is the business frock of fancy striped or mixed worsted. The greatly favored black cutaway having been advanced to the dignity of a dress garment, the business cutaway followed with a new lease of life. This vogue has been growing for several seasons, but in the coming season the higher class business and professional man will pass by the sack to greater extent than ever before and adopt the business cutaway. The preferred model of this attractive garment will have a narrow back, with a moderately short waist, will be shorter and will be cut away below the lowest of the buttons. In other respects it will follow the regular characteristics of the season.

Double-Breasted Frock for Formal Occasions.

While the black cutaway has been generally adopted as a correct coat for day dress and an impression has gone out that the double-breasted frock has been cast into the discard, close observers have noticed that on occasions of formality when it was absolutely necessary that a man should be dressed correctly, few cutaways were seen and the double-breasted frock was everywhere. This adoption of the double-breasted frock is absolutely correct, for no other garment is now, or has been able to take its place. No other coat gives an air of dignity equal to that bestowed by the frock, and in it every man assumes the appearance of one who determines to do honor to the time, place and occasion. That it will continue to hold its place there is no question, and the man who is asked to give advice about formal day dress will do well to remember that while the double-breasted frock is correct for both formal and informal day dress occasions, the cutaway is suitable only for the more informal occasions, and is as much incorrect when worn at strictly formal occasions as in the dinner coat at an evening reception.

Recognizing this tendency, the double-breasted frock is given a prominent place in the coming season's fashions, made shorter, close-fitting with the waist well defined and only a moderate amount of bell to the skirts. It will generally close with three buttons, rolling to the second.

Trousers.

Trousers for spring will be even more fitting than they were in the fall, and the tendency is toward even further tightness. The peg top and the loose trousers of all sorts have gone completely out of fashion. Not only have trousers become narrower, but they are shorter, reaching only to the top of the instep, and with younger men, sometimes rolled only to the shoe tops. These latter are, of course, extreme, but they have taken the fancy of the younger element so long devoted to peg tops.

Easter Eggs in Egypt.

Back in old Egypt, long before the Christian era, eggs were worshipped as the symbol of nature rousing from the sleep of the winter months, and in accordance with this worship each spring Egyptian artists would vie with each other in embellishing ostrich eggs with rare designs, gorgeous in color and unique in design. So decorated the eggs were fitting gifts for royalty itself.

MANNERS IN OLD FRANCE.

Paris correspondence New Orleans Times-Democrat: Could we restore for half an hour half a dozen instantaneous photographs of a royal banquet at any era between the reign of Francis I and Louis XIV, such laughter would be heard as might disturb the serenity of Louis in Paradise. The duchess, her napkin tied securely around her neck, would be seen nibbling a bone; the noble marquis surreptitiously scratching himself; the belle marquise withdrawing her spoon from her lips to help a neighbor to sauce with it; another fair creature scouring her plate with her bread; a gallant courtier using his doublet or the tablecloth as a towel for his fingers, and two footmen holding a yard of damask under a lady's chin while she emptied her goblet at a daught.

All of these at one era or another were the usages of polite society. During a feast of inordinate length it was sometimes necessary to substitute a clean cloth for the one which the carelessness or bad manners of the guests had reduced to a deplorable condition.

SPRING FOOT-WEAR FEATURES FOR MEN

MODERN conditions encourage men who set styles in footwear to exercise their fancy more freely than ever before. For this reason, perhaps, above all others, new and improved styles in footwear for men are shown in spring 1911 lines. There seems to be a greater demand for variety of style than ever before. There will be patent shoes for dress wear, tull calf or glazed kid shoes for spring and autumn wear, and Russia calf, or tan kid shoes for summer wear. Then there will be cloth shoes, the sale of which is steadily increasing to men as well as to women, though these are only recommended to men who have small feet, as the cloth shoes have a tendency in appearance to exaggerate the size of the feet.

Pumps for street wear are going to be exceedingly popular with men this season. For early spring the call seems to be for tan leather button shoes; in fact, the button shoe in all styles seems to have the preference over the laced effects for this season. The low cut button shoes, like the pumps, will be decorated with buttons, slides and bows, and some extremists will even adopt brilliants, but men of careful, reserved taste will undoubtedly taboo these fanciful ormentations, though they are really proclaimed as fashionable. The high toe continues in fashion and the drop toe is offered by way of variety, and as a concession to the condition that different shaped feet require different shaped shoes, particularly toes.

There will be more flexibility in the shoes than ever before as the effort to make shoes as comfortable as possible has resulted in the development of lasts that permit of great flexibility. This will improve shoes in appearance as well as durability, fit and comfort. It will permit the use of finer shapes and superior workmanship.

The one, two and three eyelet laced oxfords will be made on the pump lasts and the buttoned oxfords with high arches, high heels and high modified toes.

The strong tendency for the pump shapes influences the heels to broader and lower and also toward plain toes and straight tips. Tans will be very popular in all shades, the darker tones having the preference. Dull leathers will also find high favor and promise unusual popularity. Many fashionable men in the larger cities are wearing combinations of cloth topping with leather vamps, the toppings in many cases being patterned with checks and modest plaids.

SEEN in the SHOE SHOPS

THESE are sad, bad days indeed for the lady upon whom nature cruelly bestowed large feet. "Woe is me!" cried one of them the other day. "Will the long, loose skirt never return, under which I may hide my pedal extremities? With these scant, short skirts, they are as conspicuous as a sore thumb—as two sore thumbs. Oh, woe is me!" repeated the lady with the large feet.

And her plaint is surely justified, for never have the styles demanded such careful attention to footwear, if a woman would be smartly dressed. But at the same time, never have the footwear styles been so sensible, and withal so attractive and flattering to the foot. The pump, about whose becomingness there has never been any question, is now made to fit so perfectly that all objections, from the point of comfort, are removed. Heels and toes are not exaggerated, and altogether the new boot is a thing of beauty and comfort.

Dull black calf seems to be the preference in leathers, although suedes in black and brown and gray are also being shown, and tans promise to be quite as much worn as last season. Many of the newest pumps have a small simulated buckle of leather, while others have the regulation bow of ribbon or leather.

For afternoon year the satin pump will be very popular, in black, blue, gray or brown, although the velvet pump that is so bewitching on small feet will hold its own. This also may be obtained in brown or blue velvet.

White shoes, both high and low, will be worn to a greater extent than for several seasons past. Canvas and white buckskin, besides the white satin for dressy wear, will be seen on the correctly clad woman, worn with her outing costumes.

Evening slippers are exquisite, and the styles innumerable. The beaded vamps of many of the satin and kid slippers are a natural outcome of the great vogue for beads. Many have gold heels, with just a rim of gold about the top of the slipper that emphasizes prettily the contour of the foot. Green and red satin heels are also seen on the black satin slippers.

The plainer styles have gold colonial buckles to finish them, or tiny ones of rhinestones. One perfectly plain black satin pump was finished only with five little rhinestones, set on in a row. Little ornaments of tulle, net and satin are made to adjust on plain slippers, and frequently two or three sets will be sold with one pair of slippers. One quaint idea was the tucking of a tiny pink rose with its two green leaves, made of ribbon, under each side of the black satin pump bow.

Hosiery Hints.

Lace hosiery, it is expected, will be in great demand a little later in the season.

The shot silk hose with its attractive shaded effect is very durable and especially suitable for wear with tailored costumes.

The plain silk stocking, with the cotton top and sole, may be obtained in a very satisfactory quality of pure thread silk for $1.10. Embroidered silk stockings come as low as $2.25.

For good all-around wear nothing equals the plain black lisle stocking in gauze or medium weight that sells for 35 to 50 cents.

Some Curious Easter Customs

SOME of the old Easter customs are curiously barbaric, and even at the present time the observance of this particular festival is surrounded with more or less superstition, just enough to lend to it the charm of mystery.

Twentieth century maidens don bright yellow garters, secure in their belief that they will be engaged before the year ends, others give their tresses "a hundred strokes three times" with the brush while thinking intently of their hearts' desire, and who does not take good care to wear her new things on Easter day?

Among the earliest of Easter customs are the following:

At Queen's college, Oxford, a herring placed by the cook to simulate a man on horseback is set on a corn salad and brought to the table. This is supposed to represent a red herring riding away on horseback and is the last vestige of the once popular pageants of rejoicing.

It was erstwhile a habit in English towns for the boys, after the Easter service, to run into the street and snatch the buckles from the shoes of the girls whom they were able to catch.

Easter Monday, however, it was turn about, and the women chased the men. If the men refused to pay a sixpence or happened to wear boots the women tried to snatch their hats, and to recover a hat cost a sixpence.

In some old town great cakes were brought to church and there divided among the young people.

A singular Easter custom was that of "lifting and weaving." A man sitting contentedly in his home was surprised by the servants and women of his household, who entered bearing a great armchair lined with white and decorated with ribbons and favors. The man was forced to sit in the chair and be lifted by the women, to each of whom he must give a sixpence. On a day in Easter week, either Monday or Tuesday, the man lifted the women with similar attendant ceremonies.

Edward I was lifted in his bed by his ladies and maids of honor, and a record shows the payment made by him to have been some $2,000 in sixpences.

In older days in England monks at Easter acted plays in churches, the favorite subject being the resurrection. Not only were the plays enacted in the churches on these festival days, but there was dancing, particularly in the French cathedrals.

Even the sun, it is said, dances on Easter day.

In Ireland great preparations were made for the last day of Lent. Holy Saturday, about 9 o'clock, a hen and a piece of bacon were put in the pot, and at 12 o'clock there were eating and much merrymaking. At 4 all arose to see the sun dance in honor of the resurrection.

An Easter Love Story

MARGARET of Austria, on a pilgrimage in the early part of the sixteenth century, stopped for a few days at the castle of Bron, set in the midst of the forests that surrounded the little village of Bresse. Not only did all the nobles and stately dames from nearby castles ride to the castle of Bron to pay homage to the beautiful daughter of the Emperor Maximilian, but the peasant folk as well planned extra games and festivities in her honor for the Easter Monday, which the princess was to pass with them.

Margaret was gracious and lovely and, with her train of nobles, dames and maidens, came from the great castle to the village common and watched the simple games and happy dancing on that Easter Monday long ago with little thought in her heart of what it was all to mean to her. Soon the royal party, imbued with the happy hearted mirth and pollity of the occasion, began to do more than look on and took part in the games as gayly as the lowliest peasant lass in the village.

Just as the eggs had been strewn over the fresh laid sand and all was in readiness for the egg dance a horn was heard blowing from the nearby forests, and forth from its depths issued a gallant troop of men at a run, led by the knightly figure of Philibert the Fair, duke of Savoy.

The years had not been many since Maragaret of Austria, a slim slip of a child, had played in these same old forest wilds with a sturdy boy whom years of warfare and turmoil had changed into the soldier prince who was now before her. Margaret had not forgotten those early days of childish love and courtship, and her heart was throbbing with a sweet, wild joy as in answer to the entreaties of Philibert the Fair she joined with him the happy couples gliding and circling through the mazes of the egg dance.

Loud rang the cries of the peasantry as the princely couple without mishap stood breathless and flushed at the end of the dance.

"Austria and Savoy forever!" rang clear the cry, and as simply as a peasant lass might have accepted her rustic lover did the stately Margaret lay her hand in that of her princely suitor in answer to his words:

"Let us, too, follow the custom of Bresse."

THE NEW APPRENTICE SYSTEM.

Railway Age Gazette: Twenty years ago an apprentice boy entered a railway shop down East. He was indentured and began his service with happy anticipation of the pleasure of learning the trade of machinist as many have done more recently.

He worked six months "snagging" castings, gave up hope and quit. No one in the shop paid the slightest attention to him. No one thought of teaching him anything. He could not induce the foreman to put him on any other work and he became discouraged. That kind of apprenticeship is of course a failure.

Do you realize that the new apprenticeship contains two elements which the old never had? The first of these is the individual attention of shop instructors who are competent mechanics and who have nothing else to do. The second is mental development in school coincident with the shop development. Do you realize the advantage which you as instructors enjoy over the teachers in public schools and even over college professors? Your pupils have not only selected their callings, but they are actually following them and they are holding their own and making their way among men earning their own living.

Favorite Fashions for the Daughters

IT would seem as though we grown-ups have rather turned the tables on the younger generation this season, and borrowed not a few of the styles that have come to be associated with simple, jaunty youthfulness. The sailor collar effects, the natty short coats, the simpler belted-in tunics with their girlish, round necks—all these we have appropriated for our smart spring and summer toggery.

There is surely no style in outer garments so becoming to a young figure as that which carries out, somehow, the sailor collar idea. The spring coats show many charming variations of it. One very dashing model of black and white check had the wide collar of black satin extended to the belt line in the back and laid in pleats beneath the broad belt. Within the black collar, to about four inches of the edge, was another collar of emerald green taffeta. Many of these coats have wide bands of black about the bottom, and in the black-striped white serges the black is also used for pocket flaps as well as for the collars and cuffs.

In suits and gowns the modes for the young girl show practically the same tendencies as the prevailing adult fashions, modified somewhat, yet at the same time developed with more daring freedom. The dressy gowns, in silk or net, have almost invariably the peasant sleeve, the Dutch neck and the surplice effects or veiled suggestions of the tunic.

For the very small daughters the diminutive fashions are adorable, with their subtly modified suggestions of the prevailing modes in grown-up styles. The sailor collar, so becoming to almost any age of femininity, is found to be greatly in favor for the little coats. For the dress-up coat of silk or satin the lace collar, in the sailor shape, gives a pretty finish to the garment. The long roll collars or revers, with the coat fastening at the side with two or three good size buttons, are also much in evidence on the tailored effects. One neat little model of navy blue serge had a large sailor collar and cuffs of red silk poplin. Three metal buttons were used to close it, and laced through the collar was a black silk tie, the ends finished with tassels. Many of the silk coats have embroidered cuffs and rounded or square collars, with sometimes a band of the embroidery carried around the skirt. There is a wide choice in materials, many novelty worsteds being used as well as cheviots, serges and the pongees and satins.

Quaint and novel, but scarcely practicable unless little Miss Muffet may be induced to sit decorously on a tuffet all day long, are the white lawn dresses drawn in at the bottom of the skirts by a wide tucked band of the material or one of embroidery, cunning echoes of the narrow line tendency of mother's gowns. Carrying out the same idea in a less extreme manner are the long waisted frocks with a sash drawn snugly through slides at the top of the scant ruffle that serves for the skirt. One of these that was particularly dainty and pretty was made with box pleats extending down the waist between which were bands of baby Irish inserting. The skirt was edged with lace to match the inserting and a sash of pale pink satin ribbon was tied about the bottom of the long waist, at the left. The Empire waistline which has always been especially good for children, has received a new impetus from the popularity of this style of adult fashions.

In the little play dresses of gingham, chambray, percale and linen the Peter Thompson, Russian and jumper styles remain in favor. Some of the new skirts are plaited in clusters and caught in with straps. The kimono sleeve, as well as the bishop sleeve in some of the separate yoke dresses, is much used in the little garments.

The broad brim sailor hats that set carelessly on the back of the head, the tiny bonnets with their soft shirrings and prim posies, the mushroom shapes trimmed with rosettes of ribbon or bunches of small flowers—these are some of the offerings of the milliners for the very small daughters.

STONE COMES TO BAT WITH DIRECT CHARGE AND WANTS INQUIRY

Alleges That Twelve Members Control the Important Committees.

Claims There Is No Lack of Proof Committees Are Packed.

Resolution Is Likely to Be Buried By a Decisive Vote.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative W. T. Stone of Park Rapids came to bat in the house this morning with his promised senation, in spite of the fact that Speaker Dunn is still ill at his hotel and unable to defend himself. Dr. Stone introduced a resolution making definite charges, and asking the appointment of a committee of seven to investigate, three to be named by himself, three by the speaker and the seventh by the six.

Representative Klemer did not join in the resolution, which is the product of Dr. Stone's activity alone. Representative R. C. Dunn gave notice of debate, putting consideration of the resolution over to tomorrow, when it will probably be voted down by a pretty decisive vote. The house is buried in work and will probably not give much more time to vain disputes.

Dr. Stone's resolution recites that he and Klemer had been brought to the bar of the house to make their charges definite, and that Klemer had been censured by a vote of the house, and then wades into the charges, which are to the following effect: That twelve members control the important committees and through them the less important; that these twelve men hold twelve chairmanships and thirty-five out of a total of seventy-seven places

BIG EXPLOSION SHAKES TOWER

New Million Dollar Building in Springfield, Mass., Is Damaged.

Springfield, Mass., April 4.—Damage was done early today to Springfield's new million-dollar municipal building now in progress of construction by an explosion at the base of the 300-foot clock tower, which shook the city for a radius of several blocks.

Two explosions, one following directly after the other, were heard by the officers on duty in the police station adjoining the tower. All the windows in the police offices were smashed by the concussion.

The tower is to be 300 feet in height, of steel and stone construction. The steel work has already been raised to the height of 180 feet while the masonry is up 140 feet. It is not thought that the foundation of the tower has been seriously damaged or its strength impaired.

Daylight inspection of the municipal building showed that the force of the explosion tore a small hole in the abutment of the tower, which can be readily repaired without the removal of the upper stories already completed. The tower otherwise shows no sign of the force of the explosion.

VEHEMENT IN DENIAL

Camorrist Declares He Knows Nothing of the Cuccolos Murders.

Says the Informer Has a Personal Grudge Against Him.

Viterbo, Italy, April 4.—The jury in the Camorra trial listened today to the interrogation and defense of Guiseppe de Maranis, who is charged with having planned the murder of Gennaro Cuoccolo and his wife Maria. De Maranis has been frequently arrested in Naples, the accusations against him including robbery, assault and murder, and he has served brief sentences of imprisonment.

The Camorrist was not in good voice today, but he shouted his denials with considerable vehemence. He denied any part in the assassinations and asserted that he had been involved in the revelations of the informer Abbatemaggio because of the latter's personal spite. He had discharged Abbatemaggio from his employ, he said.

In forging the chain of evidence against the thirty-six Camorrists, the carabineers claimed to have found in De Maranis' house a postal card addressed to him by the Arena and asking for the death of Cuoccolo because he betrayed the writer to the authorities. In telling the story of the murders, Abbatemaggio had said that such

RECALL FOR JUDICIARY

Provided for in the Kneeland Bill Passed By the House.

Attempt to Have Representative Stone Punished Ends in Failure.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate has passed a recall bill, and the house has passed a recall bill.

Yet this is very far from meaning that a recall bill has become a law, and there is no certainty that a recall bill will become a law.

The senate a week or more ago passed the Moonan bill, with amendments, and that bill is now in the house committee on elections.

The house yesterday afternoon passed the Kneeland recall bill, with one important amendment, and that bill will go to the senate for its action.

One body or the other must pass the bill sent over by the other branch, and as there are but a dozen working days of the session left, that cannot happen unless by making a special order of the bill.

Originally, these bills were alike. Both, however, have been amended by

FORGOT NAME OF HIS FIRST WIFE

Man Married Three Times Failed to Remember Handle of No. 1.

Kansas City, Mo., April 4.—As a simple and mutually satisfactory way of adjusting a legal contest for the possession of the children of Andrew L. Lindholm, they are for half the year to be with him and his fourth wife and the remainder of the year with Mrs. Lindholm III, their mother. The court asked both the boys, who are less than 10 years old, which parent they preferred, but the little fellows expressed no preference.

One of the amusing incidents of the hearing was Lindholm's statement that he could not remember the given name of his first wife. They were married on brief acquaintanceship, he said, and divorced after a short time, so that the name slipped his mind.

HOBOES BOYCOTT ROAD.

Action of Union Pacific Angers Tramp Tourists.

Omaha, Neb., April 4.—Hoboes have declared a boycott on the Union Pacific railroad. The amalgamated tramp tourists issued their ultimatum yesterday.

Gathered under the viaduct at the union station, an executive council of the national hobo order considered the late rules issued by the railroad requiring that all tramps caught on trains should be made to pay their fare or shall be forced to work out an equivalent. The council ended its session by drawing up a formal notice upon the railroad, condemning it.

FIFTEEN MILLIONS

Provided By Appropriation Bills Presented to the Legislature.

Southern Minnesota Kills State Mine Building at Hibbing.

(By a Staff Correspondent).

St. Paul, Minn. April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The three appropriation bills, one for the educational institutions, one for other state institutions and one for state departments, were completed last night by the joint committee and were introduced in both branches this afternoon. They will be taken up immediately, and will consume several days in all probability.

The total appropriations provided for the next two years are little short of $15,000,000 which means a tax levy of a mill and a half against nine-tenths of a mill last year. The joint committee approved the appropriation of $65,000 for an experiment farm at Duluth and $35,000 for a farm at Waseca, but these items are not included in the bill. They will be introduced separately, if the legislature passes the bill providing for them.

The bills carry no provision for forestry, but $75,000 a year would be appropriated if the forestry bill, which passed the house, goes through the senate.

There is no drainage appropriation whatever, except a small amount to pay state assessments.

The appropriation of $35,000 for a state mining building at Hibbing was turned down owing to the opposition of Southern Minnesota members.

The special order for this afternoon in the senate for direct election of United States senators was continued to Friday.

The senate passed Coller's bill appropriating $7,000, one year's salary as governor, for the widow of the late Governor John A. Johnson.

The bills paying newspapers for publishing constitutional amendments last fall, including the forth publication not authorized by law and newspapers in excess of the number authorized, were passed by the house.

MANY CITIES HOLDING IMPORTANT ELECTIONS

An Unusually Heavy Vote Being Cast in Chicago—Liquor Question the Issue in Colorado Cities.

Chicago, April 4.—Rain falling the last part of the night and all the early part of the day had little effect on the number of voters who went to the polls today to elect a mayor of Chicago for four years, other city officials for two years, and to pass two bond issues and three annexation propositions. Fully a third of the registered vote was cast before 8 a. m.

The Republican candidate, Prof. Charles E. Merriam, an instructor in political economy at the University of Chicago, is an alderman and the head of the Merriam commission, which investigated city finances and reported much irregularity, several resignations of city officials resulting. He is making his fight on a platform of municipal honesty, the "new order of progressiveness," and the "demand for opportunity for the younger man."

Carter H. Harrison, Democrat, has been mayor four times and his father was mayor before him. His platform has been chiefly founded on his previous experience and on a pledge to secure 70-cent gas for the city.

Today's vote was expected to be the heaviest ever polled in Chicago. It was predicted it would take at least 175,000 ballots for either mayoralty candidate to win. This was allowing 30,000 of the expected 380,000 votes to be cast for the Socialist and Prohibition candidates.

CALLED BY THE PRESIDENT TO CONSIDER RECIPROCITY

Democrats Are in Control of the House of Representatives for the First Time in Sixteen Years.

Champ Clark of Missouri Elected Speaker, Receiving 217 Votes Against 131 for J. R. Mann of Illinois.

POLITICAL COMPLEXION OF CONGRESS

The political complexion of the Sixty-second congress convened in extraordinary session today is as follows:

Senate—Republicans, 50; Democrats, 41; vacancy, 1.

House—Democrats, 228; Republicans, 160; Socialist, 1; vacancies, 2.

In the Sixty-first congress, which was adjourned March 4, the membership was:

Senate—Republicans, 59; Democrats, 32; vacancy, 1.

House—Republicans, 217; Democrats, 174.

The senate vacancy is from Colorado, the legislature being Democratic. Iowa is expected soon to elect a successor to the late Senator Dolliver, whose seat now is occupied by Lafayette Young.

The house vacancies are from the Ninth Iowa and the Second Pennsylvania districts.

Washington, April 4.—Called in extraordinary session by President Taft to consider the question of Canadian reciprocity which failed in the last session because of a filibuster against it in the senate, the Sixty-second congress assembled today. In spite of the fact that the proclamation issued by the president mentioned nothing except reciprocity and his message to the special session, it is expected, will be likewise circumscribed, an ambitious program has been outlined by the new Democratic majority in the house and the outcome is in doubt. The session, because of the anomalous situation created by one party being in control of one branch and its rival in power at the other end of the capitol, is expected to be long and filled with turmoil and political bickerings.

The opening ceremonies of the house held an unusual interest. It was the first time in sixteen years that the Democrats had taken up the conduct of affairs in the lower branch of the national legislature. New hands were at the wheel while the helmsmen of former days were about to engage in the pastime of rocking the boat.

Transition Complete.

The transition from a month ago was complete. New faces were everywhere to be seen. Democrats not only filled the side of the chamber allotted to them, but spread over into the erstwhile sacred precincts of the Republicans.

Members of the house always tardy on ordinary days of the session, began to arrive this morning with the earliest of the spectators, and the floor was crowded almost as soon as the galleries.

The opening program in the house, always an interesting spectacle, was followed today with uncommon keenness. It included the calling of the house to order by Maj. Alexander McDowell, the veteran Republican clerk of the house, who is soon to be replaced; the calling of the roll; the election of the speaker; his speech of acceptance; the swearing in of the members by state delegations, and the drawings for seats. There are always a few privileged members who are allowed to choose their seats in advance of the drawing. They include usually the oldest members of the house in point of service. Gen. Bingham of Pennsylvania, the minority leader, and one or two others, as the house leaders may designate.

Weather Atrocious.

The weather for the opening of the new congress was atrocious. A steady rain, driven before a cold east wind, made the day one of the most disagreeable of the winter.

Visitors thronged the office of Speaker-to-be Clark during the two hours before the convening of the house. Among them were Mr. Mann, minority leader, who called to congratulate the man who was scheduled to occupy the speakership; Governor Harmon of Ohio, William Jennings Bryan and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Bryan was closeted with Mr. Clark for fifteen minutes. From the speaker's room he went to the house lobby, where he shook hands with scores of friends, who gathered about. Exercising his privilege as a former member of the house Mr. Bryan appeared in the chamber at 11:45 a. m. He was quickly recognized by the galleries and a demonstration, which started with applause soon was taken up with cheering both on the floor and in the galleries.

A few minutes later Governor Harmon of Ohio appeared on the floor and the cheering was renewed. When Governor Harmon made his way up to Mr. Bryan and the two stood shaking hands, and chatting together, the Democratic uproar was deafening.

Mr. Mann, as the new minority leader, also was greeted with applause. Mr. Mann and Mr. Clark, as the two candidates for the speakership, had their pictures taken in the speaker's office. Mrs. Clark and her daughter and son, comprising the speaker's family, were with him in his new offices and exchanged greetings with many of the visitors.

Clark Elected Speaker.

After the house was called to order Champ Clark of Missouri, was elected speaker. He polled 217 votes against 131 for James R. Mann of Illinois; 16 for Henry A. Cooper of Wisconsin, and 1 for George W. Norris of Nebraska. The three last named are Republicans.

Asking his colleagues to keep that fact uppermost in their minds during the present session of congress, Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, in his speech accepting the speakership outlined the measures through which the Democratic party hopes to continue to enjoy the faith of the people.

Intelligent revision of the tariff, election of United States senators by popular vote, changes in the house rules to permit proper consideration of public measures, economy in handling the purse-strings of the country, the publication of campaign contributions and the early admission of New Mexico and Arizona to statehood were some Anderson, Who Succeeds Tawney, Casts Ballot for Champ Clark.

Strong Efforts to Prevent Clapp Getting Committee Chairmanship.

Washington, April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sydney Anderson, who succeeds James A. Tawney in congress, when his name was called on vote for speaker, voted for Champ Clark. This indicates that he will cast his lot with Democrats.

Strong influences to prevent Senator Moses E. Clapp from being made chairman of the importan committee on interstate and foreign commerce are being put forward in Washington today. Having to deal with railroad, express and telegraph and telephone lines, this committee is one of the greatest importance. Senator Clapp during his services as a member of it has not stood for the legislative policies which old time Republican leaders advocated. He has opposed their plans and program, particularly during President Taft's administration, and hence efforts to keep him from being chairman are being made by Lodge, Crane, Gallinger and the old guard. But he is supported by many regulars and

MESSAGE ON WEDNESDAY

President's First Document Will Refer Entirely to Canadian Reciprocity.

Representative McCall Introduces Bill of Previous Session in House.

Washington, April 4.—President Taft's first message to the sixty-second congress will go in tomorrow, according to unofficial information at the White House today. The president began the dictation of the message early today and when the cabinet met at 11 o'clock he laid before it a rough draft of the document.

Following the cabinet session this afternoon the president will take up the message with one of his secretaries and he proposes to complete it.

The message, according to the White House, will deal only with reciprocity with Canada. Reference to a permanent tariff commisison or to other kindred subjects will be deferred until later, if the present plan is followed. The message will not be long and will follow closely the speeches made by the president on the subject of reciprocity.

Forestalling action by the Democrats in the house, Representative McCall of Massachusetts today introduced the Canadian reciprocity bill, which was passed by the house last session.

I can truthfully say that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is a very good medicine, not alone for kidney trouble, but also for weak and sore back, as well as for rheumatism.

About a year ago I became ill and unable to work, my trouble being a lame back. I read of your Swamp-Root in the newspaper and in an Almanac. Believing it would do me good, I went to my druggist, Mr. Skinner, and purchased a bottle. Finding relief in one fifty-cent bottle, I purchased several more and in a short time was able to continue with my work and am today feeling well and strong. I always recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to my friends as I believe it is as good a medicine as can be found.

FOLLOW-UP CONFERENCE

J. Campbell White to Be Principal Speaker at Meeting.

Results of the Laymen's Missionary Movement Are Being Strengthened.

J. Campbell White, probably the best known missionary worker in the world, will be the principal speaker at the follow-up conference of laymen to be held at Pilgrim Congregational church next Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. White has an international reputation on account of the work he has done for the laymen's missionary movement. He is in great demand and is unable to accept all the invitations extended to him. He was to have come here at the time of the laymen's missionary conference here last year, but was unable to come, and the coming visit will be his first to Duluth.

The laymen's missionary movement held campaigns in seventy-six American cities last year and the year's work wound up with the great missionary congress in Chicago and the world's congress at Edinburgh, Scotland. Mr. White was very prominent in the movement and much of its success is ascribed to his earnest and conscientious work. He is a forceful and convincing speaker and has met with success wherever he has worked among men. He was for ten years secretary of the Young Men's Christian association at Calcutta, India, and several years ago he returned to the United States and plunged into work among men.

Col. E. W. Halford, who will also be one of the speakers at the coming follow-up conference is well known among missionary workers. He was an ardent worker in the laymen's missionary conferences of last year and is now engaged in the follow-up work, which is being carried on in the different cities in which conferences were held last year. The leaders in the laymen's missionary movement are determined that the results obtained last year shall not be lost for want of subsequent attention and the follow-up conferences will be held yearly to strengthen those who were won to the movement at the original conference.

The program for the two days' session here next week follows:

Tuesday, April 11.

Meeting for prayer, 5 p. m.
Supper at 6 p. m.
Addresses around the supper table, "The Present Working Policy of the Laymen's Missionary Movement," Col. E. W. Halford; "How the Financial Methods Recommended by the Laymen's Movement Are Succeeding," S. Earl Taylor; "Important By-Products of the Present Missionary Awakening," J. Campbell White.

Wednesday, April 12.

Noon, luncheon with the executive committee.
3 p. m., conference session.
"The Local Missionary Outlook (opened by a local speaker); "An Adequate Program of Missionary Finance;" "An Adequate Program of Missionary Education;" "An Adequate Program of Prayer for Missions;" "Why a Great Advance is Imperative;" "A Men's Mission Study Class in Session."
6 p. m., supper.
Addresses around the supper table, "The Hope of Evangelizing the World," J. Campbell White; "Every Christian's World-Field and Obligation," Col. E. W. Halford.

The famous Castro family of California is making preparations to fight in the United States court for the possession, right and title to the lands which were granted to old Gen. Castro, the last Spanish governor of California, by the King of Spain, comprising almost the entire county of Santa Clara, one of the richest and most fertile valleys in California, and including the cities of San Jose, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz.

This is the announcement made by relatives of Miss Geraldine Malone the dainty Anita with James T. Powers in "Havana." Miss Malone herself is much excited about the coming big lawsuit, for she is a great-granddaughter of Gen. Castro, and if the courts decide in favor of the Castro family she will come in for a large share of the fortune.

It is almost impossible to estimate the value of the vast property interests at stake in this controversy. The richest fruit lands, the finest ranches, some of the most thriving cities of all California, the great property of the Leland Stanford, Jr., university and of Santa Clara college, formerly the Santa Clara mission, are on the lands which the Spanish royal grant gave to Gen. Castro.

Miss Malone is a perfect type of Spanish-California beauty, tawny brown eyes, auburn hair and just a touch of delicate olive brown in her complexion. She could play the part of Anita in "Havana" without any makeup if she chose. Her father was John T. Malone, a well known actor in his day, a member of Edwin Booth's and Lawrence Barrett's companies at different times. He was a legitimate actor of the old school and had hosts of friends and admirers in the profession. Miss Malone's mother was the daughter of Gen. Thomas Fallon, one of the most famous pioneers, and a lieutenant of Gen. John C. Freemont. He took a leading part in the early history of the Bear state and he married the daughter of old Gen.

MISS GERALDINE MALONE.

Castro, the last of the Spanish governors.

The old family home, the rancho house at Soquel, near Capitola, is one of the historical show places of the state. Miss Malone's mother and grandmother reside in San Francisco and with other members of the Castro family they have joined in bringing the suit which is to be filed in the United States circuit court to establish the old Spanish land grant to Gen. Castro. The outcome will be watched with interest by the people of California.

Teaching a parrot to sing "Home, Sweet Home," when said parrot has been the property of a sailor and has a most expressive vocabulary of a certain type, is no task for a person who is short of patience. This is the task of Miss Cora Swain, who is appearing at the Orpheum this week, presenting a trained bird act, is attempting. "The bird is one of the best talkers I have ever found," said Miss Swain. "I have been trying to teach him to sing 'Home, Sweet Home,' and he will do it now, after a deal of coaxing, but he is likely to end up the song by telling me to go to the place Sherman said war was. It would be rather disconcerting to an audience to have him do that, so I haven't dared put him in the act yet. I got the bird in New York from a sailors' boarding house and his language was something to shudder at, at first, but he is improving every day.

"The birds in my act are cockatoos and macaws. The bird I am teaching to sing is a parrot. They are the best talkers and the macaws come next. A cockatoo rarely talks, but once in a while you find one that will."

At yetserday's performance one of the birds was slow in performing one of its tricks, and one of the macaws delighted the audience by an admonition to "Hurry up." It was impromptu with the bird and amused Miss Swain as much as the audience.

Watching Gennaro lead his Italian band at the Empress this week has become a popular form of amusement with Dululians.

Creatore, D'Urbano and other famous musical acrobats have to take a back seat for Gennaro, who goes them all one better in the line of eccentricity. Gennaro, himself, is unconscious of the stir his efforts create, and apparently every gesture and smile means something to him and to his men.

"Music is meant to show our emotions," says Gennaro, "and why stifle our motions when we are presenting a musical program? It is not natural to play through some great musical poem with only a mechanical beating of time. So why do it?" And Mr. Gennaro doesn't. Duluth audiences have as much enjoyment watching Gennaro this week as they had listening to his band, and it is a high-class musical organization, too. Each artist in his band is a soloist upon his own instrument and under the able guildance of Gennaro they bring forth music that is indeed beautiful. As a leader Gennaro has but few equals and he has shown excellent judgment in picking his instruments and as a result has a very well balanced combination. Gennaro and his band have appeared before King Emanuel of Italy on several occasions and he has pronounced it one of the best bands that he had ever heard.

A big comedy film, "Priscilla's April Fool Joke," is the feature at the Odeum theater this week, and it tells the amusing incidents which happened at a lawn party. "The Romance of a Dixie Girl" is a good dramatic photoplay. The other films are "Cured" and "A Man From the East." The illustrated song, "Emmaline Lee" is being sung by George Lenz.

At the Lyric, "Oh, You Kids," a big comedy photoplay is the feature. It tells the amusing adventures of two small boys with more than the average amount of boyish spirit. An acrobatic act by the Papil brothers is shown and another excellent film is "Where Seas Divide." The illustrated song is "Who Are you With Tonight?" sung by Mr. Mistachkin.

AN APPRECIATION OF W. S. WOODBRIDGE.

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Young Men's Christian association of Duluth, the following appreciation of W. S. Woodbridge, who died on March 24, 1911, was ordered to be spread upon the records of the association, and a copy furnished the the family of the deceased:

"This association learns with profound regret of the death of Mr. Woodbridge, who has been in failing health for some time. He was one of the original organizers and incorporators of this association in 1882. He has been a director of the association since its organization to the time of his death. He has been for three different years president of the association—in 1890, 1891 and 1896. His work for the association, and his devotion to the ideals and principles for which it stands have been of incalculable benefit to the association and to the community.

"Mr. Woodbridge has during the entire life of the association given unsparingly of his time and effort in the promotion of the association, and especially in the development and maintenance of its religious life, aims, and ideals. Of Puritan New England stock, one of the founders and for more than forty years a deacon of the Pilgrim Congregational church of this city, he was a type of the consistent Christian business man who unobtrusively and inoffensively lived his religion in church, Young Men's Christian association, business and every affair of his daily life.

"He stood uncompromisingly for the highest ideals in all that pertained to the civic life. His death is a distinct loss to the association and to the entire community. His widow and members of the family have the fullest sympathy of the association.

PIONEER SOUTH DAKOTA PAPER HAS SUSPENDED.

Sioux Falls, S. D., April 4.—Because business men and other residents of Valley Springs, near Sioux Falls, would not give their local paper sufficient support to make it a paying proposition, the Valley Springs Vidette, one of the pioneer newspapers of the state, has suspended publication, leaving the town without a newspaper for the first time in a quarter of a century.

CRUSHER TO BE LOCATED

City Will Start Soon at Destruction of Point of Rocks.

Obstacles Must Be Removed Before Plant Can Be Set Up.

President Olof G. Olson and George J. Bloedel of the board of public works explored the Point of Rocks this morning with a view to finding a suitable location for the rock crusher, provision for the purchase of which was made by the conference committee when it fixed the levy last fall.

Several places were located which might be used if some difficulties can be overcome. One is at Eighth avenue west, where the street car company has a big loop, but the tracks would have to be moved some distance before this could be used. The crusher could be placed where the street cars make the turn from Michigan street towards Superior street at Thirteenth avenue west, provided the tenement houses could be moved. Two or three other places were examined, but none were found to be free from obstacles.

The city has operated crushing plants in the past, but they have been of the smaller variety, which are now almost obselete. The proposed crusher could be installed for less than $10,000, the sum allowed by the conference committee. It would be of the modern type and would be put to work gnawing away at the Point of Rocks. Several different plans have been discussed for the removal of the cliff, but none of them have ever materialized, the heavy expense standing in the way. What little has been accomplished has been done by the city, and at the present time it looks as though the cliff will be removed gradually by operations of the municipality.

THREE DEPARTMENT STORES HOLDING SPRING OPENINGS

The Panton & White, Freimuth and Gray-Tallant department stores are all holding their formal spring openings this week.

At the Gray-Tallant store the shopper was particularly attracted by the line of pretty Bulgarian embroidered waists which they are displaying in their suit and dress department. The majority of these were made of pretty marquisettes, voiles and chiffons embroidered in attractive colors. One of them which was more profusely embroidered than the rest was decorated with the Bulgarian men worked on the front and sleeves in careful design.

They also had the chiffon jumpers embroidered with beads. These were shown in all pretty colors trimmed with the white beads except in the black and white combination. Here the body was of white and the beads of jet.

The line of afternoon dresses which were dressy but not too much so for street wear was also especially attractive. The wool shalleys were numerous, many of them with pretty figured borders well combined with touches of colored satin or silk. All of these had the round neck and many of them the peasant sleeve. A linen marquisette made up in this style was pretty and serviceable looking.

In the evening gowns the Duchesse satins and soft shimmery silks were the leaders following the leading styles in make and trimmed in hundreds of effective ways.

The millinery department presented many pretty models in all lines and colors.

One hat which was particularly admired was of black soft straw of helmet shape with a large willow plume put on at one side and a pretty cabishons of corals and lace.

Coral cabishons were one of the principal trimmings used on many of the hats in this shop. Another pretty hat was made of a heavy pink linen heavily braided with white soutash braid and trimmed with a stiff shaped ornament of the same material. It was a small hat and would be charming with a pink linen street suit.

Other hats for dressy wear and street wear trimmed with wonderful plumes and pompoms and arrangements of flowers offered a good choice to the shopper.

Panton & White's Opening.

At Panton & White's the shopper was particularly impressed with the many artistic evening dresses for the younger girls. Chiffons seemed to be the principal materials chosen for these dresses and made up in elegant simplicity were most becoming and girlish. They were displayed in all the soft shades. The linen street dresses here too, were among the most elaborate seen in the city. Combinations of stripes and plain colors in these gowns were stunning and the modish black and white predominated.

Their street and carriage suits had all the fashion features which are demanded this season. White suits of elaborate design and trimming were displayed on models and in the windows and everything from them down to the most strictly tailored suit for business year was to be seen.

Their hat department was a bower of wonderful colors and artistic combinations in all kinds of hats.

There were the enormous shapes massively trimmed with heavy flowers which some women insist on burdening themselves with, and there were the pretty little street hats in close fitting shapes of soft straws and heavy course straws and nice large shade hats for summer wear. One pretty little street hat of a coarse straw in a combination of brown and white which looked much like birch bark, was trimmed with a large soft feather on one side in a most becoming and adorable manner. This hat was a Phipps model which is one of the store's special lines.

Another hat of a much larger shape was made of a coarse straw in the French blue which is a little darker than king's blue and a little brighter than national blue and was trimmed with coral beads and a feather to match the straw.

One of the flower hats which was particularly noticed was made almost entirely of sweet peas. The flat brim was very wide on the sides, but quite narrow in front where a huge bow of soft ribbon colored with the tints of the sweet peas stood up in front of the high dome shaped crown.

Another pretty hat was of a smoke color and was crowned with two beautiful willow plumes of the same color. The only color on the hat was a band of velvet of a shade of red a little softer than the cerise and a little brighter than a plum shade. Two or three little pansie of this same tone nestled in the soft plumes in an attractive manner.

Freimuth's Opening.

At Freimuth's the display was full and attractive. The windows were filled with representative articles from each line of new goods and attracted much admiration from the shoppers.

The line of silk petticoats here was especially full and soft silks and messalines in all the new colors with Dresden and Oriental flounces in soft ruffles and accordian pleatings offered a selection which would match any gown.

The new chiffon evening wraps of black and a few fine lace coats were good, many of them bringing out the tunic style which is one of the season's fancies. The dainty little chiffon scarfs edged with marabou were also shown. A number of black satin coats were displayed made on rather plain lines so that they are quite appropriate for street wear. These coats are taking the place of the black broadcloth coat to a great extent and have been quite the rage in the East.

In the millinery department the shopper was charmed with a pretty little white hat with the little side wings in suggestion of the Dutch caps, which was made entirely of opaque white beads. The only trimming on the hat was a shaped cabishon of the beads which stood up on the left side

They were displaying too, some little lace caps made very much on the lines of the Charlotte Corday hat which has been so popularly made of embroideries, only there is no lining or stiffening in them. They are gathered into a little cord which just reaches around the head and are finished with a frill of lace which falls about the face. They are dainty little affairs and are quite coquetish. They are designed for wear at theaters or at teas or luncheons where it is customary to wear hats.

They also have some of the fetching little morning caps of dainty muslins, lawns or dimities trimmed with dear little bows of ribbon which are for wear with the morning gowns about the house. In this department they also are showing quite a line of fancy bands and hair adornments of oriental or gold bands with color touches which aid in bringing out the best in a complexion or harmonize with the gown worn. These are being worn extensively this season as well as beaded bands some of which have a fringe of the beads falling about the edge of the hair.

UNIONS OR NO UNIONS?

Organized Labor in Duluth Is Facing a Critical Situation.

Coming Conference Expected to Give Movement New Life.

The committee, composed of S. S. McDonald, chairman; Henry Perrault, Joseph Miller, P. G. Phillips and W. P. Perry, appointed at the last meeting of the Federated Trades and Labor assembly to make arrangements for the conference of unions to be held about the middle of the present month, will meet Thursday evening and make final preparations as well as settle definitely the dates of the conference.

The conference is for the purpose of getting representatives of the different unions together in order that a system may be worked out by which the unions can be strengthened. There will be two delegates from each union and about twenty-five different unions have announced to the committee their intention of having the two delegates present.

It is planned to have a number of organizers in Duluth at the time of the conference, which will probably last two days. The State Federation of Labor will have at least one organizer present and a number of the unions have petitioned their national organizations for organizers. In a number of instances the national organizations have granted the request and promised that organizers would be on hand.

It is planned to have some prominent labor speakers present during the conference that the enthusiasm in Duluth labor work may become more pronounced.

For some time past there has been a noticeable lack of interest. The meetings of the trades assembly have not been well attended and the attendance at the meetings of the different unions has fallen off. It is stated by a prominent member of the trades assembly that there has not been a representative meeting of the body for three years or since the "open shop" campaign.

It is stated that for those interested in the successful organization of labor unions, the situation is more than alarming—it has become desperate.

One member of the assembly says that it has come to a point where there must either be unions and successful labor organizations in Duluth or the unions must go out of existence altogether. He says that there might as well not be unions as the kind that have existed for the last three years.

There has been no attendance, there has been no enthusiasm and no work has been done. The organizations have been slipping backward instead of going ahead and they have for some time been of benefit to nobody, he says.

This is the condition at the present time, according to the members of the assembly, and the conference has been called for the purpose of instilling new life and new enthusiasm into every branch of organized labor in the city.

From this time on those in charge are going to boom the conference. They expect that as a result of the conference the labor unions will obtain new strength and enjoy the same power, if not more, than they did some years ago.

LEG BURNS WHILE MAN SLEEPS

Woodsman Camps Too Near to Bonfire and Suffers.

Fred Mattson, hobbled into the police station this morning with one leg and foot badly burned. He said that he went to sleep in the woods near Highland park last night beside a bonfire which he had built and that he woke up to find his trouser leg on fire. He didn't know whether he had rolled into the fire, or it had spread until it reached him.

He said that he had been working in a lumber camp during the winter and was walking into the city, intending to take a street car from the end of the line. But he was evidently caught before he could make it and decided to stay outside until morning. Asked at the station if he was drunk he said that he may have been a "little drunk." He was sent to the office of the county physician to have his burns dressed.

FEAST OF PASSOVER

"Pasech" Will Be Observed By Jewish People of Duluth.

Some of the Customs Peculiar to This Important Event.

"Pasech," the passover, or feast of unleavened bread, which begins with the setting of the sun on the fourteenth day of Nisson (Wednesday, April 12), and ends at the same hour seven days later, is probably one of the most closely observed holidays in the Jewish calendar.

Commemorative of Jewish deliverance from Egyptian bondage and escape of their first born in Egypt from the judgment wrought on the Pharoahs, this ancient holiday will be observed by orthodox Jews in Duluth and all over the world with hardly less strengency than in former ages.

During the week of "Pasech" leaven in either solid or liquid is not tasted; in fact so strictly was this feature of the festival observed in ancient times that intentional omissions were punished in various ways.

So strict is the rabbinical edict with regard to "hamaz" (leaven) that to this day orthodox Jews use different dishes, utensils, cutlery, etc., during the festival than those used during the rest of the year.

Before the household can be really termed free of "hamaz," the head of the house must perform "Bedikat hamaz," (the ceremony of clearing the house from leaven); this being done after dark, on the 13th day of Nisson, by placing a crumb of bread on a window sill and making a search of every nook and corner, until the complete circle from the crumb is completed. When this is accomplished, what leaven is in the house at the time, except enough for the next morning's meal, is tied in a compact bundle and hung where even mice cannot reach.

Home Services.

Probably no service is more beautiful, instructive and impressive than the Passover home services. At these services, which are called in the singular "Sadir" and take place on the eve and first night of the holiday only, the Haggodah (narration of the Passover) is recited.

During the narration of the Haggodah several dishes symbolical of the forty years of wandering in the wilderness under the leadership of Moses, are tasted; wine and home prepared brews are also tasted.

While leavens in any form are under the ban during the week of semidenial, other foods and beverages are to be had in plenty; for long before the holiday's arrival it has been anticipated and preparations made accordingly.

It is a self-composed duty that at this time of the year rich and middle class alike unite for assistance to the needy and poor of their nationality and help them to observe the holiday as best they may from the standpoint of edibles at least.

So binding is observance of the holiday that when the stranger Jew knocks, asking for food—be it for pay or gratis—it is not in the orthodox heart of spirit to deny.

But the hard and fast orthodox is not the only strict observer. Many a commercial drummer, worldly wise and satirical though he may be, often makes strenuous efforts to partake of the Passover meals at least, if no more.

By far the most interesting part of the holiday is the first two days: these combine the synagogue and home services, and manual labor is not permitted. Following these two days of rest and festivity come four days of routine life. The balance of the holiday is observed by refraining from manual labor and with morning and evening synagogue services only.

Although the Passover bears every indication of being a festival entirely, such is not the case. While one is surfeited with many delicacies both solid and liquid, the absence of leavens in any form is really a denial, albeit a physical one only.

Matzos (unleavened bread), which take the place of the substantial, life-sustaining "staff of life," are baked without yeast and salt, come in the form of a giant soda cracker.

The housewife is put to it conjuring palatables to satisfy the ever present gastronomical complaints, and some of the results are really marvels of the culinary art.

Even though barred the use of yeast or such other leavens the Jewish housewife is not altogether vanquished. In proof of this witness many of the delicacies prepared from the unleavened flour, eggs, water, salt and pepper and either chicken or goose fat.

Chief among these marvels of cookery is what in many respects might claim relationship to the ordinary and humble "flap-jack," only it is more palatable and much thicker. A few of these with a glass of home-made wine or brew and the period of dieting seems not so long.

It has been said that the Passover will be remembered long after other holidays cease to have any meaning.

POLICE ARE STILL ACTIVE

Continue Their Campaign for Moral House Cleaning in Duluth.

The activity of the moral house cleaning campaign of the police is showing no cessation.

Yesterday afternoon and last night four men were arrested on charges of selling liquor without a license and two women were arrested on charges of residing in a house of ill fame. Christ Johnson pleaded guilty to selling liquor without a license when arraigned in police court this morning and was fined $100 with the alternative of thirty days in the county jail. Frank Olson pleaded not guilty and will be tried Thursday morning.

The women were arrested in rooms at 18 Second avenue west. They gave their names as Rose Miller and May Ross. They entered pleas of not guilty through an attorney this morning and will be tried Thursday morning. They were released on $50 bail each.

The cases against Catherine M. Clark, charged with running a house of ill fame at 631 West Superior street, and Grace Coyer and William Carson, charged with residing in and visiting a house of ill fame, were dismissed yesterday. Easter Hats

Our Millinery showroom is replete with correct modes from Paris, Gotham and their exemplars from the deft fingers of our own clever designers.

The assembly surpasses that of previous seasons—more hats, in a distinctly Paris atmosphere.

There is a cozy little French room fitted up with a thousand little conveniences where Madame may make her selection in untroubled quiet and at her leisure. The personnel is worthy of the hats—prompt, courteous and expert attention from people who can tell at a glance the hat for individual types of face and form.

We direct attention in particular to the jaunty Tailored Hats—their name is legion; trimmed with beautiful flowers, etc., but manipulated in such a way as to give that French look and tilt that is their abiding charm.

Why Stay Fat?

The answer of most fat people is that it is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous to force the weight down. However, in Marmola Prescription Tablets, all these difficulties are overcome. They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting or exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. A large case is sold by druggists at 75c. DEFECTIVE PAGE

WOMAN'S REALM.

Dr. Nathanial I. Rubinkam will lecture in Duluth the latter part of this month under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club. He will be remembered by Duluth people, as he appeared in a course of lectures here under the auspices of the same club about three years ago.

The dates of his lectures will be Thursday, April 27; Saturday, April 29, and Monday, May 1. The first two lectures will be afternoon affairs, but the one on Monday will be given in the evening.

The subjects for the afternoon lectures will be "Maurice Maeterlink and 'The Blue Bird,'" which promises to be of special interest, "The Blue Bird" is playing in New York this season and has been causing much comment. His second afternoon lecture will be on "Tennyson and Darwin." In this he will talk on the influence which Darwin had over Tennyson and his writings.

The subject for the evening lecture will be announced later.

These lectures have been arranged for the benefit of the fund which the club uses in its work in the Neighborhood house in the West end, and the committee in charge is anxious that the course be a financial success as well as an artistic one. Mrs. E. W. Bohannon is chairman of this department of the club, and Mrs. F. L. Barrows will have charge of the sale of tickets for the course.

The club is planning to give a series of entertainments to aid in raising money for the work there, and will arrange for other things soon where the entire proceeds may be turned over to this fund.

The executive board of the club met yesterday in regular monthly session, when the details for the lectures were completed.

Besides regular routine business, nothing else of importance was brought up. The club decided not to send a delegate to the playground institute which will be held in Minneapolis Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, or to the district meeting of the Women's clubs which is to be held in Hibbing next week, as this would entail an expenditure which the club feels can be used to better advantage in its work in the city.

Roy E. Pierce, the wealthy young son of Henry Clay Pierce, the millionaire oil magnate who has a large lodge at the Brule, is alleged to be insane and effort is being made to annul his marriage to Mrs. Betsey Chapman, stage beauty, which took place last November.

They had been married but two months when Mr. Pierce left his bride in response to a telephone call and never returned. ENGLISH OPERAS.

National Federation Would Encourage Their Production in America.

The National Federation of Musical clubs adopted a resolution at the closing session of the biennial convention which was held in Philadelphia last week, which ought to do much towards encouraging the production of English operas.

Mrs. Jason Walker presented the resolution that the federation go on record as demanding that proper and artistic translations be made of various operas. This was adopted. Mrs. Walker also moved that the prize competitions continue, and that English words be used throughout, both in title and poem, and phrases of direction. This was also adopted.

This resolution was the result of interest aroused by Madame Eleanor de Cisneros, an operatic star and member of the Philadelphia-Chicago Opera company, who spoke of her experiences in the operatic world. She told of the impossibility of gaining distinction in America without foreign training. "Here one is received for what is said about one; in Europe for what one can do. When American music and artists are recognized here they will be recognized everywhere—and not before. At present the fact of one's being American is, in gaining recognition in Europe, more of a drawback than an advantage." She has recently returned to her native land after spending nine years abroad in study.

She also said: "I should be glad to sing in English, but the translation in most instances is impossible. If the American people want foreign operas in English they must produce a poet capable of translating. We should, of course, have English operas in English, and a demand for the better sort will evolve them."

If Miss Du Barry had caught HIM short,
Would have made a touch on his noble court.

Yet Adam's snap was the best of all,
'Cause when Mrs. Adam began to call
For some Easter rags that were "fit to see"
HE could grab 'em offen the nearest tree!

THE EVENING STORY

A Shower of Silver

By Randall James.

For a month Mr. Jarvis had devoted all his time to shadowing, in his quiet, pertinacious way, the manager of the Merchants' bank. By an ingenious scheme he had obtained impressions of the keys, and it only remained to make the final coup. His comrade, Richardson, the clever mechanic who had made the keys—for Mr. Jarvis never condescended to manual labor himself—was to keep watch outside whilst Jarvis entered and did the business.

The wily Jarvis had thought of leaving all the work in his companion's hands, but decided against it for two reasons. In the first place, he doubted whether Richardson's nerve would stand when it came to the point.

"You cannot trust these drinking men," meditated Mr. Jarvis sadly. And, in the second place, he doubted his companion's honesty. "He's capable of concealing some of the booty himself!" thought Mr. Jarvis.

Everything worked beautifully. The false key opened the safe as readily as if it had been the genuine one. Rapidly, Mr. Jarvis stowed the little paper wrapped rolls of gold about his person; the notes he slid into the breast pocket of his coat.

"Ten thousand in gold!" thought Mr. Jarvis, as his quick eye detected the presence of two men, who seemed suspiciously like detectives, down the street. "If they're detectives, he should have stood his ground as I told him, while I talked to him about the balance."

Mr. Jarvis caught up to his accomplice just as he turned the street corner.

"Stop running, idiot! They're following close. It'll puzzle them in the crowd if we just walk comfortably. The bank man was an awful boaster, saying there was always $10,000 of gold in his safe, when there was barely $1,000. I'll pass you your share. It bulks out my pocket too much. There's $500 for you."

Even in a moment of such emergency, Mr. Jarvis retained such presence of mind that he could contrive to swindle his accomplice.

"They're still following us," said Richardson, looking around nervously.

"Let them!" said Mr. Jarvis calmly. "They've not seen our faces, and we are in a crowd. Quick! Turn in here! There's Reilly ahead—the one man in New York who suspects me!"

They turned swiftly into a doorway of a skating rink.

"Pull yourself together, man!" whispered Mr. Jarvis. "What size do you take—seven and a half? Get skates for both of us. There's not a moment to be lost."

"Ten cents for admission and twenty-five for skates! It's awful dear!" said Mr. Jarvis to the girl at the office.

He drew Richardson swiftly after him into the rink. "Come along. Put your skates on. You can skate, surely! It's the sort of accomplishment you would waste time and money on. Then go round reckless like. I am a beginner. You can come back and then give me a little assistance."

Mr. Richardson sped away round the rink, whilst Mr. Jarvis made desperate endeavors to keep his footing in the part reserved for beginners. Even in the anxious moments, when his feet betrayed unconquerable desires to go in different directions, he kept a shrewd eye on the door.

In a moment he saw two detectives stroll in and stand amongst the spectators. Mr. Jarvis beckoned an attendant to him.

"Here, just show me how I can place my feet. It's harder than I thought."

"That's what they all say," grunted the attendant.

"Best building of its kind in New York," said the attendant.

"It'd be bad if a fire broke out when it was crowded like this. However, I suppose you have half a dozen different exits?"

"There's only the one entrance, but it's all fireproofed, and it's so broad we could empty this hall in two minutes."

Mr. Jarvis groaned inwardly. Then the only way out of the rink was right past the detectives. It was true that they knew nothing definite; they had only seen two suspicious figures leaving the bank. They were not even sure that a robbery had taken place. They only knew the build of the men they suspected. One of the detectives might pass his hand over his coat, and $10,000 in gold bulks largely on the person.

For one brief moment Mr. Jarvis wished that he had given his accomplice his fair share. He thought for a second of feigning a sprained ankle, and inducing the attendant to help him out. That might disarm suspicion, but Mr. Jarvis hesitated, thinking of leaving Richardson to his fate. Perhaps Richardson seeing himself abandoned, might grow desperate, and try to follow him. Even if he got away successfully, he knew that, if Richardson were arrested, he would certainly talk, and that would make New York and its immediate vicinity unsafe for him for years.

So Mr. Jarvis kept on making somewhat futile efforts to skate, and noticed out of the corner of his eye that the wideawake detectives were carefully scrutinizing all the people who left the rink.

At last he caught Richardson's eye, and signed to him to come across. Richardson, in answer, skated up gracefully.

"How are you getting on, old man?" he asked pleasantly.

"Not very well," said Jarvis aloud, adding, in a whisper: "Keep a straight face, man. They're here, and there's no way of getting out except under their very noses."

Richardson turned pale.

"Shall we run for it?" he murmured.

"And be stopped! Keep your eye on me. When I go up the rink holding on to the rails, you get toward the door, and be loosening your skates. Don't try and run for it till you see me go. Don't talk any more. Go and skate, and, above all, keep an eye on me and never look at the detectives.

Mr. Jarvis soon got a little more confidence on his feet. Gradually he began to try and go a little alone, and, finally, he boldly ventured on an expedition round the rink, holding on to the railing.

There was a group of expert skaters at the far end, who waltzed and whirled and did wonders on their skates. At this moment they had joined hands, and were circling round a pretty girl, who stood in their midst. She besought them laughingly to stop, because they made her giddy. Her protests and the laughter of her companions drew all attention in that direction.

Mr. Jarvis halted in the shadow of a pillar by the rails, and pretended to be dubious about his skates. He bent down as if to tighten them, but, in reality was loosening them, so they could be easily slipped off. Then the group in the center burst into a chorus of merriment, and Mr. Jarvis took a a roll of fifty-cent pieces from his pocket and, with a quick, deft movement loosened the paper around it.

He looked to see if Richardson had edged toward the door—that was right. He glanced round and saw that no eyes were on himself. Then he dexterously whirled the packet of silver up in the air, so that it fell and brust in the very midst of the laughing group.

There was a shout of surprise and a great scuffle.

"Silver!" cried someone.

"Here!" shouted Mr. Jarvis, "one of these fellows has split hundreds of dollars of silver on the floor!"

Like a shot, the detectives sped toward the struggling group. As they did so Mr. Jarvis took of his skates, took them in his hand and walked coolly toward the door. His accomplice had preceded him. They handed in their skates, and, without a glance to the right or left, went toward the street.

Mr. Jarvis merely paused on his way to switch off the electric light the switches lay invitingly to hand in a small room off the entrance hall. A second later they were in the street. Mr. Jarvis jumped into a taxi which was crawling along.

"Grand Central!" he said. "Fifty cents if you are there in five minutes!"

In less than that time the two rushed on to the platform as if anxious to catch the 8 o'clock express. They turned round directly they were out of sight of the driver, and went out by another exit to the subway.

"Most likely they'll get hold of the cabman," said Mr. Jarvis blandly to his companion.

"They'll think that we were making for the 8 o'clock train," said Richardson.

Now, we had better settle up our accounts," went on Mr. Jarvis. "You owe me $250, as your share of the $500 I threw just now. Yes, showers like that are very rare. And there's a quarter for your share of the cab. The fare's but a quarter, really, but I'd to make the driver think we were in an awful hurry.

Thankfully, Mr. Richardson counted out $250.

"You're forgetting the quarter," said Mr. Jarvis. "Business is business, even when it happens to be a bit outside of the law. That'll do. We'd better keep away from one another a little while. It will be safer. I'll write you when I have need of you again. Good-night to you, Mr. Richardson!"

Mr. Jarvis shook his head when his accomplice left him.

"It's poor work doing business with fools!" he meditated. "I was nearer prison than I've ever been yet. If I hadn't thought of that silver shower, it would have been an unprofitable venture for me. Well, it's a comfort Richardson paid for it. Think of a man with such a miserable intellect that he didn't even ask me whether I threw quarters or fifty-cent pieces.

"Thirty cents skating rink, a quarter cab fare. I'm forty-five cents out of pocket. It's a lot too much!"

He walked along a trifle gloomily till the consoling reflection occurred to him that he had $7,500 in gold and about $15,000 in notes in his pocket.

"Well, well, in spite of unnecessary expenditure and prodigal waste, one gets a bit of silver together. As it's not been an unprofitable day, altogether, I think I'll step in for a drink of whisky. But you mustn't make a habit of it Mr. Jarvis!"

THE HERPICIDE GIRL IS THANKFUL

I am always grateful for real blessings, and I know of nothing that I need to be more thankful for than Newbro's Herpicide. Thousands of ladies not only in the United States but all over the world feel the same way about it. To this wonderful scalp and hair remedy they owe their soft, long, beautiful hair.

Mary J. Terry, of Lovejoy, Ill., writes: "My hair came out until there was just a scanty cover for the scalp. I tried everything I ever heard of or read about until I finally used Herpicide. There is nothing like it. My head is now covered with new hair. I shall forever praise Herpicide."

Most hair troubles come from dandruff. Nebro's Herpicide removes this dandruff by killing the germ which causes it. It also stimulates a flow of blood which nourishes the follicles. The scalp being healthy, the hair does not come out and the new hair is allowed to grow.

There are other preparations which they say are "just as good" as Herpicide. It is not advisable to try them. Instead of doing any good they may do positive harm.

No one is ever disappointed in Newbro's Herpicide. The results are always the same, always satisfactory as is indicated by the fact that Herpicide has been sold for years and has thousands of satisfied friends. It is the only genuine, original dandruff germ destroyer. There is nothing "just as good."

NO MORE DRINK AFTER 3-DAY CURE

It Kills That Awful Craving and Desire for Liquor.

HARMLESS BUT POSITIVE.

No Bad After Effects and No Publicity in Taking Cure.

No specific for any disease was ever discovered that found ready credence. There are people today who do not believe that vaccination will prevent smallpox. When Dr. Jenner announced that the person inoculated with the virus of cow pox would be immune from smallpox the scientifc men of the day ridiculed the idea. So later when a serum was discovered which, it was claimed, would reduce the death rate of diphtheria 90 per cent, few believed it. A more recent and equally important medical discovery is that alcoholism can be cured in three days. Many scoff at the notion. But the Neal Institute company stands ready to back their discovery and will cheerfully refund the full fee paid at the end of the third day on any case where they do not effect a perfect cure. They have demonstrated the efficacy of their cure on thousands of patients. There is no more doubt that the Neal treatment will cure alcoholism in three days than that vaccination is a preventive of smallpox, or that anti-toxine will immensely lessen the fatality from diphtheria. We know these latter statements are true. Why should it not also be true that drunkenness can be cured in three days? It is convincing and irrefutable. The slave to the liquor habit who wants to be freed should investigate the statements made by the Neal Institute. He isn't asked to take anything on faith. Dr. Neal courts the most searching investigation. Why longer remain a slave to alcohol when a three days' treatment will surely free you? If you are afflicted with the drink habit and really want to be freed, or if you are interested in a friend or relative who needs treatment, write to the Neal Institute Co., corner Belknap and Seventh streets, Superior, Wis., for their free booklet giving full information and a copy of their contract. It will be mailed to you under a plain sealed envelope and everything will be strictly confidential. You can be treated at the Superior Institute, or at St. Paul, Minn., Institute, 676 Dayton avenue, or the Minneapolis, Minn., Institute, corner Fourth avenue south and Seventh street, whichever happens to be the most convenient to you.

a postcard had been written and that immediately upon its receipt by De Maranis the assassinations were planned. The informer also said that De Maranis took possession of Cuoccolo's ring for the purpose of sending it to Arena, who was in prison, as evidence that he had been avenged. Subsequently the carabineers claimed to have found the ring at the home of a woman friend of De Maranis.

Replying to questions by President Bianchi, De Maranis said that Arena had never written him. He could not recall even having met the man. He denied that he had received the ring supposed to have been taken from the hands of the dead man. As for the Cuoccolos, he did not know either of them, he said, and that at the time of their deaths he was in Naples.

De Maranis admitted that he was a usurer, but declared that he was innocent of the crimes charged. Abbatemaggio, in involving him, was satisfying a personal grudge, he said. This he explained as follows:

"Abbatemaggio was for a time my stable boy, receiving from me $15 a month. He proved a very bad young man. He stole a gold chain from my porter, assaulted the porter's sister and bit my coachman, drawing blood.

"When I heard of his foul deeds I dismissed him from my employ, saying: 'Tell that ruffian never to come into my presence again; otherwise I will cripple him with a club.' This was the cause of Abbatemaggio's rancor leading to the present attempt at a terrible revenge."

VOTES WITH DEMOCRATS

by every progressive Republican. His opponents are trying to induce Senator Cullom of Illinois, now over 80 years of age, to take the position. He was ranking member at the time Senator Elkins died. But Cullom does not desire a place which is one of hard work and responsibilities. Meanwhile Clapp's friends are active in his behalf and it is altogether probable that he will win out.

While Minnesota congressional appointments are somewhat up in the air today, it is quite probable that all old members will retain their committees except Steenerson, who was legislated out by the Democratic caucus, which put the committee on militia, of which he was chairman, out of business. Representative Miller attended the Republican caucus last night and will continue to serve on Indian affairs although Steenerson wants it. Stevens will stick to interstate and foreign commerce and military, Nye on judiciary, Volstead, public lands. Davis, Lindberg and Anderson did not attend the caucus.

on the five most important committees, as follows: Rules, 4; appropriations, 8; taxes, 9; general legislation, 9; elections, 4. That these committees contain 60 reactionaries to 17 progressives, the committee on general legislation standing 16 to 1. That the names of these reactionary standpat chairmen of the most important committees and the number of committees on which they are placed are as follows: R. C. Dunn, Virtue, 9 committees each; Pfaender, 7 committees; L. D. Brown, Fowler, 8 committees each; Congdon, Spooner, Wescott, White, Washburn, 9 committees each; C. E. Stone and MacKenzie, 10 committees each. That these committees have been controlled by said twelve members.

That twenty out of twenty-six Democrats have been constantly and continually lined up against all progressive measures by the two Democratic chairmen mentioned in this list of twelve men who have used their influence to shape the legislation—initiative and referendum, recall, corrupt practices act, direct primary—in a way acceptable to the interests having special privileges in this state. That there is no lack of proof that these committees are not only packed but jointly packed. That members of the house have boasted that they are able to hold any bill they see fit.

That it is common knowledge that throughout state and country there is a well defined political faction existing in both parties known as "standpatters" or "reactionaries," that a considerable number of this faction have been elected through the influence of the corporations and individuals enjoying special privileges.

That in this state there is a well-known combination of corporations of this character, including the railroads, the breweries, and liquor interests, the street railway companies of the three large cities, the steel company and the medical trust—Dr. Stone is a homeopathist—with other combinations and interests.

That the corporations and interests above named and known as the special interests, contributed large sums of money to the state central committee of the Republican party, of which ex-Senator E. E. Smith is chairman, for the purpose among other things of electing as many members as possible of this house favorable to the said special interests.

Representative Moriarity, as soon as the Stone resolution went over, renewed his motion that Dr. Stone be called to the bar of the house to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of the house in failing to obey a subpoena to attend a meeting of a sub-committee of the public accounts and expenditures committee.

Representative Robinson made the point of order that the charges should be in writing, and Speaker Pro Tem Lennon reserved his decision until later.

SIXTY-SECOND CONGRESS MEETS

of the things which Speaker Clark emphasized in the Democratic program as measures which would be undertaken by the majority party in the house. Speaker Clark said: "Election to the highest position of speaker is an exceptional honor for which you have my profoundest gratitude. To be a member of the house, to represent 200,000 American citizens in the more numerous branches of the greatest legislative body in the world, is an honor to which in the nature of things comparatively few men may attain. To be chosen by the representatives of 92,000,000 people to preside over their deliberations is a signal mark of your favor to which the best return is to discharge the onerus and important duties of the station to which you have assigned me with such impartiality, constancy, industry, courtesy and good temper as to expedite the public business, thereby promoting the public weal.

Co-operation Asked.

"The pleasure of being elected speaker is much enhanced by the perfect unanimity with which it is conferred by my party fellows and the universal good will with which it is accepted by our co-laborers in the minority. Coming in the speakership under these fortunate circumstances, the hearty co-operation of all members of whatever political persuasion is hereby earnestly invoked in maintaining order and decorum and in placing upon the statute books laws for the good of the country and the whole country working out promptly, patiently, courageously, wisely and patriotically those measures necessary for the betterment of governmental methods and for the amelioration of the conditions under which we live.

"My Democratic brethren, coupled with the joy of once more seeing a house, a large majority of which is of my own political faith, is a keen sense of our responsibility to our country and our kind. It is an old adage worthy of acceptation that where much is given, much is required.

"After sixteen years of exclusion from power in the house and fourteen years of exclusion from power in every department of the government, we are restored to power in the house of representatives and in that alone. We are on this day put upon trial and the duty devolves upon us to demonstrate, not so much by fine phrases as by good works, that we are worthy of the confidence imposed in us by the voters of the land and that we are worthy of their wider confidence. We could not if we would, and we would not if we could, escape this severe test. We will not shirk our duty. We shrink not from the responsibility. That we will prove equal to the emergency in which we find ourselves, there can be no doubt, and the way to accomplish that is to fulfill with courage, intelligence and patriotism the promises made before election in order to win the election. By discharging our duty thoroughly and well, subordinating personal desires to principle and personal ambition to an exalted love of country, we will not only receive the indorsement of the people, but, what is far better, we will deserve their indorsement. Chief among these promises were:

What Was Promised.

"An honest, intelligent revision of the tariff downward in order to give every American citizen an equal chance in the race of life and to hamper none unduly by special favor or privilege; to reduce the cost of living by eradicating the enormities and cruelties of the present tariff bill and to raise the necessary revenue to support the government. Bills are already far advanced in preparation looking to the accomplishment of these beneficent ends.

"Second—The passage of a resolution submitting to the states for ratification a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States senators by the popular vote. This resolution has already been introduced and will soon be passed by the house. Let us hope that we will send it to the senate by the unanimous vote of the house.

"Three—Such changes in the rules of the house as are necessary for the thorough and intelligent consideration of measures for the public good, several of which changes are accomplished facts. If other changes are deemed wise, they will be promptly made.

"I congratulate the house and the country and particularly do I congratulate the members of the committee on ways and means, upon the success of the important and far-reaching experiment of selecting committees through the instrumentality of a committee, an experiment touching which dire predictions were made and concerning the operation of which grave doubts were entertained even by some honest reformers.

"Four—Economy in the public expense that labor may be lightly burdened. The literal fulfillment of that promise which so nearly affects the comfort and happiness of millions we have begun—and we began at the proper place—by cutting down the running expenses of the house by more than $188,000 per annum. Economy, like charity, should begin at home. That's where we began. We cannot with straight faces and clear conscience reform expenses elsewhere unless we reform them here at the fountain-head.

"The Democratic caucus deserves well of the country for taking this long and important step in the direction of economy all along the line.

Control Purse Strings.

"The Constitution gives the house the practical control of the purse-strings of the country and the house should insist, resolutely and firmly, on exercising that control to the end that the appropriation bills may be reduced to the needs of the government economically and effectively administered. It is our duty to provide every dollar needed for the proper and economical conduct of the government, but it is equally our duty to prevent waste and extravagance in public expenditures, for we should never forget that it is a difficult task for millions of families to live now in decency and comfort. Surely it is the part of wisdom, statesmanship, humanitarianism and patriotism to legislate so as to reduce their burdens to a minimum. The resuscitation of the Holman rule will help along in this matter. No good citizen desires to cripple the government in any legitimate function, but no good citizen desires that the people be loaded down with unnecessary taxes.

"Five—The publication of campaign contributions and disbursements before the election. The bill to accomplish that desired reform has been prepared and introduced. It will be speedily passed by the house. The average citizen, whatever his politics is absolutely honest. He demands honesty and cleanliness in politics; he believes that too much money is spent in election matters; and he proposes to put an end to it. As the representatives of the average man it is our duty to carry out his patriotic wishes in that regard to the end that all men desirous of serving the public may have a fair chance in politics and to the end that this mighty republic the present hope of the world, may not be destroyed by corruption in elections.

"Six—The admission of both Arizona and New Mexico as states. I violate no confidence in stating that so far as the house is concerned they will be speedily admitted and they will be admitted together.

Promises Will Be Fulfilled.

"These are a few of the things which we promised. We are not only going to fulfill them; we have already begun the great task. What we have done is only an earnest of what we will do. This day we report progress to the American people. The rest will follow.

"No man is fit to be a law-giver for a great people who yields to the demands and solicitations of the few having access to his ear but is forgetful of that vast multitude who may never hear his voice or look into his face.

"I suggest to my fellow members on both sides of the big aisle—which is the line of demarcation betwixt us as political partisans, but not as American citizens or American representatives—that he serves his party best who serves his country best.

"I am now ready to take the oath and I ask that it be administered by Mr. Talbott of Maryland."

ANGLO-JAPANESE TREATY IS SIGNED

Ratifications Exchanged at Banquet Given American Minister at Tokio.

Tokio, April 4.—Ratifications of the American-Japanese commercial treaty were exchanged this afternoon, following a luncheon given at the palace by Emperor Mutsuhito in honor of American Ambassador O'Brien. Premier Katsura and Foreign Minister Komura were present at the luncheon, preceding which the emperor received Mr. O'Brien in private audience.

During the audience his majesty congratulated the diplomat upon the share which he had in the negotiations which made closer the relations between the two countries and entrusted him with a verbal message for President Taft in which the American executive is complimented upon conclusion of a treaty on which Japan places the highest possible value.

After the luncheon the emperor personally handed to Mr. O'Brien an English translation of his formal message to President Taft.

The Anglo-Japanese commercial treaty has been signed and will be published tomorrow.

SOCIAL STATUS NOT CONSIDERED

Daughter of Yale Professor Is Snubbed at Naval Academy.

Annapolis, Md., April 4.—Refusing to deny the reported affront to Miss Mary H. Beers, daughter of Prof. Beers of Yale faculty, when her middy escort was warned not to bring her to hops, officers of the Naval academy declared that no matter what the social status of a girl, no matter whether she was in society or not, if she occupied a position as nurse girl in an officer's household she would most positively be persona non grata at Naval academy functions. This is a hypothetical case.

Although reports of unquestioned authenticity place the reprimanding of young Midshipman Burtis as an official act from an officer of the navy, as such Lieut.-Com. D. W. Wurstbaugh, aid to Supt. Bowyer, through whose hands the business of the academy goes, says officially that he knows nothing of the affair, it was all told to him first by newspaper men and through the press. Com. E. Koontz, commandant of midshipman, who is reported to be the officer that administered the rebuke to the young middy, when asked if he would say that no midshipman had been given a talking to as reported of Midshipman Burtis, replied: "No, I will not say so. I will not say anything."

With respect to the reports from New Haven that Prof. Beers, father of the young woman, and her influential friends would endeavor to obtain an investigation of the whole affair from the navy department, Annapolis is awaiting the outcome, but nothing officially is yet known of this side of the matter here.

May Investigate.

Washington, April 4.—The Navy department may make an investigation of the social boycott alleged to have been declared against Miss Catherine Beers, daughter of Prof. Henry A. Beers of Yale, following a naval academy hop in Annapolis a few nights ago. It will be done if Prof. Beers asks for it, but as yet he has made no complaint.

Miss Beers is a graduate of Pratt Institute of Domestic Science and a friend of the wife of Lieut. W. T. Tarrant. Last summer Miss Beers went to live with her and shared her household duties. She has been a member of the Tarrant family since, and was always treated, according to Mrs. Tarrant, as one of the family. Fellow classmen of Midshipman Burtis inferred that Miss Beers was a mere servant.

"SPECIAL" NEARS HOME

Duluth's Potato Train Will Arrive in the City Wednesday Night.

Has Proved Very Popular With Farmers Along the Route.

The potato special is at Alborn, Burnett and Adolph today. A large number of settlers have farms near the three settlements, which are distinctly agricultural, and the special is expected to do effective work among them. Three more communities in which agriculture is the single interest, Island, Floodwood and Wrenshall, are to be visited by the special tomorrow and the hard-working speakers will return to Duluth tomorrow evening.

The special will be spotted near the Union depot and will lie there all day Thursday. Many farmers from the various communities near Duluth are expected to come to the city for Thursday's sessions. Morning, afternoon and evening, the exhibits will be open for inspection and the speakers will hold forth in the audience cars.

The exhibits and the addresses are not alone for the farmers. City dwellers will find much at the train to interest them. In fact, the exhibit as it is now constituted is astounding to the Duluth people who have visited the train during its trip through the northern part of the county. Many Duluth people are expected to visit the train Thursday and their visit should be profitable if they are at all interested in agriculture.

Great Success.

The potato special is a great success. It "went" from the first and the officers of the Commercial club, experts in agricultural instruction, agricultural journalists and the farmers themselves are delighted with the novel method of carrying instruction to the tillers of the soil. The exhibit of potatoes and other farm products has been of great value to the farmers, who have compared their products with the products on display. The poultry instruction by Prof. Chapman has been especially interesting and great work was done in the range towns by A. B. Hostetter of the Commercial club, who specialized on the home garden idea, which was given surprising advancement in Duluth by the visit of George H. Maxwell.

Prof. Cooper, supervisor of demonstration farms of the state agricultural school, was in Duluth yesterday, en route to Minneapolis after a visit to the potato special at Meadowlands Sunday. Prof. Cooper was well pleased with the work the special has done and said that it is the most effective means of instructing farmers that has been devised in a district of isolated communities.

Meetings at Coleraine.

Coleraine, Minn. April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The potato special with its exhibit and corps of lecturers spent the afternoon and evening here yesterday. Many farmers from the surrounding country were present and showed the liveliest kind of interest in what was said. Some of the pioneer farmers near here brought in fine specimens of potatoes. Not only the farmers, but a number of the villagers who are interested in home gardening and poultry raising attended the lectures.

In the afternoon Prof. Olson addressed the pupils of the public schools at the auditorium. He was followed by "Farmer" Brown of Elk River, Mr. Hostetter of Duluth, and Mr. Chapman, the poultry expert. They all gave practical addresses and awakened much enthusiasm among the children in home gardening and poultry raising.

ATTACK MINISTER.

Two Wisconsin Women Take Active Hand in Church Row.

Eau Claire, Wis., April 4.—The bitterness of the strife in the St. Trinity Lutheran congregation at Fall Creek, which resulted in the congregation splitting into two factions and warring for the possession of the church property, and which further resulted in the Fuhrman faction bringing suit in the circuit court against the Volz faction for possession of the church, seems to have revived with the present calendar ready for trial.

As Rev. H. J. Fuhrman, leader of one faction and center of the strife, was walking homeward Sunday night, he was set upon by two women who bore him to the ground and proceeded to give him a beating. He called for help, and the village constable hurried to the scene. The women, realizing the unequal odds confronting them, fled in the darkness.

Similar attacks and scenes of near-violence occurred a year ago, Mr. Fuhrman being attacked by the women of the other faction, and one time being pushed off the church steps as he was entering to hold services.

Blake, with men giving the names of John Smith, Charles Graves, John Schumacher, John Anderson, Andrew Horton, William Johnson, John Sims and Jack Emerson, were arrested on the second floor at 30 Sixth street south last Tuesday night. Several were playing cards.

"Best Stimulant in the World."

Mr. Wm. H. Hoff Is Never Without a Bottle of This Wonderful Remedy in His Home—It Is a Necessity to His Health and Vigor.

In his letter he says: "For over five years I have been using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I have found it to be the best stimulant that I have ever tried. I am never without a bottle of it in the house. I hope that this unsolicited testimonial will be appreciated by all suffering ones and all those in need of a fine tonic stimulant." Wm. H. Hoff, 2874 Amber St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is one of the greatest strength builders and tonic stimulants known to medicine. It strengthens and fortifies the system against the attacks of disease and dangerous germs and assists in building up the weakened tissues in a gradual, healthy, natural manner. When taken at meal time it stimulates the mucous surfaces and little glands of the stomach to a healthy action, thereby improving the digestion and assimilaton of the food and giving to the system its full proportion of nourishment. This action upon the digestive process is of great importance as it brings to all the tissues and organs of the body the nutriment necessary to their sustenance and indirectly to the whole system strength and vigor. It makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong and vigorous.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only Whiskey that was taxed by the Government as a medicine during the Spanish-American war.

All druggists, grocers and dealers or direct, $1.00 a large bottle. Refuse substitutes and imitations, they are injurious. Send for free medical booklet containing testimonials and rare common-sense rules for health, and free advice.

WEST END

MAY GRADE TWENTY-SECOND AVENUE THIS YEAR.

Twenty-second avenue west between Superior and Fourth street, may be graded this year, if the plans of the property owners do not fail through. There is a movement on foot to have this avenue improved and business men of the West end are heartily in accord with the idea.

At the present time, Twenty-second avenue west is the only avenue between Garfield and Twenty-sixth that has not been graded. The community in the vicinity of Twenty-second avenue has had its share of the prosperity and growth of the West end and several new residences and business houses have recently been built.

West end people want a good thoroughfare from Superior street to Third street on Twenty-second avenue and it is possible that the improvement may be carried beyond Third street at least to Fourth.

The grading of Twenty-second avenue will probably have but little connection with the cut-off which the street car company last year proposed to build from Superior to Third streets to eliminate the climbing of the Piedmont avenue hill. The council last year granted the street car company the right to build either on Twenty-second or Twenty-first avenues west, but the traction company has not announced any improvement of this kind for this year.

Last year for a time, there was considerable unnecessary feeling among the hillsiders and the business men over the matter of the proposed cut-off. The hillsiders seemed to fear that the service on upper Third street and Piedmont avenue would be impaired should the cars be run on Superior street after reaching Twenty-first or Twenty-second avenues west.

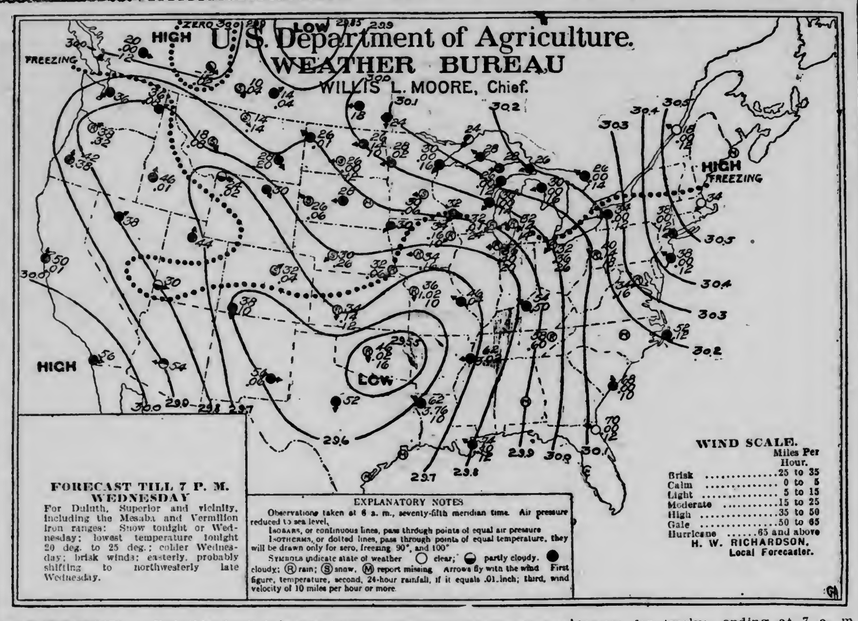
OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



SNOW

Duluth's April is here with its raw winds and chilling temperature. Winter's icy hand is in the mixing of the concoction that the weather man is dishing up just now. Snow was promised for last night, but it didn't come. Today is cold, disagreeable and threatening. The snow prediction is repeated for tonight and a forecast of colder weather for tomorrow is coupled with it. The premature low-shoe wearers are wailing and there is no sunshine this side of the clouds.

Damp, threatening weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:41 and it will set at 6:41 this evening, giving twelve hours and fifty minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours light to heavy rains fell throughout middle states and the South and light rain or snow over the Northwest and Pacific states in connection with disturbances central over Oklahoma and Saskatchewan. Temperatures are somewhat higher over Southeastern states, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Western Ontario. Much colder and zero weather has developed over Alberta in connection with a high pressure condition moving over the extreme Northwest. This turn to colder may reach the Head of the Lakes Wednesday or Wednesday night."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, April 4.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Upper Michigan—Snow tonight and Wednesday.

Wisconsin—Rain or snow tonight and Wednesday.

Minnesota—Unsettled with snow tonight or Wednesday; colder Wednesday.

North Dakota—Snow tonight or Wednesday.

Montana—Snow and much colder tonight; Wednesday cloudy.

South Dakota—Snow tonight or Wednesday; colder Wednesday and in north and west portions tonight.

Shippers' forecast: Protect thirty-six hour shipments of perishables against temperature 10 to 20 deg. above zero in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Western Wisconsin.

CO-OPERATION IN MISSION WORK WILL PREVENT WAR

So long as the United States and Great Britain are found in locked arms in an effort to spread the Christian religion, they will not be found with locked horns in an international situation, said the Rev. W. T. Stackhouse, general secretary of the Baptist Laymen's Missionary movement in the North and West in a speech before 150 men of the Baptist churches at the Head of the Lakes who attended a banquet last evening in the First Baptist church, First street and Ninth avenue east.

War between the two great English speaking nations was practically an impossibility, declared the speaker. They have accomplished 85 per cent of the missionary work of the world. The expenditure in foreign missionary work of a hundredth part of the vast sums which are being utilized to build battleships and implements of war would be sufficient to make war an impossibility, he asserted.

The speaker said Christian men are responding to the appeal of missions as never before and are applying to the problem "sanctified business judgments and methods." The question of missions is momentous, he indicated while believing that mountains would become mole hills when the problem was intelligently comprehended and systematically handled.

The gospel, declared Mr. Stackhouse, can be the means of solving any problem. He pointed out certain questions in the political, commercial and social worlds which could be settled by the application of biblical teachings. He thought as President Taft, that "Christianity and the spread of Christianity are the only hope of civilization."

"If you would suppress crime," asserted the speaker, "teach Christ."

Dr. Lemuel Call Barnes, field secretary of the American Baptist Home Missionary society, depicted the changes which have taken place and which are now in progress of evolution in non-Christian countries and which make this an advantageous period in which to carry the gospel to them. He placed special stress upon the great political and social movements in China and declared that Christianity had developed and was developing as true martyrs to its cause as any in earlier centuries.

Rev. E. N. Pope, superintendent of Baptist missions in Minnesota, talked about missionary work in this state. Rev. A. C. Bowers, a missionary who formerly labored in India, told of his work abroad.

The banqueters adopted resolutions recommending that the missionary endeavorers of the Baptist churches at the Head of the Lakes should be unified and systematized, that missionary committees should be appointed in each church and 10 cents a week should be collected from each member for mission purposes. Last night's banquet was a part of the campaign in the interdenominational work of the Laymen's Missionary movemelt which is trying to evangelize the world in this generation. The speakers will visit St. Paul and Minneapolis in the interest of the Baptist branch of the movement.

It is probable that a governing mission board will be appointed for the churches at the Head of the Lakes as a resolution to that effect was adopted by the meeting.

REV. W. T. STACKHOUSE,
Who Says Co-operation of Nations in Missionary Work Will Bring Universal Peace.

LAWYERS PREPARE MEMORIAL TO LATE JUDGE JAGGARD

The committee of Minnesota lawyers, which consists of James D. Shearer, Hugh T. Halbert, A. E. Boyesen and Thomas S. Wood, drew up the following memorial to the late Judge Jaggard at the recent meeting of the committee held at St. Paul:

"Edwin Ames Jaggard was born June 21, 1859, at Altoona, Pa., and was the son of Clement and Anna Jane (Wright) Jaggard. In 1879 he was graduated from Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa. Three years later he secured his degree of bachelor of laws from the University of Pennsylvania. He came to Minnesota in 1882 and engaged in active legal practice in the city of St. Paul. In 1898, he was eleteed a judge of the district court of Ramsey county and served one term on that bench. While a district judge in 1904 he was elected an associate justice of this court and was re-elected at the general election held in November, 1910, remaining a member of this court until his death. In 1887 he was chosen to succeed the late Senator Cushman K. Davis as lecturer in the St. Paul Medical college on medical jurisprudence. This college was subsequently merged with the medical department of the university and he became a member of the faculty of the law department of that institution. He remained an honored and deeply beloved member of this faculty until his death.

"He was author of 'Jaggard on Torts,' a recognized authority throughout the country. In recent years he published 'Jaggard on Taxation in Minnesota and the Dakotas' and 'Jaggard on Taxation in Iowa.' He mastered the intricacies of this technical subject. He was also the author of articles on 'Malicious prosecution and False Imprisonment' and the 'Historical Anomalies in the Law of Libel and Slander.'

"He was married in 1890 to Anna May Averill, the daughter of Gen. and Mrs. John T. Averill, pioneer residents of Minnesota.

"Few judges have been so close to the people. They knew him and loved him as a man. His presence was always a cheer. He was sympathetic and responsive to every human appeal. Endowed with the spirit of unfailing kindness, he was the personification of generosity. He had a genius for companionship. Friendliness was his birthright. A spirit of infinite patience and forbearance tempered his relations with others. He always tried to build, not destroy. He spread the mantle of charity over human failings and shortcomings. Rarely has a man so completely entered into the life of this state. He was a welcome guest at every public gathering. In his addresses, he was both humorous and humanly philosophical. He was ardently fond of outdoor sports. His nature craved the outdoor life. This trait in a judge appealed to the hearts of the people. It broadened his vision and gave him a far-reaching perspective.

"He was a scholarly author of wide research. An able judge, of the closest application. He had a brilliant mind, which intuitively turned toward investigation. His method of reasoning was scientific, and his opinions were the result of unflagging industry, whose goal was the complete mastery of every subject.

Whether Fat or Thin Let Thy Face Be Fair

(From The London Gazette.)

"A woman is not responsible for the contour of her face. She must be stout or slender, tall or short, light or dark—as Nature intended her to be.

"But she is responsible for her complexion. She decides whether it is clear or 'muddy,' smooth or early wrinkled, free from superfluous hair or covered with a downy growth that a college youth would envy.

"If she would have a face fair and free from blemish, let her forever put aside paint, powder and cosmetic. A simple solution made by dissolving a small original package of mayatone in eight ounces of witch hazel is all she is required to use.

"Massage the face, arms and neck with this solution once a day and you soon have have beautifully soft and clear skin, free from discoloration, spot and blotch; wrinkles will be prevented and there will be no annoying hairs."

NEW RULES ARE RATIFIED

Council Approves Action Taken By the Plat Commission.

Board of Public Works and Engineer Want an Automobile.

The city council last evening ratified the rules for new divisions laid down by the plat commission, as they were given in The Herald last evening.

The resolution introduced last week by Alderman Scott providing that the council will not approve any plat in which the average frontage of the lots is less than fifty feet was withdrawn at his request.

The united action of the plat commission and the council practically precludes the future possibility of houses being crowded closely together in the new tracts which will be put on the real estate market of Duluth in the future. No plat will be approved in which the average frontage of the lots is less than thirty-three feet, which will make it almost impossible to divide the lot or to build two houses on a single lot.

The plat commission and the council will hereafter also require that for each 40-acre tract platted, the city be dedicated a square or rectangle about the size of the ordinary city block to be used for playground or park purposes. Another requirement is that all plats be accompanied by blue prints showing the topography of the division.

The board of public works and the engineering department made a strong plea for the purchase of an automobile for the combined use of the departments. They stated that experience has shown that the use of a horse is of very little benefit, as such a wide territory has to be covered. It is claimed that if the different jobs are to be properly supervised an automobile is necessary, affording the only available means of rapid transportation.

The contracts awarded by the board of public works for cement and wooden walks in the city were not approved. Some of the aldermen wished to investigate the prices bid and the matter was laid over for a week as to the cement walks, while the board of public works was directed to readvertise for bids for plank walk. Only one man submitted bids for the laying of plank walk in all parts of the city.

A petition was received asking that the improvement of Twenty-first avenue east between London road and First street be postponed. The petitioners stated that when the avenue is paved it should be to the top of the hill, or at least to Fifth street. They also stated that there is still some underground work to do, and that it is advisable to do this a year before the pavement is laid. The matter was postponed for action until next week.

Residents on Sixth avenue west asked that that avenue be not paved between First street and Mesaba avenue. Their chief objection was the fact that the government has acquired a considerable amount of frontage and that the government does not pay street assessments. The Second avenue east pavement was also laid over two more weeks.

Chief of Police C. H. Troyer notified the council that he has appointed Dr. Ignatius J. Murphy of the health department as police surgeon at a salary of $50 a month. Dr. Murphy has been acting in that capacity for several months past.

Following the report of the board of public works, that body was ordered to go ahead with the improvement of the Hartley road, at Woodland between Stormoway and Victoria streets. The road is about three-quarters of a mile long.

Alderman Gilbson asked that a report be submitted on a sanitary trunk sewer to drain the district between Thirty-eighth and Forty-second avenues west and from Eighth street to the bay.

The amendments to the Canadian Northern franchise were laid over for a week. Objection was raised to the part which will enable the road to place a tier of posts in Fifty-ninth avenue west to support the trestle across the highway.

The ordinance authorizing the issuance of $30,000 in certificates of indebtedness in anticapation of the collection of the storm sewer and street intersection fund was passed. This will enable the city to proceed with some work which would otherwise be delayed.

An amendment to the building ordinance fixing the fire limits was passed to enable the street railway company to erect a frame waiting station at the incline at Seventh avenue west. The frame is used as the vibration is too great to allow of the successful use of brick.

The bonds for the different city officers were submitted and approved.

BIG JEFFERSON DAY BANQUET

Planned By Minnesota Democrats for April 13 at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., April 4.—Minnesota Democrats are planning a big Jefferson day banquet celebration in St. Paul on April 13. Congressman W. S. Hammond who has at last become something more than a lay figure in congress through the success of the Democrats in the last election, will be one of the chief speakers. Some prominent outside Democrat will also be invited. Efforts have been made to find out if Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey could be present, but he has an engagement in Indianapolis on that date. Former Congressman C. A. Towne, the silver-tongued orator who formerly resided in Duluth, would have been invited had it been possible for him to come. It will also be impossible for William Jennings Bryan to be present. The affair is being arranged under the direction of National Committeeman F. B. Lynch, owing to the fact that the Democratic state central committee, due to the departure of Frank Day from the state, has no chairman. The affair will probably witness the launching of the boom for W. S. Hammond for governor.

RESULTS OF ELECTIONS

Michigan Elects Republican Ticket and Three Cities Go "Wet."

Socialists Make Clean Sweep of the Field at Butte, Mont.

Detroit, Mich., April 4.—Calhoun, Jackson and Genessee counties changed from "dry" to "wet" by yesterday's elections and Iosco and Montcalm shifted from "wet" to "dry." The fight was one of the closest ever waged in Michigan since the local option contests began but the "wets" are jubilant over gaining the cities of Jackson, Battle Creek and Flint, which are contained in the three counties which the wets captured from their opponents.

The Republican state ticket was elected by a safe majority and the city of Flint elected a Socialist mayor, John A. C. Menton winning by a plurality of 400 to 500 over Edwin T. Atwood, Republican.

Following are the state officials elected: Justices of the supreme court—Russell C. Ostrander, Lansing, re-elected and John E. Bird of Adrian. Justice Bird was appointed to the bench several months ago to succeed Judge Robert M. Montgomery when the latter was given a place on the commerce court in Washington.

Regents of the university—Benjamin S. Hanchell of Grand Rapids and Lucius L. Hubbard of Houghton. Mr. Hanchell, by appointment, succeeded Judge Loyal E. Knappen, appointed judge of the United States circuit court of appeals in Cincinnati.

Superintendent of public instruction—Luther L. Wright of Ironwood, re-elected.

Member of the state board of education—Thomas W. Nadal of Olivet.

Members of the state board of agriculture—John W. Beaumont of Detroit and Jason Woodman of Paw Paw.

It is difficult to estimate the majority given to the Republican state ticket. In counties where a local option fight brought out the voters, the majorities run up toward those of four years ago when the total was more than 100,000. But in many counties the vote was so light as to indicate that the total majority for the ticket might fall below the normal Republican majority of 40,000 to 50,000.

Late last night the anti-saloon league was only conceding that one county, Genessee had changed from the "dry" to the "wet" column and the majorities in all three counties of Genessee, Jackson and Calhoun are estimated below 100. Of the "wet" counties that voted, Montmorency's "wet" majority is estimated at 5 votes and a contest is anticipated.

Socialists Carry Butte, Mont.

Butte, Mont., April 4.—In yesterday's election in this city, the socialists swept the field, electing mayor, city treasurer, police judge and five out of nine aldermen. Two years ago the Democrats elected every candidate in Silver Bow county. Yesterday's upset is considered a rebuke to the Democratic administration, following an expose of alleged shortage as disclosed by a recent ten-year audit of the financial affairs of Butte.

Socialists in Walkerville, a suburb of Butte, elected two of three aldermen.

Rev. L. D. Duncan, Unitarian minister and a Socialist, is elected mayor of Butte, over J. J. Quinn, Democrat, by a plurality of 1,824, the biggest plurality ever given a mayor here. Duncan carried every ward except one.

Thomas J. Boorher, who attracted national attention at a Western Federation of Miners' convention in Denver two years ago by his remarks on the American flag, was elected police judge, and Daniel Shevlin was elected city treasurer. B. H. McCarter, Democratic candidate and incumbent, who according to the audit, owes the city about $12,000, was a poor third in the contest for treasurer.

Helena elected one Socialist alderman, the first Socialist ever elected to office there. Of the remaining six aldermen in Helena, the Democrats secured two and the Republicans four.

Winona Elects Democrat.

Winona, Minn., April 4.—Julius R. Schroth, Democrat, was yesterday elected mayor of Winona over William E. Hamilton, independent and reform candidate, by 600 majority.

FLOOR LEADER OF MINORITY

Representative James R. Mann Unanimously Chosen By Republicans.

Washington, April 4—Representative James R. Mann of Illinois was unanimously chosen candidate for speaker and floor leader of the Republicans in the house of representatives at a caucus last night. He was proposed to the caucus by Former Speaker Joseph G. Cannon and received the support of the regulars and those insurgents who were present.

More than a dozen insurgents were not present at the caucus. In the afternoon the insurgents held a meeting at which forty-six were either present or accounted for. For more than four hours they discussed the party leadership and the method of filling committee assignments.

While a majority of those present favored Mann as party leader and approved the plan of having a committee on committees to fill the Republican places, no definite action was taken on either of these proposals.

The caucus proceedings were harmonious on all points except the method of selecting the minority members of the standing committees of the house. On this proposition there was a clean-cut difference of opinion between those who had advocated the appointment of the committees by Mr. Mann and those who wanted to follow the Democratic plan of having a special committee to select the other committees.

Advocated By Cannon.

Former Speaker Cannon was one of those who strongly advocated the election of the minority committee members by the Republican floor leader. In a characteristic speech to the caucus, he reviewed his own eight years as speaker, and pointed out the satisfactory results which he believed had been obtained by placing upon one man the responsibility for selecting the members of the committees. He expressed the belief that better committee assignments would be made by this method than through a committee on committees.

The proposal to put the appointive power in Mr. Mann was submitted to the caucus by Mr. Olmstead of Pennsylvania, one of the regular Republican leaders. The substitute motion calling for a committee of seven Republicans headed by Mr. Mann to act as a committee on committees, was referred by Mr. Good of Iowa, an insurgent.

After a lengthy debate the caucus voted down a plan similar to the Democratic method of making committee appointments through a special committee. It placed in the hands of Mr. Mann authority to name the Republican members of the standing committees. A substitute plan calling for the special committee was voted down by 79 to 33, but the Republicans present are left free to take whatever action they desired in the house in supporting or opposing a rule providing for a committee on committees.

Republicans Make Protest.

The caucus was marked by the first protest of the Republican minority against the action of the Democrats in dividing up the committee places. Mr. Mann presented to the caucus a lengthy protest against the method adopted by the Democrats of increasing the number of members on the fifteen leading standing committees with proportionately increasing the number of places given to the minority party.

The caucus selected Mr. Currier of New Hampshire as permanent chairman and Mr. Kendall of Iowa, an insurgent, as secretary. Mr. Dwight of New York, was again nominated for Republican whip of the house. The caucus endorsed all of the elective officers who have served in the Republican house. None of these will be re-elected, however, except the chaplain, Rev. Henry N. Coudon, who has been chosen in caucus by the Democrats.

Chairman Underwood of the Democratic ways and means committee will, as the result of tonight's action by the Republicans, confer with Mr. Mann as to the filling of the Republican places on all of the committees. Two members of the house have the unique distinction of having taken part in neither the Republican nor the Democratic caucuses. One is Mr. Berger of Milwaukee, Socialist, and the other Theron Akin of New York, elected as "Independent Democrat." The Democrats have decided to give both of them committee assignments irrespective of the two large parties in the house.

DULUTH STUDENT HIT IN THE NOSE

Member of University Faculty Takes a Punch at L. E. Burg.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. E. Burg of Duluth, a freshman academic student at the state university, is nursing an injured nose as a result of an encounter with a professor of the university. Burg, who rooms at 425 Twelfth avenue southeast, has been at outs with the faculty member for some time and matters came to a head Sunday when the professor, who rooms at the same place, called him an idiot.

The trouble first arose over a joke played by two co-eds at the boarding house. They secured the mail from the postoffice, including a letter for another member of the faculty. Wishing to tantalize him, they withheld the letter and finally placed it under the carpet on the stairway.

When they went to find it, it had slipped under and Burg volunteered to recover it.

While he was tearing up the carpet with a hatchet, the belligerent professor appeared and insinuated that Burg had been responsible for the trick. Burg resented the insinuation and the professor told him to drop the hatchet before he hit him. He followed the threat with a stiff right to the nose. Burg grappled with the professor, but the landlady appeared and ordered them to behave. Burg had an operation performed on his nose last Christmas, which left it in a delicate condition and the blow colored his eyes.

REGULATE BUILDINGS, TOO.

As far as it goes, the proposal of the city plat commission to insist that all lots in subdivisions hereafter to be added to the city shall be at least thirty-three feet wide is excellent. So are the other provisions proposed by the commission. But there is another step that ought to be taken—a step that the commission omitted to take because it had no authority to act in the matter—and that is the regulation of the distance that shall intervene between buildings.

One of the first things the stranger in Duluth notices and comments upon is the way in which residences and flat-buildings are crowded together. In many places there is not even room for a small child to squeeze through between the walls. The result has been a high insurance rate, poor ventilation in the rooms opening upon these narrow slits, gloomy rooms, and all the bad features that naturally accompany such conditions.

To demand that the conditions in those parts of the city already built up should be remedied would mean an enormous expense. It probably would not be found practicable to order any such readjustment of property. But in the parts of the city yet to be built up, whether in additions not even platted as yet or in the sections where houses are scattered, it would not only be possible, but it is the duty of the city to demand that there be a decent distance between buildings.

The necessity for such regulation of building arises not alone from the sense of civic good looks. Crowded houses or other buildings never have an inviting appearance. They cannot help but remind the onlooker of a prison. But far beyond the matter of mere appearance must be considered the sanitary and moral effects of decent distances between dwellings, as well as the matter of safety. Let a fire get a good start in any building where there is practically no space between outside walls and nothing could stop it until the whole row had been swept away. Insurance companies realize this, and put their premiums correspondingly high.

The city should regulate the distances between buildings. Such action is necessary to insure light and air in the homes, and light and air in the homes are necessary to good health and right living. The idea is not new. It is in force in other cities, and it proves welcome to everybody concerned, wherever it is put into force. The council did well to adopt the proposals of the plat commission. It should add this feature to them, making the restriction applicable in every part of the city where dwellings may yet be erected.

IRREVERENCE AND BUSINESS.

"True irreverence," wrote Mark Twain, "is disrespect for another man's god." His definition is hardly open to dispute, since no person can be irreverent toward that which he himself regards as sacred. The very fact of his holding that attitude toward the object prevents his being irreverent toward it. But there are some acts that, while they may not be actually irreverent, so violate the popular sense of what is right and fitting, and infringe so violently upon what most people regard as sacred things, that there ought to be some way of putting a stop to them.

An instance in point is the action of a liquor firm in Portland, Or., in placing in its window, surrounded by bottles of various kinds of liquors, an open Bible with a big magnifying glass over the paragraph in which St. Paul advises Timothy to "drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine often infirmities." To make the reference the plainer, the text is copied on a large card suspended in the same window, among cards bearing quotations from noted authors in which the qualities of liquor as a medicine or a beverage are spoken of in laudatory terms.

Even though one may not be inclined to give to the Bible the great meed of reverence which many entertain for it, there is no justification for such an act as this of the liquor house. In fact, it is a flagrant violation of the simplest canons of good sense and common decency. To make use of the thing that to many people is sacred to accomplish an end which it is the plain purpose of that thing to oppose is, to say the least, in rotten bad taste.

We have a federal law forbidding the use of the flag of our country for advertising purposes. To extend the laws of the country to forbid the use of religious objects for commercial ends would perhaps be going too far.

We guarantee to all religions equal rights in this country, so far as they do not offend the demands of morals and decency, as those demands are understood by a majority of the people. But that guaranty should not be made the basis for abusing the objects sacred to any religion, or for trampling on the religious sensibilities of any class of citizens.

As far as our government recognizes any religion as true and authentic, it gives that recognition to Christianity. It is distinctly a violation of the spirit of the American nation to use the great text-book of that religion for commercial purposes, and particularly when those purposes are of a character contrary to the teachings of Christianity.

There may be no way to reach these liquor men under the law, but the force of public opinion and the laws of decency and respectability ought to be enough to force them to abandon the kind of thing they have put into practice.

MANUFACTURES AND RECIPROCITY.

In connection with the present discussions as to the Canadian reciprocity agreement and what it will mean to the farmers of the Northwestern states, The Herald invites the attention of the farmers and others to the following, taken from the records of the United States senate:

Canada has not yet reached the stage of industrial development where she is a heavy manufacturer for export of articles which would serve the farmer. Yet, in negotiating the agreement, wherever there were manufactures that were demanded by agriculturists, the American farmer was given the opportunity to get them on the very best terms. The following are examples:

The United States rate is reduced from 45 to 20 per cent on the following agricultural implements: Windmills, hay loaders, potato diggers, fodder or feed cutters, grain crushers, fanning mills, hay teddefs, farm rollers, manure spreaders, and parts of the foregoing. Our rates on farm wagons, as well as on traction engines, are lowered by from one-third to one-half. On repair parts of miscellaneous farm machinery our rate comes down by two-thirds, or from 45 to 15 per cent.

A witness from the National Grange stated before the senate finance committee that he knew of no large concern in Canada which manufactures agricultural implements. The Massey-Harris company is one of the largest manufacturers of harvesting machinery in the world and is a competitor of the International Harvester company. Its works are at various points in the Province of Ontario. The Cockshutt Plow company of Brantford is one of the largest plow manufacturing companies either in the United States or Canada. It does an export business all over the world, and is increasing its trade with the United States. At Hamilton there are large manufactories of agricultural implements.

Cream separators are manufactured by Canada in large quantities, but are excluded from our market by a duty of 45 per cent. In the face of remonstrances by American manufacturers, this duty has been abolished, and henceforth Dominion makers of cream separators will sell their product to our farmers.

In the manufacture of wire fencing Canada has made considerable progress, and therefore galvanized wire and barbed wire are made free by the agreement, for the benefit of our rural population.

Salt cake and soda ash are made free by this country under the agreement, with a view to reducing the cost of fertilizers.

The farmer, above all else, however, has been demanding for years that the timber resources of Canada, and especially in so far as available for building homes, shall be admitted into the United States free. This is done under the agreement.

THE DOUBLE RED CROSS.

Under the name of "The Double Red Cross Crusade," Dr. Harvey Dee Brown, state lecturer for the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, has started a movement in connection with the wider field of the association, to be carried on among the school children of that state. He has been holding meetings recently at Fond du Lac, Wis., where it is said several hundred school children have signed the membership roll of the crusade.

In becoming members, the children pledge themselves to abide by the following rules:

To love the sunshine and the outdoor air; sleep with windows open winter and summer; stay away from places where the air is dusty or impure, and always breathe through the nose.

Not to spit—or, if this should be necessary, to be careful to use a handkerchief or a cuspidor.

To hold a handkerchief before the mouth or nose when coughing or sneezing, and never to permit anybody to cough or sneeze close to one's face.

To keep the mouth clean by the daily use of the toothbrush; not to allow anybody to kiss him upon the lips; not to put into his mouth things which others have had in theirs, such as pencils, rubbers, whistles, chewing gum or candy.

To wash the hands with soap and water before eating; not to wet the thumb to turn the pages of books, and to keep the body clean.

Not to lie upon the bed with a sick person, nor to stay with people who are carelessly coughing and spitting, or who have contagious diseases.

To tell others how consumption is spread and how it can be prevented, and encourage them to follow the clean and healthy life of the Crusaders of the Double Red Cross.

There is opportunity for an inestimable advance in the work thus planned under the name of the Double Red Cross. If it accomplishes only a small part of its mission, that of interesting the young in means to gain and maintain health, it will be doing more to wipe out the curse of disease than all the other preventive measures yet adopted. It will mean that the fight for health will be waged more effectively than ever before, not only against tuberculosis, but against every other disease that scourges humanity. By inculcating thoughts and habits of cleanliness among the children, it will lay the foundation for a better race in the next two or three generations, and that in itself is an immense stride forward in national development.

"The Strength of a Nation is in the Health of its People," is a motto which has been erected over the entrance to the public baths in St. Paul. If this movement of the Double Red Cross crusade can be extended throughout the states of the Union, it will be a magnificent thing for this nation. And it has the advantage of being based on simplicity and common sense. It should take hold rapidly, and bring about great results.

And the box score—we will soon have to reckon with that.

Anyway we will hope that Champ Clark will not feel inspired to get off any more bum jokes about reciprocity.

We are now, ladies and gentlemen, to be given a practical demonstration of the advantages of our twenty mule team congress.

Sir Oliver Lodge says England will refuse to arbitrate anything that cannot be arbitrated. Remarkably clear thinker, Sir Oliver.

Anyway we can hope some members of the senate will have the decency to blush every time they look at the junior member from Illinois.

Now it's the legislature and congress again, and pretty soon we will have to watch the baseball games too. No wonder the average American is a hustler. He has to be.

Senator Clapp is back in Washington from his New England trip, full of newly-gathered information about how Minnesota feels regarding reciprocity. It is wonderful how much information these senators can pick up a couple of thousand miles away from the source of supply.

COMMITTEE ASSIGNMENTS

By SAVOYARD.

It is related that once on a time in a rural community of the Mississippi valley a prosperous farmer died intestate, leaving a widow and a family of grown sons and daughters to inherit his lands and tenements, goods and chattels. The eldest son was appointed administrator and proceeded to "wind up the estate." The deceased had dabbled in a good many things aside from farming. He was trader in livestock and farm produce. He had a general store and was a money-changer. He had a blacksmith's shop and was a breeder of fine livestock. As a consequence his affairs were in a state of considerable confusion when he died, and his son, not much of a business man, was worried and perplexed in his capacity of fiduciary.

One evening, in company with a neighbor and bosom crony, he was returning from "town" where he had been to advise with his lawyer. As they rode side by side on horseback he was detailing his troubles and perplexities and closed thus: "When I come to realize what a job I have on my hands, I'll be hanged if I'm not sometimes sorry the old man died."

And a kindred thought must come to the Democratic members of the ways and means committee, who are appointed not only to load the gun the Sixty-second congress is going to fire at the robber tariff, but to make the other committees of that body. The Democratic party and the country will be fortunate indeed if the sequel does not give them reason to regret that the committees were not appointed in the old-fashioned way, by the speaker, who will have the responsibility for the work of congress, whatever that work may turn out to be.

The announcement of the committees, except those absolutely necessary—ways and means, rules, accounts, and mileage— should be postponed until the last day of the extra session, and if they are announced early in the session the party will have reason to regret it. If the Patriarch Abraham, the Prophet Elijah, King David, and the Apostle Paul were to make the committees there would be a row over it, for whatever is done, 70 per cent of the majority will say it is a botched job.

Too much importance is given to these places. John G. Carlisle and Thomas B. Reed entered congress together in 1877. The "directory" of that congress spells Carlisle's name John S. Carlisle and he was hid away in the assignments on the obscure committees of "expenditures in the navy department" and "ventilation and acoustics," two bodies neither of which had two sittings a session. But this third session of that congress Mr. Carlisle was appointed to the select committee on "revisions of the laws regarding the counting of the vote for president and vice president," a very important assignment at the time in view of the disputed presidential election. He had won his spurs. Reed was hid away that congress on the committee on territories and that on "expenditures in the war department."

So you see it is not the badge that is on the congressman, but the head that is on the congressman, that makes the statesman. If there are any Carlisles and Reeds in the Sixty-second congress they will show themselves all right; whether they be of one committee or another, and whether chairman or no.

I'll never forget John Sharp Williams' debut in congress. It was a success that approached a triumph, though he was low down on the roll of the then comparatively insignificant committee of agriculture. It reminded me of one of the innumerable anecdotes of Napoleon Bonaparte. At the siege of Toulon he was chief of battalion of artillery and one night he was a guest at the table of Dugomier, the commander-in-chief. Bonaparte excused himself early and left to attend some duty in connection with the siege, and a general at the table asked the commander-in-chief this: "Who is that little officer?" "That little officer!" exclaimed Dugomier, "Why, that little officer is a greater man than all of us together!" And so he was and so he proved a few days later.

And any Democrat of the Fifty-third congress might have asked, "Who is this little Williams?" And the response of history is, "This little Williams is the greatest man of all of you."

And if there is a John Sharp Williams on the roll of the Sixty-second congress he'll show himself, whatever place on whatever committee he may be assigned to. Before the session closes I shall attempt a comparison of Williams and Bailey.

In that same Forty-fifth congress to which I have alluded, Sam Randall, with an unspeakable littleness for so great a man, assigned William R. Morrison, who had been chairman of ways and means and leader of the house in the Forty-fourth congress, to a comparatively unimportant committee; but in that congress the house saw and the country saw in Morrison, not the greatest mind in the body, but the greatest man there.

Randall, posing as a Democrat then, just as Joseph W. Bailey does now, made it impossible for the Democratic party to consummate the work the country set it to do—to make a constitutional and an honest tariff. That is why the protectionist speaker, masquerading as a Democrat, took Morrison off the committee of ways and means.

In the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth congresses the Democrats, mistakenly, I think, deposed Stephen A. Douglas from the paramount committee of territories of the senate; but Douglas remained the senator of greatest consequence in the country, though he had lost his position as leader of the senate. As a matter of cold principle I believe Douglas should have been rebuked; but as a matter of practical politics it was a serious blunder. However, I must leave that subject, for a man can write 100,000 words about it that nobody wants to read. I refer to it to remark that a great man is not made so by committee assignments in the American congress. It takes silk to make a silk purse.

And again, Charles Sumner was deposed from the chairmanship of foreign affairs by the Republicans during Grant's administration. It was a good thing for the country, and possible averted a war with England about the Alabama claims; but it made a martyr of Sumner, and his following, millions in number, idolized him the more. In this connection I shall give an anecdote related to me by one of the most accomplished men of the South. I would give his name if I were certain I had his authority. It is an indictment of the negro race, however, and I shall assume the sole responsibility.

When Revels, the first negro senator, came to congress, Sumner took him to his bosom and treated him with the most distinguished consideration. He carried him to Boston and made a tour of New England, where Revels lectured to the people on the negro race and put $10,000 in his purse.

When Grant demanded Sumner's head on a charger, Revels helped Conkling to cut it off. He voted to substitute Simon Cameron for Sumner and chairman of foreign affairs.

And this is a sequel to that which I shall some day try to tell.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

•••F. J. Baars, Jr., incensed by an article that appeared in the Tribune, assaulted Business Manager Hauser in the Chamber of Commerce building last evening. After Hauser recovered from his surprise he laid out his assaulter.

•••Miss Winnie Everhard, who has been seriously ill with fever, left yesterday for her home at Seneca, Kan.

•••The St. Louis Manufacturing company has begun work upon its plant at the new townsite of St. Louis. It proposes manufacturing sash, doors, frames and mouldings, besides all kinds of interior hardwood finish.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WELL THEN, JUST HOW MUCH IS A CORD?

To the Editor of The Herald:

The wood users would cross out the word "finis" which has been written after the first chapter of the interesting controversy between the woodsellers and wood-users. We are not willing to "set at rest this idle talk for all time." Though it often seems an idle effort, on the part of us common people when we endeavor to secure our rights; but being used to rebuffs, we cheerfully labor on for better conditions.

We are now asking ourselves, and our neighbors—what is the minimum amount of wood that may be delivered for a cord?

In view of the fact, that, a dealer may deliver 44 cubic feet for one-half cord, though by test it was found that 64 cubic feet of cord wood made 53 cubic feet when sawed and split.

In the case in question: I received nine cubic feet of wood less than the amount to which one-half cord shrank under test. This would be ten nice armfuls short on one-half cord, twenty armfuls short on each cord. To us it looks as if 44 cubic feet of wood sawed and split is to be the maximum amount to expect when ordering one-half cord of wood sawed and split (because it shrinks in sawing and splitting.) So now, we are wondering and asking: "What is the minimum amount that we must accept. It may be that if we order one-half cord of wood, an armful will be delivered, and when we protest will receive reply, "this is what there is after sawing and splitting." Yours very truly,

WILLIAN LANGDON.

Choosing Your Best Friends.

Hildegarde Hawthorne in St. Nicholas: One has a greater power to choose one's friends in books than in real life, and even at the cost of considerable trouble it is well to take the opportunity given us to meet the best. You can drop them if they do not appeal to you; but at least do not lose the chance of knowing the brave, the gallant, the generous, the kind and the funny people who are waiting for you between the covers of countless books. They can not begin to live, as far as you are concerned, until you set them free by opening the volume in which they are imprisoned. Then how alive they are, how much they give you, how fresh and interesting is their talk, how thrilling their fate! Often one feels that one would love to introduce them to each other—special favorites of one's own.

Canadians and the Bible.

Louisville Courier-Journal: In the library at Toronto, Can., there is a version of the New Testament in a Gothic, made by St. Ulphillas early in the Fourth century. There are also copies made by the monks of the Eleventh century, remarkable for their beautiful illuminated work. A commentary on Ezekiel bears the signature of Bishop Cranmer, who died at the stake under Queen Mary. It contains also a copy of the "Soldier's" Bible, printed in England in 1693, and sold to soldiers for a penny. Another is the Edgar Bible, in which ten generations of the Edgar family are inscribed, early settlers in Canada. Another is the Bible of Barbara Heck, who introduced Methodism into America, and the Cree version, made for the natives by the missionary, James Evans.

The Bible is already sold in Canada in ninety different tongues, but seventeen other races are now asking that editions be printed in their languages. The British and Foreign Bible society has published the Scriptures in 424 different tongues, but it seems seventeen more must be made to meet the needs of Canada's hetrogeneous population.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Philadelphia Record: It may be more blessed to give than to receive, but most of us only know it from hearsay.

Puck: When we make mountains out of mole hills it is difficult to persuade other people to adopt our view of the topographical effect.

Washington Star: "De man dat puts in too much time learnin' to wait patiently," said Uncle Eben, "is liable to git out o' practice foh doin' anything else."

Louisville Courier-Journal: "What was that tiresome old explorer talking about?" inquired the languid lady.

"Progressive Patagonia."

"And how do you play it?"

Life: Smith (to member of vested choir)—"I hear you've got a new tenor in the choir. What kind of a voice has he? Good?"

Jones—"Good?" I should say so! It's so good none of the other tenors will speak to him."

Punch: "Aunt Mary, this is my friend, Mr. Spiffkins."

"I'm sorry, I don't quite catch the name."

"Mr. Spiffkins."

"I'm really very deaf; would you mind repeating it?"

"Mr. Spiffkins."

"I'm afraid I must give it up—it sounds to me just like 'Spiffkins.'"

Judge: Painting Master — "Great Scott! you have blurred your painting hopelessly! Didn't I tell you to bring out the features more distinctly?"

Pair Pupil—"Yes, and I followed your directions. I used two jars of the best massage cream on the market on that canvass, and it didn't do a bit of good."

Puck: "Were you ever held up by a stage robber?"

"Once I took a chorus girl out to supper."

Detroit Free Press: "Did they call on the author of that new play for a speech?"

"No; an apology."

Yonkers Statesman: She—Are you against long hatpins for women?

He—Well, I have been several times.

Toledo Blade: Him—Are you fond of "La Boheme?"

Her—I don't know. It depends altogether on what kind of dressing you put on it.

Baltimore American: "You know old Jollaby? Well, he has locomotor ataxia."

"He has? I thought all the time it was a limousine."

Town Topics: Mrs. Smart—I can't make up my mind what to wear to the opera tonight.

Mr. Smart—Well, for goodness' sake, wear something!

Houston Post: "So, she refused you."

"Yes. It certainly puzzles me."

"Oh, well, if she had accepted you, the whole world would have been puzzled."

Now Motherhood's a Fashion.

New York Sun: The dominant note of the British royal household is domesticity. As a mother the queen invites the sympathy and encourages the friendship of other mothers. Her associates among the aristrocracy are chosen from the young matrons. The fashion of motherhood and domesticity is thus set up. Smart society has perceived the arrival of his majesty the baby and it is becoming more and more of a social cachet for a young mother to be seen about with a child or children.

The Ignorance of Casey.

Boston Transcript: Casey—Phwat kind av a horse is a cob?

Mulligan's—It's wan thot's been raised intoirly on corn, ye ignoramus.

But It Will Come.

St. Louis Times: Speaking of spring fiction, why the tardiness in starting the annual story of a cat adopting a brood of chickens somewhere?

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

An Effective Reducer.

Warroad Plaindealer: As a reducer of the high cost of living a quarter-acre patch of garden can do more for you than either congress or the forty-five legislatures now in session.

Significant Association.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: That "politics makes strange bedfellows" is a familiar maxim. It finds an interesting illustration in the current number of the American Economist. The American Economist, as many people know, is the organ of the highly protected interests. It shouts for them all the time. It is therefore significant that practically the entire space of the current number is devoted to a broadside against Canadian reciprocity. In addition to its own editorial expression, the Economist prints yards of quotations from the agricultural papers which oppose reciprocity with Canada because they believe it inimical to the interests of the farmers. This show of sympathy between the organ of the protected interests and the farm press is something new. The farm papers have been zealous advocates of tariff reduction, and nothing which they have had to say on that subject has heretofore found much favor in the columns of the Economist. But now nearly the entire issue is given up to approving republication of their disapproval of the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

Should Become a Law.

Madison Western Guard: A bill has been introduced in the legislature making wife or child desertion a felony. It is hoped that this will become a law and that it will be enforced rigidly. The brutes who desert their families because they are too lazy to support them should be taken in charge by the state.

Wants Arrests Made.

Anoka County Union: Senate file No. 117 has passed both houses, been signed by the governor and is now a law. It provides that no person shall, while intoxicated, enter or be on or remain upon a railway train as a passenger; that no person shall publicly drink any intoxicating liquor as a beverage in any railway train or coach, or give or cause to be given to any other person therein, intoxicating liquor as a beverage except in a compartment where such liquor is sold or served under lawful license. Conductors are given police powers. The Union hopes to see some arrests made on trains between Anoka and Minneapolis.

The Free Seed Farce.

Jackson Republic: The other day somebody in Washington sent us a package of free seeds which we refused to accept and ordered the lot returned. No man can bribe us in this way nor any other way for that matter and we resent the imputation that our friendship could be purchased for a sack of seeds. For years the annual distribution of seed by the national government has been a farce and we do not propose to have any of the sandy worked in on us. Everybody except the congressmen is down on the scheme, but they, poor things, in their innocence have looked upon the practice as possessing advantages political.

Seed Corn Test.

Mower County Transcript: One of our most successful farmers had his seed corn tested last week by the individual car and finds one-third vigorous seed, one-third weak and one-third practically dead. He will make hundreds of dollars by this discovery in planting for a surer and better crop. How does your seed corn test?

Joke of the Season.

Wabnsha Herald: Senator Rockne of Goodhue county has introduced a bill appropriating $50,000 to send a delegation of 1,000 farmers to Washington to fight against Canadian reciprocity. Why such nonsense? The senator ought to know—if he knows anything—that such a bill can hardly be passed and should not be passed and the senator ought not to be trying to hoodwink the farmers with such a proposition. What effect would the presence of 1,000 men from Minnesota have on congress anyway, and if the farmers of Minnesota feel that they want to take a trip to Washington they will do so at their own expense. They have the price and are not asking Senator Rockne or any other legislator to get the state to pay the expenses of any excursion they might wish to take. Rockne, you have sprung the joke of the season.

Will Have to Hustle.

Gaylord Hub: A Twin City paper in commenting on a number of bills presented by members of the legislature at this session, finds that Sibley county's senator, A. A. Poehler, has the record for presenting the least of any. He has one bill to his record and if many other members had cut down their number, the work would be farther advanced. In the house, over 1,100 bills have been presented and the senate has something over 900 on the books. Only a few bills have been passed and approved by the governor, and the lawmakers will have to move mighty quick during the next two weeks of the session, if they want to act on the remaining measures.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Two lies don't hold water even as well as one.

The less sincere a man's flattery to a woman the more she will forgive him for it.

The worst indignity a man can show his wife is not to notice a new ribbon she has on.

A man who falls down stairs and doesn't break his neck thinks it was because he was so smart about the way he did it.

A man will cheerfully pay $3 for a dollar's worth of food downtown, but he wants $5.00 worth for 50 cents at home.

A City in Pasteboard.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: A leading feature of the coming ideal home exhibit in Central armory will be a miniature reproduction to pasteboard of downtown Cleveland, its buildings and streets. It represents a bird's-eye view of the city. Every detail of the work is carried out to perfection. Henry C. Rehn is the producer of Cleveland in miniature. Mr. Rehn is a well known scenic artist, theatrical scenery being his specialty. For the last month he has been working on the exhibit in the basement of the Euclid Avenue Opera house. Several hundred buildings in pasteboard are included in the reproduction of Cleveland. The miniature shows the city extending from Rocky River to Euclid Beach. The pasteboard city is 20 by 15 feet. The largest public buildings, such as the city hall, are about eight inches long. The Public Square is seen clearly, with the big monument in the center.

SELF HELP IS THE BEST

What the Associated Charities Is Doing and Trying to Do.

Doling Out Small Change Often Helps to Make Paupers.

(By Courtenay Dinwiddie, Secretary Associated Charities.)

What would you think of a doctor who prescribed for his patient without first learning exactly what his ailment was? How successful would a jeweler be who thought he could repair a watch without opening the case?

A thorough investigation in helping a family in need of assistance is even more important to the charity worker than the correct diagnosis of the physician or the close examination to the jeweler. The physician can not pretend to himself that he is not committing malpractice when he treats his patient without making a thorough diagnosis, and the watch simply will not run if the jeweler does not discover and remedy the real cause of the trouble. On the other hand, it is usually the easiest course for the relief worker to give what is necessary, whether in food, fuel, rent or clothing, to relieve the immediate distress, and to leave the study of the real, underlying causes of the distress and the best methods of doing away with them, until the family has become one of chronic paupers.

The knowledge and experience of those in charitable work are like the circumference of the ever-widening circle. When it is very small it comes in contact with comparatively few points that seem not to have been covered. But as it grows larger it touches on an increasing vastness of unexplored territory. So the relief worker is apt to be delighted at the prompt and satisfactory results gotten from helping his first "cases," little realizing that he has seen only the most superficial problems and that his work will have to be done over again unless he can go deeper and cure the real troubles that brought about the conditions he is trying to improve.

Not Cold and Heartless.

Some people regard the charity that investigates as a cold and heartless one that spends its money in salaries instead of in relief to the poor. In reality the charity that does not investigate and doles out relief, leaving the recipients no more independent or self-supporting in the end than they were in the beginning, is the most cruel, although it is unintentional cruelty. If the man or woman who gives a quarter to those who ask for help, without really knowing anything about their circumstances and needs, or how the money will be spent, could follow his supposed beneficiaries and see how he has helped to confirm them in lives of pauperism and often of drunkenness, he would realize that it might take years to undo what he has done. If he could have taken the time to find work or whatever else was most needed for just one applicant, he would have done more good than he could do by doling out quarters all his life.

A few of the many things an investigation may show and often does show, are:

1. That the thing asked for by the applicant for aid would be pitifully inadequate to help him to independence.

2. That friendly help in securing suitable work or in overcoming difficulties that to the discouraged man or woman seem insurmountable, will do far more good than merely an order of groceries or a small cash loan.

3. That the man who is "down and out" has been the victim of his early reputation, like the dog in adage who is given a bad name, and what he most needs is a real friend to stick by him and make him believe in himself again.

4. That there are readily available sources of relief which have not been thought of by those in need.

5. That there are physical weaknesses in parents or children, such as poor eyesight, adenoids, etc., which may have had much to do with hindering the family's progress and which are curable.

Investigation Work.

One of the important objects of the organization of the Associated Charities was that it should be prepared to make thorough investigations of cases of distress for all who wished such investigations. This is one part of our contract with the people of Duluth that so far we have been able to fulfill only in a measure. Other things even more necessary as first steps have had to be given earlier consideration. There is not much use in finding that what a man most needs is work if you cannot give him work. For that reason and to discourage begging and vagrancy the work at the Point of Rocks to tide men over until they can secure steady jobs, was one of the very first things to be secured, through the public spirited action of the common council. Similarly the care of the sick, by a visiting nurse, secured through the efforts of the Woman's council, was a prime consideration. So the collection of names of families helped by the different charitable societies, in a confidential central list of 800 or more, has been necessary to avoid duplication, and districting the city was also a first step.

This does not mean that the Associated Charities has done nothing in the way of investigation and emergency relief work in addition to its other social and legislative work. On the contrary, during the first three months under paid workers, over 300 cases of destitution have been helped by advice, employment, reference to the proper society to assist them, emergency relief and in even more adequate ways. Sometimes as many as twenty to thirty cases of distress in one day have had to be dealt with in one way or another.

And now that the visiting nurse is well started, the work test is established on a yearly basis and the other work of the association is going smoothly, it can begin to more and more thoroughly take up individual instances of distress which come to its attention or in which other societies wish its help. Thus it will be able to give more permanent and lasting help in establishing families and individuals in positions of independence.

One Example.

A good illustration of the wisdom of investigation is the case of a boy of 19, in dealing with whom the Temple Aid society wished our assistance. His history for the past few years was discussed with him quite frankly. It appeared that he had gone from place to place without holding any position for very long and with no very definite aim. From his physique it was evident that he was not fitted for hard labor, and conversations with him confirmed a first impression that he lacked stamina. He evidently wanted to work and probably would be able at least to support himself if he had some one to take a friendly interest in him and keep him straight. His nearest living relative in this country was a tailor in Chicago, whom he did not think would do anything for him. However, through the Chicago Jewish society he agreed to look after Joe and the boy was promptly sent on by the Temple Aid society, much to his own relief as well as ours.

Another instance is that of a woman with a number of children who claimed to be deserted and for whom a most pathetic appeal for assistance was made, which resulted in many donations. As a result of the assistance given her she felt quite independent for some time. She was given a card to the Associated Charities in case of further need and through the Central council the various relief societies were advised against further assistance pending an investigation. This investigation disclosed a family history of immorality which is seldom equalled for its shocking details. It showed that the woman had in reality left her husband and that a baby that only recently was born and died was illegitimate. On the other hand through the testimony of the mother and of her daughter, who was in another city and therefore not under her influence, it appeared that the father was guilty of unspeakable brutalities and that it would be wrong to expect any of them to live with him. The case was turned over to the humane agent, who saw that the family was moved to a neighborhood where they were not known, and that precautions were taken to guard against further immorality. The family has enough elements to be self supporting and he believes that they should be given a chance to "make good" away from the father's influence.

Diamonds Smuggled in Cement.

Through the arrest of an engineer in Berlin, $50,000 worth of diamonds were taken by the government, brought from Africa. They had been encased in common building cement and shipped into the country. Diamonds in cement, are no more valuable than golden grain belt beer in glass, as thousands of the best families can testify who use them on their tables, because of their tonic value and digestive uses. RECALL FOR JUDICIARY the house in which they originated. In the main, however, they are still alike, since both provide for the recall of public officers.

The house bill, on motion of Representative Lundeen, who gave Col. Roosevelt as his authority, was amended so as to make judges subject to recall. The senate bill excepts judges.

The house bill provides for the submission to the people at the next general election of a constitutional amendment making all public officials subject to recall on petitions of not more than 25 per cent of the voters in the districts from which they were elected. The petitions must set forth the reasons for the demand, and the challenged official is given five days in which to resign. If he does not resign, a special election is to be held to decide whether he sticks or another is put in his place.

The debate in the house was brief, being cut short by a motion for the previous question, made by Representative Conley. Representatives Lydiard and Washburn of Minneapolis opposed the bill and Representatives Nolan of Minneapolis and Wisniewski of Foley supported it.

The vote was as follows:

For the bill—A. V. Anderson, J. J. Anderson, Boothroyd, Burnquist, Christie, Conley, Converse, Crane, Davies, Davis, Edwards, Ferguson, Fuchs, Harding, Hauge, Heerzberg, Hillman, Holten, Hopkins, Jelinek, Just, Keefe, Kelly, Klemer, Kneeland, I. J. Lee, J. F. Lee, S. N. Lee, Lennon, Lindberg, Lundeen, McMartin, McNeil, Mattson, Minette, Morton, Nash, Nolan, Nye, Nygren, O'Brien, O'Neill, Orr, Palmer, A. J. Peterson, J. E. Peterson, Pfaender, Putnam, Ribenack, Rice, Rines, Robertson, Robinson, Schuler, Schwartz, Skartum, Spooner, W. T. Stone, Voxland, E. Warner, Washburn, Webb, Whiting, Wisniewski—65.

Against the bill—Aker, Andrew Anderson, Borgen, G. W. Brown, L. D. Brown, Clarke, Congdon, Denzer, Diessner, R. C. Dunn, Fowler, Hafften, Healy, Henion, Hoffman, J. N. Johnson, Knapp, Libera, Lydiard, McDonald, MacKenzie, Mettling, Papke, Perry, Peters, Ole Peterson, C. E. Stone, Thielen, Utecht, Virtue, C. H. Warner, White—32.

Absent or not voting—Bouck, Campbell, Speaker Dunn, Farley, Frankson, Greene, Holmberg, Harley, C. E. Johnson, J. T. Johnson, Knutson, Kunze, Moriarity, A. Nelson, H Nelson, Reed, Rustad, Saggau, Sampson, Sulerud, Sullivan, Uniedt, Wescott.

Wanted Stone Punished.

The house was startled for a moment yesterday afternoon when Representative J. J. Moriarity, chairman of a sub-committee of the committee on public accounts and expenditures which is investigating the state board of health, moved that Representative W. T. Stone of Park Rapids be brought to the bar of the house to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt in failing to obey a subpoena to appear before the committee.

Dr. Stone had made most of the charges against the board of health which the committee was investigating, and the committee wanted to hear what he had to say, so it summoned him to appear and got out a subpoena which was signed by Speaker-pro-tem Lennon.

Stone, however, did not appear.

That the house is weary of brawling was made evident by its reception of Mr. Moriarity's motion. Cries of "Cut it out!" were heard, to which Mr. Moriarity replied: "I won't cut it out."

There was no second to his motion, however, and Representative Lennon, from the chair, explained that Dr. Stone had come to him and said that he couldn't attend the hearing to which he had been summoned, no matter what the consequences were. He asked Dr Stone if his witness fees had been tendered, and when Dr. Stone replied that they had not been given him, Mr. Lennon told him in that case there could be no penalty for failure to appear.

"That's a mighty peculiar rule," said Mr. Moriarity, "that a member of this house has to be paid for giving evidence in behalf of the state."

"I am not offering it as a ruling," said Mr. Lennon, "but as an explanation, and in order that I may assume my share of the blame."

"I move," shouted Mr. Moriarity, "that the chair accept my resignation as a member of the committee on public accounts and expenditures."

But there was no second to that motion, either, so the matter dropped.

Congdon in the Chair.

Representative J. F. Lee tried yesterday afternoon to make a flank attack on the Lennon bill, allowing the Minneapolis city council to extend the Minneapolis patrol limits to the extent of allowing two new hotels, situated outside the partol limits, to sell liquor at meals. The bill had been considered in committee of the whole and advanced to the calendar.

Mr. Lee moved that the bill be referred to a special committee consisting of the Hennepin county delegation.

Mr. Lennon, who was in the chair, promptly called Representative Chester A. Congdon to the chair and went to his place on the floor to defend his bill. The house applauded Mr. Congdon warmly when he took the chair.

Mr. Lee's motion was lost, 28 for and 47 against.

To Aid Railroad Commission.

On motion of Representative Congdon, the house yesterday afternoon suspended the rules and passed the senate bill making railroads parties to the proceedings when inquiry is being made into the reasonableness of express rates. Mr. Congdon explained that the railroad and warehouse commission is about to start such an inquiry, and that there was need of haste in getting the bill through so that proper notice could be given the railroad companies. The bill passed unanimously.

The house also passed under suspension of the rules, on motion of Representative Hopkins, the senate bill giving the railroad and warehouse commission authority to initiate proceedings to ascertain the reasonableness of railroad rates, instead of waiting to have complaint made to it.

Duluth Members Object.

Representative Fuchs of St. Paul gave notice under the rules requiring the tri-county committee to report back to the house the St. Paul bill giving mayors of first-class cities power to discharge any officers appointed by the mayor. The committee has five days in which to return the bill under the rules. The measure is introduced to enable Mayor Keller, Republican, to discharge Democratic members of St. Paul boards. The Duluth delegation is opposed to it because it upsets the wholesome custom of making local boards continuous by providing that only part of their membership can be changed in any year.

Representative Campbell yesterday afternoon moved that the senate statewide primary bill be recalled from the committee on elections, but later withdrew his motion.

On motion of Representative Edwards the house reconsidered the vote defeating the Spooner bill paying country newspapers for the fourth publication of the proposed Constitutional amendments last fall, and with the bill paying the newspapers in excess of the number authorized by law to publish constitutional amendments, the bill was placed at the head of the calendar for today.

Midnight Lid Ended.

The fate of the midnight lid for Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis was sealed yesterday afternoon when Representative O'Brien, its author, moved to reconsider the vote by which it was defeated, and his motion lost, 34 for and 70 against.

Representative Lydiard yesterday afternoon introduced a bill regulating the insurance department by cutting out the present provision of law allowing unlimited expenditures for special examiners and by limiting the use of the edpartment's contingent fund so as to prevent its being spent for this purpose.

Representative Rice introduced a new bill putting the old and new capitols under one head. They are now under two custodians. The bill provides for a custodian at $2,500, two assistants at $1,500 each, a secretary at $1,500, a chief engineer at $2,000, three assistants at $1,500, a postmaster at $1,000, and such firemen, electricians and laborers as are necessary.

All the St. Louis county bills now in the house which are purely local are on the special order for tonight and will be passed.

Borgen Lien Bill Passed.

The house yesterday afternoon passed Representative Borgen's bill to protect people who build houses from unexpected liens. It provides that the owner may withhold from his contractor enough to meet the demands of all persons, other than the contractor, having a lien or a claim or lien upon the premises, for which the contractor is liable, and that the owner may pay off all such claims out of the amount withheld. It requires all lien claimants except the contractor to give written notice of such claim to the owner not later than sixty days after the last item if labor was performed or material furnished. The owner at any time within thirty days after the completion of the contract, may require any lien claimant to furnish an itemized account, and no proceeding for the foreclosure of any lien may be commenced until ten days after the statement is furnished. It is made the duty of the contractor, on demand, to furnish to the owner a statement showing the names of any and all parties who have furnished labor or materials and have not been paid, with the amount due each. It is also made the duty of the contractor to give to any person whose claim has not been paid the name and address of the owner.

Mr. Borgen's idea in presenting the bill is that while the present law fully protects builders, it hasn't enough consideration for the owners, whom he believes also to have rights that the law should respect.

Passed By the House.

The house yesterday afternoon passed the following bills:

Representative Nash — Prohibiting persons from making false reports of crime to police officers.

Representative Mattson — Making clerks of district court and secretaries of commercial clubs assistants to the commissioner of immigration and requiring them to help in directing intending settlers and in furnishing inquirers with literature about their respective localities.

Passed by the Senate.

The senate yesterday afternoon passed the bill by Representative Ribenack, increasing the annual appropriation for the naval militia from $8,500 to $13,500, and the senate bill by the St. Louis county delegation, introduced by Senator Cheadle, giving the Eleventh judicial district an additional judge.

Other bills passed by the senate were as follows:

Senator Benson—Regulating the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine.

Senator Lende—Giving persons caring for intoxicated persons the right to recover their costs from the saloon keepers who made them drunk, if the law was violated in so doing.

Senator Wallace—Creating a state board of accountancy.

Senator Rockne—Requiring railroads to have sufficient clearance between tracks and between structures and passing trains.

Senator Boyle — Providing for changes of venue from one municipal court to another within any county.

The senate judiciary committee yesterday killed the house bill extending local option to cities of the fourth class not having home rule charters, on the ground that the classification is unconstitutional.

The senate committee on rules has rejected all the claims for contest expenses submitted by unsuccessful contestants of senate places. The bills turned down were presented by Former Senators A. D. Stephens of Crookston and Ray G. Farrington of Ortonville.

Night Session of House.

For the benefit of those who didn't get in on the hurry-up privilege on bill last Friday, the house had another night session on general orders last night, when every member who hadn't exhausted his rights last Friday was permitted to advance a bill to the calendar provided nobody objected.

Eighty-three bills were advanced during the evening, but as there were more objections and more watchfulness than on the previous occasion, the bills advanced were less important.

Among those placed on the calendar were the following:

By Senator Wallace—Exempting from taxation bonds hereafter issued by the state of Minnesota, or any county, city or village therein, or any township, or any common or independent school district.

By Representative Denzer—To prevent fraud in the sale of precious stones.

By Senator Pauly—Prohibiting assignments of wages to be earned in the future except with the consent of the employer, and, in the case of a married man, with the consent of his wife.

Representative A. J Peterson—Providing for a nominal tax of 2 mills on the dollar on all moneys and credits.

By Representative Nash—Creating a department of weights and measures under the jurisdiction of the railroad and warehouse commission.

Opposed By Duluth Men.

The senate committee on general legislation had a public hearing last evening on the Spooner house bill putting water powers under the control of the state, and a large array of objections were raised against it by those interested in water power concerns. Oscar Mitchell and James L. Cromwell of Duluth appeared against the bill.

The senate committee on printing last night recommended for passage the bill providing for publication of personal property tax lists, with an amendment leaving it optional with the county board whether to publish or not. Carlos Avery of Hutchinson appeared for the Minnesota Editorial association, and "Doc" Rutledge of Benidji appeared for the Northern Minnesota Editorial association.

GOVERNMENT LOSES FIRST BATTLE FOR COAL LANDS.

Seattle, Wash., April 4.—The government lost yesterday in its first battle in the effort to punish the alleged fraudulent locators of Alaska coal lands. Judge Cornelius H. Hanford in the United States district court, although he overruled the motion to instruct the jury to acquit Charles F. Munday, E. E. Siegley and Archie Shiels, yet sustained all the vital points contended for by the defendants.

The ground on which the court refused to grant the motion to acquit, was not recognized by counsel for either side in the suit, but the judge himself. It leaves the government so little room to stand on that it is said to be practically assured that the prosecution will be dropped.

Take in tablespoonsful doses before each meal and before retiring." Any druggist has these ingredients or will quickly get them. Any one can mix them. This formula was published here last winter and thousands were promptly benefitted. It gives immediate relief.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

FISH SUPPLY IS LESSENED

Red River Valley Nimrods Blame Manitoba Dams for Falling Off.

State Department Will Be Asked to Force Construction of Fishways.

Crookston, Minn., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman Steenerson's attention has been called to the fact that the people of Manitoba have built dams in the Red River of the North without providing them with suitable fish-ways, thus obstructing the passage of fish up stream and that as a result the fish supply in the stream, which formerly was abundant, has been practically exhausted.

Mr. Steenerson has addressed a communication to the state department calling attention to this matter, and requesting the department to take the matter up with the British government in order that the grievance may be remedied and it is hoped that the favorable action will result.

Fishing Formerly Good.

This is a very important matter to people of this entire section of the country, as both the Red river and the Red Lake river are affected. The supply of fish in Lake Winnipeg is very abundant and until the dams mentioned were built without fishways, the fishing was good in both rivers. Of late there has been few fish taken excepting a few catfish, bullheads and occasionally a sturgeon. The last named are very scare, but very large when caught, one having been caught here last year weighing over 300 pounds.

If the Canadian government can be induced to order fishways put in, and it is believed such an arrangement will be made, it will result in good fishing throughout this territory in the two rivers, and in addition to the added sport available, means a valuable asset in the actual resources of this section.

In his efforts, Congressman Steenerson will be given the hearty co-operation of the Commercial clubs of this section and other bodies and individuals in every way possible, as the subject is recognized as of very great importance.

TAYLOR NOW SOCIALIST.

Aitkin Man Who Ran Against Miller Quits Republicanism.

Aitkin, Minn., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Carl E. Taylor has cut loose from the Republican party and joined the Socialists. In the resolution passed by the local Socialists protesting against the use of our army and navy to protect certain interests in Mexico, Carl's name is one of those appended thereto.

Carl was elected court commissioner for Aitkin county two years ago last fall as a Republican; last summer he filed as a Republican in the primary election for the office of congressman against Clarence B. Miller, but lost out.

Now he is a Socialist. He exhibits his membership card showing that he became a contributing member of that party in December, 1910.

FERGUS FALLS HAS $5,000 FIRE LOSS

Large Wooden Building Occupied By Different Concerns Is Destroyed.

Fergus Falls, Minn., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire destroyed a large wooden building on Lincoln avenue about midnight Sunday. The building was occupied by Mrs. Jhon, milliner; George Waters, barber, and Enos M. Ricker, printer. Very little was saved. There was no insurance on the building, very little on the millinery stock, and partial insurance on the printing outfit. The loss is estimated at $5,000.

E. S. Lambert, a calendar traveling man, whose home is in Fergus Falls, slipped and fell Monday morning, breaking his leg.

COULD NOT TRUST SELF.

"Sinbad, the Sailor," Returns to Minnesota Penitentiary.

St. Paul, Minn., April 4.—Charles Price, known while in the Minnesota penitentiary as "Sinbad, the Sailor," has voluntarily returned to the penal institution from which he was paroled Aug. 1, last after serving part of a sentence for murder in the second degree for which he was committed in 1899.

When he arrived at the prison a few days ago on one of his regular visits, he told the officers that he was afraid temptation would be too great for him and that he did not want to violate the conditions of his parole.

During the years he was in the prison he worked in the greenhouse and developed great skill in producing freak plants and grew mammoth lemons by grafting grape fruit on lemon trees. One of his lemons measured 19½ inches in circumference. After being paroled he was employed at W. C. Wright's home on the river boulevard as gardener in this city.

JUDGE THIRTY YEARS.

Judge Steere of Soo, Just Re-Elected, Long on Bench.

De Tour, Mich., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph H. Steere, who was elected yesterday for the seventh time as judge of the Eleventh circuit, has a distinction possessed by very few jurists whose tenure of office is dependent upon the will of the people. He has occupied the bench thirty consecutive years, ever since 1881, and has never been opposed with the exception of the first time he was a candidate, when he defeated his opponent handily. Judge Steers is a Republican, but always is indorsed by the Democrats and is elected unanimously. The judge is a resident of Sault Ste. Marie, where he has lived since 1878. He was born at Addison, Mich., 1852, graduated from the University of Michigan in 1876 and was admitted to the bar two years later. Judge Steere's chief diversions, aside from his studies and duties are hunting and fishing. He is a great lover of the woods, spends much of the summer-time in the wilderness on either side of the international border and on one occasion made a trip to and from Hudson bay. The judge is 59, and, having first been elected in 1881, when he was 28 years old, he has served on the bnch more than one-half of his life. He has been seriously ill the past two months, during the course of which period he was forced to undergo a surgical operation at Rochester, Minn., but is now convalescent and will resume his duties in a few weeks.

TRAIN CUT THE HOSE

Used By Fire-Fighters and Losers Ask for $60,000.

Moorhead, Minn., April 4.—Sheriff Whaley has served the papers in the suit of John Erickson against the Great Northern Railway company. The papers were served on Agent F. H. Bailey.

John Erickson asks damages of the Great Northern Railway company in the sum of $60,000, on account of the fact that a light engine, running from Barnesville to Fargo on the morning the Columbia hotel burned, ran over and cut a line of hose which was stretched from the hydrant on First avenue north, across the track to the sceen of the fire.

C. G. Dosland represents John Erickson, and it is claimed that the cutting of the line of hose occurred at a critical moment when the fire which finally destroyed the Columbia hotel was just gaining its hold. It is contended that if the firemen had had the use of this line of hose at that crucial moment the chances were in favor of their checking the flames and saving the building.

The Columbia hotel was erected by Mr. Erickson at a cost of $50,000.

STANNARD POISONED.

Sensational Developments in Case of Greenland, Mich., Attorney.

Greenland, Mich., April 4.—Charles F. Stannard, a well known attorney of this place met death March 26 by by poison, either self administered or given by someone else. This has just come to light through an autopsy and an examination of the contents of the stomach by University of Michigan chemists.

The established beyond doubt that death resulted from the administration of arsenic.

The case is baffling to the Greenland authorities.

The theory of suicide has been advanced, but Mr. Stannard's mental condition and material circumstances made this explanation almost incredible. The belief is growing that murder has been committed. Suspicion attaches to no one. A lack of apparent motive makes the mystery more complicated.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS OF ROADS TO BE NAMED.

Bismarck, N. D., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—County commissioners throughout the state will consider at their regular meetings this week the question of appointing county superintendents of county roads. This provision is contained in the Welo bill, passed by the recent legislative assembly. It is aimed to bring about a more uniform method of handling the road situation in the counties and a number of counties will very likely try out the plan this year.

SECURE DULUTH DIVINE FOR COMMENCEMENT TALK.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First Methodist church in Duluth, has been secured to deliver the Wesley college commencement address here on June 14. Rev. Mr. Rice spoke here last year at a large church gathering and made a splendid impression.

SNOWFALL HELPS ALL NORTH DAKOTA.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A light snowfall which began early Monday over the northeastern section of the state and as far west as Minot, and still continues, is putting the land in ideal condition for seeding, which will be general by April 15. The snow is melting as rapidly as it reaches the ground. Churchs Ferry, Rugby, Larimore, Minot and Devils Lake reported heavy falls, while south to Hillsboro and north to Pembina there was a sufficient fall to be of much benefit.

Otto Ringling's Funeral.

Breaks From Medora Jail.

Medora, N. D., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jack Riley, convicted of violating the prohibition laws and sentenced to the county jail in this city, is at large, having made his escape from the county jail where he was treated as a trusty. Riley was prosecuted by Assistant Attorney General Heffron and convicted of having engaged in the sale of liquor at Beach, and sentenced to 100 days in jail, with $250 fine and $200 costs.

Hettinger Murder Trial.

Hettinger, N. D., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Denver Woods, accused of murdering A. S. Crowe in Bowman county, about eight months ago, will be tried at the term of the district court of Adams county, which opened here yesterday. Alfred Zuger, assistant attorney general, will assist in the prosecution of the case. The case comes before the Hettinger district court on a change of venue from Bowman county.

Grand Forks Election Result.

Grand Forks, N. Waiting doesn't pay.
If you neglect the aching back,
Urinary troubles surely follow.
Doan's Kidney Pills relieve backache,
Cure every kidney ill.
Duluth citizens endorse them.

Mrs. O. B. Olsen, 2019 W. Fourth St., Duluth, Minn., says: "My little girl, six years of age was troubled from infancy by a kidney weakness. At night she could not retain the kidney secretions and during the day this trouble was almost as bad. If the secretions were left standing, they deposited sediment. Two years ago we were successful in finding the right treatment for her. A relative recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to us and we tried them. The child soon received great benefit. Doan's Kidney Pills not only acted as represented in this case, but were used with success by a young man who was staying with us at that time. In November 1908, I publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills and I am giving this statement to confirm my first one."

He asserted that they are not suited to Canadian conditions and would not make desirable settlers. The government, he declared, should do something to discourage the movement.

Minister of the Inferior Oliver replied that the Canadian laws do not prohibit the entry of negro settlers and the government could only administer the law. While the situation was being carefully watched, the government had not seen fit to take drastic action.

At the very outset of the meeting Alderman Tubman created quite a stir by stating that there was some doubt as to the citizenship of Alderman C. E. Bergren, Socialist. Bergren said that he was a citizen of the United States, but failed to produce his papers. He said that Charles Wickstrom and Gust Jackson were his witnesses. Neither of these could be found, nor could the clerk of court be communicated with. The matter was laid over until the next meeting, when C. E. Bergren is expected to produce his citizenship papers.

The appointment of city clerk, water and light collector, chief engineer, and city electrician were laid over until next meeting. P. J. MacAlpine made application for position of city clerk and water and light collector; W. R. Coleman, Socialist, for the position of chief engineer, and S. Irwin for city electrician, but no action was taken upon any of the applications.

For the position of city attorney, the names of B. F. Fowler and David H. Lawrence were presented, while Judge William E. Tracy and J. Gilbert Jelle made written application. B. F. Fowler was appointed by a vote of 4 to 3 over D. H. Lawrence.

There was no opposition to Oscar Eklund for the position of street commissioner, but when it came to fixing the salary, matters grew interesting. The present salary is $70 per month, but the Socialists wanted the salary raised to $85 per month, saying that Eklund would work for no less. Christensen protested, but it was of no avail, the motion being passed 4 to 3.

Standing Committees.

Esse as president of the council then made his appointments for the various committees, which are as follows:

Water and Light—Charles Esse, chairman; R. J. Tubman, H. J. Irwin. Socialists in majority.

Auditing—E. J. Strand, L. P. Christensen, C. E. Bergren.

Streets and Alleys—C. E. Bergren, Gus Risberg, H. J. Irwin.

Sidewalks—R. J. Tubman, L. P. Christensen, E. G. Strand. This is the only committee on which Socialists are not in the majority.

Sewers and Drains—Irwin, Strand, Risberg.

On the health board Dr. M. K. Knauff was made chairman. Magnus Peterson and George Raper were appointed as other members. These are all new men.

Mayor Halliday in his message to the council made several recommendations. He considered the health of the people paramount and stated that the reeking slough on Burlington bay must be eradicated, even though it incumbered the furtherance of other improvements. He recommended that there be more competition for scavenger work than heretofore and that the sanitary regulations be rigidly enforced. In accordance with the Socialist platform he advocated the establishment of a city scale and an inspection of weights and measures throughout the city, that education buildings be used for social centers, that regulation of saloons be rigidly enforced, that the city economize in its expense for printing and that the contract system be abolished in city improvements and that an eight-hour day be established for all city employes.

Mayor Halliday made the following appointments: Chief of police, John A. Anderson; patrolmen, Gust Nelson, Charles Beckman; library board, Mrs. A. P. Overland, Rev. T. Stanley Oadams and W. B. Woodward; fire chief, M. H. Brickley.

BLIND-PIGGERS FINED.

Over $150 Imposed Upon Trio of Virginia Lawbreakers.

Virginia, Minn., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three blind-piggers were taken before Judge Fleming in municipal court yesterday afternoon and paid fines aggregating over $150. The parties fined were Mike Palet, $52.50; Joe Rocish, $52.50; Mrs. Annie Rokovena, $52.50. Within the past month Chief of Police Ellis Walsh has rounded up about fifteen blind-piggers and has been making a strenuous effort to clean them all up. The blind-piggers all over the range have given the police more trouble than any other evil existing and it is the intention of the officers to abolish this evil in so far as possible.

GRAND RAPIDS RECITAL.

Entertainment Monday Evening By High School Chorus Success.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.).—The recital given by the high school chorus for the benefit of the public library at the high school auditorium last night was a grand success in every way, except in point of attendance, which was unusually small. Every number on the program was well rendered and reflected much work on the part of the students and the director, Miss Anna M. Becker.

The high school chorus has sixty voices, being an organization of unusual merit for one of this kind, and was trained by Miss Becker, who is directress of music in the Grand Rapids public schools.

NASHWAUK LID TIGHT.

President Ohles and Council Are Enforcing the Laws.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—President John Ohles and the village council have succeeded in clamping the lid down very firmly. All saloons are closed at 11 o'clock every night and all curtains are pulled Sundays. Three applications were turned down at the last meeting of the council by the vote of 3 to 2. The mayor and chief of police, through complaints made by the saloon men, have succeeded in uncovering a few cases of people who, it is alleged, have been selling liquor without licenses.

MARBLE BAND CONCERT.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Die Spieler basket ball team defeated the Wolverines, champions of the league, in a hotly contested game at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last evening. At the end of the first half the Die Spielers were embracing the small end of a 20-to-16 score, but in the second half they forged ahead, winning the game by a score of 38 to 33. There is considerable rivalry between these two teams since they are both high school teams and hold the first and second places in the league.

The new school will be two stories high and of brick construction. Architect Bray of Duluth, will design the new building and will be here today to discuss the plans with the directors.

It is planned to call a special election of the voters of the district, at which time the site and cost of the new school will be determined.

tle that has ever been seen in the city. The sheriff, fearful lest reports of impending clashes may materialize, has the streets patrolled with deputies. Every wheeled conveyance, available, has been brought into requisition.

The fight is between George McCaskarit, present mayor under the old charm, and Harry M. Schriver, leader of the so-called reform movement.

Great Interest in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 4.—Three circuit judges, a county judge, a municipal judge, two civil judges, a supreme court justice, seven members of the school board and one alderman at large are being balloted for in Milwaukee today.

The Socialists have candidates in the field for one of the circuit judgeships, one seat in the civil court, two places on the school board and the aldermanic position. The rest of the candidates are running as non-partisans and several have no opposition.

By voting solely for their candidates for directors of the school board the Socialists expect to elect their two representatives although they were badly outfought at the primaries. They also are fighting hard to capture one of the circuit judgeships.

Women are permitted to vote for school directors and it is expected that at least 5,000 of the fair sex will take advantage of their suffrage.

The early vote was fairly large and showed that there is more interest taken in this election than in any judicial contest for years.

Liquor Issue in Colorado.

Denver, Colo., April 4.—Municipal elections are being held today in every city in Colorado with the exception of Denver, the liquor question being the main issue in twelve municipalities.

Throughout the state interest centers in the fight between the "wets" the "drys." At Colorado Springs the issue is, "Will the tourists visit a dry town?"

Two years ago the famous scenic resort at the foot of Pike's Peak adopted prohibition. Declaring that this move had materially injured "tourist business," merchants of the city inaugurated a campaign for a restricted sale of liquor. Their plan permits hotels to serve liquor in their dining rooms and allows a restricted sale by druggists. Saloons will not be permitted in any event.

The little town of Colbran can lay claim to the apathy record. No nominations were made because no one could be found who wanted office. The ballots for Colbran have been printed in blank, and the voter may write in any names he sees fit.

Kansas Cities Voting.

Topeka, Kan., April 4.—Elections are being held today in all Kansas cities that have the commission form of government. Twenty-two cities are voting.

A mayor and four commissioners will be elected for four year-terms in the first-class cities and a mayor and two commissioners in the second-class cities. Kansas City, Kan.; Wichita, Topeka, Leavenworth, Parsons, Pittsburg, Coffeyville and Hutchinson are the larger cities voting.

Socialism is an issue in Wichita, Pittsburg and Iola, where the party has candidates in the field for mayor and commissioners. In Wichita A. L. Blase, a shoemaker and Socialist, is opposing John H. Graham, a former mayor of Wichita. "Milwaukeeize Wichita," is the party slogan.

Tickets headed by women are in the field in two of the smaller cities not governed by the commission form. In Galena Mrs. Sarah C. Scovall, a Socialist, is being supported by many Republicans and Democrats. Elmdale presents Mrs. M. E. Johnson, a widow, as one of its candidates for mayor.

Salina will vote on the acceptance of the commission form today.

Stormy at Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., April 4.—A primary election for the nomination of candidates for city offices is in progress here today. Despite the inclement weather the registration yesterday was unprecedently heavy, indicating that a full vote will be polled. For the principal offices, the candidates are: For mayor, J. Barry Mahool, the incumbent, and James H. Preston, Democrats; E. Claye Timanus, and Charles H. Torsch, Republicans. City comptroller, James F. Thrift and W. W. Cherry, Democrats; Frank W. Dryden and George R. Heffner, Republicans.

Today's election brought to a close the hottest mayoralty nomination contest on the part of the Democrats in the political history of the city. James H. Preston, whose candidacy was especially espoused by the regular organization, was opposed by Mayor Mahool, who was supported by both the Democratic and Independent newspapers of the city and the campaign has been marked by extreme bitterness on both sides.

NEW LIBRARY THIS YEAR

Work Will Begin on Carnegie Building Early in Summer.

Many Plans Submitted---Rapid Growth in Circulation of Branch.

West Duluth's new Carnegie library will be built this year, according to W. F. Bailey, a member of the library board from the western end of the city, who has been pushing the project.

A meeting of the library board was held yesterday afternoon, but the subject of the West Duluth branch was not touched upon, owing to the fact that there was not a full attendance of the members at the meeting.

Nevertheless, Mr. Bailey is of the opinion that actual work on the new institution, for which Andrew Carnegie donated $20,000, will be started before the early part of summer and that the new library will be completed this fall.

The members of the board have been slow in considering the plans and specifications presented by many architects and aim to secure the very best that is to be had for the money. It is understood that a keen rivalry has sprung up among the various architects and that a number of handsome designs have been submitted to the board, making it a rather hard matter to name the choice.

As soon as the board gets together again the plans will be selected and the contract let without any further delay. The site has already been purchased by the council. It comprises six lots at the northwest corner of Central avenue and Elinor street, for which the city paid $3,600. Last fall the donation of $20,000 was made by Andrew Carnegie, with the provision that the city purchase the site and spend 10 per cent of that amount, or $2,000, annually for its maintenance.

The branch at West Duluth, now housed in the Graham block, Central avenue and Bristol street, was instituted thirteen years ago and since that time has grown rapidly in favor. At the present time, the institution has a total of 3,433 cards in circulation issuing daily, nearly 200 books. During the past month ninety new cards were issued.

The March report of the branch library is a very encouraging one. It shows that the circulation of non-fiction books in the juvenile department has increased over 50 per cent during the past year. Last month the circulation of this class of books alone was 1,138. The total circulation of the month was 4,472 books, a gain of 301 over that of March, 1910. The circulation to adult borrowers during March at the West Duluth branch was 1,828, of which 1,657 were books of fiction. Juvenile readers borrowed 2,757, of which 1,599 were books of fiction.

During the past month, 100 new books were added to the library. Of this number, forty-five were fiction, and the balance non-fiction, classified as follows: Twenty on science, 14 miscellaneous, 12 on subjects of travel, history and biography, 6 of literature and 3 on religion and mythology.

MUNGER MAN GIVES EVIDENCE

Tells What the United Doctors' Treatment Has Done For Him.

The United Doctors have had their office located on the third floor of the Columbia building in Duluth but a few weeks, yet in that short time they have performed many marvelous cures, in fact, some of their work is almost miraculous, so sure and prompt is the relief given the patients.

News of the wonderful cures being made in old chronic and deep-seated diseases has spread over the state and now people from far and near are flocking to Duluth to be treated by these world famous medical specialists.

John Miller, who for many years lived on the corner of Fifth avenue and Seventh street, Duluth, and still owns the property there and who moved to Munger several years ago; a man who stands high in both Duluth and Munger, has written the following:

Munger, Minn., April 3, 1911.

United Doctors,
Duluth, Minn.

Dear Doctors—I make this statement for publication in the newspapers, in the hope that it may lead other sufferers to you for relief as I have been relieved by you.

I had been ailing for over three years with severe stomach and bowel trouble and with rheumatism. I was treated by several doctors who are considered good ones, but got no better. I tried many patent medicines without getting results. I finally got so I could not eat anything; if I did eat it was soon vomited up and I was fast losing my strength and vitality.

Finally I read of the cures being made by the United Doctors and decided to give them a trial. I commenced their treatment about two weeks ago and in that short time can say I have been greatly benefited. I can eat most anything and my stomach digests it. I have no more vomiting and no more gas on my stomach and my rheumatism is also better.

I can truthfully say I am much improved and am well pleased with the United Doctors' treatment.

JOHN MILLER.

In order to accomodate those who called last month and were unable to be examined on account of the rush of patients, the grand free offer has been extended to all who call before April 20th.

ANTI-RECIPROCITY CONVENTION HELD

Enthusiastic Gathering to Protest Against Canadian Agreement.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota anti-reciprocity convention was called to order this afternoon by ex-Lieutenant Governor A. S. Lewis of Fargo, who was immediately elected chairman. The convention is the biggest and most enthusiastic state gathering since territorial days. The attendance will go over 1,000 and plans are being made for an evening session. Theodore B. Elton was elected secretary, E. J. Lander was named chairman of program committee and Treadwell Twitchell of Fargo, chairman of the resolutions committee. The plan is to send an immense delegation to Washington to lobby against the adoption by congress of the Canadian reciprocity treaty and the committee will suggest that seven men be elected at this convention to represent North Dakota.

MARINE

LAST OF STORAGE GRAIN UNLOADED.

Yesterday the last boat of storage grain was unloaded at Buffalo. The G. L. Craig was the last boat to be unloaded at the levators, and it is expected that the first load of new grain will arrive in port in the next two weeks.

Last season at Buffalo the last boat was unloaded on April 5. They don't expect a heavy rush of new grain at the Buffalo elevators.

STACK IN CONTEMPT.

Escanaba Lumberman Fails to Appear in Court.

St. Louis, Mo., April 4.—Attorneys for Mrs. Roy E. Burbank yesterday began taking depositions in the suit for $50,000 instituted by their client against her former husband, Richard B. Stack of Escanaba, Mich., who was acquitted in the court here last Friday on a charge of kidnaping their son Richard III. Stack, who was cited to appear in court and show cause why a writ of habeas corpus directing him to turn the boy over to his mother should not be issued, dodged this proceeding by leaving the city at the conclusion of his trial on Friday. The forthwith attachment issued for him is still in the hands of the sheriff for service and the court held Stack to be in contempt for ignoring its summons.

The former wife's suit petitions for $10,000 she claims to have expended in searching for her son, asks $15,000 balm for mental anguish and prays for $25,000 punitive damages.

BEAUTIES OF THE NORTH

Railroad Will Advertise Vermilion Lake Country as Summer Resort.

Believed It Can Be Made a Great Summer Playground.

If there is any more beautiful natural summer resort in the country—or in the entire world, for that matter—than the Vermilion range country, the people of that section declare it is yet to be found. They have beautiful lakes, beautiful woods, an abundance of fish and, best of all, an unexcelled summer climate, to attract summer visitors and they are bent on informing people throughout the country of what the Vermilion country has to offer.

The Duluth & Iron Range railroad has undertaken to make a summer resort out of the Vermilion country and an advertising campaign that will be national in its scope is being inaugurated. Booklets, which will be supplied to railroad and steamship companies running into Duluth, are being prepared. They will set forth in descriptive language the relief from heat which the weary city dweller may find on the shores of beautiful Vermilion lake. They will describe the beauties of that body of water, which is undoubtedly one of nature's best works in Northern Minnesota. Other and smaller lakes will be photographed and described and the pamphlet will dilate upon the opportunities for fishing, hunting and boating, which the Vermilion country offers to its visitors.

The advertising campaign will not be confined to people already headed for Northern Minnesota. The booklets will be distributed all through the country and newspaper and magazine advertising will also be used in the campaign. The people of the Vermilion range declare that if the beauties of the country were known, the accommodations would not be sufficient to care for the crowds, which would flock from the cities to the cool shores of the many lakes on the range.

The Vermilion country has been growing in popularity of late years without any effort being made by the people of Tower and Ely to attract summer resorters. Now the people have decided that if so many people will go to Vermilion lake without solicitation, many others need only be informed of what Vermilion lake offers in order to be attracted there. The advertising of the country has begun and the Vermilion range should this year take the place as a summer resort for which nature has fitted it.

The Muskoka country of Canada was made one of the greatest summer playgrounds in the world by the Grand Trunk railway, and it did not have the natural advantages possessed by the Vermilion country. It is believed that Northern Minnesota will become equally famous in time and equally popular.

A Reliable Medicine—Not a Narcotic.
Mrs. F. Martl, St. Joe, Mich., says: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house." All druggists.

BETTER ROADS ON VERMILION

Association of Mining Companies Is Working for Improvements.

The Vermilion Range Progressive association, which was recently organized "to weed out wildcat concerns operating on the Vermilion," according to a member, held a meeting yesterday afternoon in the Sellwood building.

A committee was appointed to urge the county commissioners to build and improve highways tributary to the Vermilion range. One of the principal roads should be extended six miles, the mining men thought, so supplies could be taken to some mining companies which are now compelled to transport stuff through swamps and woods.

Only companies which are actually spending money in developing the Vermilion belong to the association. Among the companies represented at the meeting were: Almar Iron company, North American Mining company, Minnesota Steel & Iron company, Rice Bay Development company, Roy Development company, Vermilion Steel & Iron company, Extension company, North American Brick, Tile & Pottery company, Vermilion & Mesaba (Kennedy) Iron company, White Iron Lake Iron company and Chicago-Vermilion company. Each of the above companies has from 20 to 100 men at work.

Another meeting will be held in about two weeks.

WILL PROVIDE LIGHTER WORK

Many Men Physically Unable to Stand Labor at Rockpile.

The chairman of the executive committee of the Associated Charities has been authorized to appoint a committee whose duty it will be to find light work for men who are unable to stand the hard labor furnished at the rockpile. The chairman was given this authority at a meeting of the executive council held yesterday afternoon.

It has been found that many men who are worthy of help are not physically able to stand the work provided at the rockpile. Some of them have been ill, others have not the strength to stand it and in many cases they are just as worthy of help as others.

There are several instances of this condition at the present time. One man is a skilled mechanic but as he has been ill he will be unable to work at his old trade for some time.

It is thought for cases of this kind light work about houses, stables and gardens can be provided.

Not Guilty, Says Jury.

Raton, N. M., April 4.—After a seven-day trial, the jury in the case of J. H. Humphreys, alias "Nigger Arkansaw," and Henry Farr, charged with the robbery of a Wells-Fargo express messenger of $35,000, returned a verdict today of not guilty.

TWO CHARGED WITH ROBBERY

Colored Man Said to Have Used Gun to Intimidate Victim.

Maud Davis and Robert Turrell, colored, are under arrest at the police station facing a charge of robbery in the first degree. They are accused of having relieved Fred Houkanen of his roll late yesterady afternoon with the aid of a revolver.

According to the victim and a friend, Charles Maki, who was with him at the time, the negress enticed Houkanen to her room in a notorious resort on Lake avenue. She is said to have helped herself to $9 which he had loose in his pocket, and $60 in bills which he was carrying in a small tobacco sack.

Houkanen claims that he discovered his loss before he left the place and demanded his money back. He asserts that while he was still talking to her Turrell came into the room and drove him out at the point of a loaded gun. Houkanen then went outside and asked his friend to find a policeman, according to the story he told the police, and then went inside again to engage them in conversation until the officer should arrive. When he went back he states that the negress handed him the tobacco sack with the $60, and that the man had disappeared. While Houkanen was there Maki came back, accompanied by Patrolman Riedel, who placed the woman under arrest. Turrell was picked up this morning.

Both prisoners deny their guilt. They tell conflicting stories. Both deny that they were in the house at the time of the robbery. Turrell says that he was at the restaurant, and that when he returned he found Houkanen arguing with the woman about half a dollar. The woman says that she was at the restaurant, and when she returned she found Houkanen there.

THIEF ALREADY UNDER ARREST

Woodsman Finds Man Who Robbed Him Awaiting Him in Jail.

When Sam Nickolin walked into the police station last night for lodging, the first man he saw in the jail was John Ziance and he immediately accused him of having robbed him of $55 at Colbrath's camp near Mesaba Sunday night.

Ziance had been arrested earlier on suspicion of having committed the theft. Some men from the same camp pointed him out to a policeman, saying that he had robbed a man who had been in the same camp with them. They said that he didn't have the price of a railroad ticket and was walking to the city.

Nickolin was the man who had lost the money, but he didn't know that Ziance had been arrested on complaint of his friends. When he came to the station he found Ziance there, awaiting him to make the complaint against him, although he didn't know that at the time he made the accusation against the prisoner. He thought that he might be there for lodging the same as himself.

When Nickolin confronted Ziance the latter admitted that he had robbed him and offered to return the money to him. Most of it was found in the lining of his clothes when he was searched at the police station shortly after he had been arrested. He had $48 hidden away and had spent $7.

Ziance waived examination when arraigned in police court this morning and was bound over to await the action of the next grand jury. He said that he wanted to plead guilty. The man whose money he had taken had paid his railroad fare to the camp, as he was broke. They hired out together Saturday afternoon and Ziance took the money after the two had retired together Sunday night.

SENATE SESSION IS A QUIET ONE

Ceremonies in Upper House of Congress Are Brief and Formal.

Washington, April 4.—Notwithstanding that the initial ceremonies of the extra session in the senate were quite secondary in interest to those of the house, there still was a large attendance in the galleries and the scene was an animated one.

The only ex-senator present was 88-year-old Henry Gassaway Davis of West Virginia.

The ceremonies were brief and formal, consisting in the main of a brief prayer by the senate chaplain, Rev. Ulysses Grant Pierce, who petitioned that as a people we might be "delivered from strife within and warfare without"; the reading of the message calling the special session and the swearing in of the thirty newly elected senators.

Of the senators sworn, seventeen were men who never before had occupied seats in the senate. Twelve were Democrats and five Republicans, the new Democrats being Messrs. Bryan of Florida, Chilton of West Virginia, Hitchcock of Nebraska, Johnson of Maine, Kern of Indiana, Lea of Tennessee, Martine of New Jersey, Myers of Montana, O'Gorman of New York and Pomerene of Ohio.

The senate at 2:09 adjourned until tomorrow at noon.

CAUSES DEATH OF TWO.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 4.—Shock and grief caused by the discovery that his sweetheart, Anna Neumeister, aged 17, was his half-sister, caused the death of John Ott, who died in the street yesterday, according to the coroner's verdict today. Ott recently came to board at the Neumeister home. Sunday Mrs. Neumeister discovered the couple making love to each other and she told them of their relationship.

Unknown to Ott the body of Miss Neumeister had been taken from Lake Erie but a short time before he died.

The discovery of their relationship had prompted her to take her life.

STORM OF LARGE AREA INTERFERES WITH WIRES.

Chicago, April 4.—A storm reaching all over the Middle West and extending as far east as the Atlantic coast, caused telegraph companies considerable trouble today. It was centered over Arkansas and Oklahoma during the first part of the day. Many wire prostrations were reported and telegraph and telephone companies were compelled to re-route considerable of their business outside of the trunk lines.

NO DECISION ON SEWER

Council Committee Hears Both Sides of the Woodland Controversy.

Residents Claim Plan of Prof. Bass Answers All Requirements.

The council chamber at the city hall was filled with Woodland residents yesterday afternoon at the hearing held by the council committee on drains, sewers and sanitation on the proposed Woodland trunk sewer.

The matter was gone into thoroughly, both from the viewpoint of the residents and Prof. Frederick Bass, and the city officials. Prof. Bass has drawn plans for the sewer at the request of the Woodland people, which will cost approximately $36,000. The city engineer has drawn plans for a much larger sewer, which would cost approximately $115,000. The former would not take care of the roof water, and the latter is designed with that intention.

The meeting lasted until late in the afternoon, but the committee did not make any announcement of its intentions. The matter appears to be of such importance and involves such a mass of figures and data, that the committee wishes to take plenty of time considering it before making any recommendation one way or the other.

The position of the city engineer was set forth about two weeks ago in a lengthy communication to the city council, and the hearing yesterday did not develop any material changes in the stand taken by him at that time. It was in substance that a sewer nine times the capacity of that designed by Prof. Bass can be built for $115,000. That is following the same route as suggested by Prof. Bass. The department also prepared estimates of the same sewer as proposed by Prof. Bass. The engineering department estimated that it would cost $71,000 to build the Bass sewer, as compared with the estimate of $36,000 submitted by Prof. Bass.

The city officials state that they believe it would not be for the best interests of the city to build the sewer designed by Prof. Bass. If the Bass sewer is to be built they want Prof. Bass deputized as assistant engineer to take complete charge of the work and assume all responsibility. They also want the matter handled in such a way that the building of the sewer will not establish a precedent for the future construction of sewers in Duluth.

The residents of Woodland claim that the Bass sewer will answer all requirements, and that it is a useless expense to build a suburban sewer that will take care of roof water. The owners present yesterday strongly favored the plan of Prof. Bass.

SOCIALISTS ELECT TICKET.

Elect Every Official in Flint, Mich., Except Treasurer.

Flint, Mich., April 4.—The Socialist city ticket was elected yesterday with the exception of treasurer. John A. C. Menton won in a three-cornered contest for mayor by a majority of 841 over E. W. Atwood, Republican. The other Socialists elected on the city ticket are:

Fred J. Rumbold, assessor.

William A. Adams, justice of the peace.

B. Clifford Case, Republican, was elected treasurer by a plurality of 77.

The Socialists also elected three aldermen, three supervisors and two members of the board of education, one of the latter being the wife of the mayor-elect.

COPPERS WEAK AND LIFELESS

Values Show Little Life and Trading Is Unusually Dull.

There was an effort to bid up stocks today by the bulls so that they could distribute their holdings but the attempt did not meet with success. Some of the rails acted well but generally the entire list was dull and inactive. Lethargy pervaded the entire market. The failure of the supreme court to hand down decisions yesterday of interest to the market made traders more determined to hold aloof until the mooted questions are settled.

The market is of the opinion that the decisions will not be handed down for two weeks but the market, of course, does not know any more about it than an outsider who does not know anything. The supreme court does not take anybody into its confidence.

The feature of the specialty market was Fremont, which advanced about 1½ points, closing $4.75 bid and $5 asked. News of a favorable character from the mine was responsible for the bulge. Carman sold at 74c. Butte-Alex Scott at $4.75 and Calumet & Corbin at 22c.

Amalgamated sold at $63 to $62.75, Calumet & Arizona at $51.50 and $50.25, Giroux at $6, Ojibway at $6, Green at $6.37½, Shattuck at $18, North Butte at $28.25, $27.62½ to $27.75, Superior & Pittsburg at $14.37½, $14.50 to $14.25.

The bulletin produced by the Greene-Cananea company during March was 1,771 tons, yielding approximately 3,642,000 pounds of copper. The falling off of nearly 400,000 pounds from the preceding shorter month should not be considered insignificant, other than the determination of the management to keep the monthly output between 3,500,000 and 4,000,000 pounds.

A dispatch to Paine, Webber & Co. from Boston says: "It is probable that the Houghton Copper company will be called upon to do some new financing in the next few months. On January last the company had $53,531 of cash on hand, but this will soon be expended in shaft sinking, crosscutting and opening out the different levels. The company has 33,000 shares in its treasury and it is expected than any new financing will be in the form of an issue of treasury stock to be offered stockholders.

"Of the 67,000 shares now outstanding, 20,000 were issued at $5 per share, the remainder being issued in payment of land purchased from St. Mary's Mineral Land company and the Edwards estate."

Holders of stock of United Metals Selling company, who have consented to sale of their holdings to Amalgamated Copper company received no dividend for the first quarter of the current year. This is due to the fact that the dividend is included in the price to be paid for the stock. The United Metals Selling company, has been paying at the rate of 5 per cent quarterly for several years.

The Boston News Bureau had this dispatch today from Houghton: "Indiana's drop shaft has reached the ledge at a depth of ninety-seven feet. The work was accomplished without a hitch and reflects great credit upon Supt. Bennett, who is in direct charge of the work. It will be possible to begin blasting in solid rock immediately and this work may be expected to begin at once. The shaft is sunk near the point where the rich No. 2 drill core was taken out over a year ago which caused such a sensation at that time."

A dispatch to Paine, Webber & Co. from Globe, Ariz., says "The management of the New Keystone property will give no information concerning its plans for the immediate future, but that further development work is contemplated for the Keystone is obvious. The two churn drills that are no longer in operation at the Miami probably will be moved to the Keystone in a short time. Instead of the old hoist that was intended for use at the Keystone, a new electric engine probably will be installed. It is also said that the company will install an aerial tramway from the Keystone to the Miami mill, the former being about 400 feet higher than the Miami concentrator."

A dispatch from Miami says concerning the Live Oak: "In churn drill hole 45, 4 per cent copper has been encountered. Drilling in this hole has been delayed for some time as a result of damaged machinery, but is again under way, and the drill is 575 feet deep. It entered the ore at a depth of 550 feet. Hole 52, in which drilling was resumed on March 23, after a few days' delay occasioned by damaged machinery, is now 340 feet deep and is still in the commercial chalcite encountered sixty feet from the surface. Hole 53, started March 21, on the southwestern part of the property, is down 200 feet and still in the surface formation. All preliminary arrangements were completed, and shaft No. 2 (the new shaft) under way April 2 on the western portion of the Live Oak ground. This shaft will be sunk to a depth of 1,200 feet. Sinking in the old shaft (No. 1) is making satisfactory progress."

The Denver News says concerning the Duluth & Empire Mining company of which O. G. Olson of this city is president, and in which many Duluthians are interested: "The Duluth & Empire Mining company which has a group of fourteen claims on Eureka mountain at Empire, Colo., is driving a cross-cut tunnel in the Duluth tunnel which now in over 800 feet. Every vein on this group can be opened up. Several veins have already been cut and the principal ones are only a short distance ahead. When they are reached immense bodies of ore, it is expected will be exposed. The output from this property will add another large shipper to the Empire's present tonnage."

The property is a silver-lead proposition. The owners claim that the ore will average from $20 to $30 a ton, and that it can be mined for $3.

BAD HABITS OF MEN CURED!

Don't imagine for a moment that your bad habits will not have any permanent effect upon you. Every time you offend against the laws of nature, nature will take its revenge. Don't fool yourself with the belief that you can stop any time you want to." In one case out of a hundred the man is stronger than the habit he has contracted. In the other ninety-nine the habit WINS.

The Progressive Medical Association of Duluth has had wonderful success in preserving the cause and curing the results of vices of men. Hundreds of wrecks have received new life from their skill. Men who have allowed some bad habit to sap their manhood and weaken their will power without taking any steps to prevent it until outraged nature has refused to continue the unequal struggle any longer, have come to the Progressive Specialists mental and physical wrecks and have gone away, after cured, sound in mind and body.

What we have done for others we are willing and ready to do for you, but we want to impress upon you the necessity of not delaying any longer. Every day you delay gives the habit a greater hold upon you, and by weakening your will, makes it more and more difficult for you to throw it off. You have already noticed the symptoms, the fits of depression, you call them the "blues," in reality they denote you are suffering from Melancholia, a form of insanity which never leaves of its own accord when once it has obtained a foothold—it must be DRIVEN out—and that quickly, or it will land the sufferer in the asylum. That is all the warning that nature will give you. If you do not take the hint you will have to pay the penalty, both in your own mind and body, and in those of your children, for these results do not stop with the one generation. They become rooted in the family and will finally wipe that family completely out, if not checked.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

MENEICE TO HEAD TEAM

Big Sam Named as Manager of Duluth Semi-Professionals.

Spike Anderson and Perry Werden to Have Teams in Twin Cities.

A. W Kuehnow, former owner of the Duluth baseball franchise, announced yesterday that though he is out of the game for good he is lending some effort at the present time to get the semi-professional league started, after which his only connection with the game will be the ownership of Athletic park where the games of the semi-professional league will be played.

Announcement was also made yesterday that Frank Wegman of this city is one of the prime movers in the new league and that in all probability Sam Meneice, a former star member of the Duluth White Sox and also later with the Grand Rapids, Mich., team, will be the manager of the Duluth semi-professional team.

Sam will not go into professional company this year. He has a very good position in this city and will spend the summer in Duluth. But his position will enable him to play Saturdays and Sundays, which will probably be the only days on which the games of the semi-professional league will be played.

According to the information which reached this city yesterday, "Spike" Anderson, well-known to fans in this city, former manager of the Grand Forks and Winnipeg teams in the old Northern league, has agreed to place a fast semi-professional team in St. Paul and Perry Werden, former big league and Western league star, will have charge of the team in Minneapolis.

Both Anderson and Werden have had teams in the field during the past few seasons and should be very well acquainted with the situation in the Twin Cities. Both are acquainted with the best baseball players in the two cities and they will have no difficulty in putting two very strong teams in the league.

Locally there is not the least doubt in the world as to the status of the team that will very probably be organized in this city, if the semi-professional league becomes a reality. Players like Sam Meneice, Frank Schaefer, Frankie Summers, "Babe" Bennett, and some of the fast players on the strong amateur nine of this city would make good on the Duluth team, and should make the local aggregation one of the strongest in the league.

Word has been received from Virginia and Hibbing that baseball men in these two cities are very much in favor of the idea. With a strong team in Superior the semi-professional league would have six cities that are considered very good baseball towns.

If the league goes through the games here will be played at Athletic park. What arrangements have been made for games, or for a park at Superior, has not been stated. However, it was stated here yesterday that arrangements are being made at Superior at the present time for the organizing of a strong semi-professional aggregation, and that in the event of the league going through the team will be ready in time to start the schedule.

Mr. Wegman is enthusiastic regarding the idea and believes the league will be a success from the start. Many of the games here would be played while the White Sox are out of town. The semi-professional league would in no wise interfere with the professional game and would be the means of developing some fast youngsters that might be of great use to the White Sox.

Plans are expected to mature this week. When details have been arranged far enough a president will be chosen and the work of the schedule started. According to the present idea among baseball men figuring on teams, the first game will be played some time in May.

FORBES IS AGAIN TAKEN IN CHARGE

Chicago, April 4.—Harry Forbes, former bantamweight champion pugilist, who fought Champion Coulon at Kenosha, Wis., last week, was arrested late yesterday and turned over to a deputy United States marshal from Council Bluffs, Iowa. The marshal left for Council Bluffs with Forbes last night.

The prize fighter was arrested when the United States district court refused to grant him a new trial in the Mabray swindling cases, for which he was convicted two years ago.

Forbes was convicted in the United States court, together with eleven others, for participating in a series of swindles by means of "fake" foot races and boxing and wrestling matches. He was sentenced to a year in the federal prison at Leavenworth but was released on bond after serving a month. He declared yesterday he would appeal to the United States supreme court and expects to be released again on bond.

POLO PLAYERS ARE PRACTICING FOR MATCH WITH ENGLISHMEN

R. L. AGASSIZ.

Practice for the polo contest for the English cup is now going on at Lakewood. R. L. Agassiz, J. S. Phipps, Joshua Crane, J. E. Cowdin and other prominent American players are trying for the All-American team. It is considered reasonably certain that Agassiz will be one of the four to meet the English team when the international championship is played.

LANGFORD-McVEY FIGHT IN PARIS IS CALLED A BALD FAKE

As soon as the result of the Langford-McVey contest was announced, particularly when it was also stated that little Sam buffeted big Sam around the ring like a man lugging a sack of flour, in the first few rounds of the Paris quarrel, there was a suspicion in the minds of some of the followers of the game. Now comes a Paris dispatch stating that the fight was a frame.

If Sam Langford can't beat McVey, a second-rater at the best, inside of ten rounds, he has not even a right to ask for a fight with Jack Johnson, much less talk of how he will beat the Galveston black.

It is pretty hard to figure a line on this Langford person. He will pull his hows if he sees the opportunity of getting a return fight, for you know it is pretty hard for the Boston tar baby to get fights. Most of the heavies are afraid of him.

He pulled with Pueblo Jim Flynn, the Italian, strange as the name sounds, and then came back in the return fight and nearly caved in the sides of the tough fireman.

To some it would look like the Boston black baby is employing the same tactics in Paree. A return fight between the two negroes would very likely draw a packed house, for McVey is the hero on the French side of the line. That may be one of the reasons why Langford permitted the McVey person to stay and, again, maybe it is that Langford is overrated.

Anyway, the fight looks kind of funny, and the following dispatch may throw some light on the future of Langford even to get a decision:

Paris, April 4.—As the result of Saturday night's fiasco between Sam Langford and Sam McVey, the authorities will prohibit fights between negroes in the future. According to the newspaper Excelsior, the decree to this effect has already been prepared.

All the papers were unanimous today in condemning the fights between negroes recently held, and Saturday night's performance is labeled a bald fake.

CUE GAME SHARPENS EYE, SAYS NOISY JOHNNY KLING

Louisville, Ky., April 4.—"Batting, pool and billiard playing go hand in hand in sharpening the eye," says Johnny Kling, peerless backstop of the champion Cubs. And Noisy Jawn should know whereof he speaks, for he's been and is a champion of the green cloth as well as behind the log in the great national pastime. During a friendly game with fellow Cubs last night Kling paused to chalk his cue and incidentally to answer the queries of a native—"Does pool playing help the batting eye?"

"It surely does, and in more ways than one," replied the veteran. "I started playing pool and baseball at about the same time, shortly before I celebrated my 15th birthday. By day I'd play baseball and after the game would hurry to some nearby poolroom. Almost from the start I found that my judgment of distance in 'pegging' to first, second or third became better. In pool I also showed signs of improvement. I learned to study out every shot, too play for 'position,' as they say in the galleries, and it wasn't long before I could almost 'beat' a baseman standing motionless on any one of the various sacks. This I attributed not only to the fact that my arm was strong, but to my eyesight, sharpened each night by close games with the cue.

Of course, in these later days Johnny trades on his ability in the noble game of pool to pick up any available easy money, meeting all comers, if the side bet be large enough, in the various cities touched by the champions in their march through the sunny South. Only a few nights ago he toyed with a would-be shark at Mobile trimming the Southerner by a tidy margin after coaxing his opponent along and giving him the impression that he might eventually dethrone the former boss of the world at this style of competition.

When one pauses to consider the many fields wherein Kling can reap the golden harvest on the strength of his far-reaching reputation in baseball it's easy to account for the hefty bank roll accredited to him. There's the stage with the short engagements in polite vodeveal, the big pool and billiard emporium at Kansas City, the six months' salary paid during the championship season, plus his share of the world's series coin, barnstorming exhibition money and the side "pickins's" accrued in specially arranged match pool games in any city boasting of sharks who labor under the delusion that Kling is all-in-down-and-fit-for-the-cooling-board.

During his long career with the Chicago Cubs Johnny has hammered the leather annually at the rate of between .269 and .314. Pretty consistent batting for one who has study the box and the wide assortment of pitchers performing during the past eleven or twelve seasons. On the other hand, he has cut up some flossy didoes over the green goods, once suspending a run on 119 balls, although this feat was not performed in actual competition.

FIGHTERS HELD TO HIGHER COURT.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 4.—Justice Reeves yesterday held the quartet of principals and accessories to the alleged prize fight at Vernon, on March 17, for trial in the superior court. Ad Wolgast, lightweight champion, and George Memsic, the principals; Charles Eyton, referee, and Thomas J. McCarty, promoter, all appeared in court and were held in $1,000 bail each.

This was given by three of the men, but McCarty refused to provide bail and was held in custody. McCarty's object in allowing himself to be taken into custody was for the purpose of testing the law. Habeas corpus proceedings in his behalf were immediately instituted before Judge Hutton in the superior court. Judge Hutton issued an alternative writ, returnable April 10. McCarty was released on his own recognizance.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

Packey McFarland's Status in the Pugilistic World—The Chances of the Duluth Boat Club's Crews on Their Own "Grounds."

(BY BRUCE.)

WILL some one kindly answer what is going to be the pugilistic future of a certain brilliant youth from the stock yards district of Chicago who travels under the name of Packey McFarland?

There have been columns written about him recently. One of the reasons for this publicity is that the young man in question possesses a wonderful pair of hands, a wonderful pair of legs—and also, that he weighs just two pounds more than some of the other brilliant young men who are engaged in the same business, that of spoiling facial decorations.

This McFarland boy weighs something around 135 pounds. There are several other young men whom he is most anxious to meet in a bout that will decide the lightweight championship, and these boys lack the two pounds of being as heavy as McFarland. The two pounds in this instance present a barrier as high and as unassailable as the high walls that once surrounded dear old Jerusalem.

Packey quotes figures and precedent and then the other boys come back and point to the firm stand taken upon a very memorable occasion by a once prominent citizen of the fighting world, Oscar Battling Nelson, dabbler in real estate, politician, to the extent of being mayor of Hedgewisch, Ill., and incidentally, at one time lightweight champion of the world.

One time, or three times one should say to be correct, Mr. Nelson battled with Mr. Gans, an ebony warrior of great renown and heavy punch. Mr. Gans had won the title at a poundage varying from 135 to 137 pounds and he saw no reason why Mr. Nelson should not consent to come in at that weight.

Mr. Nelson, however, held the whip hand; he was flush of pocket and figuratively rolling in the filthy stuff that is not in the least filthy, while poor Gans was a humble beggar at the back door of pugilistic chance.

Hence the famous Shylock bargain was struck and the world looked on and saw a poor negro lad gamely making the weight that later killed him in the making. That is the precedent that some of the lightweights are holding before the eyes of McFarland as he quotes figures and older precedents to show why he has a perfect right to fight for the lightweight title at 135 pounds.

Mr. McFarland points out that George "Kid" Lavigne, one of the greatest young sluggers we ever had, fought Dick Burge, an Englishman of rugged physique and tough habits, at 138 pounds, and points further, that both boys were proud to call themselves lightweights.

To date this argument has had no effect upon a certain German youth from Cadillac, Mich., a farmer, a benedict, a broken bone specialist, the owner of an automobile and also a prize fighter — the champion, by the way.

Will the difference of two pounds keep the boys apart?

The boys are matched at the present time over a limited round route. It can hardly be called a championship affair by any wild gallop of the imagination. If Packey outpoints Wolgast in this affair, and he should, will the champion consent to a finish affair at 135 pounds.

It is unfortunate that McFarland packs the two troublesome pounds. They may bar him from gaining the championship of the world. He can't very well cut off an arm or leg and be seriously considered, and in the meantime, just what is he going to do about it?

'On Their Home Grounds,' Says One.

IN discussing the rowing regatta that will feature the carnival of next July, one young hopeful for the success of the local crews declared that the races would be held on "Duluth's own grounds."

Probably from the fact that this young man had seen numerous baseball games won on the home grounds, and knew that the home team was supposed to have some advantage, he figured that the crews of the D. B. C. would have some advantage rowing at home.

In the case of a rocking wind and high waves that might hold true, substituting water for "grounds." In the case of smooth water, except for the fact that the boys might row a little harder at home, with that gallery of fair faces beamin' over the water line, one can't figure out very much advantage.

Duluth will have to, work mighty hard the present season. The boys will have a new coach and will have the seasons of experience packed in their systems as well as in the archives of the club. This experience should help to win more than the fact that the races will be held over the St. Louis bay course.

Let us reminisce for a few lines.

There was the Winnipeg disaster. Dr. Lynaw took a green and heavy crew up to the Western Canadian metropolis and a very misbehaving shell. The shell was built in sections and there was a lack of harmony and unity between the three sections. Each one seemed to lack a knowledge of care of what the other section was going to do.

That crw rowed a good race, considering to the multitude of disadvantages it faced, for St. Paul sent some great crews to the "Peg" that season.

And then came the next regatta at St. Paul. Lynam again had the junior crew in charge and he turned from green candidates one of the best crews ever sent from this city. Lack of experience told some in the race at St. Paul, though Duluth won second place and was only beaten out by one of the greatest crews ever sent down from Winnipeg.

It should be mentioned, also, that the senior crew under the competent coaching of Murray Peyton won second place in the senior eight-oared race, beating out the crack Winnipeg senior crew.

And now we come to last season.

It was sure Duluth's turn to win. We had the men and the boat and also logic in our favor. Speaking from the book, it was our turn to cop. The crew started fine and rowed in good form for a month, and then something went wrong. Instead of progressing, which is quite the watch word of trusts, big business and political elections, the crew seemed to drop back.

Skipping mournfully along, it might be said that the junior crew taking part in both eight-oared races at Kenora, was handed an awful beating. Just what the fault was, no one has ever offered a reasonable and perfectly satisfactory explanation. We were beaten; that is all we know at the present time.

Now we are down to the present early spring season.

Mr. Ten Eyck has been engaged to find out just what has been the matter. According to advance dope, he is going to start with his own nideas and does not even want the men to go on the machines or on the water.

"Let 'em run," says Mr. Ten Eyck; "but keep them off the machines and don't permit 'em to learn bad habits."

He didn't mean habits as to morals; he merely meant not to permit the boys to get into the habit of rushing their slides, as some did last season, and bending their backs like a bow and yanking their arms.

We are starting another season with hope in our breasts, despite the things that have happened in the past; despite the fact that most of us believe that Winnipeg will send down two strong eights and that St. Paul will have one of the best eights, perhaps two, that the famous down river rowing organization has ever turned out.

Ten Eyck will have to show class to turn out a winning crew. Yet, when you stop to think of it, that is just what the officials of the club are going to pay him for, and therefore, it might be stated again, that the oarsmen of the club are starting another season wth hope sticking with the tenaciousness of mustard plasters, and hope, honestly and truly, to win.

Evansville, Ind., April 4.—It took the Chicago National eleven innings to beat the Evansville Central team yesterday, 4 to 2.

Naps Win in Seventh.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 4.—Cleveland defeated Chattanooga yesterday by a seventh inning bombardment and errors by the locals. Chattanooga, 1; Cleveland, 4.

Second Sox Win.

Sioux City, Iowa, April 4.—The Chicago Americans No. 2 defeated Sioux City yesterday in a rattling game.

Phillies Even Up Series.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 4.—By winning yesterday's game from the local Americans by a score of 5 to 1, the Philadelphia Nationals evened up the inter-league series. Moore, Beebe and Rowan pitched well for the Nationals. The last two were obtained from Cincinnati and their work was watched closely. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Nationals	5	6	1
Americans	1	5	1

Moore, Beebe, Rowan and Dooin; Russell and Livingstone and Thomas.

Giants Swamp Greensboro.

Greensboro, N. C., April 4.—The regular squad of the New York Nationals defeated the local club of the Carolina association, 11 to 0 here yesterday.

KOHLER MAKES GOOD SHOWING

Packey McFarland Unable to Stop Cleveland Boy in Ten Rounds.

Canton, Ohio, April 4.—Packy McFarland failed to stop Paul Kohler of Cleveland in their ten-round bout before the Canton Athletic club last night but the Chicago fighter earned a decision on points, although none was given.

McFarland had the upper hand in nearly every round. The Clevelander put up a game battle to the end but he had little show against McFarland. He was satisfied, however, with his showing, for after the first round he realized that the stockyards fighter had him outclassed. Kohler surprised McFarland several times by landing clean blows to the face when the Chicago man thought he had Kohler at his mercy.

CATCHES GIANT TARPON.

Fred Stephenson of Marinette Lands a 187 Pounder.

Marinette, Wis., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred M. Stephenson, a nephew of Senator Isaac Stephenson, who distinguished himself as a lion hunter in company with Theodore Roosevelt in Africa, is now on the coast of Mexico fishing, hunting and watching the battles between the insurgents and federals. He has sent word to his Menominee friends that the most exciting battle he has seen yet was between himself and a monster tarpon. To prove his words he has sent back a picture taken with his trophy, a fish 6 feet 8 inches long and weighing 187 pounds. Mr. Stephenson landed the fish with a hook and line, demonstrating his skill as an angler is equal to his prowess as a hunter. Besides Fred and his fish, C. K. G. Billings, the New York horseman, appears in the picture.

PIEBS IS AWARDED TO LA CROSSE CLUB.

Auburn, N. Y., April 4.—The national board of arbitration of the national association of baseball leagues last night handed down the following decisions:

Awards—Joseph Piebs to La Crosse, Wis.

Applications to be released from Rochester, Minn., reserve list, Frank O'Leary of Chicago, granted; of B. F. McNeil of Rochester, N. Y., to be released from Winnipeg reserve list, disallowed.

Claims—Of Cy Young against Rochester, Minn., allowed; of the Western Canada league against Regina, Sask., for $453, allowed and paid.

The national board acted favorably upon and decided to recommend to the annual meeting of the National association the proposition that all reserved players must be tendered a contract on or before Feb. 1 of each year.

DATE IS SET FOR DINNER

Boat Club Members Will Dine Monday Evening at Commercial Club.

Medals and Trophies for Four Departments Will Be Presented.

The long-deferred dinner and presentation of medals to the winning athletes of the Duluth Boat club will be held Monday evening at the Duluth Commercial club. The dinner will be for the four departments of the club and all prize winners will be the guests of the organization.

Every member of the club is invited to be present and tickets can be secured from the secretary of the Duluth Boat club, Albert Ames, or the captain of any of the four departments.

At the dinner Monday evening there will be the pennants and prizes won in the sailing division, the cups and pennants won by the motor boat owners, the various prizes won in the field department, which includes the tennis players, and the cups and medals that were won during the season by the oarsmen.

The dinner is expected to be one of the big events of the season and some of the plans of the four departments will undoubtedly be given out at that time. It will be a general get-together affair, and should result in more enthusiasm and more interest in the doings of the four departments of the club for the coming season.

All of the prizes, cups and pennants that will be presented Monday evening will be placed on display in Bagley's window during the next few days. There are some very handsome trophies which will make a very good showing.

Invitations to the affair at the Commercial club are being sent out today and the officials of the club expect a large attendance. This is the first time that the four departments of the club will have been united around the banquet board. A year ago the sailors of the club held their banquet apart from the rest of the club and announced some very important plans at the dinner.

It is expected that some of the plans of the sailors will be made public at the dinner Monday evening, as well as some of the special events that will come under the head of the field department, which are being planned for the carnival.

RUSSIAN CARRIES MUCH COIN AWAY

Hackenschmidt Earned More Than $20,000 on American Wrestling Tour.

New York, April 4.—George Hackenschmidt, the "Russian Lion," sailed away for Europe Wednesday with some $13,000 in good American money tucked away in his jeans. He earned this coin, and $7,000 more in four months of exhibition wrestling bouts. One thing more Hack took with him—better than all the money, although it means added wealth if nothing else to the big fellow. He is matched with Frank Gotch—or rather as good as matched, as some details are yet to be arranged—for a date in the fall. Gotch is the man who robbed him of his title, and Gotch has since been his goal.

Manager Jack Curley was quick to take up Gotch's offer of $20,000 cash, win or lose, to meet any wrestler in the world. The Iowa farmer has since agreed to accept, and the bout will probably be waged in American League park, Chicago, under a big circus top, on labor day. None will be more interested in the outcome than Curley. He has a fifth interest in the club that shoulders Gotch's money.

Was Sure Enough Gamble.

Hackenschmidt was to work on percentage, but Curley has released him from all worry incidental to the size of the audience by guaranteeing him a lump sum. Then, again, should Hack win, it means a small fortune to the promoter from future matches, which will fade to nothingness in case of defeat. It is one of the biggest gambles in sport since the Johnson-Jeffries fray.

But Curley is essentially a gambler on business propositions. He put $20,000 in escrow for Hack in return for four months' work before the wrestler left Europe. That his judgment was verified may be seen in his $11,000 in profits. He found in the foreigner a peculiar sense of honor and fairness. It took a unique turn when settling day came. Hack found himself $15,000 to the good after deducting money spent and sent home. He couldn't see why he should be so much richer than his director and split the difference by giving Curley $2,000 to equalize things. Don't faint. It really happened.

Hack Stakes His Brother.

Curley had to hustle to make good his contract, but he secured dates with such great success that Hackenschmidt slept in bed but six nights during the four months.

Hack recently advanced $2,500 to a brother to invest in a small business. The brother invested in small celluloid chips at Monte Carlo instead—with the usual results. The wrestler was not disturbed when he heard the news. "I gave him the money without any strings. It was his to do as he pleased with. Give him some more? Oh, no. It is his business to get more," said Hack philosophically.

WAR IN THREE I LEAGUE IS ENDED

National Commission Decides That Eight Club Circuit Shall Be Retained.

Chicago, April 4.—The national baseball commission, after eight hours' conference, late yesterday decided that the Three I league must remain intact as an eight-club league. The decision is a final victory for the Waterloo, Iowa, club in its fight to retain a place in the league and marks the finale of a fight that has lasted several months and has been thrashed over in the civil courts as well as all baseball tribunals, finally reaching the highest court of baseball authority, the national commission.

The ruling last night was on the effort of the four southern clubs, acting at the suggestion of the national commission, to make the league a ten-club organization. Waterloo and the other northern clubs, Rock Island, Dubuque and Davenport fought the plan, fearing it would throw the balance of power to the southern clubs and result in a meeting at which Waterloo could be ousted legally.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT TEAM WINS FROM SUPERIOR.

Last evening the boys' department basket ball team of the Y. M. C. A. defeated the Ericsson alumni of Superior, the score being 34 to 23. At the end of the first half the score was 18 to 8 in favor of the locals and at no time during the game were the Duluth boys in danger.

The game was fast and interesting and showed improvement on the part of the Duluth players. The Superior team defeated the locals earlier in the season and for that reason the victory last evening was in the nature of a revenge upon the part of the local players.

NEBRASKA SENATE PASSES BASEBALL BILL OVER VETO.

Lincoln, Neb., April 4.—The senate yesterday afternoon passed the Sunday baseball bill over the veto of Governor Aldrich. The bill will be sent to the house today.

Chicago Policeman Shot.

Chicago, April 4.—Patrolman J. J. McGuire was shot and probably fatally wounded late yesterday while attempting to end a fight between union labor factions disputing over work on a new office building in the down-town district. A score of shots were fired before the police ended the row.

Drink Beer With Your Meals

GOOD beer, unlike the other beverages generally used at meal time, has a value beyond its thirst-quenching and refreshing qualities. The malt contained is in itself a food, the hops provide a valuable tonic and the small percentage of alcohol is a valuable aid to digestion. Choose a beer that is absolutely pure, that is aged so perfectly it cannot cause billiousness and that has a genuinely delicious flavor. Such a beer is

MEXICANS DON'T TALK

Spirit of Unrest Does Not Appear on the Surface.

Reform Movement Has Sympathy of Citizens, Says Duluth Visitor.

J. Mercer Sidney, a wholesale spice man who makes the big cities on a circle tour of over half the continent, slipped in from Omaha this morning, on a homeward-bound tour from the City of Mexico. Denver and Pueblo being dots of passage on his way to Duluth.

"In the City of Mexico they seem to hardly know the war is on," said Mr Sidney, in response to a question regarding conditions in the capital of Mexico.

"They say that in some parts of the South they do not know the war is over. You might put reverse English on that and say that from outward appearances, down in the Mexican capital they do not know that the war has started.

"Don't gather from this that the people are not exactly aware that some fragmentary fighting, or guerilla fighting, whatever you will, is going on. They are aware, all right enough. Mind. I said that from their appearance and general bearing you would never judge that they were aware of the existence of any armed trouble.

"Life proceeds gaily in the City of Mexico, they ride out in their carriages, and in the evening there is scarcely any change from the conditions that have prevailed in the past. That is merely in the surface.

"In connection with my business I had the opportunity of meeting a very solid and conservative business man of the capital. His conversation gave me a very clear idea of the view that some of the people down there take of the revolution.

"They are in favor of reform and don't talk about it. They are tired of tyranny and you would never know it. The revolution has the sympathy of many of the people whom you never suspect, and yet so different is Mexico from any republic that you and I might dream of, that these people would not think of giving their ideas the least publicity.

"Believe me when I say that the rule of Diaz is just about as absolute as that of the czar of Russia. Troops have enforced the will of the president for the past two decades. There are intrigues among the people, among the officials and even among the soldiers, if some of the things I heard are reliable, and yet the stranger would imagine that utmost peace and rest prevailed, would never for the moment suspect that a sentiment of unrest was stirring the entire people.

"In my opinion nothing very much will come of the present revolution. In my opinion, for the second time, it just missed being great, as they say of some men. The country is almost ready for a complete overthrow of the present conditions. But Diaz still possesses wonderful strength in many quarters, he has built a machine that so far has defied the hatred of his enemies. With a little more encouragement the people might rise and make the fighting an increasing force that would overthrow completely the machinery of government.

"Mexico must be reformed in the near future, if the government hopes to keep down the revolutionary spirit, for the government officials are just beginning to know how strong this feeling against the government is growing, and has at last begun to take the reform idea with some degree of seriousness."

JUST KEPT ON WALKING

Dying Man Tramped 300 Miles With No Destination in View.

Will Probably Be Deported to Old Home in Austria.

After walking over 300 miles, from a point in North Dakota to Aitkin, Minn., without any definite destination in view, Marko Vukonic, a victim of tuberculosis, was supplied with transportation to Duluth and he is now at the poor farm awaiting orders for his deportation to his old home in Austria.

Vukonic came in on a train from the Cuyuna range last evening and went to the police station seeking lodging. The police immediately saw that he was a physical wreck. His body is emaciated from the effect of disease and the hardships he encountered. Frequent coughing spells threaten to end his life. He is absolutely helpless. He was allowed to sleep in the police station last night and this morning was taken to the office of Brown McDonald, inspector in charge of the immigration office. Mr. McDonald sent him to the poor farm until his case can be reported.

Vukonic came to this country in May last year and went to North Dakota, where he worked in the harvest fields last summer and fall. He said this morning that he started to walk about the first of the year and kept on walking with a few stops for rest until yesterday, when he arrived at Aitkin. He might have asked for assistance at any of the towns along the way, but did not do so. He had no destination in view, but kept on walking, sometimes almost overcome by cold, often seemingly on the point of death.

When he arrived at Aitkin yesterday he was in a pitiful condition and he was taken in charge by a physician, who gave him temporary relief and who assisted him in getting sufficient money to carry him to Duluth. He gave Vukonic a letter to the Duluth police and the man took it to the station when he arrived.

As he is now a public charge and has been in the country but a short time, he will undoubtedly be deported. He has not long to live anyway, it is believed, and the government will probably send him to his old home to die.

PRISONER JUST WALKED OUT

Escaped From Courtroom in Minneapolis—Arrested Here.

Michael Barrett, wanted in Minneapolis, where the authorities hold a commitment sending him to Stillwater for two years, was arrested in Superior yesterday afternoon. He had been convicted of grand larceny, in the district court of the Flour City, and it is stated that he got away by walking out of the court room after he had been sentenced. Since making his getaway he has served time in the county jail for petit larceny. He was turned over to Deputy Sheriff Schutta of the Minneapolis force after he had been brought here from Superior.

FERGUSON WOULD FIGHT SAPULPA'S "WHITE HOPE."

Boston, Mass., April 4.—Sandy Ferguson of Chelsea intends to take a trip to Oklahoma next week. The Chelsea strong boy has been training quietly at Portland for his bout with Andy Morris, which is to be decided at the Auditorium. In the event of outpointing Andy, he will immediately make preparations to go after the "white hope" of the West.

Phil Howlett, his manager, has been negotiating with Messrs. Stone and Frampton, the Sapulpa promoters, and they have encouraged him to think that they will stage Sandy within a few weeks.

For that reason Ferguson has been preparing more carefully than he does ordinarily. Sandy is eager to go to Sapulpa. He concedes that the task with Morris is a tough one, but if he can go through the ordeal with the East Boston cyclone he is satisfied that he is in the proper physical shape to give Carl Morris all he can attend to in a contest of any distance.

The journey in Portland is six rounds. Ferguson will use his long left in the short distance to keep Morris off. The latter is confident that Sandy can't stop his rushes. Up to date the East Boston cyclone has dashed through all his opponents with surprising ease.

STIFF FINE FOR KEEPER OF POOL HALL.

"The pool hall is the last place young men go to before they find their way into the saloon," said Judge Windom in police court yesterday afternoon in sentencing Joe Di Marco after he had entered a plea of guilty to allowing a minor to play pool in his place on Michigan street near Second avenue west.

"They are a curse. I wish the police would arrest every pool hall man who allows young men in his place as fast as they go in," he continued. "It's a practice that ought to be stopped."

Di Marco was fined $50 and costs, with the alternative of thirty days in the county jail. He said he would pay his fine. Di Marco was accused of allowing Arthur Johnson, a minor, to frequent his place. The boy's mother was in court and said that she had had great trouble in trying to get him to break the habit. Johnson was also arrested, but was given a suspended sentence after pleading guilty of loitering in the pool hall. There is an ordinance which prohibits boys under 18 years of age from going into them. Johnson lacked one day of being 18. Had he been arrested today it would have been impossible to arraign him on that charge.

SUPERIOR

BEGS FOR RAZOR TO END HIS LIFE

Andrew Koja Would Repeat Attempt to Commit Suicide.

Andrew Koja, who three weeks ago, on St. Croix avenue, slashed his throat in an unsuccessful attempt to end his life and who was released but a few days ago from St. Mary's hospital, is still bent on suicide.

At Superior yesterday, Koja was arrested, pending an investigation as to his sanity. Boarders at a lodging house at 501 Hughitt avenue, where he was staying, were alarmed at his presistent requests for a "razor" or "sharp knife."

Koja was a newcomer at the boarding house and the proprietor feared to trust him to himself and had the police take charge of him. He has been in this country but a short time, being a native of Finland. He is a single man.

The police will probably send Koja before a lunacy commission.

HOSPITAL MUST PAY ASSESSMENT

Secular Institution Not Exempt From Special Taxes, Decision of Court.

Hospitals operated by church societies are not exempt from the payment of special assessment taxes levied against the property according to a decision handed down yesterday by Judge Smith of the superior court in a test case brought before him.

The court gave a judgment for the United States National Bank of Superior against the Poor Handmaids of Jesus Christ, the corporation which operates the St. Mary's hospital, for $125 and interest from the early part of 1906, making a total of $164.31. Power is given the sheriff to sell the hospital property if the judgment is not paid.

The bank held a number of special assessment checks issued in 1906 against the hospital property, the special tax being made for a sewer. The certificates passed into the hands of the bank and when the hospital disclaimed the legality of the certificates, the bank sued on the paper.

MEASURE PROVIDES FOR A BUILDING INSPECTOR.

At the meeting of the common council this evening, it is expected that an ordinance will be introduced creating a new office—that of a building inspector. The ordinance will also include a complete building code, fixing the requirements to be met in building new structures and repairing old ones. The city officials have spent several months in drafting the new ordinance.

SUSPECTS WILL ANSWER FOR SHOOTING BRAKEMAN.

Thomas Hunter and Harry Sergant, arrested first as suspects in the shooting affair at Allouez recently in which Patrolman Jackson was wounded, will be arraigned in police court tomorrow for shooting at A. Cushway, a South Shore road brakeman at Parkland. The young men are said to have admitted shooting at the brakeman. The police have no evidence to hold them for the shooting of the policeman.

Jackson Funeral.

The funeral of Herman Jackson, aged 41, for eighteen years a resident of Superior, who died at his home, 413 Cumming avenue, Sunday evening, will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Pilgrim Lutheran church, Broadway and Weeks. Jackson is survived by a wife and four children.

March Light Month.

March was one of the lightest months in years at the Superior police station, little of interest transpiring in police circles. There were but 292 arrests made and only $1,420.83 was taken in by the municipal court. The Stilson murder and the Jackson shooting were the only serious crimes.

Oratorical Contest.

Eight boys have entered the annual oratorical contest which will be held at the high school Thursday evening. They are: Stanley Anderson, Oswald Anderson, Curtis Johnson, Ray Wehrle, Fred Monaghan, Carl Helmuth, Hugh MacArthur, and Lawrence Ferguson. The winner will go to Washburn to the district contest and the winner there to Ashland in the state contest.

County Convention.

The annual county convention of the Modern Woodmen of America will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Odd Fellows hall at South Superior. It is expected that about fifty delegates will be in attendance. Delegates will be chosen for the state and national conventions and other business will also be disposed of.

Sold Without License.

Two men paid fines of $50 each, when arraigned yesterday afternoon in municipal court before Judge Parker on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday. They were James Larson, bartender at the Marine Bar, 1101 North Third street, and Mike Krokas, a lower Tower avenue saloonkeeper.

SAY COWAN WAS DRUNK.

Mann declared that he had seen Cowan when he was drunk, being on two election days of last year. The other evidence had to do with a case of intoxication upon the part of Cowan in the Gordon livery barn, it being claimed that Cowan had been in the barn the night before election, remaining there all night and that he was intoxicated. It was claimed in the evidence submitted today that Cowan had been drunk on the city primary and general election days last year.

SHORTS BUY IN DULL MART

Values Up Slightly—Trading Light—Foreign News Bullish.

Receipts Lighter—More Precipitation—Premiums Firmer.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 4.—Wheat advanced today, May climbing ⅛@⅛c and July went up ¼c. Cash wheat was ½c over the near delivery. Durum was ¼c up. Oats and rye were unchanged. Barley prices fell in sympathy with the weakness in the Milwaukee market. Barley lost 2c.

Flaxseed closed 1c off at $2.47a. Winnipeg May closed at $2.39 and La Plata seed for delivery this month at Antwerp was $2.08. Yesterday's quotation was in error. It should have been approximately $2.10.

Shorts took profits today in an extremely dull market. The Chicago market was closed on account of the municipal election in that city, which made the speculative activity in American market exceedingly small.

Sables were ⅜@⅜d higher on account of a summary on the European crops which was issued on the other side and which was less bearish than expected. The European visible supply of wheat decreased 616,000 bu against an increase of 1,188,000 bu a year ago. Bradstreet's report on world's supplies showed a decrease in the visible of 1,471,000 bu compared with an increase of 2,402,000 bu a year ago. These figures caused some short covering and induced traders to proceed with caution until further developments in the market show a tendency of price fluctuations downward or upward.

Receipts in the Northwest took a sudden slump and this gave the Northwestern markets a firmer undertone which was enhanced by the steady demand for choice spring wheat with a resultant firming of premiums.

The weather map showed continued scattered precipitation and the few crop reports received from the Southwest were merely a repetition of the favorable news already received. Snow or rain is predicted by the government for the three Northwestern states, Kansas and Nebraska, to be followed by colder weather which should be advantageous as it will tend to check too hasty growth of the winter plant. Sleet in Nebraska did not have any apparent effect on the market.

Liverpool reported Australian offers to be more firmly held and the continent is making inquiry for near cargoes. Reports on the Russian and German crops were less bearish than expected.

MARKET GOSSIP

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: Wheat—Speculatively the market was affected at the opening by the weakness in America yesterday, and values here were ¼@⅜d lower. Following the opening the market developed a very firm undertone, with shorts and speculators buying, and values advanced ½@⅝d, with offerings light. Support was due to an improved demand for both cargoes and parcels, firmness of Australian offers and an expected decrease in the European visible. The continent is again making inquiry for near cargoes, which are more firmly held. Our summary was a little bearish, and private advices both regarding the outlook in Germany and Russia are less favorable. There was an improved demand from millers, and there was a noticeable increase in outside buying orders for futures. At 1:30 p. m. the market was firm and ½@⅝d higher than the opening and ⅛@⅜d higher than yesterday.

Corn—At the opening the market was quiet and unchanged. Later there was an advance of ⅜d, in sympathy with wheat and fewer American offers, together with an improved demand for spot. European visible supply of wheat this week amounts to 112,568,000 bu against 113,184,000 bu last week, thus showing a decrease of 616,000 bu. Last week there was a decrease of 1,088,000 bu and last year an increase of 1,188,000 bu, when the total amounted to 96,548,000 bu.

Some telegrams received by The Herald: Grand Forks, N. D.—The normal precipitation here is three inches for winter. This winter the precipitation has been 3.67 inches. Only five winters since 1891 have equaled this record. Last winter the precipitation was 2.05 inches and the previous winter it was 1.83 inches. In the last twenty-four hours there has been widespread snow and rain throughout the state and there is an abundance of moisture.

The Red River valley reports an excellent outlook. There is more land plowed and in better condition for seeding than last year. Seeding was slow to start this year and very little has been done, as farmers not only learned a lesson from too early seeding last year, but snow has interfered with the work. Seeding probably will be general about April 10.

The acreage near here will be about the same as last year, wheat and oats predominating. There will be an increase in the acreage of corn. Barley acreage will be smaller than last year on account of a scarcity of seed. The flaxseed acreage will also be smaller in Eastern North Dakota and the Red River valley, as seed is scarce and high.

Minot, N. D.—Snow has been heavy near here in the last four days. Farmers are optimistic over crop prospects. March has been a dry month, the precipitation being less than any March in the last nineteen years, but the winter precipitation was heavier than normal. The ground is in good condition.

Summit, S. D.—There has been very little snow or rain in this region and moisture is seriously needed.

Whitewood, S. D.—Farmers are busy. Sixty per cent of the ground in this part of the state was plowed last fall. The farmers are optimistic. Alfalfa and sugar beets will be heavily grown. Crops will be diversified.

Cotton Market.

New York, April 4.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 3@5 points in response to better cables than expected and the reports published after the close yesterday that the international spinners federation's canvass showed world's mill stocks on March 1 to be 200,000 bales less than last year. Old crop shorts were buyers early and there seemed to be comparatively little May for sale. That portion sold up to the net advance on 10 points, but favorable weather reports held later months back and the market during the middle of the morning was quiet, with prices ruling about 3 to 7 points above the closing figures of last night.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points higher; middling uplands, 14.50; middling gulf, 14.75. No sales. Futures closed steady; closing bids: April, 14.34; May, 14.44; June, 14.24; July, 14.22; August, 13.70; September, 13.05; October, 12.71; November, 12.65; December, 12.61; January, 12.60.

STRENGTH IN STOCKS

Great Northern and Northern Pacific Most Conspicuous Features.

Rise in These Shares Is Associated With Canadian Reciprocity.

New York, April 4.—Gains were reported in the majority of cases at the opening of the stock market today. Exceptional strength was shown by Canadian Pacific, which jumped 3 points to 226¼, equalling its highest record. National Biscuit advanced 2 points to 138, a new high record; Union Pacific gained a point and New York, New Haven & Hartford lost 1½.

Speculation assumed no pronounced trend during the morning session and the market was quiet. After a rise in the first hour, prices declined again and by noon the bulk of the active stock showed little change. Some issues which were influenced by particular causes, fluctuated widely. Expectations that the reciprocity agreement would be ratified, was responsible for the buoyancy of the Canadian group and the improvement of the Hill stocks. National Biscuit touched 140½, an over-night gain of 4½, the buying stimulated by predictions that an extra dividend was in prospect. American Woolen moved up more than a point.

The delay in procuring an executive head for Missouri Pacific caused selling of that stock by recent purchasers and it declined a point. Bonds steady.

The pronounced strength of the Canadian group had its effect on various trans-continental railroad stocks, which advanced sharply. Canadian Pacific increased its gain to 4 points, Northern Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern, Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic preferred, Wisconsin Central, Pacific Mail and Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie all rose a point or more. Associated Oil opened 4 points down at 55 and rallied on the next transaction to 58. Active stocks were easier at 11 o'clock. Reading reacted a large fraction.

The market closed dull and strong. Late trading was marked by increased activity of strength, in which Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific were the most conspicuous features. The rise in these shares was again associated with Canadian reciprocity. Canadian Pacific recovered practically all of its decline. The active group was for the most part only fractionally above yesterday's final quotations.

THEOLOGICAL STUDENT IS ARRESTED AGAIN.

Otto Ringle, who claims to have been a theological student who was started on the downward path while studying for the ministry, was in police court again yesterday afternoon, charged with vagrancy. He pleaded guilty and got thirty days straight in the county jail.

The police reported that he spends all his time loafing about saloons and that he is a hopeless case. Ringle said that he started to drink and carouse because he got into bad company while attending the theological school. He recently recited his history in police court.

HINES RAISED $100,000 TO ELECT WILLIAM LORIMER

STATE-WIDE PRIMARY MADE SPECIAL ORDER IN HOUSE ON APRIL 12

Expected That It Will Pass and Be Signed By Governor.

New Reapportionment Measure Is Delayed for Another Day.

House Passes Bill Making Many Changes in Drainage Law.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the house will vote on the state-wide primary bill recently passed by the senate was assured this morning by the adoption by the house of a motion by Representative N. J. Holmberg of Renville county, recalling the bill from the house committee on elections and making it a special order for Wednesday afternoon, April 12.

The committee is given until next Wednesday to make its report, but under the motion the bill will be voted upon by the house at that time, no matter what the report of the committee may be. The chances are ten to one that the house will pass the bill, so, unless Governor Eberhart should veto it, which isn't likely, at the next election in Minnesota there will be no party conventions whatever, and the people will nominate all candidates for elective public offices, except possibly the judiciary.

Representative Holmberg was careful to state that he did not wish his motion to be as casting any reflection on the elections committee, which he believed to be fair. The time is short in which to take action on this important matter, he said, and there is need that a day be fixed for voting on it.

The vote on his motion was 87 to 6, Representatives Greene, Hoffman, Lydiard, H. Nelson, O'Brien and C. E. Stone voting against it.

On motion of Representative J. N. Johnson of Canby, supported by Representative Chester A. Congdon of Duluth, the house this morning advanced to the head of the calendar the senate bill by Senator Wilson ,proposing a constitutional amendment removing all

KOHLSAAT'S INFORMANT

Tells Committee That Lumberman Asked Him to Help on Fund.

Sensational Testimony By Manager of American Harvester Company.

Company Refused to Contribute $10,000 Asked as Its Share.

Springfield, Ill., April 5.—H. H. Kohlsaat today told the senate bribery investigating committee that Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company, was the man who informed Mr. Kohlsaat that a slush fund of $100,000 was put up to elect Lorimer.

To the first question of Attorney J. J. Healy, Mr. Kohlsaat identified a telegram sent by him to Chairman Helm, saying his confident called at the Record-Herald office and was willing to appear before the committee.

"When I arrived at my office, Clarence Funk called and told me he would be less than a man if he held me to my confidence," testified Mr. Kohlsaat.

"Mr. Funk told me that he had talked with Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the company, and told him he thought

KILLED BY THE HOUSE

County Assessor and Constitutional Convention Bills Are Buried.

Knapp Bill Fixing Range District Court Terms Is Passed.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—One judging by results might have thought the house in murderous mood yesterday afternoon.

In reasonably quick succession it killed these important bills:

The county assessor bill, recommended by the tax commission and introduced by the committee on taxes and tax laws.

The Kneeland bill providing for a constitutional convention.

The bill by Iver J. Lee requiring food packages to be labelled with the names of manufacturers or jobbers and the net weight, and to contain full weight.

The Diessner bill, requiring the board of regents to use the $50,000 appropriated two years ago to build a college of homeopathy at the state university, regardless of the fact that there are but a handful of homeopathy students.

The anti-treating bill, by Representatives Palmer and Hopkins.

While it might seem, from this list of fatalities, that the house was mur-

PAY TRIBUTE TO VICTIMS OF FIRE

Members of Ninety Labor Unions Have Parade in New York.

New York, April 5.—Ninety labor unions, with a membership of a quarter of a million persons, prepared today to pay public tribute to the memory of the victims of the Washington place fire by parading through the streets of lower Manhattan. In the two parades during the afternoon it was believed that many thousands of men and women would take part.

At the same time, the city with simple services, will bury the bodies of the seven unidentified victims in Evergreen cemetery, Brooklyn.

TENSE SITUATION IN COWAN TRIAL

Clash Between Attorney Scott Rex and Judge Cowan.

Bismarck, N. D., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney Scott Rex of Grand Forks, when he refused to answer a question propounded to him by Judge Cowan himself on cross-examination as to the friendly relations existing between the two, was the center of a tense situation in the impeachment trial today that was relieved when the question was withdrawn. Rex declared that he would not answer the question unless allowed to explain, but Cowan insisted on the witness saying either "yes" or "no."

Rex had already testified that he had seen Cowan in a hotel and on the bench at Rugby when he was drunk, and on another occasion he said that Cowan had appeared in a hotel at Lakota when he was "silly drunk."

Evidence tending to substantiate the charges that Cowan frequented drug stores in Devils Lake, "notoriously known to be places where liquor was unlawfully sold," is now being introduced.

GAMBLER IS A WITNESS

High Class Crook, Said to Be Treasurer of Camorra, Testifies.

Viterbo, Italy, April 5.—One of the most interesting characters in the Camorra, Giovanni Rapi, the supposed treasurer, was heard in his own behalf today. Questioned by President Bianchi of the court of assizes, he made a general denial of complicity in the murder of Cuocolos, called attention to discrepancies in the testimony of Gennaro Abbatemaggio, the informer, and sought to impress the jury by the assertion that, having escaped the jugambling places also at Rome and Ostend. In his Neapolitan resort Gennaro Cuocolo, the murdered Camorrist, is asserted to have gathered information of its partons that made the latter victims of crime. Rapi had many bankers, politicians and journalists among his acquaintances.

As a young man, Rapi bore an unenviable reputation. An incident of

MADERO HAS NO FAITH IN DIAZ'S WORD

El Paso, Tex., April 5.—Because Francisco I. Madero, Jr., leader of the Mexican revolution in Chihuahua does not trust the word of the president, guaranteeing his safety for a trip to El Paso to discuss peace, his father, Francisco I. Madero and his brother, Alfonso, have determined to make the trip to the rebel camp on the big Bustillos ranch, sixty miles west of Chihuahua.

Information as to the younger Madero's refusal to make the trip, was contained in a telegram from Governor Ahumada of Chihuahua to Rafael Hernandez, who is representing the Mexican government in the present pourparlons. The provisional president was assured by Governor Ahumada that President Diaz had said formal passports would be given him through the federal lines, but he politely but firmly declined to place himself at the mercy of the federals under any other guarantee than his own rifles.

This renders unnecessary arrangements which were being made to suspend service on a warrant pending here against the provisional president, charging the fomentation of rebellion against a friendly power.

The telegraph lines were kept hot

Chicago, April 5.—Carter H. Harrison, mayor of Chicago from 1897 until 1905, and son of Carter H. Harrison, Sr., who occupied the mayor's office from 1879 to 1887, and was assassinated during his world's fair term, was elected mayor for the fifth time yesterday. He defeated Charles E. Merriam, his Republican oppoent, by 17,082 votes, receiving a total of 177,358 votes.

In spite of the opposition of a majority of the local press, the election was almost a complete Democratic victory. The election of F. D. Connery for city clerk and Henry Stuckart, city treasurer, early was conceded, although a count of their total vote has not been completed.

STATES ITS ADVANTAGES IN MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Exec[illegible] Says the Agreement in Its Intent and Terms Is Purely Economic and Commercial.

No Other Subject Is Mentioned in This, the First Message to the Sixty-Second Congress.

Washington, April 5.—President Taft today transmitted to congress a message urging early action on the reciprocity agreement with Canada. He stated that he based this message upon deference to popular sentiment and duty to the great masses of the American people. The message follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: I transmitted to the Sixty-first congress, on Jan. 26, last, the text of the reciprocity trade agreement which had been negotiated under my direction by the secretary of state with the representatives of the Dominion of Canada. This agreement was the consummation of earnest effort, extending over a period of nearly a year, on the part of both governments to effect a trade arrangement which, supplementing as it did the amicable settlement of various questions of a diplomatic and political character that had been reached, would mutually promote commerce and would strengthen the friendly relations now existing.

The agreemnt in its intent and in the terms was purely economic and commercial.

While the general subject was under discussion by the commissioners I felt assured that the sentiment of the people of the United States was such that they would welcome a measure which would result in the increase of trade on both sides of the boundary line, would open up the reserve productive resources of Canada to the great mass of our own consumers on advantageous conditions, and at the same time offer a broader outlet for the excess products of our farms and many of our industries.

Details regarding a negotiation of this kind necessarily could not be made public while the conferences were pending. When, however, the full text of the agreement, accompanying correspondence and data explaining both its purpose and its scope became known to the people through the message transmitted to congress, it was immediately apparent that the ripened fruits of the careful labors of the commissioners met with widespread approval. This approval has been strengthened by further consideration of the terms of the agreement in all their particulars. The volume of support which has developed shows that its broadly national scope is fully appreciated and is responsive to the popular will.

The house of representatives of the Sixty-first congress, after the full text of the arrangement with all the details in regard to the different provisions had been before it, as they were before the American people, passed a bill confirming the agreement as negotiated and as transmitted to congress. This measure failed of action in the senate.

In my transmitting message of the 26th of January, I fully set forth the character of the agreement and emphasized its appropriateness and necessity as a response to the mutual needs of the people of the two countries, as well as its common advantages. I now lay that message, and the reciprocity trade agreement, as part of the present message before the Sixty-second congress, and again invite earnest attention to the considerations therein expressed.

I am constrained, in deference to popular sentiment and with a realizing sense of my duty to the great mass of our people whose welfare is involved, to urge upon your consideration early action on this agreement. In concluding the negotiations the representatives of the two countries bound themselves to use their utmost efforts to bring about the tariff changes provided for in the agreement by concurrent legislation at Washington and Ottawa. I have felt it my duty, therefore, not to acquiesce in relegation of action until the opening of congress in December, but to use my constitutional prerogative and convoke the Sixty-second congress in extra session in order that there shall be no break of continuity in considering and acting upon this most important subject.

INSURGENTS' PLEAS ARE REFUSED BY DEMOCRATS

House Leaders Tell Them Their Amendments Will Have to Be Included in Republican Substitute.

Washington, April 5. — President Taft's message urging the ratification of the reciprocity agreement with Canada was read in both houses of congress today. It was known in advance that the president would confine himself to the subject of reciprocity and this robbed the message of any unusual interest. It was listened to without applause and referred to the appropriate committee.

The senate session today lasted only twenty-five minutes. The senate will continue to mark time until the house "does something."

The house today took up the adoption of its new rules, limiting general debate to four hours, to be equally divided, and granting the privilege of offering only one substitute set of rules. The insurgents pleaded for the privilege of separate amendments, but were told by the Democratic leaders that their amendments would have to be included in the proposed Republican substitute.

The rules offered by the Democrats and which will be adopted, provide for comparatively few changes. They provide for the election of committees instead of their appointment by the speaker and enlarge the membership of several of the committees. Six old committees are abolished.

The principal change is a rule which permits germane legislation on appropriation bills when it tends to retrench expenditures. The Democrats continue "calendar Wednesday" and enlarge the rule for the discharge of committees.

In the vote for speaker yesterday that of Sidney Anderson of Minnesota was recorded at first for Champ Clark. This proved to be an error, as he voted for Cooper of Wisconsin, a Republican insurgent.

Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois has positively refused to resign the chairmanship of the committee on foreign relations and make room for Lodge of Massachusetts. This practically decides that Senator Clapp will go to the head of the interstate and foreign commerce committee.

Sioux City, Iowa, April 5.—Two companions standing on the shore, powerless to save him, Gustav F. Benson, prominent in Odd Fellow lodge circles, was sucked by quicksand beneath the surface of a small pond on the shore of the Missouri river just south of McCook lake, near here, last evening.

WILL TALK ON SEWERS

Prof. Baas Will Tell Proctor Club What Village Needs.

Prof. Frederick Baas of the University of Minnesota, an expert sanitary engineer, will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Proctor Commercial club, Tuesday evening, April 11, at the Proctor Y. M. C. A. building. Preparations are being made for the affair. Covers will be laid for 200.

Other speakers at the affair will be: J. W. Kreitter, superintendent of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway; L. A. Barnes, alderman of the Eighth ward;; R. W. Welch, editor of the Proctor Journal; Charles Rossiter; Father Walsh of the Proctor Catholic church; H. H. Peyton, president of the club, and S. R. Raetz, secretary. Rev. C. W. Ramshaw, pastor of the Proctor M. E. church, will be the toastmaster.

To Prof. Baas has been assigned the subject of a sewer system for Proctor. This is one of the greatest needs of the village and Prof. Baas will outline plans of different sewerage systems which might be installed and give a general talk on sanitation. He has been in Proctor several times within the past few weeks consulting with Supt. Kreitter of the Missabe road with reference to the installation of a sewerage system. Mr. Kreitter will also give a talk along similar lines.

Next in importance to the sewerage system, is a street car extension from West Duluth to Proctor, and Charles Rossiter will tell of the ambitions of the club in this direction. The club has held several interesting meetings to agitate the question and Mr. Rossiter will tell of the progress that has been made.

R. W. Welch will deliver a talk on the coming tournament of firemen which will be held in Proctor this summer. Much interest in the event has already been stirred up and it is expected that the affair will be one of the most successful held in years. H. H. Peyton, president, and S. R. Raetz, secretary, will submit their annual reports. Alderman L. A. Barnes and Father Walsh will talk along general lines.

Many Duluth people are expected to attend the affair and it is probable that a special train will be run to Proctor for the occasion. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Proctor M. E. church will serve the supper and the Proctor orchestra will furnish the musical program.

QUEER IDEA OF A PRACTICAL JOKE

Because his idea of a practical joke was somewhat distorted and his sense of humor rather exaggerated as a result of prolonged imbibing, Nels Anderson, a laborer, was arrested last evening and this morning fined in municipal court. He paid $3 and costs.

Anderson evidently thought it would be a joke to eat in a restaurant, tuck a quarter under his plate, and then try to walk out of the place without paying for his meal. He tried the "stunt" at Ed Warner's restaurant, 305 Central avenue, last evening about 6 o'clock and wound up a few moments later at the police station.

Anderson attempted to walk out of the restaurant without paying for his meal. He was noticed and called back. He refused to pay and the proprietor called an officer. When Patrolman Cranston arrived, Anderson insisted that he had paid and walked over to the table and showed the quarter.

Because of the commotion which had been raised in the place and the evidence that Anderson was intoxicated, he was arrested by the policeman and taken to the station, where he was booked up as a common drunk. In police court his morning Anderson got off with a light fine.

Otto Alton pleaded guilty to assaulting Clarence Carroll when arrigned in police court this morning, but he received a suspended sentence. He explained that Carroll had owed him $2 for a long time and that he had told him that if he didn't pay it he would "take it out of Carroll's hide." The last time he saw Carroll he said that Carroll was ahead of him, and that when he tried to catch up to him, Carroll started to run. Whereupon he admitted that he had thrown a rock at Carroll.

FIRST ORE FROM CUYUNA WILL ARRIVE NEXT WEEK

Within the next week or ten days the first shipment of ore ever made from the new Cuyuna range, will arrive at the new docks of the Soo railroad in Superior.

The first shipment will come from the Kennedy mine, according to the statement of George H. Crosby this afternoon. The mine is owned by Mr. Crosby and William Harrison, and is under lease to the Rogers-Brown Mining company for a term of fifty years. The total shipments for the present season will amount to about 200,000 tons. It is not known just how many tons will be contained in the first shipment.

The ore will be dumped in the pockets of the new docks at Superior and left there until navigation opens on the lakes. There will probably be about twenty-five or thirty cars in the train.

The necessary cars have already been delivered at the mine, and yesterday loading began. About a dozen cars have already been loaded.

There will probably be some celebration in honor of the opening of the new range. Mr. Crosby stated this afternoon that he expected to leave for the town of Crosby tonight, and remain on the new range for three or four days. During that time he will probably arrange for some celebration to mark the occasion. A band may accompany the first ore train from the first shipping mine on the new range, over the new railroad to the new ore docks.

SOLID TRAINLOAD OF BARN DOOR HANGERS FOR DULUTH FIRM

A solid train from Chicago to the Marshall-Wells Hardware company of this city, arrived in Duluth this morning decorated with elaborate signs and all kinds of advertising matter, in which the name of Duluth was given prominent mention.

The special train is composed of a large number of freight cars filled with barn door, hangers and the iron tracks, that go with the hangers. In the train are contained almost enough hangers for a year's supply to the retail trade.

To give some idea of the quantity of iron tracks for the pulleys supporting the sliding barn doors carried in the special Marshall-Wells train, it may be stated that if the small pieces of tracks were laid out in one long piece, they would cover a distance of twenty-nine miles.

At various stations along the way the special was stopped and was the center of interest for large crowds. The big signs bearing the destination of the special, Duluth, gave this town a lot of free advertising all the way along the line.

A number of photographs were taken of the snow-laden train when it reached the city this morning, and some of these pictures will be used in the advertising matter of the Marshall-Wells firm.

CITY BRIEFS

Snow Not Needed.

Cold weather has preserved the roads in the Sturgeon Lake district, where the Swan River Logging company is getting out logs, said Thomas York of Hibbing, the company's vice president and general manager, who is at the St. Louis. "We do not need snow," said Mr. York. "Snow is not of much importance to companies having railroads to move their timber. What we might gain by having snow is lost if the weather is cold, as the size of our trains is then cut down. We can haul heavier trains when the weather is mild."

Smith on Way Home.

Walter J. Smith, state treasurer, was at the Spalding this morning on his way to his home in Eveleth. He will return to St. Paul tomorrow or Friday. Mr. Smith said that the business of the state treasurer's office in receipts and disbursements will show an increase of about $4,000,000 over 1910. "There is some talk of an extra session of the legislature, if reapportionment is not disposed of, but I have not been informed whether or not a session extraordinary will be called," he said.

The defense claimed that the old man furnished them food, clothes and a home in return for their services. The cases were tried together.

Option on Iron Land.

The Sharon Mining company, composed of Chicago and Detroit people, has taken an option on 160 acres between the White Iron Lake Iron and the Lucky Boy and Asa Camp properties on the Vermilion Iron range. The land will be explored preparatory to putting down a shaft. The land is the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 2, lot 1, and southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 3, 62-12.

Couldn't Stand Their Singing.

Mike and Steve Garvich got $75 and costs or sixty days each in the county jail when they pleaded guilty in police court this morning to assaulting Robert Milavich. Gets His Telegrams in Jail.

A telegram came to the police station yesterday for John V. Larner, who had been there several nights for lodging. Yesterday morning, before the arrival of the telegram, he had arranged to help a man clear land near New Duluth. His employer's name was not learned. Larner stated at the police station that he was a deserter from the army, but the officials refused to do anything with him when notified of the fact by Sergeant Kenna of the police department.

Boundary Line Involved.

A question of boundaries is involved in the case of Edward Ahonen, who claims that Daniel Haley cut timber on his land. The trial was begun this morning before Judge William A. Cant of the district court. The land in question lies in section 26, township 61 north, range 20 west, or about eighteen miles north of Hibbing, Minn. Haley claims that it was not on Ahonen's land that he cut the timber and Ahonen claims that it was. A settlement of the boundary lines will settle the question.

Unknown Man Ill.

An unknown man about 50 years of age was picked up unconscious by the police on lower Lake avenue last evening. NO DAMAGES FOR "MUCKER"

A verdict for the Section Thirty Mining company was directed by Judge Ensign in district court yesterday in the case for personal injuries brought against it by Herman Johnson, a minor, through his guardian, John Niemi.

Johnson claimed that he was employed as a "mucker." It was his duty to light fuses which were attached to dynamite blasts. He escaped his own explosion but ran into another set by a member of another crew. He claimed negligence on the part of the company in that he was not provided a safe place to work and demanded $6,0000 damages.

Another case against the same company on the same grounds and with the same amount involved is now on before judge Ensign. The plaintiff is Andrew Holm.

SHRINERS TO CONCLAVE

More Than 100 Will Go From Duluth to Rochester.

Complete plans have already been made by local shriners to attend the annual conclave to be held this year at Rochester, N. Y., beginning July 10 and lasting a week.

More than 100 will go from Aad Temple of Duluth in a special train over the Soo line and over the Wabash from Chicago to Rochester.

The patrol and the band will be a feature of Aad temple's attendance. Already arrangements have been made for the special train which will leave Duluth on the evening of Saturday, July 8. The train will pull into Rochester on Monday morning, July 10.

The patrol will consist of forty members. Flaaten's Third regiment band will accompany the shriners. It is planned to have as many women as possible. Already forty have announced their intention of going along.

Forty rooms have been engaged at the Exposition hotel. This is one of Rochester's newest hotels and is, of course, one of the most modern in the city.

The shriners of Fargo, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Grand Forks and Aberdeen will also attend the conclave. They will not go with the local members, however.

There will be about 40,000 shriners from all over North America in Rochester at the time of the conclave.

The local quartet will also be taken along. Uniforms will be worn on the trip by the members of the patrol.

Tailormades at Non-Extravagant Prices

Women throughout the city are commenting considerably this season upon the splendid lines of Moderate Priced Wear which the Gidding store is offering.

The Gidding standard of quality retains its well established caliber--a notch ahead of that commonly set by other stores. Yet the enormous volume of a three-store out-let on High-Class Women's Wear, and complete buying forces constantly in touch with the maker, has brought about exceptional buying advantages which make it possible for this store to offer many lines of garments at $3 to $5 less than the Same Caliber of wear has brought in previous seasons; and at a saving from the prices that stores of lesser buying advantages can afford to ask.

This is especially true of Tailored Suits and Coats at $30.00 to $45.00, and Tailored Cloth or Silk Street Dresses at from $25.00 to $35.00.

Suits $25.00 to $45.00—Include many Smart Styles in Black and Navy Serges, Mixtures, Mannish Worsteds and other plain or fancy Suitings; mostly in plain, well-tailored styles, but some with trimming for those who desire it—all sizes to 46. Also new Arrivals in Junior Suits at $19.50 to $35.

CONGESTION ON ORE DOCKS

Light Movement From Ports to Smelters During March.

Nearly 8,000,000 Tons On Lake Erie Docks April 1.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 5.—Ore docks throughout the lower lakes are piled high with iron ore, according to dispatches from Cleveland, and the report of local ore dock men. While the congestion is not so marked in Buffalo, it is said that even in this city the shipments to smelters have been so light that had not some of the ore been retained at the mines or held in storage at the Duluth and Superior docks the shippers here would have been unable to handle the tonnage.

Shipments of ore from Lake Erie docks during March were about 800,000 tons, compared with 1,310,000 tons a year ago. Including one dock formerly classed as a lake furnace dock, but which of late years has been a shipping dock, there was about 7,745,000 tons of ore on Lake Erie docks April 1, using 800,000 tons as the actual shipments.

Some shippers received orders to move ore faster than in February, but the increase did not double shipments of the previous month, which were 527,500 tons.

Far Below Last Year.

In April, 1910, shipments from Lake Erie docks amounted to 1,192,000 tons. To overcome the handicap the movement in April this year would have to exceed 2,000,000 tons. While this is not impossible, no dock operator expects shipments to be anywhere near so large. It is expected, however, the shipments will increase considerably over March.

Some furnaces which have not taken any ore since last fall are beginning to place small shipping orders.

Unless there is a much better movement in April than in the corresponding month a year ago the docks on May 1 will hold more than last year by at least 1,000,000 tons. On Dec. 1, 1910, the ore on dock exceeded that of Dec. 1, 1909, by about 425,000 tons.

Railroads Responsible.

The reason given for this slow movement of ore is the reported drop in the orders for castings and principally for steel rails. No extensive railroad construction is going on now and the orders for rails to go into the transcontinental Milwaukee line, just completed, which provided a ready market for iron ore for several years have now been filled.

Uncertainty in regard to legislation has tied up many other railroads, causing them to slack off in orders for castings, couplers and bridge material. Smelters and rolling mills, which have been congested for two or three years with heavy orders, are now running at about half capacity and many foundries are shutting down entirely.

COAL SHIPPERS HOLDING BACK

Scarcity of Ore Cargoes Retards Chartering at Lower Lake Ports.

News from Cleveland is to the effect that coal shippers are holding back until some idea may be gained as to the probabilities and possibilities for ore cargoes. It was thought that some definite line would be gained by the first of the present month; but that date has passed and there is no more knowledge at the present time regarding the outlook for ore tonnage for the independent boats.

Some coal loading has started at Toledo and other ports, according to word reaching here, but this is only in scattered instances and no big movement is looked for until boat owners have some definite idea of what the ore contract tonnage calls for.

Practically all the wheat has been elevated from the boats that have been holding winter storage, leaving these boats free to accept tonnage contracts. Those who have followed the grain developments at the head of Lake Superior are of the opinion that there will be a late opening in grain and that no tonnage will be sought at the present rate.

EASTON SAFE DURING STORM

Booth Line Boat Lay in Grand Marais Harbor All Night.

On account of the high wind and the snowstorm over this end of Lake Superior last night, there was some apprehension for the steamer Easton of the Booth line, which was out on her first trip along the north shore. The Easton escaped the worst of the storm, however, having put into Grand Marais early last evening. The steamer lay in the harbor there all night and left at 7 o'clock this morning for Duluth. She is expected to arrive this evening.

COPPER PILING UP ON MICHIGAN DOCKS.

Calumet, Mich., April 5.—Although navigation through Portage lake will not open for at least two weeks, excepting for the big wrecking tugs and lighters of the Reid Wrecking company of Port Huron, which will break their way out of the lake to reach the wreck of the steamer Moreland at Eagle River during the coming week, copper for lake shipment is already piling up on the docks and piers. The Copper Range railroad docks have received their first shipments from the smelters and the Calumet & Hecla docks in Torch lake at Lake Linden are being filled from selters and mills with copper for shipment to Cleveland, Buffalo and the Black Rock smelter at Buffalo. Lake to lake navigation through the canals at Portage lake likely will not open before April 15 or 20. There is still much drift ice in Lake Superior, while big floes are piling up along the shores of Keweenaw bay and out toward the point. The scene of the wreck of the Moreland at Eagle River is free of ice. It is expected that 10,000 tons of copper, valued at more than $3,500,000 at ruling prices for the refined metal, will pile up on the Copper Range docks at Houghton before April 20.

The following simple prescription is from leading authority and is highly endorsed. Mix one half ounce fluid extract buchu, one half ounce murax compound, six ounces good pure gin. Take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bedtime. All well stocked drug stores have the above ingredients. Anyone can mix. This quickly restores weak deranged kidneys, bladder and other urinary organs.

TRANSPORTING TUG NOT PLEASANT JOB

Hauling the Clifford Sixty Miles Overland Played Havoc With Bridges.

Menominee, Mich., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The tug Clifford, which the Peninsular Box & Lumber company of Menominee undertook to transport sixty miles overland to Twin Falls on the Peshtigo river, encountered a rougher passage than ever she experienced in the fiercest gale that swept the lakes. Those who navigated the craft are of the opinion that the terrors of the deep are not one, two, three, to the horrors of the roads at this season of the year.

It took twenty-four horses in relays of six, to make the sixty mile trip, and frequently the craft would crash through a bridge. At the conclusion of the journey, which took four days, the complete number of bridge demolished was seven, and to add to the excitement, at one stage of the journey the horses ran away and the Clifford found herself wrecked in a ditch, just deep enough to float a plank. It took six hours to put things to rights. The Peninsular Box & Lumber company has 6,000,000 feet of logs at High Falls and required the tug to raft logs across a lake formed above the dam.

WANTS SANITARY DRINKING FOUNTAINS IN EVERY BUILDING.

"Sanitary drinking fountains should be placed in every public building and office building in the city," said Dr. H. E. Webster, health commissioner, this morning. "The old drinking cup is obsolete and dangerous. It should be abolished altogether, as it is very likely to spread disease. There is no doubt but that a great deal of sickness is caused through the use of the drinking cup. The city should set an example in this matter, and put in drinking fountains on each floor of the city hall and in the police station. There should be one in the big jail, another in the women's department and one in the front offices of the jail." Dr. Webster will probably take the matter up with the council in a communication next Monday evening.

AFFIDAVIT OF BIAS IS FILED

Prosecuting Attorney Objects to Judge Dickson in Cox Case.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 5.—Prosecuting Attorney H. T. Hunt today filed an affidavit of bias and prejudice against Judge William H. Dickson appointed yesterday to hear all phases of the Cox case by the presiding judge of the court of common pleas.

The action of the prosecutor was in line with his affidavit of last week by which he obtained an order for a change of venue to Clermont county. The affidavit stated that all judges of the bench of common pleas in this county were, with the exception of Judge Gorman, a Democrat, are beholden to Cox for political preferment and the state could not get an impartial trial here after Gorman had been sworn off by Cox.

WATER BOARD IS DEFENDED

T. T. Hudson Makes Explanation to the Fifth Ward Club.

Says Small Consumer Is Protected by Prevailing Water Rates.

T. T. Hudson, a member of the water and light board, delivered a strong address on water rates and the management of the water and light department generally, at a meeting of the Fifth Ward Hillside Improvement club in the Emerson school last evening.

Mr. Hudson stated this morning that it was a most satisfactory meeting and that he was glad that he had attended. He said that it seems to him that a wrong impression had been prevalent as to water rates and that he was glad to have been able to present the situation to the members of the club.

He vigorously defended the present rates and the policy which has been followed by the board. He declared that the small consumer has not been discriminated against in the interests of the large consumer. Speaking on this phase of the matter he said:

Small Consumer Protected.

"I want to say right here that I'm on the board to protect the small consumer as against the large consumer and if I'm looking out for the interests of any one it's the former. I've never drawn a dollar for serving in any public office in my life but I have given up some of my time from business to do so. If the small consumer paid more than the large consumer, I wouldn't stay on the board three minutes."

He told the history of the purchase of the water plant and how it had been more than doubled in the mileage of mains while nearly all the old pipe had been replaced. Every mile of pipe, he declared, was in better condition and the plant as a whole was better in every particular. Few mistakes, he thought, had been made in management. The only mistake he could see was the putting in of a tank intake pipe from Lakewood larger than was needed. He thought a cast iron pipe should have been laid sufficient for a city of 350,000 only. Examination of the pipe had shown that there was practically no detorlation so far, he said.

Increase in Value.

Mr. Hudson asserted that the plant for which the city originally paid $1,250,000 could now be sold to a private corporation for $6,000,000, and that if it were in the hands of a private concern the water users of Duluth would be paying for it on a capitalization of at least that sum.

He explained that if the rates now in force were changed to make the big consumer pay more, they would put in their own plants, causing the city to lose a revenue of thousands of dollars annually. In that case the rates to the small consumer would have to be raised, he said. He spoke of the hydraulic elevators, that are now getting the cheapest water in the city. He declared that this was necessary in order to compete with electric power, adding that if the rates should be raised the owners of the elevators would change over to electricity.

The commissioner was interrupted several times by members of the audience, who asked various questions. William Craig, manager of the water company before the plant was taken over by the city, claimed that a considerable amount of pipe which has been replaced was unnecessarily removed. R. E. Patterson, formerly of the board of public works, said that the pipe running to Lakewood was of poor quality and that its life had been placed at ten years.

The members of the club continued the informal discussion for nearly two hours.

REST HOUR FOR THE TOURISTS

Informal Musical Program May Be Given Daily During Summer.

Notwithstanding the announcement of the close of the season of the free Sunday concerts the "Nabsit" has become so strong for some that they dropped in to the Masonic temple as usual last Sunday and that there might be no disappointment, the organist gave an impromptu program of organ music.

Now that the status of the organ recitals at the temple has been recognized, the question of having an hour's music each day at the temple during the tourist season has been suggested and it is under discussion.

If settled on and the arrangements can be completed the temple, it is claimed, could be made one of the show places of Duluth in the usual publicity campaign. It would be a unique feature which, while it might not attract any visitor to Duluth for that express purpose, might tend to make their stay and visit more pleasant while here and cause them to come again.

The inside of the auditorium does not become uncomfortably warm till well along in the afternoon and the hour could be 11 to 12, or some such time. It might also be a rest place for Duluth citizens. The decorations of the auditorium are of such a character that if known they would be hunted up by many persons who are on the lookout for the novel and artistic. On the whole, the temple can be made an object of interest to Duluth visitors, it is believed.

THIRD SHOOTING IN LABOR FIGHT

Chicago, April 5.—The third shooting in the jurisdictional fight between unions of steam fitters and plumbers took place today in front of the Heisen building, which is under construction and which has been the scene of most of the disorder attending the labor troubles.

C. A. Ramler, a steamfitter, was standing in the doorway of the building when two men walked up to him, each armed with a revolver. They fired five shots between them at the steamfitter, two of which struck him in the shoulder. He will recover. The assailants, unidentified, escaped.

WEST END NEWS

DULUTH MAN IS ARTIST AND AN ACTIVE SOCIALIST

Rudolph Ronge, former Socialist candidate for mayor of Duluth, and artist, has completed an altar painting at Cloquet, Minn., for the Swedish M. E. church, of "Christ in Gethsemane." Mr. Ronge is a West end man and lives at 19 North Nineteenth avenue west.

Mr. Ronge's latest production met with much favorable comment when unveiled to the congregation last Sunday. It is said to possess impressiveness in coloring, artistic execution and refinement.

The altar painting at Cloquet, however, is not the finest church painting executed by Mr. Ronge. In Superior, he has placed two altar paintings in different churches and also in Marquette, Mich.; Carney, Mich.; Randolph, Kan.; Menominee, Mich.; Marinette, Wis.; Daggett, Mich., and Leonardsville, Kan.

Mr. Ronge has also painted a portrait of the Hon. Isaac Stephenson, United States senator of Wisconsin, which is hung in the public library of Marinette, Mr. Ronge having donated it to the city. Mr. Ronge is also a landscape painter. He has been fifteen years in the work and is a graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago.

In politics, Mr. Ronge is a Socialist. He has been active in the affairs of the Social Democratic party of this city ever since he has lived here and at the last mayoralty campaign ran for mayor on the Social Democrat ticket.

MORTGAGE TO BE BURNED IN JUNE

Novel Jubilee Planned to Celebrate Clearing Part of Church Debt.

At a jubilee in June, a mortgage of $3,000 on the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will be burned and the event celebrated with much ceremony. This was decided upon at a meeting of the trustees of the church this week, when $500, the last payment on the mortgage was made.

The church has only one other mortgage of $5,000 to dispose of and the edifice will then be free from debt. It is a $28,000 structure, built six years ago at Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. Rev. Edward Erickson is pastor of the congregation, which is one of the larger ones of the West end.

At the affair in June there will be a special musical program and a number of good speakers. The paper will be burned with special ceremony.

WANT SCANDINAVIAN TAUGHT IN SCHOOLS.

The Swedish United Sons of America, Order of Vasa, have declared in favor of introducing the Scandinavian languages in the high school curriculum as an elective study.

At a meeting last evening, a committee of three, headed by W. E. Harmann, was appointed to draw up resolutions to this effect, to be presented to the school board. The other members of the committee are Otto Gafvert and Frank Carlson.

Several of the Swedish speaking churches of the West end have done likewise and it is expected that several of the other Swedish and Norwegian societies will follow suit.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the church parlors.

Otto Alton was arrested on a warrant for assault last evening by Officer L. A. Root. The charge is preferred by Clarence Carroll, who alleges that Alton, heaved a missle at him on Garfield avenue with intent to do him bodily harm.

Green Room Gossip.

Miss Cecil Mayo of the "Hello People" octette with James T. Powers in "Havana" is ambitious to include some of the comforts of a home in a stage career. Usually her mother travels with her, but often the mother goes to New York and the family home.

"You see, my mother has to divide herself between father and me," Miss Mayo says. "I've had her ever since last summer, and recently my father said it was time I gave him his turn. It was only fair. That is the worst thing about the theatrical profession, that you can't take family and home around with you. I don't mind living in a trunk. I sleep better in a sleeping car than in a real bed. I am a good traveler, and we have the pleasantest company to be found this season, but at the present time I do miss my family.

"We read a great deal of the trials of the road, but many of them you make for yourself. Always there must be things to overlook, and you will be happy. We get into town late and it is raining and snowing, but if you put your mind on the happy prospect you will be happy. I never let the uncomfortable things worry me, for I know they must pass and brighter times come."

"Many English speaking people are familiar with the air of 'Funiculi Funicula',' said Signor Armani, the leader and manager of the feature act at the Orpheum this week, "but few people know what it means or how it came to be written.

"It is an Italian popular song and a great favorite with the people of Naples. There is a tramway running up the side of Vesuvius, and riding up and down the side of the mountain is a favorite pastime with the poor people of Naples. This song is supposed to be descriptive of a ride on this trolley. It corresponds to such songs in English as 'Take Me Out to the Ball Game' or 'In My Merry Oldsmobile' or 'Come for a Ride on the Trolley' or some such song which deals with the popular sports of the people. Only the Italian song, I think, is immeasurably superior to these songs in a musical way. It has a swing and rythm which will appeal to any musician, however averse he may be to popular music.

"The other musical numbers which we sing in our act are the 'Franceze March', 'Sole Mio', the finale to 'Martha', the finale to 'Maritana' and the sextet from 'Lucia' which everybody will recognize. The instrumental number is the overture to 'Maritana'."

Signor Armani was brought to this country by the famous leader and composer, Mascagni, and he is a thoroughly Americanized Italian.

Miss Idalene Cotton, playing in the sketch, "The Banker and the Thief," with Nick Long at the Empress this week, relates the following amusing incident: "While traveling with my father's company, the late Ben Cotton, I was more than ambitious. I remember my chief delight was to assist the property man in setting houses aflame in the pans of red fire or banging on an old tin tray to simulate the approach of a train. On one occasion, in Sacramento, Cal., we were playing a melodrama, the big situation being a holdup of the lightning express. Everything went smoothly when the crucial moment arrived. The hero and villain were struggling desperately. Suddenly the property man discovered he had no one to help him run the train. The stage hands were being employed as Indians and cowboys. Here was my chance. I volunteered to assist. The que was given and we made a wild dash across the back of the stage with the canvas locomotive. Suddenly I was jerked off my feet and to the atsonishment of the audience a pair of legs was visible at the end of the last car. To cap the climax, the lightning express collided with a set rock and the train, property man and myself all rolled down the embankment amid shrieks of laughter. Needless to say I was severely reprimanded by my dad and my ambitions were confined to acting alone after that."

"The Spendthrift," by Porter Emerson Browne, is a dramatic brief against extravagance, and yet every night there rolled up in front of the Hudson theater, New York, where it played for four months, nearly half a million dollars' worth of automobiles bringing their owners to listen to the play's telling argument for economy—which is a pretty good evidence that "The Spendthrift" appeals to that class of playgoers who are so financially fixed as to be possible beneficiaries of the esson of the drama.

This evening will be the farewell of the Mack-Leones in the Cohan national song show. The production of the highly successful "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" has drawn crowded houses at practically every performance and the advance sales point to a very large audience to see the farewell performance of the show. Immediately with the close of the engagement in "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," rehearsals will begin for "The Girl Question," a musical play from the gifted pen of Joseph Howard, the author of some of the greatest successes of the La Salle theater, Chicago.

"Priscilla's April Fool Joke," is the feature film at the Odeum photoplay house this week and it is well received by patrons of the theater. "A War Time Escape, or The Romance of a Dixie Girl," is a strong dramatic film of more than ordinary merit. It tells a story of war times and is cleverly worked out. "Cured" and "A Man From the East," are other films on the bill. George Lenz is singing "Emiline Lee."

"O, You Kids," is a laugh-producing film at the Lyric this week. Another feature is "Where Seas Divide." The Paoli Brothers show an acrobatic act through the moving picture medium. I. S. Mistachkin sings, "Who Are You With Tonight."

AN EASY MATTER TO ACQUIRE BEAUTY

Authority on Complexion and Scalp Difficulties Gives Friendly Counsel to Women.

F. Howarth Dryden writes interestingly on Beauty in Every Month. He says: "Women are fast learning the value of little home helps of beauty, as is evidenced by the increasing number who represent the true type. For the benefit and guidance of the feminine sex, I have selected a few of what I consider the best formulas resulting from my laboratory research, the ingredients of which can be had from any druggist.

"FOR BOTHERSOME HAIRS, I find a simple paste made with powdered delol and water to be the best. With a little of the beiol mix enough water to form a paste and spread on hairy surface. After two or three minutes rub off and wash. Seldom does this fail to remove fuzz or hairs with the first application.

"FOR A CLEAR, VELVETY SKIN there is nothing to equal an amarol lotion; and women troubled with oily, shiny skins or blackheads, pimples or a 'muddy' complexion, should use this retiring lotion:

1 pint hot water.
2 ounces amarol.

"Dissolve the amarol in water and it is ready. Use after washing and drying the skin and you will find the complexion soon clears and takes on the pink hue of youth, while the skin grows refined and velvety and is immune from chaps, tan or freckles.

"IF YOU ARE SCRAWNY, or underdeveloped, make up the famous Vaucaire formula and soon a plump figure and symmetrical lines will be yours. Here it is:

1 pint water.
1½ cupfuls sugar.
1 ounce gallol.

"Dissolve the gallol in the syrup and it is ready, the dose of which is two teaspoonfuls before meals. The delicate membrances quickly respond to this method of treatment, and before long scrawniness and hollows disappear and your figure assumes the graceful lines and proportions of a perfect form. As this is a tissue builder and not a fat-producer, fleshy people need not fear taking on weight."

DOCTOR ENDS HIS OWN LIFE

Dr. E. C. Adams Commits Suicide By Taking Dose of Chloroform.

Despondent Over Ill Health and Was Determined to Die.

Determined to die because he couldn't recover his health, Dr. E. C. Adams, president of the Adams Specialty company, with offices at 14 Second avenue west, late yesterday afternoon swallowed poison and died about 7 o'clock last evening at his home 214½ West Third street.

Dr. Adams had tried unsuccessfully to end his life earlier in the day, but had not succeeded, it is claimed. Dr. J. A. McCuen was summoned to his residence to treat him, but Dr. Adams declared that he didn't want any medical assistance. Dr. McCuen states that Dr. Adams told him he wanted to die, and that he had tried to take his life before.

Dr. Adams swallowed either morphine or strychnine when he made his first attempt to commit suicide yesterday, but it failed to end his life. In the evening Dr. I. J. Murphy, police surgeon, was called into the case, but the man was dead when he reached the house. He had swallowed chloroform and also drawn the sheets which he had saturated with the poison, over his head.

Dr. Adams located in Duluth about five months ago and had been in ill health all of that time. He went to a hospital about a month ago for an operation, but he was so weak that the physicians decided not to perform it. He has brooded over it a great deal, and it is stated that he had been using some morphine to help relieve the pain. It was claimed that his first attack yesterday was due to an accidental overdose.

He was 55 years of age and is survived by a wife and two sons, 12 and 6 years of age. He also has some brothers and sisters at his former home, Maywood, Ill. The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of J. L. Crawford. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

SECURE CONTRACT TO BUILD TURKISH NAVY.

Constantinople, April 5.—Armstrong-Whitworth & Co., Ltd., of London, have been awarded the contract for the vessels of the new Turkish navy, consisting of three battleships of 16,500 tons each, and several smaller craft. The original tender of this firm was $425 per ton and they received the contract only upon reducing their price to $400, the figures submitted by the Palmers Shipbuilding & Iron company, Ltd., of London, in conjunction with the Bethlehem Steel company.

Under the latter tender the warships would have been built in England with American armor and guns.

DOUBT ABOUT GUILT.

Man Alleged to Have Fired Manistique Brewery Is Paroled.

Manistique, Mich., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Bush, who was convicted a little more than one year ago on the charge of arson and who has been confined since in the Marquette prison, has been paroled and will be released as soon as the details can be arranged. Many believe that Bush was not guilty of the crime with which he was charged, the evidence in the case being largely circumstantial, it is said. Bush, it was charged, set fire to property owned by the Manistique Brewing company. Friends have been working hard in his behalf to secure a parole for some time.

WILL NAME TEACHERS

List of Grade School Instructors Will Be Announced Friday.

Report on Increase in Salaries Will Also Be Presented.

Teachers will be elected and salaries for the coming year fixed at the April meeting of the board of education Friday evening of this week. The committee on schools and teachers has been working on its report for some weeks and the salary problems having been cleared away last week, the report this week is being put in shape for submission.

Many of the teachers are of course concerned as to whether they will be re-elected, but the chief concern among the teaching corps centers on salaries. Although the board is committed to increasing the maximum salaries of eighth grade teachers to $900 and of teachers in the grades under the eighth to $850, the amount of the annual increases is still in doubt and will be until the committee report is submitted Friday evening.

Heretofore the committee has exercised its discretion in making increases of $25 or $50 yearly. The teachers, in their campaign for higher salaries, have held out for a maximum salary of $1,000 and yearly increases of $100. The fixing of the maximum salaries is a partial victory for the teachers and as their request in regard to the maximum salary was met only part way, it is presumed the same will be true of the yearly increases. Increases of $50 yearly are expected to be recommended by the committee for the large body of teachers, with greater increases in exceptional cases.

Up to this week, the committee has been in a quandry. Members of the committee and of the board were anxious to grant increases to the teachers, but they couldn't figure out where the money would be raised to meet the new salaries. The opinion of the attorney general, giving the board the right to draw the money for the equipment of the new manual training school from the building fund, leaving a like sum, $33,000, in the general fund, cleared the way for the committee to complete its report this week.

SOCIALISTS DEFEATED

000 in mortgage certificates for a railway terminal and the other for $50,000 railway terminal bonds, were defeated.

"It is nothing," said Mayor Emil Seidel today when asked for a statement on the outcome. "I feel better after this election than that of a year ago. We know where we stand. Our vote was solid. It took the combined strength of the other two parties to beat us.

"This means that we will poll a much larger vote a year from now. It has started us on the road to win from the combination next year, and I know we are going to win."

Women were permitted to vote for school directors only and were handed separate ballots upon which to mark their selections. Although rain continued to fall throughout the day, it is estimated that fully 5,000 members of the fair sex braved the elements and exercised their power of suffrage.

The Socialist candidate for alderman at large was also beaten by a Democrat, there being but the two candidates running for the place.

Tuesday's election was the first real test of the Socialists' power in Milwaukee since they swept everything in the city a year ago and carried a number of assembly districts and elected a congressman last fall.

The Socialists put up a stiff campaign and sent out notices to all their followers to vote only for party candidates despite the fact that they had but two candidates for the school board when seven members were to be elected.

A. J. Vinje was elected an associate justice of the state supreme court without opposition and several other judges in Milwaukee county were re-elected without contest.

Two civil judges running as non-partisans, were re-elected.

In the elections held in various cities and towns throughout Wisconsin outside of Milwaukee, Socialists made a fight for various offices and were successful in several instances.

Wausau voted "wet" by 2,834 to 511, and Beloit gave a wet majority of 225. License forces carried in the cities of Monroe, Viroqua, Oconto Falls, Little Rover, Rio, Edgerton, Waupaca and Fennimore. On the other hand, a number of towns, including Breed, Armstrong, Union Grove, Milton Junction and Cumberland, voted "dry."

Citizens or non-partisan tickets were elected in most places where officials below mayor were elected. In most cases the mayors held over another year. Fond du Lac and Janesville elected Democratic mayors while Oshkosh elected a Republican chief executive.

The present circuit judges were elected without opposition except in the northern district, where Judge W. J. Parish presides. Parish is opposed by G. H. Risjord and the result will be close.

SOCIALISTS MAKE GAINS.

Elect Two Aldermen and One Supervisor in Superior.

RESULTS IN SUPERIOR.

City assessor—William Tiedeman, Republican.
First ward—Kenough, R., alderman; Vaagness, D., supervisor.
Second ward—Hingreen, R., alderman; Bock, R., supervisor.
Third ward—Olson, Soc. D., alderman; Bradshaw, R., and Winquist, Soc. D., tied for supervisor.
Stack, R., justice of the peace.
Fourth ward—Gannon, R., alderman; Parks, Soc. D., supervisor.
Fifth ward—Tomlinson, R., alderman; Hammerbeck, R., supervisor.
Sixth ward—Russell, D., alderman; Rossiter, R., supervisor; French, R., justice of the peace.
Seventh ward—Dolan, D., alderman; Miller, R., supervisor.
Eighth ward—Carlson, Ind., alderman; Andrew, Ind., supervisor.
Ninth ward—Jensen, Soc. D., alderman; Nelson, R., supervisor; Hall, Ind., justice of the peace.
Tenth ward—Buchanan, D., alderman; Tommerdahl, Ind., supervisor; Quelch, D., justice of the peace.
County superintendent of schools, Miss Olga B. Larson.

Election day yesterday in Superior demonstrated that the Socialist party is making rapid strides in Douglas county. Two Socialists were elected to the common council, a Socialist was returned to the county board from the Fourth ward and another may possibly be seated on the county board from the Third ward, where the Socialist and Republican candidates are tied for supervisor.

William Tiedman was elected city assessor over his opponent, Harris, a Social Democrat. Tiedman received 1,568 votes as compared with 1,102 for Harris. The defeat of Alderman Paddock in the Eighth ward by Carlson, an Independent, was a surprise. Carlson had a margin of only five votes.

Throughout the county there were many interesting contests. Miss Olga B. Larson, a grade teacher in the Cooper school of Superior, was elected county superintendent by a handsome plurality over A. N. Young, the present incumbent. With a few townships not heard from, the vote today stood: Miss Larson, 799; Young, 490.

At Brule, the license question was voted on, the "wets" prevailing by a count of 94 to 30. The "drys" had their way at Hawthorne and by a vote of 72 to 25, voted down the license question. In the town of Superior it was voted to build a town hall. The returns from the town elections show comparatively few changes. All there will be nine new members on the county board, three of whom will be from the city.

Barron County Goes Dry.

Barron, Wis., April 5.—Special to The Herald.)—The license question was the principal issue in Barron county elections yesterday. Barron went dry by 68 majority. Chetek dry by 13, Cameron dry by 8, Cumberland dry by 37, Ridgeland dry by 20, Prairie Farm dry by over 40. Rice Lake always wet, Paskin wet, Dallas wet by 1 majority.

The new council for this city is as follows: Alderman and supervisor. First ward, J. P. Kohl; alderman in Second ward, Frank Hulbert; supervisor in Second ward, Charles Myers; alderman and supervisor in Third ward Dennis Walsh; alderman and supervisor in Fourth ward, Frank Fuller. The city clerk, treasurer and assessor held over; also mayor.

"Wets" Win in Colorado.

Denver, Colo., April 5.—Municipal elections throughout Colorado, except in Denver, yesterday were quiet, the only real contests occurring where local option was the issue. The "wets" were victorious in a number of cities, the largest being Colorado Springs, where by an estimated majority of 800, liquor selling in a limited way was indorsed.

Clubs of five years' existence, a limited number of drug stores and hotels having seventy-five or more rooms, will be allowed to sell intoxicants. There is a clause in all the deeds to lots preventing the opening of saloons.

La Salle elected David Stewart, a prize fighter, mayor. He was unopposed.

Telluride defeated the municipal reform candidate.

Socialism Defeated.

Wichita, Kan., April 5.—Socialism was decivisely defeated here yesterday when J. K. Graham, an independent candidate for mayor, was elected over A. H. Blase, a Socialist candidate, by 1,500 majority.

Four Socialist candidates for commissioners were defeated also by majorities more decisive than that by which Graham won. The independent candidates for commissioners won by leads ranging from 1,500 to 3,000.

The defeat of the Socialist nominees is attributed largely to the vote of the women, who in spite of the rain, went to the polls in large numbers.

Democrats Win in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 5.—Democratic candidates for leading offices were successful in the majority of Oklahoma cities where elections were held yesterday. Citizens' tickets won in a number of the towns which had been recognized as Democratic or Republican.

Jake Hammon, Republican, who figured in the investigation of the Gore charges concerning Indian legislation last summer, was defeated for mayor of Lawton by 208 majority.

St. Louis Is Republican.

St. Louis, Mo., April 5.—Tuesday's election of a municipal assembly is a conceded Republican victory, though some gains were shown for the Democrats in the wards in which the party was dominant.

The Republican council ticket was elected by a plurality estimated from an incomplete count at 8,500 votes.

Eleven Republican and five Democratic candidates are known to have been elected as members of the house of delegates.

A tie vote resulted in the Nineteenth ward, each man receiving 1,234. Of the remaining eleven wards the Republicans are sure of six.

The Socialists had a full ticket in the field and the nearest any candidate of this party came to election, was in the Tenth ward where an aspirant for house of delegate honors was defeated by twenty votes.

Republican Wins at Racine.

Racine, Wis., April 5.—Complete returns in yesterday's municipal election give W. S. Goodland, Republican nominee for mayor, a plurality of 1,670 over W. A. Jacobs, Social Democratic.

Martin Wins in Watertown.

Watertown, S. D., April 5.—John W. Martin, Democrat, yesterday defeated Dr. E. F. Harrington for mayor by a majority of 261. Sam Sheldon, incumbent, who has served as alderman seven years, was defeated by Clyde Reed by twenty-four majority.

Even Break in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., April 5.—Municipal elections were held in the towns and villages of Nebraska yesterday. Lincoln, operating under a special charter, will hold its election May 2. Omaha holds no election this year. The saloon question was the issue in the contests yesterday and the scattering returns so far received indicate about an even break. The notable addition to the "dry" side was Beatrice, which reversed the "wet" verdict of a year ago. Geneva, on the other hand, heretofore non-license, declared for saloons.

between this city and Chihuahua and the City of Mexico all day.

Governor Ahumada telegraphed finally that the Maderos here were to be given passports and a military escort to visit Bustillos ranch. This telegram was sent to Gen. Navarro, commanding the troops now at Juarez, and he issued the necessary passports and orders.

The date for their departure could not be learned. The trip of 150 miles will be made in automobiles and is expected to require thirty hours.

Rebels Close to Chihuahua.

Madero's Camp Before Chihuahua, via Laredo, Tex., April 5.—Although no immediate attack is anticipated, the Mexican rebels are now within eight miles of the city of Chihuahua and it is known that extraordinary precautions have been taken for the safety of the citizens. People living in the outskirts have been warned to move within the city and large outposts of the federal troops have been stationed in the surrounding hills.

The insurrectos and federal outposts are within sight of each other and small skirmishes are frequent.

Precautions have been taken to prevent destruction of the railroad south, which is now the only means of transportation.

Insurrectos have served notice that civilians only may be transported as hauling of troops will result in the destruction of the road and a practical siege of the city.

President Diaz's message has produced no visible effect on the aspect of the revolution here.

Americans Bring News.

El Paso, Tex., April 5.—Charles Richards and Jewell Williams, the one a machinist in the Madera, Mex., shops and the other just completing one month's service with the insurrectos, arrived today with the news that the insurrectos have no present intention of attacking the city of Chihuahua.

Their ambition, said Williams, who makes his home with his mother at 500 West One Hundred and Seventy-third street, New York, is to recapture Casas Grandes and liberate the prisoners, including seventeen Americans, taken in the recent engagement at that place.

Coincident with this information comes an official announcement that Gen. Rafael Eguia Lis and the Casas Grandes garrison of 500 federal troops have been ordered to proceed to Chihuahua. The addition of these troops, it is estimated, will bring the Chihuahua garrison up to 3,000 or more men.

The insurgents realize that with their force of not over 1,500 men (and probably it is under that), equipped only with carbines and with no artillery, they have no chance with the fully equipped and numerically stronger force within the city. It is not unlikely, however, unless the present pour parlers are speedily developed into a truce, that Madero or some other rebel chief will endeavor to intercept Eugia Lis on the march.

With regard to the official announcement of this move of the Casas Grandes force, it is considered by those familiar with Mexican strategy, that the report may be meant merely to mislead the enemy. In any event, it is practically certain that Eugia Lis will not attempt to take his prisoners with him.

Madero at Bustillos Ranch.

Madero is at Ranchero Bustillos, according to Richards and Williams, where, if present plans do not miscarry, he will soon receive his father and brother, Alfonso, to discuss peace plans. There has been no fighting since Casas Grandes, they say.

The city of Madera, where there are big American interests, is 100 miles or more from Madero's camp. The insurrectos force there is commanded by Guiseppe Garibaldi, an artillery expert, who has served in Italy and South America, and Capt. Oscar G. Creighton, an American.

There are only ten Americans now with the rebels, eleven of them having been released and seventeen taken prisoners at the battle of Casas Grandes. Richards said the total dead in that fight was ninety-one killed on both sides.

Recent reports that a force of insurrectos were across the Rio Grande river forty miles east of here presumably threatening Juarez, were laid at rest by two newspapermen who visited the alleged camp yesterday. At the village of Gaudelupe on the Mexican side, reached by fording a river half mud and half water the peons said there had been a small scouting party from Ojinaga there several days ago but that they had returned east.

By profession, Rapi is a high-class gambler and has experienced the usual ups and downs of a follower of chance. He founded the Unione del Mezzogiorno of Naples, to the success of which many of the aristocrats are said to have contributed their fortunes in a single night's play. He conducted Tells Story of Movements.

The story told by the prisoner regarding his movements from the time of the murder of Cuoccolo and his wife, was in substance as follows:

"On the day that Cuoccolo is supposed to have been killed I went with Enrico Alfano to try out some carriage horses. We reached Torre del Greco, where we met some of Alfano's friends and we all dined together. I did not suspect that the banquet had any sinister object and nothing out of the ordinary was said. I paid the bill as I was considered the richest of the party. When with the others present at the dinner, I was arrested, I gave this plain explanation of the situation and it was sufficient to bring about the release of all of us. I obtained permission to re-enter Paris and was about to recoup my losses when I heard that I was again accused, and I willingly returned to Italy. I announced the hour of the train upon which I would arrive. Capozzutl, the carabineer, and police spy, profiting by the information that I had so generously given, met me at the railroad station and placed me under arrest."

doubt as to the constitutionality of the commision form of city government. This assures the passage of the bill.

The new reapportionment bill did not appear this morning and it will not be in before tomorrow. Tonight a conference of Southern Minnesota members will be held to agree on the bill and a course of action. While Senators Putnam, Haycraft and other bitter opponents of reapportionment are opposed to the passage of any bill at all, the present prospects are that enough votes will be found to put the new bill through the senate.

The special order on the Moonan-Weis-Haycraft-Duxbury bill limiting the three large counties to four senators each, was changed this morning from tomorrow afternoon to tomorrow morning.

The senate this morning killed the bill by Senator Stebbins, providing for pre-primary party conventions at which party candidates would be nominated for presentation at the primary election, without excluding from the primaries candidates not nominated at the conventions. The vote indefinitely postponing the bill was 22 to 15.

The senate committee of the whole this morning recommended for passage the bill by the senate tax committee, providing that all property shall be assessed for the purposes of taxation at half its real value. This bill is the product of the recommendations of the tax commission and its purpose is to bring about uniformity of assessments.

Somewhat belated, the house this morning killed the senate resolution providing for the final adjournment of the legislature April 1. The senate passed the resolution early in the session, and it has been sleeping ever since in the committee on general legislation, which reported this morning in favor of killing the resolution, the report being adopted.

The house this morning passed a joint resolution by Representative Wescott providing for a committee of five to be appointed by the governor to represent Minnesota in the preparations for the celebration of the centennial anniversary of the battle of Lake Erie, to be held at Put-in-Bay in 1913.

The house passed a drainage bill by the drainage committee making a number of changes in the drainage law, including provisions that owners of half the lands lying a mile on either side of a proposed ditch may stop the establishment of a ditch by protesting at the preliminary hearing, that at the final hearing owners of 60 per cent of the property, assessed for a total of 60 per cent of the cost of a proposed ditch, may stop the establishment of the ditch, and that the county board may repair county ditches and assess the cost of the lands benefited.

drafting of an official communication to President Taft opposing the stand he had taken for a trade agreement with Canada, as a violation of the promises on which he was elected and begging that he consider well the possible benefits and damages that may accrue from the signing of the pact before taking final action.

Delegates to Washington.

The convention elected Ex-Senator H. C. Hansbrough of Devils Lake, Ex-Senator W. E. Purcell of Wahpeton, Treadwell Twitchell of Fargo, J. A. Buchanan of Jamestown, R. F. Kingman of Hillsboro, N. G. Larimore and R. C. Cooper of Cooperstown, to go to Washington immediately, expenses to be paid by the convention, to take up the fight against the reciprocity treaty.

The convention chairman, R. S. Lewis will also be a member of this committee, acting as delegate at large. The counties elected delegates as follows, who will accompany the official delegation: George M. Young, Barnes; E. Y. Sarles, Traill; E. J. Lander, J. D. Bacon, Grand Forks; E. J. Wiser, Cass; J. P. Reese, Billings; James McPhail, Cavalier; Frank Sprague, T. L. Belseker, Walsh; H. L. Holmes, Pembina; J. E. Solberg, Benson; F. L. Thompson, Towner; A. G. Eberhart, McHenry; L. P. Johnson, McIntosh; J. M. Devine, Ward; Henry Hale, Ramsey; J. E. Phalen, Barnes; Nels Hemmingson, Griggs.

Resolutions Denounce Pact.

The convention passed resolutions declaring the treaty unfair and unjust to the agricultural interests, claiming that it would bring suffering and disaster to producers; that the duty on barley would only benefit the brewer; that it blazes the way for the emigration of thousands of our people and millions of our wealthy to foreign fields; that it will reduce farm values, lower the standard of farm life and is solely a benefit to Canadians and the manufacturing interests.

SENATE IS DENOUNCED

Northern Minnesota Meeting on Reapportionment Question Urged.

Delegates From Each of Thirty Counties Should Go to St. Paul.

Kennedy, Minn., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles J. Estlund, county surveyor and publisher of the Kennedy Star, has issued the following circular letter on the reapportionment question, which expresses the sentiment in this section of the state.

"Friends of Northern Minnesota: The majority of our state senate, by defeating the Congdon reapportionment bill, has shown itself painfully callous to the spirit of the Constitution and has manifested a disregard for the rights of Northern Minnesota, a desire to ignore its almost preponderating and steadily growing commercial and industrial development, and to cause our great section of the state to continue to appear before the world in the false, humiliating and injurious light of subordination and unimportance, and in our legislature without such commensurate representation as is contemplated by the intent and spirit of our Constitution.

"Northern Minnesota should make the strongest protest, as individuals, and by concerted action, against this injustice.

"Northern Minnesota men should meet and take action. It is to be hoped that the men of Northern Minnesota knew what they asked for and what they wanted, and what they were entitled to, when they asked the state for a reapportionment at this session of the legislature, that should give them a just and equal representation, based on the returns of the last census, and in accord with the spirit of the Constitution of the state of Minnesota and of the United States.

"The men of Northern Minnesota have this week beheld the humiliating spectacle of their legislature spurning their demands, ignoring their rights and disregarding the intents of the Constitution. A reapportionment bill, as just and fair as any such bill could be made, and which was triumphantly passed through the lower house, was killed in the senate.

"This is shameful, humiliating and should call forth the quick and resentful denunciation of every citizen of this great area. Time was when Northern Minnesota neither demanded nor was entitled to very much representation, but that time is long past. Our part of the state has been growing, when other parts have not. Today we are no longer the backwoods nor, an experiment, nor a burden to any other part of the state, but a great, immensely rich, absolutely self-sustaining and well populated region, possessing every resource, and utterly independent of foreign supply for subsistence and development.

"Is it possible to fetter such a region peopled with such a citizenship, into a state of subordination and unimportance? Will the northern men bear it?

"Let Minnesota beware, lest in this north another commonwealth arise which shall rend every shackle, with which bigotry, egotism, prejudice and stupid envy, as typified in the action of Minnesota's senate, would fetter and check the great progress and triumphant future of our vast empire of Northern Minnesota. Yesterday there were but angry murmurs of disapproval. Tomorrow there may be threats and open defiance. Let the present furnish the needed warning.

"The immediate need for Northern Minnesota at this crisis, is to get together. A Northern Minnesota meeting must be called.

"Our brilliant senators paused to question who wanted reapportionment in Northern Minnesota, and who have been paying those who had advocated it during the year.

"Minnesota should answer these questions at once and forever by sending down delegates from each one of our thirty counties, to go before that body and tell them in the name of Northern Minnesota that every township and county in the whole northern region wants reapportionment, and no party, clique or section wants it more than any other.

"Each county should send a delegate. That delegate should bear the message from his county to the unwilling senate that his county demands reapportionment. And if, in the face of such demand, the senate still refuses to surrender to the will of our people, then let the consequences of dissention and disruption be on their heads. Yours respectfully,

"CHARLES J. ESTLUND.

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo. — "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl." —Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try it?

SOME BEAUTIFUL EFFECTS OF THE APRIL SNOW STORM

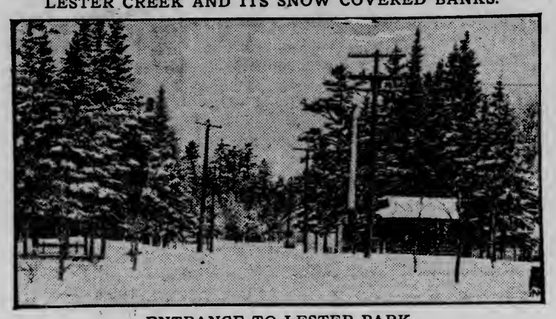
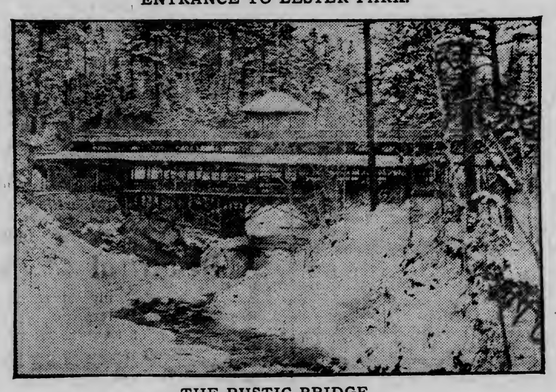
LESTER CREEK AND ITS SNOW COVERED BANKS.



ENTRANCE TO LESTER PARK.



THE RUSTIC BRIDGE.

Farmers, bankers and business men having an interest in the crop situation are rejoicing over a fall of snow that extended over the entire Northwest yesterday and last night. From two to three inches of snow fell in all farming districts, while in Duluth and other points at the Head of the Lakes the fall was five inches. It is late in the season for such a heavy fall, but snow is not unusual in Duluth during April, according to the weather bureau records.

The storm extended over the entire country, rain or snow falling everywhere except on a narrow strip along the South Atlantic coast, along the Mexican border and in the extreme Canadian Northwest.

Conditions in Duluth were decidedly uncomfortable last night, a wind that attained a velocity of thirty-six miles an hour at times, driving the snow in front of it during the early part of the storm. The wind died down during the night and during the period of greatest snowfall early this morning, there was little wind.

The fall of five inches leaves the streets and walks covered with deep, wet slush and pedestrians are wallowing through it today. The condition of the snow is such that it should disappear quickly under sunshine.

Cloudy and unsettled weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow. H. W. Richardson, local forecaster at the weather bureau, believes that winter has about run its course and, now that the farmers are satisfied, better spring conditions may be expected.

LOWLY PRUNE NOW A LUXURY

The Boardinghouse Fruit No Longer to Be Sneered at.

The boarding house prune, which is a mighty good dish in spite of the jokes that have been heaped upon it, is now a luxury on account of prevailing high prices.

In the wholesale world prunes are bringing from 10c to 11¾c a pound. A few years ago they were worth 5½c. However prunes formerly were dried skins around a seed. Cultivation and proper selection have resulted in the average prune being a healthy, juicy, luscious morsel.

The prune crop a year ago didn't come to bat on account of a lack of water. But Duluth is eating prunes just the same even though it is compelled to pay a fancy price for second rate fruit.

THREE KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Milwaukee Road Freight Engine Explodes Near McIntosh, S. D.

Aberdeen, S. D., April 5.—Two men were instantly killed and a third was mortally injured and died a few hours later when a huge Mallet freight engine on the Puget Sound extension of the Milwaukee railroad exploded three miles east of McIntosh.

The dead are:
FIREMAN WRIGHT of Mobridge.
FRANK ROLLINS of Pittsburg, Pa.
An unidentified man.

The freight train was running at high speed when the crown sheet which separates the firebox from the boiler dropped down, causing the water in the boiler to plunge into the firebox. This caused a terrific explosion. Wright, the fireman, was blown backward from the cab a distance of thirteen car lengths and instantly killed, although the engineer, who was sitting beside him, was uninjured.

Two tramps were riding on the train, one of whom was instantly killed. The other, Frank Rollins, a boilermaker by trade, received injuries which caused his death two hours after he was taken to an Aberdeen hospital.

FORMER DEPUTY ELECTED.

Roy Van Alstine of Dietz Capture Fame Chosen Assessor.

Couderay, Wis., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Roy Van Alstine was elected assessor for the town and village of Winter in yesterday's election. He had no opposition. Van Alstine was one of the chief deputies under Sheriff Madden of Sawyer county during the siege and capture of the Dietz family last fall, and also was one of the two deputies along with Sheriff Madden when Clarence and Myra Dietz were wounded and captured on their way to Winter in the opening of the hostilities last fall.

What the Face Always Shows

Always One Thing Noticeable In Faces Of Winning Men.

The sparkle in the face of the man who is successfully forging his way, whether he be poor or rich, is like the sparkle in the diamond. It is the sputtering of the live wires within him; the tingling of his nerves, and these always show in his face. More than this, it shows in his poise, speech, expression, manner, health and in the ruby of his cheek. He is always able to do more work than he has before him, instead of always seeking an excuse for not doing the work he has.

All that keeps you alive and going is the power of your nerves. Keep them always strong, and you will never be sick, and never unhappy.

There is one nerve-invigorator which every man or woman should always use, because it is wonderful in its work—Make-Man Tablets is the name. They invigorate every nerve-cell in the body in a lasting way, and enrich the blood to a remarkable degree.

If you are run-down, or suffer from Kidney or Liver Trouble, Insomnia or Rheumatism, Make-Man Tablets will do more good than several months' vacation.

Make-Man Tablets are sold at all druggists at 50 cents a box. If you want to try them before buying, just drop a line to the Make-Man Tablet Co., Make-Man Bldg., Dept. 13, Chicago, Ill., and they will send you a trial treatment absolutely free.

THREE WANT POSITION

County Board Will Chose Successor to Special Counsel Stevenson.

Committee Expected to Report in Favor of Building New Jail.

The county commissioners will hold their regular monthly meeting Friday in the board room at the courthouse.

From present indications the meeting will be most important. The choice of a new special counsel, the report on Memorial hall and the matter of the workhouse or new county jail will be taken up.

For the position of special counsel to the board there are three candidate, Charles E. Adams, E. M. Morgan and W. G. Bonham. All three men are working hard for the position and the result is in doubt.

As the board is in need of an attorney at all times, the matter will be taken up and disposed of Friday, it is thought. William J. Stevenson, the present special county attorney, will present his resignation at the meeting. He was recently appointed assistant to the state attorney general.

At the last meeting of the county board, members of Culver post, G. A. R., made complaint in regard to the manner of the management of Memorial hall. They claimed that they were being discriminated against. In the petition presented to the county board they claimed that they were not allowed to have their charter on the walls and that they were forbidden the use of the walls for their pictures. A committee of which Joseph Cummings was made chairman was appointed to investigate and report to the county board.

The jail or workhouse committee will also report. It is thought that it will report in favor of a new jail. After investigating the matter of a workyard at the Point of Rocks the committee finds that it could not be started for less than $75,000. This, it is claimed, is too much and the money might better be used to help on the building of a new jail.

There are a number of road petitions, petitions for the division of school districts, road improvements, the legalizing of roads, liquer licenses and other matters of importance to come to the attention of the board.

MINIMIZES MISTAKES

Street Car Patrons Comment Favorably on the "Change" Rule.

The novelty of hearing the conductors on the street cars call out the amount of money handed them by the patrons and the amount of change returned has practically worn off and the company's employes are no longer the target of facetious remarks by people who sought to make something funny out of the new rule.

The custom was inaugurated by the company for the protection of the passengers, and to save many annoyances that have arisen in times past by reason of misunderstandings relative to the denomination of the money handed the conductor. Sometimes the person paying the fare has been engaged in conversation with friends and, when the change was returned, or no change was returned at all, disputed the original amount paid.

Under the working of the new rule the conductor annoiunces the amount of money received, if it is more than the required fare, also the change returned, and any question of mistake is thus eliminated.

Before the rule went into effect it was quite common to hear discussions between the conductor and passengers over change. The passenger perhaps, would claim that he gave the conductor a quarter, the latter would insist that he received a nickel and the result was a complaint to the company. Both thought they were right.

Officials of the company say that the number of complaints about mistakes have been materially reduced since the rule went into effect. The practice of calling the amount of money received and the change has caused favorable comment among those patrons who have noticed it and they have wondered why the company did not enforce such a rule long ago.

Some very peculiar situations have arisen in time past over alleged mistakes by conductors, and none more so than the instance of a Duluth woman who went to the car starter's station and claimed that on the previous day she had given a conductor a $5 gold piece in mistake for a nickel. She was positive of it because she had a $5 gold piece and a nickel in her purse when she started from home.

The funny part of it was that the conductor gave her 20 cents in change, but the lady, thinking she had beaten the company, said no word about a mistake but slipped the change in her purse. When, however, she discovered the $5 gold piece missing "the shoe was on the other foot" and she immediately set out to make a complaint.

But the funniest part of all is that the lady returned to the car starter's station a few days afterward and asked that her apology be tendered the conductor. It seems that her husband, unknown to her, had removed the $5 gold piece from her purse and substituted a quarter and she really did give the conductor the quarter and received the correct change.

It is easy to make mistakes, and it is human nature to lay the blame on the other fellow. Anything that the company can do to minimize the occasion for mistakes is a move appreciated by patrons.

"DICK" CULLEN DISTRUSTS LAWYERS; PLEADS OWN CASES

RICHARD CULLEN.

A jury in district court returned a verdict for $900 in favor of William Foulke and against Richard Cullen this morning, after being out but a short time.

William Foulke is a St. Paul lawyer and he sued Mr. Cullen for $2,500 which he claimed was due him for work done at the instance of Mr. Cullen. The work, he claimed, occupied several months of his time. It embraced the restoration of titles to lands that were alleged to be very valuable for the deposits of ore that they were supposed to have contained.

Mr. Cullen claimed that he paid Mr. Foulke in full for whatever work he did. The work, it was alleged by the plaintiff, was done in 1910.

The defendant appeared in court for himself. He tried his own case. He examined the witnesses and made the final argument to the jury.

Mr. Cullen has been acting as a lawyer the greater part of the time, lately. Heretofore he has had attorneys, but he now thinks that he is better able to try his own cases than lawyers are able to try them for him. What he thinks of attorneys in general would fill a large book. His opinions are not always complimentary to those who follow the law as a means of existing on this earth.

"They are crooked and you can not lay your finger on them anywhere," says Mr. Cullen. "They are out after the coin and they get it one way or another. There's a lot of them after me. They have been trying to do me up for a long time. I am through with them."

Mr. Cullen is known to a greater part of the population of Duluth.

"Dick," as he is popularly known, has figured in many big deals but he has always been unfortunate and lost out. He has at different times, it is said, been close to figuring his fortune in the millions, and then something would slip. Undaunted, he would go at it again. That has been his fortune over and over again for many years past.

A while ago he made up his mind that attorneys and a general rule are not to be trusted. He determined to defend his own cases in the future. This he has done. When the present case started he had employed a local attorney, but the attorney was dismissed just before the case was called.

"Dick" has been in many a legal conflict and he has usually come out with scars. For the last few years he has been in the St. Louis county and Hennepin county courts with his land titles in nearl yevery term of court. He is said to have more disputes over titles than any other man in the state.

He has had experiences that would dishearten most men. He has been robbed of valuable papers, he claims; has been beaten by fraud; has been frozen out of big deals that might have made him millions, and yet he keeps continually at it. He still hopes that one day he will get cleared away and will awake to find himself wealthy.

The accompanying picture shows "Dick" as he appears on the streets of Duluth every day. He always carries the grip. In it are contained all his papers. Because they were once stolen from him, he determined to carry them with him. He never leaves them alone. The grip is never out of his sight.

His pockets are always full of papers, and one packet in his overcoat pocket shows in the picture.

He intends to continue to appear for himself and he has another suit which will soon be taken up.

RECIPROCITY AND NOTHING ELSE.

Aside from its brevity, which is so unusual that it compels attention, the most prominent feature of President Taft's message to congress is the fact that it asks for action on only one measure. Even the expected suggestion of legislation for the organization of a permanent tariff board fails to appear in the document. The president makes but the one appeal to congress—that it ratify the agreement for reciprocity with Canada—and he makes that appeal in a frank, dignified way. There is no suggestion of a big stick or any other method of compulsion.

Perhaps, after all, this presentation of his wishes is the most effective that the president could have made. He gives no opportunity for a clouding of issues. He does not even suggest the possibility that there may be other matters that congress would like to consider. Evidently it is his wish that house and senate act favorably on the Canadian agreement in this session, and leave other matters to the regular session next winter.

Whether the new congress will see things in this same light is, to say the least, exceedingly doubtful. The field of possible legislation is wide, and the Democratic majority in the house seems disposed to start across that field as early as possible. But whatever it may see fit to do afterward, the congress cannot fail to appreciate the dignified, straightforward way in which the reciprocity measure has been presented to it as something that is intended for the good of the whole country, and it can make no mistake in following the president's suggestion by ratifying the agreement at once. With that out of the way there will still be time enough to consider such other matters as it may seem advisable to bring up in the extra session.

There is no good reason for delay in enacting ratification. The agreement has been before the country more than two months, and it has been subjected to more general discussion than any other national measure since the free silver campaign of more than a dozen years ago. Organizations in all parts of the country have declared in favor of its adoption. Indeed, the strongest protests against it have come from sources like the American Protective Tariff league, which is opposed to any tariff action unless it be the raising of the already iniquitously high duties. Other protests have been made, but they have come largely from those who have been misled by the doctrines taught by the high tariff advocates, or who have failed to understand the significance of the agreement.

The discussion has been general and earnest, and there is no good reason why ratification should be delayed. If congress wants to consider general tariff legislation after that, congress has a right to do so. Or if it wants to take up postoffice matters or an investigation of federal affairs or anything else, well and good. But the question at present is ratification of the agreement with Canada, and that ratification should be the first care of the members of both houses.

AN EXPERIMENT IN WISCONSIN.

Wisconsin does not propose to stop with her statewide primary law and her public service commission. She would go yet farther into the matter of political and administrative regeneration and lay herself open to a thorough probing of everything that has to do with governmental affairs.

At least, that is the proposition laid before the legislature of that state, and it is said that there is considerable likelihood of its being considered favorably. Some of the newspapers in the state have taken up the cudgels in favor of the scheme, and it is getting considerable support.

The plan is to establish a state board of public affairs, to conduct whatever investigations may be deemed necessary into the management of the state's business, and to serve without compensation, the state to reimburse them for traveling and other necessary expenses incurred in the course of their official duties. It is urged that the work of such a board would be invaluable to the state in the saving of money, and would be a check also on the policies and methods of administration. In the matter of recompense it is claimed that the task allotted to the members of the board would be of such a character that the state could not afford to hire the most competent men to take it up, and that to hire inferior ones would rob the plan of its value. It is urged that there are capable men in the state who would be willing to devote time and effort to the work of the board.

The question of getting able men to serve the state or the community without recompense always is met by serious doubts. Duluth has been fortunate in being able to secure service of that kind on her water and light board and her park commission. In the matter of state affairs, which would involve absence from the scene of individual interests, the question becomes yet more serious. We in America have not the spirit that exists in some other older countries, which prompts men to retire from profit-gaining business when a small competence has been achieved and devote the rest of their lives to the service of the community or even to personal pleasure.

Perhaps the establishment of such a board as this, with the opportunity it would offer for real public service, would bring out that characteristic, by offering an actual and worthy employment to men who could not bring themselves to rest in affluent idleness. At any rate, if Wisconsin decides to try the experiment it will be an interesting thing to watch. And if it really works well the Badger state will be doing a good thing for the rest of the country by proving the feasibility of the scheme.

THE JAIL OR THE FARM?

St. Louis county is getting nearer every day to the necessity of deciding whether to build a new jail at a cost of half a million dollars, or start a local penal farm at a cost of a few thousand. The old jail has been condemned by state authorities. The conditions there are acknowledged to be extremely bad. There must be found some means of taking care of the class of people who at present are being sheltered there. And that means must be found soon. What are we going to do about it?

Such opposition as there seems at present to exist to the jail farm proposition is in the shape of indifference rather than active objection. St. Louis county never has had any other system than the jail system for dealing with petty offenders and drunks, therefore most of the people seem to be willing to let that system continue.

This is not a good spirit to show in so important a matter as this. It is claimed that the jail farm proposition, as far as it has been tried out, is a distinct success. That it not only relieves the county of great expense, and even contributes something to its own support, but that it is beneficial to the prisoners. That it helps men to learn work that it is worth their while to know, and at the same time, by getting them outdoors into the fresh air and giving them healthful exercise, it builds up their minds and bodies and sends them out in shape to make a better fight for themselves and their families. And in the mean time it relieves the families of part of the burden that otherwise falls on them through the enforced idleness and detention of the husband and father.

Thus far, at least, nobody has even attempted to contradict these claims. Those who have seen fit to talk on the subject at all have acknowledged the correctness of the theory as a theory. And those who have seen the same thing at work in other places declare that it is not only correct as a theory, but that it has been found practical in application.

Granting that this is all true, why should not St. Louis county take up the jail farm proposition and put it to the test? Even if it should prove to accomplish less than is claimed for it, it could not be worse for the people on whom it was tried than is the present system of incarceration in the county jail; if it should be decided to abandon the project later, there would still be the land purchased for the working out of the scheme, which could be made to bring some return from the original outlay; and the initial expense of the experiment would be small compared with the almost certain return in the shape of proper care for the county and city prisoners.

At any rate, the farm scheme promises far better things than a dozen new jails would hold forth; it would cost about one-twenty-fifth as much as one new jail would cost; it is easier to try it now, when some step of the kind must be taken, than when there is ample accommodation of other kinds for prisoners. Why not drop this indifference and try the thing out, anyway?

CHICAGO AND MILWAUKEE.

Probably there will be some regret throughout the country at the failure of Prof. Merriam to win in the mayoralty election in Chicago. His work in the interests of municipal welfare has attracted general attention, and he has been regarded as a representative of all that is opposed to the machine methods that have prevailed in Chicago politics and government. It is highly probable, too, that the success of Woodrow Wilson in New Jersey, not only as a campaigner but in making things happen after he got into office, has made popular the idea of "the scholar in politics," and gave a basis for hope of Merriam's success.

There can be no question that Harrison's victory must be ascribed, at least in part, to the great experience he has had in the same office in other terms. His record, to be sure, is not spotless. He has been known to be a machine politician, and there were things in his administrations that would not, perhaps, bear too strong a light. But taken in comparison with the administrations of other mayors Chicago has had, Harrison was very far from being the worst. At any rate there seems to be no ground for a belief that the city's affairs will not be handled intelligently with him in the mayor's chair.

Evidently the all too common unwillingness of the more wealthy class of citizens to put themselves to any inconvenience to do their civic duties cut a big figure in Harrison's election. It was expected that the "silk-stocking" wards would give Merriam a heavy vote, but—it rained on election day, and the old spirit of indifference got in its work. But Merriam is the kind of man who knows how to accomplish things even though not in office, and he has expressed his intention to keep up his fight. The vote yesterday was close enough to show his power at the polls. Chicago has not heard the last of him, which perhaps is a good thing for Chicago.

There is nothing very astonishing in the results of the election in Milwaukee. Some surprise at the failure of the people to back the Socialist ticket more strongly is certain to be expressed. There may even be some inclination to use the fact as basis for a theory that Socialism has failed in that city. But it must be remembered that whenever any party attains power and is confronted with the necessity for translating its theories into practice, it meets many difficulties not hitherto seen and which it must have time to overcome. This involves delay in the accomplishment of some of its promises, and in the meantime many of those who voted to put the party in power become disappointed and are ready to vote for the other side. This is true especially in the case of the Socialists, for their views and theories, in many respects, are more radical than those of other organizations, and many of their supporters are less patient under delay, even when that delay is justified.

It is easy to believe that this was the case in Milwaukee. The administration of Mayor Seidel has accomplished many things that it promised, but it has been impossible for it to accomplish everything in the Socialistic program. There have been murmurs of discontent among the less patient, and this spirit has taken form at the polls. The vote yesterday, however, is very far from being a repudiation of the city administration. That may come at the next municipal election, or it may not. If it does come it may mean nothing more than that the party has gone through an experience far from unique in American political history. If the administration is upheld after its first term in office it will mean a great victory for Socialism as a theory of municipal government.

A preacher out in Maryland disguised himself and joined in a poker game, just to get the experience. He got $50 worth.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

AUCTION SALES AND SOME TRICKS USED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Kindly allow me a few lines to express my opinion in regard to the auction or rather, way of fleecing the poor lumberjacks, who come to town with some easy money, also some bonafide citizens of Duluth, which is now being conducted right in the heart of Duluth.

Now in regard to the wares, jewelry, etc., which are disposed of, the writer saw pins usually sold at 10 cents at a good big profit, go at the ridiculous prices of 50 and 60 cents; watches worth perhaps $1.25 or so, go at prices ranging rom $2 to $6, and other articles the same way.

Now how is this remarkable business conducted? Well, here is the secret. Two men, who evidently belong to the establishment, as they are in and out day after day, start the bids and it is always at a very good profit at that, and raise the bids until the maximum is reached, all the while winking and going through a series of signs, greatly resembling the deaf and dumb language. It must be great sport, yes for the man taking in the money. Another cute trick of theirs: if a watch is put up, and the two persistent bidders, who are a part of the firm, are not around and the bids are not high enough, a cheap fob is hung to the watch and it is put back into the case.

I think that it is high time that this robbery and small way of doing business was stopped.

PROFESSOR APOLOGIZED TO DULUTH STUDENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

An article in your issue of last evening, entitled "University Student Hit in the Nose," narrated an occurrence at Minneapolis in which my son, E. L. Burg, was concerned, and which, in the eyes of some, may have placed him in an unenviable light, and for this reason I desire to make a statement.

Upon being informed of the incident I went to Minneapolis and made a personal investigation. I do not need to confirm statement with the details of what I learned. It is sufficient for me to say that Mr. Reep, who, by the way, is engaged in teaching the higher ideas of modern civilization to the young men and young women at the state university, made an apology in the presence of a dozen persons to my son, to Mrs. Weltpon, the landlady of the house where they board, and to her father.

MAKING BEAUTY SPOTS.

Portland Telegram: In Washington, D. C., they are developing the idea that vacant-lot property should add and not detract from the beauty of the city. It seems, too, that they are getting in earnest about the matter, and that vacant lot owners will be compelled, sooner or later, to take this advanced view, and in practical fashion at that.

The Washington Society of Fine Arts has taken up the matter, and there is much casting about for a plan that will take cognizance of all the vacant-lot ugliness in the city, and put in operation a system that will do away with it—or, better still, convert it by tree and lawn planting to an element of municipal adornment. It will be a great and useful work for Washington and other cities if the Society of Fine Arts in the capital can devise a plan that will prove effective.

Really, every person who owns vacant-lot property should maintain greater obligations toward the city than is the case. And especially is this true if that property is located in the fully settled and improved business or residence districts.

The vacant-lot owner profits altogether by the growth of the city. It is frequently the case that he grows immensely wealthy by no other means in the world. He contributes nothing, builds nothing, adds nothing to the value of any other person's property or to the enjoyment or comfort of any citizen. All that is demanded of him is the payment of taxes that, considering his profit, are nominal. It would seem to be equity as well as good ethics to demand that such a man should keep his vacant-lot property in such shape that it would be a credit and not a detriment to the city, which other people build and improve to his financial advantage.

But how to achieve the matter—there is the question!

Training a Police Patrolman.

From the annual report of the commissioner of police of New York city: Probationary patrolmen before being regularly assigned to precincts for patrol duty are sent to the school for recruits to learn their duties as policemen. The school, under the immediate supervision of a deputy commissioner, is in direct charge of a lieutenant, who is assisted by two other lieutenants acting as instructors.

In July, 1910, the civil service commission extended the probationary period from one month to six. The course in the school for recruits covers this probationary period. During the first month the probationary men are instructed at the school in the laws of the state, the ordinances of the city, the rules, regulations and usages of the department, the treatment of accidents, the treatment of homicide cases, first aid to the injured, the use of finger prints, drill, use and care of the pistol, swimming, school of the soldier, etc.

The instruction is supplemented by regular home work and study, upon which reports are required. For the five succeeding months of the probationary term the men are assigned to precincts for patrol duty, and so get a practical knowledge of police work. At the end of each two weeks during this five months term the men report back to the school, where they receive additional instruction and the instruction of the first month is reviewed.

At the end of the six months' course each probationary man is reported on as to his general efficiency and conduct. Should this report be satisfactory he is then appointed to the regular force.

During the year 1910 there were 378 men employed on probation, of whom three were rejected and five resigned, and seven men who had been rejected during 1909 were appointed during 1910, making a total of 385 who received instruction during the year at the school for recruits.

Also in His Father's Shoes.

Ideas: Every one knew Jonathan Skinflint as a millionaire, with the exception, so it appeared, of Skinflint himself. He invariably wore the shabbiest of clothes and is reported to have dined one day on a couple of peas and a grapeskin.

One day an old friend endeavored to persuade the miser to dress better. "I am surprised," he said, "that you should let yourself become so shabby."

"But I am not shabby," Skinflint expostulated.

"Oh, yes you are," the friend replied. "Remember your father. He was always neatly, even elegantly, dressed. His clothes were very handsome."

Skinflint gave utterance to a hearty laugh. "Why," he shouted triumphantly, "these clothes I've got on now were father's."

All the Attractions.

Chicago Record-Herald: "This seems to be quite a progressive town," said the stranger.

"Oh, yes," the native proudly replied, "the big cities ain't got nothing on us. We've just finished a hotel that has a mezzanine floor."

Wisdom of the Chinese.

Emporia Gazette: China firmly but respectfully declines to fight with Russia, thus strengthening the impression that she is an extremely wise old girl.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Different Kinds of Spanking.

Little Falls Transcript: The prospect is for no more, or at best (worst) only occasional, spanking old times at Red Wing; and if any spanking is hereafter permitted at the boys' training school it must first be sanctioned by authorities higher up than the one in charge, possibly carried up even to the board of control. The practice should be discontinued entirely, then, as nothing can be more characterless and ineffective than a spank the administration of which is deferred long after the commission of the act which suggested its (the spank's) being. As a disciplinary measure any other than a Johnny-on-the-spot spank is utterly worthless and flaccid.

Capacity Overestimated.

Litchfield News-Ledger: Bob Dunn has introduced a bill to prohibit "rushing the can" or allowing any man to carry liquor from a saloon in less quantity than four gallons unless he carried it inside his own hide. The intent of the bill is all right, but we think that Bob has overestimated the capacity of the average hide.

Which Are You?

Hibbing Tribune: Wouldn't it be a good thing for Hibbing if Hibbing had a few thousand farmers within a few miles of town?

Will Hibbing ever get the farmer if nobody tries to clear the land, plant it, cultivate it, reap it?

Isn't it a fact that those who are trying to develop an agricultural country about Hibbing are getting some results?

Which is the better, a sneer against "farming in Hibbing" or an appreciative word for the fellows who are doing the work?

Which are you, a knocker or a booster?

State Division Talk.

Crosby Courier: As a result of the recent refusal of the state senate to give the people of Minnesota reapportionment and equal representation according to population as provided by the state Constitution, many of the newspapers in the northern part of the state are clamoring for state division.

We are loath to believe that the action taken by the senators of Southern Minnesota on the reapportionment bill represented the sentiments of their constituents, but believe rather that they consulted their own selfish interests. However, if it is really the desire of that part of the state to ignore the constitutional rights of Northern Minnesota, the quicker we part company with them the better for us.

Opened the People's Eyes.

Stillwater Gazette: Some of the Wisconsin newspapers are wondering if that state could not be run as well, as economically and give as good satisfaction to the people by men who are not of the La Follette ring. The good work accomplished by Levi H. Bancroft as attorney general, who was cast down, jumped upon and abused, in rounding up several hundred thousand dollars that belongs to the state of Wisconsin, appears to have opened the eyes of the people of that state that there can be and is good in men who are anti-La Follette. No doubt the day will come when a majority of voters of that state will vote for men who are not of the La Follette ring.

A Just Tax.

St. Peter Free Press: Our inheritance tax law brought the state last year the sum of $508,854.78. In time it may reach millions of dollars annually and without hardships to any one. It is not only a just tax, but it also helps solving an economic problem.

One Contention Ended.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: Mankato has held its primary election after one year of trial of the commission plan. The present mayor is nominated, as also is a former mayor. The members of the commission whose terms expire were also nominated, as were other citizens. At the election there will be two candidates for mayor and six for commissioner. This rather knocks out the contention that the commisioners once in office could build up an invincible machine. The people of Mankato have the chance to elect either the old mayor and commissioner, or have a new deal. Each man has to run on his individual merits, and has no party back of him. It is a free field and no favors, and every citizen has the opportunity to make his own choice. It certainly eliminates partisan politics.

Good Seed Needed.

Cambridge North Star: This is the season when farmers ought to give special attention to the necessity of using good seed. It seems almost superfluous to urge such a matter upon the attention of those whose business it is to raise things, but experience has demonstrated that farmers are often careless in this most vital item. It costs but little more to select good seed and it costs no more to till and harvest a crop grown from such seed. This is the time to take thought of such matters.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Pride and summer go before a fall.

Never borrow anything you can't return—not even trouble.

Among the men of letters the postman is the most popular.

With the advent of spring the trees will begin to leave.

A small boy defines dust as mud with the juice squeezed out.

The divorce judge is like a poor marksman—he makes a good many misses.

A learned scientist has discovered that air is the principal ingredient in wind.

If a woman could buy a new hat whenever she pleased, nothing could drive her to suicide.

Those able to afford it like nothing better than to give mean spring weather absent treatment.

A man who marries an old flame need not be surprised to discover that she has a hot temper.

When a girl reaches the "coming out" age she's fortunate if she has a small brother to take the conceit out of her.

Necessity knows no law, but as the mother of invention she should at least be conversant with the patent laws.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: How duty looks depends on whether it's yours or somebody else's.

It's queer how pianos in flat houses won't play till after midnight.

Sometimes a man can learn to understand his family by trying to understand himself.

All a woman's female relatives are mad with her if she doesn't take them along when she goes to buy a gown.

It doesn't take a woman more than a second to make up her mind not to like another who is better looking than she is.

Change the Meaning of 23?

Chicago Examiner: Paris — The seekers after a universal language have not yet given up the idea of discovering the linguistic Utopia. The latest among them is M. Joseph Orsat, who proposes that each word should simply have a certain number. Thus the word flattery would be number 10,243 in all languages.

Assuming that each language has about 400,000 words represented in the dictionaries, and that with the declensions, conjugations and other variations the sum total is multiplied about twenty times, we have only to fix in our heads the numbers to which the 8,000,000 words correspond and we shall be able to make ourselves understood and to understand all the civilized languages, and even some of the uncivilized ones. The dictionary for the new language has not yet been drawn up, nor has the inventor begun to memorize the first million.

Unlimited Demand.

Cleveland Leader: Senator Root has 18,000 packages of government seeds that he doesn't know what to do with. He might send 'em to a breakfast-food factory.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Washington Star: "How are you getting along with your new motor car?"

"Oh, I'm all right," replied Mr. Chuggins. "But I'd feel a lot more comfortable if the streets were not so full of careless or inexperienced pedestrians."

Fliegende Blaetter: Unskilled Rider (as horse goes through the water for the third time)—Great heavens! This beast must have been in the machines at one time.

Tit-Bits: Kindly Landlady (to the new boarder)—How did you find your bed, Mr. Inlate?

Mr. Inlate (taken aback)—Oh, dash it, ma'am! I was not as bad as that.

Washington Herald: "Your new butler seems clumsy."

"For a butler, yes. But he may be a detective that my wife has engaged. In that case, I think he waits on table fairly well."

Washington Star: "Is you goin' duck huntin'?" asked Miss Miami Brown.

"No," replied Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "I isn't gwine special after ducks. An' I is sufficiently acquainted wif de premises I'se movin' on so dat I won't have to hunt."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Mrs. Binks—The people in the next suite to ours are awfully annoying. They pound on the wall every time our Mamie sings. I wish we knew of some way to drive them out of the flat.

Mr. Binks—Why not have Mamie keep on singing."

Toledo Blade: "Captain," shouted the lieutenant to his superior on the bridge of the vessel—the roar of the artillery was deafening—"the enemy has got our range."

The captain frowned. "Curse the luck!" he growled. "Now, how can the cook get dinner!"

WHEN ADVERTISING STOPS.

Mail Order Journal: A dispute between the publishers of the two Chicago Hearst papers, the Examiner and American, and their printers, which broke out on the afternoon of Tuesday, March 1, 1911, caused a temporary strike, which the Chicago Publishers' association considered as unjustified and uncalled for, and for that reason the publishers of all Chicago morning and evening papers decided to stand by the Hearst papers. In consequence of this, all Chicago morning and evening papers of March 2 appeared in size of four pages only, without any advertisements. The strike lasted, however, less than twenty-four hours, for the action of the local printers' union was quickly repudiated by the International Typographical union.

But this strike of a few hours only, which necessitated the Chicago newspapers to appear without advertisements, showed what advertising means to a big city. On regular business days, when the Chicago papers come out with their usual amount of advertising, the street cars are always crowded, the business parts of the city are filled with people and the stores with shoppers. On the day when the papers carried no advertisements Chicago had a holiday appearance. The downtown business streets looked almost abandoned; there were no strap hangers in the street cars during the hours from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. and the great department stores, usually visited by thousands and thousands of people, were quiet and doing almost nothing. What the newspapers lost by not carrying the usual amount of week-day advertising was an insignificant percentage of what the big and small stores lost in trade on that day. It was a day that made not only the business community, but also the entire city of Chicago realize what advertising means to modern life and how little can be done now-a-days without advertising. By what happened on a business day without newspaper advertising, it has been demonstrated that advertising is the greatest power in business. When the business men found themselves suddenly cut off from the means of talking to the public, business immediately came almost to a standstill. Advertising is the life-blood of business and when this blood stops circulating, business stops. Modern business depends for earning its expenses, consisting of rent, taxes and wages for help, and then of a fair remuneration for invested capital, on means for reaching the largest number of customers as quickly as possible. To the individual business man, who may sometimes doubt the real great power attributed to advertising, that single day when Chicago had to get along without advertising has proved that one cannot dispense with advertising without loss and that to do business successfully one must advertise. What the Chicago business men did in shape of street car, billboard and circular advertising failed to work on the day when all newspaper advertising had ceased. This also proved that the ideal means of reaching thousands and thousands of people of a big city quickly and profitably consists only of newspaper advertising. A city without newspaper advertising becomes at once a dead city.

Swimming in the Dead Sea.

World's Work: The Dead Sea contains 23 per cent of solid matter, and is, bulk for bulk, heavier than the human body.

Many believe that it is impossible to swim in this sea, and even in Jerusalem ridiculous fables are told as to the impossibility of bathing there and that no animals or vegetation can exist near its shores.

So far as swimming is concerned the excessive buoyancy of the water simply renders it difficult to make much headway, but a swim is both feasible and enjoyable. Care should be taken, however, not to let the water get into the eyes.

Indeed, did Palestine belong to any power but Turkey, probably the northern shore of the Dead Sea would be a popular bathing station. No doubt the chloride of magnesia which enters so largely into the composition of the water would be found to have medicinal and curative properties.

Perhaps a better idea of the density of the water of this inland sea may be realized from the following statistics: In a ton of water from the Caspian sea there are eleven pounds of salt; in the Baltic, eighteen pounds; in the Black sea, twenty-six pounds; in the Atlantic, thirty-one pounds; in the English channel, seventy-two pounds; in the Mediterranean, eighty-five pounds; in the Red sea, ninety-three pounds, and in the Dead sea, 187 pounds.

WOMAN'S REALM.

A certain Duluth young man is evidently much worried aver the problems of marriage. He has sent in the following communication on the marriage problem which contains some good questions and much food for thought. He says he would like to get the opinions of some of The Herald readers along this line and hopes that the letter will set some of the thoughtless young people to thinking on the matter.

The communication follows:

"Like all young men who have passed their 20th birthday, I am confronted with the most serious problem of a man's life. By that I mean the problem of marriage.

"To me it is a grave problem; there are many questions involved in this problem, and I am turning to you to help me solve them.

"The questions are three: (1) love; (2) convenience; (3) duty.

"Let us take up the first question. What, after all, is love? What is its origin and what is its test? Is it not true that in most cases love is in reality an animal feeling born in propinquity, in the constant nearness or meeting of two persons of opposite sex, mutually attractive? Is it more than a mere desire for possession, a desire satisfied in too many cases, as soon as possession is realized? Do we not often see cases where love has given way to toleration, to indifference? Are not too many faithless husbands and wives those who imagined themselves in love? How many men and women, too honorable to be false to their vows, go through life with aching, famished hearts? Love is a beautiful thing. The poets sing of it in glorious notes. But how is one to know whether his feeling is really love?

"The marriage of convenience, where the moving factor is money, is an accursed thing. Can happiness come that way? Are such marriages worth while?

"I know what may be said on the other side and in favor of marriages of convenience. I know, too, of cases of young men, poor and struggling, who have been given their start on the road of success by the dowry they received when they married. Some of them I know intimately. But didn't they lose something when they put aside all romance and made of their marriage a sordid business contract? Is their prosperity sufficient compensation for all the sweetness that their lives would have had if they had married for love—for true love? Is the dollar all there is to life? And the women, who have married for a good home, for good clothes, for good food? Are not their's empty lives which they vainly endeavor to fill with whist and euchre and kaffee-klatches? and the women who have paid men to marry them? Do they really respect them?

"Duty—our duty is to society and to the future. Our duty is to bring into the world men and women who shall be better, nobler than we—who shall worthily carry on the purpose of human existence.

"And how are such beings to be created? Not through marriages of convenience—and not through marriages of infatuation. Ideal love, the love that endures until death claims us, the love which would prompt us to give our lives for our beloved, with a song on our lips, that would cause us to endure hardships willingly, gladly, that would close from our eyes the sight, and from our minds the desire for other than our husbands or wives, that is the ideal love marriage. But how is one to know that his love is real and enduring? And if one is poor, as poor as Job's turkey, dare he marry for love?

"These are my problems. Perhaps they are not as real as they seem to me. What is your opinion, Mr. Editor?

"Pardon me for taking up so much of your time and believe me. Yours truly, F.

Duluth, April 4.

Mrs. O. F. Wennerlund was hostess at a musical yesterday afternoon at her home, 2321 West Second street in compliment to Mrs. Frederick Warner Foote of Red Wing, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Oscar I. Olson.

A pleasing program of music and readings was given. Mrs. Foote sang "Belraggio" by Rossini, in splendid style. She has a very pleasing voice which shows careful training and study. This was followed with a duet by Mrs. Olson and Mrs. Foote which was enthusiastically received. Mrs. Neil Morrison sang a group of pretty little songs, "The Wind," "The Turn of the Year" and "The Captive Land" and Mrs. William De Forrest McGill gave a pleasing rendition of the Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2, by Liszt, and responded to an encore. Mrs. Cora Hilliard Fuller sang "Rose Adair" in good voice and Mrs. Foote closed the program with a solo, "Gay Butterfly," by Hawley.

Mrs. Wennerlund was assisted at the punch bowl by Mrs. Olson and pink and white carnations were effectively used in the hall and living room.

FASCINATING SANTA BARBARA

Little Town at the Head of the American Riviera—Driving a Favorite Pastime—Duluth People Enjoying Themselves.

By MISS MARY B. STATHAM.

Santa Barbara, Cal., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Santa Barbara is equally fascinating in its way as Pasadena. It has more charm of setting and a more romantic air than Pasadena, although it lacks the latter's life and activity.

Pasadena is the city for the gay and the rich, or for the seeker of diversion and forgetfulness of self. Santa Barbara is for the student, the artist and the poet, for one could live here forever and dream the hours away. Pasadena is a radiant jewel in its setting of hills and mountains, orange groves, and blooming flowers, and with magnificent driveways in every direction.

Santa Barbara is a lazy little town nestled against the foothills with a spur of the Santa Ynez mountains at the west extending out to the ocean's edge. It is a conjunction of the shore and mountains and the town is thus sheltered from the winds on the north and west and is in a snug little pocket where there is perpetual sunshine and warmth. This town is at the head of our American Riviera—our Italy—which extends along the southern coast of California all the way to San Diego.

One could go even farther in imagination and believe oneself on the shores of the blue Mediterranean while watching the sunset across the placid Pacific and while gazing on Anacapa and other mystic islands in the distance. There are no breakers here on the ocean and there are few storms and disagreeable features at any time during the year.

Great Fruit Section.

But our Riviera is also a commercial one, for its fruits are shipped to every part of our own country and to Europe. The soil is adapted to the raising of all kinds of fruits and vegetables.

In Pasadena the automobiles are flying by all the time and in all directions, while in Santa Barbara comparatively few machines are to be seen.

The roads here are not kept in such fine condition as in the winter city of the multi-millionaire, with the exception of the Shore drive, which is a perfect speedway. However, there are no more luxurious hotels anywhere in Southern California than Hotel Potter and the Arlington. The Potter is situated on the ocean beach and the Arlington is in the heart of the city. Each one occupies many acres of ground space and is surrounded by beautiful gardens filled with blooming flowers and tropical plants. And these enormous hotels are filled with guests throughout the winter and spring, who are content to remain in this quiet place to enjoy a thorough relaxation away from the bustle and worries of their commercial home-towns.

In spite of the few well-kept speedways, driving is one of the favorite pastimes of the visitors, and here the old-fashioned carriages and horses, pony phaetons and burro-carts still hold their own.

Large parties of horseback riders go out daily to explore the trails in the adjacent hills and through the arroyos. Many a drooping tourist returns to his home with ruddy cheeks and many more pounds of flesh after a season spent in this congenial sport. Salt water baths are indulged in all the year round, both in the large swimming pools and on the ocean beach.

The Old Mission Church.

The first place of interest that attracts the tourist is the Old Mission church of Santa Barbara, which was built by the Franciscan Padres, over one hunred years ago. It is easily reached by trolley cars in ten minutes or may be made in a half hours' walk. The first object that meets the eye is the old stone fountain which stands in the open space in front of the building. This fountain was made by the Indians in 1808 and is still in good repair and with the water playing through its basin.

As one turns to the right from the Mission road the buildings loom up before you in sublime beauty. I say sublime beauty, because one wonders how this substantial and picturesque pile of buildings could be wrought by the hands of the Indians and only under the guidance of untrained architects and builders—the holy padres themselves. It could only have been through the zeal, the energy and the love of God in the hearts of the early Franciscan fathers that such noble, such simple lines of religious architecture could have been inspired.

I will not attempt to describe it; the photograph will speak for itself. It is built of cement and adobe and covered with red clay tiles. It is a perfect type of the few remaining Spanish mission buildings in our country and is perfectly preserved.

It is built on the side of a gently sloping hill in a setting of live oaks and other native trees. The meadows around are rich with their spring crops of alfalfa, the foothills beyond are covered with a stunted growth of oaks and many bright wild flowers. The Santa Ynez range of mountains shows its head over the hills and farther to the west stoops down to kiss the sea. Yes, here the mountains and the ocean meet and the Great Maker seems to have created this sunny and protected pocket of land from which to radiate his spirit and his blessings. It is an ideal place for repose and contemplation and lures many people to spend the season here.

Duluth Visitors.

Here at the palatial Potter are Mr. and Mrs. William R. Stone and Mrs. Culver, who will remain for several months longer.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Peyton and the Misses Peyton are also guests at the Potter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Adams have handsome apartments at the Arlington for a short visit after living several months in a furnished house near the foothills. Mr. and Mrs. Adams have enjoyed horseback riding over the mountain trails, and Mr. Adams declares there is nothing so exciting as following the hounds and chasing the jack rabbits.

Mr. and Mrs. Pentecost Mitchell and family have taken a furnished house for the season. Mr. Mitchell came recently from Duluth and is enjoying a reunion with his family.

Dr. and Mrs. Rood are also guests of the Arlington for an indefinite period. They spent the early part of the season at Hollywood.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Woodbridge were shocked and distressed to hear of the death of Mr. Woodbridge last week in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Charles Weyerhaeuser and family of Cloquet are enjoying country life in one of the beautiful suburbs of Santa Barbara.

Friends who are well informed report that Miss Lydia Poirier is making a success of her "outdoor school" at Los Altos, Cal. This was formerly the Chandler School for Girls, but Miss Poirier has introduced some new features in the educational line, and that of out-door sports and out-door living is proving very popular in this genial climate. This school is half way between Palo Alto and San Jose and is easily reached by the electric railway from either place.

The sun is growing very hot at midday and already some of our Duluthians are sighing for the cool breezes of Lake Superior.

OLD MISSION AT SANTA BARBARA.

THE EVENING STORY

A Mental Aberration.

By Jane Harris.

Reginald Bassett's usual Thursday evening call on Miss Hughes had endured for five minutes.

"You do not look like yourself tonight," he announced suddenly.

A faint flush warmed her cheeks; her emotions were always visible thus, through some delicate transparency.

"It must be your hair," he suggested meditatively, "you haven't a particle of curl in it! Or else that dark gown is to blame—you look five years older, and I don't like it either!"

She spoke her answer firmly, though the color in her face deepened.

"I think, Mr. Lamont likes me this way," she said quietly.

"Lamont?" he echoed. "Lord! is it for Lamont? It annoys him to see you look so young, is that it? It reminds him of the days when he was your age—fifty years ago, say," but the look in her eyes stopped him. They always had their arguments and bickerings, but somehow this was different, too sharp for mere chatting.

"I will not quarrel with you," she said, "for we have been friends a long time." And this was true.

Their friendship was warm and sincere, but it was strictly platonic; of that they had been always rather proud.

"What is it about Lamont, then, Alice?" he asked. "What's up?"

"I think," she replied, "I ought to dress to please Mr. Lamont, if I can. He would not like his—his wife to look so much younger than himself."

"His wife?"

"He asked me to marry him; and I have made up my mind that I will."

It needed courage to meet Bassett's look; but Alice had courage. His gaze was spellbound; it was incredulous. He felt, suddenly and strangely, as if he had never seen her before. He was dazed and spoke with difficulty.

"Do you care for him?" They had scoffed humorously at love; had even proved to their own satisfaction that there really was no such thing. But now his question hung between them fraught with intensity.

"I respect him."

"You also respect the memory of George Washington, I hope! Heavens! Is that all you have to say, Alice?"

"No," she answered, "it is not. And I am not afraid—nor ashamed either—to tell you all about it, because you are my friend. I am going to marry Mr. Lamont because I want a home! I cannot stand this always!" and her glance took in the room, which—although comfortable—was distinctly a boarding house parlor.

Bassett frowned over her words, and then murmured, "No? Well, what else?"

"You remember meeting Mrs. Perrin? Well, she has written for me to go to New York and take a splendid position that her husband has secured for me. It is one that pays well and a chance for advancement, and I should have accepted the offer but Mr. Lamont—he had spoken—"

"You mentioned that before!" remarked Bassett tartly.

Alice looked at him with eyes that were clear and did not falter. She had struggled side by side with men for her livelihood, she had known life's sterner aspect and its crabbeder moods—but she had retained that simplicity and gentleness of nature which makes a woman pure and sweet in any station, and under all circumstances.

"My friend," she said with candor, "I could go to San Francisco or to Paris, but that would not help me. I should not be any nearer to having a real home. I am tired; that is it. I want somebody that I shall have the right to depend on, and trust. What it would be to have somebody always to run the bills, to check my trunk, to make the bargains with hackmen, and—and always to take the lead! What wouldn't it mean to me!" and Alice sighed wholeheartedly, but he read her wistful earnestness.

He felt baffled. But he cried out with sudden energy. "Lord! If there must be a victim, why of all men, did you select Lamont?"

"Because he seems to be the only one who wants to be the victim!" Alice returned, without resentment.

"Probably he thinks he does. Most all men have a spasm or two of mental aberration at times, and this is one of Lamont's. Alice you would never take advantage of it? You simply couldn't!" He had gotten back his old way with her—that half banter and mild bullying manner which their old friendship permitted, and with it his hold on himself. He warmed to his subject.

"Married!" he exclaimed. "Lamont married? It's inconceivable. Why it's appalling!"

"Many thanks!"

"Oh, you might not make him much more miserable than any other woman would. But, Alice, do you know how Lamont puts in his time?"

"He spends some of it——"

"Here! yes; that is a serious symptom of his attack of lunacy."

"But what has he been doing for the last—I won't undertake to say how many years? Why, lounging around the club and absorbing the news and refreshing liquids; going to an occasional stag dinner; and getting new cures for his gout, or neuralgia, which is it? And taking a hand at poker now and then with the boys, and smoking on roof gardens, and talking stocks and politics.

"That," said Bassett, "is what Lamont does, and he's done it till it is part with him, like eating and breathing. It would be a smaller undertaking to throw a steam engine off the track than to shunt Lamont off his track. And what would result for Lamont? Misery!"

"He seems willing to risk it," she observed.

"Willing—willing! I tell you it is his loss of mental equilibrium. In such a case there is degeneration of the gray cells in the fore part of the cerebrum, and strange hallucinations are the outcome; any doctor could make it clear to you. And you would take advantage of it? I cannot believe that you would!"

She threw back her head and laughed.

"Don't laugh, I mean it," he said sharply; and for a space his eyes looked into hers. The long look burned its way through the something that had interposed ever between them; the flimsy barrier which the ignorance of their youth had erected.

"Alice—" he faltered. The door bell pealed.

"It is Mr. Lamont," she said with trembling lips. "Must you go?"

Eight days later, Bassett sitting in his office in the heavy gloom and the dullness which for the past week had held him—received a letter. It was from Alice Hughes and it was very brief.

"I am going to New York this afternoon. Goodby."

"Goodby!" he muttered, fiercely scowling. But all his apathy had fled on the instant. She was going to New York! What did that mean?

Bassett sprang to his feet. She was going that afternoon. "She'll take the boat," he hazarded. It was already past 5. He seized his hat and called a cab and drove to West Water street at once.

She was there! She was pacing the wharf, a dispassionate figure amidst the bustle of imminent departure. She greeted him with pensive calm.

"I told you goodby in my note," she remarked.

He saw with joy that her hair was waved and that her dress was white. "I have not come to say goodby. Where is Lamont?" he demanded.

"He is cruising around the South with Mr. Reic," she answered. "He had an attack of neuralgia, and I told him it would do him good to go. I—I thought so, over what you said, and I saw," she affirmed, not in humility, but with a certain rigor of pride, "that it was true. It would have been a mistake, even from the first I feared it. And I almost think that, in his heart, Mr. Lamont agreed with me. So, after all, I am not going to have a home. I am going to New York, instead."

She smiled bravely.

"Those are misstatements," he announced, "—both!"

"What do you mean?"

"You will have a home and you will not go to New York," he returned, though he spoke to the back of her head, abruptly averted. "As I reckon it, we have been fools for four years, and that is long enough. Alice!"

She faced him with valiant resistance. "I won't consider it," she declared, "it is mental aberration"

"If you say, so, but it is chronic. It is hopeless."

"I would be cruel to take advantage of it—inhuman"

"No, no; you are inhuman to confuse me with Lamont, that is all. What are we standing here for? Come."

"I can't," she gasped, "my trunk is on the boat."

"No matter. It is not your trunk," said Bassett with rude and joyous laughter, "that I am going to marry!"

Her cheeks were tenderly flushed and her lashes moist.

"We shall always quarrel," she murmured faintly.

"And I," he answered, "shall always come out ahead in the second round." He defied convention and the cold-hearted on-lookers, and put his arm around her. Then they watched while the boat pulled off.

Turkish City Fire Swept.

Constantinople, April 5.—Kadikoi, a suburb of Constantinople, was swept by fire today. One hundred houses and shops were destroyed or burned out. The loss is estimated at $500,000.

Modern Version of "The Merchant of Venice"

"The Modern Merchant of Venice" will be the title of the annual senior play at the high school assembly hall Friday and Saturday evenings.

The modern merchant will be quite unlike the old. Instead of being in fear over his ships laden with precious goods of many years ago, the twentieth century merchant will be in fear for quite another reason. The play was adapted by Prof. A. F. M. Custance for the use of the seniors.

Stanley Lamb is to have the part of Shylock. Instead of demanding a pound of flesh he will demand a pound of football hair. He makes his demand just before the biggest football game of the year. Without the hair the right side could not win. This is where Lamb will demonstrate how mean he is.

Portia gets busy and plans a scheme by which Antonio can save his hair. The scheme succeeds and the game is won.

Chelsie Final will be Portia, George King will be Antonio, David Wanless will be Launceot Gobbo, Gadys Lenning will be Jessica and Irene Wardell will be Nerissa, Portia's maid.

The members of the cast have been busy for some time preparing for the play under the direction of A. F. M. Custance and they will undoubtedly give a finished production of the play.

There will be several musical numbers. Solos will be rendered by Mirian Merritt, Ethel Smith, Alice Farrell and Florence Webb.

A fancy dance will be given by the following young women: Helen Smith, Florence Olson, Ruth Neimeyer, Eleanor Aske, Agnes Carmody, Bessie Warren, Lucile Gilbert and Mabel Cummings.

CONTRACTOR LIKES UNITED DOCTORS

John Taylor, of Virginia, Praises New System of Medicine.

John Taylor, who is well known in Duluth and Virginia and on the range, being an old hotel man and contractor in different lines, having spent the greater part of his life in the iron country, is perhaps as well known over this part of the state as any man.

Mr. Taylor and his wife have both been in poor health for a number of years and now since having been treated by the United Doctors, who have their Duluth offices on the third floor of the Columbia building, they are so well pleased with this new system of treatment that Mr. Taylor has made the following statement and asks that it be published for the benefit of any of his friends who may be sick and suffering.

Duluth, April 3, 1911.

This is to state that I have been troubled with stomach and bowel trouble and some rhematic pains and also with gradually weakening nerves for a number of years. I have doctored with many prominent physicians and specialists and have spent much money, with poor success. My wife also has been ailing for some time.

We both commenced the United Doctors treatment two weeks ago and we are very much pleased with this new treatment and recommend it to our friends and others seeking relief from disease.

JOHN TAYLOR.

While it is the invariable rule of the United Doctors to refuse to treat any disease which they cannot relieve, yet all sick people should take advantage of their free offer and go to them at once, for this new "United" system of medicine is curing many desperate cases that had been given up as hopeless by the ordinary doctors.

Information concerning the arrest was not made public until after Kelly had been "sweated" and made to realize that it was best for him to make a clean breast of everything.

One money package was mailed by the Yellowstone National bank of Billings to the Corn Exchange National bank of Chicago on Dec. 3, 1909, and contained $1,224.70, the major portion of the money being in mutilated currency. The second package, which contained $1,000 in currency, was mailed on March 10 last by the Farmers & Traders' State bank to the Huntley State bank.

SAUSAGE PROVES FATAL

S.S.S. CURES ALL BLOOD INFECTIONS

Contagious Blood Poison, as the name indicates, is an infectious blood disease, of such intense nature that once the virus gets into the circulation, no portion of the body is free from its destructive force unless it is promptly checked.

It usually begins with a tiny sore or pimple as the only outward evidence of its presence. But in a short while its many symptoms begin to make their unwelcome appearance. The mouth and throat ulcerate, itching rashes appear on the body, the hair comes out easily, brown splotches appear on the limbs, etc. So highly contagious is the disease that it is sometimes communicated from one person to another by the use of the same toilet articles or handling the clothes of an infected person. It is a dangerous poison and should not be trifled with; the blood should be cleansed as quickly as possible of the destructive virus.

Some eight years ago I was inoculated with poison by a nurse who infected my babe with blood taint. It was covered with sores and ulcers from head to foot. I was advised to use S. S. S. We got some, and I improved from the start, and a complete and perfect cure was the result. S. S. S. is the only blood remedy which reaches desperate cases.
MRS. T. W. LEE.
Box 300, Savannah, Ga.

I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first, but afterwards spread all over my body. These broke out into sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. When I had finished my first bottle of S. S. S. I was greatly improved, and was delighted with the result. I was soon entirely well, and my skin was as clear as a piece of glass.

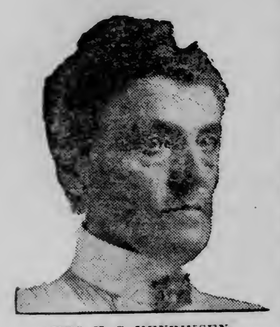
Was Baked In Loughney & Loughney's Bake Oven.



MRS. H. C. HENRIKSEN.

Suffering indescribable pain, with practically every part of her body aching, unable to sleep peacefully, or walk without assistance, Mrs. H. C. Henriksen, living at 331 Sixtieth avenue west, after one year of trouble with rheumatism and catarrh, declares she has been completely cured after taking Bake Oven treatments as administered by Loughney & Loughney in the Christie building.

For seven months before visiting the famous Bake Oven specialists, Mrs. Henriksen could not walk. She had to be helped to the offices, but after the treatment she experienced a miraculous change. The intense pain she suffered had passed and she left the treatment rooms and went to her home without assistance.

"It's wonderful," she declared. "I wouldn't believe such a thing were possible had I not undergone the experience, for I had come to the conclusion that little hope for relief was left for me. That Bake Oven is a Godsend invention, and every sufferer from rheumatism and kindred ailments owes it a debt of gratitude."

WILL MEET WITH CLASS

Prof. Chapman to Give Further Instruction to Students in Poultry.

Plans Will Be Perfected for Contest for Young People.

Prof. N. E. Chapman, head of the poultry division of the extension department of the state agricultural school, who conducted a poultry school for a week last month, will meet with the poultry class at the Y. M. C. A., at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, to hear experiences of members of the class and to answer questions which have occurred to the students since they took the course.

At the time the school was held it was decided to hold meetings once a month and Prof. Chapman consented to be present to extend the work done at the school. At those meetings, problems met by the poultry raisers in their work will be discussed and solved and the results of experiences will be exchanged.

Although the meeting tomorrow will be primarily for members of the class, others interested are invited to be present. Since the poultry school was held, and since George H. Maxwell's visit to the city, a greatly increased interest in the home poultry yard idea has been shown by Duluth people, and the Y. M. C. A. has had numerous inquiries as to further instruction in poultry raising. The discussion tomorrow will be of benefit to all interested in poultry and Prof. Chapman is always willing to extend a helping hand to those engaged in poultry raising.

During Prof. Chapman's visit to Duluth, further plans will be worked out for the proposed poultry-raising contest among the children. When Mr. Chapman was here last, a meeting of Y. M. C. A. directors, officers of the Duluth Poultry association, and representatives of the Commercial club was held and preliminary plans were laid. The members of the Poultry association have shown a lively interest in the plan and have offered to give any aid they can to inaugurating the contest. The boys and girls are also interested and it is expected plans will be perfected this week for holding the contest this year.

derously inclined, in point of fact it was no more so than usual. What made it seem so is that all of these bills have been waiting, on the calendar and general orders, for a long time, being passed by for measures regarding which there was less dispute. Thus they gathered at the head of the calendar until the house got around to dispose of them, which it did yesterday afternoon.

The county assessor bill, which proposed to replace the myriad of local assessors, with as many minds and as many methods of assessing as there are assessors, with one assessor for each county, is about as important a bill as the legislature has had to consider this winter. The tax commission has presented indisputable arguments in favor of it, but local assessors, desirous of holding on to their places, presented political arguments that weighed more heavily with the members. This is the third time the bill has been beaten, but it will be introduced again another session, and some time it will become a law.

The bill advocated in yesterday's debate by Representative R. C. Dunn, Representative Andrew Anderson and others, and opposed by Representatives T. M. Ferguson and Wisniewski. The vote was 41 for and 66 against.

The Kneeland bill providing for a convention to revise the state Constitution got only a few more than half enough votes to pass it. Under the Constitution, it requires a two-thirds vote, or eighty votes, to pass it; and there were but 47 for it, with 64 against it.

On I. J. Lee's bill to require full weight packages of food there were 38 votes for and 48 votes against.

Diessner's bill to spend $50,000 for a building to house a half dozen students of homeopathy was killed by a still larger vote, 24 for and 69 against. Even Representative W. T. Stone, himself a homeopathic physician, and one of those who worked hardest to overturn the committee report recommending it for indefinite postponement and to get it on general orders, voted against it. Its author, Dr. Diessner, another homeopathic physician, voted against it in order to move a reconsideration and to give it another chance; but this attempt failed because one of its opponents made the motion immediately and it was voted down.

Though the Palmer-Hopkins anti-treating bill was lost, there were more votes for it than against it. It needed sixty-one votes to pass, and the vote was 54 to 50. As it stood, the bill made the saloon keeper alone liable to punishment for offenses against the anti-treating provision. Representative I. J. Lee wanted to amend it so as to make the man liable who tried to buy a drink for somebody else, but the authors of the bill objected, and amendments can be made on the calendar only by unanimous consent.

Several Bills Passed.

The house didn't spend all its time yesterday afternoon killing bills. It passed several, including Andrew Davis' bill providing for medical school inspectors and health officers for public schools, a third of the cost to be borne by the state, a third by the school district and a third by the municipality; Fowler's bill prohibiting the making of false statements to obtain property or credit; and Hauge's bill regulating the sale of commercial feeding stuffs and stock and poultry foods.

Dr. Stone's Latest Trouble.

The row between Representative W. T. Stone and the house committee on public accounts and expenditures, which resulted yesterday in Representative Moriarity's motion to summon Stone to the bar of the house to show cause why he shouldn't be punished for contempt in refusing to obey a subpoena of the house, was continued yesterday afternoon in a meeting of the committee, of which both are members.

The committee made an inquiry into the matter, during which some sharp words were passed.

The story goes back earlier in the session. Dr. Stone had made charges against the state board of health and Dr. Bracken, its secretary. He was appointed with Representatives Hillman and Clarke on a committee to investigate those charges. Without having a hearing or giving Dr. Bracken a chance to explain, Dr. Stone prepared a bitter report making a personal attack on Dr. Bracken. The other members of the committee refused to sign such a report, so another committee was appointed by Chairman Pfaender, consisting of Representatives Morfarity, Kunze and Knutson.

It was this committee which summoned Stone to make good his charges, a summons which Dr. Stone refused to heed.

Sergeant-at-Arms Deans, who served the subpoena on Stone, testified to the fact yesterday, and stated that Stone told him that it was impossible for him to attend the meeting, as he had other business. Dr. Stone admitted that this statement was correct.

Dr. Stone was then called and asked by Chairman Pfaender why he had not answered the subpoena. Dr. Stone said it was because he had been excused by Speaker pro tem Lennon, who had told him that if he had not been paid with mess fees, nothing could be done with him if he refused to respond. Dr. Stone also charged that the calling of the hearing was merely a bluff to break up his meeting in Minneapolis—he did not state the nature of the meeting—and that he therefore refused to attend it.

"What do you mean," asked Representative Kunze, "by calling that meeting a bluff?"

"I mean just what I said. The meeting and the subpoena were sprung to keep me from my engagement."

Representative Moriarity testified that the meeting was called in good faith and that he had summoned Dr. Bracken to be present.

Representative Nolan then charged Chairman Pfaender with unfairness in appointing a sub-committee on the Bracken case that was unfriendly to Stone.

"I should have been on that committee," declared Mr. Nolan.

Chairman Pfaender said that he thought the committee eminently fair, and that was why he had appointed it.

"The committee was opposed to Dr. Stone's report and unfriendly to him," said Mr. Nolan.

"I deny that," said Representative Knutson. "I was not at that time unfriendly to Dr. Stone nor to Mr. Nolan, whatever I may be now."

"Why are you unfriendly to me now?" asked Mr. Nolan.

"Because I have found you both to be members of a conspiracy to make trouble. Dr. Stone's report on the Bracken case was made up of charges unsupported by evidence."

Representative J. F. Lee said that Dr. Stone's report was entirely too strong and unjust and that he had refused to sign it. However, he thought unnecessary feeling had been shown both in the committee and on the floor.

The committee adjourned without taking action.

The appropriation bills, which came into both houses yesterday afternoon, were made a special order in each house for 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, in the house on motion of Chairman Spooner of the appropriations committee, and in the senate on motion of Chairman Clague of the finance committee.

The house yesterday afternoon, on motion of Representative Rice, passed under suspension of the rules a new bill by Mr. Rice, introduced yesterday, enabling the state forestry board to accept a donation of 3,000 acres of land in Itasca state park and to let the donors reserve the mineral rights. The gift includes all the hardwood timber and all pine under eight inches in diameter. The acceptance of the gift was authorized by the legislature two years ago, but the forestry board did not feel authorized to accept the donation with the mineral reservation, and the passage of this bill gives it that authority.

Range District Court Terms.

The house last night took up local bills as a special order, including a number of St. Louis county measures. Not half the bills on the special order were passed, and the last was put over to Thursday evening, when it will be taken up again.

The bill of chief local interest that went through was Representative Knapp's bill changing the terms of the range district court so as to provide for three terms at Virginia and three at Hibbing, with an adjourned term at Ely.

Representative Healy's bill providing salaries for the treasurer in Stuntz township was also passed.

Other bills with more or less local interest were as follows:

By Senator Denegre — Authorizing cities of more than 50,000 to spend $10,000 a year for publicity purposes.

By Senator Gunn — Fixing the salaries of the auditor and treasurer of Itasca county.

By Representative McDonald of St. Paul—Athorizing common councils in cities of more than 50,000 to fix the number and salaries of assistant city attorneys.

By Representative Mattson — Permitting counties to appropriate money to fight the spread of tuberculosis.

By Representative Wisniewski — Providing for individual lockers for the members of the house, doing away with cloak room keepers.

By Representative Healy — Providing that when a sheriff makes a search for a number of defendants in a suit and finds none of them, that his fee shall be only $1, no matter how many defendants, instead of $1 for each defendant, as at present.

By Representatives Webb and Rines —Extending the teachers' pension law, now applying only to cities of the first-class, to cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants.

By Representatives Orr and C. E. Stone—Authorizing cities of more than 50,000 to condemn lands for public playgrounds.

By Representatives Orr and C. E. Stone—Authorizing cities of more than 50,000 to issue not to exceed $65,000 in bonds for public playgrounds.

By Representative Keefe—Authorizing educational and musical entertainments by park boards in cities of 10,000 inhabitants or less.

By Representative Nolan—Providing for the leasing of streets and alleys not used by the public in cities of more than 50,000 and for the sale of the rights of the public in such streets or alleys, or parts thereof, where it is manifestly impossible for such streets or alleys ever to be used by the public.

By Representative Kneeland—Authorizing cities of more than 50,000 to establish boards of civil service commissioners for the purpose of establishing a system of civil service.

By Representative Lennon—Providing that persons licensed to peddle in cities of more than 50,000 shall not have to pay another license fee.

To Propagate Muskellunge.

Representative Leonard H. Rice of Park Rapids got through his bill appropriating $200 for each of the next two years to propagate muskellunge in lakes in Hubbard county. When it was first taken up it failed of passage, there being four less than enough votes for to put it through. A little later he had it reconsidered and passed, 68 to 17.

It was reported last night that W. T. Stone has no idea of calling up for passage his resolution making charges against the organization of the house, introduced yesterday. Having introduced it and got it into the record, and having secured the publicity appertaining thereto, it is said that he is satisfied to let it drop unless the other side does something. As all but about twenty-five members of the house may be counted on the other side now, and as the house has more work to do than it can possibly accomplish in the time left at its disposal, if Dr. Stone maintains the attitude credited to him it is not likely that the matter will be heard of again this session.

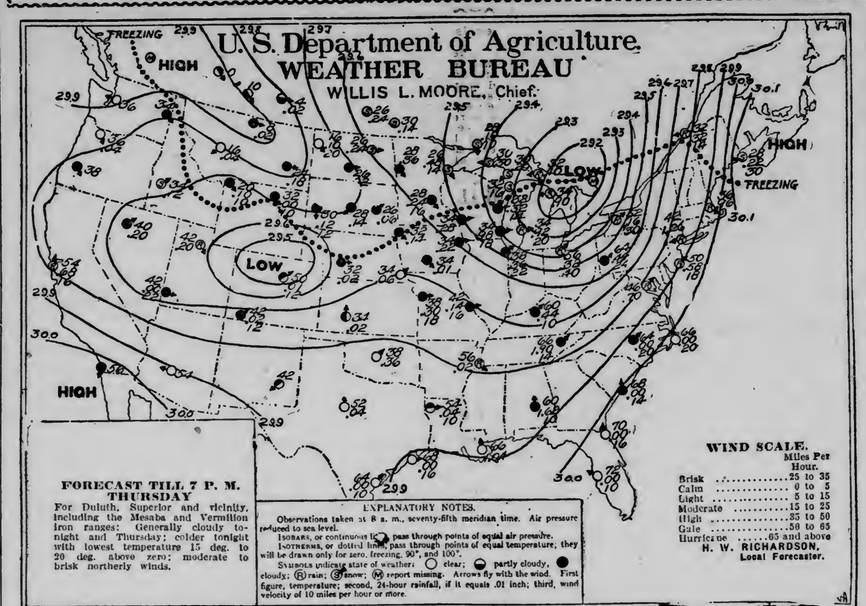
OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



COLDER

'Snuff! The farmers have enough moisture and we of the cities are entitled to some consideration from the weather man. We will concede to Old man Winter that he is able to stay on the job just as long as he desires to do so and we hope that the concession will satisfy him. Who can think of spring suits and spring hats and other spring accessories when the ground is covered with five inches of snow? And Easter only a little over a week away. Don't forget to put on your rubbers, Algernon, or you'll surely catch a cold. Cloudy and unsettled for tonight and tomorrow. Isn't April the cantankerous month?

A year ago today was cold and threatening.

The sun rose this morning at 5:39 and it will set at 6:42 this evening, giving thirteen hours and three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours disturbances central over Lake Huron and Colorado caused light to heavy falls of snow or rain over all districts except South Atlantic states and the extreme Southwest. An increase of pressure over the Southwest is attended by cooler weather there. Mild temperatures are the rule this morning from the Ohio valley southward. At the Head of the Lakes the weather will be somewhat unsettled during the ensuing thirty-six hours, but tonight the temperature will doubtless become a little colder."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, April 5.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m., Thursday:

Upper Michigan—Snow tonight and Thursday.

Wisconsin—Cloudy and probably unsettled tonight and Thursday; cooler in west portion tonight.

Iowa—Cloudy and probably unsettled tonight and Thursday.

Minnesota — Cloudy tonight and Thursday; cooler tonight.

North Dakota—Cloudy tonight with colder in east and south portions; Thursday fair.

South Dakota—Cloudy and colder tonight; Thursday fair.

Montana—Fair tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

Shippers' forecast: Protect thirty-six hour shipments of perishables against temperature 10 deg. to 20 deg. above zero in the Eastern Dakotas, Minnesota and Western Wisconsin.

HARRISON IS THE WINNER

Democratic aldermen and 29 Republicans will greet Harrison's introduction to his fifth term. Defeated candidates, retirements and the election of thirteen new aldermen serve to change the complexion of the council. Four present members were defeated—three Republicans and one Democrat.

Alderman Merriam of the Seventh ward, who retired to run for mayor, is succeded by Willis V. Nance, a Republican. Of the 24 aldermen re-elected, 12 are Democarts and 12 are Republicans.

Merriam Satisfied.

In giving up the fight, Mr. Merriam said:

"I am satisfied with the fight we have made. We have presented the issues of decent, honest, economical and progressive government squarely to the voters in a way that cannot fail to help conditions. The battle must be fought, not once, but many times, and in the long run it will prove successful. I wish to thank my many friends who have supported me loyally with their time, money, eloquence and enthusiasm. I congratulate Mr. Harrison on his victory and wish him well in his administration."

Scrutiny of the returns by wards and precincts show that Prof. Merriam was given nearly 7 per cent less votes than Busse, (Republican) was accorded four years ago, while Harrison, the Democrat, ran over 17 per cent ahead of the figures attained by Dunne (Democrat) at that time. The vote reached above 340,000 which is approximately 25,000 more than the record at the last previous mayoralty contest.

In spite of this, both sides agree that Merriam lost through failure of the "silk stocking" wards to show the strength that had been expected from them in his favor. The first few precincts brought in indicated that while the totals were in favor of Merriam, his percentage compared with four years ago, was falling steadily off.

Would Not Brave Rain.

Even in the Twenty-fifth ward, where Merriam's candidacy was conceived, failure of Merriam supporters to brave the drizzling rain to cast a ballot for their choice, caused the professor's total to drop far below what had been expected. It was the result from this ward which first gave Merriam an intimation that his fight was in vain. After this ward had reported the result never was in doubt.

While the First ward gave up its usual Democratic plurality it was not alone from this and the river wards of a similar character that Harrison drew his support. His eight years of service in the mayor's chair drew out many from the ranks his opponent had counted on and his promise of 70-cent gas was said by his managers to have had a great influence with the West side wards, where he showed unexpected strength.

Failure of the Dunne Democrats and those included in the camp of Roger C. Sullivan to forget party lines and vote for Merriam, was given by the latter's managers as the basis of the professor's defeat. The college man had made a special appeal to these voters to support him instead of Harrison with whom they had en especially bitter fight in the primary election. However, this support failed to materialize.

There were three annexation propositions before the voters. Two of these, for Oak Park and the town of Cicero, failed to carry in those towns, though voted heavily for in Chicago. The third, the village of Morgan Park, decided to come in, after years of fighting.

One of the features of the campaign was the vote polled by the Socialist party. Five-sixths of the total precincts, indicated that the vote would have a gain of 11,000 over the vote of four years ago. On the other hand, the Prohibition vote which had been 5,875 four years ago dropped to 3,000.

Mayor-elect Talks.

"I propose to give to Chicago a Democratic administration," said Mayor-elect Carter H. Harrison last night, after the returns from yesterday's election were all in. "I shall be personally responsible for the conduct of departments, and I shall name men for the heads of departments who are personally known to me and whom I consider my personal friends. That has been my policy in times that are past. It is a perfectly safe forecast that there will be an entirely new list of cabinet officers."

"My promise is not out to any one for any appointive position," the mayor-elect declared. "No promises have been made of any kind. I have chosen no one for anything and no one will know who is on the list until it is submitted to the city council. Any statements to the contrary emanating from any source, will be incorrect."

Democrats Gain Six.

While the Democrats have made a gain in the city council and will have a majority of twelve, instead of the six they have had during the last year, it is said that the non-partisan organization of committees which has been the custom for fifteen years will still prevail. A sufficient number of the incoming aldermen have signed a pledge to stand by the non-partisan organization to insure a two-thirds vote when the question comes up for final decision. The council will stand forty-one Democrats and twenty-nine Republicans.

Mayor-elect Harrison is an advocate of the non-partisan organization of the council. In fact, it was during his first term as mayor of Chicago that the scheme was first put into execution.

Mayor-elect Harrison will have the appointment of about fifty heads of departments which are exempt from civil service. The salaries of these positions range from $10,000 to $1,500 a year.

The mayor of Chicago receives $18,000 a year, the largest salary paid by any city in the United States to a mayor.

BURGLARS VISIT KEEWATIN STORE

Enter During Daytime, Getting $10 Cash and $150 in Jewelry.

Keewatin, Minn., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The general store of Tony Chopp was entered by burglars Tuesday morning between 10 and 12 o'clock while the proprietor was absent and $10 in cash and $150 worth of jewelry stolen. Entrance was effected through the cellar, and the burglars operated in full view of the passers-by on the street. There is no clew, but the police believe it to be the work of local men.

The Saint Paul mine will resume stripping April 10 with a full force of 400 men, four steam shovels and seven engines equipped with the latest air-dumping cars.

Plans and specifications are being drawn for a six-room addition to the schoolhouse, as the present quarters are much too small for the fast growing population of Keewatin.

The Bray mine has a large force of men at work getting ready to start the new shaft, and will begin loading ore from the open pit in a week or ten days.

The Keewatin basket ball team will play the Carpenter Alumni team of Superior in Keewatin Friday night. An easy victory is expected, as the Keewatin quint has won the undisputed championship of the range.

The new road connecting Keewatin with Hibbing through Kelley Lake is now an assured fact, and work will be started as soon as the frost is out of the ground. The road is already finished as far as Kelley Lake, and when completed will cut down the distance from Hibbing to Keewatin four miles.

NASHWAUK MAN TAKES HIS LIFE

Monta Rossi Cosimo, Old Italian Resident, Blows Off Head With Shotgun.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Monta Rossi Cosimo, an Italian who has been a resident of this village for years, but resided at the La Rue location for over a year, shot himself through the head Tuesday with a 12-gauge shotgun, causing death instantly. The deceased was about 35 years of age and leaves a wife and two children, 13 and 6 years old, and both girls. The motive of his action is not known, as he had been enjoying good health, but had been out of employment all winter, which with other neglects of the family, may have led to his sudden death.

Early in the morning Mr. Cosimo as usual prepared the fires in the house and the rest of the family were around at about 7 o'clock, the wife preparing breakfast and the two children getting ready for school, when the husband disappeared into another room adjoining the kitchen and all was silent there for about five minutes when suddenly a shot was heard by the rest of the family, who quickly appeared on the scene only to see their husband and father lying on the floor with half of his head blown off and pieces of bones and blood scattered over the walls and floor.

A roomer who was asleep on the second floor also heard the shot and quickly ran for aid from neighbors. A coroner's inquest was held over the body by Dr. W. J. Hewson, who after a short conference pronounced the case a suicide. Cosimo, while in the room, took one of his shoes off, pulling the trigger of the shotgun with his toe, with the end of the barrel pointed at his head which afforded sufficient proof as to his death. The body was taken to the Kolumber undertaking parlors awaiting further notice as to interment.

URGES ACTION ON FEDERAL BUILDING

Virginia Council Asks Federal Senators and Representatives to Get Busy.

Virginia, Minn., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—If action by the city council has any influence upon Senators Clapp and Nelson and Representative Miller, Virginia will witness its new federal building in course of construction within a very short time.

Alderman Edward C. A. Johnson introduced a resolution at the meeting of the council last night and it was unanimously carried, asking that our United States senators and congressman get busy on the federal building proposition. Postoffice conditions and accommodations here are deplorable, and the people are demanding that something be done to relieve the situation. At a meeting of the publicity committee of the Commercial club the proposition was taken up and a communication sent to Congressman Miller urging him to do something in the matter. Alderman Johnson is chairman of this committee and the congestion of people in the postoffice during mail time has been such that the people of Virginia are growing desperate and they have demanded that the situation be relieved, and Alderman Johnson's resolution was introduced for the purpose of forcing our congressman into action.

Fix City Employes' Pay.

Alderman Boylan suggested that all common laborers employed by the city the coming season be paid the sum of $2.25 per day and all men and teams be paid the sum of $5.00 per day. His suggestion was carried unanimously and those will be the prevailing wages for the coming season.

Bartlett company, Virginia, $4,739.07; J. L. Preston, Duluth, $5,496.58; J. D. O'Connell, Duluth, $5,519.55.

The H. L. Bartlett company being the lowest bidders they were awarded the contract.

The ordinance regulating the handling and sale of gasoline, powder and other explosives within the limits of the city received its third reading and was approved by the council.

ROCK BREAKS DOOR.

Heavy Blasting Scares Occupants of Hibbing Block.

Hibbing, Minn., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some excitement was caused last evening by a large piece of rock being hurled through the wooden panel of the street door on North street of the Barrett block. It was the result of some very heavy blasting by the Oliver Mining company in making their deep cut immediately north of North street.

Several rocks have been hurled across North street and onto various roofs in the vicinity during the past twenty-four hours.

HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Otto Pete Must Explain Getting Money Under False Pretenses.

Hibbing, Minn., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Otto Peter, who was charged with obtaining $80 under false pretenses, was bound over to the district court last evening. His bail was fixed at $200, to appear in district court April 25 at Virginia. Bail was furnished and he was released.

The case of the State of Minnesota vs. William Williams, who is charged with assault in the second degree, will be heard in municipal court this afternoon. Williams, who has been unable to furnish bail, is in the village lockup awaiting trial.

Tuesday evening a local delivery boy by the name of Bennie Karon was knocked off his bicycle and severely cut over the eyes and on the head by a delivery wagon driven by a man by the name of John Neimi. The boy was knocked unconscious and the driver of the rig neglected to stop his rig to see how badly he was hurt.

START SURVEY AT PARK FALLS

Surveyors in Field on Tower's Proposed Water Power Plant.

Tower, Minn., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Engineers left yesterday for Pike River Falls to make surveys for the dam that the city proposes to build for the electric light plant. The gentlemen took considerable baggage with them, indicating they will make quite a stay.

Mr. Bevier of the Scott Bevier Iron Mining company was in town Monday. His property is now down in a rich body of ore and with the early advent of a line of railway it will probably soon be in the shipping list.

The sinking of a second shaft, as required by law for a time, is about to begin at the Mud Creek property. The indications there are of a very favorable character and much work will be prosecuted the coming season.

A number of mining men are here who have been looking over the Pine Island property and are very much pleased with the showing. This property is attracting much attention. The railroad probabilities are very important factors in the success of these mining propositions. The manner in which railway surveys are going on in this section indicates that at least one of these lines will be built this season.

BLISS TO REMAIN.

Superintendent Not to Leave the Virginia Schools.

Virginia, Minn., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The report that Supt. Lafayette Bliss of the local schools will relinquish his duties at the close of the present school year is declared by the chairman of the school board to be unfounded. N. A. Helmer, the chairman of the board of education, declared today the report was untrue. He says that Mr. Bliss has a contract that does not expire until 1912 and that the board will hold him to the contract as his services are eminently satisfactory. So far as Mr. Helmer knows the contract with Mr. Bliss will be renewed when it expires.

Mr. Helmer asks that this correction be printed in justice to Mr. Bliss and the school board.

Work will be begun immediately under the supervision of Engineer Frank Bowman, his plans already having been approved.

MUST MAKE GOOD OR GO TO PRISON

New Mayor of Butte, Mont., Tells Democrats What He Will Do.

Butte, Mont., April 5.—The Socialist mayor-elect, Lewis J. Duncan, a Unitarian minister, has announced his intention of sending every Democratic city official of Butte, of present administration or any past administration, who was short in his accounts, to the penitentiary if the shortage was not made good at once.

Rev. Mr. Duncan stated that he was aware his election was brought about by Democratic and Republican votes as the result of wholesale shortages found in Democratic administrations by a business men's ten-year audit of the affairs of the city.

"The people of Butte intended me for a broom," said Mr. Duncan, "and I certainly will do some sweeping."

Mr. Duncan will file numerous charges against policemen who, he says, interfered and threatened with arrests those who endeavored to challenge "repeaters" who are accused by Socialists and Republicans of having tried to bring about the election of Chief of Police J. J. Quinn, Democratic candidate for mayor.

FORMER DULUTH MAN IS MISSING

A. E. Storms Disappeared Last Month and Relatives Are Worried.

Efforts are being made by relatives to locate A. E. Storms, who disappeared from Duluth the middle of March. A letter sent to The Herald states that his wife is critically ill at the home of her mother in Minneapolis and that it is feared that the worry will be fatal to her.

A. E. STORMS.

Mr. Storms was employed by the Adams Express company until a short time ago, but it was stated at the office that they know nothing of his present whereabouts. He resided on Second street, near First avenue east, and is a brother of Mrs. G. J. Newton of Superior.

He is 5 feet 4½ inches tall, with dark hair and eyes, and wore a black overcoat and tan coat and vest. He made a practice of wearing a gold photo button of his wife on his inner coat.

HOMES QUARANTINED FOR SCARLET FEVER.

Laurium, Mich., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—More than fifty homes in Laurium, Calumet and Red Jacket are quarantined with scarlet fever, which is in a very light form, however. The epidemic, which has continued the greater part of the winter, is not dying out and is not gaining ground. There is also a great deal of diphtheria and considerable typhoid here and through Keweenaw county. Pneumonia cases are few this spring. There have been no deaths from tuberculosis in Calumet township in the past three months.

WOMEN OPPOSED TO PROHIBITION

Cast Their Votes in Favor of Selling Liquor at Colorado Springs.

Colorado Springs, Colo., April 5.—Principally for the benefit of the tourist who desires to quench his thirst in something stronger than ice water after a day spent in sightseeing, Colorado Springs yesterday reversed its attitude on prohibition and by a majority of 832 out of a total vote of 9,518, decided upon a plan of restricted liquor selling which permits hotels of seventy-five rooms or more to serve their guests and allows drug stores to handle bottle goods.

Clubs of five years' standing will be permitted to maintain a bar for the use of their members. Under a clause in the original deed to all property in the city, saloons can not operate at any time.

The fight on the liquor question was the bitterest in the history of municipal politics, the vote cast yesterday being 50 per cent larger than that of two years ago, when prohibition was adopted. The woman vote was large and the "wet" victory is ascribed largely to the fact that an unusually large percentage of the women voted against prohibition.

The effect of prohibition on "tourist business" was made the principal issue by the anti-prohibitionists.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

Why Is a Prizefighter?—Jawn Desmond is Recovering—Col. Carter is a "Buy"—Kodahpas' Fobs—Hope in Washington—School for Umpires—Another "White Man's Hope."

(BY BRUCE.)

WHY is a prizefighter?

Need of money and lack of a profession, someone might suggest.

We have seen some of that kind around these parts.

But why a real prizefighter? Why Bob Fitzsimmons, Joe Gans, George "Kid" Lavigne?

A successful prizefighter is quite an institution, if he is successful and lacks the orthodox emotions. He is a machine and interesting to study.

Bob Fitzsimmons would have been a very good blacksmith. He should go back to the forge, for he is a very bad actor much worse than the average. But a fighter learns habits that he cannot forget. One of these is getting money easily. Blacksmithing is very hard work; therefore let us make a book that Fitz will not go back to his early life's work, unless the wolf breaks into the vestibule.

Back to the life line of Fitzsimmons.

He was a blacksmith in Australia. He might have been making horse shoes till this day, had not Jem Mace come along and discovered the wonderful prowess of the then youth—remember, that was years ago. An amateur tournament revealed the hidden light of Fitzsimmons. He knocked out three or four opponents and forgot the forge.

Why is Fitz? The answer might be natural ability, maybe the greatest in the world, Jem Mace and an amateur tournament.

Why was Gans?

He might have been hanging around Baltimore till this day, working in the fish market, shooting craps, and been just an "ornery nigger." You say Gans is dead. Sure he is; and if he hadn't entered the ring he might have been living yet, a common coon.

Joe was working around the market, an oyster opener, or something of that sort, when someone staged a battle royal. The way this Gans boy laid away his dusky opponents stamped him as a fighter born. He didn't work in the fish market very much longer after the battle royal. He got right down to the business that made his name a byword around the world.

Why was Gans? Natural ability, maybe the greatest in the world for a little man, a battle royal and Al Herford

And then we come to George "Kid" Lavigne. Many men in this city knew him in his palmy days. He was born to fight. He was wild and equally worthless. Say fight, and the beady eyes were trained in eager expectation like the eyes of a bull pup. His instincts were of the animal.

Around Saginaw he was a holy terror. On excursions, on the public highway, he would fight at the least provocation. He loved to fight, and when a man loves to fight and can fight as the Saginaw Kid could, there really isn't anything that is going to keep him out of the ring.

Why was the Saginaw Kid? Great ability, maybe the greatest of any lightweight, we will never know, and George Siddons and Sam Fitzpatrick.

These were three real fighters; three of the greatest that we have ever had in the American ring. They were studies, for men who are interested in fighters. They were just born to be fighters; the chances are that they would not have been very successful in any other calling. Great fighters are born, just as sure as good cigar makers and poets, and when any man, or set of men, sets out to make a fighter, you will generally find the operation very unsuccessful.

Jawn Desmond Is Getting Well.

THE mellifluous voice of Jawn Desmond was wafted to the office yesterday. Though Jawn has not been able to leave his ome and take long walks in the evening, the M. D. in charge believes that the genial one will be able to snuff the ozone pure within ten days, which will be good news to the baseball fans.

Jawn's illness came at a most inopportune time. He has his baseball park deal, which hangs heavy, and there are the news letters from Darby O'Brien which must be read with devoted attention. There are also other things

However, the knowledge that Desmond will be with us in not so many days is the best of news, for there was some worry and apprehension over his condition.

Col. Carter a Real "Bug."

MESSRS. Waddell and Raymond are real bugs. They are real because they are basking in the sun of big league publicity. Down in the confines of the Minny league last season there was a bug of just as much warped mental power as either of the famous twirlers, and he may be with the Sox the present season.

It is very well to go slow when any one forecasts regarding the future movements of the eccentric Col. Nick Carter. His movements are quite as undirected as those of part of a chicken after it has lost its head. Carter, like a chicken in that condition, hasn't much of a bean.

He is one of the niftiest natural baseball players in the league. On one of the trips of the Eau Claire team here last season this Carter made Callahan look ordinary. Fans and fellow bugs here wondered why they had been hearing so much about the probable climb of Callahan and nothing about the future promotion of the colonel.

You have to know the Carter boy to appreciate him. He has been with many teams in the country. Many managers have tried their patience and ingenuity with him. If Darby O'Brien can get along with him and make him come through with a mark of seventy-five in the behavior class, he should receive one of those Carnegie medals.

They really don't make many better ball players than Carter. He is a mechanical wonder. Players on the same team with him soon give up expecting any heady playing on his part. The very fact that Thomas Heine Schoonhoven got along with the colonel as long as he did, stamps him as a German with the true placidity of the Fatherland.

Kodahpas' Handsome Fobs.

THE members of the Kodahpa hockey team are sporting some very nifty gold watch fobs, and if you don't believe it you are at perfect liberty to ask any member of the team. There is a long tale connected with the fobs. Stop one of the players and ask him to show you his little fob.

Hope Really Never Dies.

IN Washington, D. C., they are really believing that the team has a chance to win the American league pennant. With such an example of sublime hope the man who has not eaten for a week, or who sees nothing ahead except work, should not give up hope.

School for the Umps.

PRESIDENT Tom Chivington of the A. A. has a school for his umpires. They do say the school made several students out of men destined to labor as boneheads. The suggestion is hereby handed to the president of this league, along with the suggestion that he acquire a stenographer.

Last year some of the umpiring suggested murder and lynching to the minds of men with pacific passions and no life insurance. This idea of sending umpires to school is a very good one. The eye test is another one. If the umpires in this league are to have no preliminary examinations, except their own word, it might be well to suggest that they bring long distance running records to the office of the president of the league.

A Great "White Man's Hope."

FORGETTING for the moment Carl Morris, Miles McLeod, Con O'Kelly et al, it is herein suggested that there is a white man's hope much more promising than any of the lumbering loobs.

This hope is liquor and he has been fighting with Jack Johnson since the Jeffries fight, according to reliable accounts. John Barleycorn is slow and sure. He has knockouts to his credit over John L. Sullivan, George Kid Lavigne and some of the best of them. With all his wonderful defense this John Barleycorn person is likely to slip one over on J. Johnson.

He looks more formidable than the other forlorn hopes.

KILROY KEPT MEN GLUED TO SACK

Monroe, La., April 5.—In one of the early practice games played at Monroe there was considerable discussion regarding a throw made by Pitcher Pug Cavet to catch Charlie O'Leary leading off first. The little utility man was declared out all right, but many of the players claimed that the hurler had been guilty of a palpable balk.

This brought up an argument regarding balks, and half-balks, and near-balks, and set some of the oldtimers to reminiscing. Joe Sugden cited Matty Kilroy's motion as the most effective that ever had come to his notice, and said that the best base runners in the league were caught napping by this curver's peculiar delivery in throwing to the initial sack.

Kilroy was at his best when a member of the Louisville club of the old National league when it was a twelve-club circuit. He was a southpaw, which gave him the advantage of looking at the initial bag without twisting his head off. Some wonderful stories are told of his skill in nabbing the unwary occupants of sack No. 1. It is said that one day when Louisville was playing Pittsburg Pat Donovan scoffed at Kilroy's reputed prowess and offered to bet that he wouldn't be able to get two of the Pirates asleep in the course of the game. Kilroy said nothing at the time, but pretty soon Mr. Donovan got a life and before he could bat an eye Kilroy had him nailed too dead to skin.

A couple of innings later the doubtful Donovan again reached the first station by some means, and in a twinkling Kilroy had snagged him for the second time.

"I heard that you were betting I couldn't pick two of your men off," said Matty, "so I thought I would make you the two and thus remove any doubts. The next time you get on there you better stand on the bag until you see the ball traveling toward the batter."

Sugden doesn't believe the story that batsmen sometimes swung at the ball when it was thrown to first base, so deceptive was Kilroy's motion, but he states as a fact that the southpaw often "crossed" his catcher, the first baseman and the coacher.

"It seemed at times as though Matty purposely let men get on just to enjoy the pleasure of picking them off when he got ready," said the veteran catcher.

DUKE OF WESTMINSTER WILL BRING MOTOR BOAT TO AMERICA

THE BRUNHILDE.

The duke of Westminster has just tried out his new motor boat Brunhilde with which he hopes to win prizes at Monaco and Nice and just possibly he will bring it to America to try to take back to England the British international cup, which we won two years ago with the Dixie, and retained last year when the British came after it. The duke entered the Pioneer in the race for the cup last March, but its engine went wrong and it finished with only nine of its cylinders working.

AROUND THE CIRCUIT

All of the clubs in the Minnesota and Wisconsin league have named managers for the season. The pilots of the respective clubs are as follows:

Duluth—Darby O'Brien.
Red Wing—Fred Cook.
Winona—Joseph Killilan.
Rochester—Ted Corbett.
Eau Claire—Tom Schoonoven.
Wausau—"Biddy" Dolan.
La Crosse—"Bumpus" Jones.
Superior—"Kid" Taylor.

Toney Schieffer, the young twirler of the Wausau club for the past few seasons, has joined the holdout colony and declares he will not sign unless a little more money is forthcoming. Schieffer threatens to quit organized ball entirely if satisfactory terms are not reached with the Wausau managers.

Ted Corbett of the Rochester club will be one of the first managers to gather his charges for spring practice. He has notified pitchers and catchers to report at Rochester April 12. The entire squad will be on hand a few days later. The new Mayo athletic field will be used for the first of their pre-season practice. Corbett has acquired a number of promising youngsters for his team and believes the club will be a contender in the first division.

Manager Fred Cook of the Red Wing team has signed Outfielder Kline, who has made an enviable record in the semi-professional class. Kline is said to be a vest pocket edition of Ty Cobb in wielding the bludeon and Cook is elated over signing him. He is 23 years old and comes from Northern Minneota, where he distinguished himself with his terrific hitting.

The Wausau club will not have Lakoff on its pitching staff this season, if what is the information given the club by President Kiddo Grayson of the Louisville club. Lakoff is showing class with the Colonels and will likely remain with the association team. Grayson has a young pitcher by the name of Baker, however, whom he will send to the Wausau club. Manager Dolan of Wausau has lined out for an outfielder who played good ball in Canada last season.

Spring training of the La Crosse club, which opens April 20, will be in the home ball yard, according to President John Elliott. Thus far only two exhibition games have been arranged for the team and these will take place at Dubuque, Iowa. No dates have been agreed on as yet, but the games are practically cinched. It was the intention of the La Crosse owners to arrange several practice contests, but the plans have fallen through. A number of practice games will be played with the La Crosse semi-professional club.

Manager Joseph Killian of the Winona Pirates has scheduled several practice games for his team, which will begin training about April 20. The schedule follows: Sunday, April 22, La Crosse Clothiers; Sunday, April 23, Dubuque Cubs; Sunday, April 30, St. Paul Conrads. These games will be played at Winona. Killian is pleased with the acquisition of George Dauss, the pitcher who performed for Duluth last year. Dauss is expected to be a winner for the Southern Minnesota club.

"Kid" Taylor, pilot of the Superior club, has announced his roster of players with which he expects to win a pennant. There are four of last year's players holding out who are not included in the appended list. Following is the list of players who have signed and will report for training: Catchers, Lizette, Gruber, McCarthy, Nelson; pitchers, Dahlgren, Jensen, Clausen, Leahy, Lavens, Johnson; outfielders, Solbraa, "Si" Bennett, Larson, Hoffman, Mahaney, Hyzer; first basemen, McCulloch, Payne; second baseman, Taylor (manager); third basemen, Chase, Lippold, Hanson, Chamblay; shortstop, Bancroft. The team will begin training at Racine, April 17.

FORCE SIGNS UMPIRE KELLY

Pacific Coast Indicator Holder Is Added to Minny League Staff.

News was received here today of the appointment by President Frank E Force of J. J. Kelly to his staff of umpires. Kelly has been working on the Pacific coast and has been highly recommended to the executive of the league.

In his search for good officials the league head has been searching carefully the West and believes he has the right kind of a man in Kelly. The umpires in this league last season were good to the limit and Force realizes the umpire question is one of the gravest problems he will have to contend with. This knowledge accounts for his care in the selection of the indicator holders.

Kelly worked with some of the best teams on the coast, and according to the report received here, has made an enviable reputation. The magnates of the league have been after a good staff of umpires for a long time, and if Kelly is as good as he has been touted, he will be a welcome addition to the staff already signed.

It will take a very good man to fill the shoes of Ollie Anderson. Ollie will go to the New England league and there is not a chance that he will be back in the Minnesota-Wisconsin. With Griffith, Arundel, Kelly and some other good man the umpire staff of the league should be pretty well taken care of.

With the announcement of the signing of Kelly comes also the statement that Force is on the lookout for another good umpire to fill out his staff. It is said he is after a man who worked in the Cotton States league last season. Good umpires are hard to get and it may be some time before the right man is signed.

JOHNSON IS AFTER PAROLE

Negro Must Appear in New York or Forfeit Large Sum.

San Francisco, Cal., April 5.—Attorneys for Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, have filed a petition with District Attorney Fickert for Johnson's parole. Johnson claims that he must be in New York city before April 10, to appear in a civil suit or he will lose $4,000.

According to Fickert, Johnson stands a good chance of losing the $4,000 and of serving out the full 25-day term in the county jail, where he now is. The district attorney and Sheriff Thomas Finn think that by the time his sentence is over Johnson will be cured of his fever for automobile speeding—in San Francisco at least.

"Will you grant the parole?" Fickert was asked.

"I think Johnson will stay in jail," was the answer. "I make it the rule never to sign a parole until it is asked for by the committing judge. I don't think Judge Treadwell will ask for Johnson's release and he certainly will not get it otherwise."

Johnson did not leave the jail yesterday. Sheriff Finn said that the negro was being treated the same as the other prisoners who have money enough to send out for their meals. He has been allowed to leave the jail, he explained, only when a written order from the court has set forth the reason.

"He was allowed to visit his brother, who was said to be very ill in the German hospital," said Finn. "He had an order for the visit. I don't know how sick the brother really is. Johnson will get no privileges from me not accorded other prisoners. I would like to talk with the guard who declared that Johnson was allowed to do as he pleased out here. I think Johnson will serve his term and that we will not have any trouble with him for speeding in the future."

PACKEY IS BUSY.

Stockyards Champ Will Fight Morris Bloom Friday Night.

Chicago, April 5.—Packey McFarland, the Chicago lightweight, will be the busiest pugilist in the country this week.

On Friday night at Racine, Wis., McFarland and Morris Bloom will come together over the ten-round course.

Another Wisconsin club will stage bouts on Thursday night, when Tommy McFarland, also of Chicago, appears against Dauber Jaeger of Fond du Lac, the town in which they are scheduled to battle.

Rudy Unholz, the Boer, who once fought "Battling" Nelson in which he was credited with having more than held his own over ten rounds, goes to St. Joseph, Mo., to meet Tommy Moore of Chicago on Friday night.

Billy Wagner is billed for a bout at Windsor, Ont., Wednesday. His opponent will be Sammy Trout.

Willie Lewis and George Gunther are scheduled to fight at Paris, France, on Saturday night. Gunther is a negro.

CRACK SCHOOL TEAMS TO MEET

Duluth and Superior Basket Ball Fives Will Clash.

Duluth Central high school's chances for the Head of the Lakes interscholastic basket ball championship will be determined this evening in the contest between the local high school quint and the strong team from the Superior Central high school. The contest will be played at the Duluth high school gymnasium.

With Waldron back in the game and the rest of the team in good shape for a hard struggle, students on this side of the bay are confident that the result of some weeks ago will be reversed. In the first contest between the two teams the Superior quint defeated the locals, the game being played on the Superior floor.

If the Duluth boys win this evening the victory will give the team a chance at the championship. The local boys have lost to Superior and won and lost to the Superior normal. In the event of a victory over Superior this evening, Duluth Central will be pitted against the winners of the Superior normal-Superior Central contest, the winner of this game having undisputed claim to the Head of the Lakes basket ball championship.

Waldron's return to the game should result in a great improvement in the play of the locals. Big Waldron is a star and his presence will add confidence as well as dash. Osman will substitute, Johnson being shifted to the center position because of Waldron's presence.

The following is the lineup of the two teams:

Duluth.		Superior.
Johnson	c	Z. Bradley
Harris (Capt.)	f	Holman (Capt.)
Waldron	f	R. Bradley
Solheim	g	Doonan
Jeronimus	g	Hanson

SHEVLIN TO AID YALE COACHES

Minnesota Star Will Again Be on Advisory Football Committee.

New Haven, Conn., April 5.—Although the announcement of Yale's football coaching plans for next season has been again delayed, and will not be made till early next week, it is taken for granted that they will include a closer executive board than ever before in general charge and will accord the field coaching to Johnny Kilpatrick with two members of last year's team as assistants.

Yale's advisory board of gridiron coaches has included Walter Camp, as chairman, and Frank Whitney for years. Last fall Tom Shevlin was a member and was practically in charge of the team the latter part of the season. It is almost certain that this trio will be named by Capt. Arthur Howe as members of the committee for the coming fall. Howard Jones, head coach two years ago, is pretty certain to be added to the list. He has been offered the position of head field coach Saturday, but is unable to accept because of business duties.

Princeton has a slight advantage over Yale, and Harvard has a similar advantage in having Roper as field coach from year to year. Harvard is favored with Haughton. Yale's advantage lies in having Walter Camp as strategist, but the Yale system makes it necessary to appoint a head field coach every fall. Howard Jones could have a position similar to that of Haughton and Roper if he would accept it.

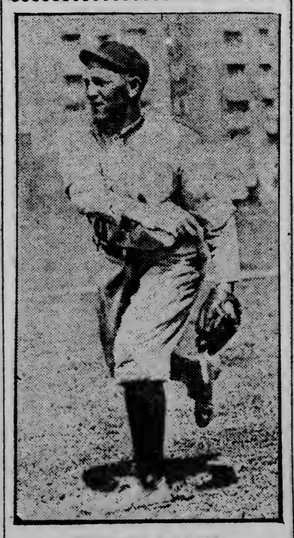
Of the veteran coaching staff, it is likely that Shevlin will be the most active in field coaching. Camp and Hinkey do little active coaching, but are the leading spirits of the board of strategy, which meets nights and plans the coaching in advance.

Gossip names Kilpatrick as chief of the field coaching staff, with Johnny Field, halfback for three seasons, and Morris, center last fall, as two active assistants. Capt. Howe has made no sign of his preferences.

It is not likely that the spring practice will begin before the Easter vacation, which begins April 12 and continues a week.

Fred Daly, captain of the Yale eleven the past fall, will take charge of the Williams college squad after the Easter vacation.

MAKING FIGHT FOR STEADY BERTH



WILBUR ROACH.

Wilbur Roach is putting up the fight of his life for a regular berth on the New York Americans. He is trying for either second base or shortstop. If he wins it will be because of his batting. Earl Gardener is a better fielder but is not so good with the bat. Other contestants for infield positions are George Elliott, Hartsell and Johnson. Roach was utility man with the Yankees last season, playing both in the outfield and in the infield.

AMERICANS LEAD IN STRENGTH TEST

Washington University Professor Conducts Test Among Students on Coast.

Seattle, Wash., April 5.—After the completion of strength tests between 300 American, Japanese, Chinese and Hindu college students, Dr. D. C. Hall, physical director of the University of Washington, has found that the American race is first in strength, the Chinese second, the Japanese third and the Hindu last.

Dr. Hall gives the Americans an average of 14.8 per cent over the Chinese, the Chinese 11 per cent over the Japanese, the Japanese 2.2 per cent over the Hindu.

"Americans are a more advanced race in physical culture, naturally brawny and strong. The Chinese were a surprise, but because they are only a few in number and mostly all American born, they took second place. No doubt the result would be different had the test been made in China.

"The Japanese are all small and weak. They appear to be entirely devoid of muscles. They are all vegetarians, eating absolutely no meats. No man can build a strong system without meats.

"The Hindus are last in vigor. In size they are almost, but not quite the equal of Japanese. Being of such a small frame places their power of strength below the Americans and Chinese."

CATHOLIC BASEBALL TEAM TO MEET Y. M. C. A. NINE.

At the Catholic Athletic club gymnasium this evening the Catholic club indoor baseball team will play the nine of the Y. M. C. A. Harry Fisher, pitcher, and Frank McGraw, third baseman, will not be in the game this evening and their absence will undoubtedly weaken the chance of the C. A. C. boys.

Following is the line-up:

NOON CLASS TAKES VOLLEY BALL GAMES.

Last evening the noon class volley ball aggregation of the Y. M. C. A. won two games from the 4:30 class, thereby taking the championship of the gymnasium. Both of the contests were warmly contested and were quite the feature of the "pop" entertainment. Both games were in doubt right up to the last moment and kept the large crowd very much interested.

The first game was won by the score of 21 to 13 and the following contest by the score of 21 to 19. The playing of Julius H. Barnes and M. F. Jamar was one of the features of the exhibition, while Joe Horak, captain of the victorious team put up a fast game. H. V. Detweiler also performed some very fast work.

The two teams lined up as follows:

Noon class, W. J. Olcott H. N. Westaway, M. F. Jamar, S. Morterud, H. V. Detweiler, R. Mace, George Ebert and William Hart. 4:30 class, Julius Barnes, A. W. Puck, C. F. McLean, C. Helmbach, C. E. De Witt, Dr. F. Lynam, F. W. Sullivan and Joe Horak, captain.

FIGHTER IN SERIOUS CONDITION FROM KNOCKOUT

Boise, Idaho, April 5.—B. F. Wakefield is in a precarious condition from the effects of having been knocked out in the sixth round of his fight at Hailey, last night, with Carl Aunee of Philadelphia. He was unconscious for over two hours and little hope is entertained for his recovery. Art Jackson, the promoter, Gus Terzoldt, referee and George Goates, the timekeeper, have been arrested. Aunee escaped.

MINNEAPOLIS FIGHTER GETS THE DECISION.

Boston, Mass., April 5.—Jack Dillon of Minneapolis defeated Jack Mantell of Providence, R. I., in a gruelling twelve-round bout at the Victory Athletic association last night. The decision was at no time in doubt, but the Rhode Island boy stood up well under terrific punishment and was saved a possible knockout in the eighth by the bell.

BUILDINGS ARE UNSAFE

Many Duluth Structures Are Without Proper Fire Escapes.

Building Inspector Notifying Owners to Comply With the Ordinance.

The owners, lessees or occupants of all three-story buildings in the city which are used for boarding, hotel or business purposes, are being served with notices from the office of the building inspector that they must equip them with proper fire escapes and standpipes, as required by the ordinance.

The inspection which is being made of buildings by deputies from the building inspector's office is showing that there is a woeful lack of adequate fire escapes, standpipes and fire escape appliances in all classes of buildings. Should a bad fire break out in some of the larger ones, it is impossible to see how everybody on the inside could escape. Two or three big buildings which are occupied by roomers are said to be particularly dangerous, and that if a fire should happen to break out late at night many lives would be lost.

Other big buildings in the downtown section have fire escapes which do not comply with the ordinance. They are of the ladder variety, whereas they should be stair fire escapes. The buildings are also lacking the proper standpipe. The notices which are being sent out notify the person in charge of the building that the ordinance provisions will have to be complied with in thirty days. After that time a second inspection will be made and if nothing has been done the building inspector will cause arrests to be made. It is announced that no half-way measures will be tolerated and that the conditions which now exist in many places will have to be promptly remedied.

The ordinance is plain and specific. The section quoted in the notices describes the buildings which are affected. It reads as follows:

"It shall be the duty of the owner, proprietor, lessee or keeper of every hotel, apartment house, boarding and lodging house, tenement house, schoolhouse, opera house, theater, music hall, factory, office building and every building where people congregate, or which is used as a business place or for public or private assemblage, which has a height of three (3) or more stories, to provide said structure with stair fire escapes, attached to the exterior of the building."

he ought to release me, whereupon Mr. McCormick said, 'Good, that's exactly what I want. I do not care for the consequences of the International Harvester company.'

"I met Mr. Funk on Jackson boulevard about thirty days after the confession of White, while on my way to the Chicago club. He did not seek me out at all.

"Mr. Funk told me the man who came to him told him they had an opportunity to elect Lorimer with a fund of $100,000. They sent it down, and Mr. Funk told me they were looking for reimbursement.'

Funk Tells Story.

Funk was the next witness called. He said he had been with the company nine years. His attention was called to a conversation with Edward C. Hines shortly after the Lorimer election. The witness said:

"The conversation took place in the Union League club. It was an accidental meeting.

"He said he had been wanting to see me and we sat in the lounging room.'

"Hines said to me without preliminary, 'Well! We'll put Lorimer over, but it costs us $100,000 to do it.'

"He said, 'We had to act quickly so that it became necessary for us to put up the money. Now, we are seeing some of our friends to get it fixed up.'

"He gave me to understand they wanted to be reimbursed and I asked him why he came to us, and he said: "'You are as interested as anyone having the right kind of a man in Washington.'

Would Not Contribute.

"I told him we would have nothing to do with it. He said he could only go to big people and wanted to get $10,000 from each of them.

"He left me and told me to think it over.

"Whom did he say they were to send the money to?" asked Attorney Healy.

"I have no evidence on that and do not want to answer that question," replied Funk.

The chairman of the committee ruled that Mr. Funk must answer this question. Mr. Funk asked to be allowed to give his answer confidentially to the members of the committee.

"Edward Tilden, connected with the stockyards at Chicago, is the man to whom I was told to send the money," said Mr. Funk, when an answer was forced by the committee.

"Was anything said of Tilden collecting the fund?" Funk was asked.

"No."

"Were other names used?"

"No."

"Did he give you the names of any contributors?"

"No, and I did not ask him," replied Funk.

"You told him you and your company would not contribute—did you talk to any one of your officers?"

"Yes, I told Mr. McCormick. Mr. McCormick said, 'Good, I am glad you turned him down promptly.'

"I also told Edward A. Bancroft, general counsel for our company."

Funk said he did not read the Record-Herald editorial which caused Mr. Kohlsaat to be called before the committee. He said Hines came to his office after the editorial appeared.

Hines Disturbed.

"Hines was disturbed," said Funk, "and undertook to refresh my memory on our conversation.

"He said he had not tried to get money from me and had talked of money, just in a general way. That was the first time I talked with him after the first conversation."

Funk said that his company had some dealing with the Hines Lumber company. He said he had known Hines casually prior to the Union League club talk.

Funk declared that he was certain Hines had not told him the name of any contributor to the fund. He said he never had any difficulty with Hines and had no antagonistic feeling toward him.

"I am here because I did not want to see my friend, Mr. Kohlsaat, go to jail," testified Funk.

Funk said he knew Lorimer only slightly and never had had any trouble with him or his friends. He said C. H. McCormick had no interest of any kind in the Chicago Tribune.

To Senator Helm, Funk said he had no idea whom Hines meant by "we."

Answering Senator Burton, Funk said neither he nor his company gave any money for the Lorimer election. The witness said he had no active interest in politics.

The committee then went into executive session.

SHORTS RUN TO SHELTER

They Buy Wheat Heavily on Bullish German Crop News.

Foreign Markets Up—Precipitation Again Widespread.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 5.—Wheat opened firm and advanced rapidly, shorts buying heavily. May wheat walked forward 1½c and July gained 1⅜c. Cash wheat was ½c over the May delivery. Oats gained ½c, rye was unchanged, durum advanced 1⅛c and barley regained yesterday's drop of 2c. Flaxseed advanced 1c in a dull market to $2.48.

Wheat advanced sharply today. The shorts began covering early on receipt of higher cables which took a sharp jump upward. Shorts on the other side ran to cover on account of unfavorable weather in Germany and the markets were strong and buoyant. There was some buying by scalpers on the upturn, but the chief strength on this side was due to the heavy profit taking by shorts. On yesterday's hard spot many eleventh hour shorts developed and these were driven to cover, adding to the general strength of the situation.

Australian and Argentine offers were firmer and the continental demand showed considerable breadth. It is said that France has not purchased sufficient requirements although wheat is congesting the warehouses at French ports. France has been a heavy purchaser of foreign wheat lately.

The Northwestern movement of wheat took a further slump and gave tone an otherwise firm situation. The cash demand did not show much strength but the demand for choice wheat continued and the result was higher prices for the cash seed. The trade was willing to bull wheat after having been on the bear side for so long a time. While the change was welcomed by speculators yet the bulge needs a steady and strong cash and milling demand to sustain it and these elements are lacking.

Precipitation was again general, rain or snow falling in both the Northwest and Southwest. That portion of South Dakota west of the Missouri river, which had not received much rain and where conditions were extremely serious, got a moderate soaking. From two to four inches of snow followed a slight rainfall. This precipitatin came upon the heels of four or five days of almost steady drizzle or snow.

These telegrams were received today by The Herald:

Great Falls, Mont.—In the first four days of April considerable moisture has fallen in Eastern Montana. Snow and rain have fallen almost daily. The soil is in good condition. Homesteaders and farmers are optimistic. Flax acreage will be greatly increased.

McIntosh, S. D.—West of the Missouri river there has been rain or snow almost daily for the last ten days. In Dewey, Harding, Perkins, Corson and Ziebach counties, as well as in the northern part of the state, there have been almost daily falls of rain or snow. Acreage under the plow will be greatly increased. Along the Milwaukee the acreage will be greatly enlarged, especially in flaxseed.

Fargo, N. D.—The entire state has been visited by snow and rain in the last ten days. The visitation has occurred several times. From three to five inches of snow have fallen over most of the state in the last three days. The western part got the least of the precipitation. Along the Great Northern the snow was heavy. The sky is cloudy and more snow is looked for. The prospects point to almost ideal conditions for seeding as there is plenty of surface moisture and rain and snow have been abundant lately.

Jamestown, N. D.—About six inches of snow have fallen here in the last forty-eight hours. There is plenty of moisture for some time to come. Farmers are optimistic.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, April 5.—Frightened by the strength of foreign wheat markets, short sellers here rushed to cover today, and prices made a sudden upward jump. From a crop standpoint, the situation appeared more bearish than at any time this season, but the Liverpool quotations had been lifted in consequence of firmer spot offerings and on account of a better milling demand, with the continent bidding for cargoes. Moreover, cash demand here was a little broader, and some dealers were expecting a material increase of activity. The opening was ¼@⅜c to 1c higher. May started at 85@85⅝c, a gain of ⅜@1c, and steadied at 85½c.

Improved inquiry from exporters caused a further advance, especially in May, which finally overtopped July in price. The close was strong, with May 1⅝c higher at 86¼c.

Weather unfavorable for free movement from farms gave strength to corn. The rise in wheat had also a bullish effect. May opened ½c to ⅞@1c up at 47¼c to 47⅝@47¾c, and seemed inclined to hold close to the upper level.

Purchases by export houses resulted in additional gains. The close was firm, with May at 47⅞c, a gain of 1⅛c.

In oats the smaller shorts lost courage and caused a bulge in prices. Larger speculators on the bear side, however, were sellers. May started ¼@⅜c to ½@⅝c dearer at 30¼@30½c, but did not seem able to get outside of those limits.

Firmer prices for hogs led to an advance all around on provisions. Initial sales were 2½@15c higher, with May options at $15 for pork, $7.97½ for lard, and $8.42½@8.45 for ribs.

STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Trading More Active in Morning Session Than for Days Past.

New York, April 5.—The stock market was irregular at the opening today. The most marked changes were the advance of 2 points in Baltimore & Ohio, and the decline of the same amount in National Biscuit. People's Gas lost 1½. Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie advanced a point and Wabash preferred ⅜.

The market became weak with considerable depression against the recognized leaders. Union Pacific sold a point below yesterday's close, and there were similar declines in Northern Pacific, Lehigh Valley and Northwestern. Canadian Pacific gave way 2 points and a break of 2½ in People's Gas were attributed to the result of the municipal election in Chicago.

There were few strong stocks among the inactive specialties, Lackawanna moved up 10 points, American Car preferred, 1⅝, and General Electric, 1¾.

Trading was more active this morning than for many days previously, with the greater part of the business coming from the short side. Bear traders showed more confidence and succeeded in forcing recessions in many stocks, although advances in other issues gave the market occasional appearance of irregularity.

The advance of Baltimore & Ohio was attributed in part to buying by London, from which point there came a report that Pennsylvania had offered to take over Union Pacific's holdings of the stock at 110, and that the offer had been refused. The report met with prompt denial here, but it was generally believed that accumulation of the stock in a large way was going on. The trend of prices was upward at midday and the list ruled at last night's close.

An active inquiry for National Biscuit cancelled its early decline and there was a brisk demand for American Can preferred, which moved up 2½ on reports that the stock would be placed on a higher dividend basis. Associated Oil declined over 3 points to below yesterday's final figure, to 52, which compares with 60½, the high price of Monday. Union Pacific preferred was bought actively and advanced 1½ on an apparent resumption of the recent active demand. Bonds steady.

The market closed heavy. Steady liquidation in People's Gas extended its loss to 4½ and undermined the market and there was a fractional reaction all around.

FINAL DAY ON THE ROAD

After a tour that has been more of a success than the promoters had expected or hoped, the potato special of the Duluth Commercial club and the state farmers' institute will return to Duluth tonight for the final day of instructions tomorrow.

Island, Floodwood and Wrenshall are on the itinerary today and reports from the special are that the experts are in good voice and are even more charged with enthusiasm than they were when they started out on the trip. The potato exhibit, which was a good one when the train pulled out, has been built up to a point of excellence never before obtained for a similar exhibit and visitors to the train tomorrow will see a display that should surprise many of them.

The train will arrive in Duluth late tonight and will be spotted at a point near the union depot. All day tomorrow, the experts will be on hand and a series of addresses will be given in the morning, afternoon and evening. The exhibit will be open for inspection all day and the experts will be glad to judge samples brought in by farmers and to compare the products with the products on display in the car. A large crowd of farmers from the territory near Duluth is expected to gather for the instructions and to view the exhibit and the seles of meetings is expected to end with one of the best on the trip.

Crowd at Floodwood.

Floodwood, Minn., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a short stop at Island this morning, the potato special pulled into Floodwood about 9 o'clock. Despite the fact that the ground was covered with three inches of snow, a large crowd of farmers was on hand to welcome the visitors Some of the best samples of potatoes received on the entire trip were brought in here and were added to the exhibit, which received a great deal of attention from the Floodwood farmers.

Meetings at Alborn.

Alborn, Minn., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—About a hundred farmers any many children visited the potato special here yesterday. One car was set aside for the children and they were given talks on poultry raising by N. E. Chapman and on home gardening by A. B. Hostetter. C. E. Brown talked on potatoes and told the farmers how to judge seed potatoes. Prof. Olson talked on soil and clover and H. A. Hopkins discussed the marketing of products.

COPPERS STRONG; THEN DECLINE

The market was strong at the opening, shorts being disposed to cover on account of the conservative tone of the president's message to congress, the contents of which were evidently known to Wall Street before the communication was read. When this buying power became exhausted the market slumped and values closed about on yesterday's final levels, or fractionally under.

A Boston wire to Paine, Webber & Co., said: "Indiana shaft has reached the ledge at a depth of approximately 100 feet and is now bottomed in felsite. Ground was broken for the shaft in January of this year, the shaft being put down vertically on the theory that the lode encountered in January, 1909, by the No. 2 drill was a felsite intrusion standing vertically. That the shaft should now be bottomed in felsite at practically the depth that was expected seems to point to the soundness of the theory on which exploration of the lode is being conducted."

Butte wired the Boston News bureau today: "Reports from North Butte are that the Edith May vein, when opened on the 2400 level, is bunchy and low grade. The same conditions have been met on the 2200 level so far as work has advanced."

RAILROADS

POWER GIVEN A PROMOTION

William J. Power, general agent of the local freight department of the Great Northern railroad and one of the best known and best liked of the Head of the Lakes railroad men, today received notice of his appointment as assistant general freight agent of the Lake Superior district, succeeding P. H. Burham.

The appointment comes as a complete surprise to Mr. Power. He had received no intimation of his impending promotion, and was very much surprised when informed of the appointment.

Mr. Power has been in this city for over fifteen years and is one of the most widely known railroad men in this city. He has been with the Great Northern in his present position for a number of years.

Just who will be appointed to fill Mr. Power's place in the local office of the Great Northern has not been intimated as yet. Mr. Power will have his headquarters in the general office of the Great Northern at St. Paul, but will make this city very often in the course of his covering of the division.

Mr. Power will remain here until his successor is appointed, when he will go to St. Paul and become acquainted with the duties of his new position.

The promotion of Mr. Power brought him many congratulations this morning. The only regret his friends have is that it will take him away from the city.

SULLIVAN GETS NEW APPOINTMENT.

News was received here today of the appointment of A. F. Sullivan, formerly traveling freight agent of the Minneapolis & St. Louis, as commercial agent of the Toledo, St. Louis & Western Railroad company and the Chicago & Alton.

Mr. Sullivan is very well known among railroad men in this city, as this city was one of the regular stops in his territory.

It is very probable that Mr. Sullivan will continue to make this city occasionally. He is one of the gest liked of the railroad men visiting this city, and the news of his appointment will be a source of pleasure among his friends.

Mr. Sullivan will have his headquarters at Minneapolis.

PRESIDENT HUTCHINS HAS DELAYED DULUTH VISIT.

Calumet, Mich., April 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The organization meeting of the University of Michigan alumni of the counties of Houghton, Ontonagon, Baraga and Keweenaw, which was called for April 13, and which was to have been addressed by President Hutchins of the university, has been postponed until April 22, as President Hutchins will be unable to come to the upper peninsula before that time. The president has been busily engaged with legislative committees in an effort to gain appropriations of $500,000 needed by the university. His dates for Duluth and other points in Northern Michigan have all been set back.

RECIPROCITY IS INDORSED

Washington, April 5.—Two indorsements of President Taft's proposed reciprocity agreement with Canada cheered the White House today. The first came from W. F. Knox, chairman of the Michigan Republican state central committee, and the other from Woodlawn Grange of Porland, Or. Mr. Knox wired the president:

"In yesterday's spring election, the entire Republican state ticket successful, by normal Republican majority. This I regard as significant in view of the declaration made in some quarters that the reciprocity program of the administration would disrupt the party in strong Republican border states. I regard outcome as a strong indorsement in Michigan of your reciprocity program."

The Woodlawn Grange, in a letter to the president, forwarded resolutions adopted by it at a meeting last month. The grange adopted a resolution condemning the action of the National Grange, which opposed reciprocity with Canada.

PARIS ASTONISHED BY BRISK SNOW STORM.

Paris, April 5.—Parisians were astonished today by a brisk snow storm which gave a rather ghastly effect to the green of the new leafed trees. Cold and snow are general throughout the country and much damage is being done to vegetables, fruits and flowers.

SENATE VOTES IN FAVOR OF DISFRANCHISING CITIES

UNJUST BILL IS PASSED

State Senate Would Limit Any County to Only Six Senators.

Senator Boyle Makes Ringing Speech Against the Unjust Scheme.

Prospect That This Ends All Hope of Reapportionment.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a vote of 36 to 24 the senate disclosed its caliber by going on record this morning as declaring that humanity in large cities is not entitled to as large a share in the control of a people's government as humanity in the country. By that vote the senate passed the Weis-Moonan-Haycraft-Duxbury bill, proposing a constitutional amendment limiting the representation of any one county in the senate to six senators, thus departing from the constitutional rule that representation shall be equally distributed according to population.

In view of this action, it will be no surprise to anybody to hear that reapportionment, in all probability, is dead for this session. The Hanson reapportionment bill, which is the same as the bill Senators Rockne, Clague and

FAVOR OUSTING OF WHITTIER

Legislative Committee Prepares Report on Red Wing School.

St. Paul, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dismissal of Supt. F. A. Whittier; dismissal of three subordinate officials; abolishment of corporal punishment for all inmates over 16 years of age; corporal punishment for younger inmates to be resorted to only under direction of the state board of control; criticism of the state board of control.

The above is a summary of the majority report of the special legislative committee that investigated conditions at the state training school at Red Wing.

Senator A. J. Rockne this morning refused to sign the report threatening to make a minority report. His action followed a conference with a delegation of Red Wing citizens this morning.

Other members of the committee may make some concession in the majority report in order to bring Senator Rockne into line, though it is declared no radical change will be agreed to.

Those signing the majority report are Representatives R. C. Dunn, L. A. Lydiard, N. J. Holmberg and Senators Frank Clague and J. D. Sullivan.

The investigation of the training schol grew out of charges of cruelty to inmates.

OUTLOOK IS ROSIER

For an Efficient System of Forestry for Minnesota.

Senate Committee Increases Salary for the Chief Forester.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The outlook for an efficient and comprehensive system of forestry for Minnesota was made rosier yesterday afternoon when the senate committee on forestry, to which was referred the forestry bill passed by the house a few days ago, recommended the bill to pass.

First, however, the committee adopted an amendment fixing the salary of the chief forester at $4,000 a year. The original bill provided for a salary of $5,000, but this was amended to $3,000 when the bill passed the house. The friends of the bill are willing to accept the allowance of $4,000, as they believe that they can get the right kind of a man for that amount, and it is believed that the house will accept the compromise figure.

The bill has yet to pass the senate, and the house has yet to accept the amendment providing the $4,000 salary

FRAMERS OF NEW APPORTIONMENT BILL

SENATOR A. J. ROCKNE
Of Goodhue County.

SENATOR FRANK CLAGUE
Of Redwood County.

REAPPORTIONMENT BILL INTRODUCED IN SENATE

Five Senators Taken From South and Given to Other Sections.

Three Senators Added to Country Sections of Northern Minnesota.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new reapportionment bill, framed by Senators Rockne of Zumbrota and Clague of Redwood Falls, was introduced in the senate today by permission of the governor. It was actually introduced by Senator Hanson of Norman county, who held the necessary permission from Governor Eberhart, which he had secured because of the delay in presenting the bill and for fear that the efforts of Rockne and Clague to reach an agreement on a measure would fail. The Hanson bill provides that the new apportionment go into effect at the next election, while the Rockne-Clague bill provides that it take effect in 1914. In other respects the bills are identical, and the 1914 provision will be favored by the senate.

One More Senator.

The new bill elliminates five Southern Minnesota senators and adds one to the present membership. The addition

COURT AGAIN SUSPENDED

Prisoners Make Uproar While Accused Priest Is Testifying.

Vitozzi Says He Has Always Been a Good Priest.

Viterbo, April 6.—Ciro Vitozzi, the priest, who weepingly pleaded that he had celebrated masses for the repose of the soul of the murdered King Humbert, was called in the court of assizes today to explain how misery had acquainted him with such strange bedfellows as Erricone, the usurer; Rapi, the gambler, and others of the band of thieves and cutthroats who made up the Neapolitan Camorra.

"Throughout my life, I have been a good priest, but priests more than others come in contact with the good and evil," said the priest. "The priesthood is intended to combat what is bad and thus we know it."

It was Vitozzi who secured the release of Erricone, whose proper name is Enrico Alfano, Ciro Alfano, Ibelli and Rapi, when they were first arrested, charged with complicity in the murder of Gennaro Cuoccolo and his wife, the "Beautiful Sorrentina." The priest went to the authorities and said that he had learned in the confessional the identity of the assassins, and that the men under arrest were innocent. He was believed and not only secured the freedom of his friends, but subsequently denounced De Angalis and Amadeo as the murderers. These men had some difficulty in discrediting the priest.

As he testified today Vitozzi could not or would not control his emotions and aided by his attorney, who interrupted with counter charges against

HOUSE ADJOURNS UNTIL MONDAY

Will Give Minority Leader Time to Make Selections for Committees.

Washington, April 6.—In order to give the Republican leader, Mr. Mann, time to prepare the minority selections for the various standing committees, the house of representatives after a brief sitting today adjourned until Monday at noon. It had been expected that Mr. Mann might have some of the committee lists ready today, but he announced that the time had been too short. The minority members, as well as those of the majority party, must be elected by the house under the new rules adopted yesterday.

Representative Sherley of Kentucky made an effort to secure the adoption of a resolution today continuing the special joint committee of the house and senate for the codification of the laws, but objection was raised to consideration of the matter at this time and it went over.

ROBBED OF $105,000, AGED WIDOW GRANTS THIEF FORGIVENESS

Securities Belonging to Mrs. S. B. Armour Taken From Vault.

Stocks Sold and Proceeds Devoted to Buying Works of Art.

Name of Robber, Who Is Close to Family, Is Not Divulged.

Kansas City, Mo., April 6.—Stocks and bonds to the value of $105,000 were stolen recently from a safety deposit box in this city owned by Mrs. S. B. Armour, widow of the late Simeon B. Armour of the Armour Packing company, and sold, it was learned yesterday. None of those who have acted as advisers in the case for Mrs. Armour would make public the name of the guilty person.

The theft came to light through purchases made with money derived from the sale of the securities. These purchases consisted of rare etchings, Oriental rugs, silverware, jewelry and works of art.

Goods costing more than $10,000 were bought of one jewelry store and were ordered sent to storage by the purchaser. When Mrs. Armour discovered her loss and her attorneys had traced the stolen securities, the goods were found in storage houses. They were sold for the benefit of Mrs. Armour. The stolen securities

BEGIN A CRUSADE AGAINST GAMBLING

Eleven Indictments Returned By the Grand Jury at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nothing but speculation is rife in Minneapolis regarding the crusade against gambling, begun evidently by some secret move of the Hennepin county grand jury. Although a detective agency denies it has been retained by the grand jury, Harry Foster, the man who has sworn out all the complaints thus far, is in its employ.

Two alleged gamblers, Carl Blake and Walter Gregory, were arraigned in the District court yesterday afternoon. Both pleaded not guilty. Trial was set for April 17 and bail was fixed at $500 each.

There are still several warrants in the hands of the sheriff. Thus far it is known that eleven indictments have been returned by the grand jury.

HEAD OF LIPPINCOTT PUBLISHING COMPANY DIES MYSTERIOUSLY

Craige Lippincott Found Dead With a Revolver at His Side.

Son Makes Sworn Statement That He Believes Accident the Cause.

Coroner Says He Thinks It a Plain Case of Suicide.

Philadelphia, April 6.—The following authorized statement by an officer of the J. B. Lippincott company was given out this afternoon:

"During a period of temporary aberration Craig Lippincott, president of the J. B. Lippincott company, shot and killed himself at his residence, 218 West Rittenhouse square, early this morning. The business of the publishing house will not be affected by Mr. Lippincott's death."

Philadelphia, April 6.—Craige Lippincott, head of the J. B. Lippincott company, publishers, and one of the most prominent men in financial and social circles in this city, died mysteriously early today at his palatial home, 218 West Rittenhouse square, the arstocratic residential section of Philadelphia. According to the police, death was due to a pistol wound. How he received his injury, whether by accident or design, is not publicly known. The coroner is making a thorough investigation.

Mr. Lippincott's son, Jay B. Lippincott, made a sworn statement to a deputy coroner that it was his opinion that his father died as the result of an accident. The deputy coroner, Charles McKeever, informed the newspapermen that Mr. Lippincott was shot between 7 and 8 o'clock this morning, having been found on the floor of his room by his valet, Oscar Stewart, who went to the apartment to shave him.

Mr. Lippincott, who was 65 years old, was of highly nervous temperament and always had a fear of finding burglars in the house. From this fact his friends deduce that he might have been alarmed by a noise and accidentally killed himself while in a state of nervous excitement.

Coroner Is Notified.

The first information that the coroner had of a death in the Lippincott residence was at 9:30 o'clock when some one called the coroners' office on

NO CHOICE IN TACOMA.

Second Election Under the Recall to Be Held April 18.

Tacoma, April 6.—Mayor A. W. Fawcett will get another chance for his political life. Tuesday's election having failed to return a majority to any of the three candidates for mayor, it was announced that a second election will be held April 18, when A. C. Barth, the Socialist candidate at Tuesday's election, will be dropped and Fawcett will run against W. W. Seymour. Unless Fawcett can capture most of the ballots cast for the Socialist candidate Tuesday, the indications are that he will be defeated. The latest returns give Seymour 6,855, Fawcett 7,636, Barth 3,303.

Lorimer Is Silent.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 6.—Senator William Lorimer, who was in Pittsburg today for a short time, made the following statement to the Associated Press correspondent concerning yesterday's developments in the bribery investigation at Springfield, Ill.:

"I have refused to discuss these charges of bribery from the time I first heard of them and I can not change the rule in relation to the news from Springfield yesterday."

Senator Lorimer left at noon for Johnstown, Pa., where he was called on business in connection with his private affairs.

Quick Work of the Firemen Stops Bad Blaze in Boston.

Boston, Mass., April 6.—Quick work on the part of firemen subdued a threatening fire which broke out today in the plant of the White-Smith Music Publishing company on Stanhope street, near the Back bay station. The loss is estimated at $50,000. Three or four girls, who were on the fifth floor, escaped over the roofs of the adjoining buildings.

The building is located in the midst of a number of garages and automobile salesrooms and for a while it was feared that the flames might spread to adjoining property where quantities of gasoline and oil were stored.

BIG LINER IS ASHORE

Prinzess Irene With 1700 Passengers Strikes Bottom in Fog.

Assistance Is Summoned and the Ship Is in No Danger.

New York, April 6.—The steamer Prinzess Irene of the North German Lloyd line, ran ashore early today off the Lone Hill station, ten miles east of Fire Island. The lifting fog between 7 and 8 o'clock disclosed the grounded liner to the life savers, who put out to see if she needed assistance. There was no sea and the big vessel was in no apparent danger.

The steamer was on her way here from Genoa and Naples and was reported by wireless off Fire Island at 5:50 o'clock. About ten minutes later she ran her nose on the Fire Island sand pit during the fog that prevailed at that hour, and was held hard and fast. Her master as soon as he found that the big liner was close in the grip of the sand, sent a wireless message to the company's officials in this city describing her plight. Two tugs were at once dispatched to her assistance.

It was said by a representative of the company shortly after the tugs were started down the bay that it was

ARE YOU A MAN?

Or Are You So Weakened By Neglect and Disease That You Have Lost All Virility.

Many people are going around nowadays under a misapprehension. It is not sufficient to look like a man to be a man — manhood is something by itself —the virile look, the athletic step, the sharp, incisive word, all these go to prove that a man is a man. Many are content to drag through life deadened by lassitude and worn out in the prime of youth—why—because they do not know, or shut their eyes to the fact that in this decadent state of twentieth century manhood, no man is perfect and those who are fairly so, will retrograde rapidly unless they take some active steps to retain their virility.

The seeds of disease are in your system and neglect will encourage them to multiply until they are more powerful than your constitution. One little trouble neglected leads to a greater one, and so on to the natural termination—death.

Careful, and above all, scientific treatment, will, if taken in time, conquer all diseases of men.

Remember, though, the treatment must be skillful, it must be prescribed by a specialist, or it is liable to do you irreparable harm. The Progressive Medical Specialists whose offices are at No. 1 West Superior street, have devoted their lives to the study of the diseases of men, both in the colleges of this country and in those of Germany—the most famous in the world. They have effected thousands of cures where ordinary practitioners have pronounced the cases hopeless, because they are specialists. If you are afflicted with any chronic disease, do not fail to consult them, their methods are marvelous and thousands of Duluthians are now praising their science and skill. You are cordially invited to consult them free of charge and they will explain how they can cure any of the diseases of men regardless of age or complications.

Their offices are crowded from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. No. 1 West Superior street.

POTATO SPECIAL ENDS MOST SUCCESSFUL TRIP

Thousands of People Reached Through It By Agricultural Experts.

No Better Potato Country in World Than St. Louis County.

Duluth is having a look at the potato special today. Although those who took the look this morning had to do some floundering through the railroad yards to find the train, they were rewarded for their trouble when they did climb aboard, and better arrangements have been made this afternoon. Some trouble was experienced in getting the special conveniently spotted. The track first picked out proved to be too short for the train and the plan to spot it there had to be abandoned. During the morning the train lay on a Northern Pacific track some distance west of the union depot, but it was expected to be drawn up closer this afternoon so that it might be more conveniently reached.

This morning the experts contented themselves with explaining the exhibits and giving seed instructions to those who visited the train. The different grades of identical varieties of potatoes were pointed out and the necessity of selecting good seed if good crops are to be obtained was touched up by C. E. Brown and O. M. Olson. The visitors were deeply interested in the exhibit, many Duluth citizens as well as farmers visiting the train. Some of the farmers, who came in from the surrounding country, brought exhibits of potatoes to be compared with those on display on the train.

The trip of the train was an unqualified success. All of the experts are agreed on that point. Many people were reached and great interest was evidenced by everybody along the route of the train. The fact that exhibits were carried and received on the train enabled the speakers to emphasize their points by concrete illustrations. Although Mr. Olson and Mr. Brown would not commit themselves this morning to a statement that the train proved more effective than institutes of longer duration at each point would have been, they said that the brevity of the stays at the different towns was made up by the convenience of the train as a meeting place and the effectiveness of the exhibit in illustrating what the speakers sought to teach so great a number of people could not be reached in such a short time in any other way. They were agreed that the train has done a great work for agriculture in Northeastern Minnesota and that its results will be evident in the future.

Desire For Knowledge.

"If the train were to go over the same route next year, I venture to say that the crowds would be twice as great as they were this year," said Prof. Olson this morning. "The people showed keen interest and a desire for knowledge and we had some of the liveliest discussions I have ever participated in. The farmers were not slow in asking questions and their questions showed that they have made a study of agriculture as a science. They were anxious to learn and when farmers show that disposition, they will be successful."

The potato special and the instructions given on its trip were not intended especially to increase the acreage of potatoes in Northeastern Minnesota, but to impress upon the farmers the necessity of exercising care in the selection of seed in order that a better quality of potatoes may be raised. The seed potato situation, while not desperate, is not what it should be in this section of the country, according to those who accompanied the train on its tour.

"There are potatoes enough, such as they are, but good seed potatoes are scarce," said Mr. Brown this morning. Mr. Brown is a practical farmer at Elk River, a speaker for the state farmers' institute, and he was the potato expet on the train.

"The farmers must learn to select their seed," he continued. "If a man continues to plant scrubby potatoes, he will get scrubby crops. If he plants good seed, he will get good crops. The fact is obvious. The farmers must learn what potatoes are good for seed and must plant them. If they exercise care every year in planting their crops, in a few years they will grow nothing but the best of potatoes. It will take a few years to bring about that result, but if they don't start now they will never get the best crops.

"There is no better potato growing country in the world than right here in St. Louis county. There is a great market and the farmers in this vicinity can supply that market. If they would supply it as it should be supplied, and to their own profit, they must use good seed and proceed along systematic lines.

Potatoes Are High.

"Common potatoes for table use are high—about 60 cents a bushel at retail, I think. Seed potatoes will bring $1.20 or $1.25 a bushel right now. It is obvious that, in the face of a scarcity of good seed potatoes, the man who has a supply of them for sale has a profitable crop. It doesn't take any more care or cultivation to produce good seed potatoes than it does to produce scrubby potatoes. All that is needed is care in the selection of the seed, and that is a lesson we have been trying to teach on this trip."

N. E. Chapman, head of the poultry division of the extension department of the state agricultural college, says that he has been able to reach a large number of people on the trip of the special. Special efforts were made to reach the children in each place visited. At Hibbing, Mr. Chapman addressed 600 children at one meeting and he says he hopes that his instruction will be of benefit.

"An expenditure of $3,000,000 yearly gives each person in the iron range towns an egg a day and a chicken dinner on Sunday," he said this morning. "They are spending that much money now and are not eating as many eggs and as much poultry as they should. They can just as well raise their poultry and produce their eggs at home as have it shipped in from outside, and they will have fresher eggs and better poultry. Four states are shipping eggs and poultry into Northeastern Minnesota, now, whereas Northeastern Minnesota should be shipping poultry products out to other points. The home poultry yard is the solution of the food problem in a good many homes and when the home poultry yard idea takes proper root, the cost of living will be reduced."

A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of agriculture of the Commercial club, emphasized the home garden idea in the range towns. He also made a special appeal to the children. He talked to the children in the schools, had many of them visit the special and impressed upon them the profits to them in the cultivation of the home garden. He carried the homecroft propaganda to the range towns and effectively presented it to children and adults. While not in distinctly farming communities, he hammered away at the home garden for the working man and those who observed his work say that a trail of home gardens will extend along the route of the special through the larger towns, a tribute to the effective work of Mr. Hostetter.

H. A. Hopkins, manager of the Producers Co-operative Market association, was also able to reach a large number of farmers on the trip of the special. "Co-operation," was his theme and he set before the farmers the results that have already been obtained by co-operation in marketing on the part of the members of the association and the greater results that can be accomplished by further co-operation on the part of all the farmers of Northeastern Minnesota. He pointed out that the market exists and the farmers have been shut out of it for lack of system in marketing their products. He urged on those farmers who are not already in the association to get in and take advantage of the market that is there for them if they use an effort in reaching it.

Not only in the effective work it has done among the farmers of this district has the potato special been a success, but it has served as a valuable advertising feature for the agricultural resources of Northeastern Minnesota. About a half dozen agricultural journals were represented at some stage of the trip and the writers will tell the outside world of what the farmers of Northeastern Minnesota are doing and what is being done for them in assisting them to develop the resources of this section. The exhibit of potatoes carried on the train was a source of wonderment to the visitors and the excellence of Northeastern Minnesota as a potato-raising region will be heralded to the people in other sections of the country.

An Experiment.

The state agricultural school has taken a keen interest in the special. The idea has not been used in just this form in the state prior to this occasion and it was in the nature of an experiment. A number of members of the faculty of the school visited the train while it lay at Meadowlands last Sunday and they expressed surprise and gratification over the results it was attaining. Although institutes have been used mostly in the extension work of the school and in the work of the state farmers' institute, the advantages of carrying an exhibit on a train and of reaching a large number of people in a short space of time by means of a special appeal to those in charge of the work and the success of the St. Louis county experiment will undoubtedly result in the idea being adopted in other parts of the state.

The exhibit of potatoes in the baggage car on the potato special is the most complete display of its kind ever collected in this section of the state—or in the state for that matter. It consists of nearly 100 contributions of different varieties of potatoes. Early Ohio, Carman No. 3 and Burbanks predominating. The Early Ohio and Carman No. 3 are especially recommended for cultivation in this section of the state by the experts and the fact that so many farmers cultivate those varieties proves that the farmers of Northeastern Minnesota are abreast of the times and keeping in touch with the best instruction and information in agricultural development.

The potato special's trip is ended and everybody who had anything to do with it is satisfied. The promoters are well pleased with the interest shown by the farmers and the potato special will probably be an annual institution.

Following is a list of the contributors to the exhibit and the varieties of potatoes contributed, some contributions of other vegetables also being mentioned:

LYCEUM—James T. Powers in "Havana."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
ODEUM and LYRIC—Photoplay.

Green Room Gossip.

The music of "Havana," in which James T. Powers will open an engagement at the Lyceum theater tonight, was composed by Leslie Stuart, who has to his credit the score of "Florodora." "Havana" enjoyed a long run at the Casino theater, New York, like "Florodora." With Mr. Powers the Messrs. Shubert are sending the original company, composed of over 100 people, the production being the same as that seen in New York. Although the play is of English origin, Mr. Powers has revised the book for this country, so that the piece is absolutely Americanized. Ned Weyburn has staged the production and Melville Ellis has designed the costumes. The scenery is copied from that used at the Gaiety theater, London.

Raymond Hitchcock, who is starring in George H. Cohan's new musical play, "The Man Who Owns Broadway," which comes to the Lyceum on April 9 and 10, says that he will not rebuild his home at Groat Neck, L. I., which was burned to the ground recently, but that on the site of the ruins he will build a summer hotel for members of the profession who are forced to spend their vacation season in New York. Mr. Hitchcock says he has made no definite plans for his project, but that the hotel will accommodate at least 150 guests, and that the rates for room and board will be within the income of all professional people who are unable to spend their vacations at expensive seashore and mountain resorts.

The attraction at the Lyceum on Tuesday, April 11, will be Frederic Thompson's production of Porter Emerson Browne's domestic drama, "The Spendthrift," with a cast of notable players. Those who recall Mr. Thompson's productions of "Polly of the Circus," "Brewster's Millions," "Via Wireless" and Mr. Browne's other great success, "A Fool There Was," will have good reason for anticipating another dramatic treat. The play ran nearly all winter in New York and was voted one of the real Metropolitan successes.

An accident which nearly cost P. O'Malley Jennings his life, and which permitted Edward Wynn to pose in the role of a hero was responsible for the two vaudeville performers joining forces and becoming team mates. They were appearing at the Orpheum this week, and Mr. Wynn tells the tale as follows:

"Last week I was spending a week or two at Atlantic City. One Saturday afternoon I was swimming on the beach, which was crowded. I was out quite a distance and was swimming back toward shore, when I heard a yell for help. Just a few yards in front of me a man was floundering around in the water. I swam over to him, put a hand under his chin and dragged him in where he could reach bottom, which fortunately was only a matter of 50 or 100 feet. He thanked me most profusely and told me I had saved his life. It developed that he could swim but very little. He was swimming parallel to the shore line, and got into a place where the beach sloped more rapidly. He was a foot or two over his head, and when he reached for bottom and couldn't find it, he became terrified, swallowed a lot of water, and was drowning when I got to him. When we got dressed he hunted me up, presented his card, and we found that we were both Orpheum circuit performers. We both happened to be looking for a partner, and within half an hour we had hooked up with each other and were planning our act. This ring that I wear Jennings gave me for saving his life. Incidentally I saved myself a good partner and the best fellow I ever met."

"Mexican War Scenes" feature the new feature film at the Odeum theater for the last half of the week. Another picture that shows the enterprise of the moving picture manufacturers will be "La Font and Paoli's Flight," a picture of a remarkable aeroplane flight. This is an actual picture taken of an aeroplane flight in which these two men lost their lives. "The Spanish Gypsy" is the other film on the bill, and the illustrated song is the ever popular "Under the Yum Yum Tree."

At the Lyric, "Breakers in the Clouds" will be the big scenic film, and "The Sword and the Cross," a highly dramatic film telling a story of the days of early Rome. The comedy numbers will be "Davy Jones and His Wife" and "Her Words Came True." The illustrated song, sung by I. S. Mistachkin, will be, "When I'm Away."

Make this "work hunt" the shortest one you ever made—by starting, quickly, a Herald want ad "campaign."

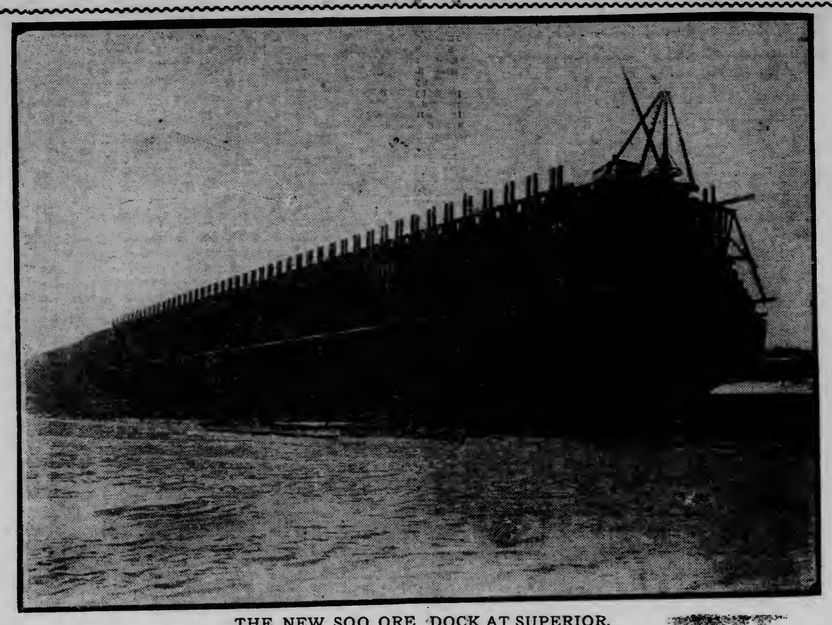
FIRST SHIPMENT OF ORE FROM CUYUNA RANGE NEXT SATURDAY



THE NEW SOO ORE DOCK AT SUPERIOR.

Cuyuna, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—All eyes are centered on Cuyuna, the young but rapidly growing city of the Cuyuna range. Saturday will mark the most interesting day in the history of the Cuyuna range when a train made up of thirty cars of high grade ore will leave the Kennedy mine for the new Soo docks at the Head of the Lakes, the first train load of ore to be shipped from the Cuyuna range mines. The cars are now being loaded at the rate of ten cars a day.

It is generally anticipated to make Saturday a part holiday in this city, and the citizens of Cuyuna will assemble at the Kennedy mine with flags and other decorations to show their respect for the first train taking ore to the market from the new iron country which is said to have such a great future.

It is expected that mining men from Duluth and officials from the various other range towns will be here Saturday to help make the event more memorable.

The Kennedy mine is located less than a mile northeast of Cuyuna. About 200 men are employed and the property is owned by the Rogers-Brown company.

EXTRA NURSE IS NEEDED

One Woman Cannot Attend All Tuberculosis Patients in City.

Effort Will Be Made to Secure Assistant for Mrs. Lee.

A determined effort is being made by the anti-tuberculosis committee to raise the money with which to hire another nurse.

A meeting was held recently at which the need of another nurse was made known, and another meeting will be called within a week at which time it will probably be decided to employ the additional nurse. The manner of raising the money with which to pay her will also be taken up.

It is claimed that Mrs. Florence Lee, the only tuberculosis nurse now employed, has a great deal more than she can do. Dr. Hart, who is in charge of the work, states that she has more work assigned to her and much more ground to cover than four nurses employed in other cities.

The doctor states that at present more than half the work is wasted because it cannot be followed up. A nurse should be at the home the morning after the examination has been held and a visit should be made each week to the house to see that instructions are being followed. Under the present system with only one nurse working, this is impossible and through ignorance and lack of help, many of the cases grow worse instead of better.

There are at present more than fifty clinic cases. This is but a small part of Mrs. Lee's work. She has several times that number of calls to make and the result is that her visits are so few and far between that the patient suffers.

With another nurse, whose sole duty it would be to attend to the clinic cases, the problem of looking after the city's tuberculosis cases would be much simplified. Each case would get individual attention and much more progress would be made, it is claimed.

Dr. Hart states that it is a physical impossibility for Mrs. Lee to do the work alone, and that if the work is to go on and there are to be good results, another nurse is needed.

The committee is composed of B. F. Neff, Dr. E. L. Tuohy, E. A. Silberstein and Charles Rakowski.

CASS COUNTY TO HAVE NO ROAD SUPERVISOR.

Fargo, N. D., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is disappointment for the automobilists and other advocates of good roads on the county road supervisor proposition, as the Cass county commissioners have decided not to name such an official. In the good roads law enacted at the recent session of the legislature there was a provision that county commissioners "may" appoint county supervisors to get uniform methods. The law is not mandatory and the commissioners in many counties are construing the matter as optional.

BOARD TO ACT IN STRIPLING CASE

Pardon Asked for Murderer Who Escaped and Made Good.

Atlanta, Ga., April 6.—The plea for a pardon made by Thomas Edgar Stripling, former police chief at Danville, Va., will be heard by the Georgia prison commission today. By the resultant recommendation the action of Governor Brown in the case is expected to be guided.

Stripling killed W. J. Cornett in Harris county, Ga., fourteen years ago, was sentenced to a prison term and escaped while being taken to his cell. He went to Danville, Va., where he was known as Morris, joined the police force of that city and afterwards became chief.

Many thousand persons in this city and vicinity have petitioned the governor to pardon Stripling on the grounds of his good conduct since escaping.

The relatives of Cornett have indicated that they will contest his release and have engaged attorneys to appear before the prison board. Stripling is in jail in Harris county.

WILL BUILD NEW CHURCH

Members of Bethesda Congregation Subscribe $1,100 at Meeting.

The congregation of the Bethesda Norwegian Lutheran church, Sixth avenue east and Fifth street, decided to erect a handsome new church on the site of the present edifice at an enthusiastic meeting Monday evening in the church parlors.

Over $1,100 was subscribed towards the project in a short time among the members present at the meeting. The members are confident that the necessary funds will have been subscribed in a short time.

Rev. Austad, the present pastor, who has done much towards building up the congregation, volunteered personally to solicit contributions from every member of the church, before donations would be asked from any one on the outside or from the public in general. The congregation has been growing steadily and is on a substantial basis, and it was the universal opinion that a larger and more modern church is needed to continue its successful work.

RAILROADS IN FIGHT FOR MAIL

Missouri Pacific and Santa Fe Systems Clash at Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., April 6.—A fight between several big railroads for the privilege of carrying transcontinental mail centered here today.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe system, which is attempting to increase its transcontinental business during the quadrennial weighing period now on, changed the starting point of its westbound early morning mail train from the Union depot to the Grand Avenue station, three miles away.

As a result, when the Missouri Pacific fast mail from St. Louis reached the accustomed point of transfer, there were no cars into which the westbound mail could be placed. It is now said the Missouri Pacific will rush westbound mail across town in motor cars to the Grand Avenue depot.

The real cause for the Santa Fe's move is said to be the loss of transcontinental mail out of Chicago. Formerly the Pennsylvania lines brought the Eastern mail from New York to Chicago, and thence it was hauled west by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe. Later the Pennsylvania effected an arrangement with the Missouri Pacific to haul the mail from St. Louis to this city and routed the trans-continental mail to St. Louis. This diminished the business of the Santa Fe out of Chicago.

ICE ON THE GREAT LAKES

Last Report on Conditions Is Issued By Weather Bureau.

St. Mary's River Still Solid —Little Ice in Lake Superior.

The reports from the regular and display stations of the weather bureau and the meteorological service of Canada indicate that the ice fields in Lake Superior are confined to the north shore and the east end of the lake.

Whitefish Bay is filled with broken ice. The St. Mary's river continues solid except where the swift current has caused some open spots. The southern portions of Green Bay are clear of ice and only broken fields are reported in the northern portions.

The ice fields in Lake Michigan are confined to the extreme north portion and around the islands. The conditions in the Straits are unchanged since last report; open water between Mackinaw City, St. Ignace, Mackinaw Island; and the north passage clear at last report (2nd inst) though teams are crossing from Bois Blanc island to mainland.

A considerable field of ice about two inches in thickness formed during the last week in Lake Huron and while ordinary steamers have passed through the field, fish tugs out of Alpena were unable to.

In Lake Erie the ice is confined to extreme east end, east of Long Point, and the fields are reported loose and not heavy. The ice in Lake Ontario is confined to the extreme northeast portion where on account of the cold of the last week it seems to have become stronger. Teams are still crossing with heavy loads from Kingston, Ont., to Wolfe Island and Cape Vincent, N. Y.

In comparison with the same period last year there is more ice in all sections where ice is now reported except in the east end of Lake Erie where it is considerably less.

As a week of moderately warm weather will open up the key points now closed by ice, and general navigation will probably be resumed by April 15, this will be the last ice report for the season.

Details of conditions on Lake Superior follows:

Duluth—Lake clear of ice and much open water in both bays.

Grand Marais, Minn.—No ice in the lake and small field of slush ice in the harbor. Navigation open.

Bayfield—Thickness of ice in harbor, 4 to 8 inches. South channel open nearly to docks, and open water surrounds south end of Madeline island.

Ashland—Open water around the docks, and some open water along shore and at head of bay. Freezing weather last few nights.

Port Arthur, Ont.—Thickness of ice in a portion of the harbor, 15 inches. The harbor is now (1st) blockaded by a field of ice six by four miles in extent. A westerly wind would clear the bay. All rivers still solid.

Portage L. S. S.—Canal clear from Lily Pond to lighthouse. No ice in sight outside.

Eagle Harbor—Harbor full of heavy drift ice; none in sight outside.

Houghton—Ice unsafe to measure; much open water. Portage lake still solid.

Pequaming—Harbor and Keweenaw bay north of Lighthouse Point clear of ice; south of the point the bay is filled with broken ice.

Marquette—Some loose cake ice in the harbor and in the lake to eastward. Navigation opened March 30.

Munising—Thickness of ice in harbor, 12 inches. The cold of the last few days has increased the thickness. Conditions about same as last week. Open water outside Grand island.

Grand Marais, Mich.—Harbor ice broken and soft. No ice visible to westward of this port. A field of soft slush ice extends out about four miles to eastward of this port, and same condition extends to Deer Park.

Whitefish Point—Whitefish bay is and has been completely filled with field ice since March 28. Above the point the ice field extends about twenty-five miles out, with no open spots. Continued northerly winds and freezing weather keep the ice firm.

Sault Ste. Marie—Thickness of ice in harbor, 22 inches. Conditions practically unchanged.

TUGMEN HAVE WAGES RAISED

Local Union Members Receive Official Notice of Increase.

It was announced at the meeting of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association last night that the men had entered into a contract with the Great Lakes Dredging association for two years with a raise in wages of $5 a month over 1910. The agreement calls for a raise of $7.50 a month in 1912 over the wages of 1910.

The meeting of the Licensed Tugmen's association was held at Rowley's hall, and was the first regular meeting of the season. Martin Cole was elected business agent for the coming year.

Mr. Cole was also elected delegate to represent Local No. 1 of Duth at the State Federation of Labor convention which takes place at Mankato, Minn. Mr. Cole will represent the local organization at the Longshoremen's convention at Toledo, Ohio, in August.

Capt. Cole is the first grand vice president of the Licensed Tugmen of America and is second vice president of the International Longshoremen's association.

GREEN BAY NOW BEING NAVIGATED.

Menominee, Mich., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Navigation is now open on Green Bay and the lumber carriers may be expected to get into commission at once. The mills of the twin cities have been busy all winter and there is a large stock of lumber on hand, as the cut has been heavy and the shipments by rail large.

To Launch New Steamer.

The steamer I. Watson Stephenson, which has been practically rebuilt by its new owners, the I. Stephenson company of Marinette, will be launched next week at Sturgeon Bay. Capt. Strahn expects that the boat will be ready to go into commission between April 10 and 15. The first load will be taken on at Wells, Mich., for delivery at Tonawanda, N. Y.

CHARTERS ARE SCARCE

Few Shipping Contracts Signed for Opening of Navigation Season.

Grain Carriers Will Go in Commission Soon After Opening.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 6.—Navigation on the lakes will open officially in two weeks, as hull insurance will go into effect at midnight, April 15. The start will be very slow, and the few vessels that have cargoes for early delivery will not be sent out until it is certain that the channels are free from ice.

There has been less business lined up for the opening than there has been since 1908, and only a few small carriers were placed in commission before May that year. Most of the vessels of the outside fleets were held in port until late in June.

Grain Carriers Start Early.

The boats that have been chartered for grain were placed with the understanding that they would sail within ten days after the opening. That means that the grain carriers will be placed in commission soon after the opening at the Soo and the straits. Chartering in the grain trade, however, has not been heavy. Seven or eight vessels are under charter to load at Duluth, and the Canadian head of the lakes for Buffalo, and the shippers at Chicago have lined up capacity to take about 2,000,000 bushels of grain.

A number of vessels have been placed for coal, but in most cases the charters were made with the understanding that they could hold the cargoes until July. Some of the cargoes that are afloat at this end of the route, however, will be delivered shortly after the opening.

The hard coal shippers at Buffalo have tied up some tonnage and have covered about 800,000 tons by lake freight contracts. Capacity to move 100,000 tons was chartered during the past week on the basis of 25 cents to Milwaukee, which is the same rate paid last season. The Cleveland shippers have not made any freight contracts; and rates have not been fixed for the vessels that have been chartered for the first trip.

A few trades have been made in the ore trade, but prices for 1911 delivery have not been fixed and the question of freight rates has not been taken up. The Reiss Coal company has traded 150,000 tons of coal for the same amount of ore with W. P. Snyder of Pittsburg. This deal was closed some time ago and the boats will get the season rates.

Coal Shippers Hold Off.

The leading coal shippers say that they will probably not make season contracts with the vessel men until something along that line is done in the ore trade. The indications are that boats will be in commission before the carrying charges on ore are fixed.

The lumber freight market is quiet and the demand for tonnage in that trade is light. No season contracts have been reported, but aside from a few trips at the start little business has been done. Boats for the first trip have been placed at $2.50 from ports at the Head of the Lakes to Lake Erie. The movement will be light during the early part of the season.

EASTON MET FLOATING ICE

Booth Line Steamer Has Eventful Trip for a Season Opener.

The Booth line steamer Easton returned to her Lake avenue dock yesterday afternoon after making her first trip of the season to Port Arthur and points at Isle Royale.

Between Grand Marais and Port Arthur the little steamer encountered so much ice that it was difficult for her to make her way through it.

At Port Arthur a tug was sent out to meet the Easton. The tug was forced to do some ice breaking before the steamer could make the harbor.

On the return trip the Easton stopped at Washington Harbor, Isle Royale. From Grand Marais to Duluth no ice was encountered. The boat laid over in Grand Marais Tuesday night, during the snow storm.

The Duluth boat took fifteen fishermen to Washington harbor. From that place they will make their way to their fishing camps. Several people were left at Washington harbor who will begin the work of getting the Washington club and the hotel in readiness for the season.

About 100 men who work in the woods were brought to Duluth. They have been employed at north shore camps all winter. About twenty horses were also brought down.

The Easton will leave again this afternoon for Grand Marais, Port Arthur, other north shore points and Isle Royale.

MAROONED IN ICE FIELD.

Marquette, Mich., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The crew of the Anderson fish tug Columbia had an experience Tuesday that they do not care soon to repeat. The tug steamed out of the harbor early Tuesday morning to lift the nets set four or five days ago. When only a few miles out, however, the boat encountered floating ice, which was being rapidly blown in with the east wind, the locality where the nets were set a few days before, being completely covered and impossible of access.

When the crew found it impossible to reach the nets, they started home and then their troubles began. The tug was marooned in a field of ice and in a short time ice floes got under the boat, fairly lifting her out of the water.

The crew finally got the boat back into harbor after a nerve-racking struggle with the ice pack.

Fire Chief Saves Life.

Menominee, Mich., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—During the course of a fire at the Nelson bakery, Mrs. L. Westerdahl, who is over 70 years old, became confused and unable to leave the building. She was promptly and heroically rescued by Chief Collins of the fire department.

INCREASE IN TRAFFIC

Freight Movement Through Soo Canals Heavier Than in 1909.

Two New Records Are Established at the Canadian Lock.

Total freight traffic passing through the American and Canadian canals at Sault Ste. Marie in the season of 1910 was 62,363,218 short tons, according to the annual statistical report of lake commerce at the canals, compiled under the direction of Col. C. McD. Townsend, engineer corps U. S. A., in charge of Detroit district.

In comparison with 1909, the total for last season shows an increase of 4,468,069 tons, or 8 per cent, and the net registered tonnage of 49,856,123, is an increase of 3,104,406 tons, or 7 per cent.

Passages Increase 1,695.

The total number of passengers carried through the canals was 66,933, an increase of 6,985. Passages were 20,839, an increase of 1,695, or 9 per cent. Lockages were 14,569, a gain of 998, or 7 per cent.

The season of navigation continued eight months and four days, the average monthly freight traffic being 7,667,609 short tons and 6,129,851 tons net register.

Traffic through the American canal, shown by records kept unifer supervision of L. C. Sabin, general superintendent, was 25,927,661 tons, or 42 per cent of the total freight, 26,506,986 tons register, or 53 per cent of total net registered tonnage and 33,536 persons, or 50 per cent of all passengers.

The season for the American canal extended over 224 days, from May 5 to becember 14. The Canadian canal opened April 12 and closed December 15, its season covering 248 days.

Freight carried through the canals represents an estimated value of $654,010,814, and the cost of its transportation aggregated $35,710,904. The average distance of freight transportation was 840 miles and the average cost a ton 62 cents. The average cost a ton for each mile was .74 mills.

Canadian Locks Breaks Records.

Passages through the Witzel lock averaged 25 daily, through Poe lock 38 and through the Canadian lock 32. The Canadian lock set two new records: In number of lockages, June 8, when 39 were made, passing through 39 vessels, with an aggregate registered tonnage of 143,526 and freight tonnage of 253,347, and in maximum freight movement in one day, on July 28, when 30 lockages passed 35 vessels with a registered tonnage of 139,130 and aggregate freight tonnage of 260,339 tons.

Statistical report of lake commerce on Detroit river shows the passage of 33,638 vessels with an aggregate registered tonnage of 38,821,282 and a freight tonnage aggregating 73,526,602, as compared with 1909 when passages were 32,296, registered tonnage, 34,668,846 and freight tonnage 67,739,369 tons.

The average registered tonnage of vessels using the river route was 1,758, an increase of fifty tons over the preceding year. Estimated value of the freight they carried was $771,294,055, as against $732,803,079 in 1909.

LIBERAL TERMS ARE OFFERED

Coal Shippers Are Anxious to Get the Season Under Way.

According to the general belief among vesselmen, both at this end of the lakes and at the lower lake ports, some of the most liberal coal contracts in years will be offered vessel owners the present season, simply because at the present time shippers who have a large amount of coal tonnage under contract to move have found it next to impossible to sign up boats.

It is said that there is no talk of contracts at the present time. Vesselmen, that is the independent owners, have not the least desire to talk freight contracts until they see how the freight season is going to get away. At the present time there is not the least indication of a heavy ore movement from the Head of the Lakes, with the result that the big shippers of coal are offering liberal contracts with the object of getting the vessel men to agree to start the coal movement.

Though there are a number of vessels loading at some of the Ohio ports, it is generally agreed that there will be no big movement before June.

FINDS LODGER GOING THROUGH HIS TROUSERS.

Andrew Maki was brought to the police station about 1 o'clock this morning on suspicion of having tried to rifle the pockets of Carl Sampson, a roomer at the Bethel on Lake avenue south.

It is claimed that Sampson awoke to see the man going through his trousers. In trying to get away, Maki bumped against a post or door, reopening a wound in his ear which had been dressed at the police station about two weeks ago. When found by the policeman he was sitting on the floor nursing his ear, which was bleeding profusely. It was dressed by Police Surgeon Murphy. It is thought that the ear will have to be amputated as it was in bad shape, not having received attention since it was first dressed.

In police court this morning he drew thirty days in jail.

Bad Street Sign System.

The system of street signs in use in most of the large cities of the United States, makes the finding of localities very difficult for strangers. They have a way of sending people in the wrong direction, which modern methods are trying to do away with by improvements. The wrong direction taken in the search for the best table beer, will be avoided if you will order a case of golden grain belt beers, always the same, costly to make but costing you no more than others. If your dealer cannot supply you, order of duluth branch minneapolis brewing company.

MINNESOTA CONFERENCE MAY BE DIVIDED.

Moorhead, Minn., April 6.—Rev. E. M. Erickson of Home City, Minn., was elected chairman of the Swedish Lutheran conference called here to consider division of the Minnesota conference. About 100 delegates are in attendance. The convention organized yesterday. The opinion prevails that division will be favored by a large majority.

It may be hard to find a good servant by advertising—but it's harder if you try some other way!

CATARRH OF THE KIDNEYS NOT ALWAYS RECOGNIZED.

A Cold Settled in Kidneys, Causing Serious Trouble. Pe-ru-na Restores Health.

CATARRH of the kidneys is a very much neglected disease.

It is not until the disease has a firm hold upon the kidneys that the patient begins to realize that there is some derangement of these organs.

The slight backaches, the feelings of lassitude, and other warning symptoms of kidney disease are overlooked.

They are not serious enough to detain the patient from his regular work.

Even when he discovers that the kidneys are affected, he does not recognize the difficulty as being caused by catarrh.

Catarrh is sometimes so very gradual in its approach and its early symptoms cause such slight discomfort that it is not noticed.

However, when it is once firmly seated in the kidneys it becomes a difficult disease to exterminate.

Indeed, catarrh of the kidneys is more serious than catarrh affecting some of the other organs of the body.

In the kidneys it is liable to terminate in Bright's Disease or diabetes, both of which are recognized as very serious ailments, if not fatal.

The thing to be done, when a cold or catarrh of the kidneys is discovered, is to take some internal, systemic catarrh remedy, one that relieves the catarrhal disturbances and thus removes the cause of the difficulty.

Such a remedy has been found in Peruna. It relieves catarrh, no matter where it may be located in the body—whether in the more exposed membrances of the nose and throat, or whether in the remotest part of the kidneys.

PE-RU-NA FOR KIDNEY DISEASE

That Peruna is at once the safest and most reliable remedy for catarrh of the kidneys is proven by the many testimonials written by those who have experienced its benefits.

The testimonials given here are only specimens of the many testimonials on our records, pertaining to the relief afforded by Peruna in severe cases of kidney trouble.

Catarrh of Kidneys.

Judge C. J. Park, R. F. D. 4, Greensboro, Greene Co., Ga., writes: "For a long time I was troubled with catarrh of the kidneys, and after taking Peruna I feel like a new man. I think it the greatest catarrh medicine of the age, and believe it will cure any case of catarrh on record."

MR. JOHN N. WATKINS.

Mr. John N. Watkins, 3431 A Crittenden St., St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"Among all the greatly advertised medicines for kidney and bladder trouble there is nothing which equals Peruna. I suffered for several years with this trouble, spent hundreds of dollars on doctors and medicine and all to no purpose, until I took Peruna.

"One bottle did me more good than all the others put together, as they only poisoned my system. Peruna cured me. I used it for four months before a complete cure was accomplished, but am truly grateful to you. The least I can do in return is to acknowledge the merits of Peruna."

Kidney Trouble, Weak Back.

Mr. M. Broderick, 706 East 46th St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I have been suffering from a weak back and kidney trouble for some time and have been able to find relief only through the use of Peruna. During the winter season I usually keep a bottle of your medicine in the house, and by taking a dose at night I am feeling fine the next morning.

"Some of my friends assure me that Peruna is equally as good for their various ailments, but I do know that for kidney trouble and suffering from a weak back it has no equal."

GOOD NEWS ABOUT THE BAKE OVEN!

BY CLARENCE EDWARD SKINNER, M. D., LL. D.

WHO IS THIS AUTHORITY?

Physician in Charge of the Newhope Private Sanitarium, New Haven, Conn.; Editor of the Archives of Physiological Therapy; Formerly Professor of Thermotherapy at the New York School of Physical Therapeutics; Member of the American Medical Association, American Electro-Therapeutic Association, American Roentgen Ray Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Yale Medical Alumni Association, Connecticut Medical Association, New Haven County Medical Society; Associate Fellow, N. Y. Academy of Medicine; Foreign Member Societe Francaise of d'Electra Therapy et de Radiologie, etc.

DECLARES BAKE OVEN IS GOOD IN CASES OF HEART TROUBLE

Only Therapeutical Measure That Offers Reasonable Hope for Recovery in Cases of Heart Failure.

Heart Failure. This symptom is sufficiently important to merit brief special mention in this connecton. It is due either to massive exudate or systematic toxaemia, or a combination of both. Massive exudate will usually yield to the influence of the local treatments with sufficient readiness to save the patient, but these applications are not effective in relieving the symptom when due to systematic toxaemia. The body treatment only is efficient here, and in view of the fact that the patients almost always die under all methods of treatment when reduced to this extremity, it is justifiable to move them in an ambulance from their homes to a hospital if they cannot be gotten to a body Bake Oven in any other way. As the treatment would be applied immediately, the evil result of any ordinary exposure sustained during the journey would be remedied at once, and the patient would thereby get the benefit of almost the only therapeutical measure that offers him a reasonable hope of recovery.

The other forms of physical therapeutics never enter the problem of the treatment of this disease when dry hot air in a Bake Oven is obtainable.

Bake Oven Best Way to Apply Heat.

It is a fact that nothing like the same degree of Heat intensity can be applied to the skin through the medium of water or steam, as through the medium of Air applied in a Bake Oven, because the Structural integrity of this tissue is seriously endangered, when the temperature of a wet application approaches 170 degrees Fahrenheit and the result of contact at 212 degrees Fahrenheit needs only to be mentioned to be appreciated.

Air can safely be applied to the skin at 400 degrees Fahrenheit by the use of a Bake Oven and even more, and its characteristic and most desirable effects are not produced at a temperature lower than 300 degress Fahrenheit.

The above article was taken from the enlarged and thoroughly Revised Edition, Copyright 1905, by the Editor, CLARENCE EDWARD SKINNER, M.D., LL.D.

The above mentioned Bake Ovens are the exact kind that are used by Specialists Loughney in their large and commodious treating rooms in the Christie building, Fourth avenue west between First and Second streets. They are having wonderful success in the treatment of Rheumatism, Lumbago, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Cold, La Grippe, Asthma, Stomach, Liver, Bowel and Kidney troubles, and all other conditions caused through lack of function. The Beauty of Firm Flesh

Lies in the Power of Rich Blood To Keep It Ever Clear and Clean.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers Free.

The secret of firm, strong, supple flesh is—good, rich, constant flowing, blood. When hollow cheeks appear and hidden pigments make the eyes look like burnt holes in a blanket, the blood is sick and out of tune.

The effect of impure and pure blood is seen at once on the face.

Impurities fill it with poisons, the flesh harbors these poisons, and the lungs cannot eliminate them as they should.

It needs a purifier. Stuart's Calcium Wafers give to the blood through the same channels as food all the strength and stimulus necessary to remove the impurities and to make rich corpuscles which will feed the body or fight its enemies.

Time was when poor blood purifiers had to be used, such as herbs and roots, powdered minerals, etc., but thanks to latter day achievement the Stuart process gives to the system the full rich strength of Calcium Sulphide, the greatest blood purifier known to science.

These little powerful wafers are prepared by one of the most noted expert pharmaceutical chemists in the world and so far as science is concerned no expense has been spared to make them perfect.

The contain Quassia, Golden Seal and Eucalyptus, each a most powerful aid to the blood of man.

Thousands of people use these wafers with religious zeal, and their testimonial evidence is an unfailing source of interest to one who reads it.

Melancholy marks every suffering woman, yet one should be armed with this knowledge and make up one's mind to try Stuart's Calcium Wafers at once. Every druggist carries them. Price 50c, or send us your name and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

"Further snow or rain fell over Northern, Western and Eastern districts during the last twenty-four hours as a result of barometric depressions central over Missouri, Western Ontario and Alberta. Somewhat colder weather prevails this morning in Minnesota, Manitoba, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Eastern Tennessee in connection with higher barometric pressures while throughout the extreme Northwest and Sounthwest rising temperatures attend lower pressure. At the Head of the Lakes the weather will become unsettled and somewhat warmer during Friday."

WOMAN FATALLY BURNS.

She Moved to Minnesota Two Weeks Ago From Iowa.

Amboy, Minn., April 6.—Mrs. C. J. Riley, who, with her family, moved from Iowa two weeks ago and took up her home on a farm five miles west of this village, was burned to death yesterday through an explosion of gas in the cellar. She went into the cellar to get some potatoes for breakfast, and is believed to have lighted a match, when an explosion of gas that had leaked from the gas plant occurred. Her clothing took fire, and before assistance arrived she was dead. Her husband, who was doing the chores, ran in and dragged her body out, and then, with the assistance of the children and the neighbors, saved the house. He was painfully burned.

LYNCHING THREAT PREYING ON MIND

Early-Day Experience of Old Grand Forks County Resident Unbalances Him.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry McCabe, one of the earliest settlers in Grand Forks county, has been lodged in the county jail again on an insanity charge after being discharged a few days ago by the county board of insanity after an examination. The man is under the hallucination that he has purchased the city, the jail and all the land passed on the trip from Ojata, where the sheriff took him in charge to this city.

Deputy Register of Deeds Henry Hancock believes that McCabe's condition is the result of fright he suffered here in the early days, when working with a gang of carpenters he became involved in a fight with one of the workmen. The workman was knocked down and it was claimed that McCabe kicked him in the neck, nearly causing death. Feeling was aroused and McCabe was bound to a post and the gang ready to lynch him when Mr. Hancock happened along in time to save his life. He will be given another hearing before the insanity board.

DEERWOOD'S MAYOR DIES.

Pneumonia Claims Emil P. Carlson, Well-Known Citizen.

Cuyuna, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Emil P. Carlson died at his home at Deerwood at 6:30 o'clock last night. Death was caused by pneumonia. He had been ill fifteen days. Carlson was one of Deerwood's most enterprising business men, having been engaged in business for several years and owned and operated large mercantile establishments. He was elected mayor of Deerwood last March. Mr. Carlson was born in Sweden and came to this country when but a young man. He had been a resident of Deerwood ten years. He was 45, single and had no relatives in this country except Gust Franzsom, a nephew, in Minneapolis. The funeral will take place Friday at 2 o'clock from the Oberg home and promises to be largely attended.

DIVERSIFIED FARMING.

It Proves Profitable With Driscoll, N. D., Farmer.

Bismarck, N. D., April 6.—The benefits of diversified farming are illustrated in the case of O. M. Nelson, living near Driscoll, N. D. Mr. Nelson has been in the county for about six years, coming here to file upon a homestead.

Shortly after Mr. Nelson established his residence upon his claim he planted a large number of trees, cottonwoods, box elder and ash. These are growing very nicely, and he expects to have quite a grove when they have attained their full growth. Last year being a dry season they did not grow so much, but this year they should gain considerable. They were winter killed in 1907 and had to grow from the root again, but on the average they are between ten and twelve feet high.

Mr. Nelson has been using diversified methods on his farm, and finds that that manner of farming is the best paying proposition. He raises grain and stock. He has ten cows and markets his cream at the creamery at Driscoll. He thinks that all the farmers of the state will sooner or later make use of diversified farming methods—grow more corn, raise more cattle and hogs, and not trust to one single crop of small grain.

BIG LINER IS ASHORE

expected the liner would be floated on the high tide today between 12 and 1 o'clock.

The Fire Island life savers report that the Prinzess Irene is lying easy on the sand pit with a slight list to port. There is no apprehension among her passengers.

Over 1,700 Passengers on Board.

On board the Prinzess Irene are 235 cabin passengers and 1,485 in the steerage, all from Naples, Genoa, Palermo and Gibraltar. The North German Lloyd line offices in this city said they would not know the identity of any of the passengers until the ship reached Quarantine.

By a wireless message, Capt. Von Letten-Peterssen assured the company here that the vessel was not in a dangerous position and that he expected she would float herself at high tide. He said that he had passed Fire Island and when a heavy fog set in. The navigating officers believed he was standing several miles off the Long Island shore and heading for Sandy Hook when the Irene pushed herself slowly but securely upon the sandy reef off the Lone Hill lifesaving station.

The ship immediately sounded distress signals and soon the lifesaving crews from three stations were alongside the Irene. Their services, other than to tell the captain of his location, were not needed.

No Excitement on Board.

It was said that few of the passengers knew that the Prinzess Irene was aground until they rose for breakfast. There was no excitement on board.

Two wrecking tugs from Tompkinsville, Staten Island, and the government derelict destroyer Seneca were dispatched to Lone Hill bar as soon as Capt. Petersen's first wireless was received. Capt. Frederick von Letten-Peterssen and the Prinzess Irene distinguished themselves about two years ago by furnishing spectacular and ready relief to the Cunard liner Slavonia when the latter went on the rocks off the coast of the Azores. The Irene picked up the Slavonia's wireless calls for help and in three hours was alongside and taking off the Slavonia's 300 or more imperilled passengers.

The Prinzess Irene is of 11,000 tons net, 9,000-horse power, 525 feet long, 60 beam and 38 feet depth.

A late message from the Irene said that the fog had lifted and that the weather was clearing.

NEW JERSEY DEMOCRATS

Listen to Speeches By W. J Bryan and Governor Woodrow Wilson.

Governor Says State Is Now Awake to Necessary Reconstruction.

Burlington, N. J., April 6.—The auditorium was packed last night for the celebration by the Democratic Club of Burlington county of the birthday of Thomas Jefferson.

Col. William J. Bryan, Governor Wilson, United States Senator James E. Martine, and Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., were among the speakers. Speaker Champ Clark was unable to be present. The meeting was preceded by a dinner and a reception.

Col. Bryan was the first speaker and received an ovation. His subject was "Watchman, What of the Night?"

He said that this country led the world in progress and that the Democratic party led the country. There is more study of public questions now and people look at things from a higher standard. Fifteen years ago, the wealth of the world was being transferred from the wealth-producers to the money-changers. Today the situation is different. Debts contracted fifteen years ago now are being paid by dollars worth only two-thirds of what they were worth when the debts were contracted. There is no talk of repudiation and the people are gradually being released from the clutch of the money-changers.

As indicating the progress made during the last fifteen years, Col. Bryan mentioned the movement for the popular election of United States senators and predicted that before the special session adjourned congress would adopt an amendment of this kind. He also looked for the ratification of the income tax amendment.

Col. Bryan paid a tribute to Governor Wilson and said that his courageous fight and victory last fall meant that New Jersey had joined the great movement for progress.

Wilson for President.

James E. Martine, the new United States senator from New Jersey, during a brief address, evoked great applause when he said, slightly turning toward Governor Wilson: "I will come back here next year, if spared, to plead the cause and candidacy of a fellow Jerseyman for the presidency of the United States."

Governor Wilson was given a hearty reception when he arose to speak. Governor Wilson said in response to the toast, "The State of New Jersey," that it was against the theory of government by "superior people" that the "great reaction" had set in.

New Jersey had waked up to this, he said—"waked up to the reconstruction necessary to revive and reconstitute our democracy and put our institutions once more on the footing of their original conception and inspiration.

"The country had supposed New Jersey devoted to "the service of interests, of big business, irrespective of the "interests of humanity," he continued, "and it was taken for granted that she was too completely controlled by the great combinations of capital to follow the impulse of her people, even if they should feel the impulse of the charge which is now everywhere else abroad. But the country had been mistaken."

Governor Wilson sought to define the "interests" and declared that although the system was an evil one, honorable men were behind it. "We wish to show such men that they are mistaken, not to treat them as public enemies," he said.

Interests Would Control.

The tariff he characterized as "the chief ambush of special privilege," and declared that the interests sought to control legislation "partly because of a fundamental distrust of popular government."

He brought to mind the persistent rumors current some time ago that there was danger of establishing a monarchy in this country. However foolish the idea was, it was hailed by some, he said, with unconcealed satisfaction.

"There are men of large affairs who said without reserve," he declared, "that they thought we would be better off in such circumstances. They hold a theory of irresponsible government, of government for the people and not government by the people; the theory of those who would protect the people against themselves; patronize them; act for them; constitute themselves governors in their interests, but without their cooperation and consent.

"Under the demoralizing influence of such policies as are embodied in the high protective tariff, this has become, in fact, the theory of the Republican party. The 'superior' people, the people of large business and of large experience, must, in their view, determine and be sponsor for the policy of the country.

"It is against this theory that the great reaction has set in. The first victories for the people have been won; victory after victory will follow these first successes, until we have again carried our institutions back to their first inspiration and founded them once more upon absolute confidence in the people as their own masters and arbiters."

HEAD OF LIPPINCOTT PUBLISHING COMPANY DIES MYSTERIOUSLY

the telephone and said that there had been a suicide at 218 West Rittenhouse Square and asking that a deputy be sent. McKeever was sent and remained in the house some time. Then he learned that Dr. James C. Willson had been called to the house before the coroner had been notified and it is understood that it was he who had notified the coroner's office of the suicide in the house. No information could be obtained from the house and the first report to reach the coroner's office as to the identity of the dead person was that it was a maid servant and the early editions of the afternoon papers printed a story to this effect.

When Deputy McKeever left the house he said he was not prepared to make an absolute report on the case but he felt it was one of suicide. McKeever further stated that he had been given a sworn statement by Jay B. Lippincott, a son, in which he gave it as his opinion that his father had died accidentally.

Found Lying On Floor.

Oscar Stewart, the valet, McKeever said, found Mr. Lippincott when he went to shave him at 8 o'clock. He was lying half dressed on the flor. There was a bullet wound in his right temple and near him lay a revolver.

All the members of the Lippincott family in the city were immediately notified of the death of the head of the family, but efforts to obtain positive statements as to the manner of his death were not successful. Dr. Striker Coles, a distant relative, said he understood that Mr. Lippincott was found dead in bed. "Death was caused, I was informed, by a revolver wound. I saw Mr. Lippincott only a few days ago, and he seemed to be in good spirits."

Mr. Lippincott's death caused a sensation in financial and social circles, and the circumstances under which he was found dead had greatly shocked his relatives and friends.

In 1866 Mr. Lippincott entered the publishing house of J. B. Lippincott & Co., which has been the J. B. Lippincott company since 1855. In 1871 he married Miss Sallie E. Bucknell of this city. In 1886 Mr. Lippincott succeeded his father as president of the publishing company. He was a member of the society of the Mayflower descendants and of the Art Union League, Rittenhouse and Racquet clubs of this city. Besides his interests in the publishing house he was a director of the Farmers' & Mechanics' National bank and a director in the Pennsylvania company for insurance on lives and granting annuities. Mr. Lippincott is survived by his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Samuel K. Reeves; a son, Jay B. Lippincott, and a brother, J. Bertram Lippincott.

ROBBED OF $105,000, AGED WIDOW GRANTS THIEF FORGIVENESS

were taken from the safety deposit vault and were negotiated through brokers in Kansas City. It was the custom of the person who took the securities to send them by a negro messenger to the brokers with a note asking that they be sold. The brokers who sold the securities believed the money was being used by Mrs. Armour for charities and that she possibly was hiding her generosity in that way.

Will Be No Prosecution.

The thief, who is close to Mrs. Armour, has confessed and been forgiven. No prosecution will follow, partly on account of Mrs. Armour sympathizing with the guilty person, and also because of the advanced age of Mrs. Armour. She is 76 years old. Many of the stocks and bonds were sold. It is not known as yet what Mrs. Armour's actual loss will be.

Perhaps the most remarkable feature of the theft is that every bond was taken while Mrs. Armour was in the room where the bonds were kept in a safety deposit vault. Yet she never suspected she was being robbed until the entire $105,000 worth of securities had been taken.

At one time, the thief confessed $55,000 worth of bonds were taken. The next haul was for $25,000. The remaining $25,000 worth of certificates were taken at different times.

The person who took the securities purchased in New York two blooded dogs for $2,000. They have been ordered shipped here, but have not arrived.

Mrs. Armour resides at 4220 Warwick boulevard with her secretary and companion, Miss Harriet B. Yington.

Large numbers of refugees are arriving here from Arizpe, which is about fifty miles south.

Traitor Executed.

Presidio, Tex., April 6.—Antonio Carrasco, insurgent and bandit, was executed yesterday in the camp of Gen. Jose De La Cruz Sanchez of the insurrecto army, by order of Francisco I. Madero. Carrasco, who has been a bandit leader for years, outlawed by both the Mexican and American governments, was found guilty of treason by a court-martial.

At the beginning of the rebellion Carrasco recruited his band until he commanded nearly 100 men. He was finally admitted into the insurgent army, and when the siege of Ojinaja began, he was given an important point on the line with orders to advance and cut the line of communication at the American side of the Rio Grande on the west side of the town. He failed to do this and letters were intercepted to Gen. Luque commanding the federal garrison, which were taken as conclusive evidence that Carrasco had warned the officer of his danger.

The condemned man was shot by a firing squad of five men. He faced them with his hands tied and a cigarette in his lips. As the command to fire was given, he asked the firing party to aim at his heart. His breast was riddled by bullets.

assertions made before the senate investigating committee by Clarence S. Funk, was made last night by Edward S. Hines, president of the Edward Hines Lumber company.

"When I was at the Union league at lunch shortly after Mr. Lorimer was elected senator," Mr. Hines said, "Mr. Funk came to me and asked me if I would introduce him to Senator Lorimer, saying he had never met the senator and would like to do so. I told Mr. Funk I would introduce him to Senator Lorimer whenever he desired to have me do so.

"Afterward I told Senator Lorimer that Mr. Funk desired to meet him, and Senator Lorimer informed me that Mr. Funk was one of his active enemies. I never talked with Mr. Funk about Senator Lorimer at any other time or place.

"I did not then, or any other time, ask Mr. Funk, or any one else, to contribute anything to Senator Lorimer's election, or on account of his election. I never knew that any one ever did contribute anything for or on account of his election. If Mr. Funk testified to anything to the contrary, it is untrue."

Funk Statement Confirmed.

Chicago, April 6.—Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, confirmed Mr. Funk's statement that the Hines incident had been discussed by the officers of the International Harvester company. Mr. McCormick said:

"It is true that Mr. Funk told me soon after it occurred of the call made upon him and the request for a contribution, which he promptly had declined. He told me this as a matter of information, knowing full well that such a proposal would not, under any circumstances, be considered by our company."

HEAD WAS SCALY HAIR ALL CAME OUT

And Baby's Face Broke Out in Red Bumps. Spread on Hands and Arms. Got Worse All the Time.

Mother Says, "I Don't Think Anything Else Would Have Cured Him Except Cuticura."

"When my first baby was six months old he broke out on his head with little bumps. They would dry up and leave a scale. Then it would break out again and it spread all over his head. All the hair came out and his head was scaly all over. Then his face broke out all over in red bumps and it kept spreading until it was on his hands and arms. I bought several boxes of ointment, gave him blood medicine, and had two doctors to treat him, but he got worse all the time. He had it about six months when a friend told me about Cuticura. I sent and got a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. In three days after using them he began to improve. He began to take long naps and to stop scratching his head. After taking two bottles of Resolvent, two boxes of Ointment and three cakes of Soap he was sound and well, and never had any breaking out of any kind. His hair came out in little curls all over his head. I don't think anything else would have cured him except Cuticura.

"I have bought Cuticura Ointment and Soap several times since to use for cuts and sores and have never known them to fail to cure what I put them on. Cuticura Soap is the best that I have ever used for toilet purposes." (Signed) Mrs. F. E. Harmon, R. F. D. 2, Atoka, Tenn., Sept. 10, 1910.

others have been working upon, was introduced this morning and referred to the reapportionment committee. It was plain this morning, however, that there is little chance of its passage. Twenty-nine senators who voted against the Congdon bill met last night and, though those present denied that a vote was taken, it was made evident that those who attended are against any reapportionment bill. Senator Rockne, who has been working in good faith for a reapportionment measure, is about the only one of those who have been affecting interest in the matter who is expected to vote for the bill.

The bill disfranchising the people in large cities and restricting their representation in the senate did not pass without a long debate, which at times became heated.

Leaders of the opposition to the proposal were Senators Boyle of Eveleth, Dwinnell of Minneapolis, and Sageng of Ottertail county.

The authors of the bill made the arguments in its favor. First they offered an amendment, extending the limit from four senators to six, which was adopted. Then they argued for the bill, largely on the ground that it is dangerous to give the cities power and that the organization of the United States senate furnishes a valid precedent.

Senator Dwinnell made an elaborate argument, showing that the cities always have been fair to the country.

Senator Boyle made a ringing speech against the bill. He said in part:

"The time is coming when the full power of government will rest in the hands of the people. If we establish the precedent of injustice here, what can be expected of them? Don't be blinded by the precedents that have been quoted. You can find precedents for anything. You can find precedents for witch-burning. You can find precedents for any contemptible thing. The world has progressed by brushing bad precedents aside. If it is right that the people in the large cities shouldn't have equal power in the legislature, then it is wrong that there should be such a thing as the initiative, or the referendum or the recall. If the people are unfit to govern through the legislature, they are unfit to govern directly through primary elections and direct legislation. The principle of government in the principle of this bill, then all of us who have in our minds the modern political thought are wrong."

Senator Sageng, Populist, said that at first he was inclined to support some such bill, but the nearer he got to voting on it the more it conflicts with his conception of Republican institutions and the essential principles of Democracy.

"This is a government of people and it makes no difference whether they live on the farms or in the humble homes of the laborers of the city. No man in this senate can rise to his feet and declare that this proposal is in harmony with the Declaration of Independence," Senator Sageng said, and only the voice of Senator Haycraft denied his challenge.

No city members voted for the bill and but four Northern Minnesota senators gave countenance to its iniquity. These were Senators Ahmann, Johnson, Marden and J. D. Sullivan.

The vote was as follows:

For—Ahmann, Anderson, Bedford, Benson, Cashman, Clague, Coller, C. F. Cook, L. O. Cooke, Dale, Donaldson, Duxbury, Froshaug, Glotzbach, Haycraft, Johnston, Klein, Lende, McGrath, Marden, Moonan, Murray, Nelson, Odell, Olson, Peterson, Poehler, Putnam, Rockne, Schaller, Stebbins, J. D. Sullivan, Thoe, Weis and Works.

Against—Boyle, Cheadle, Denegre, Dunn, Dwinnell, Elwell, Fosseen, Gunderson, Gunn, Hackney, Hanson, C. D. Johnson, V. L. Johnson, L'Herrault, Pauly, Pugh, Sageng, Saugstad, G. H. Sullivan, Sundberg, Swanson, Van Hoven, Wallace and Wilson.

The senate reapportionment committee is meeting this afternoon and prospects were that it would report the bill back tomorrow and try to get a special order made of it. The test will come on that motion. In the meantime Senator Schaller this morning gave notice that tomorrow he will move to amend the rules so as to require a two-thirds vote to make a special order. If that passes, reapportionment is dead. If the attempt to get a special order fails, reapportionment is dead. And the prospects are anyway that not enough votes will be found to pass the bill and that the only question of interest left in the situation is whether or not Governor Eberhart can find it a colorable excuse for not calling an extra session. The understanding is that he will not be hard to satisfy.

The house spent an hour this morning fighting over a proposed rule requiring a two-thirds vote to make a special order, except on reapportionment, and then voted down the resolution, 54 to 52. It was introduced by Representatives Hopkins and Mattson, but both voted against it.

R. C. Dunn opposed it because he wanted to make a special order on his bill prohibiting the issuance of liquor licenses by county boards, which came out of committee this morning.

Later another half hour was spent over the question of making a special order for Monday on this and three other temperance measures, and then the authors one by one withdrew their motions and the matter dropped.

Representative Spooner's bill providing for a commission to co-ordinate and consolidate state departments and report a bill to the next legislature was made a special order in the house for Monday.

the carbineers caused such an uproar in the court that President Bianchi was forced to suspend the sitting.

The priest has suffered physically from his long confinement in prison and when he was summoned to the bar he advanced slowly, leaning on his cane. At his elbow was his physician, who explained to the court that he would have to give his patient frequent stimulants to save him from fainting. Nevertheless, the prisoner spoke in a strong voice in the tone of the preacher. He proclaimed himself innocent, expressing surprise that the fact that he was the godfather of Ericone should have been used against him. He had never done wrong, he said and he knew evil only as a servitor of the church must know it in order to fight it successfully.

CONDEMNED MAN TAKEN TO CARVER COUNTY JAIL.

Le Sueur Center, Minn., April 6.—Martin O'Malley, who has been held in jail here awaiting the fixing of the day of executon by the governor, was removed yesterday afternoon to the Carver county jail at Chaska. Sludge Morrison of the district court signed an order for the transfer at Shakopee yesterday. The grand jury of this county condemned the jail here as insanitary and unsafe, and it was for this reason, and not for fear of a demonstration against the prisoner, that the application for the transfer was made.

All talk that violence might be done O'Malley has had no basis in fact.

MORE FEDERAL ACTIONS BEGUN

Government Files Eighty New Suits Involving Indian Lands.

Fergus Falls, Minn., April 6.—Eighty new cases brought by the United States government to annul deeds given by Indians to lands on the White Earth reservation have been filed in the federal court in this city, making a total of 625 cases that have thus far been filed.

Since the overruling of the demurrer at the recent hearing in Duluth, the government has been taking active steps to bring these cases to trial. The government seeks to annul the deeds on the ground that the parties giving them were Indians, while the purchasers in all cases allege that they were mixed-bloods.

Difficult to Determine.

It is always a difficult matter to determine blood relationship among the Indians, and the taking of testimony in suits that have been filed is going to occupy all summer, and possibly two or three years. However, it is thought that twenty-five of the cases will be ready for trial at the May term here, and decisions in these will have considerable bearing on the others. The mixed-bloods had the right to sell their lands, while the fullbloods had no such rights. Aside from the question of blood relationship, which is formally alleged in each case, there are countless charges of fraud.

ELKS' LODGE PROSPERS

Indebtedness Reduced and Membership Increased During Past Year.

Officers Installed With John A. Doran as Exalted Ruler.

The Duluth lodge of Elks, No. 133, experienced one of the most prosperous years in its history, as shown by the annual reports which were read at the large meeting at the club home, 311 West First street, following the installation of officers for the coming year last evening

The indebtedness of the lodge was reduced about $12,000, with a nice balance in the treasury. The reading of the figures was the occasion for rounds of enthusiastic applause and the prediction was freely made that the coming year will be even more successful than that just passed. The value of the lodge's holdings, including the First street property, was estimated at $163,000.

Many new members were added during the year. The present plans of the lodge are to bring the membership up to 1,000, after which the lists will be closed. The membership is not far from that number now, and it is expected that the present year will see the total realized. A quiet canvass for members is being made, and applications are coming in steadily.

Great satisfaction was expressed at the charitable work which had been done by the organization. Much relief was afforded to the needy, and in this line also the activities of the lodge are assuming a steadily increasing scope. This is all done very quietly, without any advertising, but is nevertheless equally effective.

The officers installed were: John A. Doran, exalted ruler; Frank L. Young, esteemed leading knight; E. J. Filliatrault, esteemed loyal knight; Nell B. Morrison, esteemed lecturing knight; John L. Fuller, secretary; P. B. McTague, treasurer; R. H. Kidd, tyler; James L. Crawford, W. H. Alexander and J. G. Harris, trustees. Exalted Ruler Doran appointed Thomas P. Maguire as esquire, W. H. Smallwood as chaplain and E. C. Alstead as inner guard. J. T. Armstead acted as the installing officer.

for the chief forester; but it is believed by the friends of the measure that both these things will happen.

What makes the salary of the chief forester so important is that the bill is devised on the theory that the proper thing to do is to get a good man as the executive of the forestry system, and then turn over to him full power, authority and responsibility.

When the bill passes and the new forestry board is created, the first step will be to select the chief forester. This will not be done hastily, nor will the search for the right man be confined to Minnesota. No individual is slated for the place, and politics will not be allowed to interfere in the selection.

The finance committee of the senate and the appropriations committee of the house have agreed that an appropriation of $15,000 shall be allowed up to July 1, and that thereafter $75,000 a year shall be provided. This is only half as much as was asked for, but it is realized by the friends of the measure that the system proposed by it must justify itself before it can be expected to receive all the money it needs.

Hanson Got Permission.

Though Senators Rockne and Clague have been working for several weeks on the proposed new reapportionment bill, it was not they who first got permission from the governor to introduce the bill, but Senator Hanson of Norman county.

The reason for this is that the friends of reapportionment, at first fully confident of the good faith of the new move for reapportionment, became fearful because of the long delay that occurred, and after they had been promised repeatedly that the bill would be introduced immediately, they concluded, in order to prevent any possibility that it wouldn't get in, to introduce it themselves.

Those who have been working on the bill—it is the same bill, so far as the distribution of membership goes—were at first inclined to be piqued yesterday afternoon when they learned that another had been given the bill, but later decided to have the meeting called for last night to consider the bill.

The Hanson bill differs from the Rockne-Clague bill in only one respect—that it goes into effect immediately instead of being postponed until 1914. Of course, those back of the Hanson bill will be willing to consider reasonable amendments, including amendments that will let the senators keep their places for the full term for which they were elected.

Only one change has been made in the bill since it was first definitely prepared by Senator Rockne. Senator Weis of Le Sueur county had intimated that he might support the bill, and he was left as he is now, with his own county as a senatorial district. When he refused to join, the bill was changed so that his county is joined with Scott, which is represented by Senator Coller, while Carver county, to which Scott was joined in the first bill, is left alone, as it is under the old apportionment.

Duluth Bill Fight.

The bill by the St. Louis county delegation, introduced by Senator Cheadle, leasing to the city of Duluth the old state elevator site at Oneota for a public dock site, was advanced to the calendar by the senate in committee of the whole yesterday, though not without a fight.

Senator McGrath of Winona opposed the bill bitterly, saying that the land belongs to the farmers of the state. He said it was bought for a state elevator site for the benefit of the farmers, but that Duluth people fought it in the courts, with the result that the court held the state couldn't use it, as it was not empowered to embark in the elevator business.

Senator Boyle said that the farmers would benefit as much as anybody by the establishing of free public docks at Duluth, as that would help every consumer and shipper in the state by relieving them from the exactions of the railroad monopoly on terminal facilities at Great Lake ports.

An attempt to lay the bill over was made by Senator Moonan, but the senate, after a debate in which Senators Cheadle, Duxbury, Odell and others participated, advanced it to the calendar with the privilege of amendment. It will, in all probability, become a law.

Mayor Cullum of Duluth is here looking after pending local bills affecting Duluth. There is no danger, however, that any of the strictly local bills will fail.

The house had a long fight yesterday afternoon over the Lennon bill allowing the Minneapolis city council to stretch the patrol limits so as to allow the sale of liquor at meals only in the Radisson and Dyckman hotels, but in spite of a hard fight made on it by the temperance element, it passed 80 to 35.

Four Years for County Officers.

Four-year terms for county officers are provided by a bill by the house committee on towns and counties which the house passed yesterday afternoon, 71 to 20. Representative McNeill wanted to amend the bill so as to provide for a 15 per cent reduction in the salaries of all the officers affected, but his amendment was lost, partly because it was made clear that many of the officers affected get fees instead of salaries, and it would be rather awkward to figure out their compensation under the proposed provision.

The bill affects all county officers not now on the four-year basis except the judges of probate, whose term of office is fixed by the Constitution. For the benefit of the judges of probate a constitutional amendment increasing their terms to four years is pending.

Mines Building at Hibbing.

Though the appropriation bills introduced by the finance committee of the senate and the appropriations committee of the house contain no allowance for the state mines' building at Hibbing, that cause is not yet lost. Bills providing for the building are pending in both houses, and if they pass, an appropriation will be provided by the committees, though it may not be the $35,000 deemed necessary by the state auditor and asked for in the bill. The St. Louis county members are all working hard for the bill, and hope to get it through.

The house yesterday afternoon passed Representative S. N. Lee's bill proposing a Constitutional amendment authorizing the loaning of state school funds on farm mortgages.

Minneapolis took up a little more time yesterday afternoon with a fight over a bill by Representatives Palmer and Kunze prohibiting the erection of gas plants within half a mile of parks, schools or churches in Minneapolis. Some of the Hennepin county delegation opposed the bill on the ground that it would bar the gas plants from pretty nearly all parts of the city, but the house passed the bill.

The house also passed a bill by Representative Henry Rines of Mora providing for the taxation of reserved mineral rights wherever the owner of the land demands it.

Another important bill passed by the house was one by the house tax committee reducing the mortgage property tax from 50 cents per $100 to 15 cents. The taxes thus derived are to be divided equally between the county general revenue fund and the state general fund.

of one member was made in order to give Ramsey county a new senator, which was not intended at first but was necessary in order to get the votes from that county.

It adds one senator to Hennepin county, whose district is to consist of the country sections outside of the city, and it gives St. Louis county an additional senator and three more representatives. Three senators are added to the country sections of Northern Minnesota.

The bill is not to go into effect until the election of 1914, so that the first legislature affected by it will be that of 1915. The legislature of 1913, which will be elected in 1912, will be constituted according to the present apportionment.

The sixty-three men who compose the present senate will, therefore, hold office for the full term of four years for which they were elected.

The house membership is increased from 120 to 126, the number provided by the Congdon bill, and the house apportionment does not vary greatly from that made in the Congdon bill. Wherever possible representative districts are provided, as where two counties form a senatorial district. In such cases, usually, each county forms a representative district.

The New Districts.

Twenty-ninth—Stearns county except the city of St. Cloud and several surrounding towns; two representatives; same as now.

Fifty-sixth—Polk county, two representatives; same as now.

Fifty-seventh—Red Lake, Pennington, Clearwater and Mahnomen counties, two representatives. These counties now share a senator and two representatives with Carlton, Aitkin and Koochiching counties—a decided gain.

St. Louis County Districts.

Fifty-ninth—The First, Second and Fourth wards of Duluth, also all that part of St. Louis county, outside of said city and lying east of the range line between ranges 13 and 14, also the counties of Lake and Cook. One senator and three representatives. Lake and Cook county are to constitute one representative district with one representative, and that part of the senatorial district in St. Louis county is to constitute another representative district with two representatives.

Sixtieth—The Third and Fifth wards of Duluth and that part of St. Louis county lying north of the township line between townships 50 and 51 and situated in ranges 14 and 15; also township 51, range 16; also all that part of ranges 16 and 17 lying north of the township line between townships 51 and 52 and south of the township line between townships 58 and 59, except the city of Virginia; also all that part of the village of Biwabik situated in township 59, range 16. One senator and two representatives. This district is divided into two representative districts, one including the Third and Fifth wards of Duluth and all that part of the Sixtieth district lying south of the township line between townships 55 and 56, and the other including the remainder of the district.

St. Louis, Lake and Cook counties now have three senators and six representatives. Under the new bill they get four senators and nine representatives.

Sixty-fourth—Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties, three representatives; now have two representatives.

Oh, You Blondes—and You Brunettes, Too

(From New York Daily News.)

"Any woman—be her skin light or dark—can have a beautiful complexion, free from blemish, if she will use the simple treatment so popular with the women of Japan," said Mme. De Leon today.

"Japanese women never wrinkle until old age; their faces are free from specks and blotches; they are never afflicted with superfluous hair.

"What is the secret of their perfect complexion?

"They use no paints nor cosmetics. They rely altogether upon a preparation made by dissolving a small original package of mayatone in about eight ounces of witch hazel.

"They massage face, arms and neck with this solution once a day. Mayatone is harmless and gives a lovely, clear, healthy color, besides preventing wrinkles and wild hairs. Whether blonde or brunette, you find this treatment extremely satisfactory."

CASS COUNTY COMMITTEE ON STATE FAIR DISPLAY.

Pine River, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the regular April meeting of the Cass county commissioners held at Walker Tuesday the project of a Cass county exhibit at the state fair this fall was started in earnest, the committee in charge consisting of William A. Dorsey, Pillager; George J. Silk, Pine River, and M. N. Koll, Cass Lake, meeting with the county dads and formulating extensive plans, an appropriation of $500 having been made at the March meeting. Every farmer, gardener and fruit raiser in the county will be asked to contribute something showing the unexcelled advantages and possibilities of the county, agriculturally and otherwise. The project is meeting with unstinted enthusiasm, which argues well for an extensive and excellent display.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

OF NEW YORK

JOHN R. HEGEMAN, President

INSURANCE SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

The New York Insurance Department has had the Company under examination, pursuant to law, for about fifteen months. After this examination the Superintendent of Insurance said:

THOROUGHNESS.—"It is thought that no Company of this character under the supervision of any Insurance Department in the United States has ever been so thoroughly examined by such a Department."

PAYMENT OF CLAIMS.—"The claims received averaged from 600 to 800 each working day; the percentage of rejections is small, being in 1909 less than one-half of one per cent."

CAREFUL INVESTMENTS.—"On an investment of $100,000,000 in real estate mortgages this Company now holds through foreclosure but one piece of realty."

INDUSTRIAL POLICIES AT COST.—"On this basis this Company, from all of its departments, added to its surplus in 1909, after setting aside in that year as a liability its dividends and bonuses for 1910, about $800,000; in other words, the volume of its business being considered, seems to have furnished insurance substantially at cost."

PROGRESSIVE MANAGEMENT.—The Department Report shows during the last five years:

Reduction in the ratio of expense to premium income.. 7.13%
Reduction in the ratio of lapse to issue..... 10.36%
Reduction of cancellations in first year of insurance.. 8.92%

ORDINARY DEPARTMENT

In 1910 the Company wrote a larger amount of Ordinary business in the United States and Canada than any other company, by TWENTY MILLIONS!

In 1910 the Company placed Ordinary Insurance up to the Limit of the Law and was obliged to hold back hundreds of thousands of dollars of insurance by reason of the New York statute limiting amount in any one year.

MORAL: Get in early this year and avoid the rush at the end. Best plans; cheapest rates; all policies non-participating—that is, the money is not collected on promise of repayment in dividends, but is left in the pockets of the insured by reduction of premium.

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT

OLD POLICIES.—A bonus has been declared to Industrial policy-holders amounting to nearly

SIX MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

payable in 1911 on Whole Life and Increasing Life and Endowment policies issued prior to 1907, which bonuses give reduction of premiums varying, according to period of persistence, from EIGHT TO ONE HUNDRED PER CENT.

The Company added not one dollar to surplus at the end of 1910 out of income from Industrial policies.

NEW POLICIES.—The benefits on policies issued since January 1, 1907, are over

TWENTY PER CENT. GREATER than the benefits promised by policies issued previously.

In the last eighteen years it has declared

TWENTY-FIVE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

in voluntary bonuses over and above all requirements of policies.

WELFARE WORK FOR POLICY-HOLDERS

Extracts from the Report of the Superintendent of Insurance of the State of New York.

"No summary of this examination of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company would be complete which omitted reference to certain agencies for social service which it has inaugurated and is now conducting."

"CAMPAIGN AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS.—Among the activities of this Company begun since the Armstrong investigation is its participation in the nation-wide crusade against tuberculosis. As to policy-holders, its work has thus far been confined to the dissemination of the literature of prevention and instruction; a work which its great Agency force and close contact with the industrial classes makes easy, as well as effective. As a matter of mere business economics, the Company's activities in this direction entitle it to the approval of the Department."

"NURSING SYSTEM.—About two years ago this Company inaugurated a system whereby trained nurses would, upon request, be sent to the homes of sick or bedridden policy-holders in its Industrial Department. . . . While this service has been but recently established, and while, therefore, the examiners are in some doubt as to its ultimate effectiveness either from the standpoint of saving the lives of policy-holders or minimizing unhealthy conditions, no one can make a personal investigation into what has already been done without being profoundly impressed with, not only the economic, but, more, the beneficent value of the work. Numerous cases where lives have been saved are already on record. Many instances showing improvement in home conditions due to the visits of the nurses are known."

The largest amount of insurance in force of any Company in the world—$2,215,851,388, covering 11,288,054 policies.

In 1910 the Company made the largest gain in insurance in force of any Company in the world.

NEW POSTOFFICE BEING ARRANGED

Old Place Used at Nashwauk Became Too Crowded With Patrons.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Nashwauk Hardware company has purchased the John Anderson frame building, one of the oldest in the village, for a consideration of about $4,000. Paul H. Tweed, manager of the company, has a large force of carpenters at work tearing down parts of the building, preparatory to remodeling and removing the postoffice from its present place to its new quarters in the rear of the Anderson block, which will be very convenient for the people here who formerly crowded the hardware department to get to the postoffice department for their mail.

The main entrance to the new postoffice will be on Second street. The front of the Anderson block, facing Central avenue, will be used for the company's undertaking and furniture establisiments. These many changes by the company will mean a large expenditure of money but will be very convenient when finished.

The village council passed an ordinance permitting no more frame structures to be built on Central avenue, the main busines thoroughfare. Only brick buildings will be permitted to be erected.

TO OPEN NEW COUNTRY.

Proposed Road From Gilbert to St. Louis River.

Gilbert, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The St. Louis Gilbert Road association met in the village hall Tuesday night and a movement was set forth to have a road opened up from Gilbert east to the St. Louis river. A committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Cosgrove, Bodas and Frank A. Bowman, to draft a petition, have it signed and to locate the route for the proposed road. The petition will be presented to the board of county commissioners.

The object of this movement is to open up a route whereby the farmers in the St. Louis river district can do their trading in Gilbert and it will have the united support of the citizens here as well as that of the farmers. There are over 200 farmers in the territory to be tapped and it is much nearer for them to come to Gilbert than to go to other towns.

The association has elected Judge Welch president, and Frank A. Bowman, secretary and treasurer.

He was about 40 years old and very well known around Proctor and Duluth. His funeral will be held tomorrow at Proctor.

Reports of an encouraging nature have been received from the Sunday school, ladies' aid society and Treasurer Thomas A. Pratt for the year ending, March 31. Many plans to better the condition of the church are being considered and the members are very optimistic for the future.

GILBERT BUILDING IS DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Gilbert, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire broke out Wednesday at 1 o'clock a. m., in the shoemaker shop of Louis Vessell on Minnesota avenue and the fire department had hard work saving the nearby structures. The Vessell building was totally destroyed. A storm was raging and it made the fire an especially hard one to handle. Vessell lived in the place and was awaked by the smoke, barely escaping without injury. He saved none of his clothing or goods. It is not known just what started the blaze, but it is thought to have been from a defective stovepipe. A small amount of insurance was carried.

Early Wednesday night the fire department was called out by a chimney fire in the First addition, little damage being done.

TOWER ASKED TO CO-OPERATE

In Proposed Advertising of Beauties of the Vermilion Lake Region.

Tower, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Through the efforts of E. J. Atkins, local agent of the Iron Range railroad, a large public meeting was held at the Vermilion hotel Tuesday night. M. M. Hanna of the general offices of the Iron Range company, was present and told the Tower people what the road is preparing to do in the way of advertising the St. Louis county lake region in this vicinity. The literature of the railroad company will be distributed in the large cities.

The road is anxious to have the cooperation of the Commercial club of Tower and such citizens as are willing to help take care of the crowds the railway people hope to send this way on business and pleasure trips. The need was indicated of establishing uniform rates for boats, canoes, carriages, guides, etc., that the visitor might know what a trip would cost. The need of more hotel room was hinted at, and it leaked out that a company is organized to build some fifteen or twenty cottages on the lake shore. operations to begin as soon as navigation opens on Lake Vermilion. Mr. Hanna called the attention of the meeting to the proposed trip of the Milwaukee Jobbers' & Manufacturers, association to the Mesaba range, and said that an invitation from the Commercial club would possibly persuade them to include Tower in their itinerary.

To Sell Coupon Tickets.

The meeting was also informed that the Duluth & Iron Range was arranging to sell hereafter coupon tickets to points of the leading roads out of Duluth, such as the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Northwestern, South Shore, Soo, etc., a convenience which will be appreciated by through travel.

Mr. Hanna is to be established in an office at the Spalding hotel this summer, and will have a wire from his office which will keep him in close touch with Lake Vermilion, and with it he will keep the local agent informed as to parties coming to Tower and the arrangements they will need for their entertainment and comfort. He predicted a big season for the lake region of the North.

When the Cook Leaves

don't fret or scold—lay in a good supply of Shredded Wheat—the food that is ready-cooked, ready-to-serve—contains all the nutriment in the whole wheat grain, steam-cooked, shredded and baked a crisp, golden brown—a food that is good all the way through—tempting in its nutlike flavor—a delight to eat and to serve.

SHREDDED WHEAT BISCUIT

is without doubt the most perfectly balanced, most easily digested food ever given to man. It is not flavored or compounded with anything—not a "patent-medicine" food—not a "pre-digested" food—just plain, simple, wholesome, steam-cooked whole wheat, shredded and baked. It is better than mushy porridges because you have to chew it, thereby getting from it all its rich, body-building nutriment.

Try it for breakfast with milk or cream (hot milk in Winter). Being in biscuit form it is easy to prepare a nourishing meal with it in a few minutes in combination with fresh or stewed fruits. Always heat the biscuit in oven to restore crispness before serving. Two Biscuits with milk or cream and a little fruit make a complete nourishing meal. Your grocer sells it.

JUDGE STANTON RULES.

Jurist Passes on Habeas Corpus Question Raised Before Him.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Stanton has just announced an exhaustive ruling in a habeas corpus case covering the jurisdiction of justices of the peace in Itasca county in imposing sentences of imprisonment. The case came before the court on the application of John McDonald, a well-known Deer River logger, convicted of using improper language before John D. Burgess, a justice of Deer River.

McDonald applied for a writ of habeas corpus and the legality of his imprisonment was argued at length.

Judge Stanton holds that where the papers do not state acts which constitute a public offense that the judgment rendered by the justice is wholly void.

The question determined has been raised a number of times before but in no memorandum has any member of the district bench made a memorandum as exhaustive as that just filed. McDonald obtained his release on the strength of the order made by Judge Stanton.

The trial of civil pury cases is proceeding here very rapidly and by the time the criminal calendar is reached either at the end of this week or the first of next there will be few civil jury cases remaining. The term will be shorter than any term for several years past.

TO ENFORCE LICENSE.

New East Grand Forks Liquor Regulation Soon in Effect.

East Grand Forks, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ordinance introduced in the city council a few weeks ago, and which has become known as the "unconditional lease' ordinance will go into effect immediately, a resolution to that effect having been adopted at the regular council meeting. The ordinance provides that a license to sell liquor shall be issued to no person unless he have a lease, sub-lease or is absolute owner of the building in which he is conducting his business. The brewery owners, who were particularly interested, had ventured that the law would have no effect this year as the time for issuing licenses came before the ordinance could become a law.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: APRIL 9. II Kings, vi, 8-23: Elisha's Heavenly Defenders.

THE CONNECTION.

Elisha was not a doctrinaire preacher of dreary platitudes, but a practical, patriot, who used all his natural and supernatural gifts to protect and perfect his nation. He was a lookout committee against foreign invasion and domestic iniquity. Benhadad, king of Syria, is now their aggressive enemy. He has seemingly forgotten that Israel once came to his aid and helped him repel the Assyrians and that a great Israelitish prophet had cured his great general, Naaman, of leprosy. He is seeking by wily strategy to lead the king of Israel into fatal ambush, but Elisha is on the watchout and defeats him every time. Now the king is in a high state of excitement over it.

THE LESSON.

I.

Elisha Protects Israel. 8-12.

"Now the king of Syria was warring against Israel; and he took counsel with his servants, saying, In such and such a place shall be my camp. And the man of God sent unto the king of Israel, saying, Beware that thou pass not such a place; for thither the Syrians are coming down. And the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God told him and warned him of; and he saved himself there, not once nor twice. And the heart of the king of Syria was sore troubled for this thing; and he called his servants, and said unto them, Will ye not show me which of us is for the king of Israel? And one of his servants said, Nay, my lord, O king; but Elisha, the prohpet that is in Israel, telleth the king of Israel the words that thou speakest in thy bedchamber."

1. CHECKMATED.—It was a shrewd plan of Benhadad to find out which way Jehoram, king of Israel, was coming, establish his camp there, spring on him from ambush, capture the king himself and control the nation. But he failed to take account of God's prophet. Not so strange either, for rumors of such men seldom penetrate the walls of palaces, where kings are bent on selfish projects. But the Syrian people knew about Elisha, of course, as the people are often wiser than their rulers. We cannot think that Naaman was alive. Could he have fought against the people whose prophet cured him of leprosy? In each ambush they waited in vain for their victim. How did the prophet Elisha learn in advance, so as to warn the king? Why did God tell him and no one else? Because he was in touch with God. That all? No; he was in touch with the situation. We cannot think God would have enlightened him had he stayed in his home near the city of Samaria, but he had gone to the front, to Dothan, overlooking the gap, through which the road between Damascus and Jerusalem crosses the Jordan. There he stood guard.

2. INTERPRETATION. — The king said there was a traitor in camp, selling their war secrets. One counselor said they had a magician named Elisha who could hear the king think from Samaria clear over to the king's chamber in Damascus. Partly right, only Elisha was not a magician but a confidant of God. The secret of the Lord was with him. God, and not Elisha, was the mind reader.

II.

Angels Protect Both Elisha and Israel.

"And he said, Go and see where he is, that I may send and fetch him. And it was told him, saying, Behold, he is in Dothan. Therefore sent he thither horses, and chariots, and a great host; and they came by night, and compassed the city about. And when the servant of the man of God was risen early, and gone forth, behold, a host with horses and chariots was round about the city. And his servant said unto him, Alas, my master! how shall we do? And he answered, Fear not; for they that are with us are more than they that are with them. And Elisha prayed, and said, Jehovah, I pray thee, open his eyes, that he may see. And Jehovah opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw; and, behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha."

1. PLOT.—It was bright. It was to locate Elisha, capture him and take him to Damascus. That was the king's plot. There was one weak point in his plan. He could not capture God and take Him away. It was very bright, for if Elisha knew his thoughts, in his inner chamber, he would know of this plot against him. The legs of the lame are not equal. Besides, if it took an army that large to capture him then no army would be large enough, for that was not the sort of contest Elisha was engaged in. If he knew the king's thoughts on a dark night and at a great distance, how could the king slip up on him and surround him in the night, unknown to him? Yes, the legs of the lame differ very greatly in length. He thought supernatural wisdom and strength would be halted by his own mind and might. But, he actually located Elisha in Dothan and surrounded the city, by night. What then?

2. ANGELS.—For when Elisha got up the next morning and saw the army encamped around, he saw another army between the Syrians and the city, and he felt just as secure as if he were back in his own quiet cottage. If he had not seen them he would have known they were there anyhow, even before David sang "the angels of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear Him." It was all the same with God to defeat them after they were in position and when preparing to ambush Israel.

3. CHEER.—Those who saw the Syrians and not the angels were terrified. Elisha saw them, for the one reason that God could let him see things that others were not fitted to see nor be benefited by. And God could let him see because he was in the habit of seeing from God's standpoint and utilizing the vision from the standpoint of man's good. To translate the vision into speech and then transfer it to those who could receive it were the two duties of the prophet, always. Elisha did it perfectly, and, in doing so, kept up his own good cheer and gave heart of hope to others.

4. COMPASSION.—Elisha showed it toward his attendant, in asking God to give him also the vision. He showed it toward the enemy in getting them out and sending them home. The blindness was only temporary and was for their good. It enabled the prophets to control them and get them away from danger. It constituted an appeal to the clemency of the king, for when Elisha led them to Samaria and the king wanted to kill them, the prophet appealed to his pity for their helplessness, and to his self-respect, in refraining from slaying men whom he had not captured. But the blindness and the sudden recovery were of the greatest possible value in giving them a new respect for Jehovah and His prophet and His people. They went back home wiser men. Elisha seems guilty of duplicity in the way he expressed it, but a close study shows justifiable wisdom.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

There is plainly implied the truth that earth is close to heaven, and that only the veil of flesh binds us to "the things that are." If the veil dropped we should see that already "we are come unto * * * an innumerable company of angels." When the veil drops we shall see them, but while yet its folds bandage the eyes of the spirit they need not blind the eye of faith. Believing is seeing by a more reliable organ than the corporal eyesight; and, if we live by faith, we shall see heaven open and the angels of God descending and ascending upon the Son of Man, the better ladder than Jacob saw in sleep.—Maclaran.

The story of the blinded Syrians led to Samaria and there made suddenly to see, is a singularly powerful pendant to the Dothan incident. We need not defend the morality of Elijah's ruse; we do not magnify a prophet by making him immaculate. Elisha was none the less a prophet because he was a son of his time. But what we should fasten our thought upon is the design of this temporary blinding of the Syrians. In the end Elisha desired them to see precisely what he had wished his own servant to see—how real is the help Jehovah gives to His people. But what the young servant was taught by illumination, these duller Syrians were taught by being led in darkness by a way they know not. It is a perfect picture of God's discipline as we see it at work in human lives today.—Ross.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Why is the best "man of God" the best "man among men?"
2. How can one thwart God's purposes?
3. Why does the wrong doer always suspect others of wrong doing?
4. Why is the defender of God always defended by Him?
5. Is the eye of faith as trustworthy as the eye of flesh?
6. Why are God's severities always kindnesses?

HOLY WEEK IN DULUTH

Is Rigidly Observed By Members of the Catholic Church.

Observance of Last Week of Lent Began in Third Century.

Next week is Holy week, which will be observed with rigid adherence to rules and ritual by the Catholic church and with less elaborate ceremonial by other Christian churches. The last week of Lent, the week of the passion and death of Christ and the week leading up to the resurrection calls for greater observance of the regulations of Lent in the Catholic church and has in it special ceremonies to be observed in commemoration of the happenings of that week in Christ's life.

As early as the third century, mention is made in the histories of more rigid observance of the last week of Lent. It was called the Painful week and the Germans called it, Charwoche, the Week of Sorrows. The week was distinguished in the early church by the extreme severity of the fast, complete cessation from labor and the release of prisoners not charged with capital offenses.

The ceremonies of the week in the Catholic church keep in view the passion of Christ and everywhere in the ritual and in the ceremonies are references to the sorrows and death of the Savior. The vestments are purple, except for a time on Holy Thursday, when white is used in celebration of the institution of the sacrament of Holy Eucharist. Last Sunday, the crucifixes and images of the saints were veiled in purple and they will remain veiled until the Saturday before Easter.

Palm Sunday.

Next Sunday is Palm Sunday, so-called in commemoration of the use of palms by the Jews in getting Christ when he entered the city on the Sunday before entering on his passion. In the Catholic churches, palms are blessed and distributed. The first note of the commemoration of Christ's passion is given in the gospel of the day, which recites the events of the week of Christ's death.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, the Tenebrae will be observed. It consists of the chanting publicly of that portion of the divine office known as matins and lauds. A triangular candlestick, with a white candle at the apex and seven yellow candles on each side, is placed on the altar and at the termination of each psalm or canticle, one candle is extinguished. The one at the apex remains lighted, is hidden behind the altar for a time at the end and is then brought to view again.

The origin of the ceremony is in doubt and the writers are not agreed on its significance. The most widely accepted explanation is that the yellow candles represent the patriarchs and prophets, who gave imperfect revelations under the Old Law, all tending to Christ the Messiah, and represented by the candle at the apex. The hiding of the candle signifies the time Christ was in the tomb and its reappearance represents his resurrection.

Thursday of Holy week is called Maundy Thursday from the "mandatum" or precept, the first word of the antiphon, "A new commandment I give you." It commemorates the institution of the Blessed Sacrament at the Last Supper and the day corresponds to the first day of the Azymes, or Feast of the Unleavened Bread, when with the Jews of old, the pasch should be eaten at sunset. In Cathedrals, the holy oils used in the diocese during the year, are blessed by the bishop.

On Good Friday, the death of Christ is commemorated in ceremonies solemn and sad in their nature. On Holy Saturday, the day before Easter, the holy water used in the church is blessed and the Pashal candle, which is used to signify Christ's resurrection, remains lighted at the principal services until Ascension day, is blessed.

Saturday of next week, as well as Wednesday and Friday, are days of abstinence for Catholics.

HAZARDOUS TRIP IN AN OPEN BOAT

Party of Men Encountered Ice Between Isle Royale and Mainland.

John C. Hagerman returned to Duluth yesterday after having spent the winter at a small lumber camp on Isle Royale with a crew of fifteen men, absolutely cut off from civilization.

The men had a hazardous trip from the island to the mainland, for which they started March 9. The snow was so deep that they could not work and it was decided to risk the dangers to get in touch again with civilization.

When they left in the forenoon they saw nothing but clear water ahead of them and they did not expect any difficulty in getting to the shore, although they set out in an open boat. About noon, however, they ran into a field of ice through which they tried to make their way. They battled against the floe until darkness overtook them. Fearing to continue their efforts in the dark, they chopped a V-shaped shelter in the ice, in which they spent the night after pulling a heavy canvas cover over the top of their craft. The next morning they resumed their efforts and reached the mainland early in the afternoon.

They found themselves at Pigeon point, about ten miles down the shore from Grand Portage, their objective point. They walked to Grand Portage and then to Grand Rapids, which point is among the first to be reached in the spring by the Booth line boats plying the north shore. Mr. Hagerman and Joseph Goodspeed came to Duluth but most of the others found employment in other camps along the shore. Mr. Hagerman expects to return to the camp on the next trip of the Easton.

This show will contain exhibits in the nature of farm and orchard products of every section of the country traversed by the Milwaukee. It is expected that this state will be well represented at the exhibition.

A. J. Earling, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, has offered a $1,000 silver cup as a trophy for the best oats produced in the United States.

The grain will be judged on its quality, including weight, on yield per acre and on purity and freedom from smut, weed and seed mixture.

It is hoped and expected that farmers all along the territory of the Milwaukee will compete at this exhibition.

RECOMMEND A MORALS COURT

Chicago Vice Commission Makes First Report to the Council.

Chicago, April 6.—The Chicago vice commission, the first salaried municipal commission of its kind, made many radical recommendations in its report to the common council last night, and gave an exhaustive review of the present status of the social evil in Chicago, its past, its causes, and means of suppressing it. The recommendations were directly against the European principle of segregation. They were:

First, the appointment of a morals commission;

Second, the establishment of a morals court.

In summing up present conditions the report says:

Most of the police are honest; one standard of morality in Chicago applauds dances of nearly naked women in the name of art and condemns dances no worse before less prosperous audiences; men, not women, are the ones "highest up" in the business administration of the social evil; hotels which "ask no questions" of their patrons are a great contributing means to wrecked girlhood; prejudice against colored girls drive them into the social evil coteries, either as servants or inmates; the "white slave traffic" is not organized.

MASKED MAN ROBS MANY PASSENGERS

Secures $300 in Cash From Occupants of Vestibuled Coach.

Muncie, Ind., April 6.—A masked man armed with a revolver held up and robbed passengers in a vestibuled coach attached to westbound Express Train No. 27 on the Big Four railroad a few miles east of this city last night. After taking about $300 in cash from ten men the robber dropped off the rear platform of the car as the train slackened speed to enter the city. Several shots were fired at him as he ran.

Attention of the fifty men and women in the coach was attracted to the front vestibule when they heard the crash of glass at Selma, six miles east of Muncie. Benjamin Banta of Detroit went forward to investigate and was confronted by a man who slipped his arm through the broken glass of the door, unlatched it and entered.

"Hands up, everybody," shouted the man, covering Banta with a revolver, and then added: "Come forward, everybody; shell out."

The women were too frightened to move, but the men crowded to the front of the car.

"Only cash, not jewelry," the robber said, as he passed among the men.

Ten of them had contributed their money when an electric light, marking the edge of Muncie, flashed in the car windows, and the robber, quitting his work, ran through the car and jumped from the train.

STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION IN ALABAMA KNOCKED OUT.

Montgomery, Ala., April 6.—State-wide prohibition in Alabama was given its knockout blow today when both branches of the legislature adopted the Smith liquor regulation bill.

This provides that 45 per cent of the voters of a county may petition for an election to determine whether liquor shall be sold in that county, either by saloons, dispensary or otherwise. Each county is thereby given full power to regulate its liquor traffic.

FACTS FAVOR RECIPROCITY.

In the first installment of a serial article now appearing in the New York World, under the title, "Hundreds of Facts in Favor of Reciprocity," are given some data that it would be well if every citizen of this country and Canada could have impressed on him. The article is far too long for reproduction in detail in this place, but some of the most striking facts are given below. They illustrate a point that is too readily forgotten in the tendency to discuss the interests of particular localities—that the reciprocity measure is intended to benefit the entire country, and that the interests of the country are as diverse as the area is great. Following are some of the points made by The World:

"Reciprocity instead of free trade was necessary in this instance on account of the attitude of the Canadians. * * * One of the principal reasons why Canada now has a rigid protective system is to be found in the unfriendly attitude of the United States toward Canadian trade for nearly half a century. * * * When by the abrogation of this treaty (that of 1854) we raised our high-tariff wall against Canada we dealt that country a staggering blow—and paid dearly for it ourselves. * * * New Canadian tariffs exhibited resentment and retaliation. Trade on north and south lines being discouraged, railroad-building on east and west lines was encouraged. Then came closer relations with Great Britain, followed by preferential tariffs and talk of a commercial imperial federation, aimed at us chiefly.

"In spite of unwise and discriminating laws, commerce between the United States and Canada has latterly shown decided increases. In 1910 Canada bought from us goods valued at $223,501,809, nearly two-thirds of its total imports, and more than twice its purchases from Great Britain, which were $95,350,300. We bought from Canada in that year commodities to the value of $104,199,675. Thus, notwithstanding the tax oppressions which this commerce bears, Canada proves itself to be one of our best customers.

"Omitting cotton, Canada may easily become the biggest buyer in our markets. It not only has money to pay for what it wants, but the character and scale of living of its population, like our own, are high and wages there rule about the same as they do with us. Whatever differences exist are no greater, as President Taft has pointed out, than are to be found in the various states of our own country.

"If Canada now, with a population of 7,358,000, buys of us nearly a quarter of a billion dollars' worth of highly taxed goods a year, what will be its purchases here if we open our markets freely to each other's products when its numbers shall have risen to 25,000,000?"

Turning to those persons who are afraid of reciprocity with Canada, the article says:

> There are always prophets of evil. We had them in 1854 (the year when the former reciprocity agreement with Canada was accomplished), and events condemned them. We had them when President Taft after several failures gained his point relative to the Philippine trade. It was said that reciprocity there would kill the sugar trade and the tobacco trade. It did nothing of the sort. In 1908, under the Dingley tariff, the Filipinos bought about $11,000,000 worth of goods in the United States. In 1910, under reciprocity, they bought nearly $17,000,000 worth. * * * The Sugar trust and the Tobacco trust are still in business, paying big dividends.

Free trade with Canada is impossible. Canada already has refused to grant that. But Canada will grant reciprocity, and if we refuse to accept that relationship with her now we may never get another opportunity.

THE LORIMER SLIME SPREADS.

Two more names, the most prominent yet involved, have been smirched with the slime that continues to overflow from the Lorimer case. The testimony of H. H. Kohlsaat of the Chicago Record-Herald that he had been informed that Edward Hines had raised a "slush" fund of $100,000 to accomplish the election of Lorimer, has been borne out by the man from whom Mr. Kohlsaat received his information.

With Mr. Hines' emphatic denial of the statements that involve him in the Lorimer affair, the issue becomes one of veracity between the lumber baron and Clarence S. Funk of the International Harvester company, who claims that Mr. Hines told him of the "slush" fund and its use, and suggested that the Harvester company contribute to reimburse the interests which supplied that fund. In view of the almost universal belief that Lorimer was elected by means of bribery and corruption, and that the funds used to that end came from sources at least similar to the interests that Mr. Hines represents, the public is certain to look to him to furnish some very convincing evidence before it will feel assured that his skirts are really as clear as they should be. It is unfortunate that public prejudice can carry so far, but there is no denying the fact. And certainly it adds to the incentive for Mr. Hines to show conclusively, if that is possible, that Mr. Funk is mistaken, that the charge is the result of a misunderstanding.

Meanwhile, what of Lorimer himself? Certain newspapers in various parts of the country are demanding that the senate reopen its investigation of his case. Whether that is possible is doubtful. Having once been declared legally elected to that body by the senate itself, which is given sole power to judge of the qualifications and election of its members, there is every likelihood that a successful fight could be made against any attempt to bring the matter up again. Nor would it be desirable to do so, on account of the precedent it would establish. The time might come when a political ring would be as eager to keep an honorable man out of the senate as the present one is to keep Lorimer in. Then it would be a misfortune to the nation if the member's seat were to remain always in jeopardy as long as his opponents in that body had a mind to attack him.

There is, of course, a solution of the problem. Lorimer might resign. But even that possibility, so easy of accomplishment a few weeks or even a few days ago, is complicated by the Hines charges. If Lorimer resigned now there would be many ready to assert that he did so under orders from the men who secured his election, in the hope that his resignation would help to smooth over the whole trouble. There might be no truth in such an assertion, but the impression would exist, just the same.

It is a bad mess, look at it as you will. Mr. Hines' friends will be glad indeed if he can clear himself of the present situation. If, at the same time, he can help to bring to light the identity of the men or interests that supplied the corruption fund that undoubtedly was used at Springfield, he will be doing a public service that not many men have an opportunity to surpass. There is no doubt in the public mind that some interest or interests sought and accomplished Lorimer's election. Mr. Hines is in a position to know what interest or interests would be most vitally concerned in having Lorimer in the senate, and what means they would or might employ to accomplish that end. He has a chance to make use of his knowledge now both to clear himself completely from the Funk charges and to bring to justice the corrupters of men and government. It is devoutly to be wished that he may take advantage of that chance.

THE LIFE-SAVERS' BILL.

Thousands of Duluth people saw one of the smaller crafts from this harbor go out of the canal the other day and get tossed up and down and around in the power of the wind and waves. To many it looked as if the boat could not survive. Their fears were unfounded, but there was none the less the possibility of a tragedy even at the beginning of the season of navigation.

Which only serves to remind one of the men whose work demands that they be on the lookout for peril to others and hold themselves in readiness to face equal or even greater peril themselves; who are likely to be called upon at any time to hurl caution to the winds, leave the warmth and safety of quarters ashore and defy death as it is to be met with in storm and breakers. These are the men of the life-saving service.

During the last session of congress a bill was presented, supported by petitions one of which bore the names of many Duluth people, providing for a graduated wage scale and pensions for the men of the life-saving service. That bill, like many others, was lost in the shuffle during the closing days of the session. If the new congress wants to try its hand at general legislation during the extra session, here is a measure that is entitled to passage. The men of the life-saving service work under exceptional conditions. They are obliged to seek other employment during a part of the year, or else lie idle. Their pay is comparatively low, and they are obliged, in the course of their work, to face risks that are unknown in almost any other occupation. Their one great task is to save lives in times of peril. Yet, under the present arrangement, they are obliged to serve for a compensation that makes it impossible for them to save anything against old age or retirement on account of injury, and that leaves their families destitute in case the men lose their lives.

The case of the life-savers has been presented forcibly to congress. The bill that was prepared for their relief should be dug up again, and should receive favorable action. If that can be given during the present session, so that its provisions will apply to the men who serve during the navigation season just opening on the Great Lakes, so much the better. It would be an act of justice, which the whole country would applaud.

THE FOUR-FLUSH.

No man ever sat and gazed at five cards that he held in his hand, four of which were of the same suit and the fifth of a different suit or even a different color, without drawing a long breath, mentally at least, as he thought of what might have been. The possibilities of such a lay-out as that are not subject to doubt or question. Draw? Of course. It is a chance worth taking any day in the week and any hour of the night or morning. Maybe—the situation is full of maybes. There is only one draw, and in that draw there is a chance that the four-flush will become the real thing.

No man ever sat and reflected on his past life, when that life contained even an ordinary number of near-successes, all of which had stopped short just when they seemed about to develop into something worth while, but all of which had failed of development on account of some quality he lacked, without drawing a long breath as he thought of what might have been. There were possibilities in those different situations in which he found himself, possibilites that will not admit of any question, that he can see now even more clearly than he did at the time. For some reason he failed to realize those possibilities, failed to reach them. He had all the necessary requirements but one. And as he looks back he can see what that one was that he lacked. If he had possessed just a little more self-control, just a little more perseverance, just a little more knowledge of the business game he was playing, how differently things would be now. But he lacked just that one thing, even as a hand may lack one particular kind of card. He was a four-flush. If he could only get a chance to draw once!

Here is something for you to think about—you who find yourself to be a human four-flush. You can draw again. And you have the advantage of knowing just what card you want and of being able to get it if you really go after it.

Think over the quality that you lacked when the test came. Was it energy? Perseverance? Determination? Personal honor? Knowledge of your business or of the conditions surrounding you? Self-control? What was it? It is in the deck, it is ready to your hand, and you can have it if you will. You have been a four-flush, an incomplete hand in the game of life. Perhaps you are one yet. But you do not need to retire from the game. You do not even have to wait for a new deal. You can draw any time, if you will, and be sure of bettering yourself.

If you will. That is the one big thing, the one point that is to determine everything. It is the basis of every creed, of every religion. What you will is the thing that is to determine your future. The past is gone. That hand has been played. But the hand you hold now—

Poker is like life, yet it is not like life. In poker a four-flush may be bettered, if the cards fall right. In life the four-flush can better himself, if he will.

SENATOR BAILEY'S HERESY

By SAVOYARD.

Joseph W. Bailey, senator from Texas, has been explaining to the New York Herald his position on the tariff and his reason for a tax on merchandise that is classed in our commercial and industrial economy as raw materials. There never was a man of more mental audacity than Senator Bailey and his stand on the tariff is a challenge to those Democrats who think on the question as Carlisle did and as Bryan does, for Bryan was ever in accord with the great Kentuckian touching tariff taxation.

If the Democratic party shall come to agree with Bailey on the tariff, then we may close the books and stand mute. We must hunt up another issue, for the very citadel of protection is taxed raw materials. Pig Iron Kelley so declared, Nelson W. Aldrich so held. Cannon and Dalzell so believe. Sam Randall never gave those fellows any uneasiness, but William L. Wilson and Roger Q. Mills made them walk the floor many a night.

Here is a passage from Mr. Bailey's preachment that I want to challenge:

"Curiously enough, the charge that I am a 'protection Democrat' is based upon my refusal to give our manufacturers a double protection by removing the duty from their raw material while still leaving a duty on their finished products. The men who criticize me seem to think that they can vote for a duty on manufactured articles for the purpose of raising revenue, but that I can only vote for a duty on raw materials for the purpose of protection. My tariff philosophy wholly excludes the idea of protection and looks purely and only to revenue.

"I believe in a duty on wool as well as on woolen goods, but advocate a duty on each for the purpose of raising revenue, and I would not levy a duty on either for the purpose of protection. There is no sound principle of taxation which requires me to exempt the manufacturer from a duty on his imported wool, and the only argument in favor of free wool I have ever heard or read is that if the manufacturer is allowed to import his wool without the payment of a duty on it he can manufacture his goods at a lower cost. That argument does not convince me, because it is as true of every other man as it is of the manufacturer, and if we are going to relieve anybody from taxation in order to reduce their expenses, we ought first to relieve those who are least able to pay their taxes, and who, therefore, stand in the greatest need of relief."

The fundamental error in the foregoing is the fallacy that the manufacturer is a consumer of raw materials. I admit that the simple minded so look at the thing but a little study must convince the lucid mind that the manufacturer is merely an employer of raw materials which he fashions for the consumer, who pays the taxes on them, and that is why your robber tariff baron precisely agrees with Senator Bailey on the subject of tariff taxation of raw materials. When Mr. Bailey shows me that the manufacturer pays the tax on raw materials I will come to his view and urge a duty on lumber, wool, coal, and the others. If the manufacturer pays the tax on raw materials, why did not Mr. Bailey insist on a duty on cotton in the bale?

For example: A manufacturer buys a billet of wood from the lumber trust, fashions it into the beam of a plow, and sells the finished implement to a renter of a cotton field in Cooke county, Texas. That poor devil with the boll weevil in front of him and Lumber Magnate Kirby in the rear of him pays the tariff on every inch of wood and every ounce of iron in that plow—unless the Democratic party has been lying about the tariff all its life. If Mr. Bailey doesn't know that, let him get the Democratic hornbook of political economy and set about a mastery of the rudiments of the thing.

Last year we imported dutiable lumber and manufactures to the value of $38,080,373, on which the government collected a tariff tax of $4,349,911, or 11.42 per cent. The domestic production reported to the bureau of statistics for the year 1907 was valued at $666,641,367. Now it is superlatively Democratic to assert and to maintain that the domestic producer added the tariff duty to the price of his goods, which would yield to the sawmill folk $76,663,757. Thus under Senator Bailey's "tariff for revenue" the government gets out of lumber less than $5,000,000 and the lumber trust more than $75,000,000 per annum. And it's a mighty little revenue and a mighty heap of graft.

A tax on lumber is a tax on shelter. It is a tax on houses and barns and furniture and farm implements from wagon to hatchet. Lumber is a thing of universal consumption, and no citizen from the babe at the breast to the most superannuated old mother on the verge of the grave can get along without it. Nay, this tax pursues us beyond death. Your coffin is taxed—unless your estate can stand the cost of a mahogany or rosewood casket. Our tariff barons are too well-bred to tax mahogany and rosewood. They are on the free list, along wtih granadilla, lancewood, ebony, and other high-toned products.

I am told that Weyerhaeuser, the head of the lumber trust, has more millions than Rockefeller, probably for the reason that we can get along without coal oil, but we must have lumber. This man's concern owns tens of millions of acres of heavily timbered land, and protected by the natural tariff of bulk and weight, and the robber tariff of 11.42 per cent, he fixes the price of your cottage or your plow at whatever he pleases, and that is why the price of lumber has doubled the past double decade.

It is whispered in Gath and proclaimed in Washington that it was the lumber trust that caused Lorimer to be "elected" senator from Illinois. Watch Lorimer's vote when the Democrats proceed to doctor the lumber schedule.

Mr. Bailey says: "My tariff philosophy wholly excludes the idea of protection." Brave words. And only words. We have seen that for less than $5,000,000 revenue paid the treasury from his tariff on lumber, Mr. Bailey's tax on that raw material gives the lumber trust above $75,000,000 protection. I advise Mr. Bailey to swap his "philosophy" for some vagary.

When it comes to wool, Mr. Bailey's "philosophy" works precisely like it does with lumber, though the rake-off of the tariff barons is not so great. In round numbers we use 500,000,000 pounds of wool, of which we produce some 300,000,000. The tariff on wool is about 50 per cent ad valorem. Add it to the price of the domestic supply, and for every $3 revenue the treasury gets from this tax the wool growers get $2 graft. There is Mr. Bailey's fellow-senator, Mr. Warren, a many-time millionaire, if report speaks true, who legislates in congress to tax every human being in America to add to the value of his own property on his sheep ranch.

But the Democrats of the house of representatives are sound on the tariff and they are resolved to dress the thing in Democratic garb, which is free raw materials and a tariff for revenue only on the finished product, ready for consumption.

And if Mr. Bailey doesn't like it, let him hunt up his speech on Tom Patterson and act the rule he there laid down.

IN PRAISE OF THE ART OF SPITTING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

One of the reassuring evidences of sturdiness in this daintily refined age is the great number of persons who continue to spit with unabated vigor wherever they may be. Let the doctors proclaim what they will about the danger of this practice, it is not to be denied that spitting ranks high among American arts, having a decorative value not to be lightly done away with in deference to mere precautions of hygiene and sanitation. There is no more lovely sight and sound than a spitter in action, and the delightful traces of him remaining when he has departed, awaken in all men and women an instant admiration. Pleasure and proficiency in this art are so widespread that is seems advisable to organize for its further encouragement. Possibly a helpful beginning would be the formation of a national committee to draw up rules governing the artistic expulsion in public of miscellanies from the mouth, in the advancing of which worthy cause every American who has the best interests of his country at heart will gladly furnish for experiment whatever of his that is available, from the sidewalks of his city to the ceilings of his home.

SOME DRAWBACKS TO NEW PLAT RULES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Through your open column I would call attention to what appear to me as defects in the new rules governing the platting of land as passed by the council. The new rules contain a great deal of merit, when applied to certain portions of the city, for instance, in the bon ton residence portions, where the cost of the property cuts no figure, as the buyer looks for location, and expects to pay for it. But in your industrial section it is different. The wage earner wants a bone, one that he can buy and pay for, and everything should be done to make the lot as cheap to him as possible. Under the new rule the reverse of this is true. The larger a lot the less number of people to a given area. This increases the cost of street grading, sewers and up-keep. A 25-foot lot is not too small. Attractive homes can be built on 25-foot lots as shown in Portland division. Again, before the owner can plat his land he must have a topographical survey made. This in some cases will be very expensive. He must also give a park for city purposes, of one block. The cost of survey and the cost of the park are added to the selling price of land and the poor man who buys his home pays the freight. Your city cannot be built up this way. Again suppose an owner has eighty acres of land out three or four miles from town, but still in the city limits. This land is farm land, and is to be divided into acre tracts, where the poor man might have a home and have a garden. As it now stands before the owner can plat, he must have survey made showing contours every five feet. If this tract is covered with timber, the cost of survey and the six acres given for park purposes will in some cases equal the original cost of the land. Your man who buys his home pays for this. Truck farming can never be built up on this system. If it is necessary to have a topographical survey, it should be made by the city, during times while work is slack, as it could be utilized by the city for future work. This system was started by W. B. Fuller while city engineer, but has never been followed up. Of course those who got their plats on record last fall, now have a snap, as it prevents any one else from coming in and competing with them, and allows those who are in to boost their prices almost as high as it would cost the other fellow to do the work.

Thanking you for space taken.

THE PROBLEMS OF LOVE AND MARRIAGE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The young man who writes on love and marriage in last evening's issue of The Herald, and modestly signs himself F., has started something. It seems to me that he is asking too much, when he requests young readers of The Herald to solve for him problems that have concerned the people of the world—illiterate and learned, ne'er do wells and philosophers, fools and sages—since the time God extracted one of Adam's ribs and gave the first man a helpmate.

"Why is love?" he asks in effect.

Why does the earth revolve and why does it move around the sun? Why do the blades of grass shoot up into the air and sunlight in the spring? Why do clouds form and why do rain and snow fall?

Why is life?

Is love an animal feeling born of propinquity? Does the puzzled correspondent mean to say that other animals besides the human animal love? Would he dignify the feeling which the cow feels for her calf by the name of love? I would call it instinct.

But he doesn't classify love. He doesn't distinguish between mother love and the love which a man feels for one of the opposite sex. There are loves and more loves—loves that are strong and loes that are weak; loves that are constant and loves that are as fickle as April weather in Duluth. Are they all loves? The young man has opened a wide field for discussion and I would not attempt to explore it all.

Briefly, I would say that love is what it is, while it lasts. If it doesn't last, unfortunate is he who had it. Marriages of convenience and marriages of duty to society, are not to be considered seriously by any right-minded man. The man who would enter a marriage of either kind is playing with fire that threatens to consume him, the other party to the contract, their happiness, and their contentment.

The man who said marriage is a lottery said something and he hasn't been contradicted yet. We have the authorities of the writers of history for the fact that every age wrestled with the question. Sir John Davies wrote in "Contentions Betwixt a Wife."

"Wedlock, indeed, hath oft compared been,
To public feasts, where meet a public rout—
Where they that are without would fain go in,
And they that are within would fain go out."

The same sentiment is expressed by Emerson, Webster, Quitard and Montaigne. John Selden says, "marriage is a desperate thing." John probably knew. Dean Swift was a wise boy in the study of human nature and his thoughts on the subject are not to be passed by lightly, "The reason why so few marriages are happy is because young ladies spend their time in making nets, not in making cages," he says. The thought is commended to young ladies.

The sentiment that I would put forth for the benefit of the young correspondent is that of Socrates. It may leave the young man just where he was before, but probably just as far as he will ever get. When Socrates was asked whether it was better to marry or not he replied, "Whichever you do, you will repent it."

What is a poor young man, facing the great problems of life, to do?

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Reform the Reform School.

Mankato Free Press: The reformation of the state reform school is something that the people demand. The revelations that came out of the investigation of conditions at the institution were shocking to the better self of the citizenry of this commonwealth.

There is a decided belief among most people that the inmates of the school can be disciplined without the use of the gad or strapping them over a barrel to be flogged by fellows who should be employed at a slave plantation rather than that a reformatory institution.

If Supt. Whittier cannot enforce discipline without bringing into use methods of the barbarians, then some one should be put in charge of the school who can.

Several Good Measures.

Albert Lea Times: The measures which are now before the state legislature providing for the non-partisan election of state supreme and district judges, also to take the choosing of county superintendents of schools out of politics, as well as the appointment of the state superintendent of public instruction, are measures which ought to become laws.

The Beneficial Moisture.

Stillwater Gazette: The beautiful snow. Don't throw a brick or a fit. No harm meant. The snow last night was laden with moisture, just what the farmer ordered, and it came down noiselessly without a jar, striking close to the earth and slowly but surely working its way down where it will nourish the roots of the grass, vegetables, fruits, etc., so necessary to the health, wealth and prosperity of the country. Now a few April showers, and this great Northwest, that went dry last year, will come back into its own.

Minnesota's First Citizen.

St. Cloud Journal Press: Cyrus Northrop took charge of the University of Minnesota as president in 1884. He retired from that position March 31, and is succeeded by Dr. George Edgar Vincent. For twenty-seven years President Northrop devoted his great talents and his warm heart to our university, and these have been the years of its great development. He has accomplished a noble work, most faithfully and ably.

He has been more than a successful college president, and is today our first citizen, beloved by all. It is given to but very few men on this earth to occupy so important a station, and to stamp his principles of integrity and loyalty in the heart of so many young men and women, on the threshold of life's work. His influence has ever been for high thoughts and honest endeavor. He merits the gratitude of the people, which is so gladly given him. The same cordial good will is extended to his brilliant successor.

A Humorous Reason.

Red Wing Republican: The more some people explain, the funnier they get. Think of rebuking Theodore Roosevelt by voting to sustain Senator Lorimer of Illinois! And yet that is the reason one senator gives for his vote.

Ministers' Salaries.

Two Harbors Journal-News: The question of the low average of ministers' salaries is again to the front. One way to increase salaries in many communities is by having fewer churches. If in a place there are six or eight struggling churches trying to do in a weak, unsatisfactory way what two strong churches could do effectively, the salaries of preachers are sure to be close down to the starving point. But the way out may rest very largely with ministers themselves. Anyway, the pulpit is not the only place in which a man may serve God and his fellowmen.

Always a Kicker.

Fergus Falls Journal: It is regretable to read that twelve inches of snow fell at Duluth. The agricultural sections need it, and the iron crop could get along without it.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A hot temper chills warm friendships.

Even a mean man can despise it in others.

Lawyers have such bad names they just naturally drift into public life.

Sometimes a boy does pretty well by taking after his grandfather instead of his father.

Public dinners wouldn't be much more worth while than they are even if there weren't the headaches afterward.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: A stitch in time may save a hole in the hosiery.

The small boy's stomach is usually in apple pie order.

Pasting old jokes in a scrapbook is one way of filing saws.

Pain has been known to transform a child into a groan person.

The alligator has a great snap, but even a lazy man don't care for it.

It's as easy for a man to keep money as it is for a woman to keep a secret.

Nothing is more disagreeable than a man full of whisky—unless it is a man full of himself.

When you see a man armed with a corkscrew the chances are he is going to be present at an opening.

Breathes there a woman with soul so dead that she can resist reading a magazine article on "How to Be Beautiful"?

The Insulting Cigar.

Pall Mall Gazette: Dragutin Jivkovitch, a lawyer's clerk, summoned a comrade for having savagely attacked him at a moment when he politely offered him a smoke, writes our Belgrade correspondent. The defendant proved that Dragutin owed him a considerable sum, and whenever asked to return it invariably responded by putting under the nose of his creditor an odorous havana.

The magistrate found that this was abominable provocation, and severely condemned the cynicism of Dragutin, whom he advised to mend his ways.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Judge: He—Darling, be mine and your smallest wishes shall ever be fulfilled.

She (coldly)—I am able to do that myself. What I want is a man who will gratify my biggest wishes.

Boston Transcript: "What! Ten years in an office and you've never once been promoted. What kind of a man do you work for?"

"A promoter."

Baltimore American: "My little dear, are you crying because your doll is stuffed with sawdust?"

"No, sir, I'm crying because they found the lace my mamma was trying to smuggle in on her."

Judge: "You used to say," said his boyhood friend, "that you would be willing to starve in an attic if you could have fame."

"Yes, I know. But I've changed my mind. I've tried starving in an attic."

Punch: Husband—I say, how many I's in bilious?

Wife—One, of course. You told me how to spell it yesterday, when I was writing.

Husband—Ah!—but I'm writing now, and that makes all the difference.

Puck: Father—I never smoked when I was your age. Will you be able to tell that to your son?

Willie—Not and keep my face as straight as you do, pop!

Washington Star: "Never let it be said that you accepted votes that were given for a financial consideration."

"Oh, well," replied the man who isn't sensitive. "I don't think a dollar apiece is enough of a financial consideration to be worth mentioning."

Argonaut: Native to Cornwall, he went to London and was gazing into a shop window and obstructing the footpath. A cockney stumbled against him, and seeing that he was from the country, said to him:

"My man, have you seen a wagonload of monkeys pass down the street?"

"No—o," Cousin Jack replied; "faaled out of the wagon, ded'ee?"

Harper's Bazar: "Bridget, I feel so ill I wish you would not go out today. Couldn't you get what you are going for just as well tomorrow?"

"Faith, an' O! can—tomorrow or anny day. I was goin' out to get mesilf a new job."

The Indian's Vision.

Scientific American: More or less wonderful accounts have from time to time been given of the powers of vision possessed by savage races. During a British anthropological expedition to Torres Straits the visual faculty of the natives was carefully tested, and from these tests the conclusion was reached that the excellence of vision shown by the savages has a psychological origin; that is to say, it arises from knowing what to look for. When the civilized man acquires familiarity with the environment he can see as far as they can. Thus the power of an Indian to tell the sex of a deer at such a distance that distinguishing features like antlers were invisible was found to rest upon his knowledge the peculiar gait of the male deer.

BONDING COMPANY PAYS.

Settles With Cass County for Shortage of Former Official.

Fargo, N. D., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another chapter in the shortage of Former County Treasurer McConville of Cass county, occurred today when the bonding company paid the amount of the shortage. The company refused to do this until a friendly suit was commenced by the county as a matter of record. The surety people learned that the county treasurer had paid many personal bills by issuing county checks direct to his oreditors. The bonding company believes it can recover on many of these as the county checks were not issued for official business and it will contend those who received payment for private bills in this manner must have known there was fraud of some form.

Good Housewives
Make This Cough Syrup.

To quickly cure the most stubborn cough and break up a cold in six to eight hours, there can be nothing better than the following simple remedy, for it has been tried in thousands of cases with wonderful success. Its popularity is increasing because of its cheapness and positive curative virtues.

Obtain of druggist a 2½ oz. package of Essence Mentho-Laxene; empty into a pint bottle. Then make a syrup by pouring a half pint of boiling water over a pint of granulated sugar. Stir, cool and fill up the bottle with syrup. Full directions for use are enclosed in the package. This home-made syrup effects a saving, too, of from two to three dollars as compared with labeled cough medicines.

VAGS GO TO SUPERIOR

They Are Now Shunning Duluth Because of Its Rockpile.

Four Times as Many Tramps in Superior as Formerly.

Duluth's rockpile is driving the vags to Superior.

As is well known people of this class do not like to work. If they stay in Duluth they are sent to the Point of Rocks, where they are given a hammer and set at work.

The work does not appeal particularly to the majority.

It is stated that there are four times as many tramps in Superior as there were a few weeks ago.

That they are shunning Duluth is noticeable. There are but few who apply for lodgings at the local station and those that do are told either to go to the rockpile and work or get out of town. Most of them prefer to get out of town.

The Superior figures follow:

"From March 29 to April 4, inclusive, of this year a total of 178 have been given free lodging as against 44 in 1910. For March 29 of 1911 there were 29 as against 6 on that date last year. March 30 there were 11 furnished free beds as against 13 the previous year, this being the only day in the week when the number was larger in 1910. On March 31 there were 42 given accommodations this year as against 2 last year. On April 1, 2, 3, and 4, respectively the following number were given beds, 34, 30, 20 and 12, as against 5, 9, 4, and 4, respectively, during the year 1910."

BOY'S INJURIES FATAL.

Fergus Falls, Minn., April 6.—Carl Backstrom, the little Pelican Rapids boy who was injured in a gasoline fire last December, died Wednesday from the effects of his injuries. The boy was skating with some companions and the party found a can of gasoline and poured it upon a fire which they had built beside the pond. An explosion followed and the Backstrom boy's clothing was set afire.

GIN FOR THE KIDNEYS

Good pure gin is splendid for the kidneys, bladder and other urinary organs when properly prescribed. A leading physician gives the following as the best and most reliable prescription. Six ounces good pure gin, half ounce murax compound, half ounce fluid extract buchu. Mix well and take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time. All good druggists have these ingredients This quickly cures backache, rheumatic pains and other well known symptoms. Don't let weak or sick kidneys go without treatment as serious trouble may develop rapidly.

He has been a member of the police force since 1893, working his way from the ranks, until he now holds the highest position on the force, with the exception of the chief. He is recognized as one of the most efficient officers ever identified with the local police department.

Patrolman "Bob" Smollet, known as the oldest policeman in point of service was chosen vice president of the association, and Detective Frank Schulte was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Both have been on the force for years and have established excellent records.

The business meeting followed the annual inspection, which was made by Chief Troyer and Capt. Fiskett. The men showed up well, appearing in uniforms which were above reproach, greatly to the satisfaction of their superior officers.

Will Be Popular Shoe Store.

Albert H. Wieland, who is to continue the Wieland Shoe company store at 222 West First street, is going to have one of the best appointed shoe stores in the state. Duluth carpenters, painters and decorators are working early and late to have the store in readiness for the Easter opening Saturday. Albert H. Wieland believes with the low rent on First street he can make the old shoe store more popular than ever, as he will sell so much cheaper than when on Superior street. Walk a block and save a dollar on your shoes, will be the magnet that will draw the trade.

PROMINENT IN MEDICAL WORLD

Physician Who Ended His Life a Former University Professor.

The funeral of Dr. E. C. Adams, who ended his life Tuesday evening by swallowing chloroform at his residence, 214½ West Third street, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from Crawford's undertaking rooms. Interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery.

Dr. Adams was head of the Adams' Specialty company. He is said to have had an excellent past record as a physician. It is stated that at one time he was a professor of medicine at Northwestern university for three years, and that he was formerly medical inspector at West Point. Recently he has suffered from ill health and brooded over it until he became so despondent that he decided to end his life.

THREE MAYORS IN FOUR DAYS

Alderman Charles Hoar Is City's Chief Executive Temporarily.

The occupants of the mayor's chair at the city hall are rotating pretty rapidly these days. Three men have been mayor of the city in the last four days.

Monday Mayor Cullum was at the chief executive's desk. Monday night he left for St. Paul, and the next day Joseph Shartel, president of the common council, assumed the reins. Last evening he left for a short business trip on the range, and today Charles Hoar, alderman of the Sixth ward and vice president of the council, is at the head of the local government. If Mr. Hoar also leaves while the first two are out of the city, somebody will have to go to the city charter to find out who is mayor.

SENSATION FIZZLES OUT

Woman Says in Court That Policeman Told Official Secrets.

Turns Out That Man Was Not on Force—Cookman Woman Fined.

The trial of Minnie Cookman, formerly a woman barber in this city, which ended this morning in her conviction of keeping a house of ill-fame upstairs at 228 Lake avenue south, furnished more excitement than any case which has been tried in police court for many months.

Dora Asher, arrested on a charge of being a dissolute woman, sent a thrill through the crowded courtroom when she declared that she had been told police secrets by a plain clothes man on the police force; later she fainted when Police Prosecutor Walter F. Dacey was "roasting" her in his address to the court, and to cap the climax Judge Windom gave the Cookman woman a most scathing lecture.

Fines Are Imposed.

After finding Mrs. Cookman guilty, Judge Windom imposed a fine of $100, with the alternative of thirty days in the county jail. She was then arraigned on the charge of selling liquor without a license, on which she will also stand trial. The Asher woman, who had been called as a witness for the defense in this action, then entered a plea of guilty to the statutory charge against her. A straight sentence of sixty days in the county jail was handed out to her, but sentence was suspended with the understanding that she would get out of town, and stay out. Mabel McNamara, arrested with her on the same charge, will stand trial, it is understood.

"I wish all the decent people in town could have been here to hear the facts brought out by this case," said Judge Windom. "It would show them the depths of degradation to which people can allow themselves to sink. If they knew that such conditions were existing there would be no occasion for the police to keep after such places. Inside of ten days persons of this kind would be driven out of the city."

The court then devoted a few remarks arraigning Mrs. Cookman. He stated that she was "half-brained," and that she thought herself possessed of a quantity of good looks. He said he didn't think that such was the case. He said she had no business in running such a place as she has been conducting over the saloon at 228 Lake avenue south.

Bomb Proves Fizzle.

Yesterday afternoon Dora Asher said that she knew that the man to whom she was introduced at the Cookman place was a "stool pigeon," and that she so informed Mrs. Cookman when she had seen him. Asked how she knew he was a "stool pigeon," she said that a lot of people had told her so. Pinnned down as to who had given the information she stated that an "officer" had done so.

The statement caused a flurry. If any officer were discovered telling inside information, such as that was supposed to be, it would mean at least the loss of his job. The Asher woman said that she didn't know his name, but that he was a plain clothes man. That intensified the interest, but in the end nothing came of it. It appeared that her informant had been one of the men who had been discharged from the force some time ago for drinking in a Lake avenue saloon on election day, and it is thought that the man told her after he had seen her in the room with the "stool pigeon" at the Cookman place.

When Attorney Dacey was addressing the jury this morning he called attention to the Asher woman in a manner that was not complimentary. Turning around to where she was sitting he saw that she had fainted. The proceedings were interrupted and she was carried to a room at the rear of the courtroom, where she was revived.

EVIDENCE ON DELAYED CASES

Is to Be Taken in the Cowan Impeachment Trial.

Bismarck, N. D., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Evidence bearing upon delayed cases will be taken by the North Dakota court of impeachment against Judge Cowan. Objection to such evidence had been made by the respondent on the ground that no impeachable offense is charged. A big fight over this question had been anticipated but the defense this morning announced that it was ready to proceed with such evidence, only making the objection for the purpose of opening the way to arguments on that score at the conclusion of the case.

Another big fight arose shortly before noon on the introduction of evidence on unspecified cases, but no decision was made. The prosecution now wants to introduce such evidence under certain charges which were ruled out on the blanket specification formerly promulgated.

AID FOR CHINESE.

Minnesota Sends $267 for Relief of Starving Ones.

St. Paul, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Subscriptions received up to date by Kenneth Clark, president of the Merchants National bank, for the famine sufferers in China totaled $267, which was yesterday sent to the headquarters of the American Red Cross society at Washington, to be forwarded to the Flowery Kingdom.

This amount has been collected following the proclamation issued by the governor and the mayor some weeks ago urging citizens of St. Paul and Minnesota to help the Chinese sufferers, of whom it is said more than a million face starvation.

The remittances sent by Mr. Clark yesterday were collected through the Minnesota Red Cross society and according to some of the reports received from China will help sustain life in at least 100 families for a few weeks. This amount is merely a "starter," so far as Minnesota is concerned, and it is expected that as much more will be contributed within a short time.

PAUPER HAS RICH WIFE

Claim Made About Old Man Inmate of Crow Wing County Poor Farm.

Woman Living in Affluence in New York, Husband Is Object of Charity.

Brainerd, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—William M. Barnes, aged 84, an inmate of the Crow Wing county poorhouse, is said to have a wife well-to-do, living in ease back in Camden, N. Y. This anomalous condition became known through the efforts of Jay Henry Long, a local attorney, to clear title to some iron land in which the old man was once interested.

According to the local attorney in the early 80's Barnes came to this county and filed on a homestead. About ten years ago he mortgaged one of the 80-acre tracts and lost it. He proved up and continued to reside on the balance, living with a woman supposed to be his wife, who is said to have signed deeds with him as his wife. Subsequently Barnes sold the balance of his little farm near Merrifield and the woman died.

Woman Not Legal Wife.

The land eventually reached the hands of the iron operators and in his search of the title, Mr. Long discovered that the woman who had been living with Barnes was not his wife but that he had a wife and two children in Camden, N. Y. It was found that he had left New York in 1879 after settling upon his wife all his possessions, between $60,000 and $70,000, and the woman, being of a frugal disposition, still has it and more too.

Attorneys in Utica, N. Y., were communicated with and efforts were made by them to get Mrs. Barnes to quitclaim her interest in the iron lands in this county and thus clear the title, but entrance was denied to her home. Letters were then written the family of the sad plight in which the old man was and how he was spending his declining years in the poorhouse. No reply was received.

The Crow Wing county commissioners have taken up the case and he may be shipped to New York. A suit has been commenced to cure the title and the deputy sheriff at Camden is doing his best to see the aged Mrs. Barnes.

Woman is Paralyzed.

She recently suffered a stroke of paralysis and is kept confined to her room by her children. The process server has tried in every possible way to gain entrance in order to see Mrs. Barnes, but had been outwitted.

Should the old lady die, then her inchoate right of dower will be at an end. But should her husband in the poorhouse die first, it complicates matters and clouds the title. The county commissioners are inquiring into the matter and old Barnes, who does not care to leave, may be returned to Camden.

DEAD BODY HANGS FROM CAR WINDOW

Passenger on Milwaukee Train Shoots Self While in Lavatory of Smoker.

Mankato, Minn., April 6.—While en route to Minneapolis on the Milwaukee train which passed through this city Monday morning, a well dressed man, attired in a neat blue suit and cap, apparently a traveling or business man, took his life. He had a first class ticket to Minneapolis, a small sum of money and in one pocket was found a sealed letter addressed to J. S. Lucas, Rural Route No. 1, Rencairn. There was no other clue to his identity.

The body was taken from the train at Rosemount and turned over to County Coroner Brady, who later caused it to be removed to Farmington to an undertaking establishment. The man was thought to be from Minneapolis by passengers, who said he had been seen about Elko for several days.

The man entered the lavatory of the smoking car and shot himself through the head with a revolver. His body hung partly out of the window for nearly an hour before a brakeman discovered it when the train was approaching Rosemount.

Two revolvers and a bottle of whisky were strapped to the dead man's body.

Aside from the letter which was addressed to a man named Lucas, in Georgia, and signed J. B. B., nothing served to give any clue to the dead man's name. The letter had been written to the Georgia party, but the writer evidently had forgotten to mail it. In the hope of obtaining some information concerning his charge, the coroner wired Mr. Lucas.

AFTER TIMBER THIEVES.

Duluth Government Agent Is Inspecting North Dakota Charges.

Hazelton, N. D., April 16.—John C. Brown of Duluth, Minn., who is in the government service, has been here for a week past, looking after various matters pertaining to government affairs.

Besides looking after those homestead proofs against which protests have been filed, Mr. Brown has been hot on the trail of a certain few who have been cutting posts and other timber from government land.

Recently he made a trip out along the Missouri river and as a result was quite anxious to interview a resident out that way against whom he claimed to have conclusive evidence for removing posts from government land. Failing to locate said resident he came to Hazelton and requested a settlement in the sum of $30 from a Hazelton merchant, whom he alleged had purchased the aforesaid posts. The merchant had no knowledge of where his purchased posts had been cut, and not believing himself a criminal refused to settle with the agent of Uncle Sam.

Up to date nothing further has been done. Mr. Brown is at present in the neighborhood of Winona, where he is investigating further complaints.

PLAN POULTRY FARM.

Laurium Couple to Engage in a Profitable Business.

Laurium, Mich., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Chynoweth and James Wilcox of this place have established a large poultry farm at Old Colony, near here, where they intend to raise blooded stock and chickens for the market. They will also furnish eggs for the Calumet market, which is worth to egg dealers something over a million dollars per annum, with all the eggs and poultry shipped in at the present time. The Roycroft farms at Sidnaw, fifty miles from here, are the nearest chicken and poultry farms to this community.

CHANGE BELTRAMI COUNTY DISTRICTS

Candidates in County in Future Will Find New Condition of Things.

Bemidji, Minn., April 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Beltrami county commissioners have voted to redistrict the county. LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

DATES SET FOR SERIES

Duluth and Superior Teams Will Clash May 3 to 8.

First Three Games in Superior and Last Three in Duluth.

At a conference held in Superior last evening between the representatives of the Duluth and Superior teams, the dates for the playing of the spring series of six games between the two teams were set.

On May 3, 4 and 5 the first three games will be played in Superior. If arrangements can be made for the use of Athletic park, the remaining three games will be played on this side of the bay May 6, 7 and 8. If the arrangements cannot be made for the park, the entire series of six games will be contested at Hislop park, Superior.

The Duluth representatives were inclined to hold out for the series opening here, but objections were registered on the part of the Superior people. Then it was suggested that the games be played on alternate dates in the two cities. For some reason this, too, met with objection. After some arguing, the arrangement noted above was made.

The series between the two teams will be completed in time to allow the Sox to leave for Red Wing for the opening game for the season. On May 10 the Sox will open with the Indians, and with the practice games on the spring training trip, the exhibition games with Kid Taylor's hired men should put the O'Brienites in the very best possible condition for the opening game.

Last season bad weather and injuries put the Sox in bad condition for the opening game with Winona. With the ordinary kind of luck the Sox will be in great shape the present season and should get away with speed from the opening game.

FIGHTERS WARY OF MORAN, SAYS HARVEY

New York, April 6.—"Silent Charley" Harvey is turning gray over the treatment of Owen Moran.

"Will you show me one of these alleged 133-pound lightweights who is willing to box Moran?" piped Charley, drawing the walrus brush to the right and then to the left.

"Here's 'Knockout' Brown and his manager, Dick Morgan, making all sorts of promises to men he has beaten and simply ignoring Moran entirely.

"Brown has beaten Murphy, still he says he will box him first. He also shaded Hogan, according to the majority of New York writers, but Morgan goes right ahead and promises him a go. If Mr. Brown is such a great fighter, why doesn't he give Moran, a boy he has never met, a chance. We are willing to wait and we are willing to do weight; why let us out of the argument?

"Moran had to give ten pounds to McFarland in order to get a match, and then showed Packey up more than any boy the Chicago lad has ever met.

"I have the best 133-pounder in the world, but the trouble is that the rest of them are shiestepping as fast as they can. I am told by Coffroth that Wolgast agrees to box us July 4, but I want to see the forfeits up before I'll believe it."

INDIANS WILL REPORT AT RED WING APRIL 20.

Red Wing, Minn., April 6.—On Thursday, April 20, Manager Fred Cook and his candidates will report in this city for spring training. The squad will be made up of about twenty men.

Harry Brown, an outfielder from the Northwestern league, has been signed by Manager Cook. Brown is a big fellow, weighing 190 pounds, and is strong on fashing the leather. He is also said to be a fast gardener. Al Reider is the latest addition to the list of infielder candidates. The local boy, it is a cinch, can hold down the second station better than any of the men posing at the midway sack last season, and by playing every-day ball it is believed that he will burn up the infield territory.

SUNDAY BASEBALL BILL KILLED IN NEBRASKA.

Lincoln, Neb., April 6.—The Bartling bill, legalizing Sunday baseball, was killed in the house yesterday afternoon when its supporters failed to muster the sixty votes necessary to pass it over the veto of Governor Aldrich. The vote was 55 to 40. The senate passed the bill over the veto.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

Jack Johnson and Sam Langford Have Yet to Show Their Full Ability—Rademacher Visits Duluth—Fitz as Bernhardt—The Playing Manager.

(BY BRUCE.)

IS THE present age of pugilism going to pass without two great pugilists showing to the world their true worth through the medium of one great contest which would bring to the fore all their cleverness and craft?

Have you stopped to consider for one brief moment that neither Johnson nor Langford has been fully extended since this famous pair came into the full possession of their fame as pugilists?

Here is the very strange spectacle of two great fighters going on the other side of the hill, for neither of them will be any better than he is at the present time, without either fighting the one fight that has given the public a true line on his ability.

Langford is getting to that age where a pugilist surely gets no better and may be considered very fortunate if he holds the form he has shown in some of his fights of the past. The same goes for the larger smoke. Johnson is 34 years of age, and to date pugilism has shown few fighters that remained good at that age.

None of us know just how good these black wonders are. To judge the full measure of their fistic ability would be like staking heavily a pink zebra against a wild ass of the prairies in a race where there were three turns.

Go back over the history of most of the great fighters and you will find that they each had the one great fight in which they gave to the world all they had.

There was John L. Sullivan and his memorable fight with Jake Kilrain. You might chirp in with the Mitchell fight in France, for that Mitchell boy gave John all he wanted in Chantilly; but for the great example we will take the seventy-five round contest with Jake Kilrain, fought under a blinding Southern sun that was hotter than the Methodist camp meeting idea of the dark regions where sin holds high carnival.

James J. Corbett had more than one great fight. There was that sixty-one round contest with Peter Jackson, one of the greatest fights ever fought in this country, and there was the fight of the century, that great battle with old Bob Fitzsimmons, fought at Carson City.

It might be added that Jim's fight with Jim Jeffries at Coney Island was another great fight wherein the man with the one-time pompadour gave the world all the fighting ability he possessed.

There was Bob Fitzsimmons and his last fight with Jeffries at San Francisco. In that battle the old vet gave the world such an exhibition of fighting as no man since his time has given; and yet he lost.

There was Tommy Burns. They have laughed at him and called him the worst champion we have ever had. Like some of the others who preceded him, he sure did show all the fighting ability he possessed in that Rush Cutters' bay mixup with the present champion of the world. After that battle there was no one who could say that Thomas did not extend himself.

Now we come to the present champion of the world. There was his fight with Tommy Burns, and he won that in a walk. There were his fights with Lang and Peter Felix, down Australia way. They were jokes; the rummiest sort. No one has ever accused the champion of extending himself the pleasant afternoon he kept poor old Jeff from regaining the tin foil crown he turned over to Marvin Hart.

When since he has become one of the great fighters of the world has Jack Johnson ever extended himself and shown the world just what he was capable of doing?

You can answer that question with one word, for Jack has yet to show the sporting world just how fast he can fight.

There is that squat figure of the cave man, Samuel Adams Langford, the greatest fighter in the world, according to the serious verdict of some men who are supposed to be very wise judges of both cocktails and prize-fighters.

Possessed of wonderful shoulders and a body that fairly radiates strength, this man, built on the lines of a gorilla, with long and powerful arms and a funny flat head, presents an interrogation point to the world that cares to speculate regarding him.

Just how great is Langford? Can he whip Johnson? Is he one of the greatest fighters who ever lived?

You might go out and make the late Pittsburg Phil look like a tinhorn after he paid his fuel bill, and yet you might never know the answer. It may be that none of us will ever know just how great either Langford or Johnson is.

That's why the whole thing is so funny. One man is in jail and the other one is some place in Europe. One man, the one in jail, is said to be going the pace that has made sanitoriums lucrative business institutions, while the other will never be any better than he is at the present time. Will they meet? Champ Clark's future actions would be an easy one to dope alongside of this one.

Most followers of the sport of prize fighting—and many of these followers ride in Pullmans and must be wise, at least going to the fight—believe a meeting between Langford and Johnson will be productive of the greatest fight of the age.

Others say that Langford will never have a chance. But back to the original subject; neither of the fighters has been extended, and the only way, apparently, that the public may ever know just how great Johnson or Langford is will be to bring the pair together.

Until Johnson begins to feel the pace worse than he does at the present time it is a joke, one of the Joe Miller sort, to mention Kaufmann in the same breath with the champion. Langford could murder Kaufmann.

There you have it. These two men stand out above all of the others, and yet the public does not know the true worth of either of them, and a meeting will probably be the only means of bringing this knowledge to light.

Rademacher Was Here.

RADEMACHER, the star end on the University of Minnesota football team only a season ago, was in the city for a short time yesterday. The crack end looks fit to go into a game today and put up the samo dashing article of football that made him one of the greatest flank men ever turned out at the Gopher institution.

At the present time "Raddy" is practicing law at Gilbert. He became familiar with Blackstone during his football course. Law is an incident with some of the football men at the university, or ot least it used to; but it is said that Rademacher really got to know Mr. Blackstone pretty well, and in this respect was a shining example to some of the other moleskin gang and also a pet of Jimmy Page.

Be that as it was—the fact remains that "Raddy" has hung his sheepskin in the effervescent breezes of Northern Minnesota and is at the present time eating three regular and orthodox meals per diem.

Good for Rademacher.

Fitz in the Role of Bernhardt.

SOME writer has called Fitzsimmons the Bernhardt of his time. In that artistic metaphor he meant to convey the impression that the freckled-faced wonder has more forceful art in his fists than the rest of the bunch, and also that he kept on when everybody but the promoters thought he ought to retire.

We might suggest that the old boy touched lightly into comedy, as the divine Sarah has done, the evening he hit large Ed. Dunkhorst in the protuberent stomach, those in the $2 seats believing Fitzsimmons had punctured the big man.

He reached the heights of tragedy the night he went down to defeat before the ponderous fists of James J. Jeffries. He played repertoire when he was put with the Jeffries combination meeting a different piece of cheese every evening.

As a fighter there are many of us willing to concede that Fitzsimmons had much that was artistic and also forceful; as an actor there are also many of us who think the law against a public nuisance should be brought into being any time the freckled freak starts doing some of that heroic stuff which Jim Hackett and Teddy Roosevelt can get away with so well.

Regarding the Playing Manager.

ASCRIBE has remarked that the end of the playing manager is at hand. It might be remarked that any time a manager can play baseball with the ability of Frank Leroy Chance or Fred Clarke or Hal Chase, he will keep on playing until Father Time clips his salary wing or gives him several charley horses.

with Chicago since 1905, declared that he would retire from baseball and enter business in Cincinnati.

MORRIS WILL MEET ALL COMERS

Tulsa, Okla., April 6.—With challenges before him from Sandy Ferguson, Gunboat Smith, Ed Ikerman, Gunner Moir, Arthur Felkey, Jim Barry, Jim Flynn and others, which have come since Morris knocked out Mike Schreck at Sapulpa last Tuesday, Frank Ufer, millionaire manager of Carl Morris, today issued the following signed statement:

"Carl Morris will engage in no boxing contests at present. It is impossible to accept all the challenges now before him. If they will but wait their turn, all of these challenging pugilists, with a record, will be accommodated. I am confident that each and every one of them will receive the treatment Marvin Hart and Mike Schreck got, and by waiting they will get it in less time than at present.

Everybody Satisfied.

"The performance of Morris in the bout with Schreck was very satisfactory to myself and to his trainer, Con Riley. Such criticisms as have been hurled at him by disappointed promoters and certain sporting writers does not affect or disturb Carl Morris or the plans I have for him.

"It is a fact that in the seven battles in which he has engaged all of his opponents have gone the knockout route, as shown by the following record:

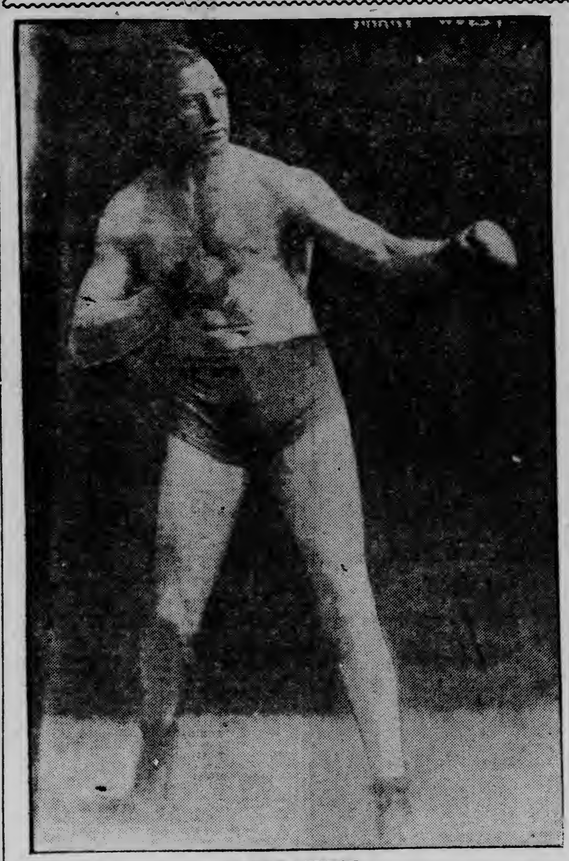
"Tim Burley, Muskogee, three rounds; Ed Anderson, Tulsa, five rounds; Battling Britt, Sapulpa, one round; Jim Harper, Tulsa, three rounds; Marvin Hart, Sapulpa, three rounds; Spike Kennedy, Bartlesville, two rounds; Mike Schreck, Sapulpa, six rounds.

"None of the above mentioned fights gave Carl Morris even a tryout."

BILLY WAGNER GIVEN DECISION AT WINDSOR.

Windsor, Ont., April 6.—Billy Wagner of Chicago was awarded a popular verdict over Sammy Trott of Columbus in their eight-round bout last night. The men are lightweights.

ANOTHER WHITE HOPE IS RISING DOWN OKLAHOMA WAY



HARRY WUEST.

Harry Wuest has been in Tulsa, Okla., doing some boxing with Carl Morris, the Oklahoma wonder. He went out there with Con Riley, who trained Morris for his bout with Schreck. Wuest went along to get experience with Morris. So far Wuest has not met any big ones, but he has fought some pretty handy men including Mike Schreck and his record so far is seven knockouts in twelve fights. He is 6 feet tall, 23 years old and has a reach of 78 inches, which is longer than that of Jeffries or Johnson.

YOST WILL TEACH BACKS HOW TO KICK

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 6.—A score of football men, veterans and green timbers met and laid plans for spring practice. The work will be begun immediately after the April vacation, which ends April 17, and continue well into June. From the interest displayed it seems certain that at least twenty candidates for backfield and end positions will turn out to go through the maneuvers which Yost has prescribed.

This training will not be strenuous work by any means, as the coach has given orders that the men confine themselves to practice in handling the ball. It is his purpose to have every man in the backfield capable of kicking, and in this manner build up a bewildering series of trick plays. He attempted to make kickers of all his backs last fall, but the time was too limited; hence his resolution to drive the men to their work before college closes this spring.

The eligibility of every man will be determined before the beginning of spring vacation, and when the undergraduates return the football squad will be ready for work from the first day of classes. At least an hour every day of the week will be devoted to this practice. Yost will return to Ann Arbor, probably in May, and spend a day or two with his men.

All the veterans who played through last season will probably be out, with the possible exception of McMillan, who looks like a sure enough baseball player. The members of last fall's freshman aggregation attended the meeting en masse, and their enthusiasm promises much.

ABE ATTELL IS INJURED

Little Champion Cannot Fight for the Next Six Months.

New York, April 6.—Abe Attell, the featherweight champion, who suffered another injury to his left shoulder in his bout with Frankie Burns here last Friday night, has been ordered by his physicians not to fight again for at least six months, and probably for a year. There is a possibility that the arm is so badly injured that Attell will never be able to return to the prize ring.

The enforcement of retirement for a year means a loss of from $30,000 to $50,000 to the fighter, who had mapped out a busy campaign. One of his first matches was to have been with Knockout Brown, whom Manager Danny Morgan promised to send against the little champion as soon as Brown's ear was again in shape. Attell rested more than two months after the arm was first injured in his bout with Kilbane at Cleveland, but the rest did not prove long enough.

COFFROTH GETS MATCHES.

Sunshine Jim Has Star Bouts Booked for May and July.

San Francisco, Cal., April 6.—Though it is a long call from now until either of Jimmy Coffroth's twin-star matches becomes a reality, fans already are discussing the cards Coffroth will offer on May 27 and July 4. The first Coffroth attraction to be staged will be a twenty-round boxing contest between Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast and Challenger Frankie Burns of Oakland. The card to be offered on Independence day will be the winner of the Wolgast-Burns contest against the redoubtable Owen Moran of England. Both fights will be held in the afternoon.

Tony Caponi, the Italian middleweight, who fights Jack Dillon at Winnipeg on April 15, is out with a challenge to both Kelly and Thompson. Caponi offers to let either the Cyclone or Hugo name the conditions, and says he will accept, no matter what they are. He is willing to battle either man, winner take all, and weigh 158 any old time. Caponi was matched yesterday to fight Young Mahoney fifteen rounds at Winnipeg, April 25.

GET REVENGE ON SUPERIOR

Central Basket Ball Team Defeats Ancient Enemy By 28 to 23 Score.

Harris and Waldron Prove Stars for the Local Quint.

Last evening at the Central high school gymnasium the Duluth basket ball players secured revenge for their defeat earlier in the season at the hands of the Superior Central high school players, defeating the strong aggregation from across the bay by the score of 28 to 23.

Clever team work, a strong defense and the clever basket throwing of Capt. "Morrie" Harris and Waldron, the big star who has been out of the game most of the season, were factors that counted in the victory of the local quint.

Harris threw four baskets and Waldron scored an equal number. Johnson threw three from the field and Solheim and Jeronimus each scored one. Harris scored two points for his team from free throws.

The play of Harris and Waldron and Johnson on the offensive was one of the bright features of the game, while Jeronimus and Solheim did sterling work on the defense. It was the clever work of the guards that prevented the fast team from Superior from coming from behind and taking the game.

Five of Superior's points were garnered via the free throw route. Holman proved an adept at locating the basket from the foul line station, and but for his ability here, the score would have been more in favor of the D. C. H. S. players.

Dick Bradley played the star game for the Superior push. He threw five baskets from the field and his floor work was the fastest seen here the present season. Richard gave the locals more trouble than any forward encountered on the local floor the present season.

As a curtain raiser to the big game of the evening the second teams of the two schools met, the Duluth boys winning by the score of 17 to 8.

The lineup and summary:

Duluth first.		Superior first.

TEN PLAYERS HAVE REPORTED

White Sox Recruits Start Early Training—Brittan and Rheinhart Look Good.

A wire to The Herald from Darby O'Brien at Cleveland contains brief information as to the assembling of the team candidates at the University school grounds. The telegram was filed last evening and stated that ten candidates had reported and were showing up well. The harp says Third Baseman Brittan is looking fine and handles himself like a baseball player. He is fast, has a great whip and has shown ability to field fast hit balls and come in on the slow ones.

Rheinhart is another of the recruits who has pleased the critical optics of the Irish Orator. In his dispatch he says this fellow reminds him much of George Anderson.

From now on the candidates for the team will be reporting from day to day. It is expected that the majority will report at the Forest City, though the orator will pick some up at Rockford, atKalamazoo and at Akron.

The Sox are the first of the Minny league players to get under way and by the time the members of the team hit Duluth, for the pre-season games, they should be in good condition.

Easy for Red Sox.

Topeka, Kan., April 6.—The Boston Americans had no difficulty in beating the Topeka Western league team yesterday by 7 to 0.

WOMAN'S REALM.

The city schools close Friday for a whole long week.

It is the annual spring or Easter vacation and both teachers and children have been looking forward to it for some time as a much needed break in the montony of the long stretch from Christmas to the long summer vacation which begins about the middle of June.

It is just at this time each year that both the teachers and the children begin to get very tired. The spring vacation helps them to get over the hardest part of the year and makes the rest of the school year seem shorter.

Many of the teachers are going to their homes for a short visit. Some of them are from points within a few hours' ride from Duluth and in almost every instance they go to their homes for a week's rest. Many live too far away and will have to content themselves with as much rest as they can get here.

Among those who are going away are the following:

Miss Laura Frick will go to Minneapolis for her Easter vacation.

Miss Elizabeth Sexton will leave Friday evening for her home in Stillwater, Minn., to spend the week with her parents there.

Miss Fanny Lippett of 818 East Fifth street will go to Salem Springs for a week's visit.

Miss Mabel Delly will visit relatives in Altoona, Wis., during the week.

Miss Lucile Wittlin will visit in Spooner, Wis., during her vacation.

Miss Anetta Anderson will leave Friday for a ten-days' stay in Minneapolis.

Miss Mary Morton will go to St. Charles, Minn., Friday for a week's visit.

Miss Irene Walker will spend next week at her home in Two Harbors.

Miss Grace Wright expects to go to Janesville, Wis., to spend next week.

Miss Fairbanks will be the guest of friends in Austin, Minn., during her vacation.

Miss Elizabeth Johnson will leave tomorrow for Minneapolis to visit during the vacation.

Miss Addie Hawkes is planning to go to Spring Valley, Minn., for her rest week.

Miss Bertha Dosdall will spend next week in St. Paul.

Miss Margaret Thornton will visit in the Twin Cities during the coming week.

Miss Virginia Wilcutts will go to her home in Holyoke, Minn., for her vacation.

Miss Gertrude Walter will visit in St. Charles, Minn., next week.

Miss Emily Tetzeld leaves tomorrow evening for Deer Creek for a week's rest.

Miss Florence Whitney will be the guest of friends in Stevens Point, Wis., next week.

Miss Nettie Stansben will return to her home in Hibbing for a week's visit Friday.

Miss Irene Anderson will go to Buhl, Minn., tomorrow for her vacation trip.

Miss Elizabeth Kemp will leave Saturday for Lake Forest, Ill., to spend her vacation at her home there.

THE EVENING STORY

The Lightning's Mission

By Mary F. Paddock.

"Good morning, Mrs. Clarke. Here are all the little ones, too, helping their mother, like the good children they are."

"Why, good morning, Miss Winters. How you frightened me. Will you take a seat here, or shall we go inside? You look very warm and tired."

"I will sit here, if you please. Yes, I am rather tired. I have just been over to old Mrs. Williams' with a basket of things. She is quite feeble, you know, and has none too many delicacies."

"I heard that she was poorly, but I have been so busy I could not get away. It is a great blessing we have such an angel of goodness as you are in the neighborhood to look out for us all."

"If you begin to talk like that I shall go, but it is so cool on this veranda, it is a comfort to sit here. I am thankful that you did not lose your house when your barn was burned."

"And well might we all be, for then we should have been destitute indeed. As it is, we are bad enough off. Probably you have heard that the insurance had run out and not one penny can we get for our loss. Oh, why does the Lord send his grand but terrible lightning to do such damage? It seems so strange, too, that such poor folks as we should be called upon to suffer a loss like this, when there are plenty of rich around here who would not, in reality, feel the misfortune at all."

"No doubt, my dear, but He has some wise plan in view, for the carrying out of which He destroyed your property. He taketh away, but He giveth again, and many times doublefold. And you must remember that 'Every cloud has a silver lining.'" With these words Ruth Winters tried to cheer her friend and neighbor and make the outlook more pleasant.

But Mrs. Clark had more to say before she would be comforted much, and Ruth was glad that she had, for it was to find out about their trouble that she had purposely stopped.

"Father and the boys," she continued, "were real disheartened and discouraged at first, as they could see no possible way of building again this winter; but they bravely put their shoulders to the wheel and said that would never do. The horses and cattle must have some protection, and so they are trying to build something that will answer for a while. Father tries to appear cheerful, but I can see that he is making a great effort to do so."

"Yes, and it is very noble and brave in him, too. Perhaps the cloud may show a little of its silver lining yet. But I must be going, or you will have me here to dinner and make more dishes for these little girls to wash."

"Oh, please stay," answered the children, "we want you to, and do not mind at all about the dishes."

However, before Mrs. Clark could join with her little girls' wishes, Miss Winters had risen and was bidding them good-by.

As she was going home, she thought this is a great loss to them, and something must be done. I believe that if I should start right around this neighborhood, not with any subscription paper, but see what each one could give, I would be able to raise quite a sum to help them out.

Therefore, that very afternoon found her started on her mission, and by night she was quite elated with her success.

But the next morning she had planned a visit which she dreaded, and which she well knew would require all the will power that she could command to force her to accomplish her errand. Yet, she thought, there is no reason why Edward Roberts, by far the richest man in this vicinity, and, it is true, many think the most miserly, should not give his share to help along these poor people.

However, although she felt very brave, it was with almost a trembling hand she rang the bell at the commodious house of Edward Roberts.

Who should open the door but that very person himself, and he was very much surprised when he saw who his visitor was.

"Good morning, Miss Winters; step in, please," and leading the way into the library, he continued, "You are out early this morning."

"Yes, and I have a little which I would like to explain to you, if you have no objections."

"Certainly not; be seated, please, and I will listen."

His abrupt manner helped her to regain her complete self-possession, and she calmly and quietly told of her plan and the object of her visit.

While she was talking he watched her intensely, and when she had finished he sat thoughtfully gazing at the floor a few moments, then arose and went to his desk.

After writing a few words, he handed her a check for $500.

Before she could recover from her astonishment enough to thank him, he motioned her to be seated again, and, taking the chair opposite her, he said:

"I cannot blame you, Miss Winters, for being surprised at my action, but I have done this to prove to you that I am not as miserly and mean as people believe me, and that I can be very different from what I have been considered by the neighborhood. Since you came in I have done some pretty deep thinking. My old housekeeper is getting very feeble, and I must soon make a change.

"Now, my dear Miss Winters—Ruth—could you, would you consent to become my wife? I will do all in my power to make you happy, and as long as I have a penny you shall never want for anything.

"I am not a stranger to you, and you are far from being one to me, for I have watched you on your errands of mercy, and know of more of your good deeds than you think.

"Just consent to my wishes, and we will give this old town a surprise that it will not forget."

As he paused for an answer, Ruth said:

"This is so sudden and unexpected, Mr. Roberts, you will have to give me a little time to consider before I can answer you; and I thank you very much for your kindness."

"Just as you wish, but will not this day do, and may I call in the evening for my answer?"

Ruth's heart was throbbing so that she could hardly reply.

"Yes," she said, "you may call this evening." And she arose to go.

As she was leaving, he said, "Please think kindly of me, Miss Winters—Ruth—and do not disappoint me when I call."

Ruth went no farther that day, but straight home, and locking herself in her little cottage she thought and thought.

Now Ruth Winters could have had plenty of offers of marriage if she had given them any encouragement, but she had considered it her first duty to care for her aged and feeble parents, and she had performed this duty faithfully until death claimed them, within a month of each other. Since then she had lived alone, and would have been very lonely indeed, had she not occupied her mind as much as possible with other things.

Memory brought back all this, and now to become the wife of the richest man in town, how much good she could accomplish then.

When evening came, she had decided what to do, and she calmly met Edward Roberts at the door.

Before they reached the little parlor, he said, "What are you going to say to me, Miss Winters? Are you going to send me away?"

For an answer she turned, and placing her hand in his, replied: "No, Mr. Roberts—Edward—I have decided to become your wife, and I am sure that we can live happily together."

He gently kissed her forehead and said, "Thank you, my Ruth, time will prove that." Then placing her in a chair and taking the one beside her, he continued: "Now it is my turn to have a little plan, and I would like your opinion of it. The Clarks will probably have a good old-fashioned barn raising. Why not give our friends and neighbors a genuine surprise by appearing before them and take our marriage vows?"

"This is very wise and thoughtful, for if we have a wedding there are many who will insist upon making us presents when they can not afford it; and besides, none of them can say that we did not invite them to the wedding."

"Always thinking of others, as usual, my dear, and what you say is true."

"No, I shall have to confess that the good thought is yours this time."

Not many weeks after this, a beautiful September day, found nearly the whole town, one would think, assembled for the barn raising. The women, too, had done their share to help matters along, and Mrs. Clark said that she believed they had good things enough to feed half of Cuba.

Just before it was time for refreshments some one exclaimed: "I declare, if there isn't Edward Roberts coming with a brand new carriage and a pair of horses, and, as true as I live, Ruth Winters and the minister are with him."

As the boys took charge of the team, they came up the walk. Soon the people realized what was going to happen, for the minister, in a clear voice, began to talk:

"My good people, all, you will please witness the marriage ceremony of your neighbor, Edward Roberts, and one of the kindest friends that you ever had, Ruth Winters."

While congratulations and good wishes were being said, some one proposed three cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Roberts. They were given with a hearty good will and could be heard far beyond the Clark farm or the adjoining one.

As the people were preparing to go, some one was heard to say: "What a surprise we have had! I don't believe that this barn raising will be forgotten for one while."

And it was not, but the story was handed down to their children's children.

Household Economy

Care of Dish Cloths.

Dish and floor cloths after they are washed and boiled are very slippery, and you cannot wring them either with your hand or with the wringer. I have found that by putting a handful of salt in the rinsing water the slippery feeling will leave them.

White Veils Washed.

White lace veils are to be very popular again, and a hint as to the best way of washing them may be found useful. Let them lie in lukewarm water and rub the soiled parts gently between the palms of the hands. Now rinse them to get the soap out, then rinse them again in water that has been slightly blued, and in which a little cold starch has been dissolved. Roll the veil softly in a towel to absorb the superfluous moisture, then pin the veil into shape on a table or on the bed.

Take plenty of pins, stretch the veil gently, putting a pin in each scallop at the bottom and every two inches at the top. Also place them every two inches at the ends. The veil in this way will dry in about ten minutes, a fact that travelers will appreciate.

Washing Fine Lace Curtains.

Fine lace curtains are often torn, even by the most careful washing. To prevent this fold your curtains lengthways, then across and tack round to keep them folded without washing. Then you may move them about in the water without fear of tearing them. As the lace curtains should not be allowed to get very dirty, no rubbing is required.

Helps for the Housekeeper.

Common salt is one of the best agents for clearing marble washstands and sink fixtures.

Iron chiffon with tissue paper over it and with only a moderately hot iron.

Greasy silk or ribbons may be cleaned by rubbing them with magnesia or French chalk, and afterwards holding them before the fire. This will absorb the grease, afterwards the chalk can be brushed off.

Paste that will keep can be made this way: Make half a pint of good flour and water paste. Boil it well and be careful that there are no lumps in it. When cool add ten drops of oil of cloves, and put in a wide-mouthed bottle for use.

Your green blinds, to be cleaned, should be taken down and laid flat on a table. Put a dessert spoonful of household ammonia into a quart of warm water, and sponge the blinds with this mixture. Leave till dry and then rehang.

Health and Beauty Answers

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

B. C. V.: Remember this: "A beautiful face never lacks interest." It is to your credit that you wish to remain young looking as long as possible. Although marks of age—enlarged pores, rough skin and premature wrinkles—have begun to show in your once beautiful face, you can easily get rid of them and regain your charming complexion by using this greaseless cream jelly. Get an ounce of almozoin from any drug store; put it in a half pint cold water, adding two teaspoonfuls glycerine; stir and let stand a few hours. Apply this cream jelly and you will find it will remove all dirt and excess oil from the pores, make the large pores smaller and leave your skin soft, smooth and fresh looking. I find this excellent for preventing and removing blackheads, skin pimples, freckles and chapping. When used as a massage cream it is just grand for filling out hollow cheeks and removing wrinkles.

Mrs. T. C.: No one can afford to neglect his or her eyes, although most people do. If you want bright, clear, beautiful eyes that will be much admired, you can have them with very little care. Get an ounce of crystos at any drug store and dissolve it in a pint of water. Put two or three drops of this tonic in each eye daily and you will be surprised how it will strengthen your weak, tired eyes and make them strong, healthy and sparkling. Many oculists who use this simple tonic get excellent results in treating eye troubles generally. It is very soothing and has enabled many to dispense with wearing glasses.

Elsa: Nature did not intend women should have hairy growths on the face, and even though yours is coarse and dark, as you say, it can be easily and quickly removed without resorting to the pain and expense of the electric needle. I would suggest buying an ounce of delatone and mixing a little with water to form a stiff paste. Spread thickly on hairy surface and let remain two or three minutes, then rub off and wash the skin and the hairs are gone. Druggists charge a dollar an ounce for delatone, but it is well worth it as the first application usually suffices.

Anita: To restore the youthful tint and true blonde shade to your hair, you should wash it with marlax tea, made by steeping an ounce of marlax in a pint of water. Before using, cleanse the hair with canthrox and dry well, then wash in the marlax tea, after which rinse in clear water and dry. Do this and your hair will be glossy and fluffy and take on that rich blonde tint so pleasing to the eye.

Gertrude J.: The dandruff, itching scalp and brittle, falling hair with split ends of which you complain come from a diseased scalp, due to the presence of germs. The surest way to get rid of these troubles quickly and remove the germs will be to shampoo twice a month with canthrox and rub into your scalp twice a week a quinine hair tonic made by dissolving one ounce of quinzoin in half a pint of alcohol, then adding half a pint of cold water. Use this tonic regularly and it will remove the dandrug and irritation, stop your hair from falling out and make it soft and glossy.

Zoa: You must not use face powder if you want a smooth, rosy, healthy complexion. Powder enters the pores, enlarges them and eventually causes coarse, sallow skin—then wrinkles. To have a smooth skin that looks natural and not artificial, you must use a lotion. Here is a splendid recipe for an inexpensive one: Get from any drug store four ounces of spurmax, dissolve it in a half pint hot water, adding two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Apply this lotion to your face, neck and arms, rubbing gently a few moments and it will lend a most charming tone to your skin. Spurmax lotion removes the shine and gives a clean, clear, wholesome look to a sallow skin. If you desire a really charming complexion, taboo face powders. They rub off too easily and give that readily noticeable "painted" look which this lotion does not. This lotion is fine for cold sores, freckles, pimples and a sure protection to a delicate skin from biting winds and changes of weather.

Sylvia: Never wash your hair with soap. The alkali in soap is injurious to the hair, and in time will eat the very life out of it, causing your hair to become streaky and split at the ends. For a really good shampoo, simply dissolve a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. Shampoo and rinse with clear water. This shampoo lathers abundantly, removes all dirt, dandruff and excess oil, and will leave your hair soft, glossy and fluffy. This shampoo dries so quickly that it makes shampooing a real pleasure. After using it once you will imagine you have twice as much hair as you had before. This is the shampoo now used by many of the best hair dressers. After shampooing, an application of quinzoin hair tonic will prove very invigorating and refreshing to your scalp.

Celia: You can't expect to appear fascinating with pimples all over your face. During the winter anyone's blood is likely to become thick and sluggish from accumulated poisons, which frequently find an outlet in the face. This condition can be overcome by taking a good system tonic and blood purifier. An excellent and inexpensive, old-fashioned tonic of tried merit is made with kardene. Dissolve one ounce of kardene in a half pint alcohol, then add a half cup sugar and enough hot water to make a quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and you will soon feel like a new person, and your complexion will clear and take on a healthy tone.

Kate: (a) Reducing your weight without plenty of exercise and dieting may appear quite difficult, but I have a formula that has worked wonders where other remedies have failed. Put four ounces of parnotis in 1½ pints hot wafer. When cold, strain out the sediment and take a tablespoonful of the liquid before each meal. It is a harmless remedy and leaves the skin free from flabbiness. (b) To make your eyes bright and healthy, use crystos eye tonic regularly. It is sold by all druggists.

MEN NAMED ARE ALL NEW

Committeemen Nominated By La Follette Are Serving First Term.

Never Before Has Member Sought to Name Such a Committee.

Washington, April 6.—The resolution introduced by Senator La Follette today calling for a second investigation of the Lorimer case recites the action of the senate last session, when a move failed to declare the seat of Senator Lorimer vacant, because of alleged corruption of the Illinois legislature which elected him. The resolution recites:

"It appears from the published reports of the said Illinois state senate committee, that witnesses who were not called and sworn by the committee of this senate appointed to investigate said charges, have appeared before the said committee of the Illinois state senate and upon being interrogated have given important material testimony intending to prove that $100,000 was corruptly expended to secure the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate."

After naming the special committee, which it is proposed to have appointed to conduct a new inquiry, the resolution provides for meetings of the committee during the sessions of the senate and gives to it full authority to subpoena persons and send for papers and to administer oaths.

It is expected the adoption of the resolution will be opposed by senators who voted for Senator Lorimer last session, and that an effort will be made to have the resolution referred to the committee on privileges and elections, of which Senator Dillingham of Vermont will be the new chairman. The Vermont senator, as a member of the committee, voted last session to unseat Mr. Lorimer.

Establishes Precedent.

Never before in the history of the senate has an individual member sought to name a committee of investigation touching upon the right of a senator to retain his seat, or for any other matter.

When special committees have been named for any purpose the personnel has rested with the vice president or the senate itself. In the latter instances the committees invariably have been sub-committees of standing committees.

All of the men nominated by the La Follette resolution began their terms in the senate with the convening of the present extraordinary session. It is understood they were selected at a conference of progressive senators.

Senator Stone of Missouri made the prediction at the White House today that the senate would be compelled to investigate for the second time the charges of bribery in Lorimer's election. Senator Stone believes that a new committee will be appointed to prosecute the investigation.

The testimony in Springfield is "so ugly," said Mr. Stone, "that it seems to me that congress must take notice of it and if I am not mistaken the senate will take some action. The proprieties of the situation might influence the senate to wait until the Illinois investigation is finished. Testimony produced in Springfield undoubtedly would be brought officially to the attention of the senate."

The Sound Sleep of Good Health.
Can not be over estimated and any ailment that prevents it is a menace to health. J. L. Southers, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "I have been unable to sleep soundly nights, because of pains across my back and soreness of my kidneys. My appetite was very poor and my general condition was much run down. I have been taking Foley Kidney Pills but a short time and now sleep as sound as a rock, my general condition is greatly improved, and I know that Foley Kidney Pills have cured me. All druggists.

MRS. STUNTZ PASSES AWAY

Wife of Duluth Pioneer Dies at Fergus Falls.

Her Husband Surveyed the Boundary Line Between Two States.

Mrs. Mary J. Stuntz, aged 58, wife of the late pioneer, George R. Stuntz, and well known in West Duluth, where she made her home for many years, died today in the state insane asylum, according to advices received from Fergus Falls, Minn.

Mrs. Stuntz and her husband were known to nearly all of the oldest settlers at the Head of the Lakes. He came to Duluth in the year 1852, but later crossed the bay to Superior, where he made his headquarters for some time. It was in that year that Mr. Stuntz surveyed and definitely located a portion of the boundary line between Minnesota and Wisconsin, starting from the head of navigation on the St. Louis river at Fond du Lac and running south to the St. Croix river.

Up to two years ago Mrs. Stuntz resided at the Munger row, Ramsey street, West Duluth. Her husband died eight years ago. He was once a quite wealthy landholder, but lost nearly everything, and at the time of his death was a comparatively poor man. Mrs. Stuntz had information of insanity filed against her in probate court two years ago, was adjudged to be insane and was removed to the asylum at Fergus Falls, where she remained until her death. It was claimed that she was sane on most subjects, but was mentally unbalanced on the subject of spiritualism.

The George R. Stuntz estate, although a small one, was involved in an interesting lawsuit over the title to a 160-acre tract of land near White Bear lake, St. Paul. Mr. Stuntz deeded this property away a short time before his death and the contention was made that he was dying at the time of the signing of the papers. John Brown, administrator of the estate, also claimed that Mrs. Stuntz was mentally unbalanced at the time and asked the Washington county courts to set aside the deed on the grounds of fraud. The property was sold for a song, it is said and is now a valuable tract of land. The courts decided against the estate.

George R. Stuntz probably surveyed more government land than any other one man, and for many years prior to his coming to the Head of the Lakes was in this business. This was his vocation for over fifty years. He platted many townsites. At one time, he located on Minnesota Point, where he built a dock and warehouse and operated a business under the name of the G. R. Stuntz & Co. In those years, his dock was the only landing place for steamboats and sail vessels for passengers and freight, destined for Superior. Mr. Stuntz also held the office of county surveyor for a number of years.

The funeral arrangements for Mrs. Stuntz have not been made as yet.

ONEOTA AND ITS NEEDS

Will Be Subject of Discussion By New Improvement Club.

Citizens Want Extra Policeman, Fire Hall, Sewer and a Park.

More adequate police protection, an extension of the sewer system, a fire hall and a park, all for Oneota, will funish plenty of material for discussion this evening at a meeting of the Oneota Improvement club at the Hazelwood Presbyterian church, Thirty-ninth avenue west and Fourth street.

The meeting night was changed from Friday to Thursday on account of the inability of the club to secure the church building on Friday evening.

One policeman for Oneota is hardly adequate, say the club members. At the present time, only one officer covers the entire district between Twenty-third and Thirty-ninth avenues west and in view of the fact that he is off duty after 11 o'clock at night, leaving no protection for the rest of the time until morning, the Oneotans believed that they are justified in making a protest. The committee appointed at the last meeting on this matter has interviewed Chief Troyer and may have something of interest to report in the matter.

An extension of the sewer system is an improvement which has long been needed at Oneota and the members of the new civic organization hope to secure it before another year. A fire hall wll also be asked for. It is claimed that Oneota is growing rapidly and at the present time has to depend for protection from the West Duluth fire hall or from the No. 2 department at Eighteenth avenue west.

The Improvement club is also working for a park and has recommended that the block of land between Fortieth and Forty-first avenues west and Seventh and Eighth streets be bought by the city for this purpose. The tract is covered with trees and located advantageously near the new Merritt school, now under construction at Fortieth avenue west and Sixth street. This matter wll be laid before the park board in the near future.

The new place will operate under the name of the Grand Avenue pharmacy. Mr. Abbott, the new owner, has recently been manager of the Orpheum pharmacy.

APPLEBY GOES TO STILLWATER

Two Old Timers Taken Back to Prison By Sheriff Meining.

John Appleby, the young man who pleaded guilty to entering a West end tailor shop and taking a quantity of cloth, was taken to Stillwater today by Sheriff John H. Meining. Appleby will serve eight years in the Minnesota institution.

Appleby is the man who entered the building with Patrick H. Doyle. At first he insisted that it was he who had planned the affair and who executed the work. This, it was thought, was to get Doyle off.

The plan didn't work and later Doyle pleaded guilty to the charge and for his part in the affair drew fifteen years. It was his record that made the sentence so heavy.

Doyle was taken to Stillwater but a few days ago to begin his sentence. He was greeted with open arms by the inmates of the prison. They had known him on visits made previous to the present one.

"Back again, Paddy?" was the question shouted at him as he was taken inside the walls.

"How long are you going to stay?"

"What for?"

Appleby has been there before, it is said, and he, too, will have a chance to renew old acquaintances.

COPPERS DULL AND LIFELESS

Values Opened on Yesterday's Level and Stay in Rut.

The copper market was steady today because there was no activity. There was weakness in rubber on account of a passed dividend, which caused a softening in the industrials, and a report from James McCrea, president of the Pennsylvania, which was exceedingly pessimistic did not help the market.

The rumor thta the Amalgamated Copper company will take over the American Brass company was denied. The Copper Producers will meet Friday in New York. It is thought probable that the copper supply will show an increase of between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 pounds, which would raise available stocks at refineries to about 170,000,000 pounds.

The local market was dull, with Keatng the most active stock. Keating sold at $2.50, Butte & Superior, old, at 87c, Carman at 75c, Cliff at 99c, Butte Ballaklava at $5.25 to $5.50, Ojibway at $6.12½, Greene at $6.50 to $6.43¾ and Giroux at $6.

Amalgamated sold at $63, Butte Coalition at $17.50, Calumet & Arizona at $50.25 to $50.50, North Butte at $27.25, $27 and $27.25, Superior & Pittsburg at $14.25 to $14.12½.

A wire to Paine, Webber & Co. from Boston said: "Yesterday's dispatches from Butte to the effect that on the 2,400-foot level of the North Butte, the Edith May vein, where opened, is bunchy and of low grade, require some explanation. On the lower levels of the mine there are two fault planes which define the limits of the better grade of ore. These planes diverge in their downward course and the higher grade ore takes the form of a pyramid with the apex above the 2,200-foot level. Outside the planes the ore is not expected to be high grade and therefore no disappointment should be felt at the latest developments on the 2,400-foot level."

The monthly production of the Keating mine in the Radersburg district of Montana for March was thirty-eight cars averaging about $30 a ton.

No. 2 drill operating on the property of the Iron Mountain Mining company of Duluth, near Buhl, Minn., has disclosed some Bessemer ore. The extent of the strike has not been determined.

W. F. Fitzgerald of Butte, who is heavily interested in mining properties in that state was at the Spalding last evening on his way home from the East. He says there is more ore than ever in sight in the Butte district. The new Socialist mayor, a Unitarian minister, he said, is a learned and good man, and that, anyway, it didn't matter who was mayor, so long as the camp had a lot of ore in sight.

M. G. Rodearmel of Minneapolis, vice president of the Interstate Silver Lead company, which operates in the Coeur d'Alenes, is in the city. He said the tunnel in the property is 2,600 feet long and will be breasted at 3,000 feet by July 1. An opening of the ground in the upper workings with a winze and drift disclosed ore that runs $60 to the ton.

IS GRATEFUL TO UNITED DOCTORS

Duluth Man Says Their Treatment Relieved Bad Case of Catarrh.

Michael Christianson, who lives at 14 East Second St., Duluth, knows whereof he speaks when he recommends the United Doctors to his friends and neighbors, for he had been in bad health for years and could not find a doctor or specialist, either in America or Europe who understood his condition well enough to cure it, until at last he went to the Duluth institute of the United Doctors on the third floor of the Columbia building.

Now, after only a short course of this wonderful new "United" system of treatment, he is so pleased with it that he has written the following letter for publication:

Duluth, March 30, 1911.

To United Doctors:

I want to express my gratitude to you for the great improvement I have made after taking one week's treatment with you.

I have suffered for five years with Catarrh of the nose, throat, and stomach; had terrible headaches, dizzy spells and could not eat at times. Was also badly constipated, in fact, never felt well at any time.

I have taken treatment both here and in my native country but never experienced any real relief until I commenced your treatment. I feel that I can conscientiously recommend you to any one who is suffering with any chronic disease.

My address is No. 14 East Second street.

MICHAEL CHRISTIANSON,

The United Doctors' offices on the Third floor of the Columbia building is one of the busiest places in Duluth. News of the wonderful cures that are being made by these specialists in old chronic diseases where patients had been given up to die by ordinary doctors, has spread over this entire country and people come here from far and near to be treated. Their waiting rooms are always crowded with waiting patients.

Their examination is free to all and as they refuse to treat or accept any money from hopeless cases, any sick person is perfectly safe in going to see them. One grand good thing about the United Doctors, they are always perfectly honest with their patients.

Three Features of Neal Institute Which Should Appeal to Busy Men.

If desired, a man may go to the Neal Institute, 676 Dayton ave., St. Paul, stay three days, during which time he will be cured of the drink habit completely and perfectly, and return to his business or home and no one except the physician in charge will know that he has been there.

During his stay all his meals will be served in his room and he need not venture outside of it unless he so desires. He maye come by night and go by night; in fact every possible effort has and will be made to protect patients from publicity.

Busy, prominent men in the public eye, who find that drinking interferes, or is likely to interfere with their business or social connections, should take advantage of the Neal Treatment and become cured. It takes such a short time—just 72 hours—that your absence will not be noted.

If you are afflicted with the drink habit and really want to be cured, or if you are interested in a friend or relative who needs treatment, write to the Neal Institute Co., corner Belknap and Seventh streets, Superior, for their free booklet giving full information and a copy of their contract and guarantee bond. It will be mailed to you under a plain sealed envelope and everything will be strictly confidential. You can be treated at Superior Institute, or the St. Paul, Minn., Institute, 676 Dayton avenue, or at the Minneapolis, Minn., Institute, corner Fourth avenue south and Seventh street, whichever happens to be the most convenient to you.

COLONISTS TO CANADA

Catholic Priests Take Large Party to Prince Albert and Vegreville.

Large Settlements Have Been Built Up in a Few Years.

Over 275 colonists from Montreal and vicinity and from Worcester, Mass., and the surrounding country, passed through Duluth this afternoon in charge of Fathers Ouelette and Gagne, bound for Vegreville and Prince Albert, where the members of the large party will take up farming and other lines of work that have been laid out in advance of the coming of the colonists.

The two priests have made numerous trips across the country in the mission of taking colonists to Prince Albert and Vegreville. The settlements are settled by French Catholics, who have been taken there through the mission work of the two priests.

The two priests started the colonies a few years ago with only a few people under their charge, and sometimes the conditions were very hard. They made a trip to Montreal and the provinces of lower Canada for young men and women to join the colony. The priests enlisted the services of a few colonists and from the time of the first trip back the size of the first settlement has undergone a steady growth.

Farming and other useful occupations are offered the colonists. The land at both points of settlement is very rich and the men who have gone out there have met with the greatest success. Some day both of the priests believe they will have a very large settlement. The two priests expect to go back after another party of colonists in less than a year.

Brake Rod Snaps and Passengers Have a Narrow Escape.

Because of the breaking of the brake rod, Motorman Hagen of a southbound interstate car was unable to stop the car at the Omaha railroad crossing on Tower avenue this morning about 7:30 o'clock and it collided with a freight train. There was little damage and no one was hurt.

The car smashed through the crossing gates and the front end struck the passing freight train. The street car was thrown off the tracks and fortunately no damage resulted. Charles Neilson was conductor and there were several passengers on the car.

Mrs. Anna G. Spencer, a prominent sociologist of Milwaukee, gave an address last evening at the Blaine school auditorium to a fair-sized audience on the social problems of the day and how best they can be handled. She urged that the great social work along relief lines should be taken up more thoroughly, and encouraged a more hearty co-operation between the public and the private agencies. The need of trained workers was also emphasized.

PREPARE FOR STREET CAR LINE

Central Hillside Club Will Petition to Grade Streets Necessary.

The Central Hillside Improvement club intends to pave the way for the extension of the street car line on Sixth and Seventh avenues east and on Ninth street to Chester park.

At a meeting of the club at the Franklin school last night, a committee of one man from each block was appointed to circulate petitions for the improvement of the avenues and streets to be traversed by the line in the proposed improvement.

Nearly all of the property owners are anxious that the extension be made as soon as possible, and as it can not be made until the streets are put in condition, no trouble is expected in obtaining signatures to the petitions.

SCOUTS PLAN EXHIBITION

The boys' department Scouts held their regular monthly business meeting last night, taking dinner together at the boys' department clubrooms.

Arrangements were made for the first public display of scout craft to be given Friday, April 28, the proceeds of which will go to defray the expenses of the overland trip the scouts are planning to take the latter part of June. On this trip the scouts will camp over night wherever they happen to be. They will plan to be one week on the road and will walk all the way. The program for the scout display will include fire lighting and boiling contests. Patrols of scouts, on a given signal, will proceed to make a fire, and the patrol whose water boils first wins out. Another feature will be the making of fire without the use of matches. Demonstrations of first aid, and resuscitation of the apparently drowned, knot tieing and signal work will also be included. The scouts will also give an exhibition of cooking their own meals. The display will close with a one-act play entitled "The Finding of Livingstone." Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the scouts will hold their monthly Sunday meeting, and on next Wednesday at 4:30 all the patrols will meet for another practice on their display work.

STORY LAUGHED AT.

Mexican Embassy Says Jap Rumors Are a "Bugaboo."

Washington, April 6.—Baron Uchida, Japanese ambassador today declined to comment on or even to signify even by denial, the declaration made yesterday in El Paso, by a Mexican, said to be close to the Mexican foreign office, but whose name was withheld, to the effect that the United States troops were sent to the border as a caution to Japan, which country it was rumored, was attempting to secure a coaling station on the Pacific coast of Mexico. The ambassador declared that he would not deny an old story which long since had been officially declared untrue.

No comment was forthcoming from the Mexican embassy, where the story was laughed at as a "bugaboo," which continues to haunt the United States as the "fairy creatures of nursery tales which are used to frighten children."

NEW TRIALS GRANTED.

Judge Morris Orders Rehearing in Two Federal Court Suits.

Judge Morris filed orders in United States court today granting new trials in the cases of George M. Huss vs. Backus-Brooks Lumber company and Adelmar Snyder vs. J. F. McCarthy.

In the case of Huss vs. Backus-Brooks Lumber company, Mr. Huss was awarded $1,800 by a jury at the July term of court last year. Mr. Huss claimed payment for services rendered in laying out a townsite on the border. In granting the new trial, Judge Morris said that it is doubtful whether he should have granted the defendant's motion for a directed verdict, but at any rate the case was not presented to the jury in a manner easily understood and the motion for a new trial should be granted on that account.

At the January term of court this year, Mr. Snyder was given damages of $1 against Mr. McCarthy. Mr. Snyder sued for $24,000, claiming that amount to be due as commissions for negotiating a purchase of Colorado land for Mr. McCarthy. The court holds that he should have been granted substantial damages or nothing at all, and Mr. Snyder's motion for a new trial was granted on those grounds.

THEATRICAL SEASON WILL IMPROVE, SAYS POWERS.

One can easily imagine James T. Powers funny. Today he sat in his room at the Spalding hotel and chatted pleasantly and affably on many things. Mr. Powers has some merry conversation that would make a man troubled with dyspepsia sit up and order lobster and ice cream.

"Though the present theatrical season is bad, it has reached its worst and will be much better," said Powers. "Many people cut out the theater before they cut off the grocery bill. I have been seriously informed, though, that some of the poorer people are eating mackerel instead of beefsteak rather than give up the week's visit to the picture show."

Mr. Powers was asked if, like some of the other comedians, he wanted to do serious stage work some day.

"Every comedian wants to be serious and you will find that the majority of your really funny men are serious off the stage," replied the actor.

"Eddie Foy has really an ambition to play Hamlet. Nat Goodwin has always had an ambition to od serious work, and the public wouldn't let him do it. Every comedian wants to move audiences to tears. I don't know why it is but it is so.

"Once I played the part of a guardsman in one of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas. The part was a serious one, to my notion. They disagreed with me. When it came to the pathetic part I whitened my face, made myself look like a man down in the last stages of consumption, and in the middle of my song broke down apparently overcome with grief.

"It took great and some of the women actually cried. I was as happy as a lad with a new toy. There is your comedian for you.

"We have a new comedian in about every ten years. In Germany and in England, too, for that matter, an actor can play comedy one night, can do tragedy the next, and on the third evening can do some romantic work. They won't stand for that in this country. Once you establish a specialty, you are generally compelled to stick to it. I know some comedians who are really capable of awfully good serious acting; but the public would never stand for it. It would laugh at them, expecting that they were trying nobly to be humorous."

INDEPENDENCE DAY FOR THE GREEKS.

Sunday, April 9, is the Grecian Independence day and will be a day of festivity and merrymaking for Greeks the country over, including those who live in Duluth.

On April 9, 1821, independence was declared in Greece, "the cradle of civilization." For several years after that the Grecian peninsula was the scene of many battles, but the new Greek nation finally fought back the hordes of Turks which had come over the border from the north.

April 9 is to the Greeks of this country what the Fourth of July is to Americans.

PLAN CAMPAIGN TO ADVERTISE CARNIVAL.

The publicity committee of the Commercial club is working out plans for advertising the water carnival of the boat club particularly, and Duluth generally, throughout the country this spring and the coming summer. At a meeting of the committee today, plans were discussed and arrangements were made for the working out of the details for the advertising campaign and estimates of the cost.

Until the amount of money the club is to spend is determined, the extent of the advertising campaign cannot be decided. The executive committee has committed itself to the financing of an extensive campaign, however, and Duluth will have more advertising this year than ever before. The advertising will extend principally to the sections of the country in which the July heat is oppressive and travelers will be urged to come to Duluth for the carnival and to enjoy the cool Lake Superior breezes.

New Towns for Canada.

Winnipeg, Man., April 6.—One hundred and seventy new towns will be started in Western Canada this year, an average of one for nearly every two days. The Canadian Pacific will start fifty new communities, the Grand Trunk Pacific twenty-four and the Canadian Northern ninety-six. Surveys have been made for most of the new towns and many of them already have been named.

Duluth Pioneer Dies.

Jacob Zimmerman, one of the pioneers of Duluth, having resided here forty years, died this morning at St. Luke's hospital following an operation. He was taken suddenly ill last evening at his home, 32 Eighteenth avenue west, and removed to St. Luke's hospital.

Mr. Zimmerman is survived by his wife and eight children.

MICHIGAN'S BIG BEAN CROP.

Detroit Free Press: When Michigan's bean crop of 1910 shall have been converted into the baked article and otherwise almost $20,000,000 will have been spent for the product of this state by the people of the world who indulge in this food.

Reports show that Michigan grew 6,150,000 bushels last year, easily outranking any other state in this specialty. The retail price of beans everywhere, excepting for the selected, hand picked variety, all of which is added to carry you a little higher, is 10 cents a quart.

Crop Report Causes Slump and Bears Jump on Wheat.

Duluth Board of Trade, Apirl 6.—Wheat went up nearly 1c and then dropped 1½c from the day's high point. May closed ⅝c under yesterday and the July delivery lost ½c. Cash wheat was ½c over the May option. The demand was slow and the market was dead. Durum gained ¼c. There was some Eastern buying, but there is a scarcity of seed. Oats dropped ⅛c and rye was unchanged.

Barley established a new record by being quoted at 99c@$1.10. The supplies in store and in the country are at a low ebb and the demand for malsters is strong and insistent.

Flaxseed advanced 5c partly in sympathy with the strength displayed abroad and absence of offerings. May went up 5c to $2.53. Only four or five small transactions were made. Plata seed at Antwerp was up, the March-April delivery selling at $2.17 a bushel, including 4 per cent for impurities. Quotations on flaxseed in a special article elsewhere do not include this 4 per cent but are based on the European computation of 96 per cent pure.

Wheat opened strong and advanced rapidly and then fell swiftly under a deluge of selling orders to levels lower than the opening. The early advance and the later decline indicated the apparent two-sidedness of the market. The upturn was due to reports of exports of low grade Manitoba and American wheat and an improved cash demand both here and abroad. The selling was caused by bearish reports on the winter wheat crop and favorable news sent from the Southwest. The crop factor outweighed the bullish features and the market sagged as the former element became predominant.

Snow issued a report making the condition of winter wheat April 1, 85.4 per cent of normal against 81.3 last year, compared with an average for five years of 85. The condition Dec. 1, 1910, was 82.8, indicating an improvement of three points between December and April. This report casued renewed interest in the winter wheat crop and led to heavy selling from bears. The only low conditions reported are in Oklahoma and Western Kansas, where the seed was in the ground for some time before moisture came. The Kansas condition is 77 per cent of normal, which indicates a crop of 90,000,000 bu if the western counties maintain their present promise. A total crop of more than 500,000,000 bu seems possible.

Lyle wired that he thought Kansas and Oklahoma will produce 100,000,000 bu of wheat. The Ohio April condition of wheat is reported by King of Toledo as 84 per cent of normal compared with 88 on March 1 and 83 a year ago and 93 last July, when the crop was 31,000,000 bu. Wheat in Ohio farmers' hands is estimated at 19 per cent.

Cables were higher on account of the strength in the Buenos Ayres market, the improved foreign demand and speculative short covering on account of bad crop reports from Russia, Germany and France. Weather conditions on the continent are reported as unfavorable. Argentine shipments will be larger this week.

Weather in the Northwest is generally clear and temperatures are cool. There has been widespread precipitation in the last week both in the Southwest and Northwest and the Canadian provinces.

Buying from the East is on the hand-to-mouth basis, as wheat is needed by mills. Durum is scarce, but the demand for it is not insistent.

FLAXSEED.

Following the sharp recession in flaxseed and linseed oil prices, the position of the market has been stationary for several days and the undertone has been firm, but the volume of trading has been small and interest in the American markets is at a minimum.

The chief factor in the world's markets is the Indian crop, shipments of which will reach the United States in the latter part of the current month. The Indian yield of flaxseed this year is greater than last year's production. The production of pure Indian seed last season was estimated at 12,000,000 bu and the production of mixed was placed at 4,800,000 bu, a total crop of 16,800,000 bu with an exportable surplus of 14,280,000 bu of all kinds of seed. The actual crop didn't measure up to this estimate as is shown by the exports from India in the crop year.

From March 1, 1910, to March 1, 1911, India exported to Europe and the United Kingdom 8,584,000 bu of seed through the two chief ports of Bombay and Calcutta. It sent 1,104,000 bu to the United States, a total of 9,688,000 bu. Other exports brought the total Indian exportation to approximately 10,500,000 bu. As the carry-over from the last crop was small, it is evident that the crop was short at least 3,000,000 bu, if not more, as compared with the official Indian estimates.

The Indian government estimates the flaxseed production of that country this year at 14,000,000 bu of pure seed and 4,000,000 bu of mixed seed, a total production of 18,000,000 bu. The government thinks it can make a fair estimate of the crop of pure seed but it admits its inability to forecast with any degree of accuracy the crop of mixed seed. There being no better method of collecting statistics on the Indian crop, so far as the general trade is concerned, these figures must be accepted until the actual crop movement proves them to be in error.

Indian Surplus.

Deducting the annual 15 per cent for consumption and requirements the exportable surplus of this year's crop is thus given at 15,300,000 bu for export to Europe, the United Kingdom and the United States.

In the first three weeks of the first month of the Indian crop year, which begins on March 1, India shipped 48,000 bu to the United States. In the first week there were no exports. In the second shipments amounted to 24,000 bu and a like exportation was made in the third week. Definite figures on last week's shipments have not been obtained but indications pointed to small shipments to this country and increasing shipments to Europe and the United Kingdom.

In the first three weeks of March India shipped 1,272,000 bu to the United Kingdom and Europe a total of 1,296,000 bu including the exportations to America. Figures on last week's exportations have not been received but figures obtained for the first three days point to an exportation of nearly 1,000,000 bu for the week. If the figures representing the Indian government's estimate of the exportable surplus are correct that country in the first month of its crop year shipped about one-seventh of its total exportable surplus from the current crop.

The heavy shipments from India are due to the high prices prevailing for linseed and the attractive London market for pure Indian oil, on which premiums have existed for some time. The large exports from India, especially Bombay, have lately caused a reduction in the premiums on Indian oil which were regarded as one of the chief stimulants in the Indian export trade. Until the harvesting of the Indian crop conveyed definite promise of a large yield the prices for Indian pure and mixed seed were widely out of line with the world's markets. In the last three weeks there has been a heavy slump in values for Indian seed, the Indian quotations getting in line with the world's markets.

On Jan. 6, Calcutta seed for January shipment was quoted at London at $2.48 a bu and Calcutta seed for April-June shipment was quoted at $2.20. January-February Plata seed was sold at Hull on the same day at $2.18 and South Russian seed, which was on passage, was quoted at $2.19. About a month later, or on Feb. 10, April-June Calcutta seed had advanced 4c to $2.52 a bu. The Argentine shortage was then apparent and the January-February delivery of Plata seed had gone up 36c a bu to $2.54. The strength in Indian seed was found in the high premium for oil and the excessive strength in February-March Bombay seed, which was quoted at the unheard-of price of $2.99 a bu. The quotation, of course, was nominal as there was very little seed available for sale even at that figure.

Bubble Bursts.

By March 10, one month later, the Indian balloon had been pricked. Bombay seed already shipped was quoted at a sharp decline at $2.54 a bu at Antwerp. Calcutta seed for March shipment was selling in London at $2.48 and Calcutta seed for April-June shipment had dropped 12c a bu within the month and was quoted at $2.40. January-February delivery of Plata seed was $2.42 at Hull, a decline of 12c. Holders of Plata seed were re-selling at a profit and the weakness of the market was prominent.

By March 24 Calcutta April-June seed had declined another 12c to $2.28 and the Indian markets had practically completed their readjustment and were in line with the world's markets. The March delivery of Calcutta seed was only 3c higher than the April-June contract. Premiums on Indian oil had declined similarly. Bombay April seed was quoted in London at $2.35. March-April Plata seed was sold in Hull at $2.21. A leading bull at Buenos Ayres had defaulted heavily and the bubble had exploded, so far as the Argentine situation was concerned. Within the limits of all of these dates the May delivery here had gone down from over $2.60 to around $2.46.

The decline in prices in all markets has brought the situation to a focus. The chief question of concern is whether European buyers will be able to purchase sufficient seed for their requirements and if in doing so they will force prices to levels not hitherto attained.

The Argentine linseed crop can be profitably left out of the discussion of this feature of the market. The American linseed crushers are the principal holders of the Argentine crop. The exportable surplus of Argentina from the last crop was approximately 13,000,000 bushels. American crushers have contracted for delivery of nearly 6,000,000 bushels, of which Argentina has shipped, from Jan. 1 to March 24, 3,188,000 bushels. Whether delivery will be taken on all of the seed contracted for is doubtful. It is likely that American crushers will resell purchases at a profit to European buyers who have not contracted for supplies. If in the fluctuations of the market buyers on this side have been able to get oil from Europe at a comparative price under that which they can obtain for their Plata seed, it is probable that resales to Europe will be liberal.

Europe's Needs.

So, the Argentine unsold surplus can not be regarded as a menace to values. Buyers are not meeting with any encouragement, as holders are sitting tight and the American crushers are practically in control of the Argentine situation, having outwitted their European competitors.

Unaccustomed to competing with the American buyers in the world's flaxseed markets, and unused to such high values as prevailed earlier in the year, the foreign buyers held aloof in expectation of a break. The decline came on account of the collapse of the speculative balloon at Buenos Ayres, the shrinkage in oil premiums and the large Indian crop, which, however, was not as heavy as had been expected. The Indian crop came forward with such a rush that the expected decline materialized sooner than most buyers had expected. The decline having arrived, it is interesting to observe the attitude of the foreign consumer and brings us to the consideration of his needs and the possibility or impossibility of his filling them.

Europe probably will require 48,000,000 bushels of seed—45,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels—although some people think the consumptive requirements can be reduced to 40,000,000 bushels. In 1910 the principal importing countries of Europe bought 45,111,600 bushels. These countries are the United Kingdom, Germany, France, Belgium and Holland. In reducing its apparent consumption to this figure Europe utilized what small surplus was carried over from 1909, when the countries indicated imported 57,271,520 bushels.

It is difficult to accept any figure below 45,000,000 bu as the consumptive requirement for Europe this year. There are no surplus stocks of oil or seed and Europe has been delivering to America oil sold some time ago when the shortage of the Argentine crop had not developed and European buyers and manufacturers had not forseen the strenuous buying of Argentine seed by American buyers and the steady purchases of Indian seed by the same people.

To meet this consumptive requirement of 45,000,000 bu there are approximately 5,000,000 bu of the Argentine crop unsold, an exportable surplus of 14,000,000 bu of Indian seed, the American purchases thus far being excluded; and a probable exportable surplus of 15,000,000 bu from Russia. This is a total of 34,000,000 bu to meet a consumptive demand, the minimum of which is probably 45,000,000 bu.

Look to America.

The deficit of 11,000,000 bu, says the bearishly inclined person, will be met by the exportable surplus from the American crop. The yield of flaxseed in the United States and Canada, according to argument from this source, will be unusually large because of the greatly increased acreage of Canada, Montana, the selective process by which pure seed is being set apart by farmers and the efforts of the linseed oil crushers to secure the sowing only of seed that has been tested and found to possess requisite germinative qualities.

In arguing along this line it is forgotten that the United States is still buying oil abroad and contracting for Indian seed so that the deficit in the supply of seed available for European consumption is in reality larger than it seems. Whether the crops of the United States and Canada will be sufficiently great to satisfy the needs of those two countries and permit of the exportation of several millions of bushels to Europe is, of course, a mooted question that will be settled only by the evolution of the crops mentioned.

The optimism, or ignorance displayed by some foreigners toward conditions in this country, was indicated about two weeks ago when there were offers in London of American seed for October-November shipment next fall at a price equal to $1.99 c. i. f. A week later the offerings had dropped to $1.95 c. i. f. No exporter in this country has made any offers of American seed to foreigners before the crop has gone into the ground. These offerings of a speculative nature are from foreigners to foreigners. Naturally, both sides take considerable chances unless the seller has unusually strong financial resources.

The acreage of flaxseed will be greatly increased in Canada, but whether it will be largely augmented in this country is problematical and remains to be seen. The cost of seed is high, and there is a scarcity of seed in some localities in the Northwest, which has not been remedied despite the efforts of crushers, political sub-divisions of the states interested and individuals. The loss in acreage in settled counties will be offset by the gain in Montana and in Western South Dakota and a small part of Western North Dakota, but whether the gain in acreage in these regions will be so large as to result in an unusually big crop is highly improbable, even if crop conditions are favorable and a normal yield per acre is obtained. It is not likely that American crushers will permit any seed to go out of this country until they have not only supplied all requirements, but until their empty bins are sufficiently stocked to cause them to feel partly secure, at least, against a possible failure of an always uncertain crop in the following year.

If crushers see an opportunity to corner the American surplus, if there is one, and sell it to European buyers at altitudinous prices, it is not likely that they will let slip that opportunity. If there is a surplus of seed from the next crop in America, the European buyer can hardly figure on getting a share of it unless he pays a fancy price.

Crushers have not been buying seed in the Northwestern markets to any degree worth mentioning. Some grinders have been trying to sell small lots of cash stuff which they have been able to replace with seed or oil purchased more cheaply elsewhere. There has been a disposition also not to take any seed that might be available for sowing by Northwestern farmers. Receipts are negligible, although two or three weeks ago they showed a spurt as farmers were selling seed unfit for seeding purposes.

"Liverpool—At the opening shorts covered with further outside buying and the undertone was strong with values ½d higher and following the opening there was a further advance of ⅛d in the near months. Buying was prompted by the firmness in America yesterday and the closing strength in Buenos Ayres. Advices from Russia and Germany as well as France were unsatisfactory as regarding weather conditions and the continent is still buying more freely. Spot markets at the opening were a half higher with a good demand. During the morning there was some disposition for profits and a slight reaction occurred. This was due to the forecast of larger Argentine shipments this week which brought a reduced inquiry for cargoes. Later shorts again covered and at 1:30 p. m. the market was bare of offers and prices ½d higher than yesterday.

"Corn—After opening ⅜d higher on the firmness in American and Buenos Ayres' markets, eased off ¼d on the warmer weather here and less demand for spot."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Beneficial Rains and Increased Shipments Weaken Wheat.

Chicago, April 6.—Beneficial rains reported today from various points in the spring wheat belt weakened the price of wheat. There was also a forecast of increased shipments from the Argentine. In addition, Liverpool sent word of a reduced demand for cargoes. The Ohio state summary was likewise in favor of the bears, the condition of the crop being given as 84 per cent against 83 last year. Opening figures were ⅛c to ⅜@½c lower. May started at 85¾@85⅞c to 86c, a loss of ¼c to ⅜@½c. There was a subsequent rally to 86⅛c.

Big flour sales led to a sharp advance but none of the gain was held. The close was weak with May ⅝@¾c net lower at 85½@85⅝c.

Firmness developed in corn owing to the wet weather. A leading packer invested freely. May opened unchanged to ⅛c up at 47⅞c to 48c and held to the higher level.

Lightness of pit offerings strengthened prices. There was a reaction, however. May closed 47¾c, a net loss of ⅛c.

Oats followed corn. Trade, however, was not large. May started the same as last night at 30½c, touched 30⅝c and rose to 30⅝c.

Provisions at the outset appeared firm on account of good commission buying, but packers taking the selling side, the market suffered a material decline. First sales were unchanged to 7½c higher with May options at $15.22½ to $15.25 for pork, $8.07½ for lard and $8.60 for ribs.

Cotton Market.

New York, April 6.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 2@7 points this morning and during the early trading sold 9 to 10 points net higher on the old crop, while new crop positions worked 2 to 4 points above the closing figures of last night in spite of favorable weather reports. Better cables than due, continued volume of spot business in Liverpool and bullish statistics, seemed to render near months shorts uneasy and covering was the chief factor on the advance which carried July up to 14.28 or into high ground for the movement. Offerings were heavy enough around this level to cause a reaction of 2 or 3 points from the best, but the market was steady during the middle of the morning as sellers were not aggressive and the bulls seemed to be giving July support on the dips.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points higher; middling uplands, 14.60; middling gulf, 14.85. No sales. Futures closed steady; closing bids: April, 14.36; May, 14.48; June, 14.36; July, 14.30; August, 13.76; September, 13.05; October, 12.70; November, 12.62; December, 12.61; January, 12.59; March, 12.62.

Dennison of Washington, Ia., is on the market with a load of top drafters. A. L. Legg, one of America's leading saddle and carriage horse judges, is visiting the market again. He will have a load of Kentucky saddle horses on this market in the near future. Mr. Legg used to be located at the Midway and is pleased to meet old friends and notice the growth of the market.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Speculative Interest Largely Centered in the Minor Specialties.

Market Falls Into Absolute Inactivity in the Final Hour.

New York, April 6.—The stock market held steady at around yesterday's final prices on the opening transactions today. Trading was quiet with few fluctuations of importance. American Telephone & Telegraph, American Woolen, American Car preferred and Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie gained ¾ each and Great Northern Ore certificates ⅝. National Biscuit lost a point.

Speculative interest centered to a large extent in the minor specialties, the recent sensational movements in a few stocks of this class encouraging pool operations on a larger scale. American Can preferred was pushed up 1½ to 84. People's Gas was heavy and reacted a point to its low level of yesterday. Speculation in the standard stocks was at a minimum throughout the morning and prices barely varied. Traders were not inclined to enter into fresh ventures until news was received from Washington as to the probable action of congress in regard to the tariff and Canadian reciprocity.

The only stocks in which there was important movements were among the secondary industrials and the prominence of these issues in the market had a deterring effect upon operations in railroad stocks. There were unconfirmed reports of possible increases in dividends on various industrial issues. United States Rubber made a gain of nearly 2 points on rather active dealings and Pittsburg Coal gained 1. American Steel foundries lost 2 points. Bonds were steady.

The announcement that nearly $5,000,000 of 5½ per cent notes maturing May 1 would be redeemed by the Interborough started a demand for the shares and the preferred stock advanced 1⅛. The market was featureless otherwise.

The market closed dull and steady. In the final hour the market fell into absolute inactivity with dealings so small as to have no significance at all.

MERRY WAR IN HOUSE ON THE SENATE BILL DISFRANCHISING CITIES

Congdon's Motion to Kill the Bill Lost By One Vote.

St. Louis County Farm School Bill Passed By the Senate.

Roosevelt Invited to Address Legislature Next Friday Evening.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Haycraft-Duxbury-Weis-Moonan bill, practically disfranchising the people of the large cities so far as legislative representation is concerned, which passed the senate yesterday, reached the house this morning, and that body immediately took it up and engaged in a merry war over it that formed one of the most spectacular contests of the session and that continued well past the noon hour before it was ended.

Motions, points of order, roll calls, arguments and plain speaking hurled through the air in quantities almost bewildering. On first reading of senate bills, when the senate's shameful production was reached, Representative Congdon moved that it be immediately considered, and his motion prevailed. Then Mr. Congdon moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed.

Representative Harding moved as a substitute that it be placed on the calendar. Representative Robinson moved the previous question and his motion carried, 50 to 33. Representative Harding's motion was lost, 50 for and 52 against. The question then reverted to Representative Congdon's motion to indefinitely postpone, and Representative Davies moved a call of the house.

Speaker pro tem Lennon ruled the motion out of order, as the previous question had been moved and adopted. Representative Pfaender, making the point that the previous question was only on Harding's substitute, appealed from the chair, but the chair was sustained, 61 to 48. This is the first appeal from a ruling this session.

Representative Congdon's motion to kill the bill was lost, 55 to 56.

Representative Pfaender moved that

KATSURA TALKS TO JAP BANKERS

Premier Says There Will Be No Change in Financial Policy.

Tokio, April 7.—Marquis Katsura, the premier and minister of finance, addressing an audience of bankers at Kyoto today, said there would be no change in the government's financial policy during the coming year. Unusual expenditures must be faced in Korea, and also measures for the prevention of floods and for the development of the railroads and the navy must be undertaken. However, the necessary funds would be secured, he said, without resort to additional taxation or foreign loans.

The improvements in Korea are planned to extend over a number of years. The bank of Korea will be able to finance these. The reconstruction of the main line of the Japanese railway system into a broad gauge road has been postponed for one year. The premier counseled conservative action on the part of the banks in advancing moey, notwithstanding the accumulatio of capital.

PASSED BY THE HOUSE

St. Louis County Salary Bill and Other Local Measures Approved.

Bill for Rebuilding Schoolhouses in Forest Fire District Passed.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several measures of local interest in Duluth and St. Louis county were put up to the governor as a result of last night's session of the house, and a number of bills of importance to Northern Minnesota were advanced.

The general salary bill, affecting the salaries of nearly all of the county officers of St. Louis county, passed the house, and as it has already passed the senate it only waits the governor's signature for the new salaries to go into effect.

A senate bill, introduced for the St. Louis county delegation by Senator Boyle, validates the recent Duluth issue of permanent improvement revolving fund bonds, and the house last night passed it on to the governor.

The Knapp bill, leasing the old state elevator site at Oneota to the city for a public dock site was pretty well to-

TO REMOVE ANY DOUBT

Wilson Bill on Commission Plan of Government Passed.

Senate Reapportionment Committee Discusses the New Hanson Bill.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—If there really is a doubt whether under the present home rule charter provisions of the Minnesota Constitution the commission form of government is available for the cities of this state, a way to resolve that doubt was opened up yesterday afternoon when the house passed the Wilson senate bill proposing a constitutional amendment removing all possible limitations upon the power of the cities to adopt the commission plan.

The Constitution now requires a mayor and city council in the organization of cities, and it is this requirement that is held by some to mean that the commission plan, under which the mayor and council are replaced by five commissioners—one of whom may easily be called mayor—is unconstitutional.

The Wilson bill definitely authorizes the merging of executive and legislative branches of city government in one body, which will open the way to

BATHTUB TRUST TRIAL POSTPONED

Publication of Matter From Washington Nettles the Judge.

Detroit, Mich., April 7.—The trial of the government's criminal case against the so-called bathtub "trust" has been postponed from the May to the June term of the federal court here, because of certain newspaper articles to which Judge Dennison took exception. In announcing the postponement in court, Judge Dennison said:

"The newspapers this morning had a report purporting to be given out by the attorney-general's office in Washington which was grossly improper and very clearly an extreme contempt. I think any such publication on the eve of trial makes a fair trial impossible and I shall order that case continued over the term.

"I have requested the attorney-general to ascertain whether any employe or assistant in his office is responsible for giving out such a report, and if so, that he direct that employe to report immediately to this court.

"The publication charges in effect that the present regular panel of this court needed extraordinary watching; that watchers would be furnished; that the court was not competent to take care of its own affairs and that some of the defendants had offered to plead guilty; of course, a scandalously improper thing to be said, even if it is true.

"I do not think the regular panel of jurors could maintain an unprejudiced attitude toward the government after such accusations as these contained or directly implied against the jury.

"I am not inclined to blame the papers for the publication, although I think more care should have been exercised in connection with the publication."

Heavy Waves Roll Big Vessel in Her Cradle on the Keys.

Passengers to Be Taken Off as Soon as It Is Considered Safe.

Sister Ship of Same Line Steams Out to Rescue of 1,700 Souls.

Lone Hill Life-Saving Station, April 7.—Transshipment of passengers from the Princess Irene was begun at 1 o'clock this afternoon, when a surfboat bearing fifteen women left the Irene's lee side and headed away for the relief ship, Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm. The sea is rough, but no apprehension is felt for the safety of the passengers as they are transferred from the Irene to the relief ship.

Lone Hill Life Saving Station, L. I., April 7.—The North German Lloyd liner Prinzess Irene was still lying helpless in the gripping sand keys off here today, with her 1,720 passengers still aboard, awaiting transfer to the Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm, which has been sent to her assistance from New York. The stranded Irene rolls slightly in the swelling sea and is deeper in the sand than when she

NO TRACE OF MISSING VESSEL

Boat Supposed to Be Manchester Haynes Proves to Be Another One.

Boston, Mass., April 7.—The schooner at anchor in the lower harbor, which a couple of in-bound fishermen reported as the Manchester Haynes, thirty-eight days out from Brunswick, Ga., proved today to be another vessel, while an all-night search of the bay for the missing Haynes, which was spoken off the Georges last Saturday, was without result.

Several trawlers sighted and spoke the Haynes near the Georges bank last Friday and learned that she had had an unusually hard passage and was out of oil and provisions.

Her deck load of hard pine had been swept overboard. Supplies were obtained from one of the fishermen, and the Haynes proceeded on a long beat to windward for this port. Since then there have been a couple of stiff southerly and westerly gales, which may have blown the Haynes still farther off shore.

TENDERLOIN GETS SCARE

Heavy Bomb Exploded in the Early Hours of the Morning.

New York, April 7.—"What's that!" exclaimed the Tenderloin with one voice this morning, and rushed to the street. Some one had exploded a heavy bomb in front of the basement door at 131 West Forty-fifth street, between Sixth avenue and Broadway, in the very center of the all-night district, set thick with chop houses, lobster palaces and hotels. It was 5 o'clock, and the Tenderloin was either getting its first beauty sleep or making ready for it.

The terrific report jarred the whole neighborhood for fifteen blocks around, and the force of the explosion blew in the basement doors of the chop house and shattered all the windows. The upper stories were left unless, and the ground floor, occupied by a furrier, was vacant at the time, so no body was hurt, but a bomb so far from the East side quickly drew a crowd of thousands. In the Hotel Lyseum, a biscuit's toss away, the telephone operator was blown from his stool and stunned by the fall. Guests who tried to learn through the house exchange what all the excitement was about, got no answer and came piling downstairs in a panic.

At the Hotel Astor, across the White Way, at the Knickerbocker, three blocks downtown, and the Cadillac, the clerks at the desks were kept busy answering inquiries. From the little Hotel Belmont, in West Forty-fifth street, and the St. James and other apartment houses, scantily dressed crowds poured onto the pavements, surveyed the damage done and went to bed again.

The police have a theory that the case is one of spitework against the owner of the house, and not an ordinary "Black Hand" bomb-throwing.

SCORES OF MINERS ARE ENTOMBED

All Chance of Their Escape Believed to Be Cut Off.

Caught in Pancoast Mine of the Scranton Coal Company.

Fire Is Raging Along an Entire Vein of the Workings.

Scranton, Pa., April 7.—Fifty to seventy-five men employed in the Pancoast mine of the Scranton Coal company at Throop, are entombed in the inner workings with all chance of escape, it is believed, cut off. Fire is raging along an entire vein owing to an engine house having been set ablaze. The mine is equipped with two openings, but the location of the burning engine room is such as to have cut off escape by these routes.

The fire is in the working on the fifty-foot level. Officials, scores of workmen, volunteer firemen and the Throop fire department are working to

ZEPPELIN FLIES TO ANNIVERSARY

Drops Parachute Bouquet While Sailing Over the Royal Palace.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, April 7.—In his dirigible balloon, the new Deutschland, Count Zeppelin with a number of passengers set out at 8:25 o'clock this morning for Stuttgarte to greet King William II, of Wuertenburg, and Queen Charlotte on the occasion tomorrow of their silver wedding anniversary. From Stuttgarte, the airship will proceed to Baden-Baden and Duesseldorf.

King William is an enthusiast about aerial navigation and in July, 1908, both he and the queen took a flight with Zeppelin over Lake Constance. It was the first time in history that a reigning king and queen dared such a venture.

Drops Bouquet.

Stuttgart, Wuertemberg, April 7.—The airship Deutschland arrived here at 3 o'clock this afternoon and circled over the royal palace, while Count Zeppelin dropped a parachute bouquet with his greetings to the king and queen. A landing was made in the suburbs, where additional passengers were taken on.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS LOOKING TO THE END OF WAR SUSPENDED

Peace Envoys at El Paso to Soon Return to San Antonio.

Evaristo Madero, Grandfather of Rebel Leader, Dies at Monterey.

Revolutionists Are Determined That President Diaz Must Go.

El Paso, Tex., April 7.—Owing to the death of his father, Don Evaristo, at Monterey, Mex., yesterday, Don Francisco Madero denied himself to visitors. He has not admitted that peace negotiations have halted, but such undoubtedly is the case, temporarily at least.

The peace envoys have had their passports for three days, but have made no effort to use them, and it is their present intention to return to San Antonio, probably today.

They are greatly disappointed at the warlike attitude of the rebel leaders as shown in dispatches from Chihuahua.

Eighty-three wounded and a number of prisoners taken by the federals at Casas Grandes were brought into Juarez today. The wounded lay prone in box cars, but were well cared for by the escort, which numbered about 200. With the latter were two field pieces and two rapid fire guns.

Gen. Eugia Lis, recently ordered to proceed with his force from Casas Grandes to Chihuahua, is reported to have left for the latter place.

Women Walk 150 Miles.

Twenty-five "soldadas," or women camp followers, who had become separated from their husbands in the federal ranks, arrived at Juarez today. They walked from Chihuahua, 150 miles, pushing a handcar that bore their meager belongings. Where bridges were out they forded the streams, carrying the handcar.

United States customs guards report a force of 400 insurrectos at San Ignacio, opposite Fort Hancock, east of El Paso. The appearance of this force has revived fears of an attack on Juarez.

DRINKS ACID BEFORE WIFE

Peddler Says He Is Failure and Takes His Own Life.

Wife Fails to Stop Him—Father of Nine Children.

Despite the frantic efforts of his wife to prevent him, Joe London, a peddler and the father of nine children, committed suicide at 4 o'clock this morning by swallowing carbolic acid at his home on Ninth street between Fourth and Fifth avenues east.

Mrs. London begged and pleaded with him not to kill himself, but he refused to listen to her. He declared that he was a failure; that everything seemed to go against him; that he saw no future before him and that he was determined to die. His wife tried to snatch the bottle of poison from him, but he drained the contents before her eyes. A physician was hurriedly summoned, but the man was dead when he got there.

He is said to have become despondent because he was poor and couldn't get ahead fast enough. He has also been greatly worried over the fact that he has been arrested several times. The last time he was convicted of cruelty to his horse and fined $10 in police court. It was claimed that he had worked the animal all day and had not fed it. He has also been brought in on other minor charges, such as peddling without a license.

London was quite a character in the city. He had lived here the last twenty-three years and was well-known. Besides his wife and children, he leaves other relatives in the city.

MARTIN WILL BE SENATE LEADER

To Be Selected By Democrats in Spite of Opposition By Bryan.

Washington, April 7.—A caucus of Democratic senators will be held this afternoon for the purpose of selecting a caucus chairman which provision carries with it the minority floor leadership. The session will continue for many hours, it is predicted, as there appears to be a sharp split over the question of the eligibility of Senator Martin for the leadership.

The opposition to the Virginia senator, whose election had been conceded prior to the recent visit to Washington of William J. Bryan, comes from what is known as the progressive faction and is led by Senator Stone of Missouri.

Today about a dozen admirers of Mr. Bryan met in the office of Senator Owen. They agreed, it is understood, to nominate someone against Senator Martin, probably Senator Stone or Senator Culberson of Texas, the latter having resigned the leadership a little more than a year ago on account of ill health.

Democrats, who attended the meeting, declared they had no personal objection but want for caucus chairman a young man whose progressiveness has been established.

Senator Martin's friends are urging that he is not a reactionary and that the fight against him unfair. At 1:15 p. m. today a second conference of Democratic progressive senators was adjourned and it was announced that the election this afternoon of Senator Martin of Virginia as minority leader, was conceded.

Senator Newlands, it is said, will be nominated in the caucus against Martin. Neither Senators Culberson nor Stone would consent to the presentation of their names as candidates.

THREE KENOSHA BOYS IN TROUBLE

Arrested in Chicago, Fined and Sent Back Home.

Chicago, April 7.—Three Kenosha boys, arrested here early today, were sent back to their homes by the police after two of them had been fined and the third had tried to "bluff" the court and had been "called" by the judge.

Charles Smith and George Williams, each 18 years old, were fined $5 and costs for carrying weapons. Joseph Brick, 20 years old, interrupted the proceedings by telling the court to lock him up—that he was going to "stick by his pals."

The court, in rebuking the youth, told him to get out before somebody spanked him and supplemented his remark with the remark that he would consign Brick to the Bridewell for 100 days if he didn't. Brick cleared.

FAST FREIGHT IS TAKEN OFF

Delivery of Freight From Chicago Is Delayed One Day.

Eau Claire Shippers Will Hold a Meeting to Protest.

At Eau Claire this evening there will be a meeting of certain of the representatives of the Omaha railroad and some of the business men of the little Wisconsin city, which will be of the utmost interest to the shippers of Duluth.

Some time ago the Omaha took off its fast through freight train. This train left Chicago in the evening, and would arrive at the Head of the Lakes on the second morning, at 6 o'clock.

Under the present arrangement the freight train does not arrive at Duluth until midnight of the second day and is unloaded the next morning, making the train to all intents and purposes twenty-four hours later than the fast train which was maintained until a short time ago.

In the neighborhood of Eau Claire there are a large number of truck gardeners who send produce to the Head of the Lakes, and who depend upon fast delivery to keep their pro-

CHICAGO DIVORCE A BINDING ONE

Separation of the Guggenheims Held Valid By Court of Appeals.

Albany, N. Y., April 7.—The divorce granted Grace B. Guggenheim from William Guggenheim in Chicago in March, 1901, was upheld by the court of appeals today. The Guggenheims were married in Hoboken, N. J., Nov. 30, 1900, and the following January Guggenheim is alleged to have deserted his wife, who went to Chicago in February and instituted an action for divorce. The divorce was granted on March 20, 1901, based upon the statutory offense alleged to have been committed in Chicago and Mrs. Guggenheim was paid $150,000 in satisfaction for her claims for alimony.

She returned to New York and on Dec. 24, of the same year married Jules Roger Wahl. Three years later Guggenheim married Amlee Stehnberger in Chicago. At the time of the Illinois divorce Mrs. Guggenheim testified that she was a resident of Chicago. In 1908 she brought action against Guggenheim for a divorce under the laws of New York state, claiming that as neither party was a resident of Chicago, the Illinois divorce was illegal and that the defendant should maintain her. The lower courts held the Chicago decree to be valid, and their decision was upheld by the court of appeals.

A CURE FOR LEPROSY ANNOUNCED.

Consular Reports: An inmate of the leper asylum at Cocorite, Trinidad, has been declared cured and has been discharged from that institution. The patient was a West Indian coolie about 35 years of age and of good physique and average strength before going to the asylum about two years ago. He was suffering from the anesthetic form of leprosy, and about eight months ago began the so-called Nastin treatment.

At the time of entering the institution all external and other symptoms were so evident that attending physicians, who have been familiar with such cases for years, entertained no possible doubt of its being a pronounced case of leprosy. He was given an injection once a week for about forty weeks, when he was discharged as cured.

About twenty other cases are now being treated at the asylum, some of them showing an improved condition soon after beginning the treatment, while others indicate no marked effects. Although this asylum has been established here many years, this is the first cure reported and great interest is being manifested by the 300 patients.

MANY BRIDGES FOUND TO BE UNSAFE FOR TRAVEL

Some Must Be Replaced and Others Need Immediate Repairs.

Representatives of City Engineer's Department Make Annual Report.

Many Duluth bridges, some of them much traveled, were found to be in deplorable condition by Inspectors Edward W. Johnson and Charles G. Voss of the city engineering department, who have about completed the annual spring inspections of bridges.

Recommendations are made that some of them be condemned and rebuilt; that others be closed to traffic until needed repairs can be made; that some be replaced by concrete culverts and fills, and that extensive improvements be made on others. In no instances were the parts of bridges used by street cars found to be in poor condition. Most of the steel bridges, or those which have steel superstructures, were found to be in need of scraping and repainting.

Some Bridges Should Be Closed.

The bridge over Lester river on the Snively road was in such poor shape that it is believed that a heavy spring rain would wash it away; that at Sixty-third avenue east and Superior street was characterized as being in such dangerous condition that it ought to be closed at once, and the same is said of that on the Howard and Gnesen road near the Villa Scholastica. The recommendation is made that most of the bridges on Oneota street, all of which are used by street cars, be torn down as soon as possible and concrete culverts with fills put in to replace them.

The city will be unable to do anywhere near the amount of work which is recommended in the inspectors' report. The repairs alone would cost a big sum of money, while the rebuilding of bridges, and the replacement of others would call for the expenditure of tens of thousands of dollars. The money isn't available, and present indications are that the extensive improvements will have to wait some years. The best that can be done is to make temporary repairs in most cases, and to put in new bridges or the concrete culverts and fills gradually, at the rate of two or three a year at the outside.

Detailed Report.

The complete report, with the exception of the bridges at New Duluth, which are not in good shape, is as follows:

Lake avenue viaduct.—Steel should be scraped and given a good coat of paint. Wooden railing badly in need of repairs.

Ninth avenue east bridge over D. & I. R. Ry.—Good condition except one plank in flooring bad.

Thirteenth avenue east and First street—Rail on south side loose. The steel in this bridge was given a good coat of paint in 1910; in good condition.

Lester river bridge, on Snively road—This bridge is in bad shape and in case of a heavy spring rain is in danger of being washed out. Both bulkheads are badly rotted and settled. Center pier has bar a temporarily braced up since last inspection, in 1910.

Amity creek bridge, near the Brian farm—In very bad condition, beyond repair; should be torn down as soon as possible and be replaced by concrete culvert.

Amity Creek bridge, near Snively road—In bad condition; no immediate repairs needed, but will soon have to be rebuilt, same as above mentioned bridge.

Sixth avenue west viaduct—Steel badly in need of scraping and painting; east and south approaches were rebuilt this winter. The west approach was rebuilt in 1909.

Fifth avenue west viaduct—Decking recently repaired; piling in fair condition.

Tenth avenue west viaduct—New planking and stringers needed. Old ones are badly rotted. Steel in good condition.

Twelfth avenue west and Superior street—In fair condition. Slight repairs needed to footings and roadway.

Garfield avenue viaduct—Steel in good condition. Slight repairs needed to sidewalk. Railing should be scraped and painted. Roadway paved with creosote blocks in 1910.

Oneota street and Forty-third avenue west bridge—In very poor condition except part used by street cars, piling and footings badly rotted. New planking in roadway and sidewalks laid in 1910.

Oneota street and Forty-ninth avenue west bridge—In bad condition. Street car company made some repairs to footings in 1910. This bridge, like the ones at Fortieth and Forty-third avenues, has been reinforced by the street car company by placing a row of piling through the center of the bridge, thus making it safe for the large double truck cars. These bridges should be torn down as soon as possible and be replaced with concrete culverts and fills.

Forty-third avenue west and Rene street bridge—Bulkhead at east end in poor shape. Footings badly rotted. Roadway in good condition.

Forty-sixth avenue west and Rene street bridge—In poor condition; no immediate repairs needed. This bridge is not used much.

Rev. John G. Leitch Asks Release From Charge at Westminster Church.

West Duluth Pastor Will Sever Connections With Congregation After May 1.

Rev. John G. Leitch, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, may go to Scotland, his native country, to preach.

He wants to enter a new field and last evening at the annual meeting of the congregation asked to be released from the charge at West Duulth after May 1. He stated that in all probability he would either go to Scotland or Canada.

Rev. Mr. Leitch declined to discuss his plans for the future when asked about them today. He said that the matter had not been settled. It is understood that his release will be granted and that other arrangements will be made for continuing the services at the church after May 1. He has been pastor of the church for two and a half years.

At the annual meeting of the congregation last evening William Towner and John Galbraith were elected elders to succeed themselves for a term of three years. John Galbraith was elected trustee for a three-year term and William Towner for a term of one year.

Satisfactory reports were heard from all departments of church work. The report of the church treasurer shows that the church finished the year of 1910 almost free from debt.

Toskey has been in Duluth eighteen months and prior to that, says that he resided in the state of Pennsylvania for five years. The health department is preparing data on his case and it will be submitted to the immigration officers with the view of having Toskey deported.

The health department is trying every means to keep the disease from spreading at West Duluth. There are at the present time, three other cases besides Toskey's.

Steady employment will be given to about 300 men for the next few months. The opening of the season is about two weeks earlier than was expected. It was intended to begin operations about the last week in April, but on account of the large number of logs on hand, the work will be begun earlier.

Beginning Monday, the sawmill will operate night and day. It is expected that the Rainy Lake mill will start up about April 15 and the Red Cliff people expect to operate as soon as the ice is out of the booms.

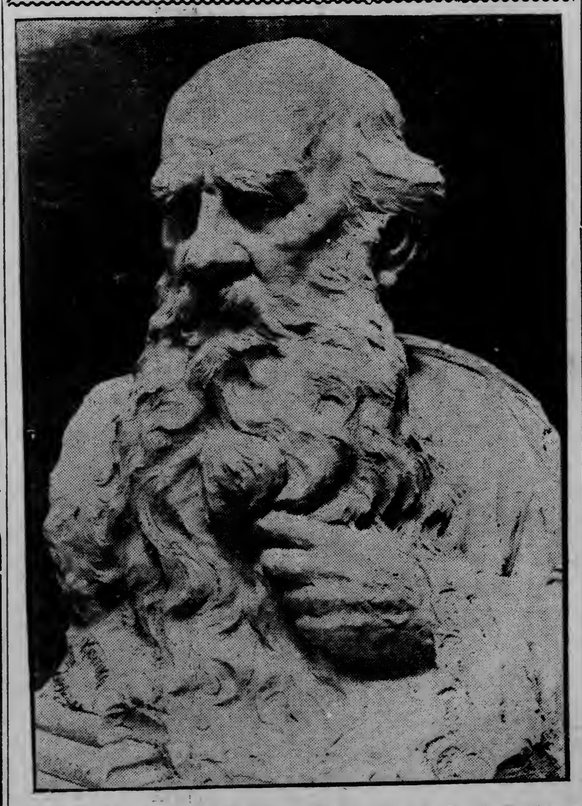
PREACHERS FREE ON THIS BOAT.

St. Louis Republic: Preachers will be carried free on the Mississippi river steamer G. W. Hill, owing to a request made by the late Capt. G. W. Hill, who died several weeks ago at his home in Alton. He was one of the owners of the steamer, and said that it had always been his custom to carry preachers free on any steamer of which he was the individual owner, and he wanted this boat to accord the same privileges to clergymen as long as it bore his name.

Capt. Hill said that he began that custom on the first steamer he owned and operated, which was on the Des Moines river in Iowa in the early '50s. While on a trip down the river from Fort Des Moines, now Des Moines, he found that one of his most prosperous-looking passengers was a preacher. He at once refunded the fare, which was $10, and ever afterwards made it a rule to carry preachers on the complimentary list.

BUST OF THE LATE COUNT TOLSTOI



This is a bust of the late Count Tolstoi, made by Joseph Kratina, a Bohemian sculptor. Mr. Kratina knew Tolstoi and saw him not long before his death. Though this bust was made so near the end of his life, the face displays more of animation than of passivity and resignation which one would expect to find. It was Kratina's belief that he saw in Tolstoi's face this resurgence of his earlier vigor and intensity.

NEW STEEL STEAMSHIP FOR THE CHICAGO-DULUTH SERVICE

THE MINNESOTA.

The new steel steamship Minnesota is now being constructed by the Manitowoc Drydock & Shipbuilding company, for the Chicago & Duluth Transportation company.

The Minnesota is a steel steamer 310 feet over all, 3,000 tons measurement and a speed of seventeen miles per hour. She has a sleeping capacity for 300 passengers and will be one of the most modern passenger steamships on the Great Lakes.

A special feature with this steamer is the dining room, which is located on the promenade deck with large observation windows, permitting the passengers to enjoy the lake and river scenery while eating their meals.

Every attention has been paid to the comfort and safety of the passengers and every stateroom is equipped with white enamel berths instead of the old wooden berth fronts. The Minnesota will be completed on or about June 15. She will leave Chicago at 3 p. m. each Saturday during the season of navigation and will deliver freight and passengers at Duluth at 9:30 a. m., Tuesday.

In addition to the Minnesota, the Chicago & Duluth Transportation company will operate this season the steamships Minnetonka and Minnekahta. These latter steamers will have a limited passenger capacity, leaving Chicago every five days throughout the season.

NOT READY TO SHIP YET

No Ore Will Be Handled Before Latter Part of April.

Cars Being Loaded But Not for Immediate Shipment.

As far as the officials of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad know, no ore will come down to the local docks until the latter part of the month. This was the opinion given this morning by President W. A. McGonagle.

At the present time some loading is being done from some of the stock piles into cars. This is done simply because in some instances the stock piles are getting too large for convenience. This does not mean, according to the statement of Mr. McGonagle, that there will be any immediate shipping to the local docks of the company.

With ice frozen solid in St. Mary's river there is no prospect that any boats will be ready for ore shipping for some time, and the officials of the company see no reason to hurry the shipments of ore down to the docks.

As yet no intimation has been received from the Steel company officials as to the probable amount of tonnage that will be shipped the present season.

ICE HEADED FOR KEWEENAW POINT

Ice Still Holds Firm Over Greater Part of Portage Lake.

Calumet, Mich., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.) — An immense ice floe, ten to fifteen miles across, is reported coming down Lake Superior from the north side of Isle Royale, driven by the brisk northwesterly winds of the past three days. Some of this ice will undoubtedly pile up on Keweenaw point, on whose rocky shores the advance guard of small bergs and monster cakes is already grinding. This great floe and others like it are the only danger to the big steamer Moreland, which still rests on Sawtooth reef off Eagle river. At present there is no ice about the steamer where she rests on the reef a mile from shore. The weight of such a floe against the big steel ship, however, if it struck here, would undoubtedly carry her off the reef into deep water, where she would sink. There is sixty feet of water just inside the reef, and the work of raising the Moreland would be a very difficult one. The Reid Wrecking company can hardly get its lighters and tugs from Houghton to the Moreland before April 15.

In the greater part of Portage lake the ice still holds solid. A farmer drove a heavy team and sleigh, with one passenger, across the lake at Big Portage on Wednesday, the distance across the ice being a mile and a half. The ice was as solid as during midwinter the entire distance. There is little hope that navigation can be opened clear through the Portage waterways before April 20, from present indications. The water in Lake Superior and Portage lake is still at the lowest stage on record, according to the United States engineers' offices at Houghton.

Powell & Mitchell of Marquette are about ready to begin operations on their contract for riprapping the upper breakwater at the Portage canal, and will likely finish the work within a couple of months, possibly six weeks. The revetment about Lily pond refuge harbor has been protected by the addition of new hardwood walls. The snubbing posts were also raised during the past winter.

STILL SOLID AT THE SOO

Navigation Will Not Open There Before April 25 at Least.

Date Will Be Later Than Average for Past Few Years.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 7.—According to the est informed marine men in this city, navigation through the Soo passage will not be opened before April 25. Hay and Mud lakes are still solid and heavy teaming across these waters is still carried on. At the east Neebish the only open water to be seen is through the dyke and at the west Neebish everything is solid except through the cut.

Navigation was opened at this port last year by the tugs General and Thompson, which laid up at Detour after wrecking the Wissahickon on Duck island, and the mail steamer Elva of the Arnold line, April 6. These three boats made the Soo passage without encountering any ice whatever on that date. The first big steamer to arrive here from below was the A. E. Upson, on April 10, the steamer William Mack arriving down from the Head of the Lakes April 12.

The following are the dates on which navigation was opened here for the years since and including 1905:

Up—1905, steamer Thomas Wilson, April 14; 1906, steamer Midland King, April 6; 1907, steamer William Payne, April 24; 1908, steamer City of Montreal, April 24; 1909, steamer William French, April 20; 1910, steamer A. E. Upson, April 10.

Down—1905, April 20; 1906, steamer Saxona, April 15; 1907, steamer Ball Brothers, April 23; 1908, steamer Leaford, April 26; 1909, steamer Northern Queen, April 26; 1910, steamer William Monk, April 12.

Capt. Frank D. Root, in command of the Great Lakes Towing company's fleet at this port, announces the following appointments for the season:

Tug Schenck—Flagship of the fleet and which will replace the tug General, sunk in collision with the C. P. R. steamer Athabasca at the foot of Lime island last fall, captain, Frank E. Nelson; engineer, M. Bunker; cook, Frank Grohinski.

Tug Sabin—Captain, George King; engineer, C. C. Lang; cook, William Jameson.

March Lake Levels.

The United States lake survey reports the stages of the Great Lakes for the month of March, 1911, as follows:

Lakes.	Feet Above Tide-water, New York.
Superior	600.69
Michigan-Huron	579.50
Erie	570.97
Ontario	244.96

Lake Superior is 0.20 foot lower than last month, 0.82 foot lower than a year ago, 1.22 feet below the average stage of March of the last ten years, 1.59 feet below the high stage of March, 1901, and 0.06 foot below the low stage of March, 1880. It will probably remain about stationary during April, 1911.

Lakes Michigan-Huron are 0.06 foot lower than last month, 0.70 foot lower than a year ago, 0.98 foot below the average stage of March of the last ten years, 3.65 feet below the high stage of March, 1886, and 0.19 foot above the low stage of March, 1896. They will probably rise 0.3 foot during April, 1911.

Lake Erie is the same stage as last month, 0.69 foot lower than a year ago, 0.76 foot below the average stage of March of the last ten years, 2.83 feet below the high stage of March, 1887, and 0.14 foot above the low stage of March, 1896. It will probably rise 0.6 foot during April, 1911.

It will probably rise 0.7 foot during April, 1911.

A RUSSIAN MONASTERY.

Travel and Exploration: The monks of Walamo have a Russian monastery on a small island in Lake Ladoga. It would appear that in some measure the monastery is regarded, like the well known monastery of Mars Saba in Palestine, as a penal monastery.

The establishment consists of thirty priests, who are not monks; fifteen deacons, who play an important part in the services of the Greek church, and 250 monks. These with the novices and laymen make a total of from twelve to thirteen hundred.

At the present time none of the monks live alone, but formerly solitary life was by no means an exception. The last hermit lived for over fifty years in retirement. He is buried near to his one-roomed hut, and pious pilgrims chip bits off the wooden covering to his grave to cure themselves of toothache.

It is amusing to read that the monastery cows are so unaccustomed to women that if taken to the mainland they run from them in fear, and will only allow themselves to be milked by men. The monastery is entirely self-contained and self-supporting, and even in the way of lake navigation—for there are various branch monasteries in the Walamo Archipelago—it is independent of outside help or aid. Even the stokers and engineers on the monastic steam launches are monks, and it is a curious sight to see priests oiling an engine or shoveling coal.

BOARD NAMES C. E. ADAMS

Is Appointed Attorney for County Commissioners to Succeed Stevenson.

Salary Is Reduced From $3,000 to $2,000 Per Annum.

At the regular monthly meeting of the county commissioners held this morning in the board room at the courthouse, Charles E. Adams was appointed special county attorney to fill out the unexpired term of William J. Stevenson, resigned.

Mr. Adams was appointed for three months, the remainder of Mr. Stevenson's term. He will begin his work April 8 and the term expires July 8.

He will be paid at the rate of $2,000 a year. This is a cut of $1,000 from the salary paid Mr. Stevenson.

At the time the courthouse was being built the special county attorney was paid $2,000 per year by the county board and $1,000 per year by the courthouse commission. After the building was completed, the board hired Mr. Stevenson again and placed the salary at $3,000.

The resolution by which Mr. Adams was made special county attorney states that Mr. Adams will occupy the offices provided by the county commissioners on the third floor of the courthouse.

Mr. Stevenson's resignation was accepted with regret. Commissioner Cummings voiced the feelings of the board when he stated that Mr. Stevenson had always "been on the job" and that they were sorry to lose him.

CHARLES E. ADAMS.

Chairman McInnis stated that he was glad Mr. Stevenson was going, as the position as assistant to the attorney general was a better one than the county board could provide him.

Mr. Stevenson modestly stated to the board that it was because the members overlooked his shortcomings and exaggerated his good points that he was able to land the berth with the state.

FEATS OF A CHAMPION SWORDSMAN.

London Daily Mail: Squadron-Corporal-Major Eggleton, one of the finest swordsmen in the British army, is retiring shortly from the Royal Horse guards (blues) after twenty-one years' service.

One of the corporal-major's sword feats is to cut in two an apple resting on the neck of a kneeling assistant. After a swift downward sword cut, the halves of the apple roll away and the assistant rises unharmed. Another feat is with a horizontal stroke to sever an apple placed on a man's head.

The corporal-major has won many prizes at the military tournament and has given displays of his skill before Queen Victoria, the late King Edward and King George.

THE DUTCH BULB INDUSTRY.

The Dutch bulb growers are organized into the general federation which now numbers nearly 3,000 members and is divided into thirty-seven local groups. A paper is published twice a week, weekly exchanges are held during the trade season, novelties are examined and reported upon by a committee of judges, and a trade council inquires into and decides all trade differences.

Since 1750 the cultivation and export of bulbs have been regularly carried on in Holland, says the Journal of the Irish department of agriculture. The trade reached its present enormous proportions duing the last decade of the nineteenth century.

The bulb-growing industry was first confined to Haarlem and its vicinity, but has gradually extended wherever a suitable piece of land was available. In order to grow bulbs, meadows have been transformed and sand dunes levelled. The preparation of land for this purpose is often very costly, and the value of the best plots varies from $1,557 to $2,423 an acre.

The export statistics of the industry, which have been carefully kept since 1897, show that the total export has very largely increased in the last ten years. The value of this export cannot now bo less than $3,893,200. England is still Holland's best customer for bulbs, taking nearly 40 per cent of the total export. The number of bulb-exporting firms in Holland is about 200; there aro also over 2,500 growers who do not export directly but send their produce through the larger firms. The number of persons employed in the bulb industry is estimated at 4,000.

GRAY AS A MILITARY COLOR.

Berlin correspondence London News: Everybody who has been following the manoeuvers of the German troops is agreed that the new gray field uniform possesses the advantage of invisibility to a remarkable degree.

At a distance or in the dusk its wearers vanish even under conditions when dark objects are still visible. For instance, gray clad cavalry in the twilight were momentarily mistaken for riderless horses.

PRIZES FOR CHILDREN

Terms of Poultry-Raising Contest Arranged By Committee.

Boys and Girls Between 12 and 18 Years of Age May Enter.

Duluth boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 18 years will be eligible to enter the poultry contest to be conducted by the Y. M. C. A., the Commercial club, the Duluth Poultry association and the poultry division of the extension department of the state agricultural school. All that is necessary for entry is that the entrant send his or her name and age to N. D. McLeod, secretary of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., obtain fifteen one-day old chicks either by hatching or purchase and care for the brood during the coming summer season.

Plans for the launching of the poultry contest were made this morning at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. R. C. Coffin and N. D. McLeod of the Y. M. C. A., A. B. Hostetter of the Commercial club, J. W. Nelson and H. A. Nelson of the Duluth Poultry association and N. E. Chapman of the state agricultural school arranged the main terms of the contest and made arrangements for prizes. The nature of the prizes has not yet been determined.

A liberal sweepstakes prize and four prizes for each standard breed will be offered, Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Orpingtons, Rhode Island Reds, Leghorns and other standard breeds being eligible for entry.

On account of the fact that the entries would probably be confined to beginners, the contest will this year be confined to new broods. With the chickens raised this year as a basis, a more advanced contest will be held next year.

To facilitate the obtaining of broods of chicks by beginners, arrangements have been made to supply one-day old chicks to as many children as the supply will reach. The chicks will be sold for 10 cents each to the children entering the contest, so that the initial cost to the children will be small.

This afternoon, Prof. Chapman is visiting a number of the city schools to explain the contest to the children. He leaves this evening for Two Harbors to visit his class there and will probably be in Duluth again soon. Mr. McLeod will attend to the advertising of the contest among the children and will also receive the entries and conduct the contest. He hopes to get a large number of children interested and all of the different organizations behind the contest believe that it will result in a greatly increased interest in poultry raising among adults as well as children.

the measure be placed on general orders, but by that time it had been referred to the appropriations committee. Representative Wescott moved that it be recalled. Representative Mattson moved to lay Wescott's motion on the table, but this motion failed, 45 to 53.

On the Wescott motion the house proceeded to debate the bill. Representative Harding said that those favoring the bill should vote to recall it, as the only purpose of referring it was to kill it.

"It ought to be killed," exclaimed Representative Lundeen. "What you want is 14,000 people to a senator in Houston county and 50,000, 60,000 and 70,000 people to a senator in the cities."

Representative Pfaender said that the bill ought to be given fair consideration.

Representative Harding charged that his bill to the same effect, had been held up in the reapportionment committee.

Representative Congdon explained that the action of the committee on the house bill had been with the knowledge and consent of Harding and that he had promised Harding that he would see that the bill was considered by the house when it came over from the senate. The motion to consider it this morning was in accordance with that promise.

"The district represented by Mr. Knapp," continued Mr. Congdon, "has 92,000 people and one senator. Houston county has 14,000 people and one senator, and there are other districts with as few or only a few more people. Does it take five men from St. Louis county to equal one man from Houston county? If so I have yet to see the man from Houston of that calibre."

After an extended debate the motion to recall was carried, and then Representative C. H. Warner moved to suspend the rules and put the bill on its final passage, which was being debated at a late hour.

Later, the house, by viva voce vote, put the Duxbury-Haycraft-Weis-Moonan bill on general orders.

With only one dissenting vote the senate this morning passed the senate bill by the St. Louis county delegation providing for a sub-experiment station and farm school at Duluth and another at Waseca, and appropriating $65,000 for the Duluth school and $35,000 for Waseca. The bill now goes to the house, where it will be substituted for the house bill, which is now on the special order for local bills, which will be taken up Monday night.

Senator Schaller did not press his motion to change the senate rules so as to require a two-thirds vote to make a special order, but said he might this afternoon. He realized that it required a two-thirds vote to make the change, and said that if even a respectable minority opposed it he would press it, though he favored it as facilitating other business.

The senate voted to adjourn over tomorrow on motion of Senator G. H. Sullivan. Objection was made on the ground that the senate ought to stay and work, but Senator Sullivan said the house was so buried in work that there was no use sending any more bills over to it, as they could not pass. The adjournment over tomorrow loses another day on the reapportionment bill.

Representative Kneeland introduced a bill creating a commissioner of public land to take over the work of the drainage commissioner, board of timber commissioners, immigration commission, reclamation board, game and fish commission.

Representative Rockne filed a minority report on the Red Wing training school this morning, agreeing with the majority as to the abolition of corporal punishment for boys over 16, but disagreeing as to the sweeping changes proposed in the management.

Both houses passed a motion inviting ex-President Roosevelt to address a joint session next Friday evening.

Senator Johnston's bill regulating cream shipments was advanced to the head of general orders in the house by motion.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

GIVES HIMSELF UP.

St. Louis Millionaire Returns After Many Years' Absence.

St. Louis, April 7.—Ellis Wainwright, a millionaire brewer who was in Europe when he was indicted in 1901 on a charge of bribery in connection with a street railway franchise, surrendered today to the sheriff. He was released on $20,000 bond.

Wainwright was abroad when Former Circuit Attorney J. W. Folk, who later became governor, began probing the bribery scandals in St. Louis. He was one of the directors of the St. Louis & Suburban Railroad company, whose name, it is alleged, was signed to notes for $135,000 to secure the passage of a franchise bill.

Wainwright continued to reside in Paris. Efforts were made by Folk to extradite him, but they were unsuccessful and Wainwright's friends have tried to get the indictments nolle prossed.

CHARGED WITH USING THE MAILS TO DEFRAUD.

Boston, April 7.—On charges of using the United States mails to defraud the public of large sums of money, Warren B. Wheeler and Stillman Shaw of the firm of Wheeler & Shaw, Inc., formerly fiscal agents for the North American Rubber company, of this city, and Hyde Park, were arrested at the federal building today after they had voluntarily surrendered to Deputy United States Marshal Ruhl.

HISTORIC ENGINE WILL BE PRESERVED.

Atlanta, Ga., April 7.—The historic old engine, "Texas," which did valiant service for the Confederacy during the Civil war, will be preserved in a specially constructed building at Grant Park, in this city, according to resolutions adopted yesterday by the city council. The engine has been fast going to ruin on a spur track in this city.

ROLLING LOGS FATAL FOR WINTER WOODSMAN.

Conderoy, Wis., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. McGuire, employed by the Kaiser Lumber company, near Winter, was instantly killed this forenoon by rolling logs, when a roll of logs broke loose on the landing. He came to Winter from Park Falls, but his residence and relatives are unknown.

LORIMER STILL SILENT.

Declines to Discuss Funk Charges on His Return

Chicago, April 7.—Senator William Lorimer arrived here early today from Johnstown, Pa., where he had investigated a mining device in company with a Chicago engineer, yesterday. The senator went directly to the La Salle street National bank, where he spent the early part of the day in looking after the bank business.

He declined to be interviewed in connection with the proceedings of the Helm committee at Springfield, or with the story told before the committee by Clarence S. Funk of the International Harvester company, that his company had turned down an opportunity to contribute to an alleged $100,000 fund to elect the senator.

DARING DIAMOND ROBBERIES

Tit Bits: The statement made the other day by a West end jeweler that a diamond tiara is absolutely a thing of necessity to the woman of fashion, and that his own firm alone has always over 150 in stock, at prices ranging from the modest £400 to £500 to the "rather expensive class" valued at £10,000, may be news to the man in the street; but clever crooks knew all this long ago. They read all the current newspaper accounts of society weddings, the character and costliness of the jewels and gems given as presents, and make a careful note of their future abiding places. But the higher grade criminal expert is content to leave this retail robbery to his less accomplished confreres. His plundering is in the wholesale way. He goes to what may be termed the fountain head.

As long as Hatton Garden has been the headquarters of the diamond business in this country the wealthy diamond merchants have invented all sorts of contraptions to defy thieves.

But how often has a breach been made in these scientific earthworks and entrenchments, and how frequently has the gate of the coveted Golconda been opened by clever crooks!

The Houndsditch affair was on the scale of "big jobs," and the pavements of Hatton Garden could tell of many such. One of the biggest of these hauls was in 1876, when diamonds and other jewels of a value of £25,000 were stolen from the premises of Messrs. Williams & Sons. This was a case of a Saturday-to-Monday robbery, when thieves work at their leisure. The thieves managed to get false keys made from molds, which opened all the safes. Another very successful enterprise was in 1881, when Hatton Garden postoffice was the scene of a mail robbery of an unexampled character. One November day, shortly after dusk, when the work of making up the bags was just completed, some one turned the gas off at the meter, and in the confusion the thieves, who evidently knew their way about, entered by a side door behind the counter and made straight for the registered letter bags, which were hanging on hooks ready for dispatch. A light cart or other vehicle was waiting at the door and into this the robbers threw their booty and quickly drove away. The bags contained diamonds, cut and uncut, of a value of £30,000. The oddest thing of all was that nobody saw the carrying off of the bags, which were too bulky for one man.

THE CREDULUOUS MR. BUCKTOSS.

Wilbur Wright, at the Asbury Park aviation meeting, said of daredevil aviators:

"These daredevils ought to be hurt a little now and then. It teaches them a lesson. Otherwise they have too much faith in their luck. Their faith becomes as ridiculous as that of Hiram Bucktoss of West Carrollton.

"Hiram, a West Carrollton farmer, used to come in to Dayton every Saturday afternoon to shop, and the boys at the feed store would take many a rise out of him on account of his faith. He'd believe anything—accede to the tallest propositions.

"One Saturday, to see if he couldn't shatter Hiram's proverbial faith, a Dayton wit said:

"'Speaking of buffaloes, Mr. Bucktoss, did I ever tell you that when I was out West I seen a buffalo up a tree eating grass?'

"'Indeed!' said Hiram. He didn't even look a bit startled, but only interested and pleased. 'Indeed!'

"'That's what I said,' repeated the wit. 'Why, Mr Bucktoss, didn't you never see no buffaloes up trees?'

"'No,' faltered Hiram. 'No, I can't say I ever did.' Then he brightened up. 'But I've often heard,' he added, 'how very fond they are of grapes.'"

This is a "new-fashioned town"—and the increasing use of want advertising proves it; for want advertising is the newest-fashioned utility of them all!!

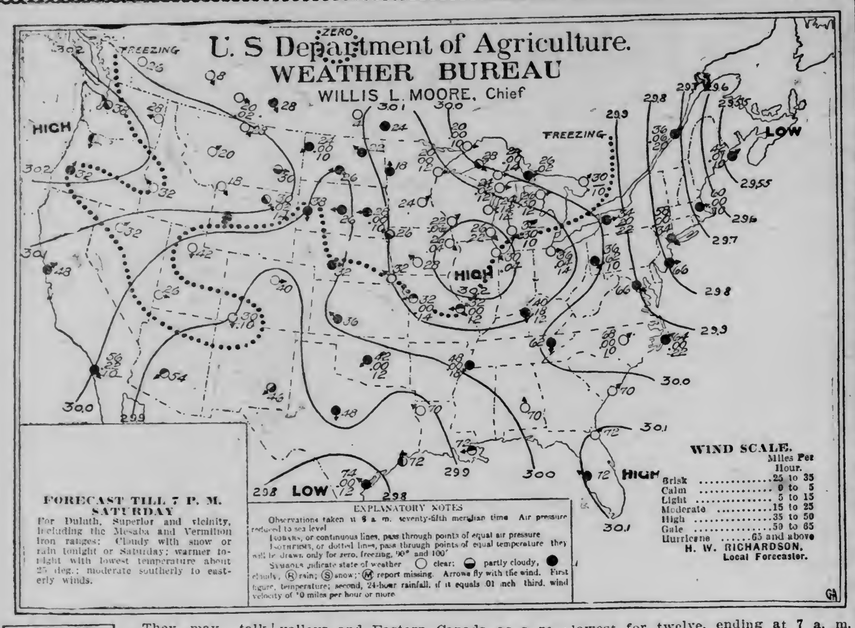
OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



SNOW

They may talk April weather being changeable, but there's nothing changeable about the brand the weather man has handed out since this month arrived. It has been consistently, persistently, stubbornly and obstinately cold and it's cold today, although the sun is shining and has warmth, out of the wind. The weather man promises warmer weather for tonight, but takes the joy from the prophecy by adding snow or rain.

Bright, cool weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:35 and it will set at 6:45 this evening, giving thirteen hours and ten minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Colder weather prevails this morning over the greater portion of the Lake region, Ohio and Middle Mississippi valley, the Southwest, Western Montana and Alberta in connection with an increase in pressure. Warmer weather has developed over the Dakotas, Nebraska and Wyoming. During the last twenty-four hours snow or rain fell throughout most of the Lake region, the Upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys and Eastern Canada as a result of the low pressure condition now central off the North Atlantic coast. Indications favor milder weather and more or less precipitation at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, April 7.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Saturday.

Montana—Fair tonight and Saturday.

South Dakota—Unsettled tonight and Saturday; colder in extreme west portion tonight.

North Dakota—Cloudy tonight with colder in west portion; Saturday fair.

Minnesota and Iowa—Unsettled weather with rain or snow tonight or Saturday; warmer tonight.

Wisconsin—Fair and warmer tonight; Saturday increasing cloudiness with probably rain or snow.

Shippers' forecast: Protect thirty-six hour shipments of perishables against temperature 25 deg. to 32 deg. in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Michigan Copper country.

duce from spoiling. Under the present service arrangement, these farmers have been forced to lose considerable revenue.

Not only that, but the Duluth shippers are also suffering inconveninces on delivery of goods from Chicago, while the local commission men have joined forces with the Eau Claire producers in protesting against the present service.

There are generally two sides to every story. In the present instance the local officials of the Omaha have their side. George M. Smith, assistant district freight and passenger agent of the Omaha, gave the road's version of the matter today.

According to the story of Mr. Smith, the train was made slower simply because it proved too expensive to operate the fast one.

"You may have noticed that requests for increases in rates have been denied," said he. "The cost of operation of the railroads has increased. Under the increased cost of living the engineers and conductors and trainmen have asked for and received increases in wages. With an increase in the cost of operating, of labor, of material and every other detail connected with the management and operation of a railroad, the railroads have asked for an increase in rates and have been denied.

"With the possibility of increasing the rates in proportion to the increase in the cost of operation denied, the only alternative was to reduce the cost of operation. In the present case this has been done.

"The present service, about eighteen hours slower than the former fast service, saves the company practically 25 per cent, as it costs more to operate fast freight trains than it does slower ones. Only so many cars can be placed in a fast train; while in the slower train it can run along at about the same speed with a large number of cars.

"That is the answer. That is the reason why it has been found necessary to take off the fast train. Under the conditions it was found too expensive and some sort of retrenchment was found necessary."

Supt. T. W. Kennedy of the Eau Claire-Duluth division of the Omaha, is in the city today. He will be present at the meetng at Eau Claire this evening, and it is also possible that F. B. Ober of St. Paul, general freight agent of the Omaha, will also be present. If not present, Mr. Ober will have a representative here.

The matter will be taken up with the Eau Claire people this evening, and any decision that is made by the railroad people will be very interesting to the shippers of this city.

tal of Sinaloa, declare two engagements have taken place near Mojolo and that a number of wounded federals have been brought to Culiacan in ox carts.

Couriers from Agua Jito near Mojolo, brought in reports of an engagement in which it was said forty insurrectos were killed by the federal artillery.

Only 150 troops are left to garrison Culiacan and Governor Redo has been directed to maintain a defensive attitude.

Diaz Must Go.

San Antonio, Tex., April 7.—"The revolutionists are determined not to make peace unless President Diaz steps down, and the envoys from the government are just as stubbornly determined to keep him in power, although they are willing to make concessions otherwise. All peace negotiations with Mexico have come to an end."

These are official statements made here today by Juan Sanchez Azcona and Attorney Jose Vasconcelos, two of the commissioners to Washington named by the insurrectos. A letter signed by insurgent chiefs from all over Mexico and the United States is now being drawn up to be forwarded to Francisco I. Madero, the commander-in-chief of the rebel army, telling him that no peace can be made except with the withdrawal of Diaz from power.

Discipline Good.

Washington, April 7.—"Officers have discipline of men well in hand and conduct of all classes of troops has been excellent, considering the large number of men here," declared W. D. Cuttle, vice president and general manager of the street car lines of San Antonio, Tex., in a telegram to the war department today, relative to reports of friction in connection with the presence of the Ninth (colored) cavalry at San Antonio.

Mr. Cuttle said there had been only one case of serious trouble between negro soldiers and a street car conductor.

"Some infractions of the Jim Crow law," he added, "were recorded here during the first few days in the Ninth regiment was here.

"For the past week negro soldiers have complied with the Jim Crow law without hesitation, and have been orderly in their deportment in the cars."

FISH'S SEARCH FOR FOOD.

H. Russell in the National Review: The thinking part of the brain, which in man is so developed, is very small and insignificant in fishes. There is some reason for thinking that the activities of fishes are nearly all what is called reflex. A message is sent inward to the brain, and the muscles at once contract. Sensations are changed into movement and actions take place without thinking. Reflex actions are, therefore, immediately suggested and directed by the influence of external things.

Fear and anger are the chief emotions of fishes, and the search for food and for a mate chiefly occupy their activities. With so simple a brain it cannot be supposed that the whole range of their senses can be very extensive.

The eyes are probably the most important sense organs of a trout, and it has been shown by very interesting experiments that the majority of fishes seek their food chiefly, if not entirely, by sight. But a certain number, such as the eel family, appear to hunt for it and recognize it by the sense of smell alone, while a few species are also aided by barbels and special organs of touch.

Whether fish can perceive the differences between colors is a problem that raises one of the most interesting questions to fishermen. There are some who boldly assert that fish are quite color blind. To this the zoologist may reply that there is nothing in the general structure of fishes' eyes or in the microscopic structure of the retina to prove that this must be so.

The difficulty is that we know little about the causes of color blindness in human beings. In man color blindness is congenital and incurable. It is probably due to unknown conditions of the retina or the nerves, or possibly both. Whether the same conditions affect fishes in the same way one does not know.

On the other hand it seems extremely improbable that fishes are quite incapable of perceiving color, because male fishes are often more brightly colored in the breeding season. According to a theory, which is still generally accepted, this is to make them attractive to their mates, who must therefore be supposed to have some perception of color. The evidence from experiments on color sense in a variety of fishes is entirely negative; that is to say, it goes to show that fish do not discriminate much between colors.

The sense of taste does not appear to be highly developed in any fishes. Most of them bolt their food quickly and without chewing. Closely allied with taste is the sense of smell. It is clear that fish become aware of food without touch, vision or hearing. Whether this sense should be called smell or taste in the case of an animal living and breathing in the water is difficult to decide.

Smell to a fish would perhaps be equivalent to taste at a distance. We cannot argue from our own sensations. Fishes have, however, olfactory organs, and it is not unreasonable to suppose that they should "smell" things, as they, indeed, appear to do.

There is plenty of evidence that fishes perceive violent shocks or concussions, such as those caused by firing guns or hammering on the bank. But there is no evidence that their ears are capable of appreciating those delicate vibrations which affect the senses of ourselves or other land animals, and convey sensations which we mean when we speak of hearing sounds. To that extent, therefore, fish are deaf.

BIRTHDAYS IN GERMANY.

New York Sun: To Americans who cease to recognize the frequent occurrence of birthdays after the age of discretion has been passed it may seem strange that the German navy publishes a book in which the birthdays not only of its officers but of their wives as well are recorded.

German etiquette is a very complicated matter, but German naval etiquette is a little more so. Calls must be made with military precision and dinners given in regular form or order. To forget to acknowledge the birthday of a superior officer or his wife by letter, card or gift of flowers is to commit a social blunder that may make a difference in the smooth course of a man's career. To remember the birthdays of the members of the crew —"crew" being used in the German sense of graduating class of the naval academy—is one of the most important social requirements. But how can one keep all these important days in mind? The department of the navy has answered this question by compiling the birthday book.

But it is not only for the officers and the officers' wives that this book is published; it is for the benefit of the conductors of the various divisions of the naval band as well. Each officer who pays a certain small sum into the band's treasury is entitled yearly to two private concerts. Standchen they are called, and for these he generally sets the dates of his birthday and his wife's.

A few days before the conductor sends him the band's repertoire, from which he is permitted to select his own program, and on the day set, no matter if it storms or shines, the band lines up before his house and delivers the music. These bands, a well trained corps of fifty men each, practice and rehearse day in, day out, in order to be able to play at the big naval festivals and funerals and to be in trim for these serenades. Some days they are busy all morning, bringing a musical greeting to one birthday officer after the other and then again weeks go by without affording them an opportunity to exercise their musical talents.

This remembering of innumerable birthdays and these necessary attentions may become bothersome in time, but when the day of days comes to the lonely wife of the officer who is out at sea to be awakened by the naval station's band playing Handel's "Largo" beneath her window, to receive one note of good wishes after the other and to be showered with bouquets of flowers from all sorts of people who are mindful of the day's importance to her, is to repel all doubts that the social system that institutes such things is excellent and the government that keeps it intact a benevolent patriarchy.

BIRD STEALS FISHERMEN'S CATCH.

Lakeville correspondence Boston Globe: A party of ice fishermen here had a most unusual experience with a fish hawk yesterday. They had caught several pickerel, which were laid out on the ice.

One of the party noticed the great bird circling overhead, and suddenly it swooped down upon the pile of fish. The bird devoured half a pickerel in a flash and was eating ravenously at the rest of it when the fishermen rushed to save their catch. The bird was shooed into the air, only to come down again and take another fish and make way with it. It is the first instance reported in years where the fishermen had to combat with birds in saving their catch.

Plumpness Makes Health

Thin People Heed This.

If you are too thin; if you are pale and sallow; if what you eat seems not to strengthen you; if your lips and cheeks are colorless, it is because your blood is deficient in red corpuscles and disease can easily overcome you, as you have no reserve strength or nourishment to uphold you.

A pharmaceutical product, called 3 grain hypo-nuclane tablets, is much prescribed for these conditions, and if taken for several months, rapidly increases weight and improves the color. Buy in sealed package of any well stocked apothecary shop.

H. H. PHELPS HEADS BOARD

West Duluth Man President of Water and Light Commissioners.

No Danger of Scarcity of Water During Future Drouth Periods.

H. H. Phelps was elected president of the board of water and light commissioners at the annual meeting of the board yesterday. T. T. Hudson was elected vice president and L. N. Case was chosen manager for another year, his thirteenth in the service of the board. L. B. Manley was president of the board last year. There is no change in the personnel of the board this year, George Spencer having been reappointed by Mayor Cullum.

In answer to a communication from the council, the board will explain, in a communication to be submitted to the city body next Monday night, that there will be no danger of a recurrence of the conditions which prevailed at the upper end of the main water system during the drouth last year. While the drouth lasted and the consumption of water in the city was unusually heavy during a warm spell last year, the people on Fifth street and on Fourth street at times did not have a sufficient head of water at times. Some days no water could be obtained on the upper streets, below the middle system, until evening and the council was anxious to learn if the board had taken steps to remedy the difficulty.

Condition To Be Remedied.

Pipe has already been ordered and the contract will be let soon for an extension which will prevent any such condition as that which prevailed last year.

Last year a sixteen-inch pipe was laid in Third alley from Twelfth avenue east to Lake avenue. This year, a twenty-inch pipe will be laid from Twelfth avenue east to Thirteenth avenue in Third alley, down to Thirteenth avenue to Third street and east on Third street to Sixteenth avenue, where it will be connected with a thirty-inch pipe running from the main reservoir at Thirty-fourth avenue east. The continuous pipe from the main reservoir to Lake avenue will not be connected with any mains running toward the lake, but will be connected with all running up the hill to the upper part of the main system. Thus the upper part of the system will always have a sufficient amount of water and will not be affected by the consumption below Third alley.

Although the board has not yet decided whether the pump will be installed this year or next, the plans of the board call for the installation of an 18,000,000 gallon pump at the Lakewood station soon and when that is installed all danger of scarcity of water on account of increased consumption during a drouth period will be obviated.

Report of Engineer.

A communication was also received from the council by the board yesterday asking that a copy of the report of the hydraulic engineer engaged to inspect the system be sent the council. The request will be complied with and the council will have the report at its next meeting.

On the request of the water board, H. M. Byllesby & Co., a firm of consulting, supervising and inspecting engineers at Chicago, sent F. B. Wheeler to Duluth to look over the local system. Mr. Wheeler's report includes a resume of the developments made since the plant passed into the hands of the city and a survey of the future plans of the board. He approves the extent and arrangement of the system and, with a few minor recommendations as to changes, approves the future plans of board, which plans were submitted to the city council some months ago.

Mr. Wheeler says in his report that he does not consider the proposed extension of the water system to New Duluth expedient at this time, as the business would not warrant the expenditure and the work should not be done until the work on the steel plant has progressed further. He approves the plan to install an 18,000,000-gallon pump at Lakewood and says the work should be done as soon as possible in order that adequate fire protection may be provided.

One of his recommendations is that a 5,000,000-gallon reservoir be constructed at Minneapolis avenue in order to provide a water supply for that rapidly growing district. The board already owns half of the site for the reservoir, tanks being used at that point now to hold a reserve supply. Mr. Wheeler suggests that the remainder of the site be obtained immediately and that the reservoir be constructed not later than 1913. The recommendation is in line with the plans of the board.

USING LIFE PRESERVERS.

The most common type of life preservers on large boats, is what is known as the ring preserver, a huge ring of light cork. Many people make the mistake of striving to get the body within the ring. The proper way is to grasp the edge nearest and press down so the ring will lie partially vertical in the water giving the greatest degree of buoyancy. In selecting beer, however, do not grasp the nearest at hand but insist upon golden grain belt beers. life savers in their tonic value. Your dealer will send a case or if not duluth branch minneapolis brewing company.

HOME MADE SNUFF.

New York Sun: The German at home has never learned to chew tobacco, but he has, to a certain degree, clung to the practice of snuff taking. It is in the mountain districts that snuff taking is general. It is in such districts that most of the forest areas of Germany are found, and in the forests, as a rule, smoking is forbidden. Besides being forbidden it is dangerous to farm and homestead and to harvested crops in barn and granary. These conditions may account for snuff taking superseding tobacco smoking.

There are several factories in Neuremberg that make a specialty of the so-called Brazil tobacco, made ready to go ground up for snuff. In Landshut and Regensburg are half a dozen factories that have a very considerable output of an especially favored brand of snuff known as schmalzler, undoubtedly so named because the main ingredient after tobacco is grease (schmalz).

Landshut is the center of the schmalzler snuff industry. It is still the custom, according to the Daily Consular and Trade Reports, for the old forest dwellers—that is, the Bavarian highlanders—to prepare their own snuff which, in the language of the people, is known as schmel or schmal, and almost every old snuff taker has a special recipe of his own.

Tobacco usually forms not more than half the body of this nuff. The tobacco is the so-called Brazil rolls. These are formed of tobacco leaves, first soaked in a syrup, strongly impregnated with various spices and then twisted into hard rolls of about one and a half inches in thickness. These rolls can be bought from every village merchant. The old snuff taker adds to this tobacco according to individual taste, beef tallow, a little lime, a small pinch of very fine pulverized glass and such flavoring matter as his experience has found most pleasing.

The ingredients are well mixed in a wooden bowl with a wooden pestle, the rubbing process being continued until the required degree of fineness is reached. Pine needles or other similar ingredients are often added as flavoring. The schmalzler thus finished is usually carried in pouches made from hog's bladder or in wooden boxes. When the old Bavarian mountaineers meet each other the first thing after they have said "Gruess Gott" (God greet thee) is the presentation of the snuffbox or pouch. A refusal is always regarded as an unfriendly act.

In the district about Landshut the habit of snuff taking is almost universal. The children learn it early and the women not infrequently contract the habit. Foresters sent here from districts where the habit is not known are said to acquire it very quickly, and its use and the strength of the habit have received official recognition in the instructions to wardens of prisons and similar institutions in South Bavaria that confirmed snuff takers must not be suddenly and entirely denied its indulgence. In the forest districts snuff taking is universal.

FINE LETTERS.

Louisville Courier-Journal: The Greek poem, Homer's Iliad, contains 501,930 letters. The Roman orator, Cicero, declares he had seen this whole poem written on a piece of parchment so small that it could be contained in a nutshell. This is not very definite, because nuts are of various sizes. A French encyclopedia describes an edition of Rochefoucault's maxims published in 1829, as printed typographically in pages measuring 951 square millimeters and containing 26 lines, with 44 letters to the line. A page one inch and a fifth square would be about equal to 951 millimeters, which would give, say, 800 letters to the inch. What you are now reading in this paper is about 250 letters to the square inch. Mr. Charles Toppan, an engraver of New York, engraved the Lord's Prayer with its title, the Ten Commandments, with the title and numbers, adding his own initials, within a circle less than forty-one hundredths of an inch in diameter. The actual number of letters and figures on this plate is 1,150; and as its area is a trifle over one-eighth of a square inch, the number of letters to the square inch in this case would be 12,000. At this rate Homer's poem could all be written on a slip of paper one inch wide and twenty-one inches long, using both sides. Mr. Toppan's letters do not exceed the one-hundred and fiftieth part of an inch—too small to be legible in most cases to the naked eye.

ART TREASURES OF MEXICO.

Mexican Herald: The traveler who visits Mexico for the first time is usually amazed at the unique beauty and the variety and cheapness of the antiques and curios to be found there. In this respect Mexico is truly a virgin field.

The Spanish grandees—many of them of the nobility—who followed Cortes to the New World, brought the contents of their Old World palaces with them, and many of these beautiful Spanish-Moorish relics of the arts and crafts of older Spain are still to be met with in Mexico.

The early Spanish viceroys who decorated their palacios in the old Aztec capital with a splendor that could not be surpassed, and later, the rich silver kings, who with a silver mine or two in bonanza at their backs ransacked the art centers of Europe to find treasures for their homes in the wonderful mining camps of New Spain, collected art treasures that were fit to grace a kingly palace in any land.

Lovers of old paintings particularly find much to interest them in the almost priceless collection of pictures in the national gallery at Mexico City, and in the oftentimes equally complete collections to be found in certain of the antique shops in Montezuma's one time capital.

And their interest is usually heightened when they learn that relatively only a few of the wonderful and now almost priceless masterpieces which the wealthy and zealous friars of the early colonial epoch brought from the cathedrals of Spain and Italy to decorate richer and sometimes even more sumptuous churches and chapels in the New World, have ever been located.

Many fine Maximilian relics still remain in Mexico, for that luxurious monarch and his imperious but charming consort brought most of their possessions with them when they came to this country. Beautiful porcelains were one of the emperor's hobbies, and no finer trophy of a Mexican trip can be imagined than a choice bit of china that once formed a part of the Empress Carlota's collection and which bears her dainty monogram and crest.

The wonderfully beautiful old Talavera porcelains, the matchlessly carved Spanish furniture and the intricately inlaid (usually with ivory) secretaires, as well as the bits of Spanish lace, filmy hand made mantillas, fine old fans, sacerdotal vestments, embroidered shawls, altar pieces and myriad desirable souvenirs are never ceasing attractions to the tourist familiar with the hackneyed, oftentimes tawdry and almost dubiously authentic antiques offered at high prices in Europe and elsewhere.

The splendidly woven Indian zarapes, which with care will last for a century and than which nothing is more decorative, are a felicitous blending of the useful and the beautiful, and few indeed are the tourists leaving Mexico who do not carry away with them one or more of these most desirable acquisitions. The genuine ones are made on primitive hand looms in tiny Indian homes, and as they are woven as tightly as strong arms can weave them many of them will hold water.

THE LADY AND THE SLAVE.

"One of the greatest burdens of slavery was that it overworked the lady," says a writer in the Atlantic. "She was typically undervitalized. Writers of this time complain of the heavy drain it made upon the vitality of the ruling class.

"There were others who felt that slavery was a yoke upon the white man's neck as galling as on the slave's and it was a saying that the mistress of a plantation was the most complete slave on it. I can testify to the truth of this in my mother's life and experience.

"There was no hour of the day that she was not called upon to minister to their real and imaginary wants. Who can wonder that we longed for a lifting of the incubus, and that in the family of Thomas Dabney, the first feeling, when the war was ended, was of joy that one dreadful responsibility, at least, was removed?

"It is quite plain from the record that Mrs. Dabney, mistress of hundreds of slaves, the happy wife of a faithful husband, died of nervous exhaustion. She was overworked. A slaveholder could not get rid of the unprofitable servant.

"A special piquancy is lent to the spectacle of the lady as mistress of slaves by a knowledge of her history, a review of which might be fitly entitled 'Up From Slavery.' Herr Bebel, in his striking way, declares that woman was the first slave, 'she was a slave before the slave existed.'

"The gradual promotion of an occasional slave to comparative idleness began to make a lady of her. When she was given control over other slaves and when she was considered to be her master's wife in some special sense which differentiated her from the other women who bore him children the process was complete.

"Her idleness consisted in release from useful manual labor, and was an evidence of her husband's wealth. As such it was valuable to him, and she preserved it at his command. Not only was she excused from labor—she was forbidden it. The Chinese, a logical and direct people, cripple the little girls of the gentle class so that they may bear the outward visible sign of incapacity for labor. The hampering dress of the European lady has the same purpose."

JADE "MADE IN GERMANY."

Consular Reports: The power of German imitation is strikingly exemplified in a recent creation of jewelry embossed with Chinese characters signifying "longevity" and "good luck," heretofore exclusively manufactured by the leading Chinese firms of Canton and Hongkong, consisting of cuff links, watch fobs, cravat pins, brooches and other articles.

The German creation is of superior workmanship, although the grade of gold is greatly inferior, the German standard being but 14 karats, while that of the Chinese runs from 18 to 24 karats.

The German manufacturers have outdone themselves in the creation of stone in actual representation of the jade stone of China. I am informed by a jeweler that the German article so closely represents the genuine Chinese jade that dealers themselves can be deceived. The leading Chinese houses are about to substitute these imitation stones in their mountings, and it behooves Oriental travelers to remember this when purchasing jade ornaments.

BREAKING THE BARRIER

British Privy Council Gives Toronto Access to Water Front.

Railroads Ordered to Build Viaduct That Will Cost Millions.

Toronto, Ont., April 7.—The law lords over in London have come to the rescue of the city of Toronto in one of the most memorable legal battles known to the courts of Canada. The Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific railways have been ordered to build a four-track viaduct across the front of the city of Toronto, elevating their tracks and thus providing safe access to the waterfront for pedestrians. The case has been going through the courts since 1904 and has been watched with keen interest by every municipality in Ontario, the question at issue being one affecting every growing city in Canada. Years ago the railways got possession of a narrow strip of city front for the laying of their tracks and ever since then the only access to the principal steamship wharves and ferry docks has been by streets crossing the railway tracks at grade. Ten years ago the Canadian privy council ordered the railways to build a bridge at the foot of Yonge street, to provide an overhead way to the wharves. The railways refused to build. Following the fire which swept the front of the city in the spring of 1904, the municipality abandoned the demand for a bridge which would have cost something like $300,000, and applied for a viaduct, the cost of which, with land damages, etc., has been estimated at $6,000,000. The railway commission, after a long hearing, ordered the construction of a viaduct. The railways, or rather the Canadian Pacific railway, appealed against this order to the supreme court of Canada and the judgment of that court went against it. Then it appealed to the highest judicial tribunal in the empire, the privy council in England. It has lost there, too, and Toronto is to get a viaduct, which, with other works now under way, will mean the practical abolition of the grade crossings on the city's water front. The viaduct itself will cost some $5,000,000 of which the city will pay a third.

According to the terms of the original order of the railway commission, the work must be completed in two years. All this is big news for Toronto and for the traveling public who come to Toronto by rail and boat. A new Grand Trunk station on Front street, promised soon after the fire, has been left unbuilt pending the decision in the viaduct case. It will now be built. Another big station is to be built by the Canadian Pacific, which company is building a large office building at King and Yonge streets and is planning to construct a costly hotel in the same block. The importance of the decision to municipalities elsewhere in Canada is the encouragement which it gives to the fight that many of these cities are making for the abolition of level crossings.

Price of Drinks.

Just as we feared. The vendors of alcoholic stimulants and near stimulants in the Ontario capital are about to pass the burden on. The Ontario government at the session just closed, boosted the tax which the patient and industrious saloon keeper has to pay for the privilege of being in the retail booze business. The downtrodden merchant complained that it would be unjust and a hardship and a mean trick unworthy of his majesty's government for Ontario. But it availed not. The tax was jacked up by Hon. W. J. Hanna, who, as provincial secretary, has charge of the matter of liquor licenses. Now the hotel keeper is looking for a way out, and the only way is to make the man on the other side of the bar pay the increase.

It is proposed, therefore, no longer to sell case liquors at two for a quarter, but 15 cents straight, and barrel goods at 10 cents straight instead of three for a quarter. Also it is proposed to add on a little for soda water and mineral water and things sold as such. Those considered qualified say that this will be a severe blow to a large class of Toronto citizens who will have to indulge in several drinks fewer per day in order to keep within the appropriation, and have something left for the offertory. Moreover it is feared by connoisseurs that other measures may be taken which will impair the strength and flavor of the fluid, and that not only the front row on the shelf but also the back row will be unworthy of regard. The outlook is consequently poor.

Into the Porcupine.

The Ontario government railway, the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario, is after the trade of the Porcupine. The great Northern Ontario gold field now being developed is said to be good enough to warrant an extension of the provincial railway, without necessarily being good enough to justify all the circulars of all the promoters who have claims to sell in the new Rand. Porcupine itself has a romantic sound, but the main station of the district is to have a much more attractive appellation. Golden City will be in itself an inducement for treasure-seekers to buy tickets over the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario railway.

Golden City is ninety-four miles away from Iroquois Falls, where the Porcupine branch meets the main line of the railway. Three or four miles beyond Golden City there will be another station, on the south shore of Porcupine lake, and the line will terminate in a siding at the Big Dome mine. Already steel has been laid for most of the distance between Iroquois Falls and Frederickhouse river, and by July 1 the whole line will be ready for bringing out the yellow metal.

SOCIALISM BROAD TERM IN ENGLAND

American Thinks British Brand Is Better Than Our Own.

London, April 7.—Samuel P. Orth, of Cleveland, Ohio, a lawyer and lecturer on economics who is in London studying Socialism for the benefit of American sociological students, declared yesterday that he was astonished at the progress Socialism has made in England.

"Socialism has become a factor in American politics and a good deal of Socialistic legislation is being projected," he said. "The problem is then, how far will the state inject itself into activities which up till now have been left to individual initiative?

"I have come over here to see how the English and other European peoples are tackling the problem because our institutions have been modeled from the parent countries, and it has been a fact for some time that Americans look a good deal to the older countries for examples of how to and how not to tackle certain questions. Also we notice that the older countries study each other's methods closely and often take cues from one another in the reform work. Therefore, I thought that an outsider who tries as far as he is able to look at things in an unprejudiced manner might gather a great deal of knowledge that would be beneficial to his country in dealing with parallel conditions.

"I find that Socialism in England is not a very definite thing; it is a very broad term and seems to cover all progressive movements. But I am simply astounded how Socialism has permeated English thought and generally how advanced England is in dealing with these questions. In political life, of course, this is most marked, but in every other sphere I encounter the same thing. Literature and art are saturated with it and among sociological students and teachers of all kinds the same thing is to be found. I have met many people over here whom I would call Socialists, but if they were confronted with the name they would deny it, but for all that, their actions bely them. In America they would be called Socialists right out and people would tell them they weren't going to be fooled if they tried to deny it. Also the number of wonderful men the Socialists have in their ranks astonishes me, and I am sure when I tell my friends in America about it they will say I am exaggerating. The Fabian meetings, above all, interest me and I think it is remarkable how successfully they have permeated British Liberalism with their ideas. With regard to labor leaders, I think England is far ahead. There are some uncommonly able men at the head of the workers here who could teach the American leaders a lot. One thing which strikes me very forcibly about them is that they never lose their heads, they keep cool all the time.

"On the whole, in my opinion the English are going the right way about dealing with this question. They are going to do it by evolution and not by revolution as is preached in America. And whether Socialism as a philosophy is right or not I believe that the Socialist propaganda in England just now has hopeful tendencies. It has made thought more progressive and has led up to serious consideration of the great problem of how far and in which way the functions of government are to be extended."

HAS HAD FOUR LEGAL NAMES

Unique Distinction That of David Samuel Kidd Byrne.

Toronto, Ont., April 7.—To few men falls the distinction of having four surnames in his lifetime. A woman may count on having two if she is fortunate enough (or otherwise) to marry, but most men are content to amble through life with the name they inherit from their father, unless, indeed, an alias is desirable.

David S. K. Byrne has had four legal names in his time. He was born David Samuel Kidd, in the village of Bewdley, Ont., in 1868. For forty years and more he bore this name, doing business under it as a tea merchant.

A couple of years ago the erstwhile David Samuel Kidd changed his name by deed poll, which he registered at Osgoode Hall. The name he then took was David S. K. Burns. The reason he gave for the change embodies a romantic story of a visit by Kid to Chicago, and the rescue there from a life of infamy of the daughter of a man of great wealth. The daughter was restored to her parents, but shortly afterwards died. The father did not long survive her, and dying, left to the rescuer of his daughter a large sum of money, said to be over $1,000,000, for the erection in Toronto of a rescue home to be superintended by David Samuel Kidd. The only condition attached was that the said Kidd should change his surname to that of the millionaire.

With his name changed to David S. K. Burns, Kidd prepared to leave for Australia, where the millionaire had made his home. Before he left, however, he found that a mistake had been made, and that instead of Burns, his name should have been merely Burn. His name was accordingly changed again.

Now there has arrived at Osgoode Hall from Sydney, N. S. W., another communication from the former Kidd, to the effect that one more deed poll is necessary to straighten out the name which will entitle him to the fund. He finds that the proper spelling of the name is "Byrne." He has therefore made this change, and is now known as David S. K. Byrne. The document from Australia is covered with Australian stamps and is dated Feb. 10. It concludes:

"Now, therefore, I, the said David S. K. Burn (nee Kidd) aforesaid, do hereby declare that from this date I shall call myself and be known by the name of David S. K. Byrne, as that is my legal name. By mistake, in a previous deed poll dated Aug. 6, 1909, on record at the high court of justice, Osgoode hall, Toronto, in the Dominion of Canada, I, the said David Samuel Kidd, changed my name to Burn, whereas the will mentioned spelled the name Byrne."

Wellington George Byrne of Baltimore is the name of the millionaire in the case. He died on Sept. 14, 1908.

Friends of David S. K. Byrne in this city say that he will return to America before long, having discovered that the bulk of the property is in Maryland, and the will is to be probated there. There will probably be much litigation in connection with it. Kidd has had an interview with Mrs. Byrne, and they got along amicably, it is said.

ROMANCE OF YOUNG MISS.

Spoiled and Beau Must Trudge to Frisco Alone.

Bridgeport, Ohio, April 7.—Deputy Sheriff Dunfee came across Emma Wagner, 16 years of age, when driving along in the western part of Belmont county. He asked her if she cared to ride, and before they had gone far she told him she was going to Morristown to meet her brother and another young man who were walking to San Francisco.

The officer recalled the story of two Wheeling boys, William Fulton and Albert Marshall, who had started on a walk to the coast. The girl finally confessed that she had left home and was going to elope with one of the young men. Deputy Dunfee then drove back to Wheeling, where he delivered her to her parents.

Emma's sweetheart and her brother will have to "go it alone" on their long "hike" to the coast.

MINNESOTA WELL FIXED.

Annual Income $900,000, Second Only to Texas.

St. Paul, Minn., April 7.—The state of Minnesota has more than $23,000,000 at interest in this and other states which brings an income of nearly $900,000 a year. It was $882,681 last year, according to figures prepared by Walter J. Smith, state treasurer. This is larger than the investment of any state but Texas.

Of this $23,000,000 there is a total of $17,558,163 in the funds which supports the university and schools of the state. This money in large part is the result of sales of lands, timber and iron ore lands. The state has outstanding contracts with purchasers of state lands amounting to $6,000,000. This represents the amount which will be paid when settlers have completed payment on the land they have purchased from Minnesota.

The state has discontinued investing money outside Minnesota, preferring now to use the various investment funds to loan to counties, towns and cites for local improvements.

FOR A TONIC NOTHING EQUALS S.S.S.

The need of a tonic in the Spring is almost universally recognized. We have learned that a weakened, run-down system means more than "Spring Fever," as we are accustomed to refer to the physical disturbances which come at this season. Bodily fatigue, fickle appetite, poor digestion, nervousness, lack of energy, etc., prove that the proper amount of nourishment is not being supplied to the body through the circulation. The stomach, bowels and digestive members are sluggish from lack of stimulating nutrition, and in consequence the entire body suffers from the effects of a poorly nourished constitution.

The recognized importance of pure blood in preserving health emphasizes the danger of a weakened circulation. The use of a real blood-purifying tonic when the system is deranged from lack of nourishment, will often prevent the development of some serious sickness, because weak systems cannot resist disease, while healthy, well nourished constitutions are able to ward it off. No medicine is of value as a tonic except one which purifies and enriches the blood, for until this is done the body will not receive its required stimulus and disease-resisting powers.

Your S. S. S. in my opinion, is as good a medicine as can be had; it simply cannot be improved upon as a remedy to purify and enrich the blood and to invigorate and tone up the system. Last Spring my blood was bad and I was run down in health, and having seen your medicine highly advertised, I commenced its use. Today my blood is in fine condition and my general health is of the best. Am filling position as fireman of a large concern here, and if I was not in good physical condition it would be impossible for me to fill the place.

BUTTER HAS WEAK TONE

Large Storage Stocks Are Pressing on the Market.

Eggs Cheaper With Offerings Heavy—Potatoes Are Higher.

Down along commission row it is reported that the large surplus of butter is pressing heavily on markets. Dealers are confronted with the necessity of clearing away an immense supply of butter to make room for stocks of newly made butter. They must get rid of the old stock before the task of marketing the new season's make becomes onerous. They must remove the accumulations of last year's production before this year's output becomes of unmanageable proportions.

Prices of butter, consequently, are sagging and have touched the lowest levels in many months, further declines being posted on Michigan street within the last few days. Reducing prices usually brings about satisfactory results when supplies exceed requirements, and in the last ten days values have slumped about 2 cents. The tonic has proven too mild to relieve the congested condition, however, and the close of the week finds little betterment in the situation.

Dealers throughout the Central states have as much fresh butter in their cellars as is usually found there in the middle of the producing season, an increase of thousands of pounds a week in the current make is impending and there are millions of pounds of last year's production still to be disposed of. A dealer in butter who is a close student of market conditions summarized the situation as follows:

"The market is at the mercy of buyers. Pressure to sell is urgent. There is so much discussion among buyers that bids on identical grades of butter vary from ½c to 1½c a pound. The visible supply is enormous and while reduced prices are increasing consumption, unless we get relief from foreign markets it is evident that considerable cold storage butter will have to be carried over to another season. Advices from foreign markets give no encouragement for business at prevailing prices. Cold storage stocks in England are large and arrivals in London from Australia and New Zealand are so large that accumulations on the British markets appear to be increasing instead of diminishing. I can see nothing of promise in the butter market."

Cold storage butter can be had at buyers' own prices. Some buyers find good dairy butter so cheap and plentiful, however, that they prefer to fill their needs from the better stock. When cold storage butter can answer their requirements as well as fresh stock they take the former on account of its cheapness. There is a good demand for creamery butter from consumers who usually buy dairy butter when prices are high. The output of dairy and creamery butter is heavy but the consumption is large and no trouble is being experienced in marketing this year's makes. The troublesome feature of the market is the disposition of last year's surplus.

The purchases of cold storage stock had a tendency a few days ago to cause low grades of fresh butter to become stagnant. Creamery men throughout the country were notified that low grading butter could not be used and that a safe policy would be to confine themselves to the production of the finest grades of creameries which cannot be materially affected by the presence of cold storage stocks.

Eggs are cheaper and the market is active. Receipts are fairly heavy and the demand is large. Prices are several cents a dozen lower than at this time last year. The big disparity in current values and those of a year ago is due solely to the unsatisfactory condition of the cold storage egg situation last month, receipts of fresh eggs being lighter than the receipts that came into this market a year ago.

At this period of the year the acquisition of fresh eggs to place in cold storage for the coming winter is usually at its height. Such a condition does not prevail this year, however. A portion of daily arrivals is going into coolers but the lesson taught cold storage holders last year is too fresh to permit of indiscriminate buying such as featured the trade a year ago. The amount of speculative buying that is being done is too insignificant to have much effect on the market.

The cheese market is lower and active. Stocks in stores have lately undergone moderate reductions. There is still much cheese of last year's make to be disposed of, however, and the situation cannot be described as firm. It is believed that the glutted condition of the butter market will bring about a big increase in the production of cheese this year and it will be necessary for distributors to encourage consumption to keep supplies from accumulating. Reductions in foreign makes have been more severe than in domestic descriptions.

The potato market is firm, higher and buoyant and the outlook is for higher prices. In the last few days the market has advanced 5c a bushel and further accelerations are believed to be impending. Prices are much higher than at this time last year.

Cold weather and snow flurries have interfered to a small extent with the fresh fruit and green vegetable trade and the volume of trading in those branches of the produce market has been curtailed. Oranges are firm but display practically no price changes. Navels are beginning to come liberally from California. Apples are slightly higher. The market shows strength and the undertone is considerably improved. Box stock is being featured, as it is superior to barrel stock on account of the care displayed in the selection and packing of the fruit. The banana market is strong and firm. Foreign grapes are higher and stocks are reduced. The pineapple market is weak, as the new crop is beginning to arrive from Cuba. Prices for the best grades have been reduced. The lemon market is firm and unchanged.

Tomatoes are arriving generously from Florida. Prices are reasonable for this period of the year. The market is strong, however, and some people look for an upturn in prices before product grown near home begins to arrive. The cranberry market is higher, prices having been advanced at shipping points in New Jersey and Michigan. Louisiana strawberries are cheaper and are arriving in larger quantities. The quality is excellent. The outlook is for lower prices.

The cabbage market is soaring. Old cabbage is practically cleaned up and the supply is limited. The onion market is firm and prices have a tendency to advance.

The only new vegetable to arrive on the market in the last few days is spinach. For some time the market was bare of supplies, arrivals entering quickly into the channels of consumption at firm prices.

PASSED BY THE HOUSE.

ward the head of the special order which was taken up last night, but on motion of Representative Knapp it was put at the foot of the special order in order to give time for the proper consideration of the amendments which have been drawn up by the attorney general. The bill is on the calendar in the senate.

Opposition to this bill, partly arising in rural prejudice and suspicion and partly coming from peculiar sources in the Twin Cities, has been growing more evident of late, and there will be a hard fight on it, particularly in the house. Whether or not this opposition has its origin in railroad opposition to the idea of Duluth's setting up in the public dock business is not clear, but the possibility strongly suggests itself.

Representative D. P. O'Neill of Thief River Falls was successful last night not only in rescuing from defeat his bill appropriating $15,000 to help rebuild schoolhouses in the district burned over by last fall's border forest fires, but in getting it passed by the house last night under suspension of the rules.

The bill, through a misunderstanding, had been recommended for indefinite postponement by the committee on appropriations, and the report had been adopted. Last night Mr. O'Neill asked unanimous consent to move to reconsider the vote by which the bill was killed. Representative Lewis C. Spooner moved that the bill be taken up at once and put on its final passage, and his motion carried. The bill was then passed, 84 to 4.

Other bills passed last night were as follows:

By Senator G. H. Sullivan—Authorizing counties to appropriate $300 annually to aid in the observance of Memorial day.

By Senator Dunn—Providing for the appointment of a deputy comptroller in cities of more than 50,000.

By Senator Gunn — Fixing the time of holding terms of court in Koochiching county.

By Representative C. H. Warner—Providing for the detachment of unplatted lands from incorporated villages. This bill is in the interests of Coleraine and Bovey.

FAMILY TO RESCUE OF DROWNING GIRL.

Reynold's Newspaper: An extraordinary instance of a family's gallantry comes from Oxford. It appears that a domestic servant of Iffley, while cycling by the side of the river with a young man at 10 o'clock the other evening, fell off her machine into the stream at a spot where the water was twelve feet deep and there was a swift current. The young man roused the Iffley lockkeeper, Mr. Mellon, who immediately jumped into the river in the darkness. His wife followed with her 17-year-old son carrying a lantern.

She directed operations by the lantern light and told her son to jump in to save his father, who seemed unable to effect the rescue single handed in the swiftly running stream. Young Mellon obeyed immediately, and father and son swimming in the icy cold water, effected the girl's rescue by the light of the lantern carried by Mrs. Mellon.

IN ONE OFFICE 85 YEARS.

London Daily Graphic: The inspection committee of trustee savings bank in their report for last year state that one retired actuary died in February at the age of 98 years.

He was the oldest borough treasurer in the United Kingdom and actively discharged the duties of the office till a few months of his death. He was in the office of a local solicitor for eighty-five years.

HOME DIPLOMACY.

Youth's Companion: As Mr. Comton looked down at his waistcoat he discovered that it lacked a button. "And I asked my wife to sew it on more firmly last night," he said to his commuter neighbor in the train. "I don't see how she forgot it."

"Don't ever ask her to mend anything," said his friend. "I learned a better way before I'd been married a year. When I want anything mended, say a shirt, for instance, I take it under my arm, all mussed up and open the closet door, and sing out to my wife, 'Where's the rag bag, Peggy?'

"'What do you want of the rag bag?' she'll ask me.

"'Oh, I thought I'd throw this away,' I tell her, and I'll mutter something about 'worn out old thing!' while I hand it over to her.

"'Why, James Holland!' she'll say, when she's spread it out and looked it over in a hurry. 'I am surprised at you! This is perfectly good. I doesn't need a single thing except—' And then and there she sits down to mend it, looking as if I'd made her a present."

Say good-bye to your corns the very first time you use TIZ. You will never know you have a corn, bunion or callous, or sweaty, tired, swollen, aching feet any more. It's just wonderful the way the pain vanishes. Rub the corn—hammer it with your fist if you wish—no more pain after TIZ than if there had never been a blemish on your feet. Doesn't that sound good to you? Doesn't it? Then read this.

"The corns on either of my toes were as large as the tablets you make to cure them. Today there is no sign of corns on either foot and no soreness. It's an up-to-date Godsend.—Sam. A. Hoover, Progress, N. C.

JUDGE KNOWLES DIES IN WEST

Montana Pioneer Was an Uncle of Duluth Woman.

An Associated Press dispatch announces the sudden death yesterday on an Oregon Short Line passenger train while en route from California to his home at Missoula, Mont., of Hiram Knowles, formerly United States district judge for Montana. There is a local interest in the announcement of Judge Knowles' death as he was the uncle of Mrs. W. B. Brinkham of 2116 East Third street.

Judge Knowles was 77 years of age and for years sat on the federal bench of Montana until he retired several years ago with high honors, being succeeded by Judge W. H. Hunt, now a member of the court of commerce. Judge Knowles was a pioneer of Montana having come to the territory in the 60's with the late Judge W. W. Dixon of Montana and other pioneers. He saw all the vicissitudes of pioneer life and for years was one of the well-known attorneys of the territory and state and after he became federal judge presided in some of the most noted cases between Heinze and the Amalgamated Copper company. Judge Knowles was born in Hampden, Me., Jan. 18, 1834, graduating from the Denmark, Iowa academy, Antioch college, Ohio and Harvard college. He was married in Keokuk, Iowa, in 1870 to Mary Curtis, who with three daughters survive. Judge Knowles went to Nevada in 1862 where he was prosecuting attorney of Humboldt county in 1863 and 1864. He removed to Idaho in 1865 and to Montana in 1866. He was a member of the Montana territorial surpreme court, and the constitutional convention and was appointed United States district judge in 1890, serving until he retired recently.

Judge Knowles lived at Missoula, Mont. in the summer and at Los Angeles, Cal. in the winter and was returning from California when stricken. M. H. Brinkham received a telegram today confirming the Associated Press dispatch on the death of Judge Knowles, also adding that the funeral will be held at Missoula, Mont., Sunday, at 3 p. m., under the auspices of the Unitarian church and the Montana grand lodge of Masons, of which Judge Knowles was past grandmaster. Interment will be at Missoula.

the adoption of the commission form of government in this state. In the meantime, one city, Mankato, has already adopted the commission plan and seems to be getting on famously with it.

The bill has passed the senate and a minor amendment by the house will make its repassage by the senate necessary. After that it will go to the Governor, who will sign it, and then to the people, to be voted on at the next general election.

Reapportionment Meeting.

The meeting of the senate committee on reapportionment yesterday afternoon was rather a melancholy affair. Though the real friends of reapportionment were in the majority, they were somewhat apathetic, probably because of a large and growing doubt whether any kind of reapportionment is possible, and they let the enemies of reapportionment—some of whom have lately been masquerading as friends of reapportionment—prevail with their demands for delay, supplemented by many excuses.

Senator Hanson, the author of the bill, explained its provisions. It takes six senators away from Southern and Southwestern Minnesota, adds one member to the senate, and disposes of the seven as follows: One to Hennepin county, one to Ramsey county, one to St. Louis county, and two each to the country sections of the Eighth and Ninth congressional districts.

Senator Coller of Scott county, a frank opponent of reapportionment proposed some amendments tending, he said, to keep the Third congressional district intact. The bill as it stands joints McLeod, in the Third, and Meeker, in the Sixth, in one senatorial district. It was pointed out to him that congressional districts are due to be changed, and that senatorial districts overlap congressional district boundaries in a number of other cases. Under the present apportionment, for instance, the Eighth district is bordered on the west with senatorial districts that run over into adjoining congressional districts.

Senator Rockne wanted to lay the bill over until this afternoon so that amendments might be prepared.

Senator McGrath, a bitter opponent of any kind of reapportionment, moved that the committee adjourn to this afternoon.

Senator Gunn of Grand Rapids pounted out that Senator Schaller had given notice of a motion to be made changing the rules so that it would take a two-thirds vote to make a special order.

Senator Wilson of Minneapolis said it would take a two-thirds vote to adopt Schaller's motion, but Senator Cheadle pointed out that it could be done by a majority vote. Senator Rockne said that in his opinion the motion would have to be referred to the rules committee, so it couldn't be considered today.

Senator Cheadle said that if the senate didn't vote in the proposed change, which would prevent making a special order of the reapportionment bill, there was no particular objection to the delay of one day.

Senator Rockne said that for his part he wouldn't consent to let the proposed change head a special order on the reapportionment bill. He did not think there was any danger, as a majority of the house can do what it pleases at any time.

Senator Hanson said that it was generally understood that the purpose of the Schaller motion was to prevent making the reapportionment bill a special order.

Senator McGrath grew angry, or affected to grow angry.

"All right," he said, "force this thing out today if you want to, and if you think it will do you any good."

"Yes, go ahead," said Senator Coller. Senator Gunn told Senator McGrath that there was no intention to force matters.

Senator Wilson thought the bill ought to be voted out and made a special order for Saturday morning, as it could be amended when it was taken up by the senate.

Senator Marden then served notice on the committee that if it wanted his help to pass the bill, it would have to change his district to suit his ideas, otherwise he should oppose it. He objected to having Becker county, now a part of his district with Clay and Wilkin counties, joined to Norman county.

Asked if he wanted his district as it was in the Congdon bill, he said: "I never was in favor of the Congdon bill." Those who knew that his district was arranged in the Congdon bill as he demanded, and that he had signed an approval of the arrangement coupled with an agreement to support the Congdon bill, thought much but said nothing.

After further discussion it was decided to postpone action on the bill until this afternoon, and to give notice to everybody interested so that amendements may be drawn and offered at this afternoon's meeting.

Little faith is felt anywhere in the passage of the bill. There is a growing suspicion that outside of Senator Rockne, whose good faith is unquestioned, the new movement had as its chief purpose the avoiding of an extra session by giving Governor Eberhart a colorable excuse for refusing to call the special session on the ground that a reasonable attempt has been made to pass the new bill.

The New Districts.

A brief statement of the new districts, their population and their representation, follows:

Dist. Counties.	No. of Sens.	No of Reps.	Population.

Anti-Treating Bill Dead.

An attempt to revise the Palmer-Hopkins anti-treating bill in the house yesterday afternoon by moving to reconsider the vote by which it was lost Wednesday failed, the vote being 52 for and 56 against. The motion was made by Representative Robinson.

Representative Cleon T. Knapp of Chisholm, who had been called to preside by Speaker pro tem Lennon, had a chance to pass on some nice parliamentary points during the fight on Robinson's motion.

Before there had been any debate Representative C. H. Warner, in the interests of economy of time, moved the previous question, which prevailed. This brought the house to a direct vote on the motion to reconsider.

Representative Greene then moved that the house adjourn.

Representative Lewis C. Spooner raised the point of order that the previous question having been carried, the chair could not recognize anybody for any purpose. The question was close, as the first rule of parliamentary practice is that "a motion to adjourn is always in order," but Mr. Knapp sustained the point of order and refused to entertain the motion to adjourn.

Jacobson Talks.

Jacob F. Jacobson of Madison, Lac Qui Prale county, one-time leader of the house, later defeated candidate for governor and for several years a member of the state board of control, was visiting the legislature yesterday afternoon, and on motion of Representative Lennon the house took a recess to give him a chance to speak.

The redoubtable "Jake" made a brief and pointed talk, telling the members that the safest rule always is to do what they believe to be right, that he had been looking over the pending appropriation bills, that the state costs twice as much to run now as it did ten years ago, that if the additional expenses are necessary they should face the music and appropriate the money, and that appropriation by issuing certificates of indebtedness is vicious and cowardly. He said in closing that the legislature is not quite liberal enough with some state institutions, and that better provisions should be made for the care of the insane "even if they have no lobby here to boost their institutions."

The house yesterday afternoon passed the senate bill giving assessments for local improvements equal rank as liens with general taxes. The bill was substituted for a house bill by Representative Healy, and it was introduced at the request of the Duluth city council. It now goes to the governor for his signature.

Advertising by Counties.

The house passed a bill by Representative C. W. Bouck of Royalton, authorizing counties to spend $300 a year to advertise their natural resources.

Intoxicated persons are prohibited, under penalty, to drive motor cars, by a bill by Representative Conley which the house passed yesterday afternoon.

The house yesterday afternoon passed a very drastic bill regulating the manufacture and sale of butter substitutes. Representative W. T. Stone attacked the bill, which is a senate measure, on the ground that it practically makes the sale of oleomargarine impossible. He said that butter substitutes are palatable and nutritious, and that the dairy interests ought not to ask such legislation. Nevertheless, the bill passed 74 to 9.

The house passed a bill by Representative Nolan, giving cities power to regulate the charges of public service corporations which do not have franchises.

The house killed a bill by Representative Andrew Anderson regulating the sale of drugs. Representatives Lindberg and Jelinek, druggists, said that the bill contained a woodchuck in that it allowed the use of wood alcohol in liniments. Dr. W. T. Stone said that there isn't enough alcohol in liniments to amount to anything; nevertheless, it was on his motion that the bill was killed.

WEST END ZIMMERMAN A PIONEER

West End Man Came to Duluth Forty-One Years Ago.

Former Member of City Council Dies After Brief Illness.

Jacob Zimmerman, aged 60, former alderman, general contractor and for thirty years a resident at 30 North Eighteenth avenue west, who died yesterday was one of six men who came to Duluth forty-one years ago on the Keweenaw, a sidewheeler, the first boat to arrive in Duluth in the spring of 1870. His death occurred yesterday at St. Luke's hospital following a short illness.

Mr. Zimmerman has resided in Duluth continuously since 1870 and most of the time has been a resident of the West end. In the early days, he served a term in the council. He was a general contractor and worked as such up to a year ago, when he retired from the business on account of ill health. His death was sudden and unexpected.

Mr. Zimmerman, with William McEwen, Robert Carr, Thomas Bowers, James Dingwall and Thomas Sandeland were passengers on the boat, Keweenaw, when it made its first trip to Duluth in the spring of 1870. Capt. Stewart was in charge of the boat. He died a number of years ago. The Keweenaw landed at an old dock at the foot of Garfield avenue on May 15.

Mr. Zimmerman boarded the boat at Detroit, Mich. Mr. McEwen and the others were taken on at other ports. During the journey to Duluth, the men formed a friendship, which was never broken. To them, May 15 meant a celebration every year in commemoration of the landing of the Keweenaw in 1870. Ever since that time, the surviving members of the band of six have met on every May 15 and planned some kind of a celebration of the event.

As years rolled by death has removed them one by one. James Dingwall and Thomas Bowers have passed away and Mr. Zimmerman is the third one to be numbered among the deceased. Robert Carr now lives in St. Paul and is an engineer of a passenger train. William McEwen, father of W. E. McEwen, former labor commissioner, resides at Duluth Heights and Thomas Sandeland is a resident of Duluth.

Mr. Zimmerman is survived by a wife and six children, four sons and two daughters. They are Frank R. of Baraboo, Wis. Edgar H. of International Falls, Minn. Hayes H. and Walter J. of Duluth, and Mrs. J. A. Balmer and Miss Hazel, both of this city. He is also survived by three sisters, Mrs Henry Ortwein of Chicago; Mrs. Jacob Menger of St. Jacobs, Ont. and Mary Zimmerman of Southampton, Ont.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms, 2118 West First street to Forest Hill cemetery. Rev. W. E. Harmann, pastor of the St. Peter's Epscopal church, will officiate.

WILL PRESENT REPORT ON WATER EXTENSIONS.

A report of a committee which has been making a canvass of the property owners to ascertain how many will sign for water connections on Tenth and Eleventh streets and Twenty-second and Twenty-fourth avenues west, will be submitted to the West End Hillside Improvement club at its meeting this evening. Other business will also be taken up by the club at its meeting.

Mrs. Paulson Dies.

Mrs. Anna L. Paulson, 49 years old, died this morning at her home, 1113 Garfield avenue, of tuberculosis. She is survived by her husband, Nels Paulson, and several children.

Mrs. Paulson had been a resident of the West end for a number of years and a member of the Royal Neighbors of America.

The funeral will probably be held Monday from the Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street.

EGGS ARE ORDERED BY THE JUDGE

Priest Faints in Court From Weakness of Self-Imposed Fast.

Great Excitement Follows and the Court Suspends as Usual.

Vitozzo Invokes Soul of His Mother to Substantiate His Statements.

Viterbo, Italy, April 7.—Again today the trial of the Camorrists was interrupted when Ciro Vitozzi, the accused priest, weakened by a self-imposed fast, fainted. He was under interrogation and had worked himself into a state of mental and physical exhaustion until he tumbled over against the steel bars of the prisoners' cage.

Lawyers and carbineers rushed to his assistance and in the confusion President Bianchi declared the sitting suspended. At the same time the court ordered Vitozzi to break his fast with the yolks of half a dozen eggs.

The climax came opportunely for Vitozzi, following his declaration that he had abstained from food for forty-eight hours. He had been telling a story of his alleged persecution in prison, and the recital was not without dramatic effect.

Lock of Hair Taken From Him.

"With me in my cell," said the priest, "I had a lock of hair from the head of that holy soul, my mother. This was taken from me upon the order of a magistrate, who insisted that the hair was that of some woman companion of mine. What nonsense! Why, it was even gray! Can any one imagine a greater profanation?"

Here the accused man invoked the soul of his mother in support of his statement, and the recollection of what he described as the insults to her memory overwhelming him, he was seized with a fit of weeping. Between his sobs he cried out:

Priest Collapses.

"I have been fasting for forty-eight hours, supported during my whole interrogation by divine power." With the words he collapsed.

The proceedings opened with the recall of Vitozzi. The prisoner described attempts which, he said, had been made to make him appear guilty of complicity in the murder of Gennaro Cuccolo and his wife. While he was in prison, he said, he was confronted with a man who offered him $20 to denounce certain persons as guilty of the Cuccolo assassinations, adding that if it was necessary he would send the priest to America as Erricone had been sent. Vitozzi said that he did not know the man who approached him and whose name as given him was fictitious.

The prisoner told of the alleged abuse of him by the examining judges during his preliminary examinations and while he was in prison. Judge Detilla, he said, had insulted him, calling him "a Camorrist pig."

STEAMSHIP STILL FAST IN SAND

struck the shoal in the fog yesterday morning.

A breeches buoy connects the steamship with the shore while three lifesaving crews stand by the life saving boats on schore. Near the Irene, swashing about in the seaway, are the revenue cutters Seneca and Mohawk with a little fleet of tugs awaiting to aid in the transshipping of the passengers.

There was a smart northwester blowing this morning, which stirred up a lumpy sea, and lifesaving crews thought that unless the wind and water moderated it would be dangerous to transfer the passengers.

Passengers Are Safe.

There is absolutely no fear for the safety of the passengers, who, in fact, show no apprehension over their enforced stay on the shoals. Some of the ocean voyagers played bridge whist in the cabin, while others attended the band concert. Neither do the steerage passengers show any fear.

Capt. George E. Goddard of the Lone Hill lifesaving station spent all last night aboard the Irene and came ashore this morning in the station surf boat.

"I had a long talk with Capt. Petersen of the Irene," said Capt. Goddard, soon after he came ashore and he was at a loss to explain how he got ashore. "Capt. Petersen told me he had been sounding regularly. The last sound showed eighteen fathoms. The next he knew the Irene was on the sandpit.

"There was not and is not now the slightest sign of panic or excitement among the passengers. They have eaten their meals regularly and have been entertained by band concerts. Even in the ladies' cabin there were no signs of fear and I observed several persons sitting about reading and playing whist. The steerage passengers were restless, but not panicky."

Preparations to take off the Irene's passengers went forward expeditiously all during the morning. Capt. Frank Roke of the Blue Point lifesaving station, went out to the Irene in a surf boat, carrying a breeches buoy line, which was attached to the bow of the Irene. This was done as an emergency measure in case a storm develops.

Looks Like Immense Spider.

The Irene looked like an immense spider in a webb of towlines which radiated from her stem and stern to the bobbing fleet of revenue cutters and tugs. Near noon as the tide began to flood strongly the Irene's big propeller began churning the sea, while the tugs strained laboriously to free the steamship from the shoals. The sands, however, held the big ship fast.

An accommodation ladder had been let down on the lee side of the Irene, down which the passengers will be taken to the boats for transfer to the Prinz Friedrich.

Capt. Charles W. Baker of the Point of Woods lifesaving station, said at noon that the northwest wind "sounds good to me and it will knock the sea down and flatten out the ground swell.

"The position of the Irene," said Capt. Baker, "is about the same as last night, though she has worked inshore a little more. She is imbedded in the sand and I think from stem to stern, and for this reason I don't think she will spring a leak."

Starts to Rescue.

New York, April 7.—The steamship Prinz Frederick Wilhelm left her dock at Hoboken shortly before 9 o'clock to take off the passengers of the stranded steamship, Prinzess Irene.

Capt. Peterssen sent a wireless to the derelict destroyer Seneca this morning asking how many passengers the Seneca and the Mohawk could carry. The Seneca wired back that she could take about 600 passengers aboard and the cutter Mohawk 400 passengers.

A smart northwest wind picked up during the morning, kicking up a lumpy sea which swashed angrily about the stranded Irene. The Lone Hill life saving station crew which is at the shore end of the breeches buoy said shortly after 9 o'clock that in their opinion it would be dangerous to try to remove the passengers, as the weather was not as favorable as it was at sunrise.

The sky was cloudy and a thick fog hung like a curtain off shore.

To Assist in Taking Off Crew.

Lone Hill Life Saving Station, 10 a. m., April 7.—Every preparation has been made on the beach here to assist in taking off the passengers of the stranded Prinzess Irene.

Three life saving crews are on the beach opposite the steamer almost within a stone's throw of her.

FORMER LAKE LINDEN WOMAN PASSES AWAY.

Lake Linden, Mich., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Sarah E. Povey, wife of Rev. Jesse Povey, pastor of the Lake Linden Congregational church for many years, is dead at the home of her son, E. J. Povey, Brooklyn, N. Y. Mrs. Povey was 62 years of age and very well known in every town of the Michigan Copper country. Rev. and Mrs. Povey spent twelve years here. They also spent several years in Detroit and later were located at Perry, Iowa. The deceased was the mother of Dr. Gilbert W. Povey of Detroit. Other children are E. J. Povey of Brooklyn, Miss Grace Povey of that city and Rev. R. Stanley Povey of Bridgeport, Conn.

Mrs. Mary Wadge of Houghton is dead at the home of her son, Isaac Wadge, at Marquette. She formerly resided at Negaunee and at Champion, Mich. The funeral took place at Negaunee.

HOUGHTON JEWELER FIGHTS EXTRADITION.

Houghton, Mich., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.) — Louis Klobecker, a jewelry merchant of Houghaon, is at Lansing before Governor Osborn with attorneys, fighting extradition to Illinois. Klobecker is wanted in Chicago on a charge of larceny by bailee, it being alleged by a Chicago diamond house that he obtained two diamonds from their concern and has not paid for the stones. Klobecker says he has sold the diamonds on contract, but has been unable to collect the money for them as yet. He is represented before the governor by Attorneys W. J. Galbraith and W. J. McCormack of Calumet.

"THE PURPOSE OF THIS BILL."

The St. Paul Pioneer Press finds its sense of caution aroused by the Cheadle bill now before the legislature, in which it is provided that the state shall lease to the City of Duluth, for the nominal rent of $1 a year, and for a period of ninety-nine years, a dockage site which the state owns on the Duluth water front. "What is the real purpose of this bill?" asks the Pioneer Press, and suggests "that it be given very careful consideration" before final action is taken.

To understand the purpose of the bill it is necessary first to recall the last annual report of the United States rivers and harbors commission. There it was shown that Duluth, like the other ports of the Great Lakes, has been the victim of corporate grabbing of water-fronts, until there is not a single dock site at this point that is not owned or controlled by private interests, with the exception of this state land.

The private interests thus in control are the transportation companies and allied organizations. By controlling the docks they are able to dictate not only terms of storage of merchandise, but the lines by which merchandise shall be transported, and thus, indirectly, the rates shippers must pay.

It was to avoid this corporate control that Duluth conceived the idea of erecting a city dock. As the only available site was this state land, a proposal was made to the state that the site be sold to the city. The matter was laid before the attorney general, who returned an opinion that the state had not the right to sell the land. Then Mayor Cullum of Duluth again took the matter up with the attorney general, and the result has been the Cheadle bill.

Now for the purpose of the bill—it is to give Minnesota shippers the advantages of an independent dock for their lake and rail transportation. For instance: A manufacturing concern of St. Paul or Minneapolis, or a big shipper from farther south or west, wants to send a quantity of merchandise east by the lake route, and sees independent boat line rates quoted a shade under those of the other lines. He naturally wants to get the advantage of the lower rate. As things are at present he can't do it. His goods must be stored a day or two days or maybe a week on some dock. But all docks are owned or controlled by railroad and steamship lines, and nothing can be stored on them that is not to go over those particular lines. With an independent dock, controlled by the city, there would be a place here for the shippers to put their goods until they were ready to ship them over whatever line they chose.

Or, consider shipments from the East. At present there is no dock where independent boats can tie up and discharge cargoes. So the consignees must have goods shipped over "regular" lines and pay "regular" rates.

Most of Duluth's commerce is of the lake-and-rail character. Most of it originates in or is destined for points in Minnesota outside of Duluth. Therefore the city dock, while it would mean freer commerce for and through Duluth, would mean better transportation facilities for every shipper and consignee in Minnesota and the Northwest.

Duluth is willing to buy the dock site, but it cannot be bought.

Duluth is willing to bear the expense of improving the site for dock purposes, that will be a gain for the whole state. But Duluth is not willing to go to this expense and submit to an added continual rental charge. Nor would it be fair to ask that of the city.

TO SAVE UNCLE SAM MONEY.

Among the various bits of legislative advice that are being donated to the Sixty-second congress from various parts of the country, is a suggestion from the New York Sun that is right in line with the announced policy of the Democrats to cut down the expenses of the national government. This is the proposal of an amendment to the Federal Constitution along the line of the provision of the Constitution of the state of New York that reads as follows:

> If any bill presented to the governor contains several items of appropriation of money he may object to one or more of such items, while approving of the other portion of the bill. In such case he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects; and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If the legislature be in session he shall transmit to the house in which the bill originated a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately considered. If on reconsideration one or more of such items be approved by two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the same shall be part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor

It is a common experience of legislation that some undesirable items be included in an appropriation bill which contains other items of such value that their loss cannot well be borne by the government. It is one of the fruits of the system of log-rolling, of "swapping around," that has grown up in our national and state legislative bodies.

That system has been under fire for several years. In the Minnesota legislature an effort has been made to get away from it by reducing the appropriation question to something more of a system than heretofore, grouping the funds that are related under separate heads and so seeking to keep out unrelated items which might be put through as riders, on the strength of some more worthy appropriations. The New York plan would do away with all this kind of thing at one blow. It would leave the executive free to exercise the veto power on such items as deserved to be vetoed, and yet would not affect the rest of the bill. And if the executive were disposed to act against the evident interests of the government, the legislative body would still have the power to overcome the veto by a two-thirds vote.

There is another advantage that such a provision would have, in the greater responsibility that would devolve upon the executive department. It would close the way to the explanation that a bill containing undesirable items was signed because of the great value of some other provisions. It would mean that no appropriation could be put through and made effective except on its own merits, and that the executive, in the last analysis, would be forced actually to assume responsibility for national expenditures, as he now is supposed to bear it.

MONEY IN THE FARMERS' POCKETS.

A puzzled correspondent of the Kansas City Star writes to ask what the farmers get out of Canadian reciprocity, or whether they get anything. The reply of the Star is in line with the facts as they have been shown from time to time since the Canadian agreement was proposed to congress, but their repetition may serve to impress them more firmly on the minds of the people. Here is the way they are put by the Missouri paper, which assuredly "shows" the farmers:

The farmers share in the general prosperity of the country. Anything that promotes the general welfare benefits them. The development of the foreign trade of the United States would be of advantage to men in every department of industry. But the farmers will get certain specific advantages in addition, from the Canadian agreement.

They have been selling $750,000 worth of clover and timothy seed a year in Canada in spite of a duty of 10 per cent. Under the agreement, garden and field seeds go on the free list, thus increasing the maarket. Potatoes and other fresh vegetables are to go free into Canada, whereas they now pay a quarter of a million dollars duty every year. Canned and dried fruits, of which Canada has been buying half a million dollars' worth a year with a duty of about 15 per cent, will be duty free. Canada has imposed a duty of 25 per cent on horses. The remission of this ought to extend the American horse market materially. The same condition has existed with regard to sheep. The Dominion government is trying to increase the number of sheep, and reciprocity would open an important market to Americans.

Canada has been importing three-quarters of a million dozen eggs with a duty of 5 cents a dozen. The removal of this duty, with that of the duty on dairy products, will stimulate trade. The effects of these reductions will be felt first along the border, but will gradually be distributed throughout the country.

Rough lumber, laths, palings have been put on the free list, and the duty has been reduced on planed lumber and shingles. As the United States buys $18,000,000 worth of rough lumber from Canada a year and more than a million dollars' worth of finished lumber, these reductions ought to prove of material assistance to home builders, including farmers.

The rates on certain agricultural implements are reduced from 45 to 20 per cent and cream separators are to be admitted free. Galvanized and barbed wire, too, are put on the free list.

WANTED—A NAME.

As far as history records, Adam is the only man who ever had any real soft job when it came to classifying the lower orders of animals. He had the first crack at every possible name. He had no respected precedents to consider. He could hitch any kind of a verbal handle to any kind of a creature and be sure that no other creature would have reason to object on account of similarity of sound or apparent confusion of natural characteristics. For all the animals were virtuous; there were no beasts or birds of prey, and such a thing as a fight was unknown when Adam did his big name-giving stunt.

Adam had a cinch. He could call a hog a hog. He could call a shark a shark. Or he could apply to any creature he chose the names of snake or lammergeier or vulture or goatsucker or jackass or skunk, and none of them could kick. It was the first time the name was used, and there were no other beasts, birds or fish, even remotely like the one the name was applied to, to object or feel hurt or mistreated.

Now-a-days it's different—so very different. There are so many ramifications of the same kind of critter. Why, you can't even say "cat" without having to specify whether you mean house- or wild- or bob- or something-else-cat. That's what makes it so difficult to say anything about the members of the Minnesota senate—you have to explain and specify and hedge around, because the term "senator" in this state has got 'way past the stage where it means "a man of honor, chosen by the people to help make the laws that shall govern them." In fact there are, it seems, only a couple more than a couple of dozen cases in the state today where that good old definition applies. And there are three dozen cases where it doesn't.

Now, you see the difficulty. Just to say "senator" doesn't mean anything definite at all. Of course, if you are referring to one of the two-dozen-and-a-couple, that word will answer. But if you get over the line into the territory of the three dozen, you are up against it. You have simply got to go back to the time of Adam to get another name that will qualify the official title, so as to express your real meaning, in order that there may be no doubt as to the kind of being you have in mind.

And it is such a simple little question that has made all this difference and trouble—just a question of whether to keep one's promise, do as one agreed to do, abide by the law one has sworn to uphold, support the principles of government on which the United States and the State of Minnesota are founded. It is just a question of common, everyday honor, that's all. And yet the three dozen can't bring themselves to be decent and respectable enough to live up to what they know to be the law and the justice of the thing.

It certainly makes one wish for some of the leeway Adam had. Then maybe he could classify these three-dozen without running any danger of mixing them up with the honorable men who are so unfortunate as to be members of the senate along with them. What the people of the state need just now is a name that will serve that purpose. We have neither initiative nor referendum nor recall, so what can we do? Nothing—except to classify these three-dozen properly and prepare, when the opportunity offers, to lay them away together as specimens of other kinds of incomprehensible creatures are laid away. But meanwhile we certainly would like to be furnished with the proper name for this particular kind of bug.

The New York Sun calls Representative Mann, the new Republican leader in the house, "a veritable steam engine in breeches." Anyway, that is better than if the locomotive wore a harem skirt.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION FOR W. S. WOODBRIDGE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I just received the sad information from Los Angeles of the death of my dear friend, W. S. Woodbridge. I want to say of him that we have been warm personal friends for thirty years and kept up correspondence until almost his death, at least since we left Duluth, and I can say of him, a truer man I never knew. Ever ready at his country's call, forty years in church work, chairman of the Y. M. C. A. board eight years, president of Duluth Humane society and a member of other kindred organizations. All the time he was building a great character out of a clean, active life. Those who knew him best knew his worth. What a life for young men to imitate.

HENRY HASKINS.

Calgary, Alta., April 5.

T. T. HUDSON AND THE HILLSIDERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In the News Tribune article, wherein Mr. Hudson defends the water board, I am quoted as saying at that meeting that the material in the force main from Lakewood to Thirty-sixth avenue was of poor material. My statement was that the city had experts pass on that at the time the pipe was built and their statement was that the life of the steel pipe in the ground was about ten years, and that the records in the city hall would show my statement to be correct.

Mr. Hudson came up to the Hillside club prepared to discuss the water rates with an armful of data. It was expected by the members that he would be prepared to say something on government by commission, as announced, but he merely stated that he was a knocker on that form of government, and started in with the water rate question, which has been a live topic for the past year with the Hillside clubs.

Mr. Hudson held the floor for upwards of two hours and handled his subjects eloquently, and told the members of the club of the sacrifices the members of the board made to the city without compensation of any kind. He deavored to touch on some things that he has not given careful attention, and he was asked some pointed questions that were difficult to answer, especially regarding some of the large consumers prices as he came fully prepared, he did well and the Hillside club was entertained for one evening.

Hoping you may be able to find space for this, I am, yours, etc.,

R. E. PATTERSON.

ANOTHER TACKLES LOVE AND MARRIAGE PROBLEM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Having passed my 20th birthday, I presume I am eligible to attempt to answer "F," who asked a lot of questions about love and marriage in the society column of your paper a few days ago.

"Pessim.st," who followed yesterday, got off a good lot of talk, skimmed the surface of the subject and asked some more questions.

Outside of the weather, love and marriage are probably the most popular subjects for discussion in America, either directly or indirectly. There is always some one of your acquaintance getting married, and consequently always something to talk about. It makes interesting talk, too—sometimes.

The little word "love" is, I think, a rather insignificant term for devotion that is supposed to be so strong that it forms the foundation for society in America as well as in other countries of the world.

It is wrongly used. We hear it spoken lightly of and we think nothing of it. It is a joke, a jest and a conundrum. Very seldom is the word or the condition taken seriously. The strong feeling of devotion for lack of a better name is called "love."

Keble, Milton, Burns, Fenton, Dryden, Spenser and old Bill Shakespeare have tried to tell us what love is. They have tried in different ways, but none of them has quite succeeded.

Noah Webster, who some years ago wrote a big book of so many characters that it is dull reading, says: "Love is a passionate affection for one of the opposite sex." He evidently did not think that it was clear, for he goes on to say: "A feeling of strong attachment induced by that which delights or commands admiration; pre-eminent kindness or devotion one to another; affection; tenderness; as the love of brothers and sisters."

I think the time-worn idea that two people are made for one another and no one else is about played out. I can not believe that one person in New Rochelle was born for some one whom he is to meet at Spokane, Wash. I believe that there are lots of people who were not born for each other who could be happy with each other.

Let us get away from this hot, burning something that many are pleased to call love, and substitute a milder, more enduring sort of affection—a kind of comradeship, friendship on a sane and solid basis. We can do that sensibly—we can't be sane and be in love.

This last is my idea on the subject. At best it is a condition that each person has to settle for himself, and I say to the young man, "take a chance."

Beatrice Fairfax or Laura Jean Libby would never, never agree to a marriage because it was for wholesouled friendship, not love, but people do not ask other people's advice when they are thinking of getting married. Do they, Mr. Editor?

FEDERAL LAWS VIOLATED?

To the Editor of The Herald:

The public well knows that there is a federal law against railroad telegraphers employed in the train service, i. e., in the handling of trains, working to exceed nine hours in a day. In offices where only one shift is worked, twelve hours is the maximum.

Amendments of this law were made to include telephone operators and these are to include conductors and others engaged in the work of taking orders by wire affecting train movements.

But does the public generally know that it is a common practice on the Great Northern road and on other roads using the telephone system, for conductors on freight and work trains who are on duty usually sixteen hours a day, to take orders over the telephone from stations and booths away out in the country where telegraphers were formerly employed?

These men do not do this because they want to but because they are required to by the management. Many conductors engaged in this service have told me personally they would prefer running on an order taken in the usual manner by a regular operator and in accordance to the laws of the country, but most of them are married men and some have families to support and few of them have the nerve to come out and accuse their employers.

As far as I know the companies have in no way threatened to discharge a man for refusing to take a train order in this manner, yet we all know too well what the tendency would be and as far as I know, no conductor has refused to perform this duty if such it may be called.

We need the backing of public opinion in this matter.

Wild Pigeons Extinct.

Montevideo Leader: Our Dumb Animals says the last survivor of the wild or passenger pigeon lives in the zoological garden at Cincinnati. She is 18 years old and with her death the species will become extinct. We can well remember seeing flocks of wild pigeons in Wisconsin that darkened the sky and shut out the sun for hours at a time. There were millions of them at the nesting grounds in Adams county, during the spring season, and boys would get tired of shooting them and would knock them down from the trees with clubs. It does not seem possible that they have gone the way of the buffalo and no one can explain the cause of their extermination.

A Needed Measure.

Ely Miner: We would suggest that a measure entitled "A bill for an act to conserve common sense in the Minnesota legislature" be introduced at once.

Chance to Explain.

Winona Leader: This week the price of barley reached 96 cents, 2 cents higher than it has been heretofore this season. And this in the face of the fact, that the reciprocity pact will be almost certainly ratified by congress next month. Now let those who are opposed to the matter explain and see if they have any ground to stand on.

Wheat Prices and Reciprocity.

Todd County Argus: Much has been said on the subject of wheat prices in connection with the Canadian reciprocity pact and it has been spread broadcast over the country that to remove the tariff on wheat would lower the price to the American farmer. At present and for some years past, the wheat grown in the Canadian Northwest has gone into the world's market by way of the Canadian Pacific railroad and the great Lakes. If it had not been for the tariff, much of it probably would have gone to the world's markets through the United States. But the prices in Canada have risen or fallen like in our own country in unison with the world's market fluctuations, and the difference between prices in Winnipeg and Minneapolis has been about the same all the year round. This difference has been on the average about 9 cents. On the 21st of March the price of No. 1 northern in Winnipeg was 91¼ cents and in Minneapolis on the same day, 99¼ cents. It will be noted that the price of wheat in Canada on that date was higher than the average price in Todd county. Some of our exchanges that are opposing the reciprocity agreement, quote prices from some distant station in Canada to show that wheat is lower there than in Minnesota, but this is not a true comparison. Winnipeg is a great shipping center, just as Minneapolis is, and the average price in that city is a true index of the Canadian market. There can be no possible danger of free wheat depressing the Minnesota market in the price. On the same day the Winnipeg price stood 91¼ cents, the price in St. Cloud, was 93 cents. It has always been the case that Canadian wheat could not be bought at the local stations in that country and brought to the central markets of this country and sold below our home markets. Indeed, the conditions could not be otherwise when the prices are regulated for both countries by the Liverpool market. While it is true most of our farm products are consumed in our own country, it is also just as true that the prices are the same for this portion as for the surplus, which is shipped abroad. Our leading statesmen have always known this, but have been compelled to yield to the demand for a protective tariff, and the big concerns that were able to get great benefits from the tariff, have sedulously fostered this tariff on farm products in order to keep up the whole system.

Should Help Each Other.

Laporte News: Laporte is not yet big enough to successfully support two factions, and probably never will be. It becomes every citizen's duty, therefore, to help every other citizen to the extent of his ability, for what helps one, helps all. If one man makes $100 in a land, lumber or live stock deal, it will not be long before the influence of that profit will be felt in the pockets of every man in the community. Don't be a dog in the manger, or bite off your nose to spite your face.

Prosperity for All.

Moorhead News: There seems to be a feeling of optimism despite the experience of last year with its shortage of precipitation. If April and May will provide us with a liberal amount of water the Red River valley will enjoy one of the most prosperous years in its history. The acreage in crop this year will be considerably larger than last year, and with a favorable year this will mean plenty of prosperity for everyone. Let us have rain—plenty of it during the next couple of months.

The Bloodhound.

Washington Star: The bloodhound breaks into print periodically. This poor old dog has been traduced by novelists and historians till it is but reasonable that some one should rise up in his defense. He has been described as a canine terror and a man-eating quadruped with keener scent, sharper teeth and fiercer appetite for raw meat than any creature met by Col. Roosevelt on his game trails. The bloodhound is charged with being as cruel as some men.

A bloodhound is not much more dangerous than a French poodle. His flop ears and wrinkled forehead give him an appearance that does not invite to intimacy, but he cannot help his looks, and despite them, is a sociable, good-natured dog. He has not a keener scent than any other member of the hound family. As a man-chaser he is a dismal failure. A crime has been committed, the trail of the criminal is warm, a pack of the best bloodhounds from the next county is turned loose, etc. One may read something like this every week. But one never reads of these bloodhounds really getting the criminal at bay. If they tree a man he is the wrong man. No one ever ought to be convicted on the testimony of a bloodhound. A bloodhound on the trail of a criminal is just as apt as not to trot up to the back door of a gentle old parson and wag his tail in ecstasy at sight of a ham bone.

Ninety-nine out of a hundred of these fearful "bloodhounds" are not bloodhounds, but just plain hounds—black fellows with tan points—that sometimes can be trained to run a deer, but are mostly too lazy to do anything but loaf around the place, make a noise when a stranger comes in sight, and display great animation about mealtime. Any ordinary tomcat properly aroused can slap one of these "bloodhounds" into meek submission.

Birds Killed by Golf Balls.

Countryside Monthly: Not long ago one of the players in a golf tournament at Melrose while making an approach shot killed a seagull and another player on coming on from his drive found that he had annihilated a weasel. Such incidents are not uncommon.

A player on the Girkdale links driving from the tee struck with his ball a bird at a distance of about forty yards. The ball travelled on with scarcely abated speed. The bird fell to the ground and when picked up was found not only to be dead, that was expected, but neatly decapitated.

VALUE OF ADVERTISING AS SHOWN BY STOCK PRICES.

Mail Order Journal: That corporations whose output is intended to reach the ultimate consumer either directly or indirectly, and which are trying to achieve their ends by advertising, are more prosperous than those who don't advertise, is fully proved by the prices which the securities of the companies that advertise are commanding in the open markets. Among these corporations the best known are the Eastman Kodak company, the National Biscuit company, the American Radiator company, the Royal Baking Powder company, the Quaker Oats company, Sears, Roebuck & Co., Butler Bros., and Elgin Watch. The common shares of these corporations are quoted as follows:

Eastman Kodak company	220
National Biscuit company	130
American Radiator company	275
Royal Baking Powder company	180
Quaker Oats	166
Sears, Roebuck & Co.	180
Butler Bros.	298
Elgin Watch	158

It is claimed in financial circles that the common stock of some of these companies which have also preferred stock outstanding has once been given as bonus with the preferred stock. If this has really been the case, then it was due to advertising and its highly profitable results that the "water" which some of these companies contained has been turned into valuable substance.

Now look at the prices of the common stock of a number of industrial concerns, which don't advertise but could greatly profit by advertising:

American Agric. Chemical	56
American Cotton Oil	59
American Linseed Oil	11
American Woolen	34
National Enamel	18
United States Rubber	41
Vir-Car. Chemical	66

All these companies could greatly increase their sales and by it the market value of their common stock if they would push their business by intelligent and persistent advertising. That the shares of companies which are building up their trade by advertising are selling high above par and in some cases at prices several times their par value is the strongest monetary testimonial to the value and efficacy of modern advertising methods.

People who are never in a hurry to begin believe in the theory that it is never too late to mend.

How it does jolt a man when his long-suffering wife fails to notice one of his unusually brilliant remarks!

No, Cordelia, it doesn't necessarily mean that a young man means business because he calls every Sunday night. Perhaps the lid is on and he has nowhere else to loaf.

Cleveland Boys' Exposition.

The Survey: Arrangements for the second annual Cleveland Boys' Exposition are under way to be held on May 4, 5 and 6. This unique exhibit aims to give the boys of the whole city a chance to demonstrate their ability in directions which grip thought, imagination, and activity throughout boyhood years. Any lad under 19 who makes things, who can write or speak, who trains anything from pets to talent, may display at this exposition.

Handiwork, such as the making of furniture, woodturning and carving, metal work, electrical apparatus, mechanical drawing, printing, designing, photography, and other kindred crafts will form an important part of the exposition. Hobbies will be shown—collections of stamps, coins, buttons, or post cards. Or a boy may bring his pets, take personal charge of them and delight himself and others with their tricks. There will be contests—vocal and instrumental music and whistling, original stories, orations and poems, shorthand and typewriting, gymnastics and costumes.

Not the least interesting were some unusual revelations of what the American boy can make—a wireless telegraph outfit made by a 15-year-old boy, a violin constructed from a cigar box, a broom stick and one string, upon which the inventor played several tunes; pen and ink drawings and oil paintings, crude of course, but in some cases showing real talent. Delighted parents and relatives took unbounded pride in seeing what their boys had accomplished. The contests in gymnastics showed skill and concentration. One "gang" of boys from the worst district in Cleveland, who were hard to hold in systematic training, cheered their teacher by saying, "Hey, kids, jess wait till next year and we'll show you fellows some stunts, too."

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Chicago Daily News: Miss Vallmore—I was told to take lemon juice for my singing.

Mr. Sourly—Haven't you got will power enough to stop singing without the aid of lemon juice?

Houston Post: "I understand you bought a gold brick when you went up town?"

"Nope, you are wrong."

"But your wife told me you bought a gold brick."

"She's wrong. I just thought it was a gold brick."

Sketch: The Indignant Coster—'Ere, missus! Give over pinchin' them bananas. 'Ave a go at the cokernuts instead.

Harper's Bazar: Guest—Good heavens! Does your chauffeur always speed like this?

Barker—No. Sometimes the car breaks down.

Judge: First Primitive Man—So his novel is having a great sale?

Second Ditto—Yes. It has gone into its second stone quarry.

Harper's Bazar: Shopper—Can I hang this paper on myself?

Salesman—Yes, sir; but it would really look better on the wall.

Harper's Bazar: "Has Perry ever done anything to add to the gayety of nations?"

"Yes. He tries to speak French, German and Italian when he is in those countries."

Detroit Free Press: "She wept all through the sad scenes of the play."

"She did? How very common! Doesn't she know that the proper thing to do nowadays is to giggle?"

Detroit Free Press: "It doesn't pay to brag about how much money you are earning."

"That's right. You never can tell what minute some enterprising bill collector may call your bluff."

Yonker's Statesman: "I saw John, the butler, smacking his lips, just now, as he went out. Had he been taking anything, Katie?" asked the mistress.

"What was he doin', ma'am?" asked the pretty waiter girl.

"Smacking his lips."

"Sure, he'd just been smacking mine, ma'am!"

Chicago Record - Herald: "Well," asked the ambitious young dramatist, "how did you like my play? I saw that you were in the audience last night."

"There was one thing about it that struck me as being original and distinctive," replied the critic.

"Ah! What was that?"

"I noticed that the villain didn't have a black mustache."

Pittsburg Post: "What is your name?"

"My name is Norval," answered the prisoner. "On the Grampian hills my father feeds his flocks."

"This gent is evidently in the sheep business," commented the desk sergeant. "Make inquiries around the stockyards, boys."

Buffalo Express: "Why is your friend staying so long in New York?"

"I don't know—haven't heard which of the two reasons is keeping him."

"Which of the two?"

"Yes, whether he is having too good a time to come away or has spent all his money and can't get away."

OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her.

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines." —Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

FLAT DENIAL BY TILDEN

Says He Knows Nothing About Raising Fund for Lorimer.

Claims He Does Not Know Funk or Ever Saw Him.

Chicago, April 7.—Edward Tilden, president of the National Packing company, named by Clarence S. Funk as the man to whom contributions to aid William Lorimer in securing his election to the United States senate were sent, last night denied positively that he had knowledge of any money being used in the election. He also declared he would visit Springfield next Thursday and testify before the Helm senate investigating committee.

Mr. Tilden returned last night from Springfield, and after admitting that he had been served with a subpoena from the investigating committee, said:

"Several days ago I was requested to appear at 2 o'clock Thursday and testify before the senatorial committee at Springfield. I went to Springfield to comply with that request. I had not learned of the adjournment of the committee until my arrival in the state capital. I did not find the committee in session, and was advised of the adjournment, with the request that I return Thursday.

"I shall comply with that request as I did the former one. I cannot outline or discuss what my testimony will be in advance of my appearing as a witness, except to say that I have absolutely no knowledge of the use of any money, in any way, in connection with the election of Senator Lorimer.

"I do not know Mr. Funk. I never saw him, to my knowledge, and would not know him if I saw him on the street.

"I am acquainted with Mr. Hines, but I have not seen him more than two or three times in the last three years. I never talked with him before or after the election of Lorimer on the subject of the latter's election."

Mr. Tilden expressed surprise that articles had appeared in the newspapers intimating that he was trying to evade appearing before the Helm committee. After finding the committee had adjourned, he went to St. Louis and returned from there to Chicago.

PLURAL MARRIAGES CEASE IN CHURCH

Mormon President Says That Laws Are Being Obeyed.

Salt Lake City, Utah, April 7.—The position of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, or as it is commonly called, the Mormon church, on marriage, was reiterated yesterday by President Joseph F. Smith in his sermon opening the eighty-first annual conference. He said in part:

"We ought to obey the rule of the church with regard to marriage. As announced time and time again at these conferences, plural marriages have ceased in the church. There is no man authorized to perform a plural marriage. We have been doing all in our power to stop this. We have been doing all we can to trace the men who are performing such ceremonies. It is hard to locate them, but when we do find them, we will deal with them.

"With respect to the idea proposed by some, to induce the congress of the United States to amend the constitution so as to give the federal government power to regulate plural marriage, so far as I a moncerned, I have no objection whatever to such an amendment. Neither has any other Latter Day Saint. Let the state petition the national congress to regulate the whole subject of marriage in the United States and it will be a God-send to the people everywhere."

President Smith announced that during the year just closed there was one divorce to each 5,000 church membership as compared to one divorce to each 1,100 persons in the United States.

President Smith denounced the apparently growing tendency among church members as well as in the country at large to patronize plays of a vulgar and demoralizing character.

WOMAN HOLDS THE FORT.

Alleged Widow of Eckert Refuses Admission of Officers.

New York, April 7.—Mrs. E. L. Davies, or Dore, the elderly woman who testified before Surrogate Cogalan recently that she was the widow of Gen. Thomas T. Eckert, one time president of the Western Union Telegraph company is barricaded behind bolted doors and windows in her apartments to resist the serving of a body attachment issued by the surrogate yesterday.

"I've done nothing for which I should be arrested. Go away; you can't get me anyhow," she shouted from a window to a reporter whom she apparently mistook for a process-server.

The surrogate she defied in a note.

"If you send your officers as you threatened," she wrote, "I am ready to go to jail. Put me in prison and brag of what a big thing you have done."

The body attachment was turned over to the sheriff, but no attempt was made to serve it because of faulty wording of the document.

MRS. YERKES' ESTATE GOES TO RELATIVES.

New York, April 7.—The will of Mrs. Mary Adelaide Yerkes, widow of Charles T. Yerkes, which was filed yesterday for probate, leaves for each of her eight brothers and sisters one-ninth of her residuary estate; the other ninth to a nephew and niece, children of a deceased sister. Seven servants are rewarded with $1,000 each, and William Savory Lower, to whom Mrs. Yerkes was once reported to have been engaged, receives $5,000 as a "faithful friend." She left nothing to charity. The value of the estate is not given, but it is regarded as considerable. The widow inherited about $3,000,000, it is estimated, of her late husband's estate.

TO FIX VALUE OF STOCK.

Michigan House Passes Bill Providing for Appraisement.

Lansing, Mich., April 7.—By a vote of 51 to 41, the house of representatives yesterday passed the Raubaugh bill granting the stockholders of lesser mining corporations which the Calumet & Hecla Mining company is endeavoring to absorb, the right to have their stock appraised by a board appointed by a court, after which the absorbing company must pay the appraised price in order to obtain the stock. The bill was strongly contested.

It was claimed during a number of the arguments that the Calumet & Hecla company had been trying to force the stockholders in the lesser companies to accept for their holdings stock in the Amalgamated corporation, the basis of exchange to be determined by the absorbing corporation. Some of the stockholders of the Osceola Mining company have already started suit in an attempt to block such a course. A number of amendments introduced by opponents of the bill were lost.

LITCHFIELD SURGEON DIES.

As Result of Blood Poisoning From Surgical Instrument Prick.

St. Paul, Minn., April 7.—Dr. Henry E. Cassel, director and chief surgeon of the hospital at Litchfield, Minn., died here Tuesday night from blood poisoning, in Luther hospital.

Dr. Cassel contracted the disease following an operation early in March. He pricked the index finger of his left hand wfth one of his instruments. Poisoning followed within a few hours. Dr. Cassel was taken to the Luther hospital, March 20, where he had been under the treatment of Chief Surgeon Dr. E. Boeckmann, a life-long friend.

Dr. Cassel was 51 years old and one of the noted physicians of Minnesota. He was born in Sweden in 1860. He is survived by his widow, who had the body removed to Litchfield. Dr. Cassel was a Mason of high standing and a member of the mystic shrine. His funeral was held at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon, under the auspices of the Masonic order.

SNOW BIG BENEFIT IN PENNINGTON COUNTY.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The snow storm of Tuesday and Wednesday covered the whole upper section of the state with a blanket of some four to six inches of snow, wet and heavy and spread out evenly over the surface. This is even better than a rain as it will soak the soil uniformly and place it in the best possible condition for seeding operations. The value of such a fall of moisture is beyond estimation and the farmers are jubilant over the prospects.

OFFER BOUNTY ON GOPHERS.

Good News for the Youth of Washington County.

Stillwater, Minn., April 7.—The board of county commissioners has decided to pay bounties in the maximum amounts for the killing of various farm pests.

The action of the board was taken under chapter 48 of the laws of 1909, which authorizes a board of county commissioners by resolution to provide for paying bounties in specified cases for a calendar year.

The pests included in the list and the maximum bounties provided are as follows:

Pocket gopher, 5 cents; common gopher or ground squirrel, 3 cents; ground hog or wood chuck, 15 cents; rattle snake, 50 cents; blackbirds killed during the months of April, May and June, 10 cents a dozen; during the months of July, August, September and October, 5 cents a dozen; for each crow killed between May 15 and June 15 or between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15, 10 cents.

PLAN MUCH DITCHING.

Marshall County to Be Scene of Unusual Activity.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ditching operations in Eastern Marshall county will begin next week. Maps have been printed recently showing the areas ditched last season and the work proposed to carry out this summer. This region where the ditches are projected will be the scene of the liveliest efforts to move as much dirt as possible. Several of the contractors in the eastern part of Pennington county are all ready to start the machines moving as soon as a few more tons of supplies are placed on the sites of the ditches so they will not have to cease work when once begun. Land seekers are beginning to arrive to secure quarters near the ditches, where they will be certain of heavy crops without the danger of excessive water.

WOULD RESTRAIN GOVERNOR.

Novel Court Proceedings Are Begun in Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., April 7.—Application for a writ of prohibition to restrain Governor McGovern from hearing evidence on the charge against John C. Mars, district attorney of Forest county, was made in the supreme court Wednesday by Attorney J. H. McGilligan of Green Bay, on the ground that the alleged malfeasance in office by Mars took place before he was elected and that the governor is without jurisdiction therefore. This is the first time that a proceedings of this sort has been directed against the governor.

The court took the matter under advisement and both sides have filed briefs and the matter may be decided by Friday. Even the question of whether the court will take original jurisdiction has not been decided.

To Sterilize Criminals.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 7.—Without a dissenting vote the senate yesterday adopted the bill of Representative Parkins, providing for the sterilization of habitual criminals, imbeciles, idiots and feeble-minded, confined in state institutions. The measure has passed the house and is now before the governor for action.

To Have a Clear, Velvety Complexion

By MADAM D'MILLE.

(From Chicago Inter-Ocean).

Madame D'Mille, one of Paris' most famous beauties just passing through Chicago, gives us a few valuable ideas on skin treatment, as follows:

"Yes, I have just come from beautiful Japan, and I must say the Japanese women have many toilet formulas and ideas which American women should know.

"What do they use to make their skin so soft and velvety?

"Any American woman can use the same treatment if she desires. Dissolve a small original package of mayatone in about eight ounces of witchhazel. Massage the face, arms and neck with this solution once or twice a day, and you will shortly find you have a lovely, soft complexion, and then the best of it all is that this solution prevents the growth of hair, and is absolutely harmless to the most delicate skin. Make the solution yourself.

"Why, yes—of course I use it. Just see how beautifully soft my arms and face are, and not a hair.

"No,—you will never use powder again, and those stray hairs will soon be missing from your face."

YOUTHFUL LOVERS FOIL ST. LOUIS COUNTY AUTHORITIES

It must have tickled old Dan Cupid considerably when Samuel Rose and May Francis of this city, foiled the county authorities and were married over in Superior.

Rose and the young woman are among the youngest persons that have ever applied for a license in St. Louis county.

The young man is but 16 years old and the girl is under 16.

The parents on both sides had given their consent in writing to the marriage. The license had been issued from the clerk of court's office and everything appeared to be lovely.

It was found that under the state law the marriage could not take place and Judge Cant forbade it. A hurry call was sent after the departing lovers and the license was taken back, the money returned and the one on the book marked "void."

In their anxiety to get married the young couple started for Superior where the license was issued and the marriage held.

get to the men supposed to be in one part of the mine.

The fire is reported to have started in an engine room at the head of the stope from an unknown cause.

Three hundred men were in the mine when the alarm was given. On account of the great excitement it is impossible to learn just how many managed to get out. Unless the men thought to be trapped are soon reached it is feared they will die, if they have not already been smothered by smoke.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon it was learned that it was impossible to reach the men for some time owing to the smoke and the great distance they are below the surface. At that hour it was admitted by one of the officials that there was a fire in the mines, but that official was unwilling even to venture an opinion as to how many men were there, trapped.

Fire Spread Rapidly.

The news of the fire spread rapidly and hundreds flocked to the mouth of the shaft. Women were frantic and tore their hair and clothing in their dispair, and many had to be taken from the scene.

Under the mining laws of Pennsylvania a second opening in mines is required and it was believed that the mine workers would all be able to get out of one of the two exits. An investigation showed, however, that the fire is so located as to cut off escape from both openings.

When the seriousness of the situation dawned upon the officials the rescue station at Wilkesbarre was immediately notified and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western emergency car was sent with a crew and equipment to fight the fire.

Throop is about four miles north of this city and the Pancoast mine is in the town. It is said that a majority of the men in the mine are foreign laborers.

Two men who escaped said there were fifty men shut in by the fire and would likely be suffocated.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon it was fully realized by employes and admitted by some of the officials at the colliery that the situation is very grave and that an almost hopeless task confronts the rescuers in attempting to reach the entombed men.

While nothing has been given out officially, reliable information is to the effect that between forty and fifty men are in the burning mine.

At 2:30 p. m. a statement was made that forty men are imprisoned.

SHOULD BE AMENDED.

Iowa Public Utilities Bill Said to Be Bad for Cities.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 7.—Mayor James R. Hanna today issued a statement in which he declared that the Sammis-Christ public utilities bill, which passed the house, and is now up to the senate, is inimical to best interests of the cities of Iowa. He declares that the feature permitting indeterminate franchises should be radically amended. As the bill now stands, it permits perpetual franchises and gives the city no right to terminate them.

Mayor Hanna calls upon other cities to use their influence in defeating the bill.

CREATION OF VAST CREDIT

Abroad Marks the First Quarter of the Present Year.

Began With Payment to France on Panama Canal Deal.

New York, April 7.—The financial event of the first quarter of the year has been the creation of immense credits abroad.

These have been run up into hundreds of millions of dollars by our unprecedented values in exportations of products of our soil and of our labor, together with the equally remarkable and enormous demand for our securities by the most conservative investors of all the continents.

Months ago I called attention to political and financial conditions in Europe which were making in our favor, and which were certain to result in the transfer of hundreds of millions of dollars to the credit of the people and the enterprise of the United States.

This favorable situation, as far as our investments are concerned, may be dated as beginning with our payment to the French of the cash due them on the purchase of their interest in the Panama canal.

That transaction was so impressive as to the wealth of our country, and the solidity and good faith of our government, that the French investors have ever since studied, with an interest and an earnestness never before displayed, our business conditions, and the records of our investments and securities.

The result is shown in the many millions of dollars in value which they have taken of our securities in the past year, and especially within the period since Jan. 1, 1911, to this writing.

Neither our interstate commerce commission nor the foreign investors seem to have taken any stock in the poverty stricken statements of certain of the railway managers of the United States, and it is surely well for the prosperity of our own people that the foreign investors were so clear-sighted as to recognize the reasons given by the railway officials referred to were but Pickwickian expressions, meant solely for service in a plea for greater profits.

Cause of Felicitation.

It is a matter of congratulation upon the part of the American people that we had great banking institutions in New York here who have made it absolutely clear to the financiers of Europe and to their clients, the investors, that their servidors, the railway officials, were nobly doing their best for their companies by these statements, but that the transportation lines of the country were in an exceedingly prosperous and profitable condition.

The present flush times of money in Europe compel investments upon other continents, and the cash of Europe, augmented weekly by the remittances of new gold from the mines is going into Canada, the United States and other countries upon this continent in huge amounts, and at the same time stimulating business and inaugurating enterprises in Asia and Africa through investments there.

The system of railways in India has done much to develop the resources of that thickly populated peninsula, but India is the only country of that continent of vast dimensions and teeming populations that has been to any moderate degree given modern transportation for the people or the products.

Three times the mileage of that in operation today would not completely care for the needs for railways in that great hive of human beings.

China, with her hundreds of millions of inhabitants, with her extensive territory of plains, valleys and mountainous country, rich in agricultural and mineral resources, untouched in many places and but crudely developed in any, needs but firmly established and stable government to afford a market that would keep American and European industries at maximum outputs for a century to come.

I need not allude to the hundred millions of people who live south of the Rio Grande and north of Cape Horn or refer to the increase of our trade that can be made with each and every one of those nations, which is well illustrated by that of recent years with the people of Mexico, of Cuba and the Philippines.

The prosperity of the people of these foreign countries can be made the basis of continued and permanent prosperity in every state and territory of our Union.

Men talk of the few articles needed by the natives of the tropical countries and cite that as evidence that no great growth of trade can be expected from these countries through their demands upon us. The basis of the argument is erroneous.

Just Like Rich Yankees.

In tropical countries, as in those of the temperate and the Arctic zones, give the people the means of purchase and they stop not with the necessities of life.

Improve their financial conditions and their demand in trade takes in first all that is necessary, and then, if able, those commodities and articles that pass beyond the class of necessities, even to those than can rightly be denominated as luxuries.

A moment's thought will show that every branch of the human race moves upon exactly similiar lines of increased demand with increased ability to pay for that needed or desired.

The jewelers of London, of Paris, and of Madrid, the merchants, manufacturers and shopkeepers of England, of France, and of Spain will testify that the miners of Mexico, Peru or Colombia, the sisal hemp growers of Yucatan, the rubber producers of Brazil, or the rancheros of Argentina will buy just as freely as the new millionaires of Pennsylvania, the cotton manufacturers of New England, the copper kings of Arizona and Montana, or the planters of our Gulf states.

They are just as good spenders and their purchases are only limited by their cash or their credit.

The millions who live on tortillas and frijoles, if they had the means, would patronize the Waldorf, Rector's and Sherry's with just as much alacrity and fully as much "gusto" as the men who were raised upon the baked beans of New England, the pork and hominy of Illinois and Missouri, the black bread of Germany, or the potatoes and buttermilk that nourished the sturdy men of Ireland.

The women of Africa, Asia, Central and South America would be just as good patrons of the millinery establishments, the lace manufacturers and the tailor made suit and department stores as the leaders of society in New York, Boston, Chicago and Washington if they had the means of purchasing and the opportunity to buy.

There is no limit to the purchases of the people of any nation or of any race but their ability to pay for which they desire, not that which they need.

This fact being established as clearly in the most primitive of nations as it is in the most highly civilized communities, the greater earning power of the thousand millions of unsupplied people in the continents of Asia, Africa, Europe and our own continent insures an ever-increasing demand upon productions of the soil and the loom and the factory.

The world can rest easy as to steadily growing trade with the constant increase in the world's money supply.

MUST MARRY OR LOSE FORTUNE

If C. A. Compton Has No Bride By October, He Loses $25,000.

St. Louis, Mo., April 7.—Charles A. Compton of the St. James hotel must be married before October, 1911. If he has no wife before that time he will forfeit an inheritance of $25,000, willed to him by his grandfather, Richard Compton.

When Richard Compton, a wealthy farmer of Beach county, Mo., died in October, 1909, he bequeathed his entire estate to his grandson, Charles, to be held in trust by H. D. Carmichael, a banker of Butler, Mo., for two years. Richard Compton had led a happy wedded life and believed in marriage, and therefore, in his will he made the proviso that his grandson would not get his estate if he were not married in the following two years.

He Had a Sweetheart Then.

Charles Compton did not worry about that provision. In fact, he liked it immensely, for when his grandfather died he, for two years, had had a sweetheart, and desired nothing better than to marry her, and get the money too. But Compton's love grew cold after four years' courtship and he abandoned his plan to marry.

It was then that Compton found his grandfather's will staring him unpleasantly in the face, and Compton, sure that he could find no girl he would like in Kansas City, came to St. Louis two weeks ago, and has been hunting quietly for the right young woman.

"I don't want this to get out," said Compton bashfully. "Women will be coming down to see me now in swarms, and I'll be guyed by my acquaintances. It is for this reason I have told no one of my grandfather's will."

Girls, if you are brunettes, you have a chance at this fair-haired youth. Compton says he is 24 years old, but he looks still younger. He is a slender fellow, about 5 feet 8 inches tall. He has blonde hair and blue eyes and the complexion that goes with this combination; so, of course, he says: "I've enough light hair for the family. My wife will have to be dark."

Compton looks retiring enough to take the first girl who calls on him, if she insists strongly enough. But he has a firm jaw. "Altogether, he looks eligible without that useful appendage of shekels which will bless his union," remarked a girl at the hotel, Wednesday.

Two Farms and $11,000, Prize.

Compton is a salesman for the American Tobacco company. The estate of his grandfather comprises $11,000 cash and two farms, one of 320 acres and another of 160 acres, besides other real estate holdings.

"I must find my wife in less than seven months," said Compton, "and I tell you that isn't much time when it comes to choosing among women. Brewster's task of spending a million is nothing compared to my job of falling in love before October. And, believe me, I don't like the prospect of the strenuous days before me."

VEGETABLES HURLED

At the Educator When He Expels Junior Class.

Denver, Colo., April 7.—Seventy-five students, the entire junior class at Denver university, were expelled as the result of a clash between junior and senior classes when the latter attempted to celebrate class day ceremonies.

The senior class president was driven from the platform. The chancellor mounted the stage and announced that every member of the junior class was expelled and ordered them to leave the auditorium.

During his speech, the chancellor got no further than the announcement that the juniors were expelled, when he became a target for onions, potatoes, lemons, cabbages, skyrockets, firecrackers and other missiles. Mr. Buchtell hurriedly retired, giving the juniors possession of the auditorium.

GIRLS POSED AS FRESHMEN

Until Their Figures Exposed Them —One's Trousers Too Large.

Trenton, N. J., April 7.—After escaping from the State Home for Girls, near this city, Henrietta Wakefield and Hattie Conklin came to Trenton last Saturday, changed their female attire for suits of men's clothes, and then went to Princeton, where they posed as freshmen until they were arrested, when their figures betrayed them.

Elsie Seeds, another inmate of the home, escaped with Henrietta and Hattie, but the trousers which she tried to wear were evidently made for a fat man and she had a hard time keeping them on. Things finally became so bad that she was forced to leave the trolley upon which the girls were going to Princeton at Lawrenceville to adjust her clothing, and she has not been seen since.

Officer Rodwell saw the two peculiar forms on the street, and a certain little movement seemed to say to him that they were not the figures of boys. They were captured and brought back to the home.

HARD TIMES FOR LAWYERS.

Hundreds in New York Unable to Pay Association Dues.

New York, April 7.—Hard times have beset many lawyers in Manhattan and the Bronx, according to the report of the membership committee of the New York County Lawyers' association, which tells of the dropping out of 680 members for nonpayment of dues.

The dues are only $10 a year, but one-fourth of the lawyers dropped, it is said, frankly confessed they were unable to make more than a bare living.

Benno Levinson, 119 Nassau street, chairman of the membership committee, said most of the lawyers were financially able to pay the dues, but had misunderstood the obligation undertaken by them in signing the names to the call for the organization of the association three years ago.

He was asked whether the large number of lawyers dropped for failure to pay dues proved there were hard times confronting the legal profession, and whether there had been a great falling off in the practice and receipts of lawyers.

"Personally, I believe that in some quarters lawyers are at present experiencing hard times indeed," he said. "Our association recently made a census of lawyers in New York county and found they numbered 12,130. I should say several thousand of these are making only the barest living. These could not spare the $10 needed for membership in our association without neglecting some infinitely more urgent need and incurring too great a sacrifice. Many of those questioned told us this frankly."

A TRAP FULL OF HONEY.

Norfolk correspondence, Hartford Courant: A party of fishermen on East Indies pond, just over the Massachusetts line from Norfolk, were joined in their sport a few days ago by a 25-pound coon which the party succeeded in capturing.

Another interesting experience is reported by two local sportsmen who, while hunting recently, came upon an old box trap which proved to be filled with honey. Twenty-pounds of the finest honey were extracted from the novel hive.

Remedy Saved Her Child--Try it Free

PHILIP LLOYD, GRANDSON OF MRS. JONES

The following are some extracts from letters Dr. Caldwell has received:

"I wish to thank you for the sample bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. My little grandson, Philip Lloyd, had suffered from stomach trouble; when I sent for the bottle of Syrup Pepsin he was suffering all the time and had an acute attack of gastritis. I gave him the medicine, which he said was 'nice,' (he is six ears old) and by the time the bottle was empty, he was cured. I was so pleased that I want to tell you what a valuable remedy you have made."—A. Dr's. Widow, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Jones, 4125 Perry St., Chicago, Ill.

"I liked the sample of Syrup Pepsin so much that I sent at once to my druggist for two 50c bottles, so I have it in the house regularly. My children like to take it, which pleased me very much, as sometimes we have trouble in getting them to take other laxatives."—Chas. H. Reichert, 3101 Jamaica Ave., Richmond Hill, L. I.

"We have received your sample bottle which you sent upon request. I have never had anything in a medicine form that has accomplished anything like yours has. It is simply great. I have already used two bottles of the 50c size after the arrival and using of your sample."—Mrs. Katherine Haberstroh, McKees Rocks, Pa.

There are literally thousands of women in this country who gratefully acknowledge that they owe the present good health of their children to the timely use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The crying baby usually is constipated or suffers from intestinal trouble due to some error in diet. It needs no heroic measures—just a gentle laxative like Syrup Pepsin. A small dose of it will right the baby. It is a great laxative and digestant, pleasant-tasting and non-griping. No baby or child refuses it. Many mothers never give their children anything else, and they have robust children and no doctor's bills. It is a great money saver as well as a great life saver. If space permitted, thousands of women's addresses could be given who write they will never be without Syrup Pepsin in the house. It is for all the family—for anyone who realizes that salts and strong cathartics are only temporary expedients. You can buy a bottle of your favorite druggist at fifty cents and one dollar, or if you wish to make a trial of it first, you can obtain a free sample bottle from Dr. Caldwell by sending him your name and address.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical adrice or the free sample, address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

MRS. J. E. KENNEDY'S BABY.

The following are some extracts from letters Dr. Caldwell has received:

"I attribute much of my own present good health, and surely that of my baby, to the use of Syrup Pepsin. I always have it in the house, as it is so often needed, and I could not exaggerate its value to me."—Mrs. J. E. Kennedy, Good Will, Okla.

"I received your sample bottle of Syrup Pepsin and also bought a 50c bottle. It is the finest remedy I ever bought for constipation for children. I am very much pleased with it."—Mrs. Ella N. Williams, Wathena, Kas.

"I received your sample bottle, used it, and got a 50c bottle and find it is the best thing I could get. My baby was troubled with constipation and I now have no trouble."—Mrs. Toomey, Emmgsville, Pa.

"About two years ago I sent to you for a sample bottle of your Syrup Pepsin. After taking it I concluded to give the remedy a fair trial, for I had been suffering for some time with indigestion. My stomach would ache so badly at times that I could not be still. I commenced taking your Syrup Pepsin and found it to be a good remedy. I can eat anything I want now. I have found it to be a good remedy for children. Now I keep a bottle on my mantle all the time."—Mrs. Ida A. Fortune, Grand Junction, Tenn.

ON THE IRON RANGES

RANGE CITIES MAY HAVE Y. M. C. A.'S

Reported in Eveleth Mining Companies Will Assist Starting Such Concerns.

Eveleth, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many believe that Eveleth stands a good chance of securing a Y. M. C. A. this year, as it is reported the mining companies are behind the move to eventually establish Y. M. C. A.'s at Eveleth, Virginia, Hibbing and Chisholm. Local and out-of-town residents will be requested to aid in the movement and as the mining companies are heavily interested here it is believed Eveleth will be able to secure a large donation from the Oliver Iron Mining company. This combined with membership fees will aid materially in starting the ball rolling. A Y. M. C. A. was at one time conducted at the Methodist Episcopal church, but the quarters were inadequate. Many have signified their intentions of joining the proposed Y. M. C. A. and every effort will be made to have a Y. M. C. A. established here this summer, as all recognize the good to be derived from such an institution.

To Reconstruct Telephone Lines.

The plans for the reconstruction of the Eveleth telephone system by the Mesaba Telephone company are now being considered by the engineering department of that concern, and instructions will soon be forthcoming, according to the range representatives of the firm. The poles are to be removed from Grant avenue to adjacent alleys to make room for the white way, while it is very probable residence street poles will also be removed.

EVELETH WILL HAVE ANOTHER THEATER

Plans on Foot to Change Empress to Take Place of Burned Playhouse.

Eveleth, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Empress Family theater, a vaudeville house, will be located in the Campbell block by May 1, replacing the burned Othello theater, according to Frank E. Carpenter and M. McLain, the latter of Virginia, who conducted the Othello. The building will be entirely removed, new front installed, inclined floor provided, ample seating arrangements made and fine stage erected, if the plans of the promoters do not miscarry. Frank E. Campbell, owner of the building, has not reached a definite decision in the matter, and Frank Winchester, the present tenant of the structure, is uncertain considering the future disposition of his present quarters.

P. E. Bowling, owner of the Othello theater, which was destroyed by flames, has not decided whether he will rebuild, and at present Eveleth is with but one playhouse, the Bijou, on Grant avenue.

HIBBING ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN MR. AND MRS. WEST.

Hibbing, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—An informal reception was given on Wednesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. West, at the Oliver club social, when the following program was given:

Overture, Oliver orchestra; vocal selection, H. H. Angst; specialty, O. Rogers; specialty, L. O. Kirby; Oliver quartet, Messrs. Angst, Houston, Murphy, Spensley; banjo selection, E. Whitney; "A Dutch Cocktail," M. McDowell, B. Brenfield.

Following this program dancing completed a most enjoyable evening.

ASK COUNTY BOARD TO FIX BEAVER BAY ROAD.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Daniel Lind of Castle Danger was in the city this week with a petition to which he was securing signers to present to the county board asking that body to reopen the old Beaver Bay road along the north shore. At present there is no outlet for the settlers excepting by water or at best a trail. Mr. Lind stated that the road asked for would accommodate a large number of settlers and would be a great factor in encouraging those living in his neighborhood to engage more extensively in agricultural pursuits. It will take a considerable sum of money to rebuild the road in question. The county board will decide upon the matter at their next meeting.

Valuable Item for Men

Health and strength hitherto unknown will be felt surging in rich red blood through the arteries and veins and life's greatest ambitions may be realized as never before, if the following special treatment is followed by those men, and women, too, who are stricken with that most dreaded of all afflictions, nervous exhaustion, accompanied with such symptoms as extreme nervousness, insomnia, cold extremities, melancholia, headaches, constipation and dyspepsia, kidney trouble, dreadful dreams or direful disasters, timidity in venturing and a general inability to act naturally at all times as other people do. TWO HARBORS FANS FIGURING ON TEAM

Enthusiastic Baseball Meeting Held This Week to Form City Team.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large an enthusiastic meeting was held Tuesday evening to discuss the probability of having a first-class city team here during the coming summer. About thirty fans were present. C. F. Warner was appointed chairman and R. J. Olsen, secretary. A lively discussion took place as to the class of team that should be put in the field this season, whether an all-amateur or professional team, the majority favoring a professional team of the same type as has represented the city the past three seasons.

P. J. McAlpine, who has decided that he can give no more time to the management of a baseball team, made an offer to the fans that was very reasonable, the result being that a number of prominent men were appointed as a committee to solicit funds.

Committee To Solicit Funds.

The members of the committee are Thomas J. Brown, William Cook, A. J. Giroux, Dr. E. P. Christensen, Dr. J. D. Budd and B. C. Fowler, and these gentlemen now have the matter in hand and are endeavoring to raise sufficient money with which to carry on operations. A committee of three was also appointed to ascertain whether or not the present grounds could be used this season. A committee consisting of Dr. J. D. Budd, R. J. Olsen and Pat Coulliff was appointed to confer with the owners of the land and this matter was taken up the early part of the week. The committee was advised that the baseball club could have the use of the grounds for the year free of charge. In order to carry on the work successfully it will be necessary to raise about $500 and it remains to be seen whether the committee can raise the required amount before definite action will be taken toward organizing a team. A number of letters have already been received from players anxious to get a try out and if the money can be raised there is no doubt but what this city will have a team second to none on the range.

"HAVANA" SCORES AT THE LYCEUM

James T. Powers Pleases Large Audience in Bright Musical Show.

A red wigged comedian, with a comically lugubrious expression and a rolling sailor's gait, kept a big audience at the Lyceum chuckling until after 11 o'clock last evening, and easily carried off the honors of the best musical production Duluth has seen this year—"Havana."

James T. Powers—oh, irony of fate—bears a most haunting resemblance to Mrs. Fiske. Not a few people in last evening's audience noted the resemblance and commented on it. Probably two greater extremes could not be found in the theatrical profession, but in both features and mannerisms the red-headed sailor brought to mind the famous portrayor of Becky Sharpe. Probably Mr. Powers has never been compared to Mrs. Fiske before, but the odd resemblance exists. And James T. Powers is funny, a delightful, natural comedian, whose foolery never descends to buffoonery. He was amusing in "San Toy," but he is hilariously funny as the sailor in "Havana." He is the rare type of comedian who never fails into vulgarity in his efforts to draw laughs. His personality is an attractive one; he works quietly and effectively, and never appears to be straining for effects. Duluth frankly liked Jimmy Powers last evening.

Incidentally Mr. Powers' curtain speech is the best thing in the show.

"Havana" is a big, bright, tuneful musical show, with a bevy of pretty girls, fresh, new costumes, attractive scenery, and a cast of principals that differs in but a few instances from the original cast that was first seen in New York.

Outside of the "Hello People" song, there are no musical numbers that have become so popular as to be whistled to death, but the entire score leaves a general impression of being tuneful and catchy. It has been compared to "Floradora," by the same composer, Leslie Stuart, and the comparison is an apt one, although musically, it probably is not the equal of that old favorite. "I'm a Cuban Girl," "On the Shores of Sheepshead Bay" and "Way Down in Pensacola" are the best of the musical numbers outside of the "Hello People."

Next to Mr. Powers, the honors of the performance must go to the eight daintily pretty little misses who sing the "Hello People" song, and who drift on the stage on several other occasions. No prettier or more attractive octette has ever been seen in Duluth.

Miss Helen Darling in the role of Consuelo, the Cuban girl, is possessed of ample but pulchritudinous proportions and a very good voice. She fills the role of the Cuban girl most acceptably.

In a brief little part, Cecil Mayo covers herself with glory as the girl from Pensacola. She is a tiny, but graceful little miss, with a thin little voice, but a very fetching smile.

Reginald Brown, chief foil for Mr. Powers and assistant comedian of the production, is clever and works well with his companion in laugh-getting.

Dave Andrada as Don Adolfo, has the chief male singing role and carries it well. He made an excellent impression in the "Hello People" song and also in "Cupid's Telephone."

George Odell as J. De Peyster Jackson, and Arthur Demers as Frank Van Dusen, his friend who succumbs to the dark eyed beauties of Cuba, have small roles but they make them important ones, and Sammy Jr. must not be forgotten. He was greeted with an ovation when he made his sudden and unexpected appearance.

There are a score of minor parts in the production for the company is a big one, and they are all well handled. In fact, no better balanced musical company has been seen in Duluth in many a month.

"Havana" will be repated this evening and tomorrow evening, with a matinee tomorrow.

Green Room Gossip.

Raymond Hitchcock will appear here Sunday and Monday in George M. Cohan's latest and most successful musical play, "The Man Who Owns Broadway." Mr. Hitchcock will be supported by Miss Flora Zabelle, who, by the way, is Mrs. Hitchcock in private life. The company numbers over seventy-five people, and the production is said to reveal stage pictures of rare beauty and magnificence.

The little monkey carried by George Lawlor in his act at the Orpheum this week died from eating grease paint—a true actor's death.

The monkey was the property of Bonita, who is now touring the Orpheum circuit. It was a great pet with the vaudeville performer, appearing with her in her act, and the little animal was very much at home in her dressing room, and used to investigate all the various kinds of powders and paints on the dressing table. One evening in Seattle a few weeks ago, Bonita came into her dressing room and found the little monkey shaking powder on its head from a powder can. While its face was smeared with grease paint, Bonita promptly rescued her toilet articles, paying more attention to them than to the monkey. Within an hour, however, the monkey began to show signs of violent illness, and died shortly afterwards. Bonita investigated and found that the little animal had eaten nearly an entire can of grease paint.

The vaudeville performer was deeply grieved at the little animal's death. Mr. Lawlor and his daughters were on the same bill with Bonita that week, in Seattle, and she presented the animal's body to them. They had it stuffed at a taxidermist's and now use it in their Italian street song.

Mexican war scenes are being featured in moving pictures this week at the Odeum theater. The pictures are an actual history of the rebellion in Mexico up to the present time. They show actual engagements, skirmishes and scenes in and about the more important points along the border. The stories in picture form are proving to be very popular.

Other pictures show the last flight of an aeroplane and a drama of gypsy life. "Under the Yum Yum Tree," is the illustrated song.

At the Lyric "Breakers in the Clouds," pictures taken from the top of Mount Blanco are the feature of an interesting program of moving pictures and illustrated songs. There are also several comedy films. Mr. Mistachkin sings "When I'm Away."

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

MINNEAPOLIS MAY SEND CREW TO DULUTH REGATTA

Rowing Is Revived After Lapse of Many Years in Mill City.

Club Will Make Application for Membership in Association.

News was received here yesterday that the new Minnneapolis Boat and Athletic club, which was recently organized and which includes some of the best athletes in the Mill City, will file a formal application for membership in the Northwestern International Rowing association, with the idea of sending at least one crew to the big rowing regatta to be held in this city July 21 and 22.

Years ago the old Lurlines of Minneapolis were famous. Some of the greatest oarsmen of the Northwest were turned out from this club. For some reason rowing took a slump and the club was allowed to sink into slow and unmourned death. Since the debut of the old Lurline rowing club to the present time, there has been little interest in the water game in Minneapolis.

But with the customary enthusiasm with which they do things in Minneapolis, the Minneapolis Boat and Athletic club has been organized and now the officers are anxious to break into the big Northwestern regattas.

There are a number of good oarsmen in Minneapolis at the present time. According to the story sent to The Herald, many of these men have already promised to get out and try for the crews. With the material known to be at hand, not counting the green men, the officers of the Minneapolis club believe they have enough material on hand to place a very strong crew on the water the present season.

It is also stated that an effort may be made to hold the next Northwestern regatta over the famous Minnetonka course, which has not been used for a rowing race in years.

Duluth officials of the Northwestern International Rowing association are already very favorably impressed with the intimation that the Minneapolis club officers will take formal steps to enter the association. For years efforts have been made to get the Minneapolis people to revive the rowing game, and from opinions heard here it is certain that every encouragement will be offered the Minnneapolis people in their plans to enter the big association.

Capt. John McGregor of the rowing department of the Duluth Boat club, stated this morning that the idea of the Minneapolis club joining the association was an excellent one, and that the officials of the club should be given the utmost encouragement in their plans.

Plans for the immmediate construction of a boathouse are being considered at the present time by the Minneapolis people. A. W. Stevens is president and N. A. Sterling secretary of the club.

MRS. HELEN R. BRITTON.

elected president of the St. Louis National League Baseball club.

Mrs. Helen Robison Britton of Cleveland, Ohio, niece of M. S. Robison, who inherited her uncle's interest in the club, was elected vice president.

Other officers elected were: W. G. Schofield and Herman D. Seekamp, both of St. Louis, secretary and treasurer respectively.

SIX CLUBS HAVE CHANCE FOR FLAG

National League President Believes Fight Will Be Keenest in Years.

New York, April 7.—High up in his new offices on the thirteenth floor of New York's tallest skyscraper, President Thomas J. Lynch of the National league has figured out that the race for the pennant this year will be the closest and most keenly contested in many seasons. Here is his statement of the situation:

"Any one of six clubs has a good chance to win this year. Rarely have the teams presented a more even front. While St. Louis and Boston do not seem to be as strong as the other clubs, still, you can never tell what a crowd of young players will do, and Tenney may surprise the baseball world this season.

Clubs Evenly matched.

"As for the other six clubs, it is just about an even thing. New York looks good and is stronger than at this time last year. Those who think the days of the Chicagos are over may have cause to change their opinion before the season closes. They are no weaker than last year, in my opinion. It was because the Athletics were so much faster than Chicago that the world's series resulted as it did. The team is well supplied with youngsters. Take the purchase of Shean, that was a good stroke of business. Evers may last a whole season and may not last a week. Mr. Murphy has a second baseman to step right in there. If that happens, you are likely to hear people begin to talk of Chicago luck and how fortunate it was that Shean was around. No luck about; it was planned beforehand.

"A letter reached me the other day from the Pittsburg camp saying that Leach, Clarke and Wagner, the big trio, were never in better condition and that Adams and Camnitz were putting them over in great form. The men are playing together and the old fighting spirit is there. I tell you that Chicago would not have such an easy time winning a pennant last year had they not got the jump in the early months. It will be different this spring unless all signs go wrong.

Teams Are Stronger.

"Both Philadelphia and Cincinnati were strengthened by the trade made last fall. It does a player a lot of good to be shifted around. It puts more life in him and many times a man who has played only average ball with a team gets in with a lot of hustling youngsters and becomes a star. The 'fans' like to see new faces, too, and applause is as sweet to a player's ears as it is to an actor's. When a man steals second base and is heartily cheered, he wants to steal third right away. Both the Phillies and the Reds will be factors in the pennant race this year. Neither can Brooklyn be counted out. From all reports Mr. Ebbets has secured some youngsters who will give a good account of themselves this season.

"Every season in baseball seems to be greater than the one immediately preceding. I do not think that this season will prove an exception, and look for the biggest year and one of the closest races in the history of the game."

CY YOUNG WANTS TO OPEN SEASON.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 7.—Cy Young, aged 44 years, the man who has outlasted them all in point of continuous service, wants to pitch the first 1911 league game for the Naps. According to advices received by the Cleveland management here today, Cy has requested this honor, and says it is the only favor he will ask this season. It is extremely probable that his wish will be granted. Although Cy has not been with the club as long as some of the other twirlers, notably Addie Joss, his admirers believe the veteran should get the chance.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

Striving for Culture at Leland Stanford University—No Cash Prizes for Motor Boats—Some Imagination—Hard on Minneapolis—Packey McFarland's Assets—Optimism in Pittsburg—Baseball Prosperity—Hans' Feet.

(BY BRUCE.)

DAVID STARR JORDAN of Leland Stanford university has abolished the game of baseball at that institution. "Systmatic muckerism" is the reason given for the abolishing of the game.

President Jordan is a large man physically and he has been credited with being one of the dynamic mental machines of the country; at least of the Pacific coast country. His latest move would indicate that he has a very acute aesthetic nature, or that he has a surfeit of culture.

Recently he witnessed a baseball game between the University of California and Leland Standford. Some one called the pitcher a "mutt," and then someone else was called a "lobster." This was quite too much for the president. The ukase went out; the game must be abolished.

The names the players were called, according to the Jordan version, were harsh and coarse, and more numerous than he believed it possible to be contained in any lexicon. Because Mr. Jordan doesn't understand the least thing about baseball, he abolishes it.

Football has come in for all the abuse that antagonistic mind could frame. Until the present time baseball has been left alone. It has been considered one of our simon pure little sports. But since the action upon the part of President David Starr Jordan, a member of the international fish commission, we may possibly expect that several learned men will plot against the game.

Marbles is a splendid game and can be played by students without removing their caps and gowns. It is here suggested that this game be instituted at Leland Stanford, and also that interclass ping pong games be played upon the campus instead of in the recreation room. Neither of these games is occasion for excitement or enthusiasm that leads to the giving way of the feelings. The boys must have some little fun or there will be that horrible thing the French call ennui. It must be terrible to feel that way.

No Money Will Be Given.

IT HAS been announced definitely that no cash prizes will be given for the motor boat races to be held here during the three days of water festivities. Contrasting with the action of Duluth in this matter, it might be mentioned that Dubuque, Iowa, will hang up prize money totaling $7,000.

As given out by one of the members of the committee, the rowing races will be made the main feature of the aquatic sports, the committee not believing that it could afford at this time to put up any money. Just how this action will result, time alone will tell.

It was believed that some of the crack boats of the East would be brought out here to give Duluthians a real taste of motor boat racing. As a matter of truth we have had no real race since the inauguration of the sport.

Dick Schell has given us the fastest boats at the Head of the Lakes. Mr. Schell has been ready to race at any time. But the great trouble has been that there has been no boat at the Head of the Lakes capable of giving the Schell boats any kind of an argument.

The much-discussed race between the Barnes boat and the speedy craft owned by Dick Schell was the veriest joke. Until the time when some boat does come here that can give the unbeaten d'Autremont an argument, or some of the Eastern fliers are induced to journey here, it may be that we will have to be content with watching the lesser speeders ply through the water and listen to exclamations.

Imagination is Wonderful.

A CERTAIN Mister Jack Abernathy, who is sometimes known under the picturesque sobriquet of "Eat-'em-alive Jack," also at one time United States marshal, is out with a defense of the coyote. He says the animal is really maligned, which is something really awful, and that it is brave and fearless.

After that it would be perfectly all right if some one would come right out on the portico and shout to the listening world that Peter Maher didn't have a streak of the saffron.

This is Very Unfortunate.

HUGH FULLERTON, one of the famous baseball writers, a fiend for figures and losers, has picked the Minneapolis baseball team to win the pennant in the American association. This is indeed unfortunate. Before the selection of Hughey it was generally believed the Millers had an excellent chance. Maybe they can go out and win, but it will be under an awful handicap. Fullerton is the Jim Corbett of baseball, when it comes to picking winners.

The Rise of Packey McFarland.

HE FIGHTS every week and he is doing quite well. According to one writer Packey has the following assets:

Brown eyes that dance; swell scenic settings, which are built at tailors with reputations; a ring of sincerity to his well modulated voice; swell manners and a six-cylinder vocabulary; modesty and gentleness, like unto Mary's lambkin.

These undoubtedly are some of the assets in the physical culture advance of Pugilist Packey, but we can advance some better ones.

He has two good hands and a very clever pair of feet; he has a punch and the best orbs in the fighting business; he is faster, cleverer and better than the rest of the boys, and that is why he succeeds.

This gentleness, these beautiful brown eyes and the curfew ring of sincerity have been valuable assets to the press agent, and help a lot; and yet without the semi-abysmal stuff Packey would find doughnuts, swell stake and exceedingly hard to find.

There are a lot of gentle geeks with pretty brown eyes starving to death.

Optimism Running Wild in Pittsburg.

IN PITTSBURG there are volumes of smoke and yards of stogies. There are many millionaires and some hum imitations of art. Scandal has also a very high batting average in the Smoky City. Just at the present time optimism in the baseball way is holding his head high and delivering orations.

They do say as how the team is faster than last season and how Hans Wagner is as lively as a green filly at the barrier. The vets have all come back, according to the Pittsburg cheer stuff, and "there ain't goin' to be nothin' to it."

Wait until the season is a-goin' some and some of those old hatefuls who jeered Fred Clarke, one of the grandest players in the world, last fall, may be back on the job.

Baseball and Prosperity.

THOUGH the theatrical business has been hurt by the thing they call retrenchment and other hard names, baseball men have so far failed to take the business peeve into consideration in figuring upon the cheer that comes from the gate receipt harmony.

"B. & O.," which, in the parlance of the minor league hash hangouts means beefsteak and onions, comes before the amusement in most cases. The youth with the vacant stomach may wonder at the bills of amusement and long to commune with Thespian endeavor from the gallery, and yet in the end will mount a stool at some feed counter. The same goes for some geek with a family and a coal bin.

But how different with baseball. Many a guy has gone hungry when the home team had a winning streak on. The game first and then pot luck for the grub stake.

Therefore, gentle citizens, wonder not that baseball moguls are building steel stands and placing brick walls around their grounds, even those the times have been undergoing operations. Baseball to may of the cits is a necessity and therefore is placed in the same category as the butcher and the man who sells coal and settles arguments by saying the railroads are to blame.

His Feet and Future Feats.

OH, THAT a corn doctor had been called into consultation! Hans Wagner has made us believe that it was bunions and not the ravages of Father Time that impaired his speed.

The work of the man who must necessarily remain at the foot is expected to give the Teuton another lease of baseball life. If Mercury has bunions it might have been that we would never have heard of him. Again in the case of the orginal Salome dancer, think of the moving motion that would have been lost.

Little things count. A biscuit has been blamed for Nap's loss at Waterloo. Think of a biscuit compared to a bunion. No wonder Hans lost the pennant for Pittsburg. The first thing we know we will be hearing of that Carnegie medal again. Just think of how pleased the corn doctor will be.

LA CROSSE LOSES "BUMPUS" JONES

Outcasts' Manager Awarded to Racine—Release May Be Purchased.

La Crosse, Wis., April 7.—The Racine club of the Wisconsin-Illinois league, by a decision of the national commission, received by President John A. Elliott yesterday, is awarded the services of Ross Jones of La Crosse, the pitcher whom the directors elected as manager of the Outcasts for the coming season. La Crosse, by this decision, is again without a manager.

In a telegram received here Secretary Farrell of the national commission says that the Racine club did reserve Bumpus Jones on its final reserve list and further states that the reason the name does not appear on the paper is because of an error by the printer. After considering the matter carefully, he decided that the player is the lawful property of the Belle City's club.

The peculiar situation, which the directors knew there was a probability of bringing about when they elected Jones, leaves the team with a vacancy in the managerial position. However, it is thought that Jones' services can be purchased from the Wisconsin-Illinois league club to which he has been awarded and negotiations may be started during the day with President Gemmill of Racine in an effort to procure Jones for the Outcasts.

The directors of the local baseball association are inclined to consider the decision of the national commission as a "dirty deal." Several of them have been outspoken in their opinions of the matter, protesting against the verdict in vigorous language.

One of the members of the directorate said that he had no doubt that Jones would be awarded to La Crosse if the matter was presented in a formal manner to the commission. As this would take considerable time, the trouble of personally bringing the evidence in the case before the body and much expense to the La Crosse club, it is not thought that such a way out of the matter will be decided upon.

Prior to Jones' election by the directors here, President Elliott received a list of reserved players by the Racine club for the season of 1908 and the name of Ross Jones does not appear thereon. It was claimed by the officers of the Racine club and President Moll of the W.-I. league, that this list did not include supended players. Moll further said that Jones was on the suspended list because of failure to report to Racine. In looking over the old records, Secretary Farrell of the national commission was unable to discover Jones' name but says that it was omitted, with others, by fault of the printer who made up the list, thus upholding President Moll.

If an effort is made to purchase Jones, it is thought that Racine will be glad to dispose of him as he has already said that under no conditions will he return to the W.-I. league team.

KUEHNOW GIVES PERMISSION FOR USE OF ATHLETIC PARK.

Yesterday A. W. Kuehnow, owner of Athletic park, informed Jack Desmond, secretary and treasurer of the Duluth Baseball association, that Athletic park was at the disposal of the baseball association for the early series with the Superior Red Sox, and also for any games that the White Sox might want to play here before the completion of the new park.

This action insures the playing of the three games on this side of the bay and settles one point that was in doubt.

Jawn Desmond has been pronounced about well, although the quarantine has not been removed from his house. It is thought the genial one will be out in a few days, greeting his large bunch of friends. Plans for the ball yard will be taken up as soon as Jawn is able to be around.

AROUND THE CIRCUIT

Manager Tedd Corbett is now permanently located at Rochester, having removed from Winona to the medical city where he plans to whip into shape a pennant winning aggregation. Corbett has the populace all excited over the baseball season and what he is going to give them in the popular pastime. The pilot has signed up practically all of the material with which he intends to make a championship nine. The only position not fortified strongly enough to satisfy the Rochester boss is the catching department. Corbett has his peepers on a backstop however, and is not losing any sleep over this matter. The man he expects to land has made a fine reputation and Corbett says he will be a star in the Minnesota and Wisconsin company. Work is progressing rapidly on the Mayo athletic field and the manager is entertaining an air of confidence while going about his routine work in organizing the 1911 Rochester team.

Fred Cook of the Red Wing team, has signed another fielder. The new man is Harry Brown and is said to hail from Minneapolis. He played a number of games with the Seattle club of the Northwestern league last year and has been highly recommended to the Red Wing manager. Cook has also signed Al Rehder, a Red Wing youngster, who will be given a chance to win an infield berth. Rehder has played with the Red Wing semi-professional clubs and is said to possesses exceptional fielding ability and is a dependeable hitter.

Perry Werden's all-star nine of Minneapolis will play a number of preseason contests with the Rochester club before the league's opening. Ted Corbett believes that Werden's charges will be capable of giving his men some stiff practice workouts and the veteran's proteges will be shipped to Rochester the latter part of the month for three or four games. Dates have not been mentioned for the games as yet, arrangements being on foot.

The finance committee of the Eau Claire club is still engaged in collecting funds for the team, and, although good success has greeted the solicitors approximately $500 is needed to swell the funds to the required figure. This amount is expected to be rounded up in a few days. Tommy Schoonhoven, the Eau Claire manager, is actively preparing for the league season. The manager has signed a horde of players and is anxious for the training season so as to get a line on his men. He will have to dispense with many players before May 10.

Arthur Fennell, a crack pitcher has been secured by "Biddy" Dolan of the Wausau club. Fennell did some masterful mound duty for the club last season and is expected to be better this year. Outfielder Cahill is still a holdout on the Wausau management.

Manager "Kid" Taylor of the Superior club has assured followers of his team that Superior will be in the race with flying colors this season. Taylor avers that the club will be 50 per cent stronger than last year. He has bolstered up the team in the weak places and has a nabundance of new material on hand if the old players falter. Great things are expected of "Cy" Dahlgren of Minneapolis, who did more in the twirling department for the Superior team last year than any other one man. Dahlgren had some salary differences with the club but is said to have come to an agreement.

CRAWFORD MAY MEET HAWKINS

Negotiations On for Meeting Between Crack Easterner and Fast Black.

Negotiations were started yesterday, according to the statement of a promoter who has staged several fights in the vicinity of Duluth recently, with a view of bringing Tommy Crawford, a sturdy battler of the East, and Cleve Hawkins, recent conqueror of Jack Parres, the abandoned "hope," together somewhere in the vicinity of Duluth.

Tommy Crawford has a twelve-round draw with George Gunther to his credit. This fight was three years ago and since that time Crawford is said to have grown better. Crawford has also had three fights with Unk Russell, that slugging, ripping and tearing heavy welterweight of dear old Philadelphia.

In his letter to a Duluth man, Crawford states that he is open to meet any man in the world and will be ready at a moment's notice to fight any man who is secured to meet him.

A battle between Hawkins and Crawford should make a ripping go. Those who saw Hawkins in action earlier in the season were very much taken with his ability and the wish was expressed then that he might be seen some day in action against a man capable of making him go to his limit.

Efforts were made some time ago by Wisconsin promoters to bring Gunther and Hawkins together. That was before the promoters discovered Gunther was in Europe. Now apparently Crawford has been substituted for the lusty colored boy who made his home at the Head of the Lakes for some time, and the fans will no doubt be very much pleased with the arrrangement, if it is pulled off.

Crawford is in training at the present time and will come to this part of the country when the arrrangements for the battle are completed. It is probable that the husky Eastern boy will do his training at the Head of the Lakes.

After his quick win over Jack McCarthy, Curly Ulrich is after a battle with Jimmy Potts, and the two men may be brought together in the near future. Any time these boys start a great go is assured. Several clubs are at the present time figuring for a bout, and Ulrich and Potts may get a match.

HIGH POWER BOAT WILL RACE AT DULUTH.

It was announced yesterday that a 125-horse power boat, fitted out with a Capitol engine, has been ordered by J. H. Cole of Manotowoc, Wis., and that this boat will be seen in the races which will be held here in July in connection with the Northwestern rowing regatta.

The boat will be thirty-two feet long, and if it comes up to general expectations, will be a craft capable of giving Dick Schell the race of his life. The Schell boat has only 100-horse power, and with the increased motor power of the boat which has been ordered of Johnny Johnson of White Bear, there is naturally the belief that she will be a speeder.

PACKEY AND WOLGAST.

McFarland Says Fight With Champion Is Sure Thing.

Chicago, April 7.—Contrary to reports from the camp of Ad Wolgast there is little chance that his match with Packey McFarland, scheduled to be staged before the Fairmont A. C. at New York, April 28, will be canceled, according to a statement made by 'the stockyards' boy Tuesday, on his return from Canton, Ohio, where he fought Paul Kohler, Monday night.

"Wolgast signed to fight me at 133 pounds at 7 o'clock," said Packey, "but now the story comes that he will cancel the match if I enter the ring at anything over 133 pounds. That doesn't sound reasonable to me, after he had signed for the other weight. Billy Gibson of the Fairmont A. C. has assured me that there will be no hitch in the match and I have received no word from him concerning this last report from Wolgast."

McFarland will make the 133 pounds at 7 o'clock, as agreed upon, but will not go under that. He is trained down to his best fighting weight now and will keep working after his bout with Morris Bloom in Racine on Friday until the Murphy match on April 18.

—TWENTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE—

TRUE WOMANLY BEAUTY RIGHT AT YOUR COMMAND

Magazine Writer Gives Some Valuable Advice and Suggestions to Women.

"Beauty is nature's chiefest gift to women," writes F. Howarth Dryden, consulting chemist to makers of toilet preparations, "and with a little care the feminine world can revel in it in all its purity and youthfulness.

"Chemistry has proven of wonderful assistance in this direction, and if milady has any complexion faults, hair or scalp difficulties, the following inexpensive formulas will prove of great value:

"FOR AN ENCHANTING COMPLEXION it is necessary that the skin be kept free from impurities. Powders and cosmetics help clog the pores, and their use have a tendency to cause blackheads, pimples, wrinkles and a shiny, unnatural complexion. The following is an excellent massage cream to use:

1 pint boiling water.
2 ounces cerol.

"Dissolve cerol in water while at boiling point and stir until thick and smooth. This used as a massage clears and tones the skin and brings back the rose-toned glow and velvety smoothness of youth and protects the skin from sudden change of weather.

"BEAUTIFUL, LONG AND GLOSSY HAIR can be had if the following tonic is employed:

½ pint alcohol.
½ pint water.
1 ounce beta-canthol.

"Dissolve beta-canthol, in alcohol, then add water. Massaging the scalp with this corrects itchiness and dandruff, keeps the scalp healthy and pliant and encourages a luxuriant growth of silky, radiant hair. To obtain best results, keep hair and scalp clean by shampooing with eggol.

"TO ROUND OUT HOLLOWS use a tissue-builder, as the trouble lies underneath, and not on, the surface. The most successful preparation to use is the famed Vaucaire formula:

1½ cupfuls sugar.
1 pint water.
1 ounce gallol.

"Dissolve sugar in water, then add gallol. Take two teaspoonfuls before meals. The delicate tissues quickly respond to this treatment, scrawniness disappears, hollows are rounded out and the form becomes plump and symmetrical. This is not a fat-producer, but a tissue-builder."

UNITED DOCTORS HERE TO STAY

Are Now Permanently Established in the Columbia Building.

Some readers have formed the idea that the United Doctors, who have their Duluth institute on the third floor of the Columbia Building, are traveling doctors and will only stay here a short time.

We are now authorized to announce positively that the United Doctors will stay in Duluth permanently. They have executed long time leases and contracts here and this wonderful new system of treatment will be obtainable right here at home all the time.

These world famous medical specialists are not here for a few weeks or a few months or a few years, but for all the time; they are permanently located in Duluth.

The United Doctors have also obtained a permanent hold on the hearts of many sick people who have turned to them for relief after all other doctors had failed on their cases.

F. H. Lauer of Fond du Lac, Minn., is one who has good reason to thank these specialists for what they have done for him. He writes:

Fond du Lac, Minn., April 2, 1911.
Dear Doctors:

I write to tell you of the great improvement I have made in the two weeks I have treated with you.

As I told you, when you examined me, I have suffered for more than three years with a severe stomach trouble; was badly constipated, had lots of gas on the stomach after eating, had those awful headaches and backaches.

I have taken your medicine strictly according to directions and can truthfully say that I feel much better now than I have at any time in the past three years.

I certainly can recommend you to others who have suffered as I have.

Yours respectfully,
F. H. LAUER.

In order to acommodate those who called last month and were unable to be examined on account of the rush of patients, the grand free offer has been extended to all who call before April 20th.

DULUTH MEN GET OPTION

Cuyuna-Mille Lacs Iron Company Secure Valuable Property on Cuyuna Range.

Have Option on Kamrath Farm Near Brainerd, Said to Contain Iron.

Brainerd, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs Iron company has completed negotiations for an option on the northeast quarter of section 27, township 45 and range 30, about two and one-half miles east of Brainerd. The tract comprises 160 acres and is what is known as the Kamrath farm, considered by mining authorities to be a promising mineral property of the Cuyuna iron range.

The fact that this property is almost surrounded by proven bodies of high-grade ore, among them being properties held by the Northern Pacific Railway company, upon which drilling explorations have shown up extremely large bodies of high-grade ore and for which they are now paying royalties, gives reason to believe that the property is exceptionally promising.

Purchasing Company Drilling.

The purchasing company is now operating drills on section 20, 44-28 and section 3, 45-29. They have recently struck what mining men claim is a very important find of high-grade ore on the latter property and are said to have drills in merchantable Bessemer ore for some time with about 3,000,000 tons of ore proven up. In this company are W. H. Denny, a passenger conductor of the Northern Pacific railway; James F. Dykeman and E. J. W. Donahue of Duluth, who formerly resided in Brainerd; John Helmer, Ernest Le Duc, W. H. Locker, and Otto Wendlandt, well known in Duluth. The establishment of a mine by this company on the very outskirts of this city will do much to increase the commercial importance of Brainerd.

HORSEMAN BREAKS TWO OF HIS RIBS

Wm. Braddish of National Forest Reserve Service Dragged and Fallen Upon.

Cass Lake, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald)—William Braddish, one of the oldest members of the Minnesota national forestry service, had a very narrow escape from death yesterday while horseback riding. He was riding a horse and while going down the railroad track the wind blew his hat off. He turned the horse around and started back for the hat. When he reached the place where it was he slipped one foot out of the stirrup and bent over to grab the hat, but just as it was in his grasp a sudden gust of wind blew it under the horse and the animal became frightened and tore down the railroad track dragging Braddish, who was unable to regain his hold. For half a mile the horse galloped at full speed with the unfortunate man being kicked, bumped and bruised, when suddenly the horse struck a rail and stumbled and fell. The animals rolled over in the ditch several times with the man hanging on and as soon as the opportunity presented itself Braddish loosened his foot and was at liberty.

With two ribs broken and his hip dislocated Braddish managed to crawl back to camp at Schley, where he was taken into care and brought to Cass Lake, where he is under the care of physicians.

HIGGINS GOING ABROAD.

Famous Sky Pilot Proposes to Attack Evils of London Town.

Bemidji, Minn., April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Frank Higgins, the unique preacher to the men who inhabit the camps in the northern timber region, and who is known everywhere as the "Lumberjack Sky Pilot," has made an exhaustive report of his work and to a friend in Bemidji Mr. Higgins reviews his active missionary work since he first preached to the lumberjacks at Barnum, Minn., in the spring of 1895, on the banks of the Kettle river telling in interesting manner how he has carried the gospel to the men who toil in the woods.

Rev. Mr. Higgins states that he will within the next year cross the "big pond" and speak in London and other points, at the earnest solicitation of persons in that country who are acquainted with the splendid missionary work which has been done by the now famous "Sky Pilot."

PLAYGROUND POPULAR.

Idea Growing as Evidenced By Reports at Minneapolis Meeting.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 7.—Two hundred enthusiastic promoters of playgrounds met here yesterday afternoon for the opening session of the playgrounds institute of the North Central states.

That the objects of the institute are bearing fruit and that the playground idea is progressing in popular favor were two points emphasized by the speakers.

"Four years ago only ninety cities in the United States had given any thought to the development of playgrounds along educational lines," said Lee P. Hammer, chairman of the institute. "Today 400 cities are working to develop their playgrounds according to plans advocated by this association. St. Louis, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Buffalo have created a city department controlled and financed by the city as any other municipality t otake care of playgrounds."

George W. Ehler, director of the department of physical culture in the University of Wisconsin addressed the meeting on "The Organization and Development of Playgrounds."

Envy Her Lovely Hair?

When you see a woman who uses this dry shampoo to dress her hair instead of soap, water, soda and the like you are almost certain to witness the looks of admiration and envy which other women and girls cast at her.

The following home-made dry shampoo certainly works wonders in a short time on a frowsy, stringy, oily, dirty head of hair, be it man or woman:

Just mix 2 ounces of antiseptic vilane powder with 6 ounces of powdered orris root. Apply a tablespoonful and distribute through the hair with the fingers. Permit to remain several hours or over night and then brush and comb out all traces of it. The hair becomes beautifully lustrous, fluffy and clean-looking, often assuming a slight wave hitherto unknown.

BLAME DEFECTIVE SWITCH FOR DEADWOOD GIRL'S DEATH

Lead, S. D., April 7.—That Ruby Malter, the 16-year-old Deadwood girl, who was electrocuted here in the Coliseum, was the victim of a defective switch was the verdict of the coroner's jury. Employes of the electric light company testified that the current was only 114 volts at the time, but the fact that the girl was on skates and stood in a pool of water when she attempted to turn on the light, is thought to have created a perfect ground and caused her death. While the girl lay dead the manager of the Coliseum, ignorant of the accident, was telephoning the light company to send a repair man to fix the switch.

Fargo, N. D.—Fargo has an Orpheum theater and it was fittingly opened Tuesday evening. It has a seating capacity of nearly 1,000.

Jamestown, N. D.—On account of striking boulders a few feet below the surface, all the work so far put in on the new artesian well for the Western Electric company, has been useless and Tuesday morning the drills were started again in a new place. It will hardly be safe to eat any fish caught in the river this spring.

D.—Judge Leighton sustained the demurrer of the defendant in the action brought by Minot to restrain the county commissioners from abating taxes on the ground that certain property was assessed unfairly as to the valuation. CONCERNING WOMAN.

The theater committee of the Women's Council, which has recently been appointed to watch the theaters, vaudeville houses and moving picture shows of the city, was changed to the "amusement committee" this morning, at the regular monthly meeting of the council, which was held in the library clubroom with Mrs. S. R. Holden presiding.

The change of name was effected in order that the scope of the work of the committee might be broadened to cover public dance halls, rinks, parks and in fact, all public places of amusement.

This committee is composed of Mrs. Jerome, chairman; Mrs. Harriett Carey, Mrs. A. A. Kerr, Mrs. J. L. Washburn, Mrs. R. N. Marble, Mrs. T. J. Davis, Mrs R. C. Keyes, Mrs. H. H. Phelps, Mrs. E. A. Silberstein, Mrs. H. Steele, Mrs. George Elder and Mrs. Robert Smith. This committee will work as a sub-committee under the general civic service committee of the council and all work done by the committee will be reported to the council by the civic service committee for ratification. This subject of supervision of public places of amusement has been uppermost in the work of the council for some time and this plan has been perfected for the carrying out of the work.

Poorfarm.

A communication was read by Mrs. F. L. Harrows, chairman of the poorfarm committee, from Courtenay Dinwiddie, regarding the providing of some employment for the men at the poorfarm. Mr. Dinwiddie said in part: "I have heard it said several times since I have been here thta one of the greatest needs of the poorfarm was some employment for the old people there. While I have not been able to visit the farm myself, I am quite prepared to believe that this is the case, as the association in which I worked in New York city found the same conditions existing in the homes for the aged infirm there. We had a good deal of success in introducing some light employment for those who were crippled or unable to do heavy work. Probably some way could be found of teaching some handicrafts in the almshouse here."

Mrs. Barrows reported that Mr. Dinwiddie and Rev. George H. Gebauer visited the farm with two members of the committee, during the month, and that his interest was greatly aroused in such a plan. The council decided to ask Mr. Dinwiddie to attend its next meeting and speak to the members on this subject. In other places where work of this kind has been prepared for the men a good deal of success has attended the plan. The men have done such light work as basket weaving, painting chairs and small articles of furniture, etc. The plan of offering prizes for the products of small gardens which the men could care for themselves was discussed and heartily approved. For the tubercular patients especially this plan seems beneficial, as it would keep them out of doors a good deal of the time.

Mrs. Barrows reported that the sitting room has been renovated and the walls have been painted a bright tint making the room much lighter. Some chairs and cushions have been sent out but more could be used advantageously. She said that daily newspapers sent out would be a great comfort to those who are there and that more needles for the phonograph are wanted.

Mrs. T. H. Hawkes of the streets and alleys committee reported that her committee had been agitating the subject of the hard slippery pavements on the avenues and that they had succeeded in stirring up some interest. A letter was written by the chairman of this committee to the Commercial club asking their co-operation on this subject and a reply written by W. A. McGonagle of the Commercial club was read in which he stated that his club would be very glad to co-operate with the women's council in any way possible. That the necessity of having a less slippery pavement was apparent and that effort should be made to discover some pavement which would be permanent as well as suitable for the hills.

The garbage committee asked the members of the council to urge the proper care of garbage in every community and said that the best way of disposing of it was by thoroughly draining it and wrapping it in a newspaper before placing it in the garbage can or burning it.

A suggestion was made that the Council formulate some plan of bringing out the better side of life to the men in the jail and some form of employment or recreation which help to elevate them and make better individuals of them when their terms were up.

The Council voted to send their love and sympathy from the Council, as a body, to Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge, one of its members, in her recent bereavement.

What a Girl's Brother Might Do

By VIRGINIA HARLAN.

If men are not actually more selfish than women, I think it is beyond dispute that most of them are more careless and unthinking in little kindnesses, the performance of which may be a little tiresome. Young men, for instance, could often place little pleasures in the way of their sisters, which either they never think of at all, or they leave undone because it means some tiny sacrifice.

Given the necessary kindness of heart, it is not difficult for any young man to enable his sisters to participate in many little outings with his bachelor friends. Many a girl is almost entirely dependent upon her brother for pleasure, and mighty little some of them get.

Should a young man chance to fall in love with a friend of his sister's, he will not fail to ask that sister for all the aid she can give him. And, on her part, she will gladly make many little opportunities to help him in his wooing. She will do so even without being asked, for she will know instinctively in what direction her brother's feelings are working.

Now let us peep at the other side of the medal. To begin with, not one girl in a thousand would confide in her brother that she would be glad to see more of one of his friends.

But should he by any chance suspect that she was particularly interested in his pal, Claude Pelham, what would he do? He would chaff her unmercifully and make her feel terribly uneasy lest he should carry out his threat to tell Claude Pelham, and then, on the following Saturday, take the aforesaid Claude to a baseball match or football.

Such, at any rate, is the way in which too many brothers treat their sisters. There are, of course, exceptions. The writer knows one very manly young fellow who helps to support his mother and sister; at one time it was two sisters, but one married a friend of his. And now the second sister is engaged to another friend of his. And as far as possible he shared his pleasures with his sisters, and brought his friends to the house.

Not for a moment is it suggested that a brother should go in for match-making on behalf of his sisters. But there are many little ways in which he can put pleasure in their way, and in most cases he would do so—if only the thought occurred to him. It is hoped that this little article will help to jog a few masculine memories.

Household Economy

To Clean Tapestry Curtains.

Make a strong solution of water and white curd soap, and let it get cold. Gently beat all the dust out of the curtains, using a soft brush and a pair of bellows. Now apply a little of the soap mixture and rub gently until a lather is formed. Rinse out the sponge, squeeze dry, rub into it some fine pipe clay and beat gentle out. For valuable tapestries, however, no home experiment should be attempted. These are best left to the professional cleaner.

Laying Linoleum.

A point about linoleum which is not generally know is that it should never be laid down until it has remained at least twenty-four hours in a fairly warm room previously. The floor, of course, must be absolutely clean and dry. Never use soap to clean linoleum or cork carpet. Paraffin and water is the best thing, and afterwards a good polishing with beeswax and turpentine.

Helps for the Housekeeper.

Table knives should never be washed in hot water.

If you heat a knife gently you can cut new bread as easily as old.

A room in which soiled clothes or shoes become mouldy is too damp for health.

Cold rain water and soap will remove machine grease from washable fabrics.

Never dry flannels in the sunshine, but in a shady place. They should be washed and hung out to dry as quickly as possible.

Wine and milk tend to absorb the odors of substances near them. It is not so well known that grapes also take up odors in this way.

An experienced housekeeper says that a fork is superior to a knife for cutting a steamed pudding or hot cake. It separates without making heavy.

Two ounces of chloride of lime to one gallon of water, one of permanganate of potash to three pints of water will keep all drains in good condition.

THE EVENING STORY

Thornton, the Fisherman

By Robert Williamson.

On the edge of Cape Cod, only a few miles from two sand peppered fisher towns, stretched a considerable and well nigh deserted promontory. Its population were wiser folk; with one exception quiet and godly men, born and bred to this avocation of agreeable perils.

He lived alone in a dwelling of timber rescued from the Curlew, and patched with ugly corrugated iron. It stood in the lee of a hillock just where beach left off and moorland began.

There the man would sit and smoke. Smoking was the single habit which linked him with his kind. For he was silent and morose, jarring not at all with the desolateness about him.

To his mates, upon all that did not pertain to their common employment, he was dumb. His taciturnity defied the kindly curiosity of their race. For ten whole years he had brooded away his leisure hours upon the moorland's edge. His fellows might make their weekly pilgrimage to the nearest inland market across the bay. But he, aloof, remained by his rude shanty, implacable, somewhat fearsome, in this stern seclusion of his.

None but he had crossed the threshold of his wind whipped habitation. It was a barren interior. One table, one chair, a single set of enamelled ware, a bedstead, a few pots, a kettle, and a paraffin stove made up its humble furnishings. There was one other item, an intruder amongst these essentials to his hardy comfort, dangling from a nail against the draughty door.

Unused (and useless, apparently, for there was no wood to be chopped), depending by its leather thong, hung an ax, big, primitive, pregnant with menace in the strange abode.

They said his name was Thornton. He made no demur. Seemingly he was 50; actually he was ten years younger. Something more relentless than the years had aided in his aging. There was gray in the beard which he had suffered to grow during his residence with the fisher folk. Eyes glowered dully from under a lined forehead. His shoulders had a stoop to them. Were it not that he was never seen with a book, one might have dubbed him a scholar.

One day in early spring, whilst he was out upon the hard ribbed, shiny sand, tending the salmon nets, a stranger hailed him from the dry beach above tide mark. Thornton jumped, startled for the moment into interest by the ring of the voice which called him. Perhaps it was because strangers were infrequent phenomena along that inhospitable coast.

The newcomer was a puffy, white whiskered dot of a man, out walking for his health; by order, it seemed, rather than by inclination.

"How long will it take me to round the point and return by the moor?" he was asking.

"Four hours," said Thornton, glancing at the little legs. "But you must mind the ditches."

The man cocked his head as if to catch some jilting memory, and then ambled off with knitted brows.

The fisherman was almost blithe, after a fashion. The evening hour creeping up from Cape Cod caught him humming a dolorous stave or two. His ditty went abruptly dry with the first light that appeared across the bay in the little town, which was at once headquarters of a college and haven to a herring fleet.

His lips snapped together, and off he stalked to the hut behind the hillock, a queer resolute glimmer in his dim eyes. He brought his solitary chair to the ramshackle doorway and sat there gazing toward the hills, with fierce intentness, long after dusk had wiped them out from actual vision.

The stranger must return this way.

Thornton was becoming restless. Savagely he sent the chair flying back into its dwelling, and set out into the growing darkness.

He was in luck. A ten minutes' trudge brought him within hail of the stranger plodding along on the far side of a four foot ditch. It was a stagnant ditch, deep enough to drown a man, he mused. But no—

"Hi!" he called.

"Hello?" came the answer.

"You can't get home tonight," said he, assisting the wanderer across a rotting plank.

"I've got to," panted the little man.

"Come in and dry yourself."

This with surly hospitality.

The stranger mumbled his thanks. Joyfully Thornton conducted him over the vacant moor.

The axe rattled as he bolted the door behind them. There was a silence. The stranger stretched his podgy feet before the glowing stove. There was another silence. The fisherman blurted out a Latin tag. His guest looked up amazed.

"You wouldn't think I had been to college, would you, now?" It was said in a voice tigerishly playful. "I have though! Twenty-five years ago last October they sent me down from Vermont. I had some money. Not much, but Alec—that's my brother—saved enough from his trade to keep me going.

"I was studying for the ministry. I studied and studied and studied. For twelve years I kept at it. My folks at home began to laugh at me. I would not give it up. Family pride they called it. I know that I did not get my degree, but I was as competent without it as many of the others who did get their license, and who now have parishes of their own.

"But no! There was one man that would not license me."

He caressed the handle of the axe.

"One man," he repeated, wildly. "One man came like a blight on me and I had to give it up and come here and leave my folks and live all alone and—"

"McAllister!" puffed the tubby stranger.

"The same. For ten years I've been working here and watching the lights over the bay and waiting, not daring to venture into the town, wondering if Providence would send you to me. And now—"

The eyes blazed. The ax swung.

Next morning's tide washed up the professor's hat and stick and coat. The body was supposed to have drifted out to sea.

Only when the night is very bleak and the winds howl up from the bay and the gulls scream about the said hillock does Thornton the fisherman, shudder and turn his back upon a corner of the cabin where the floor boards still lie loose.

The Kitchen

A Few Cheese Dishes.

No doubt many of you will have a good stock of cheese, and in such cases these recipes will be useful:

Cheese Pudding.

Melt half an ounce of grated rich cheese in a teacupful of boiling milk, in a small saucepan. When quite melted, add two ounces of bread-crumbs and two beaten eggs. Stir till quite hot, but do not let it boil. Pour onto a small dish and brown before the fire, or in the oven.

Cheese Pyramids.

Mix together some flour and grated cheese—one part flour to two parts cheese. Add a little butter, some made mustard, and a seasoning of salt and pepper. Make into a paste with water; roll out, cut in small round cakes, and bake in the oven till crisp. Beat a small quantity of cream to a stiff froth, with salt and pepper. Put a little on each cake and sprinkle some grated cheese on the top. Serve cold.

Cheese Custard.

Melt one-quarter pound cheese in a breakfastcupful of milk (over the fire), stirring all the while. Add two beaten eggs, a seasoning of salt and pepper, and pour into a buttered pie dish. Brown the surface in a quick oven.

Cheese Fondu.

Soak about a teacupful of bread-crumbs in a teacupful of milk (in a basin). Add a dessertspoonful of butter, one egg beaten, pepper and to taste, and one ounce of grated cheese. Grease a dish, put the mixture onto it, sprinkle breadcrumbs on the top, and bake in a thick oven for about 20 minutes.

Cheese Souffle.

For this you require one ounce butter, one ounce flour, one gill milk, three ounces grated cheese, three whole eggs, one white of egg, and a little pepper and cayenne. Mix the butter and flour over the fire.

MUSIC.

Chicago Post: The late Mr. Shakespeare said some severe things about the man who has no music in his soul and is not moved by concord of sweet sounds.

In his day and time Mr. Shakespeare was doubtless right.

Mr. Shakespeare never heard a campaign band. No bannered wagons filled with tuba and cornet players ever rolled through the street of Mr. Shakespeare's town, playing by rule of thumb while the banners exhorted the terrified hearers to vote for the People's Friend.

Mr. Shakespeare never heard Gladys Montmorency play the piano after she had spent a year away from home at a finishing school and had failed to get her finish.

If Shakespeare had heard Gladys play and had realized that so far all she had gleaned from the field of harmony was the art of crossing her hands while rendering "Old Black Joe" with variations, he might have written a revision of his verdict.

Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast, perhaps, but there are times when it occasions the savagery in the breast.

Another indictment against music is that so often attempts are made to combine it with verses ending, "And then to his old mother he did say," thus making the two in a popular song of the day.

BEER AND ALE.

Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular: Beer is a liquor made from any farinaceous grain, but generaly from barley, which is malted and ground, and its fermentable substance extracted by hot water. This extract or infusion is evaporated by boiling in caldrons, and hops or some other plant of agreeable bitterness added. The liquor is then suffered to ferment in vats. Ale is a liquor made from an infusion of malt by fermentation. It chiefly differs from beer in having a smaller proportion of hops; both are intoxicating liquors.

The manufacture of beer and its use as an intoxicating drink are of very high antiquity. Herodotus tells us that owing to the want of wine the Egyptians drank a liquor fermented from barley. Ale or beer was in common use in Germany in the time of Tacitus.

"All the nations," says Pliny, "who inhabit the west of Europe have a liquor with which they intoxicate themselves, of corn and water."

The manufacture of ale was early introduced into England. It is mentioned in the laws of Ina, king of Wessex, and is particularly specified among the liquors provided for a royal banquet in the reign of Edward the Confessor.

CONFLICTS WITH ACT

Circular Farm Land Office Mixes Things at Crookston.

Prospective Homesteaders Should Be on Hand April 14.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, April 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Steenerson today called upon the commissioner of the general land office relative to the status of homesteaders on 43,000 unsold acres of Red Lake Indian reservation. These acres, according to the act opening the same, distinctly states that the territory in question be thrown open to settlement on and after the approval of he act, which was approved Feb. 16.

The general land office issued a circular under date of March 3, which is addressed to the register and receiver at Crookston, revoking a previous executive withdrawal as to settlement on the land, on April 15, and to allowance of entry on May 15, and states that no rights will be gained by settling on the land prior to April 15. Representative Steenerson says it apepars to him that the act constitutes a statutory revocation of the revocation of the previous withdrawal, and that after the passage of the act the land was subject to homestead settlement. There appears to be a conflict between the act and the circular, for the act plainly says that "hereafter" all the lands shall be subject to homestead entry and "hereafter" means Feb. 16, the date of the act.

"If the circular conflicts with the act," said Representative Steenerson today, "the latter must prevail, and it would therefore seem to be wise for intending settlers to go at once upon the land they intend to enter, make improvements then, after filing, take an appeal from the rejection, be on the land at midnight, April 14, and continue thereon after filing on May 15, and where such a course is pursued it is my opinion that the law would be that such settler would have a better right than one who subsequently settles and filed in compliance with the circular."

TOO MUCH TALK.

Chicago News: When the plumber's young man called at the Griggs residence to fix a water pipe that was out of repair Mrs. Griggs seated herself near by, to see that he kept busy.

"I see," said the young man, politely, as he adjusted a wrench to the pipe, "that Jim Jeffries has made a statement at last."

"Who is Jim Jeffries?" asked Mrs. Griggs, with mild curiosity.

"Why, the great prize fighter. Of course, I know that ladies are not much interested in sporting matters, but you've surely heard of Jim Jeffries? You know he met Jack Johnson at Reno last July."

"A lady friend of mine, Mrs. Wigstall, was at Reno in July," remarked Mrs. Griggs. "She was trying to get a divorce from her husband, who was trying to invent an airship and persisted in having the house full of tools and machinery. He even went so far as to put up a forge in the sitting room, and he was always hammering redhot iron and the sparks flew in every direction and set fire to the curtains several times. But you don't seem to be making much headway with that pipe. If you can't talk and work, too, you'd better quit talking."

"I never waste time talking, ma'am. I was merely going to say that Jeffries has come out of his shell and explains why he was defeated. You see——"

"My friend, Mrs. Wigstall, was at Reno for several weeks and wrote to me regularly, but she didn't say anything about meeting any one named Jeffries. Maybe she was so busy with her divorce matter that she didn't have time to go into society much. I know she was terribly worried, for she loved James Wigstall dearly, although she couldn't put up with his making a machine shop of her sitting room. I'm sure I don't blame her, although, of course, Mr. Wigstall may have had good reasons. I've always said that we shouldn't judge people until we have heard both sides.

"The worst of it was that Mr. Wigstall always had a tub of water on the floor to drop his red-hot irons in, so as to temper them, and the water splashed all over everything, so that the portrait of Mrs. Wigstall's father, which was in a handsome gilt frame, was a sight to be seen. But I'm sure you're wasting your time sitting there talking so much and when your employer sends in his bill I'll have to tell him how you conducted yourself."

"I haven't been doing any talking, ma'am. It must have been somebody else. I did try to say something about Jim Jeffries and the fluke at Reno, but——"

"Oh, well, it doesn't make any difference whether you talk about Reno or some other town, if you neglect your work. I never hear Reno mentioned without thinking of that poor Mrs. Wigstall. She says it was a frightful place to live in, and she had to stay there week after week, so as to be eligible for a divorce, and after all she didn't get it. She had her lawyers hired, and had paid them a great deal of money, and everything was in readiness for the hearing, which was to occur on a Thursday morning, and on Wednesday evening she received a telegram from her brother, saying that Mr. Wigstall had patented his airship and had been offered a huge sum for the rights.

"She dropped her divorce proceedings right there. She was a good, loyal, loving wife, if she did disapprove of having a foundry in her sitting room, and she couldn't bear the idea of forsaking her husband in the hour of his triumph. So she took the first train back, to be at her husband's side. That's the way with women. You men don't appreciate their devotion and unselfishness until some great crisis arrives.

"But I don't see why you spend so much time trying to make that small wrench work, when you have a larger one right at hand. If you'd pay attention to what you are doing and not talk so much about Jeffries you'd give better satisfaction, and when your employer sends in his bill it would not be necessary for me to make a complaint against you."

STRENGTH OF SPIDER'S WEB.

New York Press: The strength of the spider, and of the materials it employs, is something almost incomprehensible when the size of the insect and the thickness of his thread are taken into account. Recent experiments have shown that a single thread of a web made by a spider which weighed fifty-four milligrams supported endwise a weight of four grams, or seventy-four times the weight of the spider itself.

When, therefore, a spider spins a web to let himself down from the ceiling or from the branch of a tree, and we see him descending without perceiving his thread at all, we may be perfectly sure that he is not only in no danger of falling, but that he could carry seventy-three other spiders down with him on his invisible rope. Knowing this fact with reference to a single thread, we need not be surprised that the threads of a web interwoven and reinforced one by another, have a very considerate strength, and are able to hold bees and wasps, themselves very powerful in proportion to their size, and to bend without breaking under a weight of dew or rain.

INSTINCT OF SEAL MOTHERS.

Wide World Magazine: The instinct of the seal is marvelous. It will leave its young on the ice in the morning, and going down through a hole remain away all day swimming in search of food. Returning in the evening it will locate its offspring in the same "patch" among hundreds of thousands of other baby seals, notwithstanding that the ice may have wheeled or drifted fifty or sixty miles during the day from wind and tide and notwithstanding that the patch may extend thirty or forty miles from one end to the other.

GREAT REBUILDING SALE

AT L. BERGSTEIN'S CLOTHING STORE,

521 WEST SUPERIOR ST., (Bet. Fifth and Sixth Aves.)

$30,000 STOCK OF CLOTHING, GENTS' FURNISHINGS, HATS, CAPS, SHOES, TRUNKS, SUIT CASES, ETC. TO BE CLOSED OUT

Tomorrow our doors will be opened to the citizens of Duluth and surroundings—to close out our entire stock if prices will sell it. The owners of the property have decided to make some improvements on the building as soon as our lease expires, this will be on May 1st, and to make this sure they subpoened to us written notice to the effect that we must vacate the premises within 30 days, as they have let the contract out to start at work by the end of this month. To comply with the request of the owners we would be compelled to store our stock until we would again be able to occupy the building and the spring season would be far gone. Mr. Bergstein is a thoroughly experienced merchant having his first experience in Sweden. Coming here twenty years ago he was a pioneer merchant of Two Harbors for a number of years, and made many friends with his square and honest manner of merchandising. While up here, not the location, but the high esteem of Mr. Bergstein personally, has made him many friends, for he carries the highest grade of merchandise that money can buy. The Jefferson, Dayton, "All America," "King Quality" and Chippewa Shoes, the Cluett, Blue Seal and Congress Shirts, the Gordon Hats and our Clothing from the most famous tailor shops helped much toward the growth of such a large stock, but we can't afford to carry over this immense stock, most of it made up for this spring to be sold later on, but we have decided to close it out at almost any price. Now, be wise, and do not take any bluff of the so-called sales. We are not sale creators, but we are forced to do this and you will reap the profits.

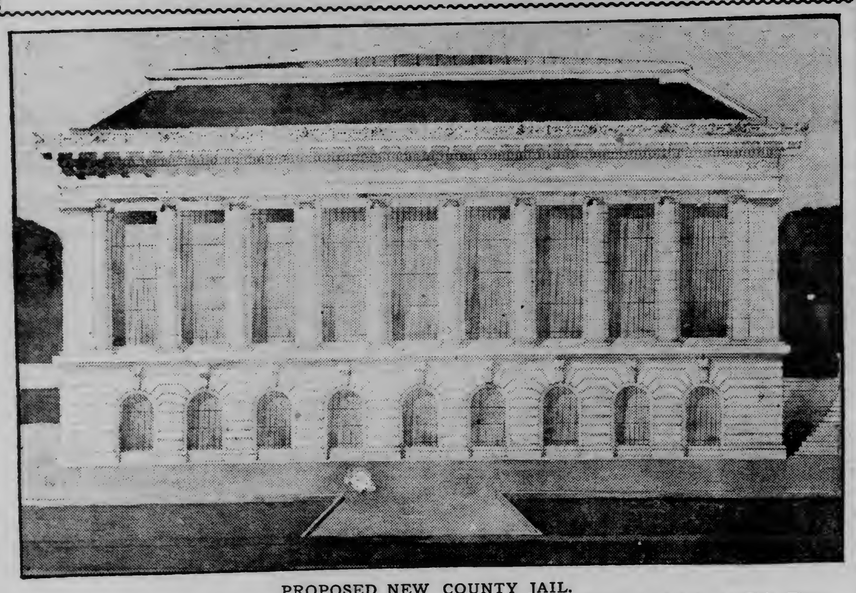
COMMITTEE OF COUNTY BOARD REPORTS AGAINST WORKHOUSE PLAN



PROPOSED NEW COUNTY JAIL.

This Plan Was Presented to the County Board This Morning, But No Action Is Likely at This Time.

WHAT THE COUNTY BOARD DID.

Elected Charles E. Adams special attorney to fill out the unexpired term of William J. Stevenson. The salary was cut from $3,000 to $2,000 per year.

Heard report of workhouse or jail committee which reported workhouse proposition impractical at this time, and recommended that repairs be made to the old jail for the time being.

Accepted the resignation of William J. Stevenson as special county attorney.

Acted on road petitions, divided one school district, accepted the reports of county officers and acted on other routine business.

Heard the report of the committee appointed to investigate the management of Memorial hall. Chairman Fraser stated that there was no dissatisfaction found except that the old soldiers wanted rules made by the house committee so that they would know as to what their rights are in regard to use of the hall.

Commissioner Cummings, as chairman of the workhouse or jail committee, in his report to the board of county commissioners in session for their regular monthly meeting this morning at the courthouse, gave the workhouses proposition a black eye when he stated that the committee after a thorough investigation had found the idea to be impracticable at this time. On the part of the committee he suggested that repairs be made to the old jail so that it would suffice until such time as the county could afford a new building.

Mr. Cummings stated that the workhouse idea would not relieve the crowded condition of the county jail because the men would have to sleep there at night. If a building were erected to house them near the point of rocks, property would have to be purchased and the total cost of buildings, machinery, and fances would come close to $75,000.

The chairman of the committee said that he was still in favor of making the short term prisoners work but at what and how, is still a matter to be determined. The matter of improvements was put over by the board and the committee on workhouse and jail was continued.

Plans for New Jail.

Vernon J. Price, a local architect, submitted plans for a new jail building to be erected to the west of the new courthouse. According to Mr. Price's plans the jail would be of the same material as the courthouse. On the first floor provisions are made for juvenile cells and women's cells. There are large kitchens, padded cells and other rooms. Mr. Price has inaugurated all the modern ideas in jails in his plans. There is a tunnel from the courthouse to the jail included in the plan. On the second floor there are twenty-eight cells. There is a hospital, consulting rooms for attorneys and quarters for insane patients.

The plans were not given a great deal of attention as it is hardly thought probable that the board will erect a new jail for some time, as the county is not troubled with a surplus of funds.

W. P. Chinn appeared before the board and spoke against the granting of a saloon license in the town of Nichols. He had with him a petition signed by a number of residents, who asked that the license be refused.

A communication from the secretary of the Tower Commercial club was read which brought to the attention of the county the fact that although established a quarter of a century, Tower had no roads that were worthy of the name. The matter was referred to Commissioner McMahon.

A communication was read by the clerk of the board from Benjamin Demo, a resident of Chisholm, Minn., who claimed that he had cleared sixteen acres at the county poor farm in 1882 and had never received payment for the work. He stated that he was getting old and would like to have the money. The matter was referred to Commissioner Fraser, as it was stated that he was the only one of the commissioners who was in Duluth at the time.

Residents of the town of New Independence petitioned the board to extend the Shipley road.

Applications were read from farmers who wanted timothy and clover seed given them.

A queer state of affairs was reported from the town of Field. The county commissioners some time ago granted a liquor license to a resident of that place. The other residents called an election and voted the saloon down. The county board authorized the county auditor to refund the man the money paid for his license.

The matter of the division of School District No. 29 came up for consideration. One half of the district is in Colton and the other in Kelsey. The district is too large, the residents claim, and they wish it divided.

The committee appointed to investigate the conditions in Memorial hall as the result of the petition from members of Culver post, G. A. R., who claimed they were being discriminated against, reported that the committee had met with the old soldiers and that there was no dissatisfaction, but that they wanted the house committee to draw them up some rules as to the use of the hall, so that they would know when they were within their rights. The trouble arose over the fact that the custodian refused to allow them to hang their charter and their pictures in the hall. The matter was referred to the house committee, which consists of Auditor Halden, Treasurer Holgate and Chairman McInnis of the county board.

Lena Peterson, arrested yesterday on a charge of selling liquor in a St. Croix avenue boarding house without a license, pleaded not guilty and her trial was set for this afternoon.

GUN PLAY AT NEW DULUTH

George Shogan Held for Shooting Mike Vokovich at Suburb.

Prisoner Claims Victim Broke Into House and Opened Fire First.

George Shogan was arrested in New Duluth last night charged with shooting Mike Vokovich at a boarding house run by Shogan and his brother. Vokovich was arrested on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Both were arraigned in police court this morning and their hearings set for this afternoon.

The cause of the trouble is not known definitely. Those concerned in it tell conflicting stories.

Shogan claims that Vokovich and several other men came to the place about 11 o'clock last night. He asserts that they broke open the door when he was in bed and that when he appeared some one, presumably Vokovich, opened fire on him. He says that he shot back, but doesn't know whom he hit. Vokovich identified Shogan this morning as the man who shot him.

After the shooting, it is alleged that the men ran away. Vokovich was picked up by Thomas Mullen, who was acting as the guardian of the peace because of the illness of Patrolman Henry Brouillette. After he had taken Vokovich to the New Duluth lockup he informed the patrolman of the facts. The patrolman summoned assistance and Shogan and his brother were arrested, together with Nick Vokovich. George Shogan and Mike Vokovich were the only ones held. The man who helped the policeman were T. J. Thompson and George Johnson.

STILL STICK TO ACCIDENT.

Family of Lippincott Not Reconciled to Suicide Theory.

Philadelphia, April 7—The funeral of Craige Lippincott, president of the J. B. Lippincott company, publishers, who was found dead in his home yesterday with a pistol wound in his head, will be held tomorrow at 11 a. m. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Floyd Tomkins of Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal church and interment will be made in Central Laurel Hill cemetery in this city. There will be no honorary pallbearers.

The inquest in the case will also be held tomorrow. The family still holds to the theory that Mr. Lippincott's death was accidental, notwithstanding the statement issued by an official of the publishing company that Mr. Lippincott "during a period of temporary aberration shot and killed himself."

Where Styles Are Newest—Where Quality Is Best

There Is a Quality Dead Line In This Store

This store has assumed a leadership in women's wearing apparel in Duluth because is sells good clothes and only good clothes.

By hard and consistent effort we have built a quality reputation that is proving to be our most valuable asset. There is a quality dead line in this store and below that line we will not go.

The sharp competition in a community like this tends to force prices down, and when prices are lessened quality also must be lessened in a like degree. So, rather than sell goods that do not come up to our standard, we prefer to let the customer go somewhere else.

These points will not be overlooked by women who are particular about securing only the most fashionable and best quality clothes.

The Easter Stock is entirely ready—the product of months of careful preparation, selection and study; fabrics picked from the world's best markets; garments designed by best fashion builders; tailored by most skillful handcraftsmen; the largest, most complete and finest stock we have ever shown.

We direct special attention to the Friedman suits—a line made under our personal direction than which none better is made. They come in all of the latest fabrics; diagonals, fancy mixed and vigereaux cloths, serges and fine worsteds. Choice of black, navy, browns, tans and grays in sizes for all women and misses, from $25 to $65 the suit.

BEARISH REPORT CAUSES SELLING

Copper Producers' Figures Induce Pressure on Leading Stocks.

The copper market was quiet and weak. Values declined from the opening and there was very little support except to North Butte. The report of the Copper Producers' association showed an increase of 5,370,000 pounds of copper, which caused selling in Amalgamated, weakening the entire list. Liquidation in Missouri Pacific unsettled the rails and the entire market closed near the day's bottom levels. The undertone was weak.

There was some buying in North Butte, which was the most active stock on the Boston board. The stock started to decline, but support was forthcoming. The price for copper wire has been advanced to 13¾c a pound. At 13c, recent quotations, marketings were made at a loss. Boston wired that an improved inquiry had developed for spot copper from manufacturers who have not filled their requirements for April and May.

The local market was dead. Denn sold at $6.25, showing strength. Butte Ballaklava was weak and sold at $5 off to $4.75. Calumet & Arizona at $50 to $49.50. Butte Coalition at $17.25, $17.50 to $17. Amalgamated at $62.87½ to $62.37½. Giroux at $6. Greene at $6.50 to $6.37½. North Butte at $27.12½ to $26.87½, up to $27.50 and off at the close to $27.25. Superior & Pittsburg at $14.12½, $13.87½ and $14.

JAPAN'S Y. M. B. A.

Japanese Buddhism is remarkable for the great number of sects into which the believers are divided. Every conceivable tendency of thought is represented by a different grouping. Of late there has moreover been great activity in the formation of Buddhist societies among the educated people.

Among organizations recently formed the Great Japan Young Men's Buddhist association, which works among the students of the different Tokio universities, is perhaps the most important. Many of its older members have attained high position in the social and political world, says the Atlantic, and the society therefore enjoys a considerable influence among the intellectual classes. It includes among its members adherents of all the different sects of Buddhism.

In 1872 Prince Iwakura went to America and Europe at the head of a mission. Kume, who accompanied the mission in the capacity of an expert on Chinese and literary subjects, was detailed with another member to make an investigation of the state of religion in the West.

In their zeal to begin work they early on the voyage accosted a Roman Catholic priest and questioned him about Western religion. They got an account of the Ten Commandments and of the Trinity; but soon the tables were turned and they were themselves questioned on the religion of Japan.

The answers which they gave did not satisfy either themselves or their hearers. So a council of war was held in the smoking room that night. What attitude should the mission take when questioned about Japanese religion? It was first suggested that they might claim Buddhism as the religion of Japan, but it had to be confessed that there was no one in the mission who knew enough of Buddhism to give a trustworthy account of it, especially on doctrinal matters.

Confucianism might be professed, but this would not help matters, as Occidentals look upon the doctrines of the great sage as merely a politico-ethical system. Shinto was ruled out, as it was then too little known in the West, and also because a religion which lacks sacred books and one whose observances are so archaic might not particularly impress the Western mind. There remained no alternative but to confess that Japan had no religion—an unfortunate situation, because heathen are considered but little better than wild beasts in the West.

SMOKE NUISANCE AND THE LAW

Chicago's Smoke Bill $21,830,000 a Year—Smoke Closes a School in St. Louis—Smoking Chimney Means Waste.

By CYRUS LOCHER,
Cleveland Chamber of Commerce.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

With the beginning of the use of soft coal as a fuel arose the problem of how to get rid of the disagreeable smoke. The question has grown more serious yearly in every growing city where bituminous coal is burned. The dweller in such a town needs no definition of the smoke nuisance and it has become a matter of real importance to every large community to rid itself as far as possible of this nuisance. Interest in the question is widespread. More than 1,500 patents have been granted by the United States bureau of patents to inventors of so-called "smoke consumers" and "smoke burners" and everywhere municipal governments have taken up seriously the abating of smoke.

Experience has demonstrated that objectionable smoke may be prevented even though soft or bituminous coal be used exclusively as fuel. By careful firing, either by hand or a mechanical stoker or feeder, fresh coal can be evenly distributed over the hot furnace bed. This with the aid of mechanical devices designed to perfect the draught and so cause a sufficient uniform degree of heat to reach all parts of the coal, avoids a "smothering" which produces a lower degree of heat favorable to the separation of the material which makes smoke from the body of the coal. Sometimes an entirely new furnace equipment is the only remedy.

In Chicago an estimate by the smoke inspector shows that smoke besides being a nuisance causes a loss to the citizens of $21,830,000 annually or about $10 per capita. The laundries, clothing merchants, dyers, house renovators and painters, and operators of vacuum cleaning machines are reaping a harvest. In St. Louis, 600 pupils in one of the public schools had to be dismissed at 11 o'clock on one of the darkest days while at other schools within the smoke belt the children were entering the time it was too dark to study.

In many cities special smoke abatement leagues exist because it is recognized that those who live in a smoke-laden atmosphere are especially liable to diseases of the respiratory system. Frederick L. Hoffman, statistician of the Prudential Life Insurance company goes so far as to say that the dust and smoke problem underlies all deliberate efforts to improve the conditions which determine human life. Other things equal, teh length of life will be in almost exact proportion to the degree and kind of dust and smoke exposure.

What is required today is effective public supervision for all matters of this kind involve the question of community responsibility. The control of the smoke nuisance must needs have its effect on real estate values which are now in many places depressed because of it.

Smoke abatement, which is simply complete combustion and utilization of all heat-producing parts of the coal, is economy to the consumer of fuel. In every case smoke is a preventable nuisance, and every smoking plant or locomotive is a sign of wastefulness and a disregard for the rights of the public. Creating dense smoke is a waste in itself, and its emission creates additional waste. Thus it follows that the interests of the private owner and the requirements for public health, comfort and convenience run in parallel lines.

Proper laws for the regulation, prevention and abatement of "dense" smoke are, therefore, just to the consumer of fuel and highly desirable to the public.

The source of governmental authority to abate the smoke nuisance is the police power of the state. This means the general right of the government to preserve and promote the public welfare by establishing such rules and regulations for the conduct of all persons and the management of all property as may be conducive to the comfort, safety and welfare of society.

The legislature frequently gives to the municipalities the power to declare what shall be deemed nuisances within city limits. Cities also have the power under the common law to cause the abatement of nuisances that are such in themselves without being specifically so declared. If the legislature gives the cities specific power to declare the emission of dense smoke within their limits to be a nuisance it must be exercised by ordinance and not committed to the discretion of municipal officers.

Some courts have held that the words "emission of dense black or gray smoke" are vague and uncertain but these decisions are outweighed by the trend of later verdicts throughout the country. Every one knows what is meant by "dense smoke." It is easily recognized by the sense of sight and leaves its mark wherever it falls. Convictions may be obtained by the ordinary prosaic manner of asking witnesses of what they have seen. Juries and courts will not pretend to be more ignorant than the rest of mankind. The jury decides as a question of fact whether smoke coming from a chimney is dense.

Cities may provide by ordinance for abating the smoke caused by tugs and locomotive engines. Although these may engage in interstate commerce, congress has not yet acted and it is only repugnant and interfering local legislation that must give way to the paramount laws of congress constitutionally enacted. Therefore an ordinance providing for the abatement of dense smoke does not impose any restraint on the use of boats and locomotives, although engaged in general commerce, other than is consistent with law.

Some recent decisions such as Harmon vs. Chicago have held that "dense smoke in a city is a nuisance even though not specifically so named by any law" and this doctrine enables municipal corporations to abate "dense" smoke without specific authority from the legislature.

Courts have taken judicial notice of the fact that the discharge of dense smoke into the atmosphere in a large city is of itself a nuisance to the general public. It is injurious to vegetation, to many kinds of goods and annoying to the people. The courts, therefore, confer upon municipal corporations ample power to prevent a nuisance which of recent years has greatly interfered with the health, comfort and convenience of citizens. In view of the advanced legislation and judicial decisions in recent years, we may well say that the law pertaining to the smoke nuisance is progressive, and will keep pace with the popular sentiment regarding the emission of "dense" smoke into the air in large centers of population.

ALPHABETICAL SLEEP.

New York Sun: Mr. Wakeful will do for the name of a New York man who has had a trying tussle with insomnia. It has been long enough for him to try all the old cures for sleeplessness and to invent a few of his own. Among these is a novel way he has devised of passing what are commonly called the wee, sma' hours, though every poor sleeper knows them to be the longest ones of the whole night.

He calls his scheme the alphabetical game and he has an endless variety of detail in playing it. For instance, he starts out to name twenty-six vegetables, each beginning with a different letter of the alphabet, asparagus, beans, cabbage and so on.

"Dead easy!" you say.

All right; then go on with that list. You'll have to do some tall thinking over D and finally very reluctantly settle on dandelions. Of course they are a vegetable, but you don't like them and you are sure there must be a better representative of the fourth letter.

You turn with relief to egg plant as the next on the list. That's a good vegetable in proper standing. Then you take F. Um-m-m—er-r-r—well, there's French peas of course, but is this a case of peas is peas? If so you can't work them in under French. And so you go on, running across whole slathers of highly respectable vegetables under some letters and not finding a single one to fit in under another.

Mr. Wakeful has made many of these lists. He has one of metals, one of flowers, one of drugs, one of diseases. He's very fond of that one and it is complete.

For instance the letter I is generally a stumbling block, but he has a fine disease for that letter, iritis. All the vowels in fact except A are likely to cause trouble. They don't seem to be in general use as initials of nouns.

Another variation of his game is to make a life story, so to speak, in regard to alphabetical personages. For instance Benjamin Brown of Brownsville had for his dinner beef, beans and blanc mange. The table was decorated with black eyed Susans. His wife, whose name was Bertha, was dressed in blue. From sitting in a draught he developed an attack of bronchitis; but he took a good dose of bryonia and soon felt better. So he read a chapter in Browning and went to bed.

Here you have the B item from each of twelve of Mr. Wakeful's alphabetical lists; those of men's Christian names, surnames, towns, meats, vegetables, desserts, flowers, women's names, colors, diseases, drugs and authors. Most of these lists can be made nearly complete, not only with b as the initial but with most of the other letters as well.

One's first thought is that Mr. Wakeful's scheme far from inducing sleep would drive it away. He admits that his first idea was not to invite sleep, but merely to help himself to pass the hours of wakefulness. But the game can be made to serve both purposes. Thinking out new lists helps to pass the time and finally does make a person sleepy. While repeating lists one has already figured out has the same soporific effect in a shorter time.

KENTUCKIANS SCRAP WITH EAGLE.

Harrodsburg Herald: Hosier and Hughes Horn had a most thrilling experience with a large eagle Sunday afternoon at their home on the Dry Branch pike, about five miles from town. They had gone to the pasture to drive up the sheep for the night and were astonished to find the eagle on the carcass of a lamb, which it had evidently killed. The bird was so large that they were afraid to molest it and started the flock of sheep toward the barn, but the eagle seemed to resent the taking away of his quarry. He flew over the flock of sheep several times before lighting among them.

Then he would rise and fly toward the men, sometimes only four or five feet above them. When this had occurred some four or five times the eagle showing very plainly that he did not intend to let the flock of sheep go without a fight, the young men hurried to the house and secured a shotgun. On their reappearance in the pasture the eagle with a shrill cry rose in the air and darted toward them, when Hosier fired and the king of the air fell dead at his feet.

Notice is hereby given, That the Common Council of the City of Duluth, Minnesota, will receive sealed proposals at the Council Chamber in the City Hall in the said City of Duluth, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, on April 24, 1911, for the purchase of gold-bearing coupon bonds to the amount of $200,000, in denominations of $1,000, $500, $100 and $50 (excepting that where not inconsistent with the bids made they shall be in denominations of $1,000).

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of extending the water and light plant of the City of Duluth, under authority of Section 286 of the city charter and a vote of the people authorizing the same at the annual city election held February 7, 1911.

Said bonds are to be dated April 1, 1911, and will become due on April 1, 1941, bearing interest at the rate of four and one-half (4½) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually April first and October first of each year, according to interest coupons attached to each of said bonds. Both principal and interest is made payable in gold coin of the United States at the American Exchange National Bank of the City of New York.

Said bonds to be paid for within ten (10) days after notice that the same are ready for delivery, and such delivery will be called for June 15, 1911, said delivery and payment to be made at the First National Bank of Duluth, Minnesota.

The sale of said bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder at a sum not less than par value thereof and interest accrued to date of delivery.

Each bidder is required to file with the City Clerk prior to 2 o'clock of said day a certified check on or a certificate of deposit of a national bank, payable to the order of the City of Duluth, without condition, for an amount equal to one (1) per cent of the full face value of the bonds to be bid for, or a good and sufficient bond in the said sum, to be approved by the Common Council of said city, and conditioned that the party making said bid will, if awarded the sale, take the bonds and pay for them according to the terms of said bid and the ordinance; that in case of failure so to do, the City of Duluth shall have the right to sue upon said bond and to recover the full face thereof, which shall be, and in said bonds shall be stated as being, the sum agreed upon as liquidated damages in case of a breach thereof.

Said checks and bonds shall, at 2 o'clock P. M. of said day, be submitted by the City Clerk to the City Attorney for his opinion as to whether said checks and bonds conform to the conditions of the ordinance, and the bid of any person whose check or bond the City Attorney shall deem not to be in legal form according to the terms of the ordinance shall not be received, unless such bidder shall have such check or bond corrected to meet the requirements of the City Attorney or shall deposit a new bond or check duly approved by said City Attorney before 7:30 o'clock P. M. of said day.

In all cases of bids received and not accepted, the check or certificate received therewith shall thereupon be returned.

In case said bonds are awarded to any bidder, and the said bidder refuses to accept and pay for said bonds or any part thereof within ten (10) days after notice that the same are ready for delivery, the said amount of the certificate of deposit or check so furnished to the city shall be retained by the City of Duluth as its own as and for liquidated damages for the breach of the contract on the part of said bidder.

In case any bidder furnishing such certificate of deposit or check shall take said bonds, said sum shall be credited to him on account of the payment thereof.

Each bidder must give his address, street and number.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved to the City of Duluth.

SHORTS BUY BACK WHEAT

Prices Scrape Bottom and Rebound---Greenbug Scare.

Bearish News Discounted—Cash Situation Is Firmer.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 7.—Wheat prices went up today after declining in the early hours. Shorts were whipsawed about and were forced to get under shelter. May advanced 1⅛c and July went forward ⅞c. The relative positions of the leading options in Chicago showed the strength of the market to lie also in the nearest delivery. A report from Chicago that longs were buying May heavily caused acquisition of wheat by the people who follow the crowd. Cash wheat was ½c over May. Durum gained ⅝c, oats advanced ⅜c, rye and barley were unchanged.

Flaxseed was dull, no trades being made. May closed unchanged at $2.52. There was a flurry at Winnipeg, the May delivery hitting $2.50. There was no definite news from Winnipeg but it was reported that the demand for good seed to meet the requirements of the greatly increased acreage in Canada this year caused buying that sent the market skyward. Belief that Canadian reciprocity may be ratified may have contributed to the strength of the Winnipeg market. Plata seed for March-April delivery advanced at Antwerp to $2.58 a bu. The slightest indication of foreign buying causes the markets on the other side to go forward.

The wheat market opened steady and then declined, but short covering began, profits being taken by shorts who evened up their contracts. The buying from shorts was caused by reports by green bugs in Northern Oklahoma and Southern Kansas and reports of export business in all grades of Manitoba wheat.

The report of the Modern Miller on the winter wheat crop was bearish, although the news that the report contained had been already discounted. The report gave the following conditions, the first figure representing the condition of wheat on April of this year, the second on Dec. 1, 1910, and the third on April 1, 1910: Michigan, 88, 94, 84; Ohio, 92, 91, 85; Indiana, 90, 84, 84; Illinois, 88, 82, 84; Missouri, 90, 83, 69; Nebraska, 89, 90, 70; Kansas, 83, 73, 64; Oklahoma, 66, 58, 87; Texas, 85, 71, 89; Tennessee, 92, 80, 84; Kentucky, 93, 83, 84. Most of the damage, said the report, was caused by drouth and winter killing in Kansas and Oklahoma. Little injury was done by the Hessian fly and practically none by green bugs.

A wire from Manhattan, Kan., said that advices received by the state entomologist of Kansas said that the green bug has appeared in Northern Oklahoma and Southeastern and Southern Kansas. Both parasites and foes are everywhere in Oklahoma, said the message. Little damage is expected. Warm weather would prevent damage, added the report.

The government predicts rain or snow in Iowa with warmer but unsettled weather in the Northwest and Southwest. Farmers in the Northwest are beginning seeding operations which are expected to be general by the forepart of next week. A message from Kansas City said that the government demonstrator for agriculture in Oklahoma thinks rains have improved the condition of wheat 50 per cent in the territory near Tulsa.

Larger world's shipments are forecasted next week. The weather is mild in the United Kingdom and Germany and is favorable for crops. A special cable from Russia confirmed reports that much replowing will be necessary. Field work is progressing favorably.

stralia and our forecast of larger world's shipments this week, together with milder weather in the United Kingdom and Germany, led to speculative realizing. There was a smaller demand from the continent as a result of a large percentage of the shipments being directed there and spot markets were easy and sharply lower. At 1:30 p. m. the market was weak and ¾@⅞d lower than yesterday.

"Corn was about steady at the opening, but later there was a decline of ⅛@¼d on the weakness in wheat and the fact that the heavier American offers partly offset the good spot trade and the firmness in that market. At midday the market was easy and ¼d lower than yesterday.

"Argentine shipments of wheat this week, 3,768,000 bu; last week, 2,624,000 bu; last year, 2,304,000. Corn, this week, 8,000 bu; last week, nil; last year, 16,000 bu. Visible supply in chief ports: Wheat, now, 3,904,000 bu; week ago, 4,000,000 bu; year ago, 2,480,000 bu. Corn, now 230,000 bu; week ago, 230,000 bu; year ago, 81,000. The wheat market is easier with the demand slow. Arrivals from the interior are liberal with the quality satisfactory. The corn market is easy with very little business doing. Arrivals from the interior light.

"Australian shipments, 3,608,000 bu; last week, 1,864,000 bu; last year, 1,896,000 bu. The Indian wheat shipments this week, 968,000 bu; last week, 536,000; last year, 400,000 bu. Broomhall estimates the wheat and flour shipments for the week exclusive of North America at 12,000,000 bu, against 8,456,000 bu last week. Of this total Europe will take about 10,800,000 bu. The total shipments last week were 12,144,000 bu and last year, 10,992,000 bu."

The government's crop report for April will be issued Monday at 1 o'clock, Duluth time. It will report on the condition of winter wheat and rye as of April 1.

Wheat stores here this week will increase about 65,000 bu, to 5,672,000 bu. Last year stocks amounted to 8,416,000 bu. Flax stores are a standoff compared with last week, amounting to 211,000 bu against 254,000 bu a week ago.

Chicago Record-Herald of yesterday: Export sales of cash wheat reported in Canada and the United States were given more consideration than would have been accorded them if all the facts surrounding the transactions had been generally known. The Manitoba sales were really in the way of liquidation and the sales of United States wheat were but little better. The Manitoba wheat sales were of grades all the way from No. 2 northern to No. 6 and the prices realized were low. Even No. 1 northern at Winnipeg was quoted 1¼c under Winnipeg May, or a full carrying charge difference, while No. 2 northern was 3¾c under May, No. 3 northern 6c under May and No. 6 21c under May. Although 500,000 bu was reported sold for export, it transpired that 100,000 bu of this Manitoba wheat was sold between exporters in the Northwest. There was a bid here of 1c over May delivery price for a cargo of No. 2 red winter f. o. b. vessel at Chicago. The bid was for shipment fifteen days after the opening of navigation, buyer's option, and could therefore have been hedged for May delivery and delivered on contract without loss to the bidder, as lake navigation cannot open until April 15. The sale of 24,000 bu No. 2 hard at Montreal was part of a lot of 40,000 bu carried there since September last and showed a big loss.

From Consul General T. St. John Gaffney, Dresden: Exports of grain and flour from Germany reached an exceptional height in 1910, when the value of these shipments was $74,300,000, against $59,500,000 in 1909. On the other hand, imports of grain fell from $206,600,000 in 1909 to $184,700,000 in 1910. This growth in foreign sales is also apparent in the export drawbacks, which were $9,163,000 in 1905, $22,110,000 in 1909 and $29,131,200 in 1910. As a result of a more intensive system of cultivation, Germany's agricultural produce increases each year, so that importation becomes less and less necessary.

Exports of rye in 1910 were 825,169 metric tons, of wheat 281,807 tons, and of rye and wheat flour 166,392 and 190,460 tons respectively, to which must be added 457,721 tons of oats and about 90,000 tons of rolled oats, brown meal and other similar milling products.

Germany's best customers for rye and rye flour were Russia, Finland, Norway, Denmark, Netherlands, Sweden and Austria-Hungary and for wheat and wheat flour Switzerland, the United Kingdom, Denmark, Sweden and the Netherlands. Germany imported 358,071 tons of rye from Russia and exported 134,147 tons thereto. Exports to Finland amounted to 30,531 tons of rye, 48,815 tons of rye flour, 28,204 tons of wheat flour, and 53,531 tons of other milling products. Wheat, 2,343,740 tons, valued at $89,012,000, stands at the head of German imports next to cotton. Exports of rye and oats, including milling products, were much higher than the imports.

From Consul General Wm. H. Michael Calcutta: The Indian imports of wheat and flour in 1910 amounted to 2,759 tons, valued at $152,500. This small import is due to the fact that India now produces all the wheat required for its own consumption, and the average exportable surplus during the last five years was 1,213,000 tons. The number of tons of wheat harvested in 1910 from 27,765,500 acres was 9,557,000 tons. Of this the United Kingdom took 885,496 tons, or 84.3 per cent of the total exports, Germany 120,724 tons, Belgium 8,287 tons, France 17,718 tons, and Egypt 93,571 tons "for orders." The average price in London for Indian wheat during the year was a trifle over $2 per 112 pounds. Figures showing the exact amount of flour imported during the year are not available, but it was approximately 2,000 tons, of which, say 60 per cent came from the United States.

From a consular report: The French production of wheat in 1910 fell 2,000,000 tons below the average annual consumption, and 1,200,000 tons have already been imported, more is on the way, and still more will be needed to make up this shortage. American wheat costs more and sells for about the same price as the Danube product. The price averages 22 francs ($4.246) per 220 pounds on trucks alongside. To this must be added a duty of 70 francs ($13.51) per ton, which brings the total price in small lots to 290 francs ($55.97) per ton. The criticism on American wheat is that it is not so clean—that is, free from other seeds—as the Danube grain, but in the latter the kernels are larger and more irregular, and the quality is not so good.

Le Count wired Finley-Barrel from Caldwell, Kan.: "Wheat continues fine to northern part Sumner county, from there south fields mostly resown to oats but what wheat is left is fine. Kansas will raise much greater crop than last year if present conditions are maintained, as territory of greatest acreage is located where abundant moisture generally prevails."

Lyle wired Chapin from Salina, Kan.: "Excellent conditions found in Dickinson and Salina counties in Central Kansas, which were so bad a year ago. A group of ten counties hereabouts, from greater acreage, soil and present high prospect may exceed record of 15,000,000 bu two years ago. They made 5,000,000 bu last year. Very light rain this week this vicinity. Moisture ample. Been too cold for plant growth."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Signs of Big World's Shipments Depress Wheat.

Chicago, April 7.—Signs that world shipments will reach a large total this week had a depressing effect today on the price of wheat. Forwardings were especially heavy from Australia and the Argentine. In addition, European crop conditions showed improvement. The fact that demand from shorts had been satisfied here tended also to increase the general sentiment favorably to the bear side of the market. Opening figures were ⅛@⅝c down. May started at 85⅛@85¼c, a decline of ¼@⅜c to ⅜@½c, dropped to 84⅞@85c, and rallied to 85⅝@½c.

Chicago, April 7.—Buying at Minneapolis for millers helped prices upward. Franco-Spanish war talk formed another aid, and so did green bugs in Southern Kansas. The close was strong with May at 87@87⅛c, a net gain of 1½c.

Better weather for the movement of corn gave the cereal an easy tone. Commission houses were the chief sellers. May opened ⅛@¼c off at 47½@47⅝c and seemed bent on keeping within that limit.

Storm predictions led to a rally. The close was strong at 48¼@48⅜c for May, ½@⅝c higher than last night.

Oats suffered a little from the bear movement in other grain. Trade was slow. May started a shade to ⅛c lower at 30⅛@¼c to 30¼c and failed to display much power to recover.

In the provision pit business appeared to be evenly divided, and prices about steady. First sales were 2½@5c cheaper to a shade up with May options at $15 for pork, $7.95 for lard, and $8.45 for ribs.

INACTIVITY IN STOCKS

Prolonged Intervals When Ticker Did Not Record a Sale.

Missouri Pacific Breaks Badly in Last Hour—Close Heavy.

New York, April 7.—The only feature of the stock market at the opening today was a rise in Canadian Pacific of over a point, following a gain of a similar amount in London. The rest of the list was virtually unchanged from yesterday's closing figures.

A half dozen of the minor industrials responded to trading operations in a moderate fashion, but the great mass of stocks were inert. United States Rubber and the Pittsburg Coal stocks advanced 1@1¼, and American Can preferred and Colorado Fuel large fractions. American Steel Foundries and National Biscuit lost 2 points.

Speculative interest in the stock market dwindled steadily until there were prolonged intervals when the ticker did not even register a sale. None of the favorite stocks varied more than ¼ from their initial prices and the obscure specialties furnished the only medium for scalping profits.

There was an active and higher market for bonds with some large operations in Virginia deferred certificates, Seaboard Air Line adjustment 5's, and Southern Railway 4's. Virginia certificates jumped 4 points to 63½. Associated Oil gained 2.

The market closed heavy. Missouri Pacific broke badly in the last hour, selling down 2 points to 49, which is the lowest it has been for nearly three months. The decline was attributed to the failure of recent bull rumors to materialize, and to the bad effect produced by the unrestrained liquidation of Wabash-Pittsburg terminal certificates which yielded 3 points. Other stocks went off a trifle in sympathy. American Steel Foundries sagged 4¼.

Better cables than due and bullish Manchester advices appeared to alarm the old crop short interest, but offerings attributed to leading bulls checked the advance and prices eased off a point or two during the middle of the morning. The new crop was again relatively dull and sold only a point or two above the closing figures of last night.

RAILROAD SCHOOL IN CHINA.

Pall Mall Gazette: An indication of the interest taken by the central government in the future of railways in China, is afforded by the establishment last year, in connection with the ministry of communications at Pekin, of a school for training railway officials. The school is built for 600 students, but the number is at present limited to 350, who come from all parts of the empire and vary in age from 18 to 25. There are about thirty teachers, including one British, one American (a drill sergeant), two French and two Germans. Most of the teachers are Chinese students returned from abroad and they are well paid.

The curriculum includes the Chinese language, drill, geography, history of Chinese railways, mathematics, drawing, chemistry, physics, traffic management, railway bookkeeping, elements of engineering—steam and electrical, workshop administration and railway company law.

TWO "DRY" BATTLESHIPS.

Chicago Tribune: The British navy has just taken a step unprecedented in its history. The two cruisers Rainbow and Niobe are to be teetotal men of war, contrary to all marine traditions.

Grog has always been a part of the standard ration, being a concoction of one part rum to three parts water, but no such luxury is to be permitted on the two ships above mentioned. In the old days, in fact down to 1830, the daily allowance to each man was a gallon of ale and half a pint of rum. The quantity has been greatly modified, but it certainly never entered any tar's head that the time was coming for total abstinence.
